Miss Stubbs conducted the second of a series of trips in connection with the Child Welfare Class on Tuesday. The group visited the State Department of Child Welfare in Richmond, where they saw the various departments and received valuable information regarding the activities of these offices. The girls received first hand information from members of the staff.

At eight o'clock the same evening the delegation heard an address by Dr. Groves of the University of North Carolina. Dr. Groves, who has written many books on such subjects as the family and its relationships and

Continued on page 3, Col. 2

Gamma Psi, honorary society in art, announced the following new members this morning in chapel: Louise Potter, Marjorie Booten Katherine Cooper, Eleanor Gibbs, and Mary Alice Glass.

College Departments Make Tentative Plans For Education Week

The observance of American Education Week, November 5-11, at S. T. C. will take the form of a series of special chapel programs and exhibits in the various departments of the college.

A tentative program has been arranged for the chapel periods which proceeds as follows:

Nov. 6—Dr. Wynne, presiding.
Relation of Academic, Professional, and Extra-Curricula Activities in the Teachers College, Dr. Jarman.

Nov. 7—Anne Putney, presiding.
Selecting Curricula and Courses from the Standpoint of the Student, Jestine Cutshall.

Nov. 8—Elizabeth Vassar, presiding.
The Extra-Curricula Program from the Standpoint of the Student, Anne Putney.

Nov. 9—Jestine Cutshall, presiding.
Some Current Tendencies in Education, Dr. Wynne.

Committee To Nominate 9 Girls for Mardi Gras Court

At an early date Dr. Walmsley, Mr. Holton and Mr. Coyner with the four class sponsors will nominate nine girls from the different classes, one of which will be queen of the Mardi Gras and the other eight her attendants it was decided at Pi Gamma Mu meeting Tuesday night.

Mardi Gras is an annual event inaugurated here in 1933 by Pi Gamma Mu. Only the final ball of the real celebration is observed.

Debate Club Argues Armament Question

"Resolved that nations should prohibit the international shipment of arms" was the question debated Friday night at the regular Debate Club meeting. Helen Smith and Dudley Allen upheld the affirmative, while Louise Francis and Mildred Slayton defended the negative side of the question. The debate was nondecisive. The rebuttal was dispensed with, and Dr. Walmsley led in an open discussion of the resolution.

Janie Lee Young and Sylvia Somers presented a speech and reading respectively.

"Resolved that degree students only should be allowed to teach in the state of Virginia after 1937" will be debated at the next meeting of the club.

Granddaughters Club Installs 25 Members

That the Granddaughters Club is a rising organization was proved by the fact that twenty-five new members were installed at their Installation Service Thursday night.

The seven old members of this club rose from their seats when new members, entered, led by two of the old members of the club: namely, Janice White, vice-president and Laeta Barham, treasurer. The new members formed a semicircle in front of the old members, and the president of the club, Christine Childrey, welcomed them. After the address of welcome, Christine Childrey with the assistance of the secretary, Victoria Gillette, pinned ribbons of lavendar and green upon the shoulders of the new members. During this part of the program, soft music was played.

Miss Mary Clay Hiner, honorary member of the club, gave an inspiring address to the granddaughters. She emphasized the fact that the granddaughters represented the spirit of the school, for it was the loyal spirit of their mothers that had sent them here. These mothers, she

Continued on page 4, column 3

H. S. C. and S. T. C. Cast Begins Work On "Bird in Hand"

Play To Be Presented Friday, December 2 at 8 p. m.

S.T.C. AUDITORIUM

The S. T. C. Dramatic Club and the H. S. C. Jongleurs will present "Bird in Hand," by John Drinkwater Friday evening, December 2, at eight o'clock in the auditorium. This play, under the capable direction of Miss Wheeler, is expected to be one of the cleverest and most delightful yet staged by the two clubs.

The well selected cast includes Martha Stine and James Elder, who are remembered for their excellent performances in last year's play, Admirable Crichton.

Martha is again being the very charming English girl in the character of Joan Greenleaf. Jim Elder as the flippant and blase Beverley is most convincing.

Gerald, Joan's dashing young lover is played by Verne Ferguson, a newcomer to our stage. Holman Willis is playing the part of Thomas, a very gruff old innkeeper whose views concerning class distinctions are quite typical of the early eighteenth century. Godalphin an extremely self sufficient lawyer is portrayed

Continued on page 3, Col. 3

Plans for Circus Promise Surprises

Plans for a bigger and more attractive circus are rapidly nearing completion. Helen Shawen has been appointed ring master of the circus this year. This is an important position on the program and Helen is expected to fill it well.

At a meeting of the chairmen of the class committees on circus stunts, Tuesday, Miss Wheeler, director of college dramatics, approved the skits to be presented by the respective classes. Miss Wheeler offered constructive criticism of the stunts and of the program as a whole.

In order to make the circus more like a real circus and to afford more side attractions it has been decided to add to the booths. The classes are arranging to have enough food for those who wish to eat. The Y. W. C. A., the Student Council and the Athelitic Association are planning to have side shows and tent attractions. Last year there were very few shows other than the class stunts thus causing many people to resort to eating for entertainment.

There will be many surprises this year and among them will be the type of parade on Saturday afternoon. It is to be entirely different from any parade of the S. T. C. circus before. The identity of the circus queen will be held in absolute secrecy and the coronation this year is to be conducted with more pomp than ever before.

Va. Welfare Worker Talks to S. T. C. Class

Miss Taylor of the State Welfare Department spoke to Miss Stubbs' Child Welfare class Tuesday, October 29. Miss Taylor in charge of the Mothers Aid Administration spoke on the Dependent Child and Mothers Aid.

She classified the dependent in two groups: First, those who are obviously neglected and who are aided, and second, those who are unconsciously neglected and abused by their parents. Miss Taylor

Continued on page 3, Col. 2

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Published by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as second class mater March 1, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

MEMBER
Associated Collegiate Press
1934 Collegiate Digest 1935

Staff

Lelia Mattox ..... Editor
Evelyn Massey ..... Associate Editor

Board of Editors

Miss Jane Royall ..... Alumnae
Amis Montgomery ..... News
Florence Sanford ..... Make-up
Kathryne Cotten ..... Literary
Anne Putney ..... World News
Anne Diggs ..... Social
Margaret Farrar ..... Feature
Lelia Sanford ..... Sports

Proof Reader
Elizabeth Walton

Managers

Lena Mae Gardner ..... Business
Alva Sawyer ..... Asst. Business
Maude Rhodes ..... Circulation
Grace Collings ..... Asst. Circulation
Lila Jacob ..... Asst. Circulation

Assistants and Reporters

Birdie Wooding, Bonnie Lane, Lacta Barham, Minnie Smith, Susan Grasham, Mary Lee Newcomb, Elsie Cabell, Bess McGlothin, Katherine Coleman, Merwyn Gathright, Kathleen Ranson

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1934

Awards and Hockey

At the V. I. P. A. conference last week Farmville presented an interesting factor, one which stands so high in the contribution our college makes to the world in general—its constant endeavor to reach greater heights. We won no awards; we have won no rewards; yet S. T. C. has participated each year in these conferences whose purpose is greater assistance in college problems. Does the fact we came home empty-handed signify failure? Does the fact that each successive year we have returned in like manner mean we have made no progress? It might, but it doesn't. Rather, Farmville has been made to realize she has superiors in the press field; greater in the spirit with which it has accepted such knowledge. Should we withdraw from the field, beaten and not caring for anything else as long as we can not win? Such has not been the policy of our student body. Instead we have kept trying. Doing the best we possibly can through the year, we have sent that best to meet the other colleges of Virginia. We have contributed of the best of our talent and been eager to see how it ranked with the rest. Not ashamed to be beaten, glad of our individual progress, we have given our best and in return received many valuable points which it shall be our purpose to use to the greatest beneficial advantage this year.

That same spirit should back our team we put into the field at the State Hockey Tournament Friday in Lynchburg. It is another State contest where our representatives will meet the best from other schools and do their best in constructive competition. The team, itself is going with that spirit, but what stands back of it at home? We think that the teams should be made to feel that the student body is back of them. Why not let the cheer leaders call up a little school spiirt and loyalty at chapel? Winning is a great thing of course, and is the goal of the contest; the spirit of the team steadied and encouraged by the voice of the student body will turn defeat into victory.

Will We Never Grow Up?

When the social practices at S. T. C. become as advanced as the educational principles, our school certainly will have reached a higher ideal.

The mere existence in a State Teachers College of a custom so out-of-place as the observance of Rat Week seems incongruous. We are taught democracy. We are drilled in the principles of social development, of striving to bring out the best in an individual. Rat Week is not in keeping with this ideal.

Apparently, we do not find these social ideals applicable now. Are they intended to be used only when we go out to teach? We relentlessly attempt to crush the initiative the personality, the self development of our freshmen, the backbone of the college.

Their problem of adjustment is already difficult enough. To inflict more useless suffering upon sensitive youth seems heartless, to say the least.

Does Rat Week offer the friendliness and encouragement which aid the freshmen in effecting their integration with the rest of the school?

They are new. They have a big job before them. They are "green" enough. But we do love to "rub it in."

Is is merely for the sake of a tradition that we cling to the observance of Rat Week? Is that tradition worthy of perpetuation?

Other outstanding colleges have discarded the childish practice. Will we never grow up?

Our Citizens of Tomorrow

"The future of the race marches on the feet of little children."Philip Brooks.

Parents and teachers occupy an important position in the evolution and stabilization of our democratic form of government, as well as the economic and social development of our country.

The parents of our children are the guardians of our future citizens. Theirs is the responsibility, through examples, intelligent understanding, and bearing, is laid the foundation for that type of character which will recognize and choose the right thing in any given circumstance.

The schools are already giving attention to the home and community life. They are attaching importance to good character, worthy home life, individual problems and neighborhood surroundings. But the school cannot supplant the home in understanding and bringing out the best in each individual child.

Parents should visit the schools and learn how best they and the teachers may cooperate for the highest good of the children. Teachers should make it a part of their profession to visit each home, not once but frequently. They should learn to know the different members of the family, the environment in each child's home, its hopes and achievements.

Cooperation between parents and teachers is imperative. And, if democracy is to be preserved, it must be voluntary and intelligent cooperation. The parents and teachers must work together toward this goal, through Parent-Teacher Associations, group conferences, and personal interviews.

What Does It Mean to You?

Work! Now that little four-letter word may mean many different sorts of things. To the lazy, it means a disagreeable task to be performed; to the ambitious, it means a chance to reach a goal and to make dreams come true; to the worried, it means a release from care; to the hungry, it means a way of obtaining food; and to the trustful and faithful it means a future reward. Work frightens only those who are lazy. To those at S. T. C. who want to get ahead it is a boon! In which of these classes do you belong?

Oranges, apples, and pineapples are good for health. For the sake of the eyes, choose apples.

Actual experience has proven that just as important as knowing what to do is knowing how to do it, which goes to prove that all theory and no practical work is a poor education.

Open Forum

Dear Editor:

In last week's Rotunda appeared an editorial entitled "What Is the Answer?" The question asked in the article was "Has school spirit become a thing of the past?"

Our school spirit was questioned, because few have gone out for recreational swimming. A few facts regarding the students and the swimming pool will in part answer the question.

Many girls have bought bathing suits and are eager to go in the pool, but they have not been able to get an appointment with Dr. Field for the required heart examination. Now that the examinations are over many other swimmers will probably be using the new pool.

That many girls are conservative by nature and wish to see a thing tried before endorsing it must also be taken into consideration. Even these girls do not necessarily lack school spirit.

Another reason why the crowds at recreational swimming have not been larger is that many upperclassmen are taking their class work in swimming, sufficient sport of that kind. However, much some girls would like to go swimming in the afternoons they cannot afford to buy the extra bathing suit which the regulation requires.

Then, too, the practice of other athletics, such as basketball, and hockey is in progress during the hours when the pool is open for recreational swimming. Almost all the girls who are interested in aquatic sports are also interested in hockey or basketball or tennis. Naturally enough, these girls want to get the required practices to make the varsity or class team, perhaps both. But for the sake of sports even they cannot lose every afternoon from studying. Consequently, some days, few have been out for recreational swimming.

We are not losing our school spirit. The majority of us wish to have it in the truest sense.

Give us a little time, and I am sure that we will intensify our work on our classes so as to have a half hour free, and I am sure, too, that we will squeeze our pocketbooks so as to have a dollar and a quarter extra to buy a new bathing suit. As soon as we get the time and suits watch out for us in the pool!

—A Student.

At Other Colleges

By a student body vote, it has been decided that the Hampden-Sydney students will have a three-day holiday at Thanksgiving and will dismiss for Christmas on Dec. 19.

The annual Homecoming Day which is to be held at William and Mary on November 17 has been carefully planned and a most interesting day is promised. The annual football game between W. and M. and W. and L. will be one of the main features of the day.

The Keydets of V. M. I. have recently published the "Rat Bible"—a dictionary — in which some of their speech peculiarities are explained. Some are unprintable.

The usual set of three dances has been planned by the German Club for the Hampden-Sydney Homecoming, Nov. 23 and 24. The music will be furnished by Johnny Long and his Duke Collegians.

William Henry Harrison's old mounting block has been sent from his home to Hampden-Sydney, where it will be placed at the ball tower. Harrison, a former president of the U. S., is an alumnus of which H. S. C. is proud.

The title of being the oldest state university in the country is claimed by the University of North Carolina. The operation of the school began six years after it was chartered 144 years ago.

Alumnae News

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin P. Lancaster, who have spent the last four months with his mother, Mrs. W. L. Lancaster, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Richardson, left Sunday for New York. They sailed Tuesday for India, where Mr. Lancaster is connected in the tobacco business.

Among the Norfolk debutantes are Sue Hume, and Anne Thomas.

Miss Doreen Smith, graduate of the class of '33 and now a teacher in the Powhatan High School, was elected honorary president of Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association at Radford Saturday by the Eighth Annual Convention. She was president of the Association in 1932-1933.

Mrs. Henry Lindsey, of Farmville, announces the marriage of her daughter, Mary Lindsey Roundy to Bernard C. Wilkerson, of Prospect. The ceremony was performed Oct. 22, at 10 o'clock in Warrenton, Va.

Miss Emma Louisa Pulliam, daughter of Mrs. Samuel T. Pulliam and the late Mr. Pulliam, and William Melville Willis of Croset, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Willis, were married Saturday afternoon at Centenary Methodist Church in Richmond.

Myra Reese is now the Home Demonstration Agent in Chester County. For several years Miss Reese has taught Home Economics in Whaleyville High School. This promotion reflects credit not only on her but also on the Home Economics Department at Farmville.

Miss Bessie Mottley, head of the Vocational Guidance Department of Thomas Jefferson High School in Richmond, and her associates made possible the addresses for the Vocational Guidance Assembly recently held at Thomas Jefferson.

South Hill was the scene of a lovely wedding on Saturday evening, Oct. 27, when Lucy Doitch became the bride of Dr. Clarence Garrard, of Lynchburg.

Miss Ethel LaBoyteaux, of Richmond, and Mary Jane Bond, niece of Miss Mary White Cox and daughter of Mrs. and Mrs. Leon Bond, were week-end guests of Miss Cox.

Review of the News

Our interest was held last week by the notable achievements on land and in the air in transportation. The Union Pacific Railroad sent its new streamlined train across the continent in 56 hours and 55 minutes, averaging on short stretches 120 miles per hour and on the long run from Cheyenne to Omaha 84 miles per hour. The whole train—six cars and an engine weighs less than the average Pullman car and succeeded in making the transcontinental run with a total fuel cost below $80. In aviation our attention was centered on the huge London to Melbourne flights. The most remarkable feat in these races was the achievement of Farmentier and Moll, Dutch fliers, who came in second. They piloted a nine-passenger commercial type plane across the stretch, thereby showing possibilities in commercial flying and giving that type of flying the greatest boost it has had since Lindbergh's transoceanic flight in his "Spirit of St. Louis."

New shifts in the New Deal seem gradually to be eliminating the remnants of the Brain Trust. On Thursday of last week it became known that Professor Tugwell has had his connection with the AAA severed. Tugwell was sent abroad to head the American delegation to the International Institute of Agriculture with directions to remain abroad until after the November elections. The feeling is that he will of necessity, give up his position as Assistant Secretary of Agriculture and in this way rid the administration of his untactful affiliation with a tactful regime.

Japan holds the limelight in the parleys preliminary to the Naval Conference in London. She advocates a destruction of ratios in naval construction, which will allow each nation to build to her capacity with the stipulation that all new vessels be of the cruiser type and war vessels be limited to carry guns of no greater caliber than 8 inches.

What Is Your Ideal Man?

Tall, lovable, — not mushy, — very thoughtful, considerate of others, full of fun and plenty of sense.—Dot Rust.

The Channels prefer the Morrisons—Emily and Frances Channel.

One that does not approve of late dates at the opening dances at V. P. I.—Zell Hopkins.

I don't even think about ideal men, because I know there aren't any! How do I know? Patsy Nottingham.

Heap big athlete.—Ellen Mason.

One that can lay the magnificence of a beautiful moon on thick and thin.—Tory Gillette.

One who hates an argument.—Martha Watson.

Blonde with blue eyes—an ideal man.—Virginia Tissue.

One who doesn't mind a two-timer.—Kitty Jamison.

One that can take a hint.—Janice White.

My father—Macon Lewis.

Someone that can be trusted.—Marian Hansbrough.

One of those indifferent cavemen.—Lucille Rhodes.

Pet .....—Nancy Beard.

I don't think anyone is ideal.—Bonnie Lane.

I love theatre managers, if it is all the same to you.—Henny Salsbury.

One that is made up of fun, tenderness, and sense.—Marjorie Woolfilk.

Tall, dark and handsome—Cary Grant—Goldie Williams.

Johnny Weismuller because he's so—you know!—Lucille Akers.

Ain't no such!—Charlotte Rice.

Tall and handsome, and just as good as he looks—Alice Briggs.

One who can make love like Clark Gable.—Gracie.

Money in his pockets,
Money in the banks,
If he'll save me from teaching
I'll surely give him thanks!
—Nubby

High ideals, a good disposition sunny smile and a sense of humor. —Louise Hyde.

A Connecticut Yankee. — Kat Young.

Not a "Sheppard" who tends sheep, but one who plays football. —Ruth Showalter.

Campus Comments

We ask you—Is it natural dancing or what that causes Ginny Hall's neck trouble?

One table in the dining hall is on a strictly date diet.

Kitty, we're expecting great things now that you have permission to make time with Bob.

"Rebecca" we ain't "Kern" if you calm the western wildness and settle down to just plain hockey.

Maybe Will Scott is trying out for fat lady in the circus. Try a litle "Browning" bread in your diet.

Margaret, we can understand your brother love, but two Virginia men cause our suspicious ginia men cause our suspicions to rise.

Not that we mind variety in anything, specially in songs several seasons old, we do wonder if a certain junior doesn't tire even herself with the tune, "Bless His Heart."

SOCIALS

Strange as it may seem, S. T. C. society seems to do more globe-trotting with the passage of each week-end—and nothing shows it more plainly than a glance at these visits.

At Home

The "old home town" never ceases to call, for those who spent the week-end at home were: Willis Scott, Caroline Jones, Frances Britton, Carter Belle Munt, Victoria Gilette, Jacquelin Johnson, Minnie Smith, Sallie Perrow, Nancy Wall, Evelyn Knaub, Margaret Dortch, Mildred Davis, Burnley Brockenbrough, Kitty Bass, Ann Peple, Margaret Clark, Ruth Showalter, Wyclif Scott, Katherine Young, Isabel Plummer, Mildred Havel, Susan Lane, Annie M. Campbell, Copeland Johnson, Mary E. Miner, Nannie Page Trent, Martha Harrison, Margaret Crenshaw, Eleanor Shackleton, Virginia Saunders, Margaret Jones, Audrey Wilson, Sue Eastman, Blanche Lane, Patsy Saunders, Dortha Harrison, Maude Jones, Irene Bailey, Elizabeth Rucker, Kathleen McCann, Jean Wilson, Ethel Joyner, Clara Pinchard, Madeline Martin, Frances Teass, Marion Layne, Pauline Pearson, Deane Saunders, Marjorie Booton, Georgie Powell, Virginia Lee, Elizabeth Walton, Belle Lovelace, Billy Wilkerson, Edna Shorter, Wilma Wilson, Bobby Brooke, Dudley Allen, Ruth Montgomery, Rose Puller, Alice Kelson, Irene Parker, Evelyn Howell, Nan Seward, Mamie Barns, Marjorie Quarles, Edna Boleck, Elizabeth Vaughan, Frances Wilson, Elizabeth Shiplett, Margaret Ferguson, Annie Bailey, Tac Waters, Armis Montgomery, and Katherine Switzer.

Attend V.I.P.A. Convention

Among those who attended the V. I. P. A. Convention at Blacksburg were: Lelia Mattox, Lelja Sanford, Evelyn Massey, Jestine Cutshall, Lena Mac Gardner, and Elizabeth Vassar.

Spent Week-end in Richmond

Those who so-journeyed last week-end for Richmond were: Eugenia Jolly, Laeta Barham, Audrey Mattox, Helen Shawen Nell Latimer, Sarah Beck, Eleanor Wade, Dorothy Price, Virginia Hall, Ellen Simmerman, Louise Hyde, Frances Robinson, Evelyn Montgomery, Betty Tice, Nancy Bland, Mabel Britt, Rose Marie Hunter, Virginia Leonard, Eleanor Dodson, Virginia Martin, Audrey Hawthorne, Henrietta Eichelburger, Katherine Fitzgerald, Helen Conquest, Rachel Joyner, Mary L. Powell, Zilla Newsome, and Dot Rust.

At Lexington

Lexington proved most entertaining over the week-end. Among those who ventured there were: Jennie Belle Gilliam, Winifred Goodman, Lloyd Kelly, Caroline Byrd, Fanny Bosworth, Nancy Beard, Frances Woodhouse, and Billie Rountree.

At Other Places

Among those who ventured to other 'whereabouts" were: Elizabeth Harris, Frances Parker, Mary Lynn Thomas, and Susan Gresham to South Hill, Mary H. Vaughan, Margaret Lang, Margaret McNamoth, Katherine Milby, and Katherine Jamison to Lynchburg; Elinor Dunham, Tyler Wood and Jean McClure to Culpeper, Margaret Aldridge, Bobbie Mattox, and Frances Johnson to Danville; Kathleen Powell to Morrison; Sue and Ella Mallory to Lawrenceville; Rose Somers, Leslie Bradshaw and Rebecca Carter to Burkeville; Murkland Dressler and Edith Hatcher to Ballsville; Mary Gilmer to Hollins College; Macon Lewis to Curdsville; Gertrude Levy to Bedford; Edna Harvey to Dillwyn; Anne McCready and Dorothy Hutcheson to Chester; Mary Hubard and Emily Guy to Petersburg; Frances Elder to Blackridge; Fletcher Walker to Appomattox; Elizabeth Spitler to Luray; Catherine Zimmerman to Staunton; Georgie Custis to Norfolk; Elizabeth Stubbs and Rebecca Stubbs to Blackstone; Margaret Herndon to Fork Union; and Elise Marshburn to Boydton.

Judge: "You are accused of hitting the chinaman on the head with a vase. What have you to say?"

Prisoner: "He was threatening me in broken English, so I replied in broken China!"

—The Breeze.

S. T. C.'s TWENTY-EIGHT SETS OF SISTERS

Just As One Little Rat To Another

First Rat (scampering along the hall): "Well, mousey, old pal, how's the food supply on your hall?" Second Rat (thin and emaciated):

"Scanty, scanty, but don't talk about it. Believe you one, I'm literally starved. You know how we Rats like to nibble—."

First Rat:

"How well I know! I'm the "nibblingest" rat that ever nibbled."

Third Rat (over hearing conversation):

"Well, here's something worth swallowing—don't stop at nibbling. Honestly, it's the biggest break we Rats have had since we were snatched away from the pantries at home. There is going to be a tasting party in the Rec on November seventh. Let's see—that will be Wednesday after next. If you want a meal "what am," just be sure to scamper down with thirty-five cents. Ham, chicken, cake, pie — a chance like that comes only once in a Rat's life!"

Talks to S. T. C. Class Va. Welfare Worker

Continued from page 1

stressed the important contacts that the teacher has an opportunity to make. She showed that the teacher's personality and attitude will be reflected in the child"s progress, also that the teacher may recognize defects which are unknown to a busy mother.

The Mother's Aid Administration feels that boys and girls from poverty stricken homes should have some form of manual training to prepare them for life work. They should be taught homemaking, cleanliness and health habits.

Miss Taylor stated that the trend is away from such institutions as industrial schools and orphanages and more effort is being concentrated on securing foster homes for dependent children. Orphanages now realize that when the mother is a competent person the church had better spend its money in the home rather than on orphanages.

From the standpoint of the social worker the teacher can help this work by studying the child and reporting to the social worker.

Following the lecture, members of the class asked questions and a round table discussion ensued.

Child Welfare Group Takes Second Trip

Continued from page 1

mental hygine, spoke on, "The Value of Mental Hygiene." He pointed out that this phase of sociological development is of vital and increasing importance in modern civilization. Mental hygiene is a method of prevention of maladjustment among children; a means of understanding delinquency and subsequently an aid in dealing with such cases. Dr. Groves brought out the need of an understanding among the members of the family and emphasized the benefits of parents dealing with children in a sympathetic manner. He suggested mental hygiene clinics as a means of promoting this desirable condition. Such clinics have recently become popular in cities but are still absent from rural communities.

Dr. Groves' address was a celebration of the tenth anniversary of the Mental Hygiene and Physical Hygiene Clinic of Richmond. The vice-president of the clinic presided and Mrs. Strand, a founder of the clinic, introduced the speaker. The program was presented in the auditorium of the John Marshall High School.

Waffle Supper Given Alpha Sigma Alpha

Louise Walmsley entertained the members of Alpha Sigma Alpha Sorority Wednesday night at a waffle supper given in the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Walmsley. The hostess was assisted by Mildred Potter, Elise Marshburn, and Julia Derr.

FOREIGN STUDY DESCRIBED

NEW YORK, N. Y., (NSFA)—The French Line has recently published three interesting brochures concerning education in France, available upon request. One describes summer courses open to American students in that country; the second surveys generally French universities; the third describes in detail the physical characteristics of each university and its surroundings, courses offered, and mode of life.

S. T. C. and H. S. C. To Present Play Here

Continued from page 1

by Walter Woodward who is not playing behind these footlights for the first time. Thomas Cardwell is being the very suave Sir Roger. Mrs. Greenleaf, the one-time circus queen and present wife of Thomas, is cleverly presented by Josephine Quinn.

The scene of the play is laid in the typical old English inn, the Bird In Hand, where one stormy night three travelers, a wealthy barrister, a sardine merchant, and a rich man's son come upon the Greenleaf household at a very crucial moment in the life of that family. Joan, the innkeeper's daughter, is desperately in love Gerald, the son of the village squire, an affair of which her father heartily disapproves. Joan defying her father, goes off with Gerald. The three travelers enter at this exciting moment and are told the story. They immediately become interested and take it upon themselves to solve the problem. The insuing action forms a brillant bit of comedy with a delightful ending.

The author, John Drinkwater, is a well known and popular playwriter. Bird In Hand has been most successful on the English and American stage, and it is considered one of his best contributions.

One hundred new college presidents assumed office with the opening of this fall's term. Last year there were 125 new administrative heads of colleges and universities in the United States. The turn-over this year has been about 7 per cent and is greater among the liberal arts institutions than among other types of high educational units.—A. C. P.

Football Scores

Richmond 20, Hampden-Sydney 0.

William and Mary 15, Roanoke 6.

Emory Henry 33, Carson Newman 0.

Virginia 17, V. M. I. 13.

Washington and Lee 13, V. P. I. 7.

Army 20, Yale 12.

Navy 17, Pennsylvania 0.

Tennessee 14, Duke 6.

C. E. Chappell Co.
Stationery, Blank Books and School Supplies
Cigars, Cigarettes and Soda
Farmville, Virginia

Rice's Shoe Store
Street and Dress Shoes
Dancing Slippers Dyed
Correct fits our specialty

Kleanwell
CLEANERS AND TAILORS
Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling ladies garments
Main Street, opposite Post office
Phone 98

S. A. Legus
TAILOR
CLEANING
PRESSING
REPAIRING
Phone 203

Overton-Mottley Hdwe. Co.
ELECTRIC GOODS!
Tennis Rackets and balls
Roller Skates

Southside Drug Store
(On the Corner)
Films Developed FREE
If bought at this store

Gray's Drug Store
QUALITY—PRICE—SERVICE
Come in and Get Acquainted
We are glad to have you with us!
Farmville, Virginia

Mack's
BARBER AND BEAUTY SHOP
323 Main Street
We use the Frederick Method
Hair cutting and thinning a Specialty

PRINTING . . . . .
When you think of Printing think of
—The—
FARMVILLE HERALD

GOOD NEWS!
Swagger suits, full length coats. Coats can be worn separately with new by-swing backs. $12.45 values $9.95
See our new 'Night in Paris" College Coats. These can be worn for combination sport coats. Very special $5.98
Tree Bark Shoes! They are new. We are the first in town with them. Come in and let us show you ..... $3.95 pair
THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE
Farmville's Best Place to Shop!

GO TO . . . . .
GILLIAM'S
—FOR—
EVERYTHING—SCHOOL SUPPLIES, CANDIES, FRUITS, CONFECTIONS, ETC.
Open 'till 9:00 p. m.

WELCOME S. T. C. STUDENTS
We invite you to visit our store,
CORRECT CLOTHES FOR STUDENTS
Farmville's Largest Department Store
DAVIDSON'S

ARE YOU INTERESTED?
JACKETS of Grain and Suede Cloth and Wool SWEATERS.
We are showing the season's newest. Come in. We are glad to show—Just what we have—and the line is very attractive.
VERSER'S

PHILCO RADIO
World's largest manufacturers of Radio
A complete line
Watch repairing a specialty
Sheet Music—Strings for Instruments
LYNN, The Main Street Jeweler

YOUR NEIGHBOR,
The Weyanoke Beauty Salon
invites you to drop in and take advantage of their Special prices now in effect.
Permanent Waves $4 & $6 Shampoo & Fingerwave 75 cents
Manicure 40 cents
Indiivdual, courteous, efficient service and an established reputation for dependability and satisfaction. That is our guarantee, and your assurance of perfect workmanship.

Sporting Whirl

By L. SANFORD

In contrast to the cooling off of the weather our tennis enthusiasts have been doing quite a bit of warming up. As a result of this week's playing we have the following scores: Norvell Montague vs. Kathleen Powell, 6-3; 6-0; Mary Joyner Cox vs. Anna Cambell 6-0, 6-0; Elsie Cabell vs. Sarah Parker 6-3, 61; Dot Ranson vs. Martha Watson 6-4, 6-4.

The archery tournament was postponed. The new date has not been announced. Watch for an announcement.

Friday morning our varsity hockey squad will leave for Randolph Macon Woman's College to compete in the annual tournament. Let's give them a real send-off with songs and yells.

Last year our varsity team captained by Nannie Ruth Cooper, held the Harrisonburg eleven to 0-0 tie. This year we hope they will be even more successful.

Thanksgiving Day marks the playing off of the interclass hockey games. The games are played off in color competition, Freshmen vs. Sophomores, Juniors vs. Seniors and a final game between the winning teams. Captains elected by the class teams are as follows: Audrey Mattox, senior; Kathleen Ranson, junior; Marguerite York, sophomore; and Nellwyn Latimer, freshman.

Attendance in the swimming pool has taken on a very favorable increase. Numerous girls have signed up to participate in the meet. Events are posted and the instructors will help anyone who so desires.

Campus Comments and Va. Tech Win

Continued from page one

rye Wall, publisher of "The Farmville Herald" and past president of the Virginia Press Association led the group of newspaper and magazine business managers. Other discussion leaders and speakers included: Russell Jones, editor of "The Montgomery News Messenger" and "The Radford Journal"; R. H. McNeal, V. P. I. publicity director and editor of "The College Publisher"; A. A. Laubersky of Chicago; Beverly L. Britton, past president of the V. I. P. A. and president editor of "The Web," student annual at the University of Richmond; C. D. Hurt of the Stone Printing and Manufacturing Company, Roanoke; Charles M. Soroka of the National Advertising Service, New York; G. T. Baird, professor at V. P. I.; W. C. Stouffer, managing editor of "The Roanoke World News"; and Alexander Hudgins, executive secretary of the V. I. P. A. and state editor of the "Richmond News Leader."

Other interesting features of the convention were addresses by Sherwood Anderson, famous Virginia novelist, Bruce Crawford nationally known writer, and Dr. Newman of the V. U. I. faculty.

The 1935 convention will be held at Harrisonburg State Teachers College October 25-26.

Representatives of the association were entertained by V. P. I. and Radford S. T. C. An informal reception was held Friday night from 9:30 until 11. The convention banquet took place in the Radford S. T. C. dining hall Saturday night at 6:30. After the banquet the guests adjourned to V. P. I. Memorial gymnasium for dancing until twelve. The V. P. I. orchestra furnished the music for the dance.

Historic Williamsburg Fascinates Students

Continued from page one

it is impossible to see everything of interest in Williamsburg in one day.

In order to appreciate all that has been done, one should come and stay at least a week. He should wander through the gardens. He should examine the fragmentary relics found during the work of excavation. He should visualize the magnificence of the colonial governors, living in state at the Governors Palace.

He should feel again the zeal of the "rebels" who defied kings and governors, laying the foundations of their plots for freedom in the Apollo room of the Raleigh Tavern.

He should pause with reverence before the altar of old Bruton Parish Church, wherein worshipped the early statesmen of Virginia. Here, also, did Thomas Jefferson probably dream his first dreams of religious liberty, being at the time securely locked in the gallery reserved for college students."

"In short," concluded Doctor Goodwin, "one must lose himself in the spirit of the past. He must realize that Williamsburg is intended to appeal to the emotions and human sympathies."

As a final word, Doctor Goodwin invited the young ladies to return to Williamsburg for their honeymoon trips.

Radio Highlights

October 29—November 3

Monday:
6:35—WJZ, Three X Sisters.
8:00—WJZ, Jan Garber, Supper club.
10:00—WABC, Wayne King orchestra.

Tuesday:
6:45—WJZ, Lowell Thomas.
8:00—WABC, Concert Orchestra., Frank Munn.
8:30—WJZ, Lawrence Tibbett.
8:30—WABC, Lyman orchestra.
9:00—WEAF, Ben Bernie's orchestra.
9:00—WABC, Bing Crosby.
9:00—WJZ, Vodvil.

Wednesday:
8:30—WJZ, Lanny Ross.
9:30—WABC, John McCormack
9:30—WABC, Burns-Allen.
10:00—WEAF, Lombardo.

Thursday:
8:00—WEAF, Vallee's Vanities.
9:30—WABC, Fred Waring's orchestra.

Friday:
8:30—WJZ, Katzman orchestra.
9:30—WABC, Hollywood hotel, sketch.
10:45—WJZ, Kate Smith.
11:00—WJZ, Nelson orchestra.
11:15—WJZ, Ferdinando orchestra.

Saturday:
2:15—WOR, Football game: Columbia U. vs. Cornell.
8:30—WJZ, Olsen orchestra.
11:00—WOR, Osborne orchestra.
11:30—WEAF, Whitman orchestra.

CALENDAR

Oct. 31, Nov. 7.

Wednesday
5:00—Y. W. C. A. cabinet meeting.
7:00-7:30—Rotunda meeting.

Thursday
4:15—Artist Dance Group.
5:00—Students Standards.
7:00—Beta Pi Theta.

Friday
7:00—Monogram Club.
8:00—Sigma Pi Rho.

Saturday
9:00—Cotillion.

Monday
7:00—Virginian Staff.
7:00—A. A.

Tuesday
8:30—Pi Gamma Mu.
10:00—Student Council.

Wednesday
5:00—Y. W. C. A. open cabinet meeting.
7:15—Dramatic Club.

Dr. Jarman Speaks To Student Council

Dr. Jarmen addressed the Student Council at their meeting Tuesday night in a brief but very interesting discusion of their status in the student body.

Emphasizing the honor placed upon these girls by their fellow students, Dr. Jarman spoke of the responsibility in assuming a proper attitude, regarding their office. As mere guardians of student discipline a student council fails. It is only in so for as the groups attain a sympathetic, friendly spirit of understanding can a government deal successfully with a student body. It is not a formidable unit, but a comrade to each student to be accepted as such and given the co-operation of each student in personal loyalty to the friendship.

M. Herndon Explains Hallowe'en Traditions

Continued from page 1

but if they burn brightly they are just the man to be their mate.

In Scotland the girls pull cabbages out of the ground, and if the cabbages are big their husbands will be large. If they have a lot of dirt hanging on their roots, their husbands will be wealthy if the cabbage is sweet their husband will be of an even temperment.

We can see the results of these superstitutions even in America because all of us have tried at least once walking backwards down the celar steps holding a mirror in front of us to look in to see who our husbands will be.

By all of these customs we can see how Hollowe'en is kept alive as one of our happiest, and most prankish holidays.

Granddaughters Club Installs 25 Members

Continued from page one

said, had been true daughters of the Alma Mater, and that through their influence the granddaughters would be inspired to higher ideals.

THE CACTUS INN
serves
EXCELLENT MEALS
SALADS, SANDWICHES, ETC.
Go there with your "date"
Sunday meals a specialty

EACO THEATRE
Mats. 4 p. m.; Nights 8 p. m.
Adults 25c; Children 15c
Unless otherwise noted
Thurs. & Friday
Loretta Young
Charles Boyer
Jean Parker
"CARAVAN"
A Musical and Romantic Treat
Adults 25c and 35c
Saturday News
Carole Lombard
Roger Pryor
'Lady By Choice"
Also "Spotted Wings"
Next Mon., Nov. 5
Heather Angel
Roger Pryor
"Romance in the Rain"
Next Tues., Nov. 6
Ketti Gallian
Spencer Tracy
"Marie Galante"
Comedy and News
Next Wed., Nov. 7
George O'Brien
in Zane Grey's
"Dude Ranger"
Chapt. 3 "Red Rider"

ROOM FURNISHINGS
SCHOOL SUPPLIES
CANDIES
ROSES
5-10-25c Store
FARMVILLE, VA.

POTTED MEATS
SANDWICH SPREAD
SANDWICH ROLLS
HOT DOGS
Everything for the Picnic
W. R. Drumeller
Main Street Farmville

Electric Shoe Shop
Will Fix Your Shoes
While You Wait
BEST WORKMANSHIP
AND LEATHER USED

Shannon's
Is Headquarters for the Best
SANDWICHES
—and—
DRINKS
in Farmville!

Farmville Mfg. Co.
BUILDING MATERIALS
MILLWORK
Farmville, Va.

Special orders for
Teas and Parties
Try our doughnuts
Foley's Bakery
Third Street

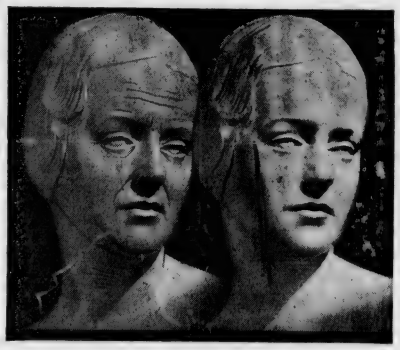
WILLIS
The Florist
Flowers for all occastons
PHONES 181-273

Conoco Gas and Oil
Fill up at
Johns Motor Co.
Farmville, Va.

Martin the Jeweler
Gifts of
Lasting Remembrance
317 Main St. Farmville

Cleaning at reduced rates
State Cleaning Co.
Third Street

You Would Love to Have Your Shoes Fixed at
Lovelace Shoe Shop
110 Third Street



SUPPERS AND
SMALL PARTIES
Good Breakfast
Dinners
Suppers
College Tea Room
and
LONGWOOD

Buy Your
C A N D Y
To Sell at
H. T. Stokes & Co.

G. F. Butcher
High Street
"The Convenient Store"
FOR GOOD THINGS
TO EAT AND DRINK

Headquarters for Evening and Dance Frocks
Dresses that have proven outstanding
Values in todays smartest modes $9.95 $12.95 and $14.45.
Visit our Sportwear Department. Special for this week—one and two piece football dresses in new novelty knit, with large buttons. Picture yourself in one of these stunning dresses at only $2.94
DOROTHY MAY STORES
FARMVILLE, VA.

The Fashion Shoppe
Reflects the newest styles. All dresses $2.95 up
COATS, SUITS, DRESSES, UNDERWEAR
Silk Hose
Fine quality ..... 49c 59c and 69c

LET THIS BEAUTY MIRACLE TAKE PLACE IN YOUR SKIN
ONE CREAM TO BUY—ONE CREAM TO APPLY
Something new, sensational, entirely different. Primrose House presents Delv, a new basic all-around cream for the daily care of the skin.
Based on a revolutionary new cosmetic principle Delv is different from any cream you have ever used—different in texture, different in its effect on the skin. It cleanses, nourishes and clarifies. Delv penetrates instantly, and imparts to the skin a soft, dewy freshness. Its regular daily use keeps the skin clear, young and vital. Women everywhere are enthusiastic about its cooling, stimulating effect.
Try a jar today and you will never again be without Delv.
PRIMROSE HOUSE DELV $1.00
BALDWIN'S
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

LYCEUM MONDAY NIGHT

The Rotunda

We Teach To Teach

CIRCUS SATURDAY NIGHT

Volume XV. FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1934 No. 4

N. Vasilieff Directs Siberian Musicians In Lyceum Number

Students Will Get Tickets from Registrar's Office

TO BE MONDAY

The Siberian Singers, under the direction on Nicholas Vasilieff, and presenting a program of Russian Liturgical, folk and gypsy songs, will appear here in the second of the lyceum numbers Monday night, Nov. 12, at 8 o'clock.

Critics have acclaimed the program which will be presented here Monday night as one of the finest presentations of its kind and an ensemble of distinction. "The Siberian Singers represent the highest achievement in male choir singing," says one critic. "The program combines a wonderful precision of attack, artistic finish, beautiful blend, sensitive musicianship, and genuine interpretive ability. It represents the finest liturgical music, folk and gypsy songs, and is presented in authentic cathedral robes and national costumes."

Nicholas Vasilieff, director of the Siberian Singers, is a distinguished young musician and an outstanding vocalist.

Students will get tickets from the Registrar's office Monday, Nov. 12. Formal dress will be worn to the lyceum program.

Seniors Make Plans For December Dance

At the Senior Class meeting Tuesday night, it was announced that Dr. Jarman and Miss Mary W. Cox had consented for the Senior Class to give as their class production a dance in the "rec" Saturday night, Dec. 8. The admission will be 25 cents for each person and fifty cents a couple.

During intermission food will be sold in cabaret style.

The following committee chairmen have been appointed to make preparations for the dance. Janice White, decoration; Evelyn Knaub and Belle Lovelace, Floor Show; Virginia Rawlings, advertising, Christine Childrey, and Anne Irving, business; and Madiline Martin, Bobby Saunders, and Libby Ware, fod chairmen.

Education Society Will Initiate Girls

Margaret Alsop, Agnes Bondurant, Ethel Joyner, Evelyn Massey, Doris Moore, Elizabeth Spitler, and Elizabeth Walton will be initiated this week into Beta Episilon chapter of Kappa Delta Pi, national honor society in Education. This organization recognizes scholarship, character, and service.

Margaret Alsop, who is a transfer from Blackstone College is a member of Alpha Phi Sigma.

Agnes Bondurant is a member of the Debate Club, Pi Kappa Delta, Alpha Phi Sigma, and Beta Pi Theta.

Ethel Joyner has recently been initiated into Pi Gamma Mu, Alpha Phi Sigma, Sigma Pi Rho, and Sodalitas Latina. She has been teaching a number of years and is back this year getting her degree.

Evelyn Massey has taken part in a number of student activities since the beginning of her freshman year. As reporter on the Rotunda staff, news editor, and this year as associate-editor, she has shown her literary ability. In class athletics she has been out-

Continued on page 4, col. 2

Senior Class President

Frances McDaniel

Class of '35 Presents Moran For Last Time

Saturday, known as Senior's Day in chapel, was of peculiar significance on Nov. 3 when the class of thirty-five presented their classman, Miss Grace B. Moran.

Miss Moran, in her academic gown, sat on the stage with Frankie McDaniel, president of the Senior class.

The entire presentation was serious and dignified in tone. After the devotionals led by Dr. Wynne, the class sang their Senior class song. Following this, Frankie McDaniel presented Miss Moran to the faculty and student body. She expressed the sentiment of her entire class when she said, "Being a senior has its thrills and heart throbs, but at a time like this we wish we might start over and live four more years under the guidance of our true and loyal classman."

As a tribute to Miss Moran, the Senior class stood, removed their caps, and sang to her their classman song. Then from the sad, mellow strains of the classman song, the mood changed to one of pep and gayety. The seniors then replaced their caps, and the sophomores stood and joined their sister class in the singing of the green and white song. The recessional, led by Frankie McDaniel and Miss Moran, brought to a close the senior classman presentation.

E. Walton Discusses 5 French Musicians

Elizabeth Walton conducted Thursday, Nov. 1, one of a series of interesting programs on French life and civilization, which Beta Pi Theta, national French honorary fraternity, is undertaking this year. To this first open meeting were invited the members of the French Circle, and the entire program was conducted in French, as are all the programs of the fraternity. "French Music" was the topic for discussion. Five musicians, Debussy, Gounod, Chaminade, (the only great woman composer), Bizet, and Massanet who represent the Golden Age of French music constituted the basis for study.

After each discussion of the life and works of the genius-composer, Louise Hyde played a well-known selection characteristic of each one. The musical program which brought out more vividly the fact that the French people are justified in their pride for their music was as follows:

Arabesque-Debussy
Waltz (Faust)—Gounod.
Scarf Dance—Chaminade.
Toreador Song (Carmen) — Bizet.
Meditation (Thais)—Massanet.

H. S. C. and S. T. C. Give Fall Play November 16

"Bird in Hand", fall Dramatic Club play will be presented November 16, by the Hampden-Sydney Jongleurs and the S. T. C. Dramatic Club.

Armistice Services Commence Sunday

Beginning Sunday morning with a special Armistice service the student body will participate in a week of World Fellowship programs.

Helen Smith, president of the Y. W. C. A., will lead an impressive morning watch on Armistice Day. Special music will solemnize the service. Tribute will be expressed throughout the Sunday church services.

Dr. Walmsley will open a series of talks in Prayers on World Fellowship. Bonnie Lane will lead a discussion of the current problem with Japan and China; Julia Derr will lead the discussion on the Philippines, and Miss Moran the one on Europe. Katharine Walton will lead the last of these discussions and talk on "The Y. W. C. A. and World Peace."

These series of services are expected to give the students a much clearer realization of international problems of today. Others colleges throughout the world are observing this World Fellowship Week of peace and good will.

State Commissioner Explains Formation of Public Welfare

That genuine interest in their field of study characterizes the students of Sociology 401 was clearly evidenced by the enthusiasm with which they received the State Commissioner of Public Welfare, Arthur W. James, who on Friday night, November second, gave the second of a series of lectures planned for the members of the child welfare class.

Mr. James received the rapt attention of his listeners during his entire lecture, remaining overtime to answer questions asked by them.

He emphasized the vital importance of such work, giving pertinent evidence to show that the field of child welfare is now recognized in its true proportion of importance.

Child welfare as a scientific work is rapidly gaining attention, according to Mr. James.

Athletic Managers Select Assistants

Assistant managers for each branch of athletics have been selected and approved by the A. A. Council and the managers. They are Ruth Phelps, hockey; Mary Lena Anderson, basketball; Elsie Cabell, tennis; Maxine Burks, archery; Marguerite York, baseball; Mary Adeline McGlothlin, volleyball; Evelyn Mann, lacrosse, Doris Moore, field and track.

Dr. Wynn Initiates College Observance of Education Week

That education is the biggest business in our country today was pointed out to the student body of S. T. C. by Dr. Wynne in his introductory remarks in Chapel Tuesday, Nov. 6. Dr. Wynne initiated American Education Week in this college when he presented Dr. Jarman, who made a brief talk on "A Well-Balance Program."

Dr. Jarman developed his talk around the words—Study, Meditation, Rest, and Recreation—which are written on the dome of the dome of the Rotunda, and applied them to the student's life in a teachers' college.

In the course of his talk Dr. Jarman showed that teachers' colleges are more than liberal arts colleges, for they embody a professional course as well as a liberal arts course. He said, "From the standpoint of democracy . . . teachers' colleges have made the largest contribution of any institution of higher learning in our country."

In conclusion, the president enjoined his audience not to omit another phase of life, religion, in balancing their life's program.

Student' Day in Chapel was augumented by a talk made by Jestine Cutshall, president of the student body, on "Selecting College Curriculum and Courses from the Standpoint of the Student."

"The question which confronts us all when we enter college is what course we will take. Do we have a definite goal for which to work, or do we merely drift into our course because it is one that offers us less opposition?" the speaker asked at the beginning of her address. Another striking statement was "College is our source of strength for future living!"

The rest of the program for this wek will include two more talks and a program presented by the music department on Saturday.

National Inspector Is Tri Sigma Guest

Mrs. Troy Cartwright of Denver, Colorado, who is National Social Service chairman of the Sigma Sigma Sigma Sorority is now visiting the college and giving her bi-annual inspection of Alpha Chapter of Sigma Sigma Sigma. She is also visiting the John Randolph High School library which was founded and endowed by Sigma Sigma Sigma on October 29, 1932.

Saturday, Mrs. Cartwright visited the library at John Randolph, inspecting it, and making plans for its future. She was accompanied by Mr. Armstrong Smith, principal of the school and Miss Annie

Continued on page 4, Col. 3

"Bird in Hand" an Example of Fine Dramatic Attainment

The actors in the fall play believe that a "Bird In Hand" is worth two in the bush. The players, luckily stubborn about this point, got the idea of a perfectly presented performance in their heads, with the pleasing result of not only doing fine work on their parts, but also of giving an inspiration to the off-stage groups to see how "cute" they could be.

The careful directress selected her cast with an eye out for a little detail of effect. Very striking, indeed, is the contrast of the hero and his heroine. Stine, petite, and dark, shows beautifully with Vern the blonde, young lord of a very sedate English community.

Every element of a good play is present in "Bird In Hand"—characters, sly and open tinct character types, humor, and an appropriate setting, not to mention the delightful plot of a young couple endeavorers, luckily stubborn about this point, got the idea of a perfectly presented performance in their heads, with the pleasing result of not only doing fine work on their parts, but also of giving an inspiration to the off-stage groups to see how "cute" they could be.

The careful directress selected her cast with an eye out for a little detail of effect. Very striking, indeed, is the contrast of the hero and his heroine. Stine, petite, and dark, shows beautifully with Vern Ferguson, the blonde, young lord of a very sedate English community.

Every element of a good play is present in "Bird In Hand"—characters, sly and open tinct character types, humor, and an appropriate setting, not to mention the delightful plot of a young couple endeavorers, luckily stubborn about this point, got the idea of a perfectly presented performance in their heads, with the pleasing result of not only doing fine work on their parts, but also of giving an inspiration to the off-stage groups to see how "cute" they could be.

The student body awaits with great anticipation its chance on Nov. 16 to rain applause on the actors and actresses who have so long, indeed, is the contrast of the loyally worked with their faithful hero and his heroine. Martha leader and coach, Miss Wheeler. Stine, petite, and dark, shows up As in years of old, a grand spirit been aroused over the fall dramatic production. Oh, yes, sir! predictions of another admirably advance for S. T. C.'s versatile dark, shows beautifully with Vern Ferguson, the blonde, young lord of a very sedate English community.

Every element of a good play is present in "Bird In Hand"—characters, sly and open tinct character types, humor, and an appropriate setting, not to mention the delightful plot of a young couple endeavorers, luckily stubborn about this point, got the idea of a perfectly presented performance in their heads, with the pleasing result of not only doing fine work on their parts, but also of giving an inspiration to the off-stage groups to see how "cute" they could be.

The careful directress selected her cast with an eye out for a little detail of effect. Very striking, indeed, is the contrast of the hero and his heroine. Stine, petite, and

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Published by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
1934 Collegiate Digest 1935

Staff

Lelia Mallox ..... Editor
Evelyn Massey ..... Associate Editor

Board of Editors

Miss Jane Royall ..... Alumnae
Anne Montgomery ..... News
Florence Sanford ..... Make-up
Katherine Cotten ..... Literary
Anne Putney ..... World News
Anne Dingo ..... Social
Margaret Farrar ..... Feature
Lelia Sanford ..... Sports

Proof Reader

Elizabeth Walton

Managers

Lena Mac Gardner ..... Business
Alva Sawyer ..... Asst. Business
Maude Rhodes ..... Circulation
Grace Collings ..... Asst. Circulation
Lila Jacob ..... Asst. Circulation

Assistants and Reporters

Birdie Wooding, Bonnie Lane, Laeta Barham, Minnie Smith, Susan Grasham, Mary Lee Newcomb, Elsie Cabell, Bess McGlothin, Katherine Coleman, Merwyn Gathright, Kathleen Ranson

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1934

The Question on the Table

The recommendation has come from the Student Council that "the editor-in-chief of The Virginian, the editor-in-chief of The Rotunda, the business manager of The Virginian, and the business manager of The Rotunda be appointed by a committee rather than elected by popular vote at the time of other campus elections in the spring."

The motion was made and seconded that this recommendation brought before the student body in their meeting Monday night be accepted. In the enthusiastic discussion that followed, no definite conclusion was reached and the question was laid on the table. It is well that it was, for this is an important question and one that can not be readily accepted or rejected without serious and careful consideration.

We all have therefore had a hand—if we cared to—in the election of the five major officers. Will accepting this recommendation from the Council deprive us of a privilege that should be ours?

Will it mean the officers thus appointed will be less responsible to the student body?

Will it be fair to these officers if they be appointed and the other major officers be elected? Will the appointment take away any of the importance of the positions?

Will it mean better and more efficient editors and managers than we have had in years past?

Who will the committee be? Will they know better than the student body the girls on the respective staffs?

Will this method do away with any or all of the great politicing evil of the present system?

Will there be any real fundamental difference in the appointment of the editors and business managers and the present system by which the officers are actually nominated? Is there any difference in the duties of these officers and the other three major officers not in question that would warrant a change in the method of choosing them?

This recommendation that has been presented to the student body is no small matter. It concerns us all, and before it is voted on in the next student body meeting each of us must think thoroughly through each of these questions.

If sophomores don't act as freshmen, why do they put caps on the freshmen to distinguish them?

Divided We Fall

Our college community is like other communities in that we are a group of people living together. We find existing here, among groups and individuals, the same petty jealousies, social ambitions, backbiting and intrigue we were conscious of in the towns and communities from which we came. We should realize that such faults are immense drawbacks to our school as they were to our community.

We entered college with a high resolve to learn how to live a better, fuller life and to leave the world a little better for our having lived in it. When we are graduated we shall scatter to new places—as college women, leaders, in the community-looked to for guidance by those who did not go to college. Should we not prepare ourselves now for this responsibility?

Cooperation means living and working happily with our fellow students. This can never be accomplished as long as we allow such things as petty jealous, social ambitions and back-biting to affect our willingness to unite.

Let us add the study of cooperation to our curriculum. Let us learn to cooperate through practice for the excellent training we'll get, for the good of our college and, later years, for the good of our country. Together we stand!

Manners

A Southern Negro once remarked, "Mannus'll gitcha a heep fudder den money." Money simply has the power to buy material things, whereas manners have the power to secure valuable qualities of personality and prestige.

When one is introduced to a stranger, neither his wealth, social standing, political status nor his popularity is of much use to him. He is entirely dependent upon his manners and charm to help him win the favor of the stranger. His first impression is apt to influence his future connections with the stranger and therefore, it should be good. He should be courteous, agreeable, and interesting rather than boisterous, unattentive, and disinterested. In business, good manners are an invaluable asset.

Physical beauty and handsome clothes attract the eye of a stranger; yet if upon acquaintance we find the well-dressed person rude, we lose interest in him. On the other hand, a shabbily-dressed person who has a sunny smile and a "way with him" wins us because of these. We finally forget the shabby clothes and are intensely taken up with the person's charm.

To use good manners is no more trouble than to be rude and the inward satisfaction is due reward.

What Shall We Teach?

What shall we teach? Many of us wonder.

America has no clearly defined understanding as to the real end of education. Many believe it is culture. Others assume that the end of education is to train youth to earn its living. "Both are mistaken assumptions," says Claire Williams.

The end of education is to improve steadily, decade by decade, the quality of the populace. Before we set out to educate, we should decide things to teach which will tend to "grade upward" the population.

We are already making great strides toward this type of education. Schools are realizing more and more the necessity of teaching things that are not in text-books. We start in the primary grades to help develop good habits which are permanently retained.

Correct speech, formal manners, physical and health training, drawing, handwork, and singing are a few illustrative undertakings coming into prominence in our public schools.

Civilization is advancing. Let us not be stationary! Schools must be more than a mere parking place for the young!

Alumnae News

According to the Cotillion Club register, Farmville alumnae, who returned last week-end for the Cotillion Club dance were: Virginia Brinkley, Virginia Moses, Mary Virginia Walker, Honey Hamilton, Gazelle Ware, Patty Ellison, Nancy Harrison, Dorothy Prescott, Mary Shelton, Bessie Brodie, Harriett Booker, Mrs. W. L. Braddus, Betty Shields, Mayme Showalter, Alice Hardaway, Mrs. Everett Irby, Jac Morton, Mrs. Burwell Young Frances Berger, Mildred Lipscomb, Mary McDearman, Betty May Brown, Cappy Rountree, Lelia Lovelace, Kitty McLemore, Ducky Woodward, Mary Diehl, Margaret Copenhaver, Katherine Jones, Rachel Royall, Mrs. Hardy, Mildred Jackson, Elizabeth Watkins Epps, Elizabeth Billups, Susie Webb, Virginia Guy, Ida Miller, Mary Berkley Nelson, Martha Higgins, Martha Nottingham, Mayo Beatty, Mary Conway, Louise Munt, Sue Hume, Margaret Banks, Courtney Neal, Winnie Richards, Mary Burgess Fraser, Margaret Armstrong, Ruth Floyd, Mary Alice Young, Louise Whitehurst, Garnett Hodges, Frances Ferrell, Lucille Tiller, Kitty Woodson, Nunna Franklin, Dorothy Franklin, Barney Barnes, Martha Wood, Elizabeth Mason Blackard, Mary Howard, Frances Graham, Dorothy Eubank, Elizabeth Rogers, Freda Shields, Marion Raine, Lauraine Billings, Eileen Howard, Dot Waynick, Margaret Laning, Virginia Riddick, Margaret Parker, Martha Brothers, Katherine Lee Young, Martha Ann Laing, Elizabeth Wall, Joe Lyne, Adiene Taylor, Frances Poulo, Alwin Wimbush, Spot Wimbush, Louise Van Lear, Sarah Wills, Jane Coulbourne, Billy Doudy, Mrs. Switzer, Dot Ritchie, Thelma Stevens, Helen Westmoreland, Margaret Webster, Lula Wilkinson, Mary McIntosh, Dot Stone, Harriett Moomaw, Evelyn Dulaney, Mattie Lewis Osbourne, Martha Sanders, Elizabeth Jordan, Claudia Fleming, Mary Easley Hill, Evelyn Hughes, Martha Scott Watkins, Elizabeth Williams, Catherine Lunsford, Jane Grey Irby, Betsy Wilkinson, Doreen Smith, Jessie Smith, Ruth Ford, Dorothy Legare, Frances Dillon, Lily Farrar, Nannie Gilbert, Phyllis Denit, Mary Louise McNulty, Margaret Gathright, Jenilee Knight, and Blanche Murrell.

Harvey-Royster

Of interest to a great many students and alumnae, is the wedding of Katherine Royster, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Royster, and Jack Harvey, both of Lynchburg, which took place at the home of the bride's parents in Lynchburg on Nov. 3, at 6 o'clock.

Local Alumnae Meet

The local chapter of Farmville Alumnae met in the lounge at 7:15 on Friday evening, Nov. 2. Words of greeting and review of plans made during the summer were outlined by the president, Miss Nickols. Miss Tallaferro talked briefly on the policy of the general association, and Mrs. Frank Nat Watkins outlined a few ways in which the alumnae individually could serve their Alma Mater. Josephine Smith Young was elected treasurer and the standing committees were named. It is hoped that two program meetings will be held during the year and also frequent informal teas. A benefit card party was planned to be held at Longwood at 8 p. m. on Thursday, Nov. 20. Table reservations at two dollars can be made with Mrs. F. N. Watkins, Mrs. Burwell Young, Mrs. Farrar, and Mrs. Coyner.

Miss Flora Watkins

Funeral services were held Nov. 3 at 2 o'clock in Farmville for Miss Flora Watkins of Atlanta, Ga., who died Thursday in Hampton. She is survived by one sister, Mrs. Richard H. Johnson.

Twenty-three years ago a book was found to be missing from the law library at W. and L. A few days ago the book was returned—being sent from New York—without the name of the sender.

At Other Colleges

On November 12, the Washington Alumni Chapter of V. M. I. will celebrate the 95th anniversary of the founding of the Institute. Governor Pollard will be one of the principal speakers.

The president of the Cotillion Club of W. and L. has announced that Mal Hallett and his boys have been engaged to play for the dances on Friday and Saturday nights during Thanksgiving. They turned down an invitation from Yale to come to Lexington.

At the University of Minnesota any co-ed caught wearing a fraternity pin is fined five dollars or given a jail sentence of six days.

The average man would spend 503 years, working at the rate of 17 credits per quarter, if he were to finish every course offered at the University of Minnesta.

Of the total enrollment of 850 boys at W. and L. this year, there are 23 sets of brothers.

The State Theatre of Greenville, N. C., will offer two silver loving cups this year for the purpose of stimulating interest in athletics on the East Carolina Teachers College campus. One cup will go to the best all-round girl athlete and the other to the best all-round boy athlete.

At Harvard College, no students, except freshmen, are compelled to either attend classes or take half-term examination in November and April.

Review of the News

From the returns of yesterday's elections that have been pouring in, it is evident that the New Deal has the continued support of the electorate. Although the presidential election in 1932, a more wide-spread interest was manifest than is usual in mid-term elections.

In our state, the total number of those voting was particularly slack due to the fact that a Democratic victory was assured throughout the state. The Fighting Ninth, however, still had it nip and tuck, but the Democratic incumbent, Representative John W. Flannagan was victorious over his Republican rival, Fred C. Parks, and his Independent opponent, Bruce Crawford, Senator Byrd and his nine representatives swept Virginia with a 3 to 1 majority over the G. O. P. and rang up a New Deal victory for the state.

Two states in the U. S. registered each a quarter-million more voters this time than in 1932. They were Pennsylvania, where the Senatorial election was close, and in California, where Upton Sinclair launched his EPIC campaign for governor. Early returns from the Keystone state show that Republican Senator David A. Reed, seeking his third term in that office, had a slight lead over his Democratic opponent, Joseph Guffey. The totals are not official and may be contradicted later on. In the past few days developments in California have showed that the Republican Governor Frank F. Merriam, has the edge on the Democratic aspirant, and early returns bear out the fact that Sinclair is trailing in the gubernatorial fight.

The Democratic triumph was easy in New York and Massachusetts. Postmaster Farley reported himself and the President as well pleased with the overwhelming support—setbacks occuring only in a few districts, in Republican strongholds, and in Nebraska.

President Roosevelt has reason to rejoice in having a sympathetic Congress returned to him in the middle of his term. Estimates show that the Democrats gained in the Senate and still maintain their majority in the house by over 100 although they lost a few seats.

Should We Abolish Rat Week?

I think "rat day" would be cute, but a week of shining makes one too shiny.—Mary H. Vaughan.

When Rat Week is taken in the right spirit, it adds fun and interest to College life.—N. Latimer.

Rat Week should not be abolished, because it shows the sportsmanship of each "rat."—Blanche Lane.

Rat Week makes us appreciate both our every day life and clothes.—Lib Harris.

No, because it is the most fun I've ever had.—Valla Nemmo.

No, provided the rats don't get worse punishment than the sophs got their freshmen year.—Billie Arthur.

No Sir, I think both classes get a big kick out of it.—Edith Nichols.

I think Rat Week is all right for about three days, but for a whole week it gets montotonous. —Beecy Carter.

I think all freshmen look forward to it.—E. M. Hamilton.

It is fun while its lasts, but better when it is over.—Elizabeth Butterworth.

If taken in the right spirit, Rat Week should be lots of fun.—Elise Turner.

There's a lot of hooey about trying to abolish it. Let it be!—Bobby Brook.

Next year we'll be sophomore! By all means No!—Frances Tyler.

Yes, it has become tiring.—Grace Allen Pittard.

Heck no! It gives the doleful sophs something to laugh about. —Frances Britain.

Yes, I don't believe in it.—Frances Maxey.

No, it is fun.—Dot Rust.

It's a great life if you don't weaken.—Virginia Hurt.

Rat Week—fun for everyone: for the Freshmen as the victims; for the Sophomores as persecutors; for the Junior and Seniors as the spectators.—Frances Collie.

Rat Week—O. K., but wait until next year.—Margaret Via.

It is all right at first, but the routine becomes a little monotonous.—Helen Carney.

I'm looking forward to next year. NO!—Elsie Greene.

Yes, it is run in the ground.—Caroline Upshur.

It is a new experience for a group of "dumb rats."—Anne S.

No, when it is over, it gives us such a grand and glorious feeling!—Majorie Woolfolk.

One Dollar Prize

Would you like to win a prize? The Literary Column is offering $1.00 for the best Limerick submitted by a student of S. T. C. Look for the details in the next issue.—K. E. C.

On Going to Class

I had spent my last two NICHOLS for a box of GRAHAM crackers, and had just sat down to eat them when the BELL rang. I jumped up, ran out into the WYNNE and waded through some WATERS. I finally found SHELTER in some BARNES, but had to leave that and go through a RICE FIELD. I STUBBED my toe on a PECK of apples and HURT my knee. But I got up and went on. I later stepped on a BUGG. It was surely a MIX-up, but I got to FRENCH class on time. However, I wish I were a NUNN, 'cause they keep too close TABB on you here—and I do think we need a new DIEHL.

SOCIALS

Fall Cotillion with its gay decdecorations, smart evening... orations, smart evening dresses, and music by the Duke Collegians, was on the calendar for last week-end. Even with that on hand, many girls spent the week-end away from school.

At Home

Among those who spent the week-end at home were: Virginia Jones, Catherine Zimmermen, Kitty Chappell, Grace Collins, Betty Harrison, Murcile Baird, Dorothy Rhodes, Rebecca Mayes, Katheryn Harvel, Evelyn Wilson, Louise Bailey, T. Park, Katherine Gallusha, Rose Friend, Eleanor Wood, Mary Louise French, Audrey Mattox, Eunice and Isabelle Tanner, Bobbie Mattox, Inez Chappell, Rose Walton, Lelia Hill, Clyde Tuck, Nannie Page Trent, Margaret Jones, Eleanor Meredith, Ida Sue Carter, Juanita Callis, Audrey Wilson, Madeline Martin, and Virginia Leonard.

Visited Skyline Drive

Bessie Hart, Evelyn Holmes, and Edith Hart visited Skyline drive during the week-end.

Spent the Week-end in Lynchburg

Those who spent the week-end in Lynchburg were: Frances Johnson, Mary Lee Powell, and Frances Teass.

At Pamplin

Dorothy Hutcheson, Frances Jamerson, and Mary B. Black were in Pamplin during the week-end.

In Curdsville

Dorothy Robertson and Charligne Hall spent th eweek-end in Curdsville.

In Richmond

Those who visited in Richmond over the week-end were: Margaret Drake, Audrey Hawthorne, Dorothy Morris, and Maude Rhodes.

At Other Places

Other girls who spent part of the week-end away from school were: Sally Perrow at Burkville, Mary Denny at Keysville, Annie B. Anthony at Stells, Leah Godwin at Appomattox, Evelyn Montgomery at Brookneal, and Virginia Agee at Hollins.

Miss Moran Serves Alpha Sigma Alpha

Miss Grace Moran entertained the members, the alumnae, and guests of the Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority Sunday morning at a waffle breakfast in the chapter room. Louise Walmsley, Maude Deekens, and Burnley Brockenbrough assisted in serving.

Besides the members of the chapter the other guests at the waffle breakfast were: Dorothy Legare, Mary Easley Hill, Harriett Moomaw, Ida Mason Miller, Ruth Ford, Virginia Guy, Mary Elizabeth Alexander, Pauline Jones, Elizabeth Billups, Susie Webb, Mary Alice Young, Elizabeth Jordan, Mary Jones, Eleanor Wall, Sarah Clarke, Mrs. O. M. Marshbourne, Gene Marshbourne, and Mrs. Ralph Dodd.

Military Rule Out At Minnesota

(From The Reporter, October)

The Board of Regents of the University of Minnesota, in the middle of June, voted to make military training optional. The ruling follows agitation among the student body and from members of several religious denominations who have protested against the compulsory feature of military training which was established in 1869.

Have You Been Getting The Rotunda?

Rotundas for dormitory students are distributed at dinner every Wednesday night. Extra copies from the publication office may be purchased, five cents each.

Town girls will get THE ROTUNDA from the town girls' room every Thursday morning.

Subscribers or advertisers who miss any issue of The Rotunda will please write or see any of the circulation managers.

Tasting Party

That a Tasting Party is now going on in the rec from 5-7 o'clock should be an item of special interest to every hungry S. T. C. girl. Girls! now is your chance to feast on your favorite foods: fried chicken, old Virginia ham, fruit salad, pie, cake, and many other choice morsels.

Pi Gamma Mu, the sponser of the Tasting Party, is offering this unusual treat for only thirty-five cents. Join the merry crowd who are now trooping to the rec in quest of dainty dishes to satisfy their craving appetites.

This afternoon every girl is invited to become a royal taster at this party.

Approximately Six Hundred Dancers Attend Fall Hop

Johnny Long and his Duke Collegians furnished gay, sparkling music for approximately six hundred dancers at the fall Cotillion hop in the gymnasium Saturday night from eight-thirty till 12 o'clock.

Many alumnae were back for the dance, and Hampden-Sydney, V. P. I., Carolina, Virginia, and W. and L. were well represented.

During intermission punch was served in the Student Building lounge.

The list of boys who attended the fall Cotillion dance includes: Lee Bean, Billy Lipscomb, Wesley Gover, George Beaman, Walter Potter, Bernard Showalter, Tom Noble, "Pat Mitchell," Lewis South, Cornell Berry, James Perkins, George Earnest, Jr., K. George Wise, Mitch Miller, Ed. Jones, Woodrow Wilkerson, Andy Loundes, Oliver Lyne, "Jut" Prescott, Johnny Ferry, John Kenyon, Pete Trent, Marshall Lewis, Billy Fowles, Howard Bouldin, Junie Blake, George Edmunds, Billy Waldo, Montgomery Williams, "Bobbie" Robinson, Jack Webb, Bill Scott, Greene Lawson, Melville Johns, Fleet Dillard, Raleigh Powell, Baker Betts, Bonny Williams, Aschie Potter, Bill Newman, William Alexander, Moseley Phlegan, Jack Pabst, Ashley Patteson, Spencer Wilson, Walter Chiles, Dwight Rivers, "Max" Whitlock, Sterling Chambers, Tay Jones, Emmett Rankins, George Harding, John Tankard, Jack McCurdy, Arthur Parker, Reese Tate Bowen, Woodrow Mackey, Jordon Temple, Bob Baughan Bot Baldwin Willis, Sam Wamble, Jewett Travis, Harry England, Henry Reed, Cas Hardaway, Billy Ligan, David Sawyer, John Armstrong, Bob Godman, Rudy Young, Bruce Barrow, Richard Wooling, Edward Spichart, T. C. Wilkinson, Ralph Staton, Sam McClure, Joe Burton, Benny Ayers, Arlie Hayman, Scotty Boyd, and Dick Lewis.

Among the Alumnae

With this issue The Rotunda is inaugurating a new feature, a regular weekly column devoted to interesting and noteworthy doings and achievements of the alumnae of the college. Th editors will be glad to receive detailed information about graduates and former students who have been carrying on in the spirit of the Alma Mater and to pass on the information to its readers through this column. Clippings of newspaper notices, published articles, letters about interesting travels or adventures, accounts of significant undertakings by the alumnae will be gratefully received and either printed or used from time to time in the preparation of this column. All such material may be sent to Prof. James M. Grainger, Head of the Department of English.

Lillian Rhodes, class of '29 of S. T. C., will have in the Education Week exhibit in room 33, an artistic masterpiece. This original presentation of her interpretation of a Spanish poem, La Cuna Vacia, was an outcome of her study under Miss Smithey to whom the work is dedicated. The work itself presented as a thesis or final project in art done at Columbia Teachers College in the Graduate School.

The exquisitely illuminated portrayals in the style of the work of the old monks and the original music with mosiac type designing and intricate lettering reveal the delicate beauty of the Spanish lyric by Jose Selgas. The poem in transation reads:

THE EMPTY CRADLE

Angels descended,
Caressed him,
And singing to him, said,
—Come with us.

The little one saw the angels
About his cradle;
And greeting them said,
—I am going with you.

The angels ascending on
Their golden wings
Took the baby with them
Far, far aawy.

From the pale, early dawn
The uncertain light
On the following morning
Revealed the empty cradle.

Lillian Rhodes taught both Spanish and Art after graduation here. This work on exhibit brought to completion her work at Teachers College, N. Y., where she was graduated with the Master of Arts degree. She is now teaching in the Art Department of the Womans College of the University of Delaware in Newark, Delaware.

Mind Reading?

As Prof. Ann Eliza fitted her glasses a little more securely to her classic Roman nose, her attention was drawn to two very charming damsels as they made their entree at the social affair of the Fall season at S. T. C.

The blond was a fairy-like whisp of a girl, attired in fluffy pink. She descended the stairs with a bit of timidity that seemed as out of place in the very modern setting as Ghandi would be in Alaska.

In contrast, the sleek Garbo beside her seemed to control every sequin on her backless dress.

"Ah, there are my victims," thought Prof. Ann Eliza as she took from her enormous evening bag her latest invention —an alarm clock containing a ray that recorded one's thoughts by code as the clock ticked. Assistant Gullible helped her focus the rays. As the clock faced the blond, they interpreted the code to read thusly:

"Wonder if Frank will recognize this as my sweet-girl-graduate dress, since I put the velvet bows on the shoulders . . . . This orchestra doesn't sound a bit like our Stony Ridge band . . . . . Grandmother would die if she knew that I am at a girl-break dance . . . Wait until I tell the bunch at home about going down a receiving line . . . Wish I could meet that V. P. I. boy—or somebody in a uniform . . .Oh no, it isn't the rees. It's love in bloom. . . . I haven't heard the name of a boy I've met—there's so much noise . . . Bet that smooth W. & L. boy was leading the Carioca—I couldn't follow a step—If mother could see Miss Mary in lovely green lace, she would do something about that purple satin she's been wearing for four years . . . . Guess I'll make the rounds again—if I can squeeze through the crowd."

Adjusting the ray to penetrate the black ringlets of Miss Sophisticate, it registered rapidly:

"If Athlete thinks I'm going to dance with him after snooting me at Pan-Hellenics, he's sadly mistaken . . . Perhaps I should have worn the red velvet . . . I hope Tom doesn't find out that I brought Dick in too . . . What shall I do with both of them at intermission??? If someone would only introduce me to that good-looking blond over there . . . Boy, Johnny Long and his Duke Collegians are plenty good. His playing at Hampden-Sydney Openings will be swell—provided I get there—which reminds me, I must dance with Harry again if I expect to get a bid."

"There's no doubt but that my invention is perfected!" exclaimed Prof. Ann Eliza to Assistant Gullible.

PRINTING . . . . .

When you think of Printing think of

—The—

FARMVILLE HERALD

GOOD NEWS!

Swagger suits, full length coats. Coats can be worn separately with new by-swing backs. $12.45 values $9.95

See our new 'Night in Paris" College Coats. These can be worn for combination sport coats. Very special $5.98

Tree Bark Shoes! They are new. We are the first in town with them. Come in and let us show you ..... $3.95 pair

THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE

Farmville's Best Place to Shop!

GO TO . . . . . .

GILLIAM'S

—FOR—

EVERYTHING—SCHOOL SUPPLIES, CANDIES, FRUITS, CONFECTIONS, ETC.

Open 'till 9:00 p. m.

WELCOME S. T. C. STUDENTS

We invite you to visit our store,

CORRECT CLOTHES FOR STUDENTS

Farmville's Largest Department Store

DAVIDSON'S

ARE YOU INTERESTED?

JACKETS of Grain and Suede Cloth and Wool SWEATERS.

We are showing the season's newest. Come in. We are glad to show—Just what we have—and the line is very attractive.

VERSER'S

PHILCO RADIO

World's largest manufacturers of Radio

A complete line

Watch repairing a specialty

Sheet Music—Strings for Instruments

LYNN, The Main Street Jeweler

YOUR NEIGHBOR,

The Weyanoke Beauty Salon

invites you to drop in and take advantage of their Special prices now in effect.

Permanent Waves—$4 & $6 Shampoo & Fingerwave 75 cents

Manicure 40 cents

Individual, courteous, efficient service and an established reputation for dependability and satisfaction. That is our guarantee, and your assurance of perfect workmanship.

Southside Drug Store

(On the Corner)

Films Developed FREE

If bought at this store

C. E. Chappell Co.

Stationery, Blank Books and School Supplies

Cigars, Cigarettes and Soda

Farmville, Virginia

Rice's Shoe Store

Street and Dress Shoes

Dancing Slippers Dyed

Correct fits our specialty 1t

Kleanwell

CLEANERS AND TAILORS

Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling ladies garments

Main Street, opposite Post office

Phone 98

S. A. Legus

TAILOR

CLEANING

PRESSING

REPAIRING

Phone 203

Gray's Drug Store

QUALITY—PRICE—SERVICE

Come in and Get Acquainted

We are glad to have you with us!

Farmville, Virginia

Mack's

BARBER AND BEAUTY SHOP

323 Main Street

We use the Frederick Method

Hair cutting and thinning a Specialty

Sporting Whirl

By L. SANFORD

And here we have Kathleen Ransom, captain of our varsity hockey team. Kathleen is a junior and has been outstanding in athletics since her entrance at S. T. C. Her captainship began last Friday when S. T. C.'s eleven encountered the "Campus Characters" of Sweet Briar College at Lynchburg. And they tell me they really met some splendid playing technique in that game Lelia Mattox crashed through the line of opponents to score a goal for S. T. C. and thus tied the final score.

If you have been down to the swimming pool in the past week you may have seen the Hubbard twins fighting it out in a free style race and incidentally neither of them ever wins. Guess maybe it's sisterly love but they manage to reach their destination simultaneously. Can't one of you swim faster than the other or are you really twins?

Frances Hudgins is showing you a few things along the line of diving. She really has form. Then there's Virginia Leonard with the real spirit working on the step from good to better. Elizabeth Walton isn't bad at this pastime of floating. We struggle to float two minutes and her reply is, "I could do this all day."

Today's performance of the Human Seal was certainly a wonderful exhibition of a quatic events. This Human Seal demonstrated the method of attack used by the devil fish, the most dreaded of sea monsters. He snatched Margaret Farrar quietly from the surface of the water as the devil fish does his victim. Included in the list of events was the Egyptian float showing the different poses of that nationality.

Last Thursday afternoon the archery tournament was played off. The sharp shooters of the season proved to be first, Maxine Burks, second, Lelia Mattox and third, Kathleen Ransom.

Captain and Manager

Kathleen Ranson, (above) captain of hockey; Bess McGlothlin, (below), manager.

Gala Circus To Be Event of Nov. 10th

Continued from page one

Seniors ..... 9:15 10:00 P. M.

Mass rehearsal will be held on Thursday and Friday nights at which time Miss Wheeler will be present. Everyone participating in the circus must be present.

The classes will sponsor stunts and booths and aside from these attractions there will be additional side shows and features. The crowd can see the freaks, have their fortune told, play Bingo, see their favorite movie stars, dance and eat.

Admission for those taking part in the circus will be half price—five cents. Admission for school children and college girls—ten cents. Adults will be charged fifteen cents.

Open-Book Examination Employed at Chicago

(Reprint from The Reporter, Oct.)

At the end of the spring quarter the University of Chicago introduced into its testing procedures an "open book" examination. More than five hundred students participated in this method of evaluating their mastery of their work during the term and were permitted to bring lecture notes and any other reference books to the three-hour period. The examination covered the first-year general course in the Humanities, which surveys the fields of philosophy, history, religion, art, and literature.

In the last Rotunda Woodrow Mackey's name was omitted in the cast for "Bird in Hand." He is playing the part of Blanquet, a sardine salesman.

Overton-Mottley Hdwe. Co.

ELECTRIC GOODS
Tennis Rackets and balls
Roller Skates

News Books in S. T. C. Library

The S. T. C. library has the following new books: (Light entertaining novels): Amorelle, Grace Livingston Hill; Back to Virtue, Betty, Margaret Widdemer: A Feather in Her Hat, Ida A. R. Wylie; A Gay Family, Ethel Boileau; The Road to Nowhere, Maurice Walsh; Good-bye, Mr. Chips, James Hilton; Kraal Baby, Cynthia Stockley; From This Day Forward, Ruby Ayers; The Cat's Paw, Clarence B. Kelland; Summers Night, Sylvia Thompson; The Great Impersonation, E. Phillips Oppenheim; The Ginger Griffin, Ann Bridge; Gowns by Roberta, Alice D. Miller; Years Are So Long, Josephine Lawrence; Jeremiah and the Princess, E. Philips Oppenheim, (Other Novels): Peking Picnic, Ann Bridge; Slim, William W. Haines; Two Black Sheep, Warwick Deeping; James Shore's Daughter, Stephen Vincent Benet; The Splendor of Torches, Cosmo Hamilton; So Red the Rose, Stark Young; Forgive Us Our Trespasses, Lloyd C. Douglas; Silent on a Site Edwin L. Sabin; Philip H. Gibbs; Rivers Glide On, A. Hamilton Gibbs. (Historical Novels): A Spy of Napoleon, Emmunska Orczy; Conqueror, Arthur D. H. Smith; Pageant, Edith J. Lyttleton; Claudius, Robert Graves. (Modern sophisticated Novels): First Love and Last, Howard Coxe; Dusk at the Grove, Samuel Rogers; Grand Canary, A. J. Cronin; Unfinished Cathedral, T. S. Stribling, (Mystery Stories): The Chinese Orange Mystery, Ellery Queen; The Murder of the Ninth Baron, J. S. Fletcher; The Tragedy of Z, Barnaby Barry; Death in the Darkness; Two O'Clock Courage, Gelett Bugess; The Curtain of Storm, Joseph Gollomb; Heavy Weather, P. G. Wodehouse; The Nine Tailors, Dorothy L. Savers; The Alubum, Mary Roberts Rinehart; The American Gun Mystery, Ellery Queen; Murder Mansion, J. H. Wallis; The Woman He Chose, J. H. Wallis; Murder Day by Day, Irving S. Cobb; Mr. Parker Payne-detective, Agatha M. Christie; Death Takes the Stage; Charles Rodda; The Crooked Lane, Frances N. Hart; The House Across the River, Elizabeth Corbett; The Shortest Night, G. B. Stern. (Biographies zabeth, J. E. Neale; The Queen and Mr. Gladstone, Philip Guedalla; They Were Giants,. Charles R. Brown; A Backward Glance, Edith Wharton; Crowded Hours, Alice Roosevelt Longworth. (Miscellaneous): While Rome Burns, Alexander Woollcott; Life Begins at Forty, Walter B. Pitkin; On Our Way, Franklin D. Roosevelt; The Coming American Revolution, Geoge Soule; The Soul's Sincere Desire, Glenn Clark; Excursion to Lilliput, Joseph W. Cove; and After the Great Companions, Charles J. Finger.

Education Society Will Initiate Girls

Continued from page one

standing, and this year heads the Monogram Club. She is manager of volleyball. Besides these, she is a member of Alpha Phi Sigma, Dramatic Club, Mathematics Club, and the Cotillion Club.

Doris Moore is vice-president of Sodalitas Latina and is a representative from the Junior class to the Students Standards Committee. She has membership in the Mathematics Club, Alpha Phi Sigma, Sigma Pi Rho, Dramatic Club, and Zeta Tau sorority.

Elizabeth Spitler has been on several school committees and holds membership in the Home Economics Club, Alpha Phi Sigma, Cotillion Club, and Zeta Tau.

Elizabeth Walton has taken part in many extra-curricular activities. She is literary editor of the Virginian. Last year she was feature editor of the Rotunda and is now proof reader.

She has been on the chapel and Y. W. Committees. This year she is president of Alpha Phi Sigma. She is a member of the Dramatic Club, French circle, Beta Pi Theta, and the Granddaughters Club.

National Inspector Is Tri Sigma Guest

Continued from page one

Laurie Stone, supervisor.

On Monday, October 29, John Randolph High School celebrated the second anniversary of th e founding of the library, by presenting a program, by the Grade children, which showed the use they had made of the library.

At the conclusion of the program the Home Economics Department of John Randolph High School entertained Mrs. Cartwright, Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong Smith, Miss Annie Laurie Stone, Superintendent T. J. McIlwaine, and Miss Camper at lunch.

Mrs. Cartwright will spend Wednesday and Thursday inspecting Alpha Chapter of Sigma Sigma Sigma, which will hold a dinner in her honor Thursday evening at Longwood.

EACO THEATRE

Mats. 4 p. m.; Nights 8 p. m.
Adults 25c: Children 15c
Unless otherwise noted

Thursday, Nov. 8
Geo. M. Cohan
"GAMBLING"
Comedy—"Mysterious Kiss"

Friday, Nov. 9
Returned by Demand
Nils Asther
"Pat" Paterson
"Love Time"

Sat., Nov. 10
Warner Oland
Drew Peyton
"Charlie Chan In London"
"On Western Trails"
Lowell Thomas News

Next Mon., and Tues.
Nov. 12 and 13 News
Russ Columbo
JUNE KNIGHT
ROGER PRYOR
Wake up & Dream

Next Wed., Nov. 14
Binnie Barnes
Neil Hamilton
'1 Exciting Night'
Chapt. 4 "The Red Rider"
With BUCK JONES

ROOM FURNISHINGS
SCHOOL SUPPLIES
CANDIES
ROSES
5-10-25c Store
FARMVILLE, VA.

POTTED MEATS
SANDWICH SPREAD
SANDWICH ROLLS
HOT DOGS
Everything for the Picnic
W. R. Drumeller
Main Street Farmville

Electric Shoe Shop
Will Fix Your Shoes
While You Wait
BEST WORKMANSHIP
AND LEATHER USED

Shannon's
Is Headquarters for the Best
SANDWICHES
—and—
DRINKS
in Farmville!

Farmville Mfg. Co.
BUILDING MATERIALS
MILLWORK
Farmville, Va.

Special orders for
Teas and Parties
Try our doughnuts
Foley's Bakery
Third Street

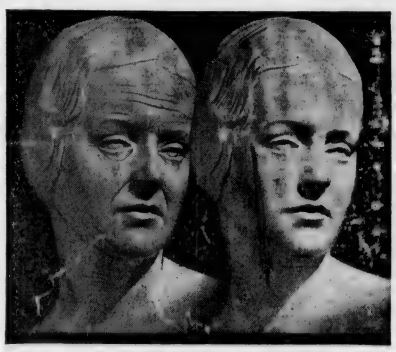
WILLIS
The Florist
Flowers for all occastons
PHONES 181-273

Conoco Gas and Oil
Fill up at
Johns Motor Co.
Farmville, Va.

Martin the Jeweler
Gifts of
Lasting Remembrance
317 Main St. Farmville

Cleaning at reduced rates
State Cleaning Co.
Third Street

You Would Love to Have Your Shoes Fixed at
Lovelace Shoe Shop
110 Third Street



SUPPERS AND
SMALL PARTIES
Good Breakfast
Dinners
Suppers
College Tea Room
and
LONGWOOD

Buy Your
CANDY
To Sell at
H. T. Stokes & Co.

G. F. Butcher
High Street
"The Convenient Store"
FOR GOOD THINGS
TO EAT AND DRINK

Headquarters for Evening and Dance Frocks
Dresses that have proven outstanding
A showing in todays smartest modes—$9.95 $12.95 and $14.45.
Visit our Sportwear Department. Special for this week—one and two piece football dresses in new novelty knit, with large buttons. Picture yourself in one of these stunning dresses at only $2.94
DOROTHY MAY STORES
FARMVILLE, VA.

The Fashion Shoppe
Reflects the newest styles. All dresses $2.95 up
COATS, SUITS, DRESSES, UNDERWEAR
Silk Hose
Fine quality ..... 49c 59c and 69c

LET THIS BEAUTY MIRACLE TAKE PLACE IN YOUR SKIN
ONE CREAM TO BUY—
ONE CREAM TO APPLY
Something new, sensational, entirely different. Primrose House presents Delv, a new basic all-around cream for the daily care of the skin.
Based on a revolutionary new cosmetic principle Delv is different from any cream you have ever used—different in texture, different in its effect on the skin. It cleanses, nourishes and clarifies. Delv penetrates instantly, and imparts to the skin a soft, dewy freshness. Its regular daily use keeps the skin clear, young and vital. Women everywhere are enthusiastic about its cooling, stimulating effect.
Try a jar today and you will never again be without Delv.
PRIMROSE HOUSE DELV $1.00
BALDWIN'S
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

DONT MISS SEEING
"BIRD IN HAND"
FRIDAY NIGHT

The Rotunda

We Teach To Teach

READ ABOUT THE LIMERICK CONTEST
PAGE TWO

Volume XV. FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, NOVEMBER 14, 1934 No. 8

Famous Musicians Appear In Second Of Artist Series

Singers Present Short Program In Chapel

WELL RECEIVED

The Siberian Singers who gave a lyceum number Monday night in the large auditorium graciously consented to present a short musical program Tuesday at Chapel. Among the selections given were The Rosary, Prisoner's Song, Stormy Weather (a gypsy song), Moonlight Madonna, and others. The artists responded to hearty applause of the audience with several encores.

Monday night was the second in The musical entertainment Monday night was th second in a series of Artist Numbers presented each year at S. T. C. The Siberian Singers under the direction of Nicholas Vasilieff, a distinguished young musician, represent the highest achievement in male choir singing.

The program Monday night included the following musical numbers:

Halleluiah ...11th Century chant
Bless the Lord, O My Soul
.....Ippolitoff-Ivanoff
Sanctus .....Jchesnokoff
In Monastery .....
II.
Pirate Song.....
Volga Legend of 17th Century
Jolly Merchant .....Folk Song
Siberian Prisoner's Song
.....Traditional
Laughing Polka .....Folk Song
Song of the Young Recruit
.....Soldier's Traditional
III.
Invocation .....Mozart
Prelude in C Minor Rachmaninoff
IV.
The Man on the Flying Trapeze
.....ar. by Heifets
Dark Eyes and Two Guitars
.....ar. by Heifets
Gay Troika .....Gypsy song

Both of these programs were thoroughly enjoyed by everyone who attended them.

Journalism Class Will Issue The Rotunda Next Week

The journalism class, English 356, will issue The Rotunda next week. This class, taught by Miss Lucille Jennings, has studied the principles of journalistic writing and will be given actual practice in newspaper work when they issue The Rotunda next Wednesday. The class has elected its editor, who will choose her staff from the journalism class.

The regular Rotunda staff will not meet tonight.

Y. W. C. A. to Sponsor Nov. Birthday Dinner

Those girls who enjoyed the Birthday Banquet in our dining hall last month will be interested in noting November 19th. Following the plan suggested by the Student Council, our second birthday dinner will be given on the nineteenth of this month honoring those girls whose birthdays come in November.

Each organization in school will sponsor some part or all of one dinner as plans have been laid out. Last month's celebration was beautifully arranged by the Student Council; this time the Y. W. C. A. will be hostess. Girls working with the Y. W. leaders are busy making their preparations while the students are interestedly discussing the details of the last occasion.

The banquet will be held at the usual dinner hour at S. T. C.—6:00 o'clock and all students will appear in evening dress to lend color and a festive spirit to the dining hall and table decorations.

Farmville Tobacco Market Opened Thursday Morning

Thursday, Nov. 8, was the opening date of the Virginia Dark-Fired Tobacco Market in Farmville. Although sales were light and the market was open only one day last week, the general trend in prices was toward the high 1919 price-level. Averages on the first day were around 18. This tremendous rise in prices gives the farmers in the surrounding territory the hope that prices will be maintained here as in the bright tobacco belt, and that the income, in the face of crop curtailment and poundage cut, will be equally good.

Miss Mix Discourses On Mental Problems

At the regular meeting of Kappa Delta Pi, Thursday night, Nov. 8, Miss Grace Mix delivered a talk on Mental Hygiene and the Young Child. Miss Mix is supervisor of the kindergarten, and has been for many years engaged in work with young children.

Beginning with a brief history of the development of mental hygiene, Miss Mix stated that the World War brought to the attention of the world the deplorable conditions of mental and physical health. She stressed the importance of "temperature—not a hot-house temperature but a healthy, joyful atmosphere in a cheerful, serene home or school room."

"A child has a right to be happy," said Miss Mix, adding, "Be good and you will be happy is said to be not infallible."

The speaker advised her hearContinued on page 3, Col. 2

TAKE PROMINENT ROLES IN PLAY

Martha Stine (left) who will take the leading girl's role, and Josephine Quinn, (right), who will impersonate the wife of the innkeeper.

Educational Trend Takes New Turn

"More and better teachers with a change in technique and skills will soon be in demand," said Dr. Wynne in chapel, Thursday.

In the last of a series of talks made in chapel as a part of the National Educational Week program, Dr. Wynne discussed "Current Tendencies in Education."

The content of Dr. Wynne's talk is as follows:

Perhaps the first important trend affecting education is the increased emphasis now being placed upon educational institutions.

The time seems to be approaching when there will be a dearth of trained teachers. Today the greatest opportunity for service in the whole world is in the field of teaching.

A second tendency is the change in the type of techniques and skills demanded of people in general. In addition to the three R's, everyone should now learn to contribute to the enjoyment of others through some form of art, to make and handle simple budgets, and to use the typewriter. Such techniques as these will probably be as important now for the rank and file as the three R's have been in the past. They constitute a challenge to our public schools and even our constitutions of higher learning.

Finally, the change in the attitude toward controversial issues as school topics is of vital concern to the whole educational profession. In times past, controversial questions have been left outside the school room. Those enrolled in schools and colleges were to be protected from the problems of men in the world of affairs.

New courses of study are not limited to the old, the safe, and the tried. They embody problems that are of current concern.

This is the first time in the history of the world that school teachers have been called upon

Continued on page 4, col. 1

This Is Red Cross Roll Call Week

Red Cross Roll Call Week is being held throughout the country from Nov. 11 to 18. While subscriptions for membership range from one dollar to twenty-five dollars, any amount of contributions is acceptable. Only fifty cents of each membership fee goes to national work, the local chapter uses the balance for local work. Give your contributions or membership fees to Mary Nichols, class room No. 34.

Seniors Develop Plan For December Dance

That the Senior dance, which will be held Saturday night, Dec. 8, from 8:30 to 11:30 a. m., will be given in the "rec" and that only 400 tickets will be available was announced at senior class meeting, Tuesday night.

Frankie McDaniel, president of the class, announced that tickets will be sold only to S. T. C. students, their guests, and dates. It will be a co-ed affair and each ticket will be twenty-five cents.

"Pinkie" Harper and his Southside Club orchestra from Crewe will furnish music for the occasion. During intermission a floor show will be given, and "eats" will be sold.

College Elects Queen For Annual Festival

With the election of the Queen of the Mardi Gras on Tuesday, Nov. 13, plans for the annual festival launched into definite action.

Intense enthusiasm and much speculation followed a day of steady and animated voting, when the poll closed and the committee in charge retired to count the votes determining which of the nine candidates shall reign at the Mardi Gras.

The identity of the Queen will remain a secret until she appears on the ballroom floor on the night of the carnival.

With rapid succession the plans for the Mardi Gras will advance under the supervision of Pi Gamma Mu.

The orchestra to furnish the music at the festival, the costuming of the court, the special figure, and the selection of princes are all items now undergoing consideration.

Miss Lamb Speaks OnMental Hygiene

First hand information is the most valuable method of study, and the Child Welfare class is fortunate enough to secure many members of the staff of the State Welfare Department to assist them in their work. On Tuesday Miss Lamb of the Mental Hygiene department spoke to the girls on "Mental Hygiene and its Relationship to Teaching."

Miss Lamb explained that, whereas, other departments concentrate their efforts on the physical improvement of the child it is the aim of mental hygiene to produce healthy minds and in emergencies to aid the mentally deranged in adjusting to society. The time of the Mental Hygiene department is monopolized by the latter group in giving mental

Continued on page 4, Col. 3

Tentative Teaching Assignments Posted

The following tentative teaching assignments have been made for the winter quarter:

College Training School: kindergarten, Julia Derr, Bebe Russell, Rose Somers, Florence Tankard; first grade: Kitty Bass, Helen Boswell, Martha Gwaltney, Elise Marshburn, Nancy Wall; second grade: Frances Brumfield, Nancy Dodd, Louise Floyd, Eleanor Mitchell, Ellen Zimmerman; third grade: Emily Blanton, Mary Cunningham, Charleigne Hall, Mena Mae Smelley; fourth grade: Elise Bailey, Alma Elliot, Georgie Powell, Eleanor Wade; fifth grade: Hilda Inge, Agnes Thompson; sixth grade: Helen Glass, Catherine Crews; seventh grade: Virginia Coleman, Grace Collins.

John Randolph: first grade: Blanche Lewis, Eleanor Gibbs; second grade: Marguerite Bradford; third grade: Lucille Moseley; fourth grade: Audrey Hawthorne, Margaret Pittard; fifth grade: Reed Walthall.

Rice: first grade: Sallie Martin, Ellen Gilliam; second grade: Margaret Eleanor Harris; third grade: Blanche Elizabeth Kahn, Elizabeth Smith; fourth grade: Dorothy Morris, Nellie Turnes.

Worsham: second grade: Virginia Bracey, Anne Diggs; third grade: Edith Bondurant; fourth grade: Margaret Bailey; fifth grade: Dorothy Turner, Gay Stiefen; sixth grade: Page Magee, Madeline McCommons.

Girls Discuss Topic Of Current Interest

"Resolved that after 1937 only degree students should be allowed to teach in the state of Virginia" was debated Friday night at the regular Debate Club meeting. Kathryne Cotten and Birdie Wooding upheld the affirmative, while Virginia Hooke and Addie Norfleet defended the negative side of the question.

Although the debate was nondecisive, both sides gave a rebuttal. Sallie Jennings and Lucille Rhodes presented a speech and reading, respectively.

Dr. Walmsley will talk at the next meeting on the "Technique of Planning and Developing Debates."

Try-outs will be held Monday night for the teams which will take part in intercollegiate debates. "Resolved, that the U. S. should own and control the manufacture of arms and munitions" will be debated at this time. All Debate Club members are eligible to enter the try-outs.

H. S. C. and S. T. C. Join In Production OfEnglish Comedy

Tickets on Reserve at White's Until Friday

TO BE HELD NOV. 16

"Bird in Hand," a comedy by John Drinkwater, well-known playwright, will be presented in the college auditorium, Friday, Nov. 16, at 8 p. m. The play given jointly by the S. T. C. Dramatic Club and the H. S. C. Jongleurs, is the annual fall production of the two groups.

The cast, under the direction of Miss Wheeler, after weeks of hard practice will present one of the cleverest and most enjoyable plays yet given in the S. T. C. auditorium. Each member has captured the true feeling of his character and portrays it excellently.

Martha Stine, whom we easily remember for her good work as Lady Agatha in "Admirable Crichton," and as Hermia in "Midsummer Night's Dream," takes the leading girl's role. As Joan, daughter of the innkeeper, she presents an entirely different type character which enables her to show her versatility as an actress. As usual, Martha is as lovely as she is well-poised.

Verne Ferguson, a sophomore at Hampden-Sydney takes the leading masculine role opposite Joan. He is quite natural as Herald, son of the village lord. As a lover, he plays his part devotedly and convincingly.

The gruff and heavy old innkeeper, Mr. Greenleaf, is brought to life by Holman Willis, a newcomer to our stage as well as to Hampden-Sydney.

Josephine Quinn, a freshman at S. T. C. impersonates the one-time circus queen, now the wife of the old innkeeper. The characterization is difficult, but no one would believe it after seeing

Continued on page 2, Col. 4

Juniors Will Present Miss Bedford, Nov. 21

The juniors will present their classman, Miss Virginia Bedford, in chapel Wednesday, Nov. 21.

The presentation of the junior classman planned for this morning was postponed on account of the stage being set for the Dramatic Club play.

Chapel Conversation Rambles After Announcement Of Hymn

"What was the number of the hymn?" "Gee! what a thick letter you have there." "Dr. Jarman has just had his shoes shined." These quotations sound as if they might have had their origin in a lunatic asylum. But they did not! They had their origin in our own auditorium! Just after the number of the hymn was announced in chapel Saturday morning, Nov. 10, those very words were over heard.

The murmurs that always arise among the students during that period between the announcing and the singing of the hymn had aroused the curosity of one having a keenly atuned ear. To satisfy this curiosity, we, twelve other girls and I, scattered ourselves through out the student body as best we could to hear what was going on around us. Now we have the reports which were brought in the form of direct quotations. You, too, may have heard them.

The sentinel, who had stationed herself among the juniors had her attention called to the feather on a lady's hat and was asked, "Did you ever?" The girl who sat behind her expressed relief and delight to know that the program for this morning would be a musical program.

A sophomore was reported to have taken this as a time to cast a wicked glare at the freshmen and to demand a reason for their sitting down after the "Alma Mater" was played. "It got me all confused; so, I sat down too," she complained. Another sopho-

Continued on page 3, Col. 3

Circus Is Declared Liveliest In Years; Sophs Win Prize

Fantastic costumes, bright-colored balloons, the sounds of laughter and strange roars filled the gymnasium, Saturday night, Nov. 10. Circus night had come, and the student body of S. T. C. was in holiday mood! It did not matter that the costumes were slightly jaded; that the balloons had a tendency to burst at the wrong moments; that the roars of the wild animals were passing strange (even to the wildest of animals.)

Monkeys squeaked; Tarzan and his mate played in a jungle of trees imported from the wilds of the outskirts of Farmville; "The Man on the Flying Trapeze," resplendent in tights, and hiding behind side-burns, bowed and scraped to the tune of "The Man ond the Flying Trapeze." The young man's courage was great to behold. He launched upon his flight through the air with feet tucked firmly beneath him to avoid the hard, hard floor. The tight-rope walker was the only one of her kind in existence. She was able to walk the rope with the greatest of ease, touching the floor lightly as she tripped along. The acrobats tumbled through hoops and performed breath-taking dives over squatting figures. They gave an act outstanding for its precision and quickness of movement.

After the stunts, the floor was cleared, and the large crowd became still, expectantly awaiting the coronation of the Circus Queen, whose identity had been kept a secret until that night. She came out in a tarlatan dress of scarlet, followed by her three attendants. They marched out in great dignity amidst the frantic cheering of the on-lookers. Their corsages were masses of balloons. As followers will wilt, so balloons will burst; however, S. T. C. queens have been noted for their poise under circumstances more trying than these.

With this ceremony over, the crowd broke up into little groups, wandering aimlessly about under the "Big Top," ready to see the side-shows.

Continued on page 2, Col. 4

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Published by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as second class mater March 1, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

MEMBER
Associated Collegiate Press
1934 Collegiate Digest 1935

Staff

Lelia Mattox ..... Editor
Evelyn Massey ..... Associate Editor

Board of Editors

Miss Jane Royall ..... Alumnae
Amis Montgomery ..... News
Florence Sanford ..... Make-up
Kathryne Cotten ..... Literary
Anne Putney ..... World News
Anne Diggs ..... Social
Margaret Farrar ..... Feature
Lelia Sanford ..... Sports

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1934

Congratulations

The Circus was truly a howling success in more ways than one—noisier, funnier, and peppier than ever before. The success of this annual event in the college brings credit to those who worked so faithfully on its presentation.

First of all, Sarah Beck, chairman of the Circus Committee, is to be congratulated upon the way in which she incorporated the cooperation of the classes, the faculty, and the student body. Such an undertaking is no mean responsibility and Sarah made a good job of it.

The chairmen of the class committees worked hard and got results, and here it seems fitting to say "Hats Off" to the sophomore tumblers who won the prize for the best class stunt.

The Circus would not have been what it was without the helpful suggestions of Miss Jane Royall whose resourcefulness and interest were an untold help in planning the stunts.

Miss Wheeler's presence at the dress rehearsal crystallized the students' work and lined things up for the big show. The Y. W. C. A., the Student Council, and Athletic Association are to be commended for the attractive booths which they sponsored. These added variety and gayety to the carnival attractions.

Such a spirit of cooperation is what makes S. T. C. what is is today.

In Recognition

November 16th the Dramatic Club will present another of its plays, adding yet another service of worth, and we feel sure, a higher attainment in the field of dramatic art. It is worthwhile that the student body give its attenion o the work which the Dramatic Club does in the college and community.

It is one of the oldest and most active groups in school, having grown during these last thirty years from an organization of a few members selected only for their acting ability to one of many departments in which approximately two hundred are now enrolled for activity and service. The accomplishments of this S. T. C. club have been awarded credit worthy of their effort in the fields of work which they enter. For several years the members of the club have sponsored training in each phase of dramatic art work here in the school, have directed plays at the training school, have offered their assistance in almost every production which the college has undertakin beside giving their annul plys, in fall and spring, and the one act plays presented before the club. This spring the club is sponsoring a play tournament for the public schools of Southern Virginia.

In a more material way, the Dramatic Club has added to the school equipment a lighting system valued at eight hundred dollars, the curtains for the auditorium and stage, all the scenery and stage properties used, and the curtains for the small auditorium. Each Founder's Day the group presents to Dr. Jarman a gift to be applied on the Senior Building. In recent years that gift was as great as five hundred dollars. Every organization in school has received the service of the Dramatic Club, through the help of its leaders, use of lights and stage equipment as well as make-up and costumes.

The plays which the Dramatic Club presents have always been of literary merit as well as highly entertaining. In the fall production the Hampden-Sydney Jongleurs play in corporation with the S. T. C. Dramatic Club, adding interest and ability to their work. With such a record we cannot hesitate in urging every student and friend in Farmville to be present on the evening of November 16th for the presentation of "Bird in Hand" by John Drinkwater at the State Teachers College.

Armistice Day

Sixteen years ago this meant the end of a war fought to make the world safe for democracy, a war to end war, a war to make safe our country and its women and children. Today we, in college, are those children of sixteen years ago, and we look to see how well democracy has fared in this world we know, how far war is now out of our thoughts, how near is the reign of peace. We see a world of dictators, we hear the threats of fighting, we know there are more men under arms today than there were twenty years ago.

If the past generation failed and fell, and failing threw to us its torch, can we take up the torch they have dropped? What is the part of college youth in a world that is remaking its politics, its economics, its government, its very ideals? Some of us passionately say "We will never fight for king or country", and thus we hope to bring on peace. Others say we will build us greater armies and navies and none will dare war on us. Some, possibly most of us, believe that war is a means and peace a result, that we must build up a peaceful world before there can be peace.

Let us grant that as long as there are enemities, jealousies, and misunderstandings, there will be war in some form. Then comes the duty of the educated mind, the supreme task of the college student, to help make a new world on broader and deeper foundations. Surely it is for this that all our thinking and reading is centering around problems of social and international living. Compare the contents of a leading mazagine today with that of a generation back, and you can but feel that we are taking up our torch.

Definitely the Armistice Day of 1934 is putting us nearer the day of peace, in so far as we are discarding foolish formula and weak emotionalism and facing the task of the college student of today to know the world as it is and to make it as it should be.

"But—?"

"She's very nice, but—"

How many times have we heard this today—everyday?

With one breath we pay a reluctant compliment; with the next we add an unfriendly remark which undoes all that we have said.

It is so easy to talk about other people, and it is so easy to say unkind things. Perhaps we do not intend them to be unkind. Sheer thoughtlessness is responsible for the most of it. There is no excuse for thoughtlessness however, when it does actual harm.

The unfriendly criticism which we make of other people is remembered long after the compliment is forgot. It remains, and it multiplies.

That means that someone will have fewer friends and a minimized character in the eyes of others, just because we thoughtlessly expressed some catty opinion concerning her.

If we cannot say something nice about others, why say anything at all?

Alumnae News

Portsmouth Alumnae To Entertain At Banquet

The Portsmouth Alumnae will entertain at a banquet on Nov. 16 in Portsmouth. Dr. Jarman, Miss Mary White Cox, Miss Camper, and Jane Royall are to be guests. Representatives from Norfolk, Suffolk, and Newport News will join the Portsmouth group.

Smith-Abrams

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Abrams of Enfield, Va., announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Mary Thomas, to Edward Augustus Smith, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Smith of Ashland, Va.

To Discuss Foreign Relations

An International Relations Department is a new feature of the program of the Woman's Club of Emporia, Va. Miss Addie Walker is the chairman of this department, which has decided to join the marathon round table 1934. The discussion for the November meeting will be, "Is Isolation Possible or Desirable?"

Miss Inda Miller To Succeed Miss Drinker In Amelia

Miss Inda Miller, former home demonstration agent of Mecklenburg County, will succeed Miss Gertrude Drinker in Amelia County, in similiar work. Miss Miller received her training at Farmville State Teachers College.

Mrs. W. J. Barham

Mrs. Permelia Dugger Barham, of Chase City, died ni St. Luke's Hospital in Richmond on Nov. 4. Funeral services were held on Monday at her home, Boxwood.

Miss Emily Calcott in Alabama

Miss Emily Calcott, graduate of Farmville, who received her M. S. and Ph. D. at the University of Virginia, has recently been made Assistant in English at State Teachers College at Troy, Ala.

Local Alumnae Sponsors Bridge

The benefit bridge party to be sponsored by the local chapter of Farmville Alumnae will be given at Longwood on Tuesday evening, Nov. 20, at 8 o'clock. Table reservations at $2.00 may be made with Mrs. Burwell Young, Mrs. Boyd Coyner, Mrs. Farrar, and Miss Louise Richardson.

Dorothy Field Teaching

Miss Dorothy Field, degree graduate in 1934, of Lincoln, Nebraska, is in the Lincoln School System, teaching shorthand at the Bancroft, one of the large schools of the city.

Pardon the Accent

"Ello, my deah roommate. Ripping night, what say?"

"Really, that is, I say where'd you get that accent? Where'd you get that drawl?"

"Isn't it jolly, old fellow? It may be frightfully silly of me and all that, but I've been down watching the play practice, don't you know? Right hard it is to witness that bally good cast in haction without hadding a bit of Henglish colloquialism to one's hordinary speech.

Tell you more but oust the haccent. Sure, now I'll try even thouch it is frightfully hard, deah chap.

Well, to begin with there is going to be many a girl there to see the play who, before Saturday night, had no intention of going. How do I know? Why, don't you remember the gasp that went up when Jerry Arnwood dashed out to embrace Joan before he as quickly departed again to fetch his father, Sir Robert? But did you ever see a better match than Verne Ferguson and Henry Read as father and son? Maybe I'm telling you a bit too much when I say that Sir Robert supplies the winning twist to the plot. Good old Sir Bobby!

Martha Stine as the little heroine, Joan, literally jumps right into the heart of everyone who sees her. Freshmen will be ready and willing to forgive the fun she had at their expense during rat week. Sympathy will flow from each hard-headed, conventional father —Billy Willis to you now but Mr. Greenleaf when you see him storm at his girl for night riding. Oh! did I strike a familar note? Night riding at S. T. C.! Government, where are you? But then, who is always a girl's best friend? Right-o, old thing (I mean just plain 'right'!) there's not a mother's daughter of us but have loved her

Continued on page 4, col. 1

Campus Comments

Who says absent mindedness is funny? Not Claudia Harper. It'll be a month before she'll be able to laugh at any such stuff.

Wyc Scott swerved a little from the theme of the skit when she changed from a cannibal to a skirtless wonder.

How did it happen that Barbee knew enough about who was being crowned queen of the circus to come for it, when Knubby didn't even know it.

Thank goodness we only have this "two in one" (Siamese) dose of twins when the circus is here.

Suggested Theme Songs:

ASTRONOMY—I Saw Stars.
BIOLOGY—Sweet Mystery of Life.
GEOLOGY—When It's Springtime in the Rockies.
PUBLIC SPEAKING—Pahdon Mah Suthun Accent.
ECONOMICS—Are You Makin' Any Money?
CHAPEL—Blue Prelude.
PSYCHOLOGY—Did You Ever See a Dream Walking?
GLEE CLUB—Learn to Croon.
PHYSICAL ED — You're a Builder Upper.
BIBLE—I'm No Angel.
EXAMINATIONS — The Last Round-up.

—Yellow Jacket.

Circus Declared the Liveliest Ever Held

Continued from page one

"Have your fortune told here," read the poster over the door of the little gymnasium. Going inside one crossed palms with money and discovered strange things of life through heart lines and head lines. One girl seemed glad to find no bread-line in the palm of her hand.

There were hot dogs at one booth, adding to that incomparable odor of all circuses, numerous "Belles of the Nineties" overstuffed in the Mae West pattern; movie stars galore; "Bingo" and fish ponds; and dancing behind made-to-order vines. There were shouts and squeaks from lions and elephants, costumed haphazardly after their stunts. They were crunching peanuts with Hampden-Sydney boys, who determined to brave and tame them. Sedate members of the faculty were enthralled with the "ten-cents-a-dance" night life; students forgot classes and played "Bingo" with commendable vigor.

Merriment was in the air, and "all was right with the world."

H. S. C. and S. T. C. To Give Joint Play

Continued from page one

Josephine do it with such ease.

Three travelers visit the "Bird In Hand" on the stormy night in which Joan defies her father. They are, Blanquet, Beverly, and Goldolphin.

Blanquet, a cockney sardine salesman, is cleverly portrayed by Woodrow Mackey, president of the Jongleurs. Mackey makes Blanquet the most amusing character in the play and will bring forth much laughter from the audience when he trails across the stage in his night shirt.

James Elder, a Cincinnati Yankee, whom we saw in last year's "Admirable Crichton," is being the very flippant Beverly, son of a wealthy merchant. He is extremely self-confident while he is supposedly gathering material for a novel never to be published.

Waller Woodward, who is well known to this audience, proved his talent as a polished actor in the part of Lord Brocklehurst in the "Admirable Crichton." In "Bird In Hand," he is Goldophin, a wealthy English barrister, who is well aware of his capabilities.

Sir Robert, father of Gerald, is the typical old English gentleman of class. Henry Reed gives dignity to this character in a fine interpretation.

Although "Bird In Hand" discusses a serious English social problem, it is packed full of clever lines and amusing comedy scenes. This play will exceed the highest expectations of the audience as it is charmingly written and will be superbly acted.

Limerick Contest

As a beauty I am not a star,
There are others more handsome by far.
But my face—I don't mind it
For I am behind it.
It's the people in front that I jar.
The favorite of Woodrow Wilson.
Writiten by Anthony Euwer

There was an old man of Nantucket,
Who kept all his cash in a bucket;
But his daughter named Nan,
Ran away with a man,
And as for the bucket—Nantucket!

—Lear.

Do you know the young ladies of Birmingham,
And the terrible scandal concerning 'em?
How they took their hat pins
And scratched at the shins
Of the bishop while he was confirming 'em?

There was a young lady from Lynn,
Who was so excessively thin
That when she essayed
To drink lemonade
She slipped through the straw and fell in.

There was a small boy of Quebec,
Who was buried in snow to his neck,
When asked, "Are you friz?"
He answered, "I is,—
But we don't call this cold in Quebec."

There was a young lady of Warwick,
Who live in a castle histarwick,
On the damp castle mould
She contracted a could,
And the doctor prescribed paregarwick.

There was once an ichthosaurus,
Who lived when the earth was all porous;
But he fainted with shame
When he first heard his name,
And departed a great while before us.

There was a young lady of Norway,
Who casually sat in a doorway;
When the door squeezed her flat,
She exclaimed, "What of that?"
This courageous young lady of Norway.

There was a young fellow of Gloucester,
Whose wife ran away with a coucester,
He traced her to Leicester,
And tried to arricester,
But in spite of his efforts he Loucester.

There was a young lady from Niger,
Who smiled as she rode on a tiger;
They came back from the ride
With the lady inside,
And the smile on the face of the Tiger.

The "limerick" is a popular light five-line stanza. It is supposed to derive its name from an Irish song, each verse of which dealt with the adventures of different inhabitants of various villages, the chorus being, "Will you come up to Limerick?" This five-line stanza is built on two rhymes (the rhymes being expressed by the symbol a-a-b-b-a) with the third and fourth lines one foot shorter than the other three. The humble limerick has the distinction of being the only fixed form which is actually indigenous to English.

Rules of the Contest

1. Each contestant is to submit only one limerick.
2. All students of S. T. C. are elegible except members of the Rotunda Staff.
3. No limerick may be entered after Thursday, Nov. 22, 1934.
4. All limericks are to be writen in ink, signed, and put in a sealed envelope.
5. The judges are to open the envelopes.
6. The judges are to be Miss Mary Clay Hiner, Mrs. Taylor, and Mr. Grainger.
7. Any limerick submitted is to be placed in Kathryne Cotten's Senior mail box.

A prize of $1.00 will be awarded to the person submitting the best limerick.

SOCIALS

Even with the gala attractions of the Circus, here Saturday night many S. T. C. girls managed to visit in other places.

Home

"There is a spot supremely blessed, a dearer, sweeter spot than all the rest"—so think many S. T. C. damsels, for among those who spent the week-end there were: Ann Mears, Marion Umberger, Tyler Wood, Frances Woodhouse, Zilla Newsom, Nellie Pierpont, Rose Puller, Ida Sue Carter, Marjorie Woolfork, Caroline Wilkins, Marion Pond, Evelyn Wilson, Alva Sawyer, Mary Penleton, Nannie Page Trent, Dora Parker, Georgie Powell, Margaret Via, Lillian Powell, Elizabeth Vaughan, Marcia Vick, Bernice Welch, Ruth Showalter, Elizabeth Shipplett, Christian Rennolds, Elizabeth Rucker, Anthelia Robinette, Margery Quarles, Ernestine Payne, Irene Parker, Mary Lee Powell, Grace Collins, Kitty Chappell, Delha Chambliss, Frances Callie, Rebecca Carter, Betty Carter Chapman,, June Allen, Edith Hammock, Mabel Aydlette, Edna Bolick, Lucy Baylor, Dorothy Bagby, Margaret Carroll, Virginia Leonard, Frances Maxey, Izell Houch, Mary Louise French, Bessie Mitchell, Dorothy Johnson, Martha Hamlet, Dorothy Deans, Helen Carney, Dorothy Robertson, Katherine Milby, Eleanor Gibbs, Phyllis Ferguson, Alma Elliot, Virginia Baker, Louise Briggs, Copeland Johnson, Evelyn Hastings, Elizabeth Booth, Nova Jones, Lois Jenkins, Marie Hundley, Elizabeth Conner, Leslie Bradshaw, Rachel, Joyner, Rebecca Cousins, Mildred Habel, Elsie Greene, Martha Gwaltney, Eleanor Dodson, Mary Mayers, Kathleen Johnson, Iris Hart, Katherine Coleman, Jessica Jones, Edith Hines, Alice Campbell, Emily and Frances Channell, Leah Godwin, Doris Coates, Margarette and Maude Duck, Martha Glenn Davis, Helen Morris, and Elizabeth Vaughan.

In Richmond

Virginia Hall, Christine Childrey, Charlotte Young, Audrey Mattox, Helen Harris, Virginia Brown, Mary Arthur, Dudley Allen, Brooks Wheeler, Virginia Tissue, Maude Rhodes, Patsy Nottingham, Jane Main, and Lelia Mattox, spent the week-end in Richmond.

In Charlottesville

Those who went to Charlottesville for the dances at the University of Virginia were: Lucille Moseley, Lucy and Mildred Potter, Sallie Perrow, Kathleen McCann, Sarah Parker, Jean Willis, Susan Lane, Mary Elizabeth Minor, and Elizabeth Scott.

At Norfolk

Frances Yester, Anna Hock, Catherine Gillesile, and Georgie Custis spent the week-end at Norfolk.

To Other Places

Those who visited in other places were: Claire Eastman to Raleigh N. C., Winnie Frances Eubank to Sweet Briar; Virginia Daughty to Waverly; Mary J. Cox to Crewe, Grace Bass, Frances Teass, and Marion Layne to Lynchburg; Hazel Smith and Marion Shoffner to Portsmouth: Katheryn Fitzgerald, Page Nottingham and Lois Moses to Chatham; Marjorie Ramey to Smithfield; Martha Moore to Chuckatuck; Irene Lacy to Sandy Hook; Marjorie Robertson and Ethel Burgess to Fork Union; Fannie Bosworth and Eleanor Wade to Rawlings; Elizabeth Trent, Pattie Jeffreys, and Clara Hailey to Drakes Branch; Marion Hansbrough to Salem; Marjorie Bradshaw and Rose Somers to Burkville; Josephine Kent to Amherst; Dorothy Price to Brookneal; Mildred Chandler to Crewe; Helen Conquest to Capron; Edna Harvey and Pauline Pearson to Dillwyn Grace Pittard to Emporia; Irene Taylor to Jetersville; Lucille Rhodes to Appomattox; Dorothy Rhodes to Andersonville; Lella Hill to Doylesville; Mary Denny to Troutville; Mary Cuningham to Suffolk.

The Richmond College Junior Prom will feature Hal Thurston and his North Carolinians as the selected orchestra on Friday, Dec. 7. Miss Maxine Schutze, a Westhampton sophomore, with John Hryharrow, president of the junior class, will lead the figure.

Pi Kappa Sigma Sorority Entertained With Party

Elizabeth Smith and Lucille Moseley entertained the Pi Kappa Sigma sorority with a party Wednesday night, Nov. 7. A delicious and attractively arranged plate was served each member of the sorority.

Tri Sigma Honors Officer With Banquet at Longwood

The Alpha chapter of Sigma Sigma Sigma entertained Thursday evening at a banquet at Longwood in honor of Mrs. Troy Cartwright, their National Social Service Chairman, who visited the college and inspected the local chapter last week. The guests included Miss Mary White Cox.

Y. W. C. A. and S. C. A. Meet for Picnic at Longwood

"To increase the spirit of Christian fellowship and to enliven the activities of the young peoples' Christian associations on the campus" was the chief topic of interest at the round table discussion in the cabin at Longwood on Nov. 6 when the cabinet of the Hampden-Sydney Student Christian Association entertained the Y. W. C. A. cabinet of S. T. C. at a joint conference and picnic.

After "hot dogs" had been roasted over the open fire, everyone sang favorite songs led by Louise Hyde. In the conference which followed, the members of the two cabinets found common interests in parallel committees on the campus. These committees are: prayers, world fellowship, church-co-operative, and social.

Frank Schaeffer, president of S. C. A. brought to the attention of both cabinets the fact that the important aim underlying all the various activities in which both groups participate is the strengthening of the religious life among the students and a more Christian-like attitude in their daily relations with each other.

Miss Jane Royall, Mrs. Eva Warren, and Mr. Ghigo, of Hampden-Sydney, were guests of the evening.

Portsmouth Club Enjoys Party Monday Night

The receipt of an appetizing box from the Portsmouth Alumnae Chapter called for a party by the Portsmouth Club. The Club selected the Student Building Lounge for the party and celebrated Monday night after the lyceum program. Members of the Club and Mr. and Mrs. McCorkle participated in the "feat."

Miss Mix Discourses On Mental Problems

Continued from page one

ers against saying in his presence, "Isn't he cute," or "He is a bad boy." In conclusion, Miss Mix said, "Above all, we should realize the importance of serenity in the daily living atmosphere of the child."

Security, nutrition, temperature, activity, and concentration, were the main points of emphasis in Miss Mix's talk.

Miss Rice Speaks on Roman Forum At Latin Club Meet

That we know more than Caesar did about the Roman Forum was interestingly proved by Miss Rice at a meeting of Sodalitas Latina last week.

Before Miss Rice, enthusiastic sponsor of Sodalitas Latina, talk-sponsor of Sodalitas Latina, talked, the members of the club entered into a contest—the writing of a Latin word beginning with each letter of the alphabet and an English derivative beginning with the same letter.

In the meeting Katherine Coleman spoke on "Rome, the Eternal City." Ethel Joyner, in discussing "The Greatest Small Spot on the Earth," divided her talk on the Roman Forum into three parts: the building of the Forum, the Forum in medieval days, and the resurrection of the Forum.

A song, "O Fons Bandusiae," sung in Latin by the club brought to a close this instructive and entertaining program of Sodalitas Latina.

Among the Alumnae

When Julia Johnson attended the "Old Normal School" at Farmville back in 1908-'10 she was editor of the school magazine, The Guidon, and wrote frequently for it as well. Being a kindergarden worker she wrote stories to tell the children. "Also," she writes, "my first story for children to be published was written while there, and appeared in St. Nicholas. How thrilled I was, a school girl, to have an acceptance from the leading juvenile magazine! And how stupendous a sum the $8.00 seemed to me that I received for the little story!"

Since then M. Davis, as she is now, has written a number of fanciful stories and some long poems for children, most of which have appeared in John Martin's Book.

Poems of hers have appeared in The Century, the Forum, The Nation, The Personalist (published by the University of Southern California), The Lyric, etc., and work of hers has been included in Braithwaite's yearly Anthologies of Magazine Verse and in three English annual anthologies, in Stevenson's Home Book of Modern Verse, and other collections. Her poems have been frequently copied by The Literary Digest and newspapers. One of her long poems "The Garnet Ring" has been read with great success over the radio from many of the large northern studios. She has received frequent recognition as one of Virginia's and the South's best writers of fugitive verse, and has also won several prizes for essays and had one of her plays produced at the Little Theatre in Norfolk. Mrs. Davis with her sister, Miss Josephine Johnson, who was also a student at The Normal School and has become equally distinguished for her poetry, has been active in writers' clubs and in promoting the publication of their work, especially in The Lyric, a magazine of Virginia poetry, issued at Norfolk, where the sisters have resided.

The following one of Mrs. Davis's poems in Negro dialect, appeared in The Century and was copied in The Literary Digest in September 1926. It has a climax as stirring as anything in "Green Pastures."

JOHN

By Julia Johnson Davis

W'en de Lawd chose his 'ciples
Peter wuz de fus',
Den he pick up Andrew too;
Jeems an'' John wuz a-settin' close by,
An' he says to 'em, "I needs you".
Philip an' 'Tholomew he done call,
An' de Jeems dat wuz Alph'us' son,
Oh, dey wuz de goodes' men der wuz—
But John wuz de likeliest one.
Oh, de Lawd love John de bes' of all,
John wuz de likeliest one.

Peter wuz heavy-built, Andrew wuz spar',
An' Jeems wuz in between.
Matthew wuz de one dat carried mos' weight,
Phillip wuz good an' lean.
Oh, Thomas had a straight back,
Jude he wuz tall,
Dey wuz good ter look upon;
But John wuz jes' like a picter in a book,
John was the likeliest one.
Oh, de Lawd love John de bes' of all,
John was the likeliest one.

Peter wuz de rock fo' ter buil' de church,
Andrew wuz one of de beams,
Matthew an' 'Tholomew dey wuz j'ists,
So wuz Philip an' Jeems.
Thomas an' Simon an' Judge wuz de walls,
An' de seats fo' ter set upon,
But John wuz de winder what de light come in,
John wuz de likeliest one.

Oh, de Lawd love John de bes' of all,
John wuz de likeliest one.

Chapel Conversation Rambles After Hymn

Continued from page one

more asked, "How many stanzas of the hymn did Mr. Cromer say?" (This girl should be complimented for her individuality; her question was one of the few relating to the chapel service.)

There were not enough seniors in chapel Saturday morning to fill up the entire third row; therefore, the conversation among the girls on row three went something like this:

"Move down toward the aisles," plead the girl on the extreme end.

"What's the use?" the nonchalant girl next to her wanted to know.

"If we move down, I won't be able to watch the string ensemble."

One of the front row seniors cast a longing eye toward the stage and whispered, very loudly, "I wish we had a hymn book." Mr. Bell heard her and offered her his hymn book.

The freshmen, too, joined in the conversation. Perhaps, this as it should be, for it would sound dreadfully unbalanced to the people on the stage if one side of the auditorium murmured and the other remained silent.

"Thirty-nine, thirty-nine," repeated a girl nearby fumbling through the pages of her hymn book.

After the reported happening of Saturday morning, Nov. 10, we, the secret service committee of this investigation suggest to the student body the plan of listening to see what they too, can hear in that short time between the announcing and singing of the hymn. Perhaps, in time, they as investigators will decide that listening in chapel is more becoming than talking.

PRINTING . . . . .

When you think of Printing think of

—The—
FARMVILLE HERALD

GOOD NEWS!

Swagger suits, full length coats. Coats can be worn separately with new by-swing backs. $12.45 values $9.95

See our new 'Night in Paris" College Coats. These can be worn for combination sport coats. Very special $5.98

Tree Bark Shoes! They are new. We are the first in town with them. Come in and let us show you ..... $3.95 pair

THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE

Farmville's Best Place to Shop!

GO TO . . . . . .

GILLIAM'S

—FOR—

EVERYTHING—SCHOOL SUPPLIES, CANDIES, FRUITS, CONFECTIONS, ETC.

Open 'till 9:00 p. m.

WELCOME S. T. C. STUDENTS

We invite you to visit our store,

CORRECT CLOTHES FOR STUDENTS

Farmville's Largest Department Store

DAVIDSON'S

ARE YOU INTERESTED?

JACKETS of Grain and Suede Cloth and Wool SWEATERS.

We are showing the season's newest. Come in. We are glad to show—Just what we have—and the line is very attractive.

VERSER'S

PHILCO RADIO

World's largest manufacturers of Radio

A complete line

Watch repairing a specialty

Sheet Music—Strings for Instruments

LYNN, The Main Street Jeweler

YOUR NEIGHBOR,

The Weyanoke Beauty Salon

invites you to drop in and take advantage of their Special prices now in effect.

Permanent Waves $4 & $6 Shampoo & Fingerwave 75 cents

Manicure 40 cents

Individual, courteous, efficient service and an established reputation for dependability and satisfaction. That is our guarantee, and your assurance of perfect workmanship.

Southside Drug Store

(On the Corner)

Films Developed FREE

If bought at this store

C. E. Chappell Co.

Stationery, Blank Books and School Supplies

Cigars, Cigarettes and Soda

Farmville, Virginia

Gray's Drug Store

QUALITY—PRICE—SERVICE

Come in and Get Acquainted

We are glad to have you with us!

Farmville, Virginia

Rice's Shoe Store

Street and Dress Shoes

Dancing Slippers Dyed

Correct fits our specialty 1t

Kleanwell

CLEANERS AND TAILORS

Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling ladies garments

Main Street, opposite Post office

Phone 98

Mack's

BARBER AND BEAUTY SHOP

323 Main Street ..

We use the Frederick Method

Hair cutting and thinning a Specialty

S. A. Legus

TAILOR

CLEANING PRESSING REPAIRING

Phone 203

Sporting Whirl

By L. SANFORD

Next Monday night at 7:30 the Sophomores and Seniors will hold a practice preparatory to the swimming meet to be held Wednesday night at 7:30. Their practice will last for three quarters of an hour and will be followed by a Freshman — Junior practice at 8:15.

Every person taking part in the meet must have as many as six practices of which Monday night may be counted as one. A contestant may compete in as many events as she cares to provided they are all in the same group, either beginner, intermediate, or advanced.

Mrs. Fitzpatrick and Louise Walmsley will act as judges.

And still we continue to add variety to our list of sports. Roller skating has become quite the thing. Maybe these girls really enjoy the exercise. Don't guess they're trying to make us think they've been for a buggy ride?

Around school has been frequently heard the remark, "I haven't seen a football game this year." Well, cheer up, there seems to be quite a prospective team in the making. No coach and no spectators, in fact, only four players. And strangely enough, tackle was popular position.

Basketball practices are being held once weekly. Our varsity schedule this year will include five games. This should be quite a successful season for us. We have four of our varsity players of last year, in school this year.

Educational Trend Takes New Turn

seriously to solve the problems of civilization.

Anne Putney's Talk

Anne Putney, president of the local chapter of Kappa Delta Pi, national honorary fraternity in Education, discussed the extra-curricula activities at S. T. C., and the attitude every student should take toward these activities. Her entire talk follows because it is such a thorough summary of all the extra-curricula activities in which S. T. C. students take part:

The activities in which we engage while in college may be divided into two groups: curricular activities—those connected with and arising from actual participation in studies—and extra-curricula, a host of activities which are outside our class work, and which are as essential to us as students and to our college as a training ground for us. As the former were discussed yesterday we are especially concerned with the latter this morning, for when we realize the demands they make on our time, energy, and effort, we readily understand that they merit our attention.

From the moment we enter the Rotunda as freshmen for the first time, we identify ourselves with an organization. The Blue Triangle—the Y. W. C. A.—cordially receives us and claims us as members. Then, before our regular college work begins we become members of at least three organizations. Wehn we are definitely enrolled in the college by matriculation we automatically become part of the student body, a class, and the Athletic Association. Student body meetings call our attention to the fact immediately. In making out our schedules we fall in line with our class and shortly afterwards the A. A. claims us. These four organizations become a definite part of our college life and stay with us till we receive our diplomas. The degree of participation in these is determined by our interest and ability, but the support of everyone from the presidents on down is what makes them successful.

Our social organizations, which include the sororities and the Cotillion Club, are here for the purpose of binding together a group of girls with mutual interests, habits and tastes. Membership is largely determined by our ability to fit into these groups.

Next comes a list of cultural organizations—those which contribute to the cultivation of our personalities and intellects. The musical organizaions, the College Choir, Choral Club, Orchestra, and any other like groups demand of their members certain talents and abilities that will make them worthwhile and at the same time provided material that will lend itself to cultivation. The same applies to the Dramatic Club and the Debate Club.

The Virginian and Rotunda staffs call for decided ability and interest on the part of those who compose them. They must be willing to devote time and talent to the successful completion of the goals set up by them-high ideals of work which will be pleasure to those who read the publications and credit to those who direct them.

We have quite a number of honor organizations. Those that represent accomplishments of the students are: first, Alpha Kappa Gamma Psi, art; Pi Kappa Delta, Pi, education; Alpha Phi Sigma, general scholarship; Pi Gamma Mu, social science; Beta Pi Theta, French; Sigma Pi Rho, Latin; Gamma Psi, art; Kappa Delta, forensic; Monogram Club, athletics; Artist Dance Group, and Association of Childhood Education.

There are some clubs arising from different courses and classes. Here we have the Latin, French and Spanish Clubs, Mathematics Club and the Primary Council.

Whenever we say the word "extra-curricula" there are those of us who think at once of athletics. The varsity squads and class teams in hockey, basketball, volleyball, tennis, baseball, track, swimming and other sports are goals for those who practice to strive for.

Last of all, is a group of miscellaneous organizations which have definite places in our college system, and call for student participation. This group would include the House Council, Students Standards Committee, Chapel Committee and other like groups as well as those such as the May Day and the Circus committees.

With the exception of those organizations to which we belong as a matter of course, we ally ourselves to many organizations because it is the thing to do. Joining is the order of the day. Sometimes we join because we're asked and fail to think of the extra demands it will make on our time and attention to our studies. Some organizations and activities, such as athletics, hold us with such force we are unaware of the inroads they're making in our time and studies. We should join organizations for the benefits we expect to derive from them, and for the service we hope to render the organization.

We find in our college a preponderance of meetings. In fact, they're so numerous that conflicts are very common and special called meetings are doomed to failure. Another appalling fact is that many girls have so many meetings to attend that they take precedence over regular school work. Perhaps we ought not to say that girls overload themselves, but rather that they are overloaded by others when extra-curricula activities absorb all their time. Sometimes the members of the faculty do the overloading since they are willing to let capable girls do their work rather than go through the operation of teaching someone else to do it. Sometimes the students put all the work on a few girls who they know can do the work, and thereby fail to give others a chance. We should guard against undertaking more work than we can comfortably and creditably do, and we should have the courage to say when we have enough. Another tendency in our college is one that crops out in our extra-curricula activities. That is, confining ourselves to one line of activity. For instance, a girl might devote all her time to athletics to the exclusion of all other types of work or she might join all the language clubs, thus crowding out other worthwhile fields. It is easy to see that a well-rounded individual will pick out one or two organizations in each type, and make herself profit by this varied activity.

When we are given the opportunity of becoming a member of any of these organizations or of holding office, we should, in contemplating these, consider a few questions:

1. Have I the time to spare? It will mean time taken away from something else for meetings and work in it. Will the work I am doing now suffer because of this new undertaking? Does it meet some need that I have? Will it be a help to me in any way?

3. Will it help make me a well-rounded individual in the future, or does it narrow its scope into a pigeon hole, providing nothing for me after college?

4. Do I have the money (if it calls for expenditures on my part) to pay my dues? Can I spare it from other obligations?

5. Will I be willing to do my share when called upon, or will I have to let others bear all the responsibility?

These are questions which each of us must answer for herself to her own satisfaction, if she would be a worthy member of any group.

Pardon the Accent

Continued from page 2

mammy with a purple passion because she stuck up for us when Dad began to rave. You'll want to hug Jo Quinn as Mammy Greenleaf when she says "Now, Thomas, you were young yourself once." True, true, but how often parents forget.

What is it you want to know? Who was the tall,dark, and handsome lad in the play? Your curiosity is jolly well justified. He is Jim Elder and plays the part of Sir Beverly, a smooth young Englishman. A very modern chap, but look out for his sarcasm.

A little lady we know had better look out for her glasses on the string; when Lawyer Woodward begins using them for emphasis in his logical arguments. Mr. Godolphin Sheffy really, has quite a turn to arbitration—no less than to try to peacefully settle family quarrels.

It is a frightful shame that there are so few lines for the maid. Mary Bowles is such a cute little jigger folks will be anxiously awaiting her every entrance. (She has more of them than she does lines.)

Let me tell you, Miss Wheeler certainly put the comical character into good hands when she picked Woodrow Mackey to be Mr. Blanquet (pronounced like Blankay, don't you know). It is perfectly rapping and how— to behold the old chap dance out on the stage in a pink and white candy-striped night shirt, harelegs wiggling and knees playing, "Whoo! a Thunk It?" If you see Blanquet between now and the performance you might ask him about the price of sardines; he has a canned interest in them.

Just another tip about 'asking'—inquire of Jerry how one should kiss his heroine.

You can't understand why I've gone so raving crazy over a mere rehearsal? Well! I must say if you're so passive to exciting things you'd do right by yourself to witness that Miss Wheeler of ours at a practice. She could get dramatic results and natural emotion out of old Sphinx himself. She keeps her "Birds in Hand" all the time—no flying the coop in this play.

Oh, you've decided you'd like to go, but you're broke? Will I lend you the price? (Tut, tut, just look what I got myself into) Rather! I'll lend it and be glad to. Why, I'm so jolly well pleased with this bally "Bird" that I'll even lend you an evening dress if you like. All these S. T. C. girls will be dolled up fit to kill for the benefit of those H. S. C. boys.

Fine! then it is all settled and I'm off to reserve my seat on the second row where I can see the dashing hero do his dashing between Greenleafs, Blanquets, sardines, and night rides.

Miss Lamb Speaks On Mental Hygiene

Continued from page one

tests and treatments.

She stated that it is the duty of the school to assume the responsibility of leadership and to teach habits that will help the child govern himself so as to avoid being a hindrance to society and his community. Miss Lamb gave the following attributes of a valuable teacher: the teacher must have a knowledge of the child's mentality; she should know and have a sympathetic understanding with the parents; she must deal intelligently with the backward child; she must recognize a problem in working with superior children; tactfulness should be used in dealing with personality upsets and deviations from normal behavior. It is important for a teacher to notice such irregularities as cruelty, irritability, resentfulness, timidity, and self-consciousness. Organized play and group activities are instrumental in adjusting minor disorders.

EACO THEATRE

Mats. 4 p. m.; Nights 8 p. m.
Adults 25c; Children 15c
Unless otherwise noted

JAMES DUNN
ALICE FAYE
"365 Nights In Hollywood"
Krazy Kat Cartoon

Fri. & Sat., Nov. 16 & 17
JACKIE COOPER
Thomas Meighan
"Peck's Bad Boy"
Adults, 25c and 35c

Sat. Morning Matinee at 10:30
Adults 25c, children 15c

Next Mon. & Tues. Nov. 19 & 20 News
Ginger Rogers, Fred Astaire
"Gay Divorcee"
Adults 25c and 335c

Next Wed., Nov. 21
Wheeler and Woolsey
Kentucky Kernels
All-color Cartoon
Chapt. 5 "The Red Rider"

Thurs.-Fri., Nov. 22-23
"Cleopatra"

Farmville Mfg. Co.
BUILDING MATERIALS
MILLWORK
Farmville, Va.

You Would Love to Have Your Shoes Fixed at
Lovelace Shoe Shop
110 Third Street

ROOM FURNISHINGS
SCHOOL SUPPLIES
CANDIES
ROSES
5-10-25c Store
FARMVILLE, VA.

Overton-Mottley Hdwe. Co.
ELECTRIC GOODS/
Tennis Rackets and balls
Roller Skates

Shannon's
Is Headquarters for the Best
SANDWICHES
—and—
DRINKS
in Farmville!

Special orders for
Teas and Parties
Try our doughnuts
Foley's Bakery
Third Street

WILLIS
The Florist
Flowers for all occasions
PHONES 181-273

Conoco Gas and Oil
Fill up at
Johns Motor Co.
Farmville, Va.

Martin the Jeweler
Gifts of
Lasting Remembrance
317 Main St. Farmville

POTTED MEATS
SANDWICH SPREAD
SANDWICH ROLLS
HOT DOGS
Everything for the Picnic
W. R. Drumeller
Main Street Farmville

Cleaning at reduced rates
State Cleaning Co.
Third Street

SUPPERS AND
SMALL PARTIES
Good Breakfast
Dinners
Suppers
College Tea Room
and
LONGWOOD

Buy Your
CANDY
To Sell at
H. T. Stokes & Co.

G. F. Butcher
High Street
"The Convenient Store"
FOR GOOD THINGS
TO EAT AND DRINK

Electric Shoe Shop
Will Fix Your Shoes
While You Wait
BEST WORKMANSHIP
AND LEATHER USED

The Fashion Shoppe
Reflects the newest styles. All dresses $2.95 up
COATS, SUITS, DRESSES, UNDERWEAR
Silk Hose
Fine quality ..... 49c 59c and 69c

SALE! They're fine enough for formal wear!
SHEER CHIFFON HOSIERY
2 Pairs for $1.25 ..... PR. 65c
Full fashioned, pure thread silk with picot tops and cradle soles. Their lovely French heels make them doubly smart.
Chiffon and semi-chiffon, so you can now have the hose at the price you want to pay. Buy for yourself and for Christmas gifts.
All wanted sizes and a complete range of the latest fall shades.
BALDWIN'S
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

Headquarters for Evening and Dance Frocks
Dresses that have proven outstanding
Values in todays smartest modes—$9.95—$12.95 and $14.45.
Visit our Sportwear Department. Special for this week—one and two piece football dresses in new novelty knit, with large buttons. Picture yourself in one of these stunning dresses at only $2.94
DOROTHY MAY STORES
FARMVILLE, VA.

SUPPORT YOUR TEAM THANKSGIVING

The Rotunda

We Teach To Teach

THINK ABOUT NOMINEES FOR MAY DAY

Volume XV. FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, NOVEMBER 21, 1934 No. 9

New England Story Is May Day Theme

Nominations Will Be Made Before Thanksgiving

May 4 Is Day of Celebration

The theme for May Day this year is based upon the tradition of the first observation of that festival in America. One of New England's greatest men of letters, Hawthorne, utilized in his immortal story, "The May Pole of Merry Mount," that celebration, that dramatic gathering of Tom Morton and his Merry Makers, a celebration held regardless of stern Puritans and threatening Indians. From that tragic story, the May Day theme has borrowed situations, characters, and the initial events but not the conclusion.

The leading characters in May Day this year will be the Lord and Lady of May. On Friday, Nov. 23, nomination for these two roles will be made by ballot at the table in the hall. Each student will put up one girl for the Lady and one girl for the Lord. The two highest nominations for each of these roles will be up for election on the following Monday, Nov. 26. On this same ballot sheet nominations will be made for the court, also. The fact that this year's court will be made up of cavaliers and their ladies will make it necessary to divide into two groups the girls nominated—six girls for cavaliers and six girls for ladies of the court.

The Lord and Lady of May will be announced, and the court will be elected at Sing, Saturday night, Dec. 8.

These are the qualifications drawn up by the May Day Committee as essential for those girls taking part in the festival.

(1) Girls taking part must be representative of the student body in character, personality, and school spirit.

(2) All girls must be dependable, responsible, and willing to work.

(3) The Lord and Lady of May must have dramatic ability since they will play a prominent part throughout the festival.

(4) Grace and poise, as well as beauty, are essential characteristics of the court.

(5) Girls taking the part of the cavaliers must be tall and stately in appearance.

(6) Only Juniors and Seniors are qualified for the two leading roles.

Chairman of May Day

Phyllis Ferguson

Miss Stubbs Makes Interesting Survey

On November 14, Miss Florence H. Stubbs, Executive Secretary of Alpha Kappa Gamma, went to visit the two chapters of that fraternity in North Carolina and South Carolina.

The purpose of the visit was to train the groups and to assist in the formulation of their year's program of work. She was sent at the request of the National Committee which met last spring.

She spent Thursday, Nov. 15, with the Florence Nightingale Circle at the University of South Carolina, Columbia, South Carolina. On Friday, Nov. 16, she went to Queens-Chicora College, Charlotte, North Carolina, where she worked with the Olympian Circle.

On her return trip she made a stop at Winthrop College, where she saw many old friends.

Miss Stubbs states that her trip was completely satisfactory. She says, "Both circles are comprised of splendid young women bent on doing something constructive for their colleges. They seemed pleased with the plan of having help in starting their new

Continued on page 4

Debate Scheduled With Lynchburg

Try-outs for a debate with Lynchburg will be held Friday night in the little auditorium at 8 o'clock. The question for debate is "Resolved, that the Federal government should own and operate all facilities for the manufacture of arms and ammunition." Outside judges will be present Friday evening and choose an affirmative and a negative team. All members of the debate club are eligible to try out. The final debate will be held Dec. 12 at Lynchburg College.

Glamour And Romance Characterize Mardi Gras

To those students familiar with the custom at S. T. C., the very mention of the Mardi Gras ball connotes gaiety, laughter, and an evening of superb merry-making.

To the freshmen and new students, this annual festival promises such a gala affair as they probably have never experienced!

With the queen already elected and the plans for the ball well under way, Pi Gamma Mu assures old and new students alike that S. T. C.'s third annual celebration of the Mardi Gras will be bigger and better than ever.

The Mardi Gras ball is a nationally known festival held annually on Throve Tuesday, and ushering in Lenten season. The date falls this coming year on March 12.

The college gymnasium will be the scene of the local observation of the pre-Lenten festival.

The true spirit of the original Creole affair will be reproduced as nearly as possible at the ball. Such an occasion is characterized by fun, frivolity, and light-heartedness. At this time each person can temporarily abandon his own personality and play the role he chooses. Costumes and masks will contribute to this colorful atmosphere of fantasty and romance.

The queen of the Mardi Gras, elected recently by popular vote of the student body, will preside at the ball. She will be escorted by a king, or Rex, as the Creoles call him, whom she chooses from some Virginia College. An elaborate cortege of attendents, consisting of eight princesses and princes will lead the way for the king and queen. Each of the princesses likewise choose her prince from some Virginia College.

Until the moment when the queen appears in all her alluring

Continued on page 4

Inter-Class Meet Shows Interest In Swimming

Mrs. Fitzpatrick, instructor of swimming, announced the first inter-class closed swimming meet of the season to be held at seven-thirty Wednesday night, Nov. 21.

A mass practice was held Monday night at 7:30 for the Sophomores and Seniors, and at 8:15 for the Freshmen and Juniors. The participants are divided into three classes—the beginners, the intermediates, and the advanced. The events for the different groups are as follows:

Beginners

1. The face-submerged, push off and glide 20 to 30 feet.
2. Sculling-stroke race—45 ft.
3. Elementary back stroke for form.

Continued on page 3

Geo. W. Truett Recognizes Invitation From Cabinet

Dr. George W. Truett of Dallas, Texas, who completed a series of lectures in Roanoke last week, is internationally known as president of the Baptist World Alliance and former president of the Southern Baptist Convention. In Dallas he is known for his pastorate of 37 years in the First Baptist Church, which has 7,000 members.

On hearing that Dr. Truett was to be in Virginia this month, the Y. W. C. A. issued him a very cordial invitation to visit our campus. In reply we received this letter in his own hand!

"It would indeed give me much pleasure to visit and speak to your State Teachers' College in Farmville in November, as for your gracious and much appreciated invitation.

My visit to Virginia, however, is to be so hurried and my engagements are to be so exacting, that I cannot hope to have the privilege of visiting your college on this trip, much to my regret. At some other time, I shall hope to visit your noble institution.

With all good wishes for your college. I am

Very sincerely,
GEO. W. TRUETT."

We consider it quite an honor that Dr. Truett recognized our invitation. It would have been a great opportunity to have had one so renowned vlist our campus. Geo. W. Truitt ranks as one of the three greatest preachers in the world today.

Spanish Circle Holds Banquet

In the fitting atmosphere and setting of the Cactus Inn, the Spanish Circle held a formal banquet on the night of Nov. 15. This was one of the largest projects of the year and was attended with great enthusiasm by the members of the circle.

The program consisted of Spanish discussions and songs The menu which was typically Spanish included:

Sapa
Arroz con Pollo
Ensalada Luminesa
Aceitunas Pan
Dulce de Coco
Zumo de Uvas Cafe
Frutas

The color scheme was carried out in red and yellow, with gay paper senoritas for place cards and menus.

Those present were: Miss Smithey, Miss Nichols, Mrs. Simkins, Katherine Coleman, Charlotte Young, Margaret Rollins, Margaret McNamara, Ione Covert, Bonnie Lane, Dorothy Deans, Audrey Clements, Meriel McAllister, Louise Francis, and Elsie Cabell.

Jarman Honored At the November Birthday Dinner

The song class on Nov. 19 was honored to have in its midst S. T. C.'s beloved president, Dr. J. L. Jarman.

In commemoration of his 67th birthday, the student body presented Dr. Jarman with a box of his favorite cigars. They also enthusiastically sang, "What's the Matter with Jarman?"

Dr. Jarman then addressed the student body in a few words of appreciation, and he inspired them by his presence for the rest of the song class.

Before the hymns were sung, the Rev. Cromer expressed the sentiments of the students in wishing that all of us might grow old as gracfully as has Dr. Jarman.

"Bird In Hand" Proves Successful

Play-goers enjoyed a good piece of drama Friday night, November 16, when they saw "Bird in Hand". Aside from being a well-chosen play, it was well cast, acted, and staged. Working under several difficulties, the actors put themselves wholeheartedly into their roles and made the audience forget minor disasters. We are proud of Joan Greenleaf; our own Martha Stine. She put herself into a difficult part and carried off first honors through her poise in the interpretation of that part.

A close second to her was Woodrow Mackey as Mr. Blanquet, a dear jovial chap, no less. He had the true English spirit and saved many a touchy situation by his jollity and unconscious wit.

It would be impossible to pay just tribute to each actor, but it can be said that they all were "too good to miss". Some students in our midst are regretting that it was a miss.

S. T. C. and H. S. C. can be justly proud and a little bit conceited about the production that filled our auditorium to capacity.

Alumnae Chapter Hostess at Banquet

The unusually large number attending the banquet given by the Portsmouth Alumnae chapter of Farmville made November 17 a memorable date for S. T. C.

Dr. Jarman, Miss Mary White Cox, Miss Camper, Jane Royall, and Louise Hyde, as well as alumnae representatives from Norfolk, Suffolk, Newport News, and the Portsmouth members were present.

In addition to the alumnae and college guests, Mr. and Mrs. Hunt, superintendent of the Portsmouth schools, and the president of the Harrisonburg alumnae chapter in Portsmouth attended the banquet.

Miss Grace George, president of the local chapter in Portsmouth, presided.

The program for the evening began with the S. T. C. evening blessing repeated in unison.

Following this, Miss Grace George extended a welcome on behalf of the Portsmouth Club to the guests.

Miss Pauline Camper, president of the state chapter, then reciprocated with a greeting from S. T. C.

Echoes from the Portsmouth Club were given by Miss Virginia Rice.

Following a solo by Miss Rice,

Continued on page 4

The Student Body extends sincerest sympathy to Ann Diggs in her recent bereavement.

S.T.C. Chapter Enters National Celebration

Junior Class President

"Tac" Waters

Class of '36 Presents Bedford for 3rd Time

Wednesday, known as Students' Day in chapel, was Junior Day, today, when "Tac" Waters, president of the class of '36, presented the Junior classman, Miss Virginia Bedford.

The members of the Junior class, dressed in white, marched into chapel singing the red and white song. As is customary, their sister class, the freshman, stood and joined in singing.

After the devotionals which were led by Lucy Potter, the Junior class sang its class song. Then to the strains of the red and white song, seven juniors, dressed in red and white, danced upon the stage. Each girl carried a palette on which was painted a letter of Miss Bedford's name. When the entire group was in place, the name, Bedford,

Continued on page 3

S. T. C. Students Coach Play

Curdsville High School Students will present "Tommie's Wife"—a play, Tuesday night, Nov. 20, at eight o'clock, in the Curdsville High School auditorium.

Since Mary Gilmer and Wyc Scott, two outstanding seniors at S. T. C., are coaching this play, this entertainment will be of great interest to the college as well as to the Curdsville Community.

A bus has been provided to take those students who wish to go and secure permission.

Pi Gamma Mu Observes Tenth Anniversary

Dr. J. J. Hayton To Speak

That a local celebration of the tenth national anniversary of Pi Gamma Mu will be held at this college is the announcement made by the Virginia Gamma chapter of Pi Gamma Mu, honor society in social science.

Participating in a nation-wide celebration of a decade of organized social science in the United States, the S. T. C. members of Pi Gamma Mu are arranging a special program for Dec. 1, which is the anniversary date.

Dr. James J. Hayden, head of the Department of law at the Catholic University in Washington, will be the guest speaker, according to the tentative report of the local committee in charge.

Although Dr. Hayden has not announced the exact subject of his discussion, it will pertain to some phase of social science.

The fact that this program on Dec. 1 will be open to the school-at-large is doubtless of interest to many students.

The local chapter of Pi Gamma Mu joins with approximately one hundred twenty similar organizations throughout the country in observing the tenth anniversary of the founding of this national society.

Officers of Pi Gamma Mu will celebrate the event by a tenth anniversary dinner to be given in Chicago on Dec. 27.

Present at this national ban-

Continued on page 4

Programs Given On Southern Culture

That the S. T. C. students are invited to attend a series of programs on "Culture in the South" is the announcement recenutly made by the Junior Woman's Club of Farmville.

Outstanding faculty members from the following colleges will lecture on various phases of culture in the south: William and Mary, Washington and Lee, Hampden-Sydney, and Farmville State Teachers College.

From 4:00 p. m. till 5:00 p. m. in room 4 these lectures will be given every second and fourth Wednesday.

Color Rush And Class Games Add To Thanksgiving Event

Thanksgiving morning with its Color Rush, its hockey games, and its influx of alumnae bids to be a day of real excitement.

Long before six o'clock girls will be pacing floors in Red and White or Green and White rooms, waiting anxiously for the bell to ring. As the first note sounds, doors will be flung open, and students dressed in shorts and tennis shoes will make mad dashes for appointed places in the Student Building, the Rotunda, Cunningham Hall, and Library Wing. Groups of onlookers, careful to stay out of the paths of the runners, will be vociferously cheering their girls to the victory of the colors.

If the seniors and sophomores win, Green and White banners will fly in the Thanksgiving wind; if the Juniors and Freshmen are victorious, the Red and White's will hold the day.

After the Color Rush, pep meetings and snake dances will make the campus become alive at an unusual hour.

At nine o'clock the inter-class hockey games, another number on the program, will begin.

Audrey Mattox leads the senior team; Kathleen Ranson, the juniors; Marguerite York, the sophomores; and Nellwyn Latimer, the freshmen.

The freshmen are expected to put forth a stiff fight in order to throw their rat-caps away in victory. The sophomores will be fighting, "to keep those 'rats' in their places."

The inter-class games will have a thrilling finale with the two victorious teams pitted against each other.

In the afternoon, the alumnae have their chance. Their game wit hthe Pick-Ups has always proved interesting and amusing.

Cheering and laughter and friendly combat will be the mood of the moment.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Published by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as second class mater March 1, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

MEMBER
Associated Collegiate Press
1934 Collegiate Digest 1935
MADISON WISCONSIN

Staff

Lelia Mattox ..... Editor
Evelyn Massey ..... Associate Editor

Board of Editors

Miss Jane Royall ..... Alumnae
Amis Montgomery ..... News
Florence Sanford ..... Make-up
Kathryne Cotten ..... Literary
Anne Putney ..... World News
Anne Diggs ..... Social
Margaret Farrar ..... Feature
Lelia Sanford ..... Sports

Proof Reader
Elizabeth Walton

Managers

Lena Mac Gardner ..... Business
Alva Sawyer ..... Asst. Business
Maude Rhodes ..... Circulation
Grace Collings ..... Asst. Circulation
Lila Jacob ..... Asst. Circulation

Assistants and Reporters

Birdie Wooding, Bonnie Lane, Laeta Barham, Minnie Smith, Susan Grasham, Mary Lee Newcomb, Elsie Cabell, Bess McGlothin, Katherine Coleman, Merwyn Gathright, Kathleen Ranson

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1934

The March of a Decade

The fact that a nation-wide organization for the promotion of the study of social science is celebrating its tenth anniversary in December, 1934, is of profound significance.

While this organization is only one of many societies for the advancement of social science, its history during the past ten years is pertinent and prophetic.

On December 1924, seventeen colleges responded to the suggestion of a leading social scientist and "launched a new movement upon an indifferent, not to say hostile scientific and social sea!"

The initial movement was of inestimable importance in that it recognized and acted upon the need of organized, scientific attitudes toward society.

The stupendous growth of this one national organization, enlarging in ten years from 17 to 148 chapters, testifies that the effort, though uncertain at the start, has proved worth while.

Whereas ten years ago the very field of social studies was frowned upon by many people, today it is recognized in its true light of importance by leading educators of the country.

Whereas such social studies as formerly did exist were disjointed and unorganized, today there are countless cooperative forces working with the universal aim of bringing about better understanding in the field of social science.

Social science is coming into its own!

Let Us Give Thanks

Once more the season approaches when our country will pause for a day and give thanks.

Intermittently since 1621 when the Pilgrim Fathers gathered together to give thanks for a successful harvest and for deliverance from disease, days of Thanksgiving have been observed in the new country.

Following President Lincoln's recommendation in 1864, the last Thursday in November was set aside permanently as a national day of thanksgiving.

To us, Thanksgiving connotes a day of pleasure; a day of fun and frolic; a day when old friends returnd and new friends are made; a day of feasting.

Somewhere amidst the eventful college activities which characterize our day of Thanksgiving, there will be a moment of deep sacredness, when we experience the real meaning of Thanksgiving.

Health, home, friends—these are personal blessings for which we will give thanks.

That it is possible to relieve the suffering an dneedy; that there are indications toward national recovery; that there are gleams of peace—peace and understanding between all peoples — these are greater things for which we will be thankful.

So Tired

Bleary-eyed and grouchy, a girl straggles to class, followed a few minutes later by another and then another. A murmur of discontent runs through the class and the expression "I'm dead tired" or "I could sleep for years" or "I've a million things to do" follow each other like depressing waves of heat.

How often have we heard this or been one of the speakers? A great many times, no doubt. What is the cause of so much tiredness? Can it be that we are studying too hard? Have we too much to do? Are we trying to cover too many extra-curricular activities? Or are we guilty of sham; of playing three-fourths of the time and groaning one-fourth. Too often this the case and the studentss' work suffers while she plays. The result is not only a feeling of being dragged about, but is in the little blue and pink papers we get on Tuesday. The practice continues and we wonder why being "dead tired" has caused us to fail a course. Test yourself andl see where you stand. BE HONEST. WHY ARE YOU ALWAYS "DEAD TIRED"?

How We Feel About Roosevelt

There are some people who do not give us credit for thinking at all, but where Roosevelt is concerned we think a great deal. In fact, not a single girl answers "I dunno" when asked her opinion of Roosevelt. Each girl seems to have an opinion of her own about our present president.

One girls says, "From first hand experience we see some of the things that he is doing in our college, and college is just one small part of our America." This girl was referring to the FERA which is helping about 80 of our girls with their college expenses.

Another girl is not so complimentary in her opinion, "Roosevelt," she says, "knows his alphabet, but we know ours too."

Roosevelt's alphabetical association may be ridiculed, but even admitting the defects and discrepancies in them, everyone can see that something is being done. His "new deal" does not meet with the approval of us all, but we do appreciate the fact that Roosevelt has awakened in us an interest for what's going on in America. He at least doesn't let things drag, and we like that.

Did the educators who put the stress on how to be a good teacher, rather than on what to teach, ever realize what a calamity it would be for a "good" teacher to teach erroneous subject matter?

You can tell the parents of bright children. They don't think the teacher dumb.

Most business barometers have been slowly rising since Labor Day. What barometer wouldn't rise after a day of strenuous labor?

Is it going to take another war for this ruffled world of ours to find that armistice for which she's seeking?

Japan may be prepared for only a short war, but any war is too long.

Roosevelt admires "Alice in Wonderland". It's no wonder. It suits his purpose for political satire.

The Senior Class is planning a dance for December 8. Who said there wasn't a Santa Claus?

REVIEW OF THE NEWS

Secretary Wallace proposes to continue his crop curtailment in cotton for the coming year. If the cut of 10,000,000 acres goes through, the maximum, according to the law, will be reached. Cooperating farmers will be liberally paid for the reduction. Although the A. A. A. proposes these changes in the present crop arrangement, it predicts that the crop of next year will exceed that of this year by 601,-000 acres. Farmers may expect some relief if our government succeeds in bartering with Germany for the exchange of 500,-000 bales of cotton for German manufactured products.

Miss Rumbough Returns to Virginia

An S. T. C. alumna, who wandered far over the world in the cause of Methodist missions, came back to Lynchburg, her home town, yesterday.

Miss Constance Rumbough now children's work secretary for the Southern Methodist Church in Nashville, Tenn., will probably visit Farmville sometime soon.

At Other Colleges

The annual Charity Ball will take place in the Memorial Gymnasium at the University of Virginia on Nov. 23. The Charlottesville Municipal Band will furnish the music.

Invitations have been issued five students of R. M. W. C. for membership in the Lynchburg Chapter of the Archeological Institute. Alice Cromer, of Farmville, is one of these five.

Miss Ruth Nichols, famous aviatrix, lectured recently at Sweet Briar on, "What Professional Opportunities Aviation Holds for Men and Women who are College Graduates."

Playing before approximately one thousand enthusiastic listeners at the U. of Va., the Richmond Symphony orchestra, Wheeler Beckett conducting, gave the first McIntire concert of this season.

W. and L. is trying to book Harvard for a football game. If this game were possible, it would be the first meeting of these institutions who are the oldest in the nations.

Co-eds at the University of Chicago were in the dumps last week, their reputations somewhat besmirched. In tests given 750 freshmen, the ten highest marks were made by men.

Limerick Contest

Don't forget the Limerick contest! Tomorrow is the last day. All entries must be written in ink, signed, placed in a sealed envelope, and put in Kathryne Cotten's mail box. Remember that all students are elegible except members of the Rotunda staff. The prize is $1.00 for the best limerick submitted.

Journalism Class Publishes Rotunda

This issue of The Rotunda was edited by the Journalism class.

Staff

Editor ..... Birdie Wooding
Asso. Ed. .... Lena Mac Gardner
Make-up Editor, Frances Yester
News Editors .. Sallie Carter & Elizabeth Mann
Society Editor .. Billie Rountree
Feature Editor .. Belle Lovelace
Sports Edi. .. Kathleen Ranson
Literary Ed. .. Emma Bingham
World News and Inter. Col. ..... Mildred Slayton
Proof Readers, Agnes Bondurant, Mrs. Edna Smith and Lucy Potter

Pet Expressions a la Faculty

Hi, there!
Mr. French

Bonjour, Mademoiselle.
Miss Smithey

It's terrific!
"Doc" Simkins

Next!
Dr. Fields

What is it?
Maudie K.

Come here, Charlie.
Mr. "Mac"

Theoretically speaking—
Mr. Coyner

"Words without thoughts."
Mr. Bell

Now, don't take anything I say in this class as the truth.
Miss Jennings

Over, Over, Over, up!
Miss Craddock

For our next assignment—
Miss Waters

One, two, three; one, two, three; tap, step; tap, step!
Mrs. Fitzpatrick

Life is too short!
Mr. Bell

Principal points brought out last time.
Miss Tucker

Oh, well, it's a funny world!
Miss Iler

Never had a day of drawing in my life.
Miss Rice

"Keep on Hopin' "
Dr. Jarman

Where is that Phyllis Ferguson?
Miss Wheeler

But that's another story.
Mr. Holton

Found on registration card—name of parents: "Mama and Papa."

—Erskine Mirror.

Even his best friends wouldn't tell him, and so he flunked the exam.

—Erskine Mirror.

Invictus

With apologies to William Ernest Henley

Out of the assignments that cover me,
Hard as heck from page to page,
I curse whatever teachers ma ybe
For my unconquerable rage.

In the fell clutch of education
I am wincing and crying aloud.
Under the pressure of examinations
My brain is rattle; I'm in a cloud.

Beyond this place of science and "math"'
Looms but the horror of another school,
And in spite of all my wrath
I find my pupils hard to rule.

It maters not how much I study,
How charged with facts my brain,
I feel that my mind is muddled;
That I have studied in vain.

C. M.

"Quotation Marks"

"In Soviet Russia the Kingdom of God has come"—Angelican Clergyman, quoted by Dr. Lyman Powell.

"My belief is that what goes on in the Capital is of no great importance. Louis did not save a country."—Henry Ford.

"My critics make a mistake in trying to analyze my speeches. What does it matter?" — Adolf Hitler.

"Poetry—Something that gives one a strange sensation in the back of the neck, or down the spine, or a funny feeling in the pit of the stomach".—A. E. Housman.

"A man of principles—one who keeps religiously to the left in a one way street."—A. P. Herbert.

The Cycle

In the Spring I laughed so gay,
And kissed each bud and blooming spray;
And planted in my garden small
A precious seed beside the wall.
I laughed again when Sumer came
And brought its warmth and gentle rain.
My precious seed had burst its pod
And sent forth seeds above the sod.
When Autumn came my love was spread
Through quaint bouquets of roses red;
'Twas fun to work and joy to play
When brightness filled each busy day.
But Winter came and with it died
My lovely roses and my pride.
By brightness ceased and joy was pain;
Life's yearly round had passed again!
But was it over? Need I fear
That life would ever be as drear?
No, dear heart, for with the Spring
Life too shall wake to laugh and sing.
For budding Spring and Summer's bloom
With golden sun and silvery moon,
And Autumn's flowers and Winter's drear
Is but the cycle which makes the year.

A. E. M

Wonderland's Alice Dead at Age of 82

Mrs. Alice Hargreaves, for whom the Alice adventures were written, is dead at the age of 82.

Luigi Pirandello Awarded Nobel Prize

Luigi Pirandello, Italian playwright, won the distinction of being Literary Man of 1934. He has been awarded the Nobel Prize for his drama, "Tonight We Improvise."

Voice of the Students

Dear Editor:

Do we always recognize and appreciate our best friends?

We prospective teachers need friends, and friends indeed are those who help us see the bright side in our practice teaching. When we feel like giving up the job as a bad one, they assist us in straightening out our difficulties and they send us back to our work with higher hopes.

These friends are our supervisors, of course! We sometimes call them critic teachers but such kindly critics they are that we look forward to their criticism. They furnish the inspiration which we need in order to "carry on."

Supervisors, here's to you!

A Student.

Dear Editor:

What has happened to all of the good natured freshman around here? All of those good sports who were so well-labeled during "Rat-Week" could not have become upper classmen overnight! The "Rats" seemed proud of their position for a while; they didn't care if the whole world knew they were "Rats." For a few days after the sophomores had their glorious week at the freshmen's expense, the "Rats" were still distinguished from the rest of the student body by their attractive little rat caps. The whole campus, the dining hall, and even Shannon's, were made more attractive by the wearers of the little blue and white caps.

Now, most of the freshmen have discarded their rat caps. But who can tell why? Surely, no all-wise freshman could foresee the outcome of the Thanksgiving Hockey game.

Again I ask where are the rat caps that "Rats" who are good sports should wear?

An Upper Classman.

Dear Editor:

How many times have we been guilty of whispering, squirming, rattling papers, and groaning in prayers? Were we bored? If prayers tire us, why go? Remember, it isn't compulsory for us to set aside a few, quiet, consecrated minutes of our evenings to look to God in prayer and Thanksgiving. Therefore, when we go to prayers, let's go as God's guests and act accordingly.

A Student.

SOCIALS

Even with the gala attractions of the play here this week-end many S. T. C. girls managed to visit in other places.

At Home

"There is no place like home"—so think many S. T. C. damsels, for among those who spent the week-end there were: Marguerite Bradford, Nancy Bland, Elizabeth Butterworth, Edna Balick, Charlotte Elliott, Frances Elder, Sarah Beck, Merwyn Gathright, Mary Louise French, Margery Quarles, Catherine Zimmerman, Lois Vassar, Elizabeth Vassar, Fretcher Walker, Eleanor Wood, Irene Taylor, Frances Jones, Mabel Murden, Rebecca Mayes, and Ella B. Lewis.

At Richmond

Kitty Bass, Bobby Brooke, Julia Derr, Virginia Houck, Josephine Kent, Evelyn Knaub, Margaret McNamara, Doris Moore, Lois Moses, Itasca Waters, Elise Turner, Helen Shawen, Henrietta Salsbury, Virginia Saunders, Marguerite Rollins, Anne Peple, Alice Nelson.

At Newport News

Gay Stieffen, Josephine Quinn, Frances Parker, Agnes Powell, Virginia Hurt, Anne Diggs, and Mary Wilson Clark.

At Lynchburg

Mary Joyner Cox, Bettie Carter Chapman, Mary Harrison, Virginia Fisher, Martha Hamlet, Lucille Rhodes, Frances Teass, Marjorie Ramey, Kathleen Powell., Ellen Mason.

At Other Places

Caroline Jones in New York, Jennie Belle Gilliam at Petersburg, Eleanor Mitchell in Williamsburg, Nellie Pierpont, Marion Hainsbrough, and Katherine Hurt at Salem, Dorothy Rhodes at Cartersville, Helen Smith in Roanoke, Wycliff Scott at Orange, Betty Tice at Crewe, Audury Wilson, Elizabeth McClenny, Copeland Johnson, and Mary Rives Block, at Pamplin, Louise Hyde in Portsmouth, Katherine Young, Ruth Showalter, Virginia Daughtry at Kenbridge, Charlotte Young Elizabeth Mann, and Mildred Linthicum at Bedford, Nancy Wall and Evelyn Wilson at Boydton, Goldie Williams in Gloucester Co., Virginia Tissue, and Susan Lane at Altavista, Elizabeth Trent at Troutville, Elizabeth Sutton at Plain View, Virginia Saunders and Patsy Saunders at Goochland, Eleanor Shackleton at Meherrin, Nelle Oakey Ryan at Trausville, Marjorie Robertson and Pauline Pearson at Dillwyn.

Margaret Pittard and Mildred Chandler visited at Buffalo Junction. Ella and Sue Mallory at Lawrenceville, Evelyn Montgomery at Ronceverte, West Va., Mary Elizabeth Morris, Margaret Herndon, and Ethel Burgess at Fork Union, Paige Magee at Yale, Marie Moore at Hopewell, Grace Fern Canyers, Frances Jamison, and Dorothy Hutcheson at Chester, Ethel Joyner at Pleasant View, Lois Jenkens at Ashland, Elizabeth Glass at Halifax, Eleanor Dunham at Chapel Hill, N. C., Murkland Dressler at Ballsville, Nancy Dodd at Chase City, Kitty Chappell at Drakes Branch, Margaret Clark at Crozet, Audrey Clements at Hopewell, Edith Coffey at Cumberland, Mary Cunningham at Buckingham, Margaret Bailey at Clarksville, Nancy Beard at Amherst, Margaret Alridge in Danville.

Recital Initiates Memorial Fund

Miss Schroeder of the Schemmel Conservatory of Music is giving a Children's Recital next Saturday night, November 24, the proceeds of which will be used as the initial contribution to a Jennie Masters Tabb Memorial Loan Fund. It is fitting and admirable that this institution should make the initial step which will make it possible for many girls to attend this college in the future. Miss Tabb was a close friend of the late Dr. August Schemmel and wrote a beautiful poem in his memory. She was interested in music and the growth of the Schemmel Conservatory. Dr. Jarman heartily endorsed this sign of esteem and he hopes that the student body will appreciate the significance of the occasion and attend this recital.

Alumnae News

Mrs. Taylor Smith, formerly Miss Edna Blanton, member of the class of '23 at S. T. C., has returned to this college to continue work toward her degree.

In 1929, Mrs. Smith attended the University of Miami. For several years this city has been her home, but recently she was forced to return to Virginia for her health. Her children are attending the College Training School.

Mrs. Smith's husband, Captain Taylor Smith, is located at the U. S. A. headquarters at Saint Barrancos, Fla.

BOOK REVIEW

"While Rome Burns"

"While Rome Burns," by Alexander Woollcott: The Viking Press, N. Y., 328 pages $2.75.

Alexander Woollcott, correspondent, playwright man-about-the-world, and cunning critic, in his latest comeback, "While Rome Burns," mingles wit, satire, pleasant reminiscences, cynicism, sarcasm, and humor into a delightful a collection of short articles as can be found among the "best sellers" of the year.

The author has divided his work into sections reviewing various phases of life which might bring a tear to one reader, a chuckle to another, or a gasp of horror to another. In this manner we find that "lives of great men all remind us" that Alexander Woollcott sees all, hears all, and knows all. Still, if he gives us what he knows, should we weep?

His tribute to Father Duffy, that great, beloved priest of New York, is one that is worthy of note apart from the entire book. Next "Legends," salty, savory, gruesome, and mysterious, hold the attention for a while, but they seem an editorial letdown after the articles on "Characters." They are too much like: "I've heard that one before."

The author is, perhaps, at his best in his sketches. "Some Neighbors." Here he turns his spot light on the people of the day; when he finishes exposing them we delve for more. But the persons in question—well, they grin and bear it, or so, we must suppose.

"It Must Be Human Gore" smacks of horrors and chills, giving us true murder stories that hit in his favor by the really worthwhile resume he gives of the theater in Russia and China. Having wittily carried us from Russia to China, where they "reach for a face-cloth instead of a sweet," he answers the question,

Welfare Program Held at A.C.E. Meet

A program explaining the content of the course in Child Welfare now being offered in the sociology department was the topic of talks given by Frances Yester and Burnley Brockenbrough. An outlining the content of the course they said that the class was divided into groups who were doing original research in all types of child problems. These problems will not be completed until nearly the end of the term. They also stated that each member of the class has visited the State Child Welfare Bureau in Richmond for an afternoon and will spend a day in visiting in or around Richmond or Lynchburg.

Frances Yester gave a resume of a talk on "Mental Hygiene" that Dr. Groves, Professor of Sociology at the University of North Carolina gave in Richmond. A number of the Child Welfare group had already heard it.

All members were urged to pay their dues as soon as possible. Christine Childrey, the president, presided over the routine business and then turned the meeting over to Crenshaw Jones, program chairman, who introduced the speakers.

It has been announced by Mr. Strick that by request of many, the Music Department will present a musical program in chapel once each month. The first program will be given early in December.

From Illusion to Love

How is college different from high school? Are college professors human? Do people pass on college courses without studying?

When I was in high school, I often used to ask acquaintances who were in college or who had finished college such questions as the foregoing. Of course, I got responses that varied with the type of person I questioned. Some girls assured me, at the same time giving examples, that bluffing was the best way "to get by". Other informants made the glaring statement that college professors in general, are not human.

I recall quite well the tale one girl told me. It goes something like this: "Oh, it doesn't matter how hard you study under Doctor Z, you won't pass, unless luck just happens to come your way. He is one of those old timers who never reads the test papers. He just stands at the top of the staircase and throws the papers down to the bottom of the steps. Those that fall on top get A, the next B, and so on."

Why these people told me only the few freakish professors of whom they had ever heard, and of the few freakish professors of pen about once every ten years, I don't knok.

However, through experience I have learned the answers to these questions. I have learned that college professors are human, and that bluffing does not pay.

In making out my schedule as a freshman, I was not sure about what course I should take in a certain department. An upperclassman volunteered to help me find the head of that particular department in which the course was catalogued. We found Miss Y. in her classroom.

Trembling, I entered the room. "Would she, a lordly college professor, scold me, a poor little worm-in-the dust, for asking her a question? Perhaps I am supposed to know the answer to that question," I thought. I had so exaggerated the tales of college in my mind that I was ready to believe almost anything hard-hearted, of my new teachers.

"Good morning: are you Miss Y?" I asked in the same breath. "Yes, is—"

But I did not allow her to finish.

"I have two years of D in high school. Will you please tell me whether I should take D. 101 or D. 131?" I continued.

"I think you had better take 131, but it won't be hard for you," Miss answered very kindly.

What a soothing shock! I ran from the room, happy in the thought that I would have, at least, one nice teacher.

As an upperclassman, and I walked down the hall, I told her how pleasant Miss Y. had been. She said, "Oh, I reckon she's all right, but you'll catch it in class."

Strange to say, I haven't caught it yet. At least, I haven't unless it refers to love for Miss Y. and a desire to learn more D.

Even now, after two years in college, girls warn me against certain teachers by drawing caricatures of them instead of fair pictures. However, I can no longer be fooled.

"How highly developed is the theater art in the Orient?" We are pleased with the result.

In contrast, the author presents his "Program Notes" on the American play. He finds few worthy of unconditional praise, and many he criticises with a biting satire, but with keen insight for the best in drama.

Perhaps his best resume is "Book Markers," a group of stories, in which pathos and humor, sarcasm and cleverness combine to give us reviews of a few books that will ever be loved by all the world.

Why he chose the title, "While Rome Burns," only he really knows. We may presume, however, that Woollcott, alias Nero, looks on and grins over his subtle resumes while the World, alias Rome, burns.

S. A. Legus

TAILOR

CLEANING

PRESSING

REPAIRING

Phone 203

Inter-Class Meet Coming for Swimmers

Continued from page 1

4. Game or race.

Intermediates

form (one length).

2. Sculling stroke for form or race (one length).
3. Free style—25 yd. race.
4. Crawl—25 yards for form.
5. Race or relay.

Advanced

1. Back crawl—25 yards for form.
2. Crawl—50 yards for form.
3. Free style—50 yards race.
4. Diving.

Plain Front (Standing)

5. Relay or race.

The entrants, announced by the class managers, are as follows:

Beginners Seniors

Jestine Cutshall, Ella Mallory.

Intermediate

Fannie Bosworth, Louise Floyd, Lelia Maitox, Helen Smith, Brooks Wheeler.

Advanced

Sara Beck, Helen Harris, Meg Herndon, Frances McDaniel, Helen Shawen.

Juniors

Intermediates: Emma Bingham, Bessie Hart, Evelyn Massey.

Advanced: Crenshaw Jones, Rebecca Kern, Florence Sanford, Lelia Sanford, Hazel Smith, Marion Umberger.

Sophomores

Intermediates: Mildred Chandler, Anne Scales.

Advanced —Frances Hudgins, Virginia Leonard.

Freshmen

Beginners: Anne Peple, Iris Rountree, Janie Lee Young.

Intermediates: Annie Leigh Bailey, Meriel McAllister, Matsie Moore.

Advanced: Elizabeth Carroll, Mary Joyner Cox, Sue Eastham, Isabelle Plummer.

Class of '36 Presents Bedford for 3rd Time

Continued from page 1

unique tap dance followed. Finishing the dance the seven girls gradually moved to the back of the stage.

Next, "Tac" Waters and Margaret Clark placed the chair for Miss Bedford. Following this "Tac" brought Miss Bedford forward and presented her to the faculty and student body.

The Junior class then honored Miss Bedford by singing their classman song.

C. E. Chappell Co.

Stationery, Blank Books and School Supplies

Cigars, Cigarettes and Soda

Farmville, Virginia

Rice's Shoe Store

Street and Dress Shoes

Dancing Slippers Dyed

Correct fits our specialty It

Kleanwell

CLEANERS AND TAILORS

Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling ladies garments

Main Street, opposite Post office

Phone 98

Gray's Drug Store

QUALITY—PRICE—SERVICE

Come in and Get Acquainted

We are glad to have you with us!

Farmville, Virginia

Mack's

BARBER AND BEAUTY SHOP

323 Main Street

We use the Frederick Method

Hair cutting and thinning a Specialty

PRINTING.....

When you think of Printing think of

—The—

FARMVILLE HERALD

GOLDSTRIPE HOSIERY, sheerest, finest and best wearing hose in America—in all the new winter shades. Buy one of these and you will always be a Goldstripe wearer

Per pair $1.00

RAINCAPES—Colors of the Rainbow.

Special $1.00

Newest Tree Bark Shoes

DRESS TIES, PUMPS OR SPORT OXFORDS.

Special this week ..... $3.95 Values $2.95

THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE

Farmville's Best Place to Shop!

—FOR—

EVERYTHING—SCHOOL SUPPLIES, CANDIES, FRUITS, CONFECTIONS, ETC.

GO TO.....

GILLIAM'S

Open 'till 9:00 p. m.

SHOES For All Occasions

Evening—Dress—Sports—Street Wear

$2.95 to $5.95

DAVIDSON'S

ARE YOU INTERESTED?

JACKETS of Grain and Suede Cloth and Wool SWEATERS.

We are showing the season's newest. Come in. We are glad to show—Just what we have—and the line is very attractive.

VERSER'S

PHILCO RADIO

World's largest manufacturers of Radio

A complete line

Watch repairing a specialty

Sheet Music—Strings for Instruments

LYNN, The Main Street Jeweler

YOUR NEIGHBOR,

The Weyanoke Beauty Salon

invites you to drop in and take advantage of their Special prices now in effect.

Permanent Waves $4 & $6 Shampoo & Fingerwave 75 cents

Manicure 40 cents

Individual, courteous, efficient service and an established reputation for dependability and satisfaction. That is our guarantee, and your assurance of perfect workmanship.

Sporting Whirl

By KATHLEEN RANSON

Those old-time rivals, the Red and Whites and the Green and Whites, will class for the first time in the season tonight. Which of the colors will win? Come on, Reds and Greens! May the best "man" win!

The losers will still have a chance to stage a come-back. Thanksgiving Day, when the inter-class hockey games will be played. Anyone who has watched a game on that day has something to remember. The laughter and fun, the friendly rivalry, the love of sport, and th encouraging voice of Miss Ifer are enough to bring any old girl back again. Many alumnae are expected back for the game with the pick-ups Thursday afternoon.

Two practices a week are still required for hockey. Captains, get your squads out for their class practices.

Prospects seem good for a fine basket ball season. The new players are strong, and many old members of the team are with us again.

Last year's varsity players who are back this year are Kathleen Ranson, Sara Beck, Martha Putney, and Ellen Gilliam. The next practice will be held Thursday at five o'clock. Be wise and get your practices early. Mary Lena Anderson is Florence Sanford's assistant manager for basket ball.

Miss Stubbs Makes Interesting Survey

Continued from page 1

work.

"Contact at this season of the year has brought the groups into a closer working unit, and will insure finer co-operation and results. They're all looking forward to the convention to be held at Farmville in the spring."

"The Age of Innocence"

Irene Dunne and John Boles are together again for their first reunion since their triumph in "Back Street." Carrying out the full appeal of Edith Wharton's masterpiece, "The Age of Innocence," the Pulitzer Prize winner in 1920, and with the splendid acting of the two stars assisted by a well-chosen supporting cast, it presents a picture you will never forget.

The setting is laid in New York in 1876, during the Mid-Victorian period, and the general theme is based upon the socially elite "400."

Miss Dunne as an heiress who yearns for real romance, which is frowned upon by her set, and John Boles as a scion of Manhattan society are said to have roles even more powerful and sympathetic than those which stirred the public so deeply in "Back Street."

There is a triangle scene in which Julie Haydon plays the third member. Miss Haydon's role is that typical of "the age of innocence."

Excellent direction, elaborate settings, and the superb acting of all the characters make it a picture you can't afford to miss.

Admission, Matinee and evening:

Adults 25c—Children 15c.

Buy your tickets now!

Latin Group Presents Play

The members of Sigma Pi Rho will present "A Roman Wedding," a Latin play in three scenes, in the small auditorium at eight o'clock on Friday, Nov. 23. This play, which shows the betrothal, wedding ceremony, and bridal procession of a typical Roman girl, attempts to give a picture of the home life of the Romans.

The members of Sadalitas Latina and any others who are interested in this subject are invited to see the play.

The characters are:

The bride, Tullia, Mary Gilmer.

The groom, Gaius, Anne Putney.

The father of the bride, Cicero —Margaret Pollard.

The mother of the bride, Terentia—Lila Jacob.

The father of the groom—Carmen Clark.

The mother of the groom—Birdie Wooding.

The brother of the bride—Doris Moore.

Flamen Dialis — Katherine Adams.

Pontifex Maximus—Ethel Joyner.

Lawyer—Claudine O'Brien.

Proculus—Maude Rhodes.

Slave—Jeannette Jones.

Wonder if the leaves turn red in the fall because they are just realizing how green they were all spring?

Hockey Squad Gets In Shape

The class squads in hockey are practicing daily for the Thanksgiving Meet, to begin at nine A. M., Nov. 29.

The Green and White teams will compete against the Red and Whites with the winners of each game playing the final match of the series.

The line-ups are as follows:

Freshmen

Bailey, Kathleen; Bolick, Edna; Carter, Ida Sue; Gilliam, Jennie Belle; Graham, Anne; Jones, Margaret; Jordan Ivylyn; Latimer, Nellwyn, Captain; McAllister, Meriel; McGlothlin, Madeline; Mann, Evelyn; Phelps, Ruth; Roache, Margaret; Ryburn, Kathryn.

Sophomores

Anderson, Mary Lena; Bowles, Mary; Chandler, Mildred; Grainger, Alice; Irby, Kathryn; Lane, Bonnie; Moore, Marie; McGlothlin, Bess; York, Marguerite, Captain.

Juniors

Gathright, Louise; Harrison, Martha; Kern, Rebecca; Massey, Evelyn; Nottingham, Patsy; Ranson, Kathleen, Captain; Sanford, Edith; Sanford, Florence; Walmsley, Louise; Walker, Linda; Waters, Itasca.

Seniors

Akers, Lucille; Beck, Sarah Blanton, Emily; Mattox, Audrey, Captain; Mattox, Lelia; Putney, Martha; Rhodes, Maud;.

Y. W. Gives Fruit To Injured Men

How many of us cast longing eyes at those luscious baskets of fruit which adorned the balconies for the birthday dinner Monday night?

Our curiosity was satisfied when we learned that the Service Committee of the Y. W. C. A. was going to take them to the injured C. C. C. men who are now in the Southside Hospital.

Alumnae Chapter Hostess at Banquet

Continued from page 1

Miss Mary White Cox made a brief and appropriate talk.

The chief feature of the evening was Dr. Jarman's address, in which he made plain that in Virginia there is not an over supply of teachers, but an over supply of certificated instructors.

Dr. Jarman stated also that the Portsmouth graduates were a group worthy of his pride and worthy of emulation by other graduates of the college.

The stirring strains of the Alma Mater, sung by the entire group, was the fitting close of the program.

After their program, Dr. Jarman gave the guests a real treat by singing to them some of his favorite songs: "Tommy Lad," "Because," "Perfect Day," and "Keep on Hopin'".

Southside Drug Store

(On the Corner)

Films Developed FREE

If bought at this store

CALENDAR

November 21-27.

Wednesday

5:00—Y. W. Cabinet Meeting.
7:00—Rotunda Meeting.
7:15—Dramatic Club.
8:30—Pi Kappa Delta.

Thursday

4:15—Artist Dance Group.
7:00—Kappa Delta Pi.

Friday

7:00—Debate Club.

Monday

7:00—Virginian Staff Meeting.
8:00—Alpha Kappa Gamma.

Tuesday

8:30—Pi Gamma Mu.
10:00—Student Council.

Mrs. Watkins Elected Choral Club Sponser

Mrs. Mary B. Watkins, secretary to the President, was unanimously elected sponsor of the College Choral Club at their meeting, November 15. This organization will assist the College Choir in the presentation of Handel's Messiah in the Spring. It will also give a program over the air.

Campus Comments

It's small wonder that Verne Ferguson enjoyed play practices. Look what he had to work for!—Maybe Stine liked it too.

We hear that Lucille Rhodes had a very tall date Saturday night. She was still paging Charlie for a step-ladder when we last saw her.

We hear that Sally Perrow is taking a course in "Art" appreciation. We'd like to know the number of the course.

Is it true that the four campus queens are waiting for Santa Claus to come?

We wonder why Marguerite Bradford has suddenly turned her affections from V. M. I. to V. P. I. all in one week-end's time.

Mr. Coyner, must you give intelligence tests to juniors? They're all in the throes of an inferiority complex.

Wouldn't Dr. Jarman be surprised if they weren't cigars after all?

"Nubby" Knaub's theme song this year is "Bring Bacy My Barbee to Me."

Jestine Cutshall's duties as president of the student body are overwhelming, what with closing windows for Miss Barlow, going out for beginners' swimming and picking up trash in front of the post office.

Is it true that Mary Bowles and Florence Tankard are applying for B. S. degrees in knitting?

The journalism class extends deepest sympathy to the regular "Rotunda" staff.

S. T. C. Chapters Enters Celebration

Continued from page 1

quent will be members of Pi Gamma Mu in and around Chicago, as well as delegates from all over the country in attendance at the American Economic Association, the American Sociology Society, and other learned societies pertaining to social science.

The Schemmel Conservatory of Music

Offers interesting instruction by Artist Teachers, arranged to suit the needs of each pupil. Piano: Elsa Schemmel Fairchild, Marie Schemmel Shroder. Voice: Mattie Spencer Willis. Violin: Richmond Seay of Blackstone College.

Greeting Cards
HEADQUARTERS FOR JEWELRY, HOSIERY
CANDY
HANKERCHIEFS and all gift items
ROSE'S
5—10—25c STORE

Glamour & Romance Feature Mardi Gras

Continued from page 1

majesty on the ballroom floor, her identity will remain a secret.

After her coronation as Queen of the Carnival, she will lead her attendants in a special figure. Then the court will blend into the gala crowd and the dancing will continue.

Romance, mystery, and enchantment will be the prevailing spirit of the celebration. All the charms of festive decorations, fantastic costuming, and fascinating music will lend themselves in making the ball of the Mardi Gras a real one.

EACO THEATRE

Mats. 4 p. m.; Nights 8 p. m.
Adults 25c; Children 15c
Unless otherwise noted

Thurs-Fri., Nov. 22-23
Claudette Colbert
in C. B. DeMille's
"CLEOPATRA"
Adults 25c and 35c

Saturday, Nov. 24
Irene Dunne
John Boles
'Age of Innocence'
Cartoon and News

Next Mon-Tues., Nov. 26-27.
Bing Crosby
Miriam Hopkins
She Loves Me Not
Bity Boop and News
Adults 25c and 35c

Next Wed., Nov. 28
Warner Baxter
Hell IN Heavens
Chapt. 6 "Red Rider"

MIDNIGHT SHOW
Thanksgiving Night
at 11 p. m.
THE CAPTAIN HATES THE SEA
Vic McLaglen, John Gilbert
Helen Vinson—Leon Errol

Farmville Mfg. Co.
BUILDING MATERIALS
MILLWORK
Farmville, Va.

You Would Love to Have Your Shoes Fixed at
Lovelace Shoe Shop
110 Third Street

ROOM FURNISHINGS
SCHOOL SUPPLIES
CANDIES
ROSES
5-10-25c Store
FARMVILLE, VA.

Overton-Mottley Hdwe. Co.
ELECTRIC GOODS/
Tennis Rackets and balls
Roller Skates

Shannon's
Is Headquarters for the Best
SANDWICHES
—and—
DRINKS
in Farmville!

Special orders for
Teas and Parties
Try our doughnuts
Foley's Bakery
Third Street

WILLIS The Florist
Flowers for all occastons
PHONES 181-273

Conoco Gas and Oil
Fill up at
Johns Motor Co.
Farmville, Va.

Martin the Jeweler
Gifts of
Lasting Remembrance
317 Main St. Farmville

POTTED MEATS
SANDWICH SPREAD
SANDWICH ROLLS
HOT DOGS
Everything for the Picnic
W. R. Drumeller
Main Street Farmville

Cleaning at reduced rates
State Cleaning Co.
Third Street

SUPPERS AND SMALL PARTIES
Good Breakfast
Dinners
Suppers
College Tea Room
and
LONGWOOD

Buy Your
CANDY
To Sell at
H. T. Stokes & Co.

G. F. Butcher
High Street
"The Convenient Store"
FOR GOOD THINGS
TO EAT AND DRINK

Electric Shoe Shop
Will Fix Your Shoes
While You Wait
BEST WORKMANSHIP
AND LEATHER USED

The Fashion Shoppe
Reflects the newest styles. All dresses $2.95 up
COATS, SUITS, DRESSES, UNDERWEAR
Silk Hose
Fine quality ..... 49c 59c and 69c

Warner's "True - Lift" Brassieres
GIRDLES—CORSELETTES
Come in today and see the many new foundation garments created especially for the college styles.
BALDWIN'S
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

WE ARE FIRST TO SHOW THE NEWEST!
New French Berets with Triangular Scarfgs to match—football colors. Special 97c
ALLEN A, new winter shades, in Sheer, Chiffon HOSIERY. They have that Certain Thing called "IT." You will love them ..... 69c pr.
Just received new shipment of Holiday Dresses in three price groups ..... $5.45—$7.45
YOUR ROOMMATE SHOPS HERE — ASK HER — SHE KNOWS — IT PAYS TO BUY AT
DOROTHY MAY STORES
FARMVILLE, VA.

HOCKEY GAMES AFTER THANKSGIVING

The Rotunda

We Teach To Teach

BASKETBALL AFTER THANKSGIVING

Volume XV. FARMVILLE, VA., NOVEMBER 27, 1934 No. 10

Changes Affecting Campus Make-Up Nearly Completed; Big Improvements

New Fence Encloses S. T. C. Hockey Field

Improvements on the campus have been in progress since early last spring and are now nearing completion. After the swimming pool, a PWA project, was finished the school had to make arrangements for the changes which it affected in the make-up of the campus.

The city provided for the new sidewalk and curbing. Among the most noticeable changes are the removal of the curve in the front of Student Building wall with the consequent widening of High Street, the erection of a brick stone retaining wall with metal fence inclosing one side of the athletic field, swimming pool, and student building. A white paling fence will inclose the other side of the hockey field leaving only the Doyne Street entrance for spectators and the Annex entrance for students and players.

By the end of this week the work will be completed and the campus will be in splendid condition. Although the area just outside the swimming pool is quite muddy at present, grass will grow there next spring.

Orchestra Ensemble Gives Entertainment

An ensemble from the orchestra, assisted by a quartette from the Choral Club, gave a program of unusual interest at Jetersville, arranged to have this program there.

Those playing in the ensemble were: Miss Purdom, Fay Little, Lucken Bugg, Elizabeth LeGrande, Elizabeth Pamplin, Alice, Mary, and Jimmy Grainger. Those composing the quartette were: Rebecca Carter, Charligne Hall, Evelyn Howell, Annette Roberts, and Eleanor Wood.

Richmond Meeting Attracts Faculty

Nearly all the S. T. C. faculty will be present at the teachers' meeting in Richmond on Nov. 28, 29, and 30.

Miss Purdom, chairman of the Music Educators National Conference, will attend a musical program of the State High School band and chorus in the city auditorium Wednesday, Nov. 28. She will also attend the concert given by the Richmond Symphony Orchestra for the high school students who play in the evening concert. This concert by the Richmond Symphony will be free to these students.

Among the other members from the S. T. C. faculty and administration who will be on the program at the teachers' meeting will be Dr. Jarman, Miss Taliaferro, and Miss London. Dr. Jarman will sit on the platform with all the other past presidents of the Virginia Education Association. Miss Taliaferro will talk on arithmetic and Miss London will lead in a general discussion on the new curriculum.

Farmville alumnae are glad that this year, for the first time, they have been able to secure a room for headquarters, where they may stay during their stay at the teachers' meeting. This room is in The John Marshall Hotel, and in it will be displayed annuals, pictures, and material from Farmville.

Thanksgiving Holiday Granted; Begins Wednesday At Noon

For the first time in the history of S. T. C. a Thanksgiving holiday is to be given this year.

Acting on requests and general feeling of members of the student body, the Student Standards Committee headed by Henrietta Salsbury, approached Dr. Jarman with a petition for a vacation which should continue through the week end following Thanksgiving day. Dr. Jarman consented to present the matter to the school as a whole, stating that his decision would be influenced by the general opinion.

Thursday morning after chapel period a vote was taken to determine the exact feeling of the students as to having from Wednesday to Monday off with one day taken from Christmas holidays. To the surprise of everyone, especially the Standards Committee, the count was so close that it was deemed wise to leave the matter entirely in Dr. Jarman's hands.

However, during the course of the morning, there developed facts which pointed to a misunderstanding on the part of a number of students. A second meeting was called after lunch. Following some discussion and explanation, the motion was changed slightly so that the query might be clearer.

The result of the second ballot was almost unanimously in favor of the resolution to have the vacation. The count was presented to President Jarman for his consideration. His final decision was reported at the beginning of dinner and was hailed by much applause.

It is understood that the holiday is not to be a permanent part of the school calendar unless the administration is satisfied with this trial. The vacation begins at twelve o'clock on Wednesday, Nov. 28, and ends at class time Monday morning, Dec. 3. The announcement has been made that a great deal depends on the cooperation of the students in returning to school in time for Monday classes.

Hampden-Sydney's 1934 Home Coming Draw Big Crowd

A big crowd of alumni, guests, and students enjoyed Hampden-Sydney's annual Homecoming's this week-end.

Friday night the homecoming banquet of Omicron Delta Kappa was held by members of the Lambda Circle at Longwood. Later Friday night the first dance was held at the Comity Club with Johnny Long and his Duke Collegians playing. There was an excellent crowd but a disturbing scarcity of stags.

Saturday at twelve-thirty p. m. a pep rally was called. This included the faculty, students, and alumni. President Philip Cary Adams of the Presbyterian College at Maxton, N. C., made a pep talk at this time.

At two o'clock Death Valley was filled with spectators who enthusiastically witnessed the combat between the Randolph-Macon Yellow Jackets and the Hampden-Sydney Tigers. This was one of the biggest events of the year, and victory was predicted for the Tigers. However, there was a hard fight, and the fray ended in a nothing to nothing score. This game concludes the football season for Hampden-Sydney.

A dansant was held Saturday afternoon immediately after the game.

S. T. C. girls were not allowed to attend this event.

Acting Group Shows Definite Progression

When the acting group of the Dramatic Club assembles in the small auditorium every Monday night, the study of various details of acting and of presenting successful productions takes place. Character impersonations, bodily movement, voice and diction are perhaps the most emphasized phases of study, and at each meeting, barring rehearsals, one of the above subjects is discussed.

For many years the acting group has had the largest number of apprentices—so it is again this fall. Thirty-eight new girls and seven old students are attempting to become efficient actresses. Under the direction of Audrey Clements, present head of the department, two plays have

Continued page 3, col. 3

Quarterly Publication Commends E. Walton

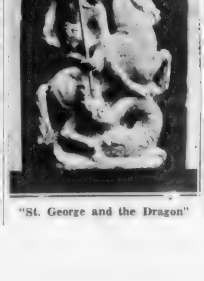
That Elizabeth Walton, a junior at S. T. C., is an outstanding student has been recognized outside the college personnel. The following account of her activities appeared in the autumn number of "Social Science," quarterly magazine for Pi Gamma Mu and Phi Sigma Alpha:"

"Miss Elizabeth James Walton, who was awarded the Social Science Scholarship key by the Virginia Gamma Chapter, May 25, 1934, wrote her competing essay on "Russia Versus Human Nature." Her paper was pronounced by two of the judges as remarkable for a sophomore student. She was one of eleven highest ranking students in the sophomore class of the State Teachers College at Farmville, Va., who were selected by the faculty to compete for this honor.

In addition to her scholarship ranking nearer A than B on all her freshman and sophomore work. She served on Y. W. C. A.

Continued on page 4

David Grainger Arrives Xmas To Do Jarman's Portrait Bust



Dr. Jarman has consented to sit for a portrait bust during the Christmas holidays, to be done by that rising young sculptor, David Deaderick Grainger, who is a graduate student in Yale University Art School, and is the son of Mr. James M. Grainger, head of the Department of English on this faculty.

The young sculptor's progress has been a most rapid one, from "mud to marble." He has recently won several awards in sculpture, some in contests of international scope. In the competitions of the Beaux Arts Institute of Design, New York University, in which students from art schools and others in America and France competed, he won the following awards: "First mention, commended" for his statue, "Rome Collaborative Problem"; "First mention, placed" for his "Statue for a Niche"; "First mention" on a model of "St. George and the Dragon;" and second mention on two garden urns.

At Yale he was awarded first prize of $40 for the best work done in sculpture in the fourth year, and second prize of $25 for the greatest improvement made among the several hundred students in the five years of work in the art school.

He won both prizes of $30 and $10 for a metal historical road marker to be placed throughout Connecticut by the State Highway Department in connection with the tercentenary of Connecticut's founding to be celebrated in 1936.

Continued page 3, col. 1

"St. George and the Dragon"

Senior Dance Will Be In Gym 100 Additional Tickets Put On Sale

Dancers of S. T. C. will rejoice to hear the announcement that the Senior dance to be December 8 from 8:30 until 11:30 P. M. will be held in the gymnasium instead of the "rec". Thus additional tickets have been printed.

Five hundred tickets, now available for any S. T. C. girls, their guests and their dates, went on sale yesterday and may be secured from Katherine Young, Ann Irving, or Dot Justis at any time. After the Thanksgiving holiday tickets to the dance will be sold at the table in the hall.

"Pinkie" Harper and his Southside Club Orchestra from Crewe, will furnish the music. Belle Lovelace and Evelyn Knaub have planned an attractive floor show.

Coca-colas and Nabs will be sold during intermission. Libby Ware and Bobbie Saunders have been appointed on the refreshment committee.

This dance is looked forward to with much enthusiams and excitement by the entire student body. The class of '35 is the first to have such a dance, and if it proves successful it is hoped that having an annual dance will become a special privilige in the future.

Student Body Votes On Question Dec. 3

Whether the editor-in-chief and the business manager of The Rotunda and of The Virginian will be appointed by a committee or whether these officers will be elected by popular vote will be decided at the student body meeting Monday night, Dec. 3.

The recommendation that was submitted by the Council to the student body in the November meeting stated that these officers be appointed instead of elected as formerly. The motion was made and seconded that this recommendation from the council be accepted, but following an enthusiastic discusison of the matter the motion was carried that the question be laid on the table to be voted on at the December meeting.

Jestine Cutshall, president of the student body, urges that the students give this issue their sincerest thought and be at the meeting Monday night to vote.

McClure Will Reign In May Day Fete; Cutshall Her Lord

Lord and Lady of May

Jestine Cutshall

Jean McClure

Many S.T.C. Alumnae To Attend Luncheon

Many alumnae of S.T.C. are expected to attend a luncheon at the Westmoreland Club in Richmond at 1 o'clock, Friday, Nov. 30. Mrs. William H. Bass, of Richmond, has charge of the arrangements for the luncheon.

Dr. Jarman will be the speaker, and among the other honor guests are: Dr. and Mrs. Thomas D. Eason. Dr. Eason is the director of high education for the State Board of Education. Mr. A. B. Gathright, State Treasurer, and Mrs. Gathright, will attend. Dr. Fannie W. Dunn, who was formerly a member of this faculty, but is now of Columbia University will also be present. A good many of the faculty attending the teachers meeting are expected to be at the luncheon.

Miss Tucker Sees PresidentInstalled

Miss Sarah B. Tucker, represented Farmville State Teachers College at Winthrop State Teachers College, South Carolina, Nov. 9, for the installation of the newp resident, Dr. Shelton Phelps.

Marching in the academic procession according to the age of the institution from which they came, one hundred and thirty-four representatives took part in the installation. The representative from Yale led the procession. The president of Columbus, College, Mississippi, marched with Miss Tucker. That college and S. T. C. were founded in 1884.

The chief speaker of the installation was Mr. Robertson, president of Goucher College.

Alumnae Week-end was celebrated the same week-end and each of the forty-one chapters of the alumnae were invited to send five representatives each. Two

Continued on page 4

Distinguished Guests Eat at S. T. C Sunday

Ex-Governor and Mrs. E. Lee Trinkle, of Roanoke, Dr. and Mrs. Young and children, Tom, Helen, and Mary Elizabeth, of Memphis, Tenn., and Dr. Jarman were guests for dinner at S. T. C. Sunday.

Ex-Governor Trinkle, who spoke at the O. D. K. banquet at Longwood Saturday, expressed his wish to Dr. Jarman that he might dine with the S. T. C. girls Sunday.

Dr. Young, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Memphis, preached a very worthwhile sermon Sunday at the Presbyterian Church of Farmville.

Both Ex-Governor Trinkle and Dr. Young had returned to Hampen-Sydney for the homecoming. S. T. C. students welcomed them as their guests at dinner Sunday.

Election of Court To Be Held Dec. 8

Court Nominees Will Be Introduced In Sing

Jean McClure of Spottswood was elected Lady of May and Jestine Cutshall of Roanoke her chief attendant Lord of May, in the election held Monday, Nov. 26th.

Both Jean and Jestine are well known seniors on the campus, Jean is secretary of the senior class and vice-president of Gamma Psi, and Jestine is president of the student body.

Wycliff Scott and Lelia Sanford, who were nominees for the two major roles, are automatically members of the court.

The Lord and Lady of May with their court will play a prominent parts in May Day this year. They first appear in the characteristic May Pole dance of Old England.

The theme upon which May Day will be based this year is one entirely new and significant. The tradition of the first observation of that festival in America, which Hawthorne immortalized in his famous story, "The May Pole of Merry Mount," will be portrayed. From that tragic celebration of Tom Morton and his memnokers who held a festival regardless of threatening Indians and stern Puritans amid the rockbound soil of New England, the May Day theme has borrowed dramatic situations, characters, and the initial events, but the conclusion will be omitted.

As usual the whole student body will participate in different phases of the May Day program.

Six girls for Ladies and six for Lord were nominated same time that the Lord and Lady of May were voted upon. These will comprise the May Court. On December eighth these nominees will be introduced in Sing and elected at that time.

The May Day Committee reports that an unusually large percentage took part in the vote for Lord and Lady and for the May Court.

National Secretary Visits Local Y. W.

Mrs. Wells Harrington, secretary of the National Student Council of the Y. W. C. A., was a guest on our campus Friday. Mrs. Harrington is visiting college Y. W. groups throughout Virginia and North Carolina holding meetings in which the work of the organization is presented to her for helpful suggestions and general help. Individual committees in our organization met with her and received very intelligent, useful suggestions for their work.

Friday afternoon following a general business meeting, with Mrs. Harrington presiding, the Social Committee served the Cabinet and guest in the Y. W. Lounge. In the evening, Mrs. Harrington conducted prayers beautifully in the large auditorium.

For some time, Mrs. Harrington, whose home originally was in

Continued on page 4

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Published by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as second class mater March 1, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

MEMBER
Associated Collegiate Press
1934 Collegiate Digest 1935
MADISON WISCONSIN

Staff

Lelia Mattox ..... Editor
Evelyn Massey ..... Associate Editor

Board of Editors

Miss Jane Royall ..... Alumnae
Amis Montgomery ..... News
Florence Sanford ..... Make-up
Kathryne Cotten ..... Literary
Anne Putney ..... World News
Anne Diggs ..... Social
Margaret Farrar ..... Feature
Lelia Sanford ..... Sports

Proof Reader.
Elizabeth Walton

Managers

Lena Mac Gardner ..... Business
Alva Sawyer ..... Asst. Business
Maude Rhodes ..... Circulation
Grace Collings ..... Asst. Circulation
Lila Jacob ..... Asst. Circulation

Assistants and Reporters

Birdie Wooding, Bonnie Lane, Laeta Barham, Minnie Smith, Susan Grasham, Mary Lee Newcomb, Elsie Cabell, Bess McGlothlin, Katherine Coleman, Merwyn Gathright, Kathleen Ranson

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 27, 1934

On Time

As a result of the request made by the Students Standards Committee Dr. Jarman has granted a three-day Thanksgiving holiday. Students may leave Wednesday at noon and return to classes Monday, and the time will be made up before and after Christmas.

The S. T. C. Thanksgiving tradition has been broken, but the substitution may prove to be successful. Whether the holiday is a success depends upon us, the students. Only by our complete support and cooperation will Dr. Jarman realize our appreciation and see that the new plan is for the best.

The "holiday spirit" is prevalent in school this week. We are looking forward to going home or visiting our friends. We'll be free from classes and our daily routine of school work. However, we must not let this spirit get too much control. We must not let our present anticipation of our memories when we return interfere with our school work.

It is entirely up to us by leaving and returning at the scheduled time to avoid any question as to whether the holiday should have been granted. If we will take only the time granted us we shall be cooperating with those who have made this holiday possible and be acting for our own good.

Let us return with rejuvenated spirits, ready for the work which faces us before Christmas.

Have You Ever Stopped To Think?

Every now and then, quite unintentionally, our manners become slack. The dining room, the auditorium and other places become like a madhouse rather than the meeting places of cultured young ladies. In the dining room a wave of "shu-shu-shuing" spreads until we are reminded of so many farm-hands driving a flock of chickens from a flower bed. Those who are in too much of a hurry to wait for the bell scrape their feet and chairs until it is almost rude to the girl reading announcements, and impossible for everyone to hear ones that may be very important. With just a little forethought Sunday dinner was made enjoyable because of the more quiet behavior. Many girls noted and remarked on this fact. Of course, we had guests, but in a way we have guests every day and should always be on our best behavior. We are our own guests; our own best friends. How do we like to be treated?

Have you ever stopped to think?

The Motion Should Be Passed

Perhaps few of us will consider seriously the motion to be voted on at student body meeting Monday night. Few of us will do more than term it "just some more red tape" and scratch a thoughtless "yes" or "no" on our ballot.

The question at issue is not red tape, to be dealt with in a casual manner. It is a vital problem as yet unsolved.

Will ability or politics determine who will hold the two important positions on The Rotunda and Virginian staffs?

That is the question. We must decide.

In deciding it we might consider these facts:

First, the duties of these officers—editor-in-chief and business manager of The Rotunda and of The Virginian—are largely technical. They are not comparable with the duties of the president of the student body, of the Y. W. C. A., and of the House Council.

Second, whereas the student body at large seldom knows the qualifications of the girls considered for these offices, the committee (to be composed of the student body president, the outgoing editors and faculty advisers) will be able to ascertain their fitness. It will be the business of the committee to know the girls and to know their capabilities. The measuring rod will be merit and merit alone. Political pull does many things, but political pull will not make a good editor out of a girl who simply isn't capable. The girl who will be appointed will be the one who has proved she can handle the job.

Third, though the recommended system of selecting officers has never been tried at S. T. C., it seems desirable.

"Let well enough alone," many will say. But when "well enough" is not satisfactory it is worthwhile to try something new.

Thanks For a Lovely Evening

(The Hampden-Sydney Tiger)

IT WAS evident to those who attended the S. C. A. party Tuesday that the Cabinet had spent considerable time and taken some pains to make the affair enjoyable for the student body. While the program did not offer a great variety of entertainment, it was nevertheless well organized and ran off smoothly. The diminutive and highly "colored" quartet, of course, stole the show from all the other participants, and if they did not succeed always in producing rich harmony, they did not fail to cause merriment throughout the crowd in their scramble for the pennies.

Not the least of the attractions of the party were the fifty or more S. T. C. girls who attended. Its rather an unusual sight and not at all unpleasant to see such a gathering of ladies in the gym. They added a charm and color to the party which would otherwise have been absent, and doutbless the number of boys there would have been appreciably less without such a drawing card. It seems appropriate to express here the appreciation of the students and the S. C. A. for the co-operation of the Y. W. C. A. of S. T. C. in arranging for the girls to attend. Miss Mary comes in for her share of the thanks, too. She was certainly gracious in allowing the girls to attend and in chaperoning them, especially since she was called on for the same service two nights later in the week.

Some people are extremists in their moderations.

Students of the Spanish-American war have concluded that Admiral Dewey took Vanilla.

The Hampden-Sydney RandolphMacon game Saturday afternoon was certainly a tight one, and from all reports some of the spectators were in the same condition.

Remarks Oft Overheard

I have insomnia.
—Grace Eubank

Ah, woe is me.
—Jean McClure

Have you seen Tom?
—Dot Justis

I'm so hungry.
—Sue Eastham

I have to see Miss Wheeler.
—Meg Herndon

Who wants to play bridge?
—Helen Harris

Don't forget to set the alarm clock.
—Florence Tankard

Why live?
—Virginia Jones

I want to get up for breakfast in the morning.
—Claudia Harper

Let's get dessert in the tea room.
—Virginia Baker.

Let's practice for the class Presentation.
—Tac Waters

Will I ever learn how to do "Dobbin"?
—Nancy Dodd

I've just got to see Charley.
—Lucille Moseley

I flunked my intelligence test because I didn't have my glasses.
—Addie Norfleet.

Do you know anybody going to Roanoke?
—Kitty Jamison

Some people have no sense of humor.
—Lena MacGardner.

I've never!
Wyc Scott

Now, don't get excited about it.
—Jestine Cutshall.

I'm on my way to "The Herald" office.
—Lelia Mattox.

Tap Dancing's my specialty.
—Louise Gathright.

I'm tired of living in Poverty Hollow.
—Virginia Rawlings.

I wonder where my husband is.
—Pat Nottingham.

Oh, please play, "When Day Is Done."
—Bug Byrd

Well, Janie, how're you doin'?
—Florence Sanford.

What did you say?
—Kitty Hoyle.

"Life—merely an unfortunate incident unduly prolonged."—Major T. Coulson.

Review of the News

Another naval conference appears to be foundering on the rocks of futility if rumors from Tokio, Washington and London bear weight. The Japanese seem eager to scrap the conference while English and American representatives are doing their best to keep the conference from coming to naught. The whole basis of discord came from Japan's protest at the disparity between her navy and those of the United States and Great Britain. It was reported that she had conceded to Great Britain a larger navy, but at the same time, she was said to have insisted that ours and hers be in equal ratio to that of England. The report was denied, however, by the Mikado's representative, Admiral Yamamoto. Japan, at present, demands absolute equality in number for all nations and maintains that each should build the types most suited to her needs. France and Italy stood by the United States and Great Britain in refusing parity to Japan. Japan even proposed equality to France and Italy in an attempt to swing them over to her side. From all actual reports of the conference, the beliefs of leading representatives of all nations, and active rumors, we judge that the London Conference is just another of the type we've had so often since the World War, and that it, like the majority of them, is doomed to failure.

Selected

The other day I heard a girl condemning another for something she herself had often done. It's strange, but some people use a magnifying glass when they really need a mirror.

All human beings are alike, and when you laugh at someone else, you are merely laughing at a counterpart of yourself.

There's no pleasing everyone. It is almost a certainty that when Commander Byrd returns from his exporing trip someone will wonder why he hasn't brought back a few icebergs.

No one is free from vanity. Cicero who declared that those philosophers who write books denouncing fame did not fail to sign their works. And Cicero himself didn't fail to say, "Ego."

Alumnae News

Alumnae Chapter Sponsers Party

A most enjoyable benefit bridge, sponsored by the local chapter of Farmville alumnae, was held Tuesday evening, Nov. 20, at Longwood. Miss Alice Carter was hostess to the following guests: Miss Bessie Coleman of New York, Misses Lila and Willie London, Miss Sara B. Tucker, Mrs. S. L. Graham, Miss Helen Draper, Mrs. Hunter Nickols and Miss Mary Nickols. Others playing were: Mr. R. Y. Stokes, Mrs. J. P. Andrews, Mrs. F. S. Farrar, Mrs. F. V. Shelton, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nat Watkins, Mrs. Joel Watkins, Miss Willie Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nat Watkins, Mrs. Joel Watkins, Miss Willie Carter, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Garland, Mrs. Dwight Rivers, Mrs. J. C. Bondurant, Dr. and Mrs. T. A. Whitaker, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Henderlite, Miss Mary Barrow, Miss Nellie Crute, Mr. Beryl Young, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Young, Tommy Layne, Mrs. Sam Holton, Mrs. A. T. Gray, Miss Sybil Henry, Mrs. Fred Hanbury, Mrs. Harry Kayton, Mrs. R. L. Robertson, Mrs. S. C. Bliss, Mrs. R. H. Dugger, Miss Florence Stubbs, Mrs. Boyd Coyner, and Mrs. John Cox. Cut prises were awarded to Miss Helen Draper, Miss Bessie Coleman and Robert Henderlite.

Miss Virginia Hamilton Weds Army Officer

Miss Virginia Willson Hamilton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Donnan Hamilton of Petersburg, was married Thursday evening, Nov. 22, in a quiet ceremony to Lieutenant Roy Tripp Evans, Jr., United States Army. The ceremony was performed in the home of the bride's parents at 8 o'clock with the Rev. J. Edwin Hemphill, D. D., and the Rev. J. M. B. Gill, D. D., as the officiating clergymen. Lieutenant Evans is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Tripp Evans of Pawtucket, R. I.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin. Her maid of honor and only attendant was Miss Nancy Harrison, whose frock was of blue velvet.

Mr. Roy Costello of Pawtucket served Lieutenant as best man. A small reception followed the ceremony at the bride's home.

Miss Trimyer's Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Hervey Linwood Trimyer announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Linwood, to Mr. Charles L. Eason. The wedding will take place on Saturday afternoon, Dec. 1, at 4 o'clock at Larchmont Baptist Church, Norfolk, Va.

Does the Cap Fit You?

She thinks the dictionary is the universal book for pressing flowers.

He's the kind of professor who talks more eloquently after his class has gone to sleep.

She studies for tests by the question and answer method; she asks the questions, and somebody else gives the answers.

Her disposition is in a permanent state of indidestion; she disagrees with everything.

She dances with a decided lisp.

He's a proud man and proud of his pride.

He has a famous quotation for every occasion.

She studies by the lip-moving system.

She "passes the buck" with magnificent nonchalance.

She's as undependable as sunshine in April.

She's the kind of person who doesn't close the door for a confidential talk.

Her voice is like that of a bird excited over a new worm.

She never thinks of heaven except in the terms of jazz.

He's the kind of man who looks "D——!" and says "Oh, dear!"

POETRY

For An Autumn Festival

And we, today amidst our flowers
And fruits, have come to own again
The blessings of the summer hours,
The early and latter rain.

To see our Father's hand once more
Reverse for us the plenteous horn
Of autumn, filled and running o'er
With fruit, and flower, and golden corn!

Once more with harvest song and shout
Is Nature's bloodless triumph told.

O favors every year made new!
O gifts with rain and sunshine sent!
The bounty overruns our due,
The fullness shames our discontent.

—Whittier.

Autumn

A touch of cold in the Autumn night—
I walked abroad,
And saw the ruddy moon lean over a hedge
Like a red-faced farmer.
I did not speak but nodded,
And round about were the wistful stars
With white faces like town children.

—T. E. Hulme.

Autumn Bird

In autumn pastures where a bird had flown
I sought behind the curtains of the wind.
It wasn't any bird that I had known.
I followed it to leave my heart alone.

What bird it was it swiftly interlined
The meadow fence, and lo,
It left me thinking that my eyes were blind.
Losing a bird so quickly, undefined.

It may have been that autumn's waning glow
Had seared my sight. It may have been that kind
Of bird that is less bird than hint of snow.
Perhaps it was the autumn I saw go.

—Howard McKinley Corning.

Autumn

The music of the autumn wind sings low,
Down by the ruins of the painted hills.
Where death lies flaming with a marvelous glow,
Upon the ash of rose and daffodils.
But I can find no melancholy here
To see the naked rocks and thin ing trees;
Earth strips to grapple with the winter year.
I see her gnarled hills plan for victories!

I love the earth who goes to battle now,
To struggle with the wintry whipping storm.
And bring the glorious spring out from the night.
I see earth's muscles bared, her battle brow,
And am not sad, but feel her marvelous brow.
And am not sad, but feel her marvelous charm
As splendidly she plunges in the fight.

—Edwin Curran.

November Night

Listen . . . .
With faint dry sound,
Like steps of passing ghosts,
The leaves, frost-crisp'd break from the trees
And fall.

—Adelaide Crapsey.

You can't expect your ship to come in unless you send one out.
—Old Gold and Black.

SOCIALS

Although Thanksgiving holidays are almost here, a few girls went away last week-end.

At Home

Those who spent the week-end at home were: Frances Elder, Clara Hailey, Edna Harvey, Mary Roberta Haskins, Frances Jones, Eugenia Jolly, Frances Jamerson, Mary Elizabeth Newcomb, Pauline Pearson, Charlotte Rice, Dorothy Rhodes, Marjorie Ramey, Bebe Russell, Nannie Page Trent, Ivlyn Jordan, Ethel Burgess, Mary Phipps, Paige Magee, Virginia Payne, and Ida Sue Carter.

In Richmond

Ione Covert, Virginia Martin, Virginia Tissue, Frankie McDaniel, Lena Mac Gardner, Jestine Cutshall, Katherine Young, Elizabeth Spitler, Burnley Brockenbrough, Janice White, Marjorie Booten, Dorothy Glover, Caroline Byrd, and Kitty Hoyle, spent the week-end in Richmond.

To Other Places

Those who went to other places were: Edith Coffey to Drakes Branch; Grace Collins, Martha Hamlet, and Lucille Rhodes to Wyllesburg; Audrey Clements to Hopewell; Winifred Goodman to Lexington; Evelyn Knaub to Keysville; Josephine Kent to Amberts; Norvell Montague to Lawenceville; Margaret Pollard to Berryville; Marjorie Robertson to Dillwyn, Mena Smelley, and Virginia Pilcher to Burkeville; Gay Stiffen to Roanoke; Charlotte Young to Crewe; Katherine Milby to Lynchburg; Agnes Thompson and Sara Beck to Petersburg, and Audrey Wilson to Pamplin.

Sorority Parties

Pi Kappa Sigma Has Banquet

The Pi Kappa Sigma Sorority had its fall banquet in the Tea Room, Saturday night, Nov. 23. Mrs. Stokes, Miss Mix, and Miss Iler were the guests. The alumnae present were: Mary Diehl, Jane Royal, Mary Virginia Johnson, and Mrs. Dorothy Watkins Eppes.

Zeta Tau Has Tea

The Zeta Tau chapter entertained at a tea on Sunday afternoon from 5 until 6 o'clock. The room was attractively decorated with autumn leaves, Fanny Bosworth was assisted in serving by Elizabeth Spitler and Merwyn Gathright. During the evening the members of Zeta Tau enjoyed an entertaining radio program.

In addition to the active members of the sorority, Miss Grace Mix, Miss Virginia Bedford, and Miss Mary Nichols were present.

Mu Omega Entertains At Tea

Sue Waldo and Ellen Mason were hostesses at the Mu Omega tea given in the chapter room from 4 until 6 o'clock, Sunday afternoon. Miss Wheeler, adviser of Mu Omega, and Miss Peck were guests at the tea.

Miss Marjorie Ramey Weds O. H. Chapman

Marjorie Ramey, of Danville, Va., was married Sunday night, Nov. 25, to Oliver H. Chapman of Smithfield, Va.

Mrs. Chapman was a sophomore here this year. The couple were married in South Mills, N. C., it was learned last night.

David Grainger to do Dr. Jarman's Portrait

Continued from page one

This year he entered line drawings in the New York exhibition of the Salons of America, Inc., at the Forum Galleries of the Rockfeller Center. Two of his drawings were sold to visitors at this exhibit which covered three miles of wall space.

"St. George and the Dragon," one of his better known pieces of sculpture, is his conception of the famous legend of the slaying of the monster by the Red Cross Knight. There is a possibility that he may chisel this same statue in Tennessee marble.

David Grainger, who is by way of being a local boy since he went through the Training School and then Farmville High School, will returne to Farmville from New Haven Christmas, especially to do the portrait bust of Dr. Jarman.

Hampden-Sydney Homecoming Dances Are Well Attended

The German Club of Hampden-Sydney College held its opening dances, November 23 and 24, Johnny Long and his Duke Collegians playing.

The Duke Collegians are recognized as one of the finest college bands in the country. The Collegians played for the Hampden-Sydney Pan-Hellenic dances last January and for the S. T. C. Cotillion dance, November 3.

The usual set of three dances was held. The dance Friday night from 10 to 2 o'clock was formal. Saturday afternoon there was a dansant after the game and an informal dance from 9 to 12 p. m.

It is the consensus of opinion that the dance Saturday night was more enjoyable than it was Friday night because a greater number of stags attended. These were chiefly alumni visitors, and the Randolph-Macon team.

The S. T. C. girls and their escorts attended the dance were:

Virginia Bean-Jordan Temple.
Mary Bowles-Billy Hopstetter.
Kitty Chappelle-Watkin Morton.
Louise Floyd-Max Whitlock.
Jennie Belle Gilliam-R. Wiesiger.
Emily Guy-Charles Smith.
Mildred Habel-Will Sydnor.
Chaligne Hall-Pearson Witchell.
Virginia Hall-Jack Gray.
Elizabeth Harris-Brown Edmunds.
Kathryn Harvey-James Davidson.
Annie Holden-Jimmie Price.
Zell Hopkins-Dick Lewis.
Anne Irving-Green Lawson.
Lucille Davis—Morton Barbour.
Frances Robinson-Charlie Bernier.
Nan Seward-Billy Crawford.
Lucy Potter-R. T. Bowen.
Dot Price Woodrow Wilkerson.
Frances Parker-Billy Blandford.
Isabel Plummer-Fred Robertson.
Zilla Newsom—Junie Blake.
Jean McClure—Shag Sawyer.
Ruth Montgomery-Gus Mayes.
Amis Montgomery-C. V. Montgomery.
Eleanor Mitchell-Welford Sanders.
Dorothy Justis-Tom Noble.
Pattie Jeffreys-A. Adams.
Dorothy Rust-Arthur Jennings.
Helen Shawen-Cas Hardway.
Minnie Smith-Rooker White.
Martha Stine-Billy Willis.
Carter Belle Munt-Fred Williams.
Mary Lynn Thomas-Henry Mosby.
Zaida Thomas-Mosby Phleger.
Frances Tilman-Frank Boldwin.
Virginia Tilman-Bob Teter.
Evelyn Wilson-C. Sheffield.
Frances Woodhouse-Tay Jones.
Ellen Simmerman-Rudy Young.
Nancy Beard-Sam Harding.
Margaret Long-Bowen Royall.
Mary Hubard-W. D. Temple.
Frances Britton Arley Hayman.
Elizabeth Butterworth-J. R. Doyle.
Chic Dortch-W. B. Leftwich.
Elise Marshourn-Carter Spencer.
Kathleen McCann-Val Oarman.
Katherine Switzer-Reese Russell.
Elizabeth Carroll-William Warren.
Leslie Bradshaw-John Coulburn.
Elizabeth Harris-O. B. Watson.
Eugenia Jolly-Dick Lewis.
Evelyn Knaux-Barbee Betts.
Evelyn Massey-John Waggener.
Eleanor Mitchell-Welford Sanders.
Billy Rountree-Mr. Rieves.
Katherine Young-Dave Holland.

The modern girl adores spinning wheels but she wants four of them and a spare.

We notice from The Bullet, Fredericksburg S. T. C. newspaper, that the "Campus Characters" defeated Farmville in the hockey tournament at Randolph-Macon. The final score, we thought, was 1-1. Don't tell us our goal didn't count!

The girl who marries a man with money to burn usually makes a good match.

Among the Alumnae

Unique and interesting achievements and adventures of our alumnae are told in this column. The Rotunda requests that clippings, letters, and information about the doings of former Farmville students be sent to Mr. James M. Grainger.

One of S. T. C.'s most effective leaders in church and mission work visited Farmville, Friday, Nov. 23, in connection with the educational program of the Methodist Church. She is Miss Constance Rumbough of the class of 19914, now children's secretary in the women's work of the Board of Mission of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. For this position the board brought her home from successful missionary work in Russian Manchuria when war threatened that part of Asia. With her also was a former member of our faculty, Miss Elizabeth Jarrett, now in charge of church work for children in the Virginia Conference of the same church.

In the "Old Normal School," just twenty years ago, Constance Rumbough, a Lynchburg girl, stood out, said Dr. C. W. Stone, then head of the Department of Education, as "one of the best of our best". She left an excellent record in "the office" and even got E on teaching in the Fourth Grade, which meant, not "conditioned," as today but excellent plus. She engaged actively in Y. W. C. A. and literary society work and was an all-round superior student.

She has travelled about in all parts of the South, initiating and organizing the educational missionary activities among the children and young people, gatherng materials and a vast amount of valuable experience. The main objective of this work, next to its immediate educational aim, is the bring about of world peace through education.

"World friendship is the guiding principle in all our work with the children. That real contacts are being made between our children and those of various nations and classes is indicated by the stream of letters, the pictures, scrap books, and gifts that daily pass through our office, as they go back and forth between them. For besides growing in respect, sympathy, and understanding for other people through their studies, our children are learning that sharing is a law that must be observed in friendship" — "Thus as the children have these contacts, they are developing a friendship for the children of the world which will one day make war impossible."

Miss Rumbough's visit to Farmville was the first in twenty years. She stated that she had felt her first call to the mission field while here as a student under the influence of the Y. W. C. A., and that the deeply religious atmosphere of this school has been a determining factor in her life. Her friends here regret that she was not able to stay long enough to speak before all the students.

Y. W. Accepts S. C. A. Invitation to Party; Lively Music Program

Many of the S. T. C. girls went to the social given by the S. C. A. of Hampden-Sydney last Tuesday night. Buck Ale, chairman of the Social Committee, gave a welcome and introduced Meg Herndon who divided the company into four groups, representing the season's of the year. Each group gave a stunt characteristic of its season.

The Hampden-Sydney Collegians, making their first appearance of the year, entertained with a thirty-minute program of popular hits. The orchestra was under the leadership of "Tub" Oliver. There were vocals by "Tub" himself and "Ginger" Martin, the torch singer. Staton Noel sang three popular solos—"Home on the Range"", "Sylvia", and "Going Home." The most attractive feature of the evening was the Colman Brothers quartet. The members of this quartet—four little colored boys between the ages of three and twelve years—sang a number of spirituals. As a final feature, the Glee Club under the direction of Hugh White presented a short program.

The Social Committee served refreshments. Everyone entered into the life of the social so that the informality added to the spirit of the party.

Acting Group Shows Definite Progression

Continued from page one

been given in the large auditorium. The first was "The Hero," a lovely poetical play which required dramatic ability in order to get the thought and mood of the lines across to the audience. "A Night at the Inn," the second play, also proved to be a difficult one. Both of these plays have called mostly for new parts which is excellent training for any acting apprentice as she must lose herself in an entirely different character that necessitates a definite change in voice as well as in gestures and bodily movements.

The next play will be "Spreading the News" and it is already well under way. If the director and the group are successful in obtaining the play, they hope to make the very popular one-act comedy, "Romance is a Racket" their last production before the apprentices are initiated.

High School Students Present Play Nov. 23

"Tommy's Wife," a comedy in three acts, was presented by the students of Curdsville High School Friday evening, Nov. 23. The play was coached by Mary Gilmer and Wycliff Scott. Florence Sanford and Frances Yester gave several tap dances between acts and Grace Eubank played the piano.

The members of the Curdsville Community League served supper to the student teachers and those helping with the entertainment.

S. A. Legus
TAILOR
CLEANING
PRESSING
REPAIRING
Phone 203

C. E. Chappell Co.
Stationery, Blank Books and School Supplies
Cigars, Cigarettes and Soda
Farmville, Virginia

Rice's Shoe Store
Street and Dress Shoes
Dancing Slippers Dyed
Correct fits our specialty

Kleanwell
CLEANERS AND TAILORS
Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling ladies garments
Main Street, opposite Post office
Phone 98

Gray's Drug Store
QUALITY—PRICE—SERVICE
Come in and Get Acquainted
We are glad to have you with us!
Farmville, Virginia

Mack's
BARBER AND BEAUTY SHOP
323 Main Street
We use the Frederick Method
Hair cutting and thinning a Specialty

PRINTING.....
When you think of Printing think of
—The—
FARMVILLE HERALD

GOLDSTRIPE HOSIERY, sheerest, finest and best wearing hose in America—in all the new winter shades. Buy one of these and you will always be a Goldstripe wearer
Per pair $1.00
RAINCAPES—Colors of the Rainbow.
Special $1.00
Newest Tree Bark Shoes
DRESS TIES, PUMPS OR SPORT OXFORDS.
Special this week ..... $3.95 Values $2.95
THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE
Farmville's Best Place to Shop!

—FOR—
EVERYTHING—SCHOOL SUPPLIES, CANDIES, FRUITS, CONFECTIONS, ETC.
GO TO.....
GILLIAM'S
Open 'till 9:00 p. m.

SHOES For All Occasions

Evening—Dress—Sports—Street Wear
$2.95 to $5.95
DAVIDSON'S

ARE YOU INTERESTED?
JACKETS of Grain and Suede Cloth and Wool SWEATERS.
We are showing the season's newest. Come in. We are glad to show—Just what we have—and the line is very attractive.
VERSER'S

PHILCO RADIO
World's largest manufacturers of Radio
A complete line
Watch repairing a specialty
Sheet Music—Strings for Instruments
LYNN, The Main Street Jeweler

YOUR NEIGHBOR,
The Weyanoke Beauty Salon
invites you to drop in and take advantage of their Special prices now in effect.
Permanent Waves—$4 & $6 Shampoo & Fingerwave 75 cents
Manicure 40 cents
Indiivdual, courteous, efficient service and an established reputation for dependability and satisfaction. That is our guarantee, and your assurance of perfect workmanship.

Sporting Whirl

By L. SANFORD

With the announcement of Thanksgiving holidays, the dates for interclass hockey games were changed as follows: Tuesday, Nov. 27, 3:30, freshmen vs. sophomores; 4:30 P. M., Juniors versus Seniors, with the final game to be played after Thanksgiving.

Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 19, our freshman hockey team played the College High School, the final score being 1-0 in favor of the freshmen. The two teams were exceptionally well matched, making the game one of hard and continuous playing. College High School team showed superior passwork throughout a large part of the game. Edna Bolick, playing left-inside for the Freshmen, scored the only goal of the game.

The line-up was as follows:

Freshmen		C. H. S.
Carter	R.W.	Mann
McAllister	R.I.	Overton
Gilliam	C.F.	Newman
Bolick	L.I.	Crenshaw
Mann	L.W.	M. Wilkerson
Roache	R.H.	L. Wilkerson
Jordan	C.H.	Solomon
Rylam	L.H.	Geyer
McGlothlin	R.F.	Barlow
Latimer	L.F.	Cobb
Baily	G.	Jones

College High School varsity hockey team played Petersburg High School Thursday, Nov. 22, on the college field. The final score was 3-1, favoring College High School.

Again C. H. S. showed splendid work in passing, scoring twice in the last few minutes of the game. The strongest opposition came from the goal-keeper of the P. H. S. team, who intercepted and blocked shot after shot for the goal.

The return game was played in Petersburg on Saturday, Nov. 24. The score for this game was tied at 3-3.

Sara Beck and Louise Walmsley, coaches, accompanied the team to Petersburg.

The interclass swimming meet will be held tonight at 8:30. Contestants are to be judged on form and scored accordingly. The final score will be figured freshmen, juniors vs. sophomores, seniors.

Quarterly Publication Commends E. Walton

Continued from page one

committees, the Rotunda (weekly) staff, the Virginian (annual) staff, was president of Alpha Phi Sigma (freshman scholarship honorary), member of the Dramatic Club, Le Circle Francais, the Chapel attendance committee and May Day Committee."

Miss Tucker Sees President Installed

Continued from page one

hundred alumnae were entertianed by the College.

After the main exercises, a dinner was given the guests in the large dining room. The toastmistress was the president of the Alumnae Association, who pledged the loyalty and support of the alumnae to the new president. The president of the student body, representatives from the American Association of College and the American Association of Women also gave toasts.

In the afternoon President and Mrs. Shelton Phelps entertained at a reception for the faculty and guests in their home.

Winthrop College featured Miss Kathryn Meisle, leading contralto Metropolitan Opera Company, in a concert for the guests that evening.

National Secretary Visits Local Y. W.

Continued from page one

Mississippi, served as the Southern Regional Secretary, and is now doing graduate work at the Theological Seminary in New York. She is intensely interested in the present World Fellowship Movement and for the past six years has been one of the outstanding conference leaders at the Blue Ridge Assembly. Some of our students have had the pleasure of working with her there and were particularly glad to join in welcoming her on our campus, in renewing her acquaintance, and in receiving her assistance in the work of our Y. W. C. A.

Sadness

Spirit in me,
Why are you so sad?
Is it that men are still but men
And know no other way?

Over the hills
Gone and faded the goldengarlaned trees . . .
Autumn has come . . .
In the soft sadness of her mists,
You may discover
A memory of the joys
Of summer past,
And there forget
What now are,
And long
What men may be.

—F. S. Flint.

Playwright Asks For College Movies

Would Aid Study and Develop Latent Talent

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., (NSFA), Nov. 26—Returning from the Broadway opening of his latest play, "Roll Sweet Chariot," Paul Green, Professor of Philosophy at the University of North Carolina, prominent playwright, Pulitzer Prize winner and scenarist of many Hollywood productions, urged undergraduates to take up moving picture production.

"With sufficient financial backing," he said, "any little theater group could set up a studio and produce films of great artistic value. Not having to please the masses for financial success as do the professional producers, the amateurs will be free to experiment as will with the cinema. The classics and high class contemporary works will furnish their subject matter; the educated few, their audiences."

Coincidentally, Dr. Robert E. Blackwell, president of Randolph-Macon College in Ashland, celebrated his eightieth birthday, Nov. 14, and on Nov. 19 Dr. Jarman was guest of honor at the birthday party in the S. T. C. dining room.

That Florida is a veritable land of youth is proved by the fact that the Three Score and Ten Club is one of the most popular in Miami. To be eligible for this club, one must be at least 70 years old.

To Miami, the Monte Carlo of America, the sporting blood, though three score and ten years old, gathers regularly for the season from December to May.

Arthur Brisbane, at one time world's highest paid columnist, is among those notables, who are defying their three score and ten years and keeping their spirits young at Miami, their "Fountain of Youth."

Anthony Adverse

Hervey Allen: Publ. Farrar and Rinehart, New York, 1224 pages. Price $3.50

We know Hervey Allen as the author who has written a twelve hundred and twenty-four page work of fiction in an era of short novels and who has lived to see his book grow in popularity and acclaim. He is remembered also for his Israfel, a highly sensitive treatment of the life of Poe.

Allen has sustained himself throughout the entire characterization of Anthony Adverse; he does not let one down, annoyingly, after a few hundred pages. He prepares minutely for the arrival of his main character; and, Anthony, having arrived, carries the story with him to its conclusion.

The first book gives us the illegitimate child of Maria, a young and gentle Scotswoman and Denis Moore, her youthful lover. Don Luis, Maria's cruelly jealous husband, arranges for her death and takes the child secretly to a convent. The child is Anthony, surnamed Adverse because of his unfortunate arrival into the world.

In Anthony we have the sensitive characteristics of a child, who for a time, is influenced by the convent life of purity and unworldliness, but who is filled with curiosity about those things of life which are out of his physical reach, but are not out of his mind. Throughout the entire story, Anthony is asking the why of people, situations—the why of life itself. The influences which act upon him never answer fully for him the questions he asks.

There was Father Xavier with his knowledge of the classics and his fear of the world; there was Bonnyfeather with his knowledge of business and his sound philosophy of life; Toussaint the radical, the questioner of motives; Faith, the mysterious, who planned secretively, but who was lost through the physical; Angela with her purity and naivete; Don Luis with his Spanish hatred of that which he suspected Anthony to be.

Father Xavier nurtured Anthony but could not hold him from the world; Bonnyfeather broadened him, but he could not check his curiosity about the mystery of life; Toussaint stirred him, but he did not convince him; Faith awakened him physically, but destroyed, to an extent, his personal integrity; Angela loved him but refused to hold him; Don Luis aroused in him the hatred of a unknown and feared bond of an earlier life linked with his. An oft-recurring strain, the influence of the jewelled madonna, which had come into his possession, he knew not how dimly made itself felt as the key, ill-fitting though it was, to what he was seeking.

It is notable in the development of Anthony as a person, in the final sublimation of all these influences, that he found a certain quiet satisfaction with Florence as his wife. She loved him devotedly; he loved her without passion—he had left that part of his life.

With the tragic death of Florence and children, he again asks, "Why?" He goes away alone, realizing the neecssity to be with nature, and not with man. It is here that he finds his answer—the answer for which he has sought through the jewelled madonna; and which nature and her healing power give to him.

Allen has written a stirring tale of a man's unending quest for spiritual satisfaction through a philosophy of life. He has clothed his story in words beautiful and moving, stately in their weave, as is the plot he unfolds.

You are Invited to a Showing of

GUGGENHEIMER'S

BEAUTIFUL FOOTWEAR

at the

HOTEL WEYANOKE

Wednesday, December 5

10 A. M. to 9 P. M.

EACO THEATRE

Mats. 4 p. m.; Nights 8 p. m.
Adults 25c; Children 15c
Unless otherwise noted

Thursday and Friday Nov. 29 and 30

Frederic March
Norma Shearer
"The Barrets of Wimpole Street"

Midnight Show
Thanksgiving Night
at 11 o'clock
"The Capt. Hates the Sea"

Saturday, Dec. 1—News

Eddie Quillen
Betty Furniss
"Gridiron Flash"

Walter Winchell in Novelty

Next Monday and Tues. Dec. 3 and 4

Shirley Temple
Gary Cooper, Carole Lomb'd
'Now and Forever'

Next Wed., Dec. 5

Rbt. Montgomery
Maureen O'Sullivan
"Hide Out"
Chapt. 7 "Red Rider"

Shannon's
Is Headquarters for the Best
SANDWICHES
—and—
DRINKS
in Farmville!

Special orders for
Teas and Parties
Try our doughnuts
Foley's Bakery
Third Street

WILLIS
The Florist
Flowers for all occastons
PHONES 181-273

Conoco Gas and Oil
Fill up at
Johns Motor Co.
Farmville, Va.

Martin the Jeweler
Gifts of
Lasting Remembrance
317 Main St. Farmville

POTTED MEATS
SANDWICH SPREAD
SANDWICH ROLLS
HOT DOGS
Everything for the Picnic
W. R. Drumeller
Main Street Farmville

Cleaning at reduced rates
State Cleaning Co.
Third Street

SUPPERS AND
SMALL PARTIES
Good Breakfast
Dinners
Suppers
College Tea Room
and
LONGWOOD

Buy Your
CANDY
To Sell at
H. T. Stokes & Co.

G. F. Butcher
High Street
"The Convenient Store"
FOR GOOD THINGS
TO EAT AND DRINK

Electric Shoe Shop
Will Fix Your Shoes
While You Wait
BEST WORKMANSHIP
AND LEATHER USED

Southside Drug Store
(On the Corner)
Films Developed FREE
If bought at this store

The Schemmel Conservatory of Music
Offers interesting instruction by Artist Teachers, arranged to suit the needs of each pupil. Piano: Elsa Schemmel Fairchild, Marie Schemmel Shroder. Voice: Mattie Spencer Willis. Violin: Richmond Seay of Blackstone College.

Farmville Mfg. Co.
BUILDING MATERIALS
MILLWORK
Farmville, Va.

You Would Love to Have Your Shoes Fixed at
Lovelace Shoe Shop
110 Third Street

ROOM FURNISHINGS
SCHOOL SUPPLIES
CANDIES
ROSES
5-10-25c Store
FARMVILLE, VA.

Overton-Mottley Hdwe. Co.
ELECTRIC GOODS/
Tennis Rackets and balls
Roller Skates

The Fashion Shoppe
Reflects the newest styles. All dresses $2.95 up
COATS, SUITS, DRESSES, UNDERWEAR
Silk Hose
Fine quality ..... 49c 59c and 69c

Warner's "True - Lift" Brassieres
GIRDLES—CORSELETTES
Come in today and see the many new foundation garments created especially for the college styles.
BALDWIN'S
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

WE ARE FIRST TO SHOW THE NEWEST!
New French Berets with Triangular Scarfgs to match—football colors. Special 97c
ALLEN A. new winter shades, in Sheer, Chiffon HOSIERY. They have that Certain Thing called "IT." You will love them ..... 69c pr.
Just received new shipment of Holiday Dresses in three price groups ..... $5.45——$7.45
YOUR ROOMMATE SHOPS HERE — ASK HER — SHE KNOWS — IT PAYS TO BUY AT
DOROTHY MAY STORES
FARMVILLE, VA.

NO ROTUNDA NEXT WEEK

The Rotunda

We Teach To Teach

NEXT ROTUNDA JANUARY 9, 1935

Volume XV. FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, DECEMBER 12, 1934 No. 11

Depression Breaks For Seniors; Dance Saturday Success In Many Respects

Music By "Pinkie" Harper's Southside Club Orchestra

The seniors can boast that their year's production — the dance Saturday night — is successfully over, with comparatively little time and work having been expended on it. Financially, for the seniors, the dance was a distinct success. Katherine Young, in charge of the ticket sale, reports that the class cleared approximately one hundred dollars on the dance.

More students and guests attended the dance than the committee in charge had anticipated, and from nine-thirty o'clock until intermission there was hardly "dancing room" for anyone. The crowd thinned out after intermission.

Despite the fact that the music by "Pinkie" Harper's Southside Orchestra could hardly be heard, the consensus of opinion is that the dance was "fine for the price." Many who attended say that the proportional number of stags made the senior dance better than the fall Cotillion dance.

"Tub" Oliver, director of the Hampden-Sydney Collegians, and Virginia Martin, local torch singer, sang several popular pieces.

During the twenty-minute intermission from 10:30 until 10:50 o'clock a unique floor show was presented. The senior quartet—Jestine Cutshall, Jean McClure, Frankie McDaniel, and Nell Oakey Ryan—sang "Lost in a Fog." Dot Justis was encored for singing "Sweetie Pie." Margaret McNamara, Lelia Mattox, and Nell Oakey Ryan ended the floor show with a Pirate Dance.

For the dance Janice White and her committee had decorated the gymnasium attractively with tinseled cedars and greens which ushered in something of the Yuletide spirit.

The records show that the following boys attended the senior dance Saturday night:

Spencer Mullen, Bill Formwalt, Jack Pobst, Clarence Shelbourne, Jiggs Gee, Marion Gee, Harry Grubbs, Jim Hunter, Walter Hylton, Bill Price, William Lipscomb, Ted Tower, John Coulbourn, Arley Hayman, John Custard, Dick Burwell, Kemp Plumer,

Continued page 3, column 2

Students Vote On Election Question

That the editors-in-chief and business managers of both The Rotunda and The Virginian will be appointed in the spring by a committee rather than elected by the student body, as formerly, was the result of the vote cast in the student body meeting, Dec. 3.

No commitee to make the appointment was designated, but the retiring editor, a faculty adviser, and the student body president will probably compose this committee.

Acting on the recommendation which came from the Student Council the student body voted in the November meeting that the motion to adopt this recommendation be laid on the table. The motion was carried in the December meeting by a majority vote.

As there was no change in the system of electing the other major officers they will be elected, as usual, by the student body in the spring.

Miss Iler Captains Sophomore Sailors

Caroline Jones, president of the sophomore class, presented Miss Iler, sophomore classman, in chapel this morning.

An ocean voyage was the theme carried out in the presentation. The sophomore class marched into the auditorium, singing, "Green and White" and their class song. On the stage five sailors, June Allen, Anthelia Robinette, Zeil Hopkins, Nellie Pierpont, and Mary Alice Woods anchored the ship of '37. The class officers, Caroline Jones, Julia Derr, Mary Bowles, and Martha Stine escorted the captain, Miss Iler, aboard, while the sailors danced a jolly "hornpipe" in her honor.

After Caroline's presentation speech the class rose and sang their song to Miss Iler. With the encouraging words, "Sail on, nor fear to breast the sea," the class of '37 "left port for its second voyage."

Members of Faculty Attend V. E. A. Meet November 28, 29, 30

Dr. Wynne and Dr. Jeffers went as delegates from S. T. C. to the annual convention of the Virginia Education Association which met in regular session in Richmond, Nov. 28, 29, and 30. Dr. Jarman, Miss Camper, Mr. McCorkle, Mrs. Taylor Miss Carter Miss Tucker, Miss Penny, Miss Iler, Miss Mary Clay Hiner, Miss Nichols, Miss Rice, Miss Smithey, Misses Lila and Willie London, Miss Pierce, Miss Mix, Miss Stubbs, and Miss Moran also attended the meeting.

Dr. Jarman, Miss Lila London, and Miss Carrie B. Tallaferro led departmental or group discussions. Dr. Jarman and Miss London conducted a panel discussion on "Some Implications of the Revised Curriculum for Teacher-Training." Misses Tallaferro and London took leading parts in the meetings of the Teachers of the Mathematics Departments for Secondary and Elementary Schools. Dr. Jeffers was made president of the Science Section.

Dr. Fanny W. Dunn, first supervisor of Rural Education at Farmville, was one of the outstanding speakers of the convention. In her address at the Rural Supervisors' luncheon she emphasized the valuable parts of the new curriculum, and gave helpful criticism to be followed in

Continued Page 4, Col. 3

Sophomore President

Caroline Jones

Honorary Society Stages Latin Play

Sigma Pi Rho presented a Latin play in three scenes in the small auditorium, at 7:30 p. m., Friday, Dec. 7. The play, A Roman Wedding, by Susan Paxson, was directed by Katharine Walton. Faculty and students were invited to attend.

The first scene of the play depicted the betrothal of Tullia, daughter of Cicero and Terentia, to Galus Piso, son of Lucius Piso. Then followed the wedding ceremony which was made impressive by the offering and prayers of priests. The third scene, showing the reception at the bride's home, was made real by the cutting of the wedding cake. After the procession to the groom's house, the play ended when the bride, having been lifted over the threshold and given the keys of the house, before the altar prayed to Juno.

The bride wore a dress of white cheese cloth with a scarlet girdle. Her veil was pale yellow. Terentia, mother of the bride, was dressed in purple cheese cloth and an orange cape. Those playing the part of men in the play wore tunics with sheets, as togas, draped over them. Piso and Cicero wore "laurel" wreathes of ivy. Little Marcus and the slave were distinguished by tunics. All wore sandals.

The characters were protrayed well. The role of Cicero was taken by Margaret Pollard, Terentia by Lila Jacob, the bride by Mary Gilmer, the groom by Anne Putney, and little Cicero by Doris Moore.

Those students and faculty members who saw the play reported it interesting and remarked about the similarity of a Roman wedding to one of today.

First Snowfall of Season Brings Fun and Frolic to S. T C.

Strange what a few inches of snow will do to a college campus!

When old King Winter heaved a sigh of north wind and settled down to real business early Tuesday morning he wrought some interesting changes at S. T. C.

"It's snowing!" shouted some diligent girl addicted to early rising.

"Snowing!" echoed the gleeful cry from hall to hall.

With that the whole of S. T. C. was astir. Many a late sleeper ventured out to breakfast just for the sheer fun of it.

The fast falling flakes gave habitual day dreamers something to stare at; even attentive students found it difficult to resist an occasional glance at the fascinating panorama of a whitening world.

When six hundred customarily bare headed lasses blossom out in bonnets of all descriptions, it creates a real spectacle. Cocked hats, tams—anything in the way of head gear was donned, perhaps in honor of the occasion—the first snowfall.

Many a senior sacrificed her traditional dignity and performed unique gymnastics in descending the hill from Senior Building.

Sleigh riding on Buffalo Hill presented a real temptation, widely yielded to when Miss Mary grandted all students permission to indulge.

Perhaps the finest treat of all have been the capers cut by the faculty members. Their philosophical looks of non-concern quickly transformed themselves into serious contemplation of the problem at hand—to make as uneventful expedition up the street, when one or two of them missed their calculations — well, what girl would help laughing up her sleeve?

If one loves the snow, it is a sure sign that he hasn't grown old, it is said.

How many at S. T. C. are yet youthful.

Students Support Bangle Day Cause

Thursday will be Bangle Day. At this time the double-barred crosses will be given for a free-will offering. This is being done since there are so many who do not wish the Christmas seals, but would like to contribute in some way to this worthy cause. For those who wish seals there will be some. Helen Smith is chairman of the sale here in school, and with the help of the Y. W. cabinet she hopes to make a successful showing. Mr. Holton is the county chairman for the sale of the Christmas seals.

Millions of Christmas seals are sold annually in this country to control and prevent tuberculosis. They have come to be accepted as a symbol of health during the

Continued page 3, Col. 2

Members of Faculty Receive Invitation To Alpha Phi Sigma

Alpha Phi Sigma announced the following new honorary members Tuesday, December 4: Dr. J. P. Wynne, Mr. S. M. Holton, Miss Lila London, Miss Mary Helen Barnes, Mr. T. A. McCorkle, Miss Mary Barlow, Miss Lisabeth Purdom, Mr. R. H. French, Miss Mary D. Pierce, Miss Minnie V. Rice, Miss Mary Nichols, Miss Sarah B. Tucker, and Dr. J. E. Walmsley. All these new members were either first or second honor graduates of their high school or college classes; this basis was used as a requirement for faculty membership, since Alpha Phi Sigma is a national honorary fraternity for scholarship.

Honoring its new faculty and student members, the fraternity entertained with a picnic in the cabin at Longwood, Thursday afternoon, December 6. After the picnic everyone joined heartily into games which Tac Waters, chairman of the social committee, had planned.

Approximately sixty members, Mrs. Wynne, Miss Draper, and Mrs. Holton enjoyed the affair.

Dr. W. A. Brumfield To Work Elsewhere

That Dr. W. A. Brumfield, director of Prince Edward Health Unit, is to leave Farmville soon for work in and around Harrisonburg is the announcement made in the latest edition of the Farmville Herald.

The College will feel very keenly the loss of Dr. Brumfield, since he has made many contributions to the interests of the school.

Dr. Field has found Dr. Brumfield and the equipment of the Health Department to be of great assistance in making diagnosis and in applying measures for prevention of the spread of communicable diseases among the college students.

Moreover, Dr. Brumfield has assisted in the Training School mental Hygiene clinics by making the necessary physical examinations of patients.

His contributions to the educational work likewise have been noteworthy. For several years Dr Brumfield has conducted in Health Education classes lectures on communicable diseases, emphasizing the teachers part in preventing the occurrence of these diseases.

Dr. Brumfield has also made frequent lectures to the biology and zoology classes, often adding much to the attractiveness of his discussions by exhibiting zoological specimens of his own collection.

Having been connected with the State Health Department directly or indirectly since 1910, Dr. Brumfield ranks as one of the pioneers in preventive health work in Virginia.

A RECORD

That the students appreciated their first Thanksgiving holiday at S. T. C. has been proved by the fact that out of four hundred and sixty girls who left school only four were late in returning. Each of these four girls had excuses which Miss Mary White Cox considered legitimate. These girls were: Nancy Dodd of Chase Ctiy who had an operation for an acute attack of appendicitis, Margaret Drake of Portsmouth who had to repeat an unsatisfactory examination of the eyes, Eleanor Wood of Sabot and Mrs. Georgie Powell of Massie's Mill who were detained because of high water on the roads.

Students Must Read The Daiiy Newspaper

Beginning next quarter all students in the social science classes will be required to subscribe to a daily newspaper, it has been recently announced.

The subscriptions to the paper may be made individually or in groups of two, three, or four students, the announcement stated.

The daily newspaper will be used in the classroom discussion, and the regular textbook will be used primarily for reference.

Teachers of the social sciences here believe that such a study of currnt happenings and comment will give the student a more intelligent approach to the daily newspaper and at the same time she will learn the "facts" previously covered when subscription to a newspaper was not required.

Freshmen To Give Kid Party In Gym Thursday Night

At ten o'clock Thursday night, the Freshman class will have a kiddie Christmas party in the gym. The girls will attend as couples, a boy and a girl. A prize will be given to the most attractive couple. Miss Mary White Cox, Miss Royall, and Miss Bedford will be the guests of honor and will judge the contest.

The chairman, Nan Seward, has planned an entertaining program of games, music, and dancing.

Music Organizations Will Sponsor Service Sunday, December 16

An Old English carol service, sponsored annually by the College Choir and Choral Club, will be given in the S. T. C. auditorium, Sunday, December 16, at 3:30 p. m., after the regular church services.

The program will include many Christmas selections by the College Choir, Choral Club, and College Choir double quartet.

Mr. Gardner of the Presbyterian church will talk on the true meaning and spirit of Christmas.

A free-will offering to be taken at the door will be used to add Christmas cheer to the many needy in this community.

After the services, S. T. C. will, as in previous years, go in groups throughout the town singing Christmas carols.

LIMERICK CONTEST EXTENDED

Due to requests to the Editor, the Limerick Contest has been extended for a few days more. Final Entries must be placed in Kathryne Cotten's senior mail box by noon Friday, Decemer 14, 1934. Announcement of the winner will be made within the next few days.

Nominees For May Court Introduced; Students Elect 16 In Sing Saturday

Committee Submits Plans to Adviser and Co-workers

Nominees for the May Court were introduced and voted on in Sing Saturday night.

The girls attired in evening dresses were introduced individually by Frankie McDaniel. After the presentation of all the nominees, the entire group came on the stage and grouped themselves around the Lord and Lady of May and their attendants, Wyc Scott and Lelia Sanford, who were already elected.

The ladies of the court chosen by ballot voting were: Kitty Bass, Laeta Barham, Mary Bowles, Louise Floyd, Margaret Farrar, Jennie Belle Gilliam, Louise Hyde, Ann Irving, Evelyn Knaub, Lucy Potter, and Kitty Roberts.

The elected Lords were: Sarah Beck, Phyilis Ferguson, Lena Mac. Gardner, Meg Herndon, Bonnie Lane, Belle Lovelace, Lelia Mattox, Florence Sanford, Helen Shawen, Ruth Showalter, and Sue Waldo.

Other important characters in May Day will be decided on within the next week. These characters will include: William Bradford, governor of the Puritans, Tom Morton, master of the Merry Mont settlement, and the Jester of Merry Mont. Anyone interested in trying out for one of these parts should see Evelyn Knaub or Lena Mac Gardner.

The May Day committee composed of Phyllis Ferguson, business chairman, Lena Mac. Gardner, theme chairman; Evelyn Knaub, dance chairman, and Dot Wise, music chairman, with Mrs. Fitzpatrick, their faculty adviser, expect to present their plans to Miss Tupper, who is supervising the making of the costumes, and to the Artists Dance Group before Christmas. Miss Tupper's class in costuming and several of the classes in dancing will be cooperative workers with the May Day committee all during the winter quarter.

Upperclassmen Vie For Championship

The sophomores and freshmen staged a good game of hockey Tuesday, Dec. 4. The teams were well matched in their playing, although the Sophomores lacked one player. The upperclassmen took the lead in the first half of the game when their captain made a goal. The score remained in favor of the sophomores until the second half when Jennie Belle Gilliam, center forward on the freshmen team, made the score a time. Hard playing game the sophomores the advantage again and Alice Grainger marked up another score for her team. The final score was recorded 2-1 in favor of the Sophomores.

The game was close from start to finish and there were times when the cheerings sections screamed with joy, moved with joy, moved with fear and held breath in anxiety. The teams consisted of experienced players on both sides. Many of the freshmen have played in high school and with a few exceptions, the sophomore's have their last year's championship team.

Those officiating at the game were: Umpires, Miss Iler and Kathleen Ransom; time-keeper, Evelyn Massey, score keeper, Louise Walmsley.

Continued page 4, Col. 1

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Published by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as second class mater March 1, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

MEMBER
Associated Collegiate Press
1934 Collegiate Digest 1935

Staff

Lelia Mattox ..... Editor
Evelyn Massey ..... Associate Editor

Board of Editors

Miss Jane Royall ..... Alumnae
Anna Montgomery ..... News
Florence Sanford ..... Make-up
Kathryne Cotten ..... Literary
Anne Futney ..... World News
Anne Diggs ..... Social
Margaret Farrar ..... Feature
Lelia Sanford ..... Sports

Proof Reader:
Elizabeth Walton

Managers

Lena Mac Gardner ..... Business
Alva Sawyer ..... Asst. Business
Maude Rhodes ..... Circulation
Grace Collings ..... Asst. Circulation
Lila Jacob ..... Asst. Circulation

Assistants and Reporters

Birdie Wooding, Bonnie Lane, Laeta Barham, Minnie Smith, Susan Grasham, Mary Lee Newcomb, Elsie Cabell, Bess McGlothin, Katherine Coleman, Merwyn Gathright, Kathleen Ranson

WEDNESDAY, DEC. 12, 1934

At Home Christmas

With the approach of December 20, many thoughts are running helter-skelter through our minds. Examinations loom big on the horizon, plans for selecting Christmas gifts tease our imagination; yet perhaps our most prominent and frequent thoughts are of "home," "seeing the folks," "big time during the holiday," "dance on Friday," "seeing him," and "more things to do." And so it goes on.

The trend of just these thoughts is what we would have you think about a moment now, and to seriously remember when you do get home. Of course, we are all anxious to see our families and to be at home again; we realize how important that is to us. But, rememer last Christmas or the week-end visits at home this year; how much of the time did you really spend in your home with your family?

We are aware that the Christmas holidays are very busy days for everyone, that it is the one time during the year when we can attend social affairs, renew friendships which college life breaks. Even so think of your mother and father; you are very dear to them, and you have been gone a long time. Just as you are thrilled now at the thought of "going home", so are they eagerly looking forward to your "coming home."

Now that we are a little older we can understand, can appreciate more of their lives, wouldn't it be very worthwhile to take a little time out this Christmas and spend it being better friends with Mother and Dad? You know how pleased they will be to have you spend just as much time as you can talking with, just being with them, and it will bring something just as deep to you.

Being away at school puts us all in many strains, some of which we are not conscious, it is true, but none the less real for that. There is an undercurrent of truth, strength, of loyalty, of kindness, of experience with life's problems in your home, in the lives of your mother and father. It is for that very reason, to strengthen and guide youth, that maturity is a part of God's universal plan.

To supply some of the needs of your life, to give a great deal of pleasure and satisfaction to your family, to establish a stronger hand of fellowship, in the true spirit of Christmas tide lets make it a point to spend much of our holiday season at home.

Are You Guilty?

"When a man or woman becomes thoroughly tired, that person is at least mildly insane," according to Professor Harry M. Johnson, psychologist in the graduate school of American Univ. "Clumsiness inattention, disturbances of speech, lapses of memory, headstrong persistence, momentary hallucinations, occasional delusion, wanton ruthlessness and temper tantrums are all common symptoms of fatigue, although they may not all occur at once," he says. "Until the tired person has slept, these symptoms may subside and recur repeatedly."

These words of Dr. Johnson, who has spent seven years of work investigating sleep at the Mellon Institute, should be a warning to all who fail to get eight hours sleep each night.

At college the time alloted for sleep is often taken for study, especially during examination week, which is rapidly approaching. Dr. Johnson, by his definite experiments, shows us what we already know, but will not admit—that sleep should not be sacrificed for either work or pleasure.

Every year we hear of girls who stay up practically all night "cramming" for examinations. In this way, that type of student can sometimes learn enough subject matter to pass the final tests, but how long does this knowledge stay with her? The answer is: until she can finish the test. All she wishes to be able to say is, "I am through with this course; now, I can forget it."

The age-old remedy for cramming is to study each day. However, even though we follow this doctrine, we still have to review before examinations. Few of us have more than two examinations on one day, and we usually have only one. If we spend the afternoons and evening study hours in the proper manner, there will be sufficient time for study and sleep.

By studying, eating, and sleeping regularly we can avoid that mild insanity which is produced by mental and moral fatigue.

Is It Fair?

With the close of the quarter all students are looking forward to the coming of their grades. Some look with fear and trembling, remembering things they have left undone that they should have done; others look ahead with indifference; and, still others look with pride on tasks well done and knowledge gained, meriting the grades they receive.

Yet there will be some students who will begrude others their grades. These students will say, "It isn't fair." But how can they know it isn't fair? Let them first judge and question themselves. Have they accomplished all that was set for them? Did they make their aim high enough and strive to reach the goal set for themselves? Can they with utmost honesty and fairness, answer these questions? Are their answers reasonable? If not, then can they judge others?

Let them, rather, set for themselves the goal of higher achievement and next time strive to reach the heights. Let them make it "fair" as far as is possible and within their capability.

"The common problems, yours, mine everyone's.
Is not to fancy what were fair in life
Provided it could be,—but finding first
What may be, then find how to make it fair
Up to our means: a very different thing!"
—Browning

Common Courtesies

Study hour is from 7:30 till 10:00 P. M. Busy signs mean "Keep Out". The radio playing next door may not be appreciated as it was in October.

Life is not too short nor are we too busy to be considerate of others.

Books We Recommend

The Land of the Black Pagoda: Lowell Thomas.

Description of India of strange beliefs and black magic, one in Lowell's peculiar style of graphic narrative.

Good-bye, Mr. Chips: James Hilton.

A character sketch done in the black and white of true simplicity. A gentle stream of reminiscence, flowing throughout a life of quiet joys and sorrows.

Years Are So Long: Josephine Lawrence. (August Book of the Month).

Sociological study of the duty of children to their parents. What are the obligations of young married people to their parents

Seven Gothic Tales:

A group of short stories typically seventeenth century in tone viewed from a nineteenth century author, who achieves effect by pure artistry of expression.

The Naked Truth: L. Parandello.

A collection of short stories by the year's Nobel Prize winner. Typically Italian in tone and theme. These stories catch and hold one's interest from the standpoint of everyday psychology applied to the common man.

So Red the Rose: Stark Young.

A Civil War story placed upon a background "woven of light and dusk—an artistic triumph." This book has broken all sale records in several leading city book stores during the past few weeks.

Wine from These Grapes: Edna St. Vincent Millay.

A collection of poems and sonnets which make Millay's place more secure as one of the leading poets of the day. We particularly recommend "Childhood Is the Kingdom Where Nobody Dies."

Stars Out Tonight: Sara Teasdale.

A collection of short poems which show Teasdale's marked ability to give a feeling of infinity in space, with a delicacy of touch and lyrical quality rarely surpassed.

The Bird of the Dawning: John Masefield.

The inimitable Masefield again "proves true to the sea" in this collection.

Review of the News

From Rome comes the announcement that compulsory military service has been reduced from eighteen months to twelve months. The cut was made possible because of the extent of premilitary service which is required of all Italian boys.

Farmers in Virginia will receive $2,232,305 in payments for crop benefits and rentals from the United States government. Augusta County is the largest recipient with $152,222 while Pittsylvania runs a close second with $143,887. The Richmond News Leader of Dec. 3 states that the corn-hog payments amount to $696,516; tobacco, $658,227; wheat, $640,300; cotton, $237,177.

If we can make ourselves forget about the Jugoslavian-Hungarian-Croatian trouble in Europe, the sky seems brighter over there than it has for many a day. When news came of the Franco-German agreement, a new flash of hope for peace in Europe flared up.

A committee, composed of Baron Pompea Aloisi of Italy, Ambassador Cantilla of Argentina, and Lopez Olivian of Spain, was appointed by the league to formulate proposals that would be acceptable to each of the traditional enemies in regard to the Saar Basin. To the surprise of everyone, the committee most of all, the report was accepted without reservation by both parties and adopted in treaty form and signed. The agreement which is made up of two parts-political and economic—is as follows:

Germany pays France 900,000,000 francs and 11,000,000 tons of coal. She guarantees equal rights to voters and non-voters regardless of race, religion or language. All citizens have equal rights to social insurance.

The agreement depends on whether Germany wins the Plebescite in January.

Alumnae News

Luncheon at Westmoreland Club

At the Westmoreland Club in Richmond on Friday, Nov. 30, at 1 o'clock, Farmville Alumnae from all parts of the state assembled for a delightful luncheon.

Miss Pauline Camper, State President of Farmville Alumnae, graciously presided. The guests of honor, Dr. J. L. Jarman, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Gathright, Dr. Thomas D. Eason, and Mr. and Mrs. Ramond Long, were introduced. Many members of the Farmville faculty were present. At the conclusion of the luncheon, Dr. Jarman made an informal talk.

Mrs. William H. Bass, of Richmond, served very efficiently as chairman of the luncheon committee.

Headquarters at John Marshall

During the State Teachers meeting held in Richmond Nov. 28-Dec. 1, Farmville State Teachers College had as its headquarters a parlor on the mezzanine of the John Marshall Hotel. Various alumnae served as hostesses there and displayed Farmville annuals, bulletins and other material. This proved a very popular meeting place for Farmville Alumnae.

Eason-Trimyer

The marriage of Miss Mary Linwood Trimyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hervey Linwood Trimyer, to Mr. Charles L. Eason, son of Mr. and Mrs. George N. Eason, took place Saturday evening, Dec. 1, at 4 o'clock at the Norfolk Larchmont Baptist Church with the pastor, the Rev. J. B. Sawyer, officiating.

Mrs. Catlin Speaks on South

At the Farmville Junior Woman's Club on Nov. 27, Mrs. R. W. Catlin gave a most interesting talk on Southern Social Customs.

Engagement Announced

Mrs. Paulus A. Irving of Farmville announced the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Paula, to Dr. J. E. Haynesworth of Buckingham and Florida.

Mrs. Mary Robertson Painter

Mrs. Mary Robertson Painter holds a very responsible position as Trial Justice in Botetourt County.

Elizabeth Burger Makes All-Southeastern

Miss Elizabeth Burger, former S. T. C. student, who is studying for her M. A. degree at William and Mary College was selected for the All-Southeastern hockey team She will copete in the U. S. field hockey tournament in Boston, where the selection of the All-American Hockey team will be chosen. Miss Burger is a goal star on the William and Mary team.

Miss Mary Dinwiddie Presides

Miss Mary Dinwiddie presided at the session of the rural supervisors' section of the Virginia Educational Association at the Capital Hotel during the recent session.

Campus Comments

Wonder if Dr. Walmsley has ever heard the much used expression, "Practice What You Preach". Guess not, since we find him preaching economics and acting the part of an extravagant rich man.

Was Nell Oakey Ryan introducing a new dance Saturday night, or do Pirates really dance with combs in their sleeves?

Day by day in every way one student body is increasing cattier. We have them attending chapel, strolling on avenue and frequently visiting the dining hall. Somebody say birds of a feather?

Lila Jacob has taken up dreaming of things previous to their happening. Guess she'll be careful what she dreams.

Will Scott has taken up a new hobby. She counts the pats a foot makes per minute, under supervision.

The Senior quartet certainly had the spirit of the dance Saturday night. So much so that their voices danced as they sang.

The "Bell" of the ball Saturday night certainly must have had an appeal for Showell. Maybe they'll teach you a few new steps.

The Oxen

Christmas Eve and twelve of the clock.
"Now they are all on their knees,"
An elder said as we sat in a flock
By the embers in hearthside ease.

We pictured the meek mild creatures where
They dwelt in their strawy pen,
Nor did it occur to one of us there
To doubt they were kneeling then.

So fair a fancy few would weave
In these years! Yet, I feel,
If some one said on Christmas Eve,
"Come: see the oxen kneel

"In the lonely barton by yonder comb
Our childhood used to know,"
I should go with him in the gloom,
Hoping it might be so.
—Thomas Hardy

Christmas Morning

If Bethlehem were here today,
Or this were very long ago,
There wouldn't be a winter time
Nor any cold or snow.

I'd run out through the garden gate,
And down along the pasture walk;
And off beside the cattle barns
I'd hear a kind of gentle talk.

I'd move the heavy iron chain
And push away the wooden pin;
I'd push the door a little bit
And tiptoe very softly in.

The pigeons and the yellow hens
And all the cows would stand away;
Their eyes would open wide to see
A lady in the manger hay,
If this were very long ago
And Bethlehem were here today.

And mother held my hand and smiled—
I mean the lady would—and she
Would take the woolly blankets off
Her little boy so I could see.

His shut-up eyes would be asleep,
And he would look just like our John,
And he would be all crumpled too,
And have a pinkish color on.

His little clothes would all be white.
I'd slip my finger in his hand
To feel how he could hold it tight.

And she would smile and say, "Take care,"
The mother Mary would. "Take care";
And I would kiss his little hand
And touch his hair.

While Mary put the blankets back
The gentle talk would soon begin.
And when I'd tiptoe softly out
I'd meet the wise men going in.
—Elizabeth Madox Roberts

Wise men came from their honored tasks,
Young lads from their shepherding.
Self-forgetful and star-possessed,
To worship the promised King,
And ever since men have traveled far
At the call of a winging star.

Wise men in their soft silken robes
Knelt on the soiled stable floor,
Heedless of garments while shepherd lads,
Rough clad, watched by the door,
And ever since, both rich and poor
Find the Christ with footsteps sure.

Both the wise men and shepherds brought
Gifts of love to Christ, their King;
Some brought jewels and some brought praise,
Each what he had to bring;
And ever since, where his spirit lives,
Man to man in the Christ's name gives.
Eleanor B. Stock.

Snow Toward Evening

Suddenly the sky turned gray,
The day,
Which had been bitter and chill,
Grew soft and still.
Quietly
From some invisible blossoming tree
Millions of petals cool and white
Drifted and blew,
Lifted and flew,
Fell with the falling night.

SOCIALS

Only eleven more shopping days till Christmas! Only four more days till exams! The second is, no doubt, one cause for the shortened social column this week. Despite exams, however, and although S. T. C. students are just back from one holiday and getting ready for another, some of them found occasion to spend the week-end away.

To Richmond

Among those who went to Richmond for the week-end or part of the week-end were: Chic Dortch, Susan Gresham, Amis Montgomery, Virginia Bean, Grace Eubank, Belle Lovelace, Elizabeth Sutton, Louise Bailey, Nancy Leigh Bland, Bobbie Brooke, and Kitty Hoyle.

Spend Week-end at Home

A few girls event went home—perhaps to leave their Santa Claus letters. Among them were: Mary Black, Marion Layne, Pauline Pearson and Rose Puller.

At Dillwyn

Dillwyn claimed a few week-end visitors from S. T. C. for Ethel Burgess, Edna Harvey, and Marjorie Robertson spent the week-end there.

Visited Rustburg

Maude Jone, Edith Coffey, and Irene Bailey spent a part of the week-end in Rustburg.

In Lynchburg

Virginia Brown and Annie Bailey visited in Lynchburg during the week-end.

At Other Places

Among others who spent the week-end away were: Jacquelin Johnson in Annapolis, Lucille Akers in Blacksburg, Evelyn Wilson in Boydton and Betty Tice in Crewe.

Entertain Sororities at Teas and Parties

Zeta Tau

Miss Mary Nichols entertained members of the Zeta Tau sorority at a delightful tea in her home on Beech Street, Sunday afternoon. The tea table was presided over by Miss Virginia Bedford. Annette Roberts, Doris Coates, and Merwyn Gathright assisted in serving.

Pi Kappa Sigma

Florence Tankard and Blanche Kahn entertained the Pi Kappa Sigma sorority at an informal party on Tuesday night.

Sigma Sigma Sigma

Miss Pauline Camper was hostess to the Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority at a tea Sunday afternoon. Florence Sanford, "Tibb" Simmerman, and Bobbie Saunders assisted Miss Camper with the serving.

Pan-Hellenic Association

The Pan-Hellenic Association gave a tea in the Y. W. C. A. lounge Friday afternoon. "Bug" Byrd, "Meg" Herndon, Doris Coates, Burnley Brockenborough, Elizabeth Huse, Caroline Jones, and Florence Sanford assisted in the serving.

K. Walton Entertains French Honor Society

For the last meeting of the quarter, Katharine Walton, president of Beta Pi Theta, entertained the members of that society with a tea in the Honor Room, Monday afternoon, December 3. Elizabeth Walton assisted in serving plum pudding, coffee, and fruit. The members enjoyed a practice of their social French during the hour. Miss Helen Draper and Miss Estelle Smithey, honorary members of Beta Pi Theta were among those present.

Members of French Circle Enjoy Christmas Party

Monday evening the French Circle entertained with a Christmas party for its members. Many girls attended and enjoyed an interesting evening, during which games were played and gifts distributed. Hot tea and cakes were served.

After singing "Au Claire De La Lune" the group broke up singing "Cantique de Noel". This was the last meting of the French Circle before the holidays.

Depression Breaks For Senior Dance

Continued from page one

Charles Bowen, Gilmer Craddock, Watkins Morton, Alvin Dollins, John Blackburn, Grayson Collins, Jack Pettigo, Van Alford, Henry Snead, Morton Barbour, Arthur Dekens, J. L. Payne, Jr., W. B. Leftwick, William Jennings, Burleigh Mears, Talmage Talley, Max Whitlock, Hubert Parker, Kindall Godsey, James Ellen, R. Weisiger, Melville Johns, Copeland Adams, Charles Smith, Will Sydnor, Fulton Etter, Jack Gray, John Harris, Bill Coghill, Poterfield Haskins, Bernard Norvell, Janis Montgomery, Jimmie Price, Jack McCurdy, W. D. Temple, Taylor Williams, George Earnest, Aubrey Adams, Bob Goodman, C. B. Adams, Jr., Chick Hunter, James Brooks, O. L. Harrison, Tommie Armot, Tom Noble, Greene Lawson, Dick Lewis, Freddie Williams, David Rice, E. R. Thurston, Bill Heyward, Edwin Bouldin, Buck Warters, Lin Anderson, George Wall, Stuart Wright, Anderson Lipford, M. J. Duer, Dabney Sandridge, Bill Thacker, Jack Long, O. B. Babbit, Gus Mayes, Max Graber, Jr., Bene Dortch, Junie Blake, Billie Bruce, Vernon Spratley, Scottie Boyd, Earl Baldwin, Jack Lorraine, Pat Mitchell, Bruce Franz, James Begg, Lee Bean, Matt Robertson, Bob Crow, Lyman Ripley, Charlie Bernier, Mutt Kelley, Bob Carrick, Lyle Graham, John Hunter, Norment Custis, Dick Hardy, Francis Young, Archie Hahn, Billy Crawford, Caswell Hardaway, Rudy Young, Charlie Good, Davis Sawyer, Louis Hancock, George Bennett, Lewis Roach, Clarence Campbell, Henry Mosby, Buster Dixon, Bill Hoppsretter, Mosby Phlegar, Reese Tate Bowen, Robert Fine, Dwight Rivers, Tommy Wilkerson, Herbert Nerman, Jimmy Thweat, W. W. Paulette, Boyd Humphreys, Edd Payne, Boyd Payne, Tay Jones, Jim Crute, W. F. Lewis and Tom Sawyer.

Students Support Bangle Day Cause

Continued from page one

Christmas season.

In 1904 two important things happened that are not usually chronicled in histories. One took place in Denmark and the other in the United States.

In Denmark, thirty years ago, they held a Christmas seal sale There were some children in that country sick with tuberculosis and there was no way or place to care for them. Einar Holbell, who was a postal clerk, and who therefore had good reason to know how much money postage stamps brought in to the government, was interested in those children. He had the great idea that some special Christmas stamps could be sold to build a children's hospital. And, with the approval of the King and Queen of Denmark, that's what happened!

In the United States a small group of doctors had been studying tuberculosis and had collected some startling facts about the cost of this preventable disease in lives and money. It killed more people than any other disease and the cost ran up into the billions. So, they founded the National Tuberculosis Association, just thirty years ago, to educate the people about the disease and its prevention. It took a good deal of money to put this project over, and this new association was sadly hampered for want of funds.

Jacob A. Riis, a writer and philanthropist, was born in Denmark but had become an American citizen. His Christmas mail from the land of his birth came plentifully decorated, in 1904, with the Danish Christmas seals, and again in the two years following. He had found out about Einar Holbell and the sick children and the new hospital in Denmark; he also knew the pressing need for fighting tuberculosis in the land of his adoption. He himself had lost six brothers through the "White Plague" as it used to be called and his interest came straight from the heart. The possibility of using the stamps in the United States impressed him. In the July, 1907, "Outlook" there appeared an article in which he told the story of the Christmas seal and with what success it had met in Denmark. He challenged the people! That very year in the state of Delaware—a Christmas seal sale was held under the leadership of Emily P. Bissel, who had read the article and who wanted to raise funds for a tuberculosis hospital in that state. She designed her own seal and raised $3,000. The next two years the American Red Cross conducted a nation-wide sale but in 1910 an arrangement was made whereby the American Red Cross and the National Tuberculosis Association shared the responsibility of selling the seals. The 1919 Christmas Seal closed this period and since that time and beginning with the 1920 sale the National Tuberculosis Association has had full charge of the Christmas Seals, and the seals have borne only the double barred cross emblem.

When you see the Christmas seals at this holiday season you know the fight against tuberculosis is still waging; when you see the sign of the double-barred cross, the world wide emblem of the fight against tuberculosis, remember the Christmas seal that made it possible.

Among the Alumnae

CARRIE SUTHERLIN, '04
President of Arlington Hall

The recent election of Miss Carrie Sutherlin, of the Class of 1904, to the presidency of Arlington Hall brought pleasure to her many friends throughout Virginia, and especially to those formerly associated with her at Farmville, both as student and as teacher. Arlington Hall, one of Virginia's loveliest junior colleges for girls, has a beautiful and strategic location in the historic hills just across the Potomac from Washington, D. C. It was built up as one of the Sullins system of schools and draws its patronage largely from well-to-do and cultured circles around the national capital. It offers unusual opportunities for an important educational work, for both the state and the nation. In Miss Sutherlin the institution has found a head ideally suited to the position, a woman of strong but refined personality, unusual ability both as teacher and executive, the best of professional training, rich experience, and sound scholarship. In herself she carries on the best traditions of Virginia culture and character.

Farmville, to begin with, gave her the best it had to offer, and during thirty years since, she has wrought beautifully on this sound foundation, through a varied teaching experience, mostly here in the Department of English, by study at the leading universities, and by travel abroad. She stands high among Alma Mater's most accomplished and distinguished daughters.

Carrie Sutherlin came to the State Female Normal School as a girl from Sutherlin, Pittsylvania County, Virginia, in 1901, and was graduated in 1904 with the normal school diploma. The young president, Mr. J. L. Jarman, attested her success and standing as a student here by appointing her at once an instructor in English. She began and carried on her teaching career for a number of years unders superior leadership of Miss Lula O. Andrews, one of Virginia's great teachers. With the exception of the years she was on leave of absence for advanced study, Miss Sutherlin served this institution through a period of years, and advanced to the position of Associate in the Department of English. Both as student and instructor she constantly identified herself with the best interests of the institution which she loved, especially in the work of the Young Women's Christian Association. She became a skillful teacher of English and a delightful interpreter of literature, having the power to pass on to her students much of her own devotion to the reading and study of great books. Thus she contributed much to the steady growth and progress of her Alma Mater during the first two decades of President Jarman's administration.

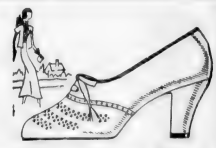
By taking leaves of absence from time to time, she pursued advanced studies at Cornell, Peabody, Chicago, Vanderbilt, University of Virginia, and Columbia, and received her B. S. in Education from George Peabody College in 1916 and her M. A. from Columbia University in 1926. Besides her long experience on the Faculty at Farmville, Miss Sutherlin also taught for a time at Sullins College, Bristol, Va., and in Miss Hockaday's School for Girls, at Dallas, Texas, and, after receiving her M. A. from Columbia, she became Head of the Department of English at the State College for Women at Montevallo, Alabama, where she remained for several years. Her connection with Arlington Hall began in 1929, when she became Dean of Instruction there, and she has continued to build herself into the life of that school ever since. Miss Sutherlin has always been a devoted alumna of S. T. C. and has proved her loyalty at all times, as, for example, by securing position at Arlington Hall for several choice alumnae of the College.

In 1924, on the occasion of the fortieth anniversary of the founding of the State Teachers College, Miss Sutherlin was chosen to deliver the address before the Association of Alumnae. It proved an eloquent appeal for continued loyalty to the ideals of the college and outlined a program which, taken as an expression of her own ideals, offers a key to explain her high attainment. She said in part, "To our alumnae gathered here tonight, I commend a program of life based upon these fundamental aims of the early American college: first, the continued pursuit of learning; second, high moral character spending itself in service; third, piety, expressed through a wholesome, reverent religion." That puts most concisely what the S. T. C. at Farmville stands for, and what, in the person, the labors, the influence, and the leadership of one of its choicest alumnae, Alma Mater is now passing on to a younger sister, in the new president of Arlington Hall.

PRINTING.....

When you think of Printing think of

—The—
FARMVILLE HERALD



GOLDSTRIPE HOSIERY, sheerest, finest and best wearing hose in America—in all the new winter shades. Buy one of these and you will always be a Goldstripe wearer
Per pair $1.00
RAINCAPES—Colors of the Rainbow.
Special $1.00

Newest Tree Bark Shoes
DRESS TIES, PUMPS OR SPORT OXFORDS.
Special this week ..... $3.95 Values $2.95

THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE
Farmville's Best Place to Shop!

—FOR—
EVERYTHING—SCHOOL SUPPLIES, CANDIES, FRUITS, CONFECTIONS, ETC.
GO TO .....
GILLIAM'S
Open 'till 9:00 p. m.

SHOES For All Occasions

Evening—Dress—Sports—Street Wear
$2.95 to $5.95
DAVIDSON'S

ARE YOU INTERESTED?
JACKETS of Grain and Suede Cloth and Wool SWEATERS.
We are showing the season's newest. Come in. We are glad to show—Just what we have—and the line is very attractive.
VERSER'S

PHILCO RADIO
World's largest manufacturers of Radio
A complete line
Watch repairing a specialty
Sheet Music—Strings for Instruments
LYNN, The Main Street Jeweler

YOUR NEIGHBOR,
The Weyanoke Beauty Salon
invites you to drop in and take advantage of their Special prices now in effect.
Permanent Waves $4 & $6 Shampoo & Fingerwave 75 cents
Manicure 40 cents
Individual, courteous, efficient service and an established reputation for dependability and satisfaction. That is our guarantee, and your assurance of perfect workmanship.

C. E. Chappell Co.
Stationery, Blank Books and School Supplies
Cigars, Cigarettes and Soda
Farmville, Virginia

Rice's Shoe Store
Street and Dress Shoes
Dancing Slippers Dyed
Correct fits our specialty

Kleanwell
CLEANERS AND TAILORS
Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling ladies garments
Main Street, opposite Post office
Phone 98

Gray's Drug Store
QUALITY—PRICE—SERVICE
Come in and Get Acquainted
We are glad to have you with us!
Farmville, Virginia

S. A. Legus
TAILOR
CLEANING
PRESSING
REPAIRING
Phone 203

Mack's
BARBER AND BEAUTY SHOP
323 Main Street
We use the Frederick Method
Hair cutting and thinning a Specialty

Sporting Whirl

By L. SANFORD

Juniors, congratulations on the nice cleaning you gave the seniors on the hockey field last Tuesday. That was certainly a nice game. Louise Walmsley proved herself to be a solid blockade rather than just a goal keeper. Hope you seniors haven't got too old and settled down for such rapid play.

Wednesday afternoon the freshmen fell prey to a clashing sophomore team, but not without a determined opposition and well-played game. Again the goal was well kept—this time by Bernice Mann of the sophomore team.

The final game of the tournament will be played whenever the weather permits, and the winning team will receive the Color Cup points. Red and White or Green and White?

The first swimming meet proved to be quite a success, and so on Friday night there will be another meet open to spectators. If you missed the Human Seal's demonstration of swimming skill you still have a chance. 8:30 is the time.

At last the girls have become interested in sporting, out-of-doors. Guess the mistake has been in failing to offer sleigh riding. Monday night on Buffalo Hill there was a large delegation of S. T. C. girls with plenty of enthusiasm and spirit.

Basketball practices are being held regularly now. In order to be legible for the squad a player must have two practices one week and three the next.

Hampden-Sydney as well as S. T. C. is getting ready for a hard and full basketball season.

Upperclassmen Vie For Championship

Continued from page one

The line-up:

Freshmen		Sophomore
K. Bailey	R.W.	M. Bowles
J. Carter	R.I.	B. Love
M. McAllister	R.F.	M.L.Anderson
J. B. Gilliam	C.A.	Grainger
E. Bolick,	L.W.	M. York (C)
E. Mann	L.H.	M. Moore
M. Roach	R
I. Jordan	C.H.	M. Chandler
K. Ryburn	L.F.	B. McGothlin
M.McGothlin	R.F.	K. Troy
N. Latimer	L.	B. Main

The juniors and sophomores will play off the final championship game as soon as the weather permits. The line-up of the championship competitions is:

Seniors		Juniors
Akers	R.I.	Sanford
Putney	C.F.	Ranson (C).
Beck	L.I.	Kern
	L.W.	Gathright
	R.H.	Samford, E.
Mattox, L.	C.H.	Waters
Blanton	L.H.	Harrison
Rhodes	R.F.	Walker
Mattox, A C	L.F.	Massey
	G.	Walmsley

Examination Schedule

December 17—20

December 17

8:30 ..... 11:00 M. W. F.
11:30 ..... 12:00 M. W. F.
4:00 ..... 4:00 P. M.
7:15 ..... 7:15 M. W.

December 18

8:30 ..... 8:30 T. T. S.
11:00 ..... 9:30 T. T. S.
2:00 ..... 2:10 M. W. F.—T. T.

December 19

8:30 ..... 11:00 T. T. S.
11:00 ..... 12:00 T. T. S.
2:10 ..... 3:10 P. M.

December 20

8:30 ..... 8:30 M. W. F.
10:30 ..... 9:30 M. W. F.

Alice Grainger Plays In Richmond Concert

Alice Grainger, a member of the S. T. C. orchestra, played in the orchestra of the second annual concert sponsored by the Virginia State Wide High School Chorus, Orchestra, and Band. The concert was held in the city auditorium in Richmond, Wednesday, Nov. 28 at 8 p. m.

It will be remembered that Alice played the flute in the orchestra last year under the direction of Miss Lizabeth Purdom.

This program was under the direction of the Music Section of the Virginia Education Association. Miss Pattie Garrett of Richmond was president and Miss Edna Shaeffer of S. T. C. Harrisonburg was general chairman.

This is a comparatively new development in the program of music of the Virginia Education Association. The purpose of this annual concert was to bring about a state-wide interest in music in the high schools of Virginia.

Some girls spend three-fourths of their time telling other girls how tired they are. The other one-fourth is spent in telling the faculty about it.

Y. W. NOTES

White Christmas Service

In the soft glow of the candlelight, Miss Iler told of the Christmas customs as they have been handed to us from other lands. This White Christmas Service marked the second of a series of annual Christmas services. While "Silent Night" was softly played, the heads of organizations came forward to present their gifts. These gifts which were in the form of money will be used to provide soup for the children in the Training School.

Hanging of the Greens

Tonight after dinner the tradition of Hanging of the Greens will be read. After this everyone will participate in the actual Hanging of the Greens in the Rotunda.

Dr. Freeman Elected To Sigma Delta Chi

NEW YORK CITY (ACP) — Douglas S. Freeman, editor of the Richmond (Va.) News Leader, has been elected as a national honorary member of Sigma Delta Chi, professional Journalistic fraternity, it hos been announced here by John E. Stempel, national president of the organization and a member of the staff of the New York Sun. This honor is extended each year to one newspaperman outstanding in the field of journalism in recognition of his contribution to journalism, and through journalism to the public.

First Auto Race

The first automobile race on record was run on June 22, 1894, from Paris to Rouen, in France, a distance of 78 miles and the average speed was 12 miles an hour. Now auto drivers complain when they can't drive 50 miles an hour through crowded streets.

The student body of Randolph-Macon College, Ashland, last week voted down a resolution from the council to outlaw all forms of gambling among the students of the college. The council resolution came as a result of faculty action taken to curb organized gambling on the football lotteries which have been run on the campus during the year..

A study of the weather conditions as high as fifteen miles above the earth is to be made by the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Thirty-five sounding baloons equipped with sensitive recording instruments will be used in the experiments.

Congress tells us that the Philippines are to get their freedom in 1940. We wish congress would pull a new joke occasionally.

Going Away?.....
Travel by
GREYHOUND
Safe—Comfortable—Economical

Honors for Swimming Go To Red and White

Open Meet To Be Friday Night

Red and White triumphed over Green and White Tuesday, Nov. 27, in the first swimming meet of the year. Being the first meet, it was closed, only those who were participating or helping with the managing being allowed to attend.

The participants were scored on their performance in the different events. Frances Hudgins proved to be top-score girl of the meet. Lelia Sanford was second.

According to the classification, the results were as follows: Beginners—First, Doris Moore; second, Jestine Cutshall. Intermediates: first, Hazel Smith; second, Brooks Wheeler. Advanced, first, Frances Hudgins; second, Lelia Sanford.

The second meet of the season will take place Friday, December 14, at 8:30 p. m. Spectators will be allowed.

Members of Faculty Attend V. E. A. Meet November 28, 29, 30

Continued from page one

avoiding danger points. Another important speaker was Dr. James Lester Smith. He urged the leaders of education to provide for the best education possible to be given this generation so that in the future they can not have any cause to reproach their parents.

Friday afternoon the Association of Alumnae of S. T. C., Farmville, had a luncheon at the Westmoreland Club. Many alumnae were present. This year they were fortunate in having in the John Marshall Hotel a room as headquarters, where Farmville pictures, annuals, and materials were on display.

At Other Colleges

A five-day school week with no Saturday classes is being petitioned for by the University of Georgia undergraduates.

Johnny Long and his Duke Collegians will play for the sophomore dances at Davidson College next week-end. He has been chosen also to play for the Pan-Hellenic dances at Randolph Macon this week.

Among those listed in this year's "Who's Who" the names of forty-three University of Virginia professors appear.

A Liberal Arts Degree is to be ofered at Fredericksburg S. T. C. next session. This will allow those who desire a Bachelor of Arts Degree to work on that instead of the Bachelor of Science Degree.

Harvard College has instituted a new system for attendance. Only freshmen are compelled to attend classes and take mid-term examinations.

Richmond artist, David Silvette, has completed the portrait of Dr. Francis P. Gaines, President of W. and L. University.

A co-ed caught wearing a fraternity pin at the University of Minnesota is subject to a ten-dollar fine or a jail sentence of six days.

The president has been traveling through the Tennessee valley so we can expect the next optimistic opinions to spring up in that section.

The Medicine Man ought to get rich this fall—judging from the sick look on the face of some our G. O. P. friends.

Little Willie—Say, mother, I ain't goin' to play with Tommy Geezer any more. He's a naughty boy.

Mother—That's my own little man. What has Tommy been doing now?

Willie—He laughed when another boy swung our cat around by the tail.

Mother—Who was that other boy?

Tommy—Me.

EACO
THEATRE
Mats. 4 p. m.; Nights 8 p. m.
Adults 25c; Children 15c
Unless otherwise noted

Thus.-Fri., Dec. 13-14
Ruby Keeler
Dick Powell
'Flirtation Walk"
Made at West Point
Another Dumb Bell Letter
Adults 25c and 35c

Saturday, Dec. 15
Marlene Dietrich
"Scarlet Empress"
Song "Mountain Melody"
News

Next Mon. & Tues. Dec. 17 & 18
Loretta Young
John Boles
The White Parade
Betty Boop & Metro News
Adults 25c and 35c

Next Wed., Dec. 19
Randolph Scott
In Zane Grey's
"Wagon Wheels"
OUR GANG COMEDY
Chapt. 9 "The Red Rider"

Southside Drug Store
(On the Corner)
Films Developed FREE
If bought at this store

The Schemmel Conservatory of Music
Offers interesting instruction by Artist Teachers, arranged to suit the needs of each pupil. Piano: Elsa Schemmel Fairchild, Marie Schemmel Shroder. Voice: Mattie Spencer Willis. Violin: Richmond Seay of Blackstone College.

Farmville Mfg. Co.
BUILDING MATERIALS
MILLWORK
Farmville, Va.

You Would Love to Have Your Shoes Fixed at
Lovelace Shoe Shop
110 Third Street

ROOM FURNISHINGS
SCHOOL SUPPLIES
CANDIES
ROSES
5-10-25c Store
FARMVILLE, VA.

Overton-Mottley Hdwe. Co.
ELECTRIC GOODS
Tennis Rackets and balls
Roller Skates

Shannon's
Is Headquarters for the Best
SANDWICHES
—and—
DRINKS
in Farmville!

Special orders for
Teas and Parties
Try our doughnuts
Foley's Bakery
Third Street

WILLIS
The Florist
Flowers for all occasions
PHONES 181-273

Conoco Gas and Oil
Fill up at
Johns Motor Co.
Farmville, Va.

Martin the Jeweler
Gifts of
Lasting Remembrance
317 Main St. Farmville

POTTED MEATS
SANDWICH SPREAD
SANDWICH ROLLS
HOT DOGS
Everything for the Picnic
W. R. Drumeller
Main Street Farmville

Cleaning at reduced rates
State Cleaning Co.
Third Street

SUPPERS AND
SMALL PARTIES
Good Breakfast
Dinners
Suppers
College Tea Room
and
LONGWOOD

Buy Your
CANDY
To Sell at
H. T. Stokes & Co.

G. F. Butcher
High Street
"The Convenient Store"
FOR GOOD THINGS
TO EAT AND DRINK

Electric Shoe Shop
Will Fix Your Shoes
While You Wait
BEST WORKMANSHIP
AND LEATHER USED

The Fashion Shoppe
Reflects the newest styles. All dresses $2.95 up
COATS, SUITS, DRESSES, UNDERWEAR
Silk Hose
Fine quality ..... 49c 59c and 69c

Warner's "True - Lift" Brassieres
GIRDLES—CORSELETTES
Come in today and see the many new foundation garments created especially for the college styles.
BALDWIN'S
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

WE ARE FIRST TO SHOW THE NEWEST!
New French Berets with Triangular Scarfgs to match—football colors. Special 97c
ALLEN A, new winter shades, in Sheer, Chiffon HOSIERY. They have that Certain Thing called "IT." You will love them ..... 69c pr.
Just received new shipment of Holiday Dresses in three price groups ..... $5.45——$7.45
YOUR ROOMMATE SHOPS HERE — ASK HER — SHE KNOWS — IT PAYS TO BUY AT
DOROTHY MAY STORES
FARMVILLE, VA.

Watch For
The Junior Production
January 25

The Rotunda

We Teach To Teach

Have You Subscribed
To
The Virginian?

Volume XV. FARMVILLE, VA., JANUARY 9, 1935 No. 12

America's Science Convention Marks Universal Progress

Dr. Jeffers Reports on Teacher Training; Lecture Held

DEC. 27-JANUARY 2

During the holidays, Dr. Jeffers and Mr. Coyner attended the ninety-fifth meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science and Associated Societies which was held in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, by invitation of the Carnegie Institute of Technology and the University of Pittsburgh, and co-operation with the Pennsylvania College for Women and Duquesne University. Beginning Dec. 27 and ending Jan. 2, this was a great convention. The following fields of science were discussed: Physics, Medical Sciences, Agriculture, Chemistry, Zoological Sciences, Anthoropolgy, Psychology, Education, Engineering, Mathematics, Geology and Geography, Astronomy, and Social and Economic Sciences.

Professor Albert Einstein consented this year to deliver the Josiah Willard Gibbs lecture on "An Elementary Proof of the Theorem Concerning the Equivalence of Moss and Energy." Due to limited accomodations and admission only by ticket the members of our faculty were unable to attend the lecture.

Dr. Jeffers and Mr. Coyner were fortunate in hearing the addresses by Dr. William Alanson White on "Man, the Great Integrator," and by Dr. Ernest Albert Hooton, of Harvard University, on "Homo Sapiens.

Continued from page 4, Col. 1

New Girls Receive CotillionClub Bids

The Cotillion Club has issued bids to sixty-five freshmen and new girls. This is the maximum number possible to be bid in order for the Club to limit its membership to two hundred girls. Upperclassmen were bid in the fall quarter, and the initiation of all goats will be held in the spring quarter, the actual time depending upon the date of the spring Cotillion dance.

The girls invited to become members of the Cotillion Club are: Buck Pleasants, Margaret Long, Josephine Quinn, Virginia Hurt, Ethel Burgess, Della Pope Chambliss, Rose Marie Hunter, Marjorie Woolfolk, Frances Britton, Annie Leigh Bailey, Elsie Turner, Marion Hansborough, Dorothy Deans, Marjorie Robertson, Julia Ann Waldo, Mildred Meeks, Julia Ann Waldo, Betty Butterworth, Mary Joyner Cox, Anne Johnson, Anne Peple, Martha Watson, Frances Moxie, "Ducky" Davies, Frances Robinson, Sue Eastham, Eleanor Dunham, Ruth Montgomery, Rose Fuller, Mary Wilson Clark, Mary Harrison Vaughan, Libby Morris, Grace Allen Pittard, Elsie Greene, Iris Rountree, Emily Guy, Helen Fern Perdue, Caroline Upshur, Kitty Zimmerman, Helen Carney, Matsie Moore, Charlotte Elliot, Lucille Davis, Virginia Agee, Susan Lane, Nancy Pobst, Alice Nelson, Will Scott, Dot Rust, Eleanor Dodson, Kitty Jamerson, "Boogie" Parker, Annie Watson Holdan, Evelyn Montgomery, Eugenia Jolly, Bonnie Powell, Leslie Bradshaw, Elizabeth Scott, Susie Clark, "Jack" Johnson, Carolyn Hoon, Nan Seward, Lib Harris, and Kathleen McCann.

DEBATE LYNCHBURG HERE FRIDAY

Margaret Pollard

Agnes Bondurant

S. T. C. To Debate Lynchburg College

Debaters to Discuss Armament Question First of Series

S. T. C. will take part in a dual debate with Lynchburg College, Friday, January 11, at 8 o'clock in the small auditorium. This is the first in a series of inter-collegiate debates of the school year. The question for debate is: Resolved that the Federal Government should own and operate all facilities for the manufacture of arms and ammunitions.

The affirmative side, which will debate with Lynchburg here, will be upheld by Margaret Pollard and Agnes Bondurant. The negative team, which debates at Lynchburg, will be supported by Virginia Hook and Louise Francis.

Everyone is invited to attend the debate.

Dean's List Recorded For Winter Quarter

Forty-seven juniors and seniors are entitled to the honor and privilege of the winter quarter dean's list. They are:

*Margaret V. Alsop, Prospect.
Grace Virginia Bass, Evington.
Emma Fenn Bingham, Norfolk.
Margaret D. Birdwell, Farmville
*Agnes M. Bondurant, Rice
Marjorie M. Booton, Luray
Helen J. Boswell, Gracey
*Carmen E. Clark, Collierstown
*Audrey M. Clements, Hampton;
Doris Coates, Norfolk;
*Katherine B. Coleman, Orange;
Mrs. Mary N. Crockett, Newport News;
*Jestine M. Cutshall, Roanoke;
*Bernice E. Eckler, Ilion, N. Y.;
*Winnie Frances Eubank, Franklin;
*Margaret R. Farrar, Farmville;
Lena MacDonald Gardner, Shawsville;
Margaret E. Gilmer, Big Stone Gap;
Mary M. Gilmer, Big Stone Gap;
*Claudia E. Harper, Newport News;
*Virginia C. Hooke, McDowell
E. Izell Houck, Blackstone;
Louise S. Hyde, Buchanan;
Jessica A. Jones, Glen Allen;
*Ethel L. Joyner, Courtland;
*Belle M. Lovelace, South Boston;
Frances V. MacDaniel, Hampton;
*Evelyn Massey, Post Oak;
*Doris C. Moore, Richmond;
*Anne Putney, Farmville;
Martha Putney, Farmville;
*Margery A. Quarles, Charlottesville;
Maude Rhodes, Hampton;
Mary E. Robeson, Blacksburg;
Nell Oakey Ryan, Shawsville;
Ruth E. Showalter, Kenbrdge;
Elizabeth Showell, Hughesville, Md.;
Elizabeth Spitler, Luray;
Elizabeth Vassar, Keysville;
*Louise Walmsley, Farmville;
*Elizabeth J. Walton, Clifton Forge;
*Katharine L. Walton, Clifton Forge;
*Alice Brooking Wheeler, Ar-

Continued on page 4, Col. 1

One Hundred Guests Attend Open Meeting of Honor Fraternity

Approximately one hundred history majors and minors were guests at an open meeting of the local chapter of P. Gamma Mu on Tuesday night in the Student Lounge. The purpose of the meeting was to give the students of history some knowledge of the organization and activities of P. Gamma Mu, the outstanding fraternity for social science.

In the absence of the president, Birdie Wooding, Louise Walmsley, the vice-president, presided. After welcoming the guests, she introduced Mary Wicker who, spoke on "The History of Pi Gamma Mu, "leaving out the facts that the organization was first initiated at Southwestern College, Winfield Kansas in 1924, and that the installation of a chapter at the University of

Continued on page 4, Col. 3

Twenty-four Girls AttainRecognition As Varsity Squad

Basketball Schedule Indicates 5 Matches With Colleges

The varsity basketball squad, as selected by Miss Iler, coach; Kathleen Ranson, assistant; and Florence Sanford, manager, are: Mary Lena Anderson, Sarah Beck, Edna oBlick, Frances Britton, Betty Butterworth, Inez Chappell, Sue Eastham, Ellen Gilliam, Jennie Belle Gilliam, Frances Hudgins, Rebecca Kern, Maxine Lewis, Paige Magee, Bernice Mann, Evelyn Mann, Ruth Phelps, Martha Putney, Kathleen Ranson, Iris Rountree, Florence Sanford, Morgan Thomas, Linda Walker, Louise Walmsley, and Marguerite York. (This list is subject to change.)

These twenty-four members of the squad were selected from about thirty-five who tried out January 7 and 8 at four o'clock. Ability and attendance at practices were major features in the selection of the squad.

Tentative plans for the basketball schedule include games with Harrisonburg S. T. C., Sweet Briar, William and Mary, Westhampton, and Blackstone. All arrangements have not been completed, and the dates and places of the games will be announced later. Plans indicate that three matches will be played at other colleges and two will take place here.

Third Lyceum, January 17 Features British Actor

Richard Kean, Britain's foremost character actor and impressionist, will appear here Thursday evening, January 17, in the third of the lyceum series.

Mr. Kean is an eminent British actor and will give character impressions in costume.

In Reality Christmas Is Over; Not So For Day Dreamers

The monotonous voice of the professor cut across the drowzy, warm atmosphere of the room. His voice semed to accentuate the quiet. Radiators clanked in the stillness. Outside all was blue and white, the vivid blueness and whiteness of a clear January day.

The girl with the mop of dark hair, the clear blue eyes and glowing cheeks that bespoke health, wanted desperately to be out in the crisp air. A week ago today, she thought, what a difference! She had been skating on the hill back of the church at home. The college crowd was home for Christmas, and Evelyn had given a skating party. They all were wrapped so warmly in gay colored sweaters and coats, and there had been hot coffee and sandwiches afterwards in Evelyn's warm, fire-lit room. Such fun it had been to see old high school friends! And how the sun had turned the snow into patches of glittering, blue diamonds! She sighed wistfully.

The girl who sat next to her, she with the fluff of golden hair and the cute face, was thinking of the holidays, but quite differently. He had taken her to a dance at the Country Club Christmas Eve. As she thought about it now the whole scene, even the smell of the cedar, came back to her. The big room with the holly, dimly-lit Christmas trees and cedar, warm firelight gimmering on the gay dresses of the girls, the grand music, the delicious midnight supper, her ownself resplendent in the new white satin evening dress, and the happy consciousness of Jack's admiring glances all seemed real! She lived them over again. And the crowning touch! Jack had asked her to Easter's at V. M. I.

Elizabeth who sat over the window was thinking hard about Christmas, too. The long lovely talks with Mother, the happy hour with Dad and little sister, the joy of seeing her friends again—all came back to her. There had been perfect food ,too.

Continued on page 3, Col. 3

Miss Iler Attends PhysicalEducation Meet at Columbia

National Volley Ball Committee Discusses Changes

Miss Olive T. Iler, a member of the national committee on volley ball, was present at Whittier Hall, Columbia University, for a meeting of the Committee of the National Women's Rules and Editorial Committees of the Women's Athletic Section of the American Physical Education Association on Dec. 27.

Those present were: Mora Crossman, of the Playground Athletic League, Baltimore, Md.; Marion Cook, of Wellesley College; Olive T. Iler, of the Physical Education Department, Farmville, Va.; a representative for Katherine Montgomery, of Florida State Board of Education; Irma Pels, of the Camp Fire Girls, New Haven, Conn.; and Natalie Wilson, of the University of Missouri.

Changes in rules, technique, and ways of arousing interest in volley ball were discussed. Most of the schools use the official rules, and where tournaments are held, the round robin method seems to be the most popular.

Doubles in volley ball were tried in Farmville last year, and they met with approval and enthusiasm. They were introduced into other schools.

Volley ball films have been made and it is possible to obtain them to study technique.

Classes Make Plans For '35 Productions

The Junior Class will present its annual production, a musical comedy, on January 25. The Sophomore class has not definitely decided on a date yet; however, their production is scheduled for either February 22, or the week before. The Freshman class has not decided upon a date for their production, which will be held sometime after the other three class productions.

The Senior class has already given its production, the senior dance in November.

It is the custom for each class to hold a production during each year in order to make money for Founder's Day.

Three Are Graduated; Enrollment Increases

Graduates of the fall quarter are: Virginia I. Brock, of Schuyler, degree; Anna Cobb of Druyville, diploma; and Wilma Tuck Wilson, of Virgilina, diploma. They will return in June to take part in commencement and receive their certificates.

The following new girls were enrolled at the beginning of the winter quarter: Myrtle Bradshaw, Newsoms:Essie Marguerite Byrd, Whaleyville; Helen Carper, Fincastle; Frances Farris, Crewe; Frances Gills, Blanch, N. C., Mrs. May Harvey, Concord Depot; Doris Isbell, Beaverdam; and Myrtle Dodd, Dry Fork.

Bernice Jones of Suffolk; Grace Olgers, Rice; and Margaret Shanks, St. Charles, who were not enrolled last quarter, have returned to continue their work.

Faculty Members Hear Millay Read

Mrs. Taylor, Miss Barnes, Miss Nichols, and Miss Royall recently journeyed to Richmond to hear Edna St. Vincent Millay read before the Poetry Club. Miss Millay, one of the greatest living poets, gave her poems in such a frank and delightful manner that the audience experienced the highly colored word pictures that she painted.

The program included such selections as the following: "The Ballad of the Harp Weaver," "Lament," "Departure," "To the Not Impossible Hymn," parts of "A Few Figs From Thistles," and a group of sonnets. She also read from her latest book, "Wine From These Grapes." Among Miss Millay's most beautiful poems are her sonnets which are touched with a note of high seriousness.

Miss Jennings heard Miss Millay give the same program in Lynchburg previous to the poet's appearance before the Poetry Club of Richmond.

Miss Mary Clay Hiner and Mrs. Taylor were fortunate in hearing Robert Frost, another famous American poet, speak and read before the national council of English Teachers in Washington a short time ago. Mr. Frost gave an interesting talk on the subject, "Can Poetry Be Taught?" His readings were some of his best known poems,

Moran Represents Teachers Colleges In Annual Meeting

Council of Geography Professors Convenes

EMORY SPEAKS

Miss Grace B. Moran, associate Professor of Geography, was the only representative of the State Teachers Colleges in Virginia at the Twenty-First Annual Meeting of the National Council of Geography Teachers held at Philadelphia, Dec. 26 and 27.

The topic for discussion assigned to Miss Moran was "The Results of the Teaching of Community Life Studies in the Primary Grades." Her talk was accompanied by a series of charts illustrating what really can be accomplished in teaching geography in the Primary grades. Among the speakers was Mr. Samuel Emory of University of North Carolina, a former Farmville professor.

It will perhaps be interesting to many of the faculty to know that Dr. Parkins of Peabody College was presented with the medal of award for achievement in the field of geography over a period of years.

Speakers at the convention were: Mr. George J. Miller, editor-in-chief of Journal of Geography; Mr. Isaiah Bowman, director of the American Geographical Society; Mr. Earl Hanson of the National Resources Board at Washington, D. C.; and Mr. William J. Berry of State Teachers College, Kalamazoo, Michigan

In concluding her talk Miss Moran said: "What can be more logical and practical than to suggest that the community Life Studies be made more meaningful by enriching the subject matter content through capitalizing geography interests?

The home and the community are the acknowledged centers of interest, constituting the integral

Continued on page 4, Col. 1

Honor Roll Students of Winter Announced

Grades for the fall quarter have been returned. When the following students receive their reports they will find the welcome words "Honor Roll" written thereon:

Virginia Lee Acworth, Virginia L. Agee, Margaret V. Alsop, Elizabeth R. Andrews, Laeta D. Barham, Mamie I. Barns, Grace V. Bass, H. Virginia Bean, Emma F. Bingham, Margaret Birdwell, Ela Arthur Black, Edna R. Bolick, Agnes M. Bondurant, Marjorie M. Booton, Helen J. Boswell, Marjorie Bradshaw, Mabel L. Britt, Frances Britton, Burnley Brockenbrough, Ethel C. Burgess, Ethel Maxine Burks, Elsie F. Cabell, Mary Elizabeth Carroll, Inez Chappell, Carmen Clark, Audrey Mae Clements, Doris Coates, Anna L. Cobb, Anna Louise Coleman, Katherine Coleman, W. Grace Collins, Sarah E. Corbin, Kathryne E. Cotten, M. Catherine Crews, Mrs. Mary N. Crockett, Jestine M. Cutshall, Mildred T. Davis Maud Deekens, Julia L. Derr, Erna T. Dickerson, Ann R. Diggs, Margaret Dortch, Edith Claire Eastman, Bernice E. Eckler, Grace Eubank, Winnie Frances Eubank, Margaret Farrar,

Continued from page 4, Col. 2

Forest Service Lecturer To Speak in Chapel Friday

Dr. H. N. Wheeler, chief lecturer of the United States Forest Service, Washington, D. C., will speak in chapel Friday, Jan. 11. He will use slides to illustrate his talk.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Published by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

MEMBER
Associated Collegiate Press
1934 Collegiate Digest 1935
MADISON WISCONSIN

Staff

Lelia Mattox ..... Editor
Evelyn Massey ..... Associate Editor
Lena Mac Gardner ..... Business Manager

Board of Editors

Miss Jane Royall ..... Alumnae
Florence Sanford ..... Make-up
Susan Gresham ..... Headlines
Kathryne Cotten ..... Literary
Birdie Wooding, Emma Bingham, Bess McGlothlin ..... Editorials
Anne Putney ..... World News
Anne Diggs ..... Social
Kathleen Ranson, Lelia Sanford ..... Sports
Belle Lovelace, Amis Montgomery ..... Features

Proof Readers

Elizabeth Walton, Dorothy Deans, Agnes Bondurant

Managers

Alva Sawyer ..... Asst. Business
Maude Rhodes, Lila Jacob, Elsie Cabell ..... Circulation

Assistants and Reporters

Bonnie Lane, Minnie Smith, Mary Lee Newcomb, Elsie Cabell, Mary Adeline McGlothlin, Katherine Coleman, Elizabeth Mann, Grace Allen Pittard

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 9, 1935

Prevention and Cure

"An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" is heard so often that we may overlook its significance sometimes. We cannot, however, ignore the fact today, or ever, that human welfare cannot be measured in mere pounds and ounces.

Returning to school after a jolly holiday and looking forward to an unmarred year, we may forget that we may be the carriers of germs that may not hurt us, but that may cause serious trouble to someone else or to many with whom we come in contact.

If any of us has been exposed to contagious diseases it is only fair that the one report to Dr. Field. It is better to be safe than sorry.

Colds, too, are spreading. It cannot be stressed too much that these, also, should be checked by going to the infirmary for medical treatment. Time lost can never be regained nor lost study fully made up.

By following Dr. Jarman's suggestion for prevention, cure will not be necessary.

A Reminder in Years to Come

In years to come we will look back on the year '34-'35 as holding some of the happiest memories of our college life spent at S. T. C. Many events and friendships will return to our minds immediately. For lack of a reminder there will be many others that we will fail to recall.

Fifteen girls chosen from our student body are giving their time, energy, and originality to the composing of a reminder in the form of our annual, "The Virginian." The staff works under its editor-in-chief, Elizabeth Vassar, with Mr. McCorkle, Miss Bedford, and Miss Jennings as its faculty advisers.

"The Virginian" this year will contain individual pictures of more than four hundred members of the student body, pictures of organizations, May Day, Founders' Day, and other events taking place during the year. There is to be a feature section, the secrets of which are not to be disclosed until the book is distributed.

To date there have been only 148 subscribers. We urge you to give this matter your consideration. Cooperate with the staff and show your appreciation by making your first payment on the '35 Virginian at the table in the hall Thursday. In this way you will secure for yourself a reminder in a most attractive way, happenings of this year at S. T. C.

Time to Choose the Committee

In the December 1934 student body meeting the motion was passed that the editors-in-chief and the business managers of The Rotunda and Virginia be appointed by a committee rather than elected as formerly. No committee, however, was suggested or chosen for appointing these officers.

If the committee is to make a wise selection isn't it about time it were appointed? There are only two months before that committee is to choose two of our major and two of our minor officers for next year. If the committee is selected soon it will have time to observe carefully the work of the prospective officers. If the committee is not selected until so late that they will not have time to really know what the present staff members can and will do, can we expect them to make the best decisions?

Since the Council brought to us the recommendation that the system of choosing the administrative officers of The Rotunda and Virginian be changed, it will, perhaps, be the Council that will select the committee. They will, doubtless, be the proper ones to do it, so to the Council—isn't it about time?

1935

We think it is senseless optimism on the part of those pompous personages and public speakers who annually think it their duty and honor to proclaim "This is going to be the biggest year we have ever had!" Our opinion is such, because, carefully observing, we find that most of these optimists during the course of that "biggest" year contribute little, or least, of those things which make the really BIG.

Now, we exempt those earnest persons who in the sincerity and enthusiasm of a new beginning and those exalted with new plans and new hopes give an honest expression to their expectations. Those are the people whom we shall look to for the worthwhile accomplishments, and we thrill to the awakening courage stirred by their zeal, so easily distinguished from the other more expected, routine proclamation.

The new year is an important thing to all people. It means, if not an altogether fresh start in life, a renewal of interest, a revival of strength, and hope in life, and its tasks. It is not possible or even worthwhile in every instance that the new year bring a change, a new start to us. The man, well-established in business, successful and happy in a fine home and family would foolishly await the new year to start him anew again. He does cheerfully, happily at the turn of the twelve months take a new grip on life, a new vow to never flag, a new resolve to go forward, to help others upward. To him the new year is a blessing and a joy to those near him.

More personally and individually, we here at school should consider what the new year is to mean to us. Reports from last year are coming back to us. In few cases are they completely satisfactory, in many they are disappointing, disheartening, but—even though we did not accomplish what we wanted, is there any one of us who would welcome the new year as the fair time to start bacg in the first grade—to discard all we've gained? We dare to say, seriously, there is not. We are confident that we have some things worth having. What we do need to feel is that we haven't all we could have or should have got. So we face 1935 saying "We'll do better," not simply, "Oh, this is going to be great", and let that be all there is to it.

The birght ones will get along without a college education. It is the slow ones who need colleges.—Ruth Nichols, Flier.

Democracy is the form of government which gives or tries to give the people the illusion that they are sovereign.—Premier Mussolini.

Most people try everything when they are young except moderation.—B. D. Montague.

Alumnae News

Announces Engagement

Mrs. Frederick Diehl announces the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Catherine Maclay, to Mr. J. Guy Lancaster, son of Mrs. William Lancaster, of Farmville. Miss Diehl is resigning her position as an assistant in the Registrar's Office, and her sister, Mary, is assuming duties there.

Holladay-Jolly

A wedding of much social interest was solemnized on Dec. 22 when Mrs. Elizabeth Pulley Jolly, daughter of the late Hon. F. P. Pulley and Mrs. Pulley of "Cedar Lawn," Ivor, Virginia, became the bride of James Porter Holladay, son of Dr. and Mrs. Lewis Holladay, of Orange, Va. The ceremony was performed by Rev. William V. Gardner at the Presbyterian Manse in Farmville at eight o'clock.

Immediately after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Holladay left for a wedding trip to Florida. They will be at home to their friends at 216 Main Street, Farmville.

Mc'Nanlass-Sheffield

The marriage of Miss Polly Sheffield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis George Sheffield of Boydton, to John Francis McCanlass of South Boston took place in Emporia on Dec. 18.

Entertains For Brides-Elect

Miss Nan Gilbert was hostess with four tables of bridge at her home on High Street Tuesday evening for Misses Paula Irving and Betty Shields, whose engagements have already been announced.

Mrs. Packer Now at Johns Hopkins

Mrs. Sophia Booker Packer who has been director of the Out-Patient department at the Southside Hospital, Farmville, for the last four years has accepted a position at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore and will leave for her new duties on Jan. 14.

May-Quaintance

Dr. J. O. Quaintance of Charlottesville has announced the recent marriage of his daughter, Mary Stuart, to Cary L. May of Gordonsville, Va.

Hollis-Landis

Dr. and Mrs. Paul J. Landis of Norfolk, Va., have announced the marriage of their daughter, Miss Mildred T. Landis, to William Hollis, son of Mrs. Emma Fuller Hollis and the late William L. Hollis of Winchester, Va.

Review of the News

For the first time in the history of the nation, Congress opened on the third of January in regular session. In the House for this 74th session the Democratic membership numbers 321 in a total membership on 435. Never before has any majority party controlled so many seats. The first fight on the hands of the Democrats was that over the speakership which went to Joseph W. Byrns of Tennessee, majority leader in the 73rd Congress. Since a Southern Democrat had won the speakership, opposition against another Southerner for majority leader was vigorous, but in the end, this office went to William B. Bankhead of Alabama. Southern Democrats, although they are out numbered 2 to 1, stand in position to receive 57 per cent of the chairmanships of committees if the old seniority rule still applies.

President Roosevelt again delivered in person his annual address to a joint session of Congress on January 4, thus keeping up the custom of Wodrow Wilson. His message set forth his policy for the coming year in regard to public expenditure and relief work. Mr. Roosevelt indicated that he wished to steer a middle course between the CWA of last year and the PWA of this year by placing the wage scale above relief allotments but not too high to discourage return to private employment. Mr. Roosevelt still holds the confidence of the people and stirs their imaginations by his dramatic proposals.

Over the Knitting Needles

"Isn't it nice to begin a new quarter all fresh from two weeks of Christmas holidays? You know, I couldn't wait to come back and see Bessie and Janie and find out what they got . . . And I have a class under that adorable Mr. French! Ah, Life is good!

"What, you didn't want to come back? I just can't understand that! Why Easter is just around the corner. Well, don't throw things. It is practically around the corner. I can't help it if the corner is two or three blocks away.

"And say, did you know Maudie K has a sense of humor? I can't wait to see who "Me" is who wrote to "Dearest Family" and told them that she'd got here safely, but hadn't had much sleep. And with all the chances you have to sleep here! All the radios are cut off promptly at eleven; everybody is always quiet from seven-thirty to ten, because that's study hour. Of course, the Physical Ed. class has to have its little tapping routine from ten till ten-thirty, but I believe in having a tolerant attitude about such things.

"How many people did you kiss when you came back? I stopped counting at forty-five and started taking aspirin for my cold. Nearly everybody I greeted informed me five minutes later that she had a bad case of flu and practically taking her death tour; and you know me, I believe an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of Dr. Field's pills.

"Did you see those gorgeous lounging pajamas Gracie brought back winth her? She said Johnny gave them to her for Christmas, but I don't think Johnny is that kind of a boy. He seemed so nice and quiet at the Senior Dance. He hardly yelled at all, and he didn't have to be taken off the floor but once.

"Did you go to many dances Christmas? Some of these Eastern Shore girls came back telling stories about all the dances they went to, and so did the Newport News contingent. Well, I rested during the holidays because I knew I had a stiff course in front of me, what with three Physical Ed. classes. I read some good books and spent several hours planning my time budget for this quarter. I believe in getting an education before I start on the lighter things of life. Mother says they can't wait—and then, too, nobody asked me to any dances because it's very generally known how I feel on the subject.

"Percival gave me the most beautiful pair of book ends for Christmas, and I gave him a copy of ."Nicholas Mickleby." He's been wanting that for so so long, because he's making a collection of Dickens' novels. I believe in giving nice conservative gifts, don't you?

"You mean you really wouldn't want to find Nicholas Mickleby under your Christmas tree? Well, I don't see why. It's something you can keep all your life, even after the glamor and tinsel of Christmas is gone.

"And you know, I really must show you something! Wait till I find the key to my little Treasure Chest. I have the sweetest snapshot of Percy. He's in the midst of cranking his Ford, and he has the most mechanical look on his face. See? I just love realistic pictures, don't you?

"More girls had dates with those HampdenSydney boys the night they got back, but I didn't see one boy who could hold a candle to Percival. He's independent. He holds his own candles.

"Did you see the picture of our Mardi Gras queen in the paper the other day? I wonder whether people will come to the dance. I'd love to ask Percy because I think it's going to be such a nice affair. 'm going to get up all my work the night before and wear my pink taffeta evening dress. But, really, I'm afraid somebody'll shoot him a line, and it would worry him. He's told me often how he hates deceitful girls. You don't think anybody'll shoot him a line? Oh, if you're really sure, I think I'll go up and write him, now, to come.

"I've enjoyed our little chat so much. You're such a grand person to talk to, Jennie! You have such lovely ideas. Come around tonight and we'll knit a few more rows on our sweaters.

Well, good-bye, now!

Prize Winning Limerick

The prize winning limerick was submitted by Belle Lovelace.

There was a bad boy named
Mose;
And while his old pa tried to dose.
He took his pa's slippa
And used it to flip a
Wee fly off his pa's twitching nose.

Honorable mention is given to Grace Bass.

There were once two cats of Kilkenny;
Each thought there was one cat too many.
So they fought and they fit,
And they scratched and they bit,
Until, instead of two cats there weren't any.

Among those submitted were:

An old mule, quite contrary and slow,
Wouldn't budge when his master
said, "Go.!"
But the mule raised his heel—
His master sleeps under the snow.

—Eleanor Gibbs.

He talked his class with great fervor
About Juno, Appollo, and Minerva.
They sat and looked wise
'Twas a mask of disguise
Their minds were ten miles away further.

—Elizabeth Mann.

In conversation I am not a wit,
I take me a chair and I sit.
While others are talking,
I dream that I'm walking
And this gives others a fit.

—Emma Bingham.

"If" For Teachers

(With Apologies to Kipling)

If you believe that the child should be
The center of all activity;
If you believe that learning comes,
Even from the experience of eating plums;
If you believe in using always
That which happens in all the days;
Or better still, the viewing of the very spot
Where it is to happen helps a lot;

If you believe in doing your share
In showing the child his need and care;
If you believe in a choice of subjects,
Which really are true public
projects;
If you believe in certain changing of procedure,
And make plenty of plans, even for leisure,
Yours is the school plant and all
that's in it,
And—what's more—you'll be a teacher, my girl.

—Lois Moses, '35.

Mnemonics for Fall Quarter, 1934

1. Swimming pool is opened.
2. Seniors attend chapel daily.
3. Monday song class for everybody is instituted.
4. Juniors make the Dean's List.
5. Longwood is opened on Sunday afternoons.
6. Fifty-one juniors and seniors are enrolled in elementary education.
7. Thanksgiving holiday was extended over the week-end.
8. We didn't stage our annual color-rush.
9. No Thanksgiving hockey games were played.
10. Only four girls were late in returning after holidays.
11. Senior class gave a dance.

A man that is young in years may be old in hours, if he has lost no time.—Bacon.

Dost thou love life? then do not squander time, for that is the stuff life is made of.—Franklin.

SOCIALS

After the gayety of the holiday period wears off, as everyone knows, there is that after-the-holiday-let-down feeling. But cheer up—big times are just around the corner.

At Home

A few girls ventured home during the week-end—perhaps to finish up the Christmas holidays, or maybe to recuperate. Among them were Sallie Perrow, Ida Sue Carter, Belle Lovelace and Edna Bolick.

Spent Week-end In Richmond

Winifred Goodman spent the week-end in Richmond. Maybe she was doing some of her Christmas Shopping—just 351 more days!

Spent Week-end In Lynchburg

Carolyn Byrd and Burnley Brockenbrough spent the week-end in Lynchburg as guests of Sallie Perrow.

At State Farm

Among those who spent the week-end at State Farm were Bobby Mattox and Sally Rose Chappell.

Other Places Visited

Other places visited were Newport News by Annie Mae Campbell; South Boston by Margaret Via; and Dillwyn by Pauline Pearson.

Spanish Club Celebrates New YearWith Party

As Sunday was the beginning of the New Year's celebration in Spain, the Spanish Club had a New Year's party Monday night in the Choral Club room. Charlotte Young read a poem and Bonnie Lane told about the Santa Claus in Spain, after which gifts were distributed and refreshments were served.

B. Shields Honored With Bridge Party

Margaret Birdwell entertained nine tables of bridge at her home Friday night in honor of Betty Shields. The high score prize for girls went to Alice Hardaway and to Curtis Hubbard for boys. The color scheme of green and white was carried out attractively.

School girls playing were: Ellen Simmerman, Mabel Britt, Jean McClure, Mamie Barnes, Lelia Sanford, Florence Sanford, Lucy Shields, Betty Rivers, Emily Brumfield, Buck Pleasants, and Margaret Farrar.

Y. W. Entertains Newcomers At Party Saturday Night

Saturday night the Y. W. C. A. Cabinet entertained the girls who are new in school this quarter with a New Year's party. Around a cozy fire in the Student Building lounge several clever games suggesting getting acquainted, resolution making, snow balling and January fun were played. The Social Committee was welcome at ten-thirty when they served delicious refreshments.

Girls Discuss Plans For Contest Entry

Miss Jennings was hostess at tea at the Cactus Inn on Saturday afternoon when she entertained thirteen girls. These girls, all of whom are interested in writing, met primarily to formulate plans for entrance into the Atlantic Monthly Prize Essay Contest. Miss Jennings will help and offer suggestions in any way possible.

Any other girls who are interested in entering this contest can find out the requirements by seeing Miss Jennings.

Parliamentary Law Class Discontinued this Quarter

The class in parliamentary law, which was conducted by Dr. Walmsley in the fall quarter as a non-credit class, will not be continued this quarter. Plans are being made to institute a permanent credit class on this subject in the spring.

Service Committee Plays Santa Claus

More money was received at the White Christmas service this session than even before. The amount collected from organizations and individuals was $37.05. Part of this money will be used in maintaining the soup kitchen in the Training School. Soup is given to all children in the first, second, and third grades who come in on buses. The service committee of the Y. W. played Santa Claus to three families in the country. A basket of food and clothing was given to each family. To the younger children of the families toys were given.

The service committee with Sue Waldo as chairman is very anxious to collect clothing among the students for the benefit of needy families.

Fizzle Up Ginger Ale Program on Air Sat.

After seeing Sing Saturday night, there is little doubt felt by the Student Body but that the Fizzle Up Ginger Ale is the best ginger ale on market. At least, their broadcasting program was one of high merit, especially on Saturday night in Sing, for they had an all-star cast introduced by the peppy announcer, Helen Smith.

The cast included the Boswell Sisters known on campus as Nancy Beard, Polly Wall and Sue Mallory. They were followed by Fred Astaire who was skillfully impersonated by Gay Stieffen. Bonnie Lane, as Ed Wynne, came to the microphone to make the worthwhile New Year's resolution—"to drink only Fizzle-up Ginger Ale in 1935." Lucy Potter, as Gladys Glad, lost no time in coming forward to make the same resolution. Nancy Pobst as Little Jack Little, showed her approval of the fine Fizzle-Up product by playing the Universal favorite "Stay as Sweet as You Are". Virginia Leonard as the noted Bing Crosby surprised the audience by saying "twins were unwanted," but that was easily over-looked when the characteristic "Crosby Croon" was heard in "When the Blue of the Day". Ted Husing, impersonated by Sarah Beck, breezed into the Broadcasting Station to express his keen delight in the world's best ginger-ale namely the Fizzle-Up.

The broadcast closed as it had opened with the singing of the Fizzle Up Theme Song leaving the audience pleased and thirsty for Fizzle Up Ginger Ale.

GOSSIP TOWN

Have you ever heard of Gossip Town,
On the Shores of Falsehood Bay,
Where old Dame Rumor, with rustling gown,
Is going the livelong day?

It isn't far to Gossip Town,
For people who want to go;
The Idleness Train will take you down
In just an hour or so.

The Thoughtless Road is a popular route,
And most folks start that way,
But its steep down grade; if you don't watch out
You'll land in Falsehood Bay.

You glide through the valley of Vicious Town
And into the Tunnel of Hate,
Then crossing the Add-to Bridge you walk
Right into the city gate.

The principal street is called "They say," and
"I've heard" is the public well,
And the breezes that blow from Falsehood Bay
Are laden with "Don't you tell."

In the midst of the town is Tell-Tale Park;
You're never quite safe while here,
For it's owner is Mister or Madam Suspicious Remark
Who lives on the corner Don't Care.

Just back of the park is Slander's Row,
'Twas there that Good Name died,
Pierced by a dart from Jealousy's bow,
In the hands of Envious Pride.

From Gossip Town peace long since fled,
But envy and strife and woe,
And sorrow and care you'll find insted,
If ever you chance to go.

—Exchange

Good resolutions are a pleasant crop to sow. The seed springs up so readily, and the blossoms open so soon with such a brave show, especially at first. But when the time of flowers has passed, what as to the fruit?—L. Malet.

You may be whatever you resolve to be. Determine to be something in the world, and you will be something. "I cannot," never accomplished anything; "I will try," has wrought wonders.—J. Hawes.

In Reality Christmas Season Is Over

Continued from page 1

She had had a date occasionally and had been to lots of bridge parties and to several dinner parties and teas—but she didn't mind about such a few dates. There had been sleep—perfect rest—with freedom from study. She had listened to the radio for hours and read all the new books at home, and nothing could mar the unalloyed joy of being with her family. Tears misted her eyes a little when she thought of Mother. How dear she was!

Suddenly she almost fell from her seat. The girl behind her was prodding her unmercifully. Elizabeth came back to the consciousness of where she was, with the sickening realization that that dry, mildly sarcastic voice was speaking to her, and had been, she wondered, for how long?

"Miss Jones, could you bother yourself to tell me the circumstances surrounding the rise of the Roman Empire?"

Among the Alumnae

Interesting and noteworthy achievements of Farmville Alumnae are reported from week to week in this column. Clippings, letetrs, or information about our graduates and former students who have done unusual things, should be sent to James M. Grainger, Head of the Department of English.

Grace George of the class of 1927 is congratulated on winning a prize trip to Barton as reported in this clipping from the Portsmouth Star:

School Teacher Wins Ocean Cruise

Miss Grace A. George

Miss Grace A. George, diminutive 26-year-old blond school teacher of the Portsmouth Public Schools, was yesterday declared the winner of the Portsmouth Star-Merchants & Miners vacation cruise to Boston and New England. Her answers to the 20 questions were not only all correct, but the neatness, originality and manner of presentation of her answers were points on which the judges decided that she was entitled to win the award. Miss George will take with her on the trip her mother, Mrs. W. W. George, of 211 Owens street, as her chaperone. Arrangements for the voyage are now being completed and it is expected that the smiling little school miss who has been so popular with hundreds of Portsmouth school children for several years, will soon be on her way to view the historical points of interest in and around Boston, and enjoying the pleasures of an ocean cruise on one of the Merchants and Miners palatial steamers.

Miss George's letter—in exactly fifty words, as per the rules, was declared by the judges to have been the determining factor in giving her the award. Superimposed on a white paper cut-out of a steamship, surrounded on a background of green water in fleet formation, with twenty-one other ships, Miss George wrote her answer, which was:

"The Naval Hospital Park serves as a vantage point for viewing our harbor. As a child I would ask, "Where does that big boat go?" Came the inevitable answer, 'Boston.' The present desire that grew out of a childish question has intensified with the years. New England by boat—irresistible!"

On each of the other ship cut-outs Miss George placed a numeral on the stacks, indicating the number of the question, which floated up into the air in the form of smoke. Then on the sides of the ships she wrote her answers to the questions.

It was not an easy task to decide upon the winners, as there were several 100 per cent correct, but scoring on the basis of points for neatness, accuracy, originality and manner of presnetation, Miss George made the highest score, 90 out of a possible 100.

There were some exceptionally clever presentations, some of them being in poetry, some in book form with actual photographs, while still others exhibited great artistic skill and penmanship on the part of contestants. All were given an equal showing and all were judged on the same basis.

Students of history are at last getting the inside story on the "Alabama Claims." Look what happened at the Rose Bowl New Year's Day.

Members of the Virginian staff have put it all over Joe Penner with their, "Wanna buy an annual?"

PRINTING . . . . .

When you think of Printing think of

—The—
FARMVILLE HERALD

GOLDSTRIPE HOSIERY, sheerest, finest and best wearing hose in America—in all the new winter shades. Buy one of these and you will always be a Goldstripe wearer
Per pair $1.00
RAINCAPES—Colors of the Rainbow.
Special $1.00

Newest Tree Bark Shoes
DRESS TIES, PUMPS OR SPORT OXFORDS.
Special this week ..... $3.95 Values $2.95

THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE
Farmville's Best Place to Shop!

—FOR—
EVERYTHING—SCHOOL SUPPLIES, CANDIES, FRUITS, CONFECTIONS, ETC.
GO TO . . . . .
GILLIAM'S
Open 'till 9:00 p. m.

SHOES
For All
Occasions

Evening—Dress—Sports—Street Wear
$2.95 to $5.95
DAVIDSON'S

Going Away? . . . . . .
Travel by
GREYHOUND
Safe—Comfortable—Economical

C. E. Chappell Co.
Stationery, Blank Books and School Supplies
Cigars, Cigarettes and Soda
Farmville, Virginia

Rice's Shoe Store
Street and Dress Shoes
Dancing Slippers Dyed
Correct fits our specialty It

Kleanwell
CLEANERS AND TAILORS
Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling ladies garments
Main Street, opposite Post office
Phone 98

Gray's Drug Store
QUALITY—PRICE—SERVICE
Come in and Get Acquainted
We are glad to have you with us!
Farmville, Virginia

Mack's
BARBER AND BEAUTY SHOP
323 Main Street
We use the Frederick Method Hair cutting and thinning a Specialty

S. A. Legus
TAILOR
CLEANING
PRESSING
REPAIRING
Phone 203

ARE YOU INTERESTED?

JACKETS of Grain and Suede Cloth and Wool SWEATERS.

We are showing the season's newest. Come in. We are glad to show—Just what we have—and the line is very attractive.

VERSER'S

PHILCO RADIO
World's largest manufacturers of Radio
A complete line
Watch repairing a specialty
Sheet Music—Strings for Instruments
LYNN, The Main Street Jeweler

YOUR NEIGHBOR,
The Weyanoke Beauty Salon
invites you to drop in and take advantage of their Special prices now in effect.

Permanent Waves—$4 & $6 Shampoo & Fingerwave 75 cents
Manicure 40 cents

Indiivdual, courteous, efficient service and an established reputation for dependability and satisfaction. That is our guarantee, and your assurance of perfect workmanship.

Plan To Organize Basketball Board

That high schools and colleges may have a better understanding of the rules of basketball and get rated officials to referee games, a Basketball Board will be organized in Farmville, according to an announcement by Miss O. T. Iler.

Miss Iler will be in charge of the board from this district. Miss Elizabeth Webb, formerly of Richmond Normal and now of John Marshall High School, is state chairman of the organization.

Basketball will be placed on a higher level in this section of Virginia, and there will be a standard price for referees and umpires through the organization of a board such as William and Mary and Richmond have already formed.

Sign on the Bulletin Board

Those students interested in securing a Junior or Senior Life Saving Badge or in having certificates renewed have been requested by Mrs. Fitzpatrick to sign on the bulletin board in the hall before noon Friday, Jan. 11, 1935.

Dr. Frazer, of Farmville, will be in charge of the class.

Classes Will Present Four Saturday Sings

The classes will present the next four Saturday Sings. Beginning this Saturday night, the senior class will be in charge of the Sing program. Next Saturday night the juniors will take charge, and the last class Sing will be Feb. 2.

Lena MacGardner has been appointed by the seniors to head the committee in charge of Sing for this Saturday night.

Moran Represents Teachers Colleges

Continued from page 1

part of the child's life. An understanding and an appreciation of them in order to live more abundantly and more richly constitute one of the school's major objectives. We can foresee the happiness and the satisfaction of growing boys and girls in exploring and investigating in order to understand the activities carried on within this realm. We can see these boys and girls entering the upper grades with a much better foundation upon which to build and a richer background for interpreting broader experiences.

"In the light of these facts, does it not seem that we should meet the challenge presented by the Community Life Studies where geography has its inception and its all abiding interest?"

Dean's List Recorded For Winter Quarter

Continued from page 1

rine:

Janice R. White, Oak Hill, W. Va.

Mary W. Wicker, Farmville;

A. Beverley Wilkinson, Lynchburg, and

E. Katherine Young, Boydton.

The starred names are those students on the Dean's List for the fall quarter, 1934.

Science Convention Marks Much Progress

Continued from page 1

Whence and Whither."

In accordance with the newer knowledge of interest to science teachers, Dr. Jeffers and Mr. Coyner heard the report on "The Present Status of Knowledge of Cosmic Rays," read by Robert A. Millikan, of the California Institute of Technology; and a luncheon address by Professor Edward Thorndike.

S. T. C. is proud that it was represented at that conference, and that Dr. Jeffers read a report on the "Relation of a National organization of Training of Teachers in Service."

The S. T. C. representatives to the conference report that it was a great and important step in the scientific world and that the Annual Science exhibition far exceeded those of recent years.

Mr. Coyner Teaches Class in Astronomy

Mr. Coyner is teaching this quarter a course in Descriptive Astronomy. The object of this course is to enable the student to interpret and appreciate the most common phenomena of the sun, moon, stars, planets, meteors, comets, and eclipses—their movements, sizes, and their relationships to each other.

The course, the first to be offered here in astronomy, is designed to help high school teachers to be able to explain these phenomena to their students.

Frequent observations will be made at night to identify the constellations and the brighter stars. There are ten enrolled in the class, which is offered to juniors and seniors.

Honor Roll Students of Winter Announced

Continued from page 1

Kathryn Fitzgerald, Louise Floyd, Mary Louise Francis, Katherine Galusha, Lena MacDonald Gardner, Eleanor V. Gibbs, E. Victoria Gillette, Jennie Belle Gilliam, Margaret E. Gilmer, Mary M. Gilmer, Helen E. Glass, Mary Alice Glass, Martha Hamlet, Edith M. Hammock, Claudia E. Harper, Helen Lindsay Harris, Dartha L. Harrison, Dorothy Harrison, Martha L. Harrison, Virginia Hooke, Ethel Izell Houck, Katherine Hoyle, Katherine C. Hurt, Elizabeth Huse, Louise Hyde, Anne E. Irving, Lilo Jacob, Lillian Frances Johnson, Jessica Ann Jones, Ann Joyce, Ethel Leigh Joyner, Frances Louise Keesee, Evelyn G. Knaub, Marion G. Layne, Gertrude Levy, Belle Lovelace, Merriel McAllister, Mary Adeline McGlothlin, Ella Mallory, Sue Mallory, Ann Elizabeth Mann, Evelyn Massey, Audrey E. Mattox, Lelia R. Mattox, Norvell Montague, Doris C. Moore, Billie Morgan, Mary Elizabeth Morris, Alice M. Nelson, Zilla Anne Newsom, Addie Norfleet, Page Nottingham, Elizabeth Pamplin, Ernestine Payne, Ruth N. Phelps, Isabel Plummer, Margaret Pollard, Marian Pond, Dorothy Price, Anne Putney, Martha Putney, Margery Ann Quarles, M. Kathleen Ranson, Virginia Rawlings, Dorothy Rhodes, Lucile Rhodes, Maude Rhodes, Elizabeth Roberts, Dorothy E. Robertson, Mary E. Robeson, Marguerite Rollins, Margaret Russell, Nell Oakey Ryan, Elizabeth Saunders, Willis Scott, Wyclif Scott, Nan Seward, Ruth Showalter, Elizabeth Showell, Helen Smith, Dorothy Spencer, Elizabeth Spitler, Zaida Thomas, Elise B. Turner, Alice B. Tweedy, A. Elizabeth Vassar, Lois R. Vassar, Marcia H. Vick, Julia Ann Waldo, Louise Walmsley, Elizabeth Walton, Katharine Walton, Janice White, Mary W. Wicker, A. Beverley Wilkinson, E. Jean Willis, Cora Evelyn Wilson, Wilma T. Wilson, E. Tyler Wood, Mary Elizabeth Wood, Frances Woodhouse, Frances Yeater, Marguerite York, Charlotte Young, Sarah Alice Zeigler, and Kathryn Jamison.

Monogram Club Continues Physical Efficiency Tests

Physical efficiency tests, conducted by the Monogram Club, will be continued Friday, January 11, at five o'clock. The hour will remain changed during the basketball season.

Badge tests and stunts will be held during the winter quarter, and field and track events will begin in the spring.

Upperclassmen, few of whom have continued their interests in the tests, and freshmen may find out definitely what tests have been passed and how many more are necessary Friday afternoon at practice.

100 Guests Attend Honor Society Meet

Continued from page 1

Honolulu marked the beginning of its activity outside the continent. "With Dr. Leroy Allen as its first president the fraternity made rapid strides, adopting as its motto, "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free." Chicago 1928 was the scene of the first National Convention," said Mary Wicker. A discussion of the arms and fields of P. Gamma Mu concluded this informative talk.

Dr. Walmsley acted as pinch-speaker for Birdie Wooding on, "The Personnel of Pi Gamma Mu." Having presided over the national convention held in New Orleans in 1931 and having made personal contracts with the officers, Dr. Walmsley was especially qualified to give an interesting and personal account of the personalities behind the organization. Admiral Richard Evelyn Byrd, who is now honorary president, has carried the flag of Pi Gamma Mu into the Ananctic. Senator Harry Flood Byrd is an active member of the local Virginia Gamma Chapter. Dr. Charles Ellwood of Duke University, is Natwood, president, although Dr. Allen in the capacity of National Executive Secretary really conducts most of its affairs.

In closing, Dr. Walmsley mentioned the regional and state organizations of Pi Gamma Mu.

The final lecture was tilted, "The Social Science Magazine," the official organ of Pi Gamma Mu and Phi Sigma Alpha. Ruby Blanton told something of its contents, stating that world movements and problems, the relation of social science to other phases of life, an open forum and news section, and book reviews make up the bulk of the magazine. The editor-in-chief is Dr. Leroy Allen and among the associate editors are Dr. Walmsley and Dr. Bruce Patteson, a national officer and the author of the present texts used in a government class here for course III students.

A short informal discusion on the relationship's of Pi Gamma Mu to local school activities followed. It was also pointed out that S. T. C. was the first chapter to make it a student organization with student program leaders and officers. This barge has been effected nationally in the organization which was formerly compose dof faculty members only.

Tea was served by the members o fthe local chapter.

Our New Year's resolution was to count three and then shoot the guy who punned on "revolution" just at this time.

Announcing the Opening of

SOUTHSIDE ANNEX

DRINKS AND SANDWICHES

EACO THEATRE

Mats. 4 p. m.; Nights 8 p. m.
Adults 25c; Children 15c
Unless otherwise noted

Thurs., Fri., Jan. 10-11
JOE PENNER
Lanny Ross, Jack Oakie
"College Rhythm"
Adults 25c and 35c

Saturday, Jan. 12
ROBERT YOUNG
MADGE EVANS
"Death on the Diamond"
"Rhythm on the Roof"
"Hot Sands" and Fox News

Next Mon., Tues, Jan. 14-15
SHIRLEY TEMPLE
James Dunn, Jane Dardwell
"Bright Eyes"
Adults 25c and 35c

Next Wed., Jan. 16
HENRY HULL
(of Tobacco Road)
in Chas. Dickens'
Great Expectat's
Capt. 13 "The Red Rider"
Next Thurs., Fri.
Jan. 17-18.
"Anne of Green Gables"

Southside Drug Store
(On the Corner)
Films Developed FREE
If bought at this store

The Schemmel Conservatory of Music
Offers interesting instruction by Artist Teachers, arranged to suit the needs of each pupil. Piano: Elsa Schemmel Fairchild, Marie Schemmel Shroder, Voice: Mattie Spencer Willis, Violin: Richmond Seay of Blackstone College.

Farmville Mfg. Co.
BUILDING MATERIALS
MILLWORK
Farmville, Va.

You Would Love to Have Your Shoes Fixed at
Lovelace Shoe Shop
110 Third Street

ROOM FURNISHINGS
SCHOOL SUPPLIES
CANDIES
ROSES
5-10-25c Store
FARMVILLE, VA.

Overton-Mottley Hdwe. Co.
ELECTRIC GOODS/
Tennis Rackets and balls
Roller Skates

Shannon's
Is Headquarters for the Best
SANDWICHES
—and—
DRINKS
in Farmville!

Special orders for
Teas and Parties
Try our doughnuts
Foley's Bakery
Third Street

WILLIS
The Florist
Flowers for all occastons
PHONES 181-273

Conoco Gas and Oil
Fill up at
Johns Motor Co.
Farmville, Va.

Martin the Jeweler
Gifts of
Lasting Remembrance
317 Main St. Farmville

POTTED MEATS
SANDWICH SPREAD
SANDWICH ROLLS
HOT DOGS
Everything for the Picnic
W. R. Drumeller
Main Street Farmville

Cleaning at reduced rates
State Cleaning Co.
Third Street

SUPPERS AND
SMALL PARTIES
Good Breakfast
Dinners
Suppers
College Tea Room
and
LONGWOOD

Buy Your
CANDY
To Sell at
H. T. Stokes & Co.

G. F. Butcher
High Street
"The Convenient Store"
FOR GOOD THINGS
TO EAT AND DRINK

Electric Shoe Shop
Will Fix Your Shoes
While You Wait
BEST WORKMANSHIP
AND LEATHER USED

The Fashion Shoppe
Reflects the newest styles. All dresses $2.95 up
COATS, SUITS, DRESSES, UNDERWEAR
Silk Hose
Fine quality ..... 49c 59c and 69c

Warner's "True - Lift" Brassieres
GIRDLES—CORSELETTES
Come in today and see the many new foundation garments created especially for the college styles.
BALDWIN'S
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

WE ARE FIRST TO SHOW THE NEWEST!
New French Berets with Triangular Scarfgs to match—football colors. Special 97c
ALLEN A. new winter shades, in Sheer, Chiffon HOSIERY. They have that Certain Thing called "IT." You will love them ..... 69c pr.
Just received new shipment of Holiday Dresses in three price groups ..... $5.45—$7.45
YOUR ROOMMATE SHOPS HERE — ASK HER — SHE KNOWS — IT PAYS TO BUY AT
DOROTHY MAY STORES
FARMVILLE, VA.

LYCEUM TICKETS ON RESERVE TOMORROW

The Rotunda

We Teach To Teach

10 Practices by Feb. 1 Required for Class Basketball Squad

Volume XV. FARMVILLE, VA., JANUARY 16, 1935 No. 13

Mr. Kean, British Actor, To Appear Here, January 17; Third of Lyceums

Impressionist Will Take Selections From Books

SEATS RESERVED

Mr. Richard Kean, eminent British actor, will be presented in the college auditorium, Jan. 17, at 8 p. m.

The program will constitute the third of the series of lyceum numbers. Mr. Kean will give character impressions in costume. The costumes are said to be vivid and authentic and his acting brilliant as well as dramatic and amusing. His selections will be taken from well-known characters, books, and plays, and are expected to be intensely interesting to students who study Shakespeare, the drama, literature, and to those who are members of the Dramatic Club.

His program will include selections from Hamlet, The Merchant of Venice, David Copperfield, Gunga Din, Svengali, and many others, dramatic or comic.

Students will secure tickets from the Registrar's office.

Miss Wheeler to Read Before Woman's Club

Miss Leola Wheeler, head of the department of reading and dramatics, will read Maxwell Anderson's Mary of Scotland, before the Woman's Club of Keysville, Wednesday, Jan. 16.

During the remainder of January and the first few weeks in February, Miss Wheeler will appear before the Woman's Club of Danville, Orange, Chase City, and Farmville.

Honor Society Initiates 6 New Members Tuesday

The Virginia Gamma Chapter of Pi Gamma Mu announces the following new members who were initiated last night:

Doris Coates, Claudine O'Brien, Grace Eubank, Winnie Frances Eubank, Anne Putney, Elizabeth Walton.

Literary Digest Mails 300,000 Poll Ballots

Over 300,000 ballots have been mailed to students in more than a hundred leading colleges in America as the nation-wide college Peace Poll was launched by The Literary Digest and the Association of College Editors. One Canadian college, Queen's in Ontario, was included as a test case in the poll of American colleges.

The five questions asked on the poll ballot, are:

1. Do you believe that the United States could stay out of another great war?

(a) If the borders of the United States were invaded, would you bear arms in defense of your country?

(b) Would you bear arms for the United States in the invasion of the borders of another country?

2. Do you believe that a national policy of an American navy and air force second to none is a sound method of insuring us against being drawn into another great war?

3. Do you advocate government control of armament and munitions industries?

Continued on page 3, Col. 2

FRESHMAN PRESIDENT

—Courtesy of Times-Dispatch
Anne Peple

Freshmen Present Miss Jane Royall

Last of Class Presentations Held This Morning

The freshman class presented its classman, Miss Jane Royall, at chapel period this morning.

As the freshmen marched from the rear of the auditorium to their places, the juniors rose to join in singing the Red and White. At the close of the color song, the juniors were seated again and the curtains parted revealing a large red heart bearing the figures '36. The four class officers were on the stage, the secretary and treasurer on either side of the heart—the president and vice-president standing a little down stage.

While the freshmen began singing their classman song, the jester, Willie Scott, removed a smaller heart from the large one, disclosing Miss Royall. Anne Peple, class president, expressed the regards of the freshmen for Miss Royall. When she had finished her remarks, the freshmen sang their class song, following which they marched from the auditorium to the tune of the Red and White.

Winter Enemies Visit S.T.C. Administrators, Faculty, and Student

That our old winter enemies, influenza and bad colds, have again visited S. T. C. is testified by the number of persons joining the sick list. Many students, smitten by "flu," have become residents of the infirmary. Winter's dreaded visitors have paid calls on faculty members, administrative officers, and students alike.

Among those who have been sick are: Miss Mary White Cox, Miss Shelton, Mr. French, Mr. Coyner, and Mr. Graham. That most of these patients have recovered is welcome news.

Johnny Long's Collegians To Play for H.-S. Dances

Last week's Tiger carries the announcement that Johnny Long and his Duke Collegians will play for Mid-Winters, the second of a series of dances sponsored by the German Club, at Hampden-Sydney College.

The dances will be held on Feb. 15 and 16 at the Comity Club.

Mrs. Fitzpatrick Announces Winter Swimming Schedule

A full and diversified swimming program has been planned for the winter quarter, Mrs. Fitzpatrick announced yesterday.

Because of May Day and a conflicting athletic schedule for the spring, much of the swimming work will be offered this quarter. According to present plans, exhibition Red Cross work, play days in the water, and modified water polo will comprise the swimming program for the spring quarter.

Four extra-curricula swimming classes are being offered this quarter. The Red Cross Life Saving Class met for the first time, Monday afternoon of this week. Dr. Fraser, of Farmville, who will give the examination in about two months, explained to the class Monday the requirements which must be passed for a Red Cross badge. Margaret Farrar, assisted by Lelia Sanford, will teach the Red Cross Life Saving class. In two months, Dr. Fraser will return to offer final suggestions before he gives the examination. Margaret Farrar having passed the Senior Life Saving examination under Dr. Frazer last summer is familiar with his method of instruction.

The Red Cross Life Saving class has been scheduled for Friday afternoon, 4:00-5:00 o'clock. A make-up class will be given Monday afternoon, 4:30 - 5:00 o'clock, for any students interested in the Red Cross work who do not meet the Friday class or who may want additional practice or instruction.

Mrs. Fitzpatrick states that the Red Cross Life Saving class is open to all students. The following eligibility test for taking the examination under Dr. Frazer is suggested:

1. Swimming one-quarter mile, free style.
2. Demonstrating breast stroke and side stroke.
3. Performing front dive or racing start in good form.
4. Retrieving object in 6 to 8 feet of water.

Any student not in the Red Cross Life Saving class may practice the "Add a Length" method which the class will use.

Continued on page 4, Col. 1

Hampden-Sydney Road Reconstructed

The sudden appearance a week ago of a real steam shovel in an overgrown field marked a new turning point in the Hampden-Sydney road just outside of town. Commuters had been waiting with bated breath for the long-hoped-for initiation of construction on that part of the road when fancy stobs with surveyors' hieroglyphics gave the first indication that a change was coming. The steam shovel has gorged out a new right-of-way which, when it is completed, cannot help bringing relief to the harrassed mind of the daily traveler or reducing the hazards in a hazardous road.

A. A. Council Will Sponsor Winter Birthday Dinner

The winter birthday dinner, sponsored by the Athletic Association will be given January 23. The guests of this banquet will be the girls whose birthdays are in January and August. The combination of mid-winter and mid-summer months will give a novel gayety to the dinner. The decorations of winter greens and placecards

David D. Grainger Has Begun Work On Portrait Bust

Mr. David Deaderick Grainger, son of Mr. James M. Grainger, Head of the Department of English, has begun work on a portrait bust of Dr. Jarman. Dr. Jarman kindly consented to sit for this portrait during the Christmas holidays, while David was spending the vacation with his parents. Many persons are eagerly awaiting the time when this piece of sculptoral art will be finished.

The ladder to success is being quickly mounted by the rising young sculptor, who is a local boy, having attended both the Training School and Farmville High School. David Grainger has recently won awards in sculptoral contests of international scope. Among the honors he has received was first mention for his model of "St. George and the Dragon." In this contest students of art schools competed with others from America and France.

New Features Begin In Collegiate Digest With January 16 Issue

The cream of the comics, the best of the humor and cartoons published in the undergraduate humor magazines in colleges and universities throughout the United States, will be reviewed each week in Collegiate Digest, beginning with the issue distributed with this issue of The Rotunda.

The new "Comic Review," as the new feature is called, is found on page seven of Collegiate Digest, and the cartoons that find their way into this popular new feature will truly be the "all-American" productions of student humorists throughout the country.

Another feature that is being carried by the Collegiate Digest is the short-short story that appears every week on page six. This feature portrays college life in the '80's and '90's in comparison with college life of 1935.

And just in case you are a puzzle fan, you will be interested to know that Collegiate Digest pays $5 for all crossword puzzles accepted for publication. That college students throughout the nation are still avid puzzle fans is attested to by the popularity gained by this feature on the 250 campuses on which Collegiate Digest is distributed.

A. McKay Undergoes Operation Christmas

Alice McKay, of Baltimore, who was last year's president of the student body, underwent an appendicitis operation at the Preventorium in Charlottesville, in December.

She entered the hospital on Friday, Dec. 21, and the operation took place Saturday, Dec. 22. A local anesthetic was used and Alice, perfectly conscious, watched the whole proceeding.

Alice was formally discharged Christmas Day, but she did not leave the hospital until Wednesday, Dec. 26.

A Reminder

How many have read the following notice on the newspaper rack in the library? "Please do not clip newspapers. It deprives others of their rights. Ask the librarian if you wish a special issue reserved for you."

Unless these instructions are strictly observed, the newspapers will be removed from the rack and placed "on reserve" and checked out as is now the practice in regard to reserve books.

Having "the news" at our disposal during the 11 library hours each day is a privilege we all enjoy and surely one which we would not want to forfeit because a few thoughtless girls seem wholly to disregard the rights of others.

University of Travel To Honor Roman Poet

By Maude Rhodes

In the classical world in the year 1935, the most outstanding event is the celebration of the bimillenium of the birthday of the Roman poet, Horace, an honor previously given only to one, the Roman Virgil.

What has endeared this man to the people of twenty centuries? Horace, with his genial humor, his deftness of phrases, his breadth of vision, his tolerant viewpoint, has a message as significant to the twentieth century American as to his own day and generation."

As a part of the celebration, there are cruises, sponsored by the Bureau of University of Travel, Newton, Mass. These take one not only over the ground familiar to Horace but also to main places made famous by other writers of the classics. The first cruise is of the west Mediterranean; the second is of the Gaul that Caesar knew, of the home of Horace, and of the places made famous by other classical writers such as

Continued on page 4, col. 1

Fourth Lyceum Will Be Lecture January 24

Norman Hapgood, a brilliant national figure, will appear here, January 24, in the fourth of the lyceum programs. He will lecture on Fascism, Communism, and Freedom.

Smith and Farrar Direct Production For Junior Class

"Pipe Dreams," an original musical comedy, will be presented by the Junior Class Friday, January 25, at 8:00 p. m., in the large auditorium. The production is under direction of Hazel Smith, chairman, and Margaret Farrar, who is in charge of dancing.

Music and dancing, in many forms, will make up the comedy. Tap dances, waltzes, choruses, solos, and duets will be included.

Various committees have been appointed by the president of the class to plan and supervise work on the production. The following are the chairmen of these committees: Lucy Potter, advertising; Sue Waldo, business; Elizabeth Walton, staging; Margaret Clark, costuming; and Winnie Frances Eubank, ushering. Kitty Smoot, Ernestine Payne, Margaret Pollard, and Audrey Clements are also working on special phases of the comedy. Nancy Pobst, a member of the freshman class, is assisting with the music.

The admission charge to "Pipe Dreams," will be 25c.

YWCA Committee Invites Dr. Rives To Discuss Topics On Youth Thought

To Preach at Methodist Church Sunday Morning

ARRIVES JAN. 23RD

Dr. J. J. Rives is returning to S. T. C. Wednesday, January 23 for a stay through Sunday, January 27. He is being brought here by the Fellowship Committee of the Y. W. During his stay he will speak at Chapel and Prayers and hold both individual and group conferences. On Sunday morning he will preach at the Methodist Church.

Dr. Rives is well known here as he gave the Commencement address at S. T. C. last June. He is possessed of a strong and pleasing personality. For ten years he was one of the strong preachers of Washington, D. C.

Dr. Rives is considered as one of the foremost leaders of Youth thought. The 1934 "Annual" of Young Peoples Assembly at Massanetta Springs says, "Because we admire him so greatly, appreciate his deep interest in Young People and are most grateful for his presence at our Assembly, we dedicate this, the 1934 Annual to Dr. J. J. Rives."

Dr. Allan Declares Lynchburg College Winner of Debate

In the words of the critic judge, Dr. Allan of Hampden-Sydney," a quiet debate on a stormy subject—"Resolved that the Federal Government should own and operate all facilities for the manufacture of arms and ammunitions—took place in the small auditorium last Friday evening ,between Lynchburg College girls and S. T. C. girls. The honor of victory went to the visiting team.

At the same time, a negative team from S. T. C. debated the same question with an affirmative team of Lynchburg College in Lynchburg, the affirmative team winning, Virginia Hooke, and Louise Frances represented this college in the debate in Lynchburg.

Agnes Bondurant and Catherine Crews upheld the affirmative in the debate scheduled here. Hilda Koontz and Esther Cutler, of Lynchburg College, upheld the negative. Sue Waldo, a member of the S. T. C. Debate Club, presided.

The discussion here of the question of who should manufacture arms was rather too quiet, according to Dr. Allan, critic judge. This criticism was evidently based upon the facts that the members of the visiting team spoke calmly and smoothly, portraying scarcely any emotion at all throughout the entire debate, and that the S. T. C. girls did not show any fire until the rebuttal. Of the upholders of the negative, Dr. Allan said, "They were undoubtedly the smoothest speakers." "On the other hand," he said, "the upholders of the affirmative were more to the point, especially in the rebuttals.

Dr. Allan seemed to think that the young ladies from Lynchburg, in handling the subject, showed better and longer preparation than the Farmville girls. Their constructive speeches were more convincing, he said. The

Continued on page 3, Col. 2

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Published by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

MEMBER
Associated Collegiate Press
1934 Collegiate Digest 1935
MADISON WISCONSIN

Staff

Lelia Mattox ..... Editor
Evelyn Massey ..... Associate Editor
Lena Mac Gardner ..... Business Manager

Board of Editors

Miss Jane Royall ..... Alumnae
Florence Sanford ..... Make-up
Susan Gresham ..... Headlines
Kathryne Cotten ..... Literary
Birdie Wooding, Emma Bingham, Bess McClothlin ..... Editorials
Anne Putney ..... World News
Anne Diggs ..... Social
Kathleen Ranson, Lelia Sanford ..... Sports
Belle Lovelace, Amis Montgomery ..... Features

Proof Readers

Elizabeth Walton, Dorothy Deans, Agnes Bondurant

Managers

Alva Sawyer ..... Asst. Business
Maude Rhodes, Lila Jacob, Elsie Cabell ..... Circulation

Assistants and Reporters

Bonnie Lane, Minnie Smith, Mary Lee Newcomb, Elsie Cabell, Mary Adeline McGlothlin, Katherine Coleman, Elizabeth Mann, Grace Allen Pittard, Margaret Farrar

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 16, 1935

During Prayers

We hear a lot of sarcastic jeering, atheistic talk, and criticism in the world today. Some of it is honest, and earnestly felt; some of it is, we know, purposely astonishing for the impression it will give. Even we ourselves here in school, have a tendency to smile at religion, to scoff, to be skeptical, to sneer at the old and esteemed, at the high and noble side of life. We may, sometimes, have a reason, it may be that our young experience has given us a broad outlook without the depth to give us true prospective; or it may be that our experience is too deep and bitter without enough surface and happiness. Most of it is due either to our lack of understanding or our unwillingness to show our sensitiveness to finer, quieter things.

All that is as it may be; we sincerely believe that there are very few of us here who would deliberately torment and annoy another who is at worship, none of us who would, consciously, be irreverent, and disrespectful to people who are assembled in meditation and worship.

How then are we to account for the unspeakable rudeness which sometimes makes it almost impossible to conduct Prayers? Not many weeks ago Mrs. Harrison, a member of the National Y. W. C. A. Council, visited our campus and met with our Y. W. committees in an effort to help our work on the campus. In talking with the Prayers Committee, she asked if there were not too much disturbance and distraction for meetings in the auditorium.

She was assured that being the most convenient place for holding Prayers, the cooperation of the students was easily obtained. That evening Mrs. Harrison spoke at Prayers. The outside noise was so great she could scarcely finish. More recently than that, a respected member of the faculty was asked to talk at Prayers. Such screaming and racing through the halls has on few occasions been paralled. That faculty members turned from the service—"Never again, never!"

We, each of us, know that from five to ten minutes every night except Sunday, those girls who are interested go to the large auditorium for prayer and worship. We know also that loud talking, shouting, and running can all be distinctly heard in the auditorium when engaged in by students in the halls near the auditorium and above it.

If we are not be known as selfish, ill-behaved, disrespectful, irreverent, let's get together to be rid of the careless thoughtlessness which is classifying us.

Students Stand for Peace

On June 28, 1914, it was learned that Archduke Ferdinand of Austria-Hungary had been assassinated. People of the United States read the news the next day at their breakfast tables, and went quite calmly to their business of the day. To the vast majority of them it was merely a far-off squabble. It was only when succeeding events made tragically clear the true significance of the general situation that the average person of the United States realized that these maters could possibly affect him and his beloved routine. And it wasn't until the very moment of our entrance into the war that most of our trusting and simple countrymen came to believe that our own country could under any circumstances become involved.

Within the last few weeks the Balkans have again furnished us with news of violence simmilar to that of two decades ago. And fuel for European warfare is almost as abundant as it was then, for with the inter-alliance and combinations of interests that exist, there could hardly be a Balkan war that would restrict itself to the Balkans. The fervor of nationaalism is reaching the same fanatical heights, not only in the Balkans, but in most European countries. France is watching with growing fear the rearming of Germany. Anyway considered, the Saar decision is going to increase the tension; the same old rivalry over international markets is rampant; and in the same light of no past facts and figures and habits of mankind does it seem that war can be averted.

Considering the situation as it is, it might seem futile and cowardly to plead for peace for our own country. But we have it fro mour own military authorities that we are almost impregnable as far as interior defense is concerned. If we were to become involved, then, it wouldn't be for any glorious defense of ideals and traditions, whatever they might be, but because some of our people are losing investments or because we are in danger of losing some sales for pig iron and cotton cloth, or something else quite as colossal. Such warfare cannot possibly be justified on any ground; and so the loud forces of propaganda are raised to fashion out of national sentiment some measure of sanctity for the cause. It is our hope that such propaganda will be forestalled, through general enlightenment, before it makes any headway.

Who could argue, except on purely selfish grounds, that it wouldn't be better to ditch all our international markets and trade rather than enter another conflict? A good number of us who are students, at the risk of being dubbed traitors, have resolved to do what little we can toward building a sane and reasoned attitude on the question. Our light might be only a feeble flicker; but at least it marks us apart from the darkness of stupidity and blind simplicity that unless removed will lead us again into war.

Dear Editor,

When we make a complaint about precedence in marching out of chapel, we do not mean to be "horsey". We merely hope to clear up a jumbled affair—to say the least.

Here's the situation. When the chord is struck, seniors, freshmen, sophomores, juniors, all rush with one accord to the aisles, nor do they stop there. The result is easy to comprehend. If the marching is to begin from the front, would it not be possible for freshmen and others to retain their seats until their time to march comes?

We suggest that if it is more important for freshmen to leave chapel first than it is for seniors, they be allowed to do so. If it is not, we would like to ask them to wait, as all other classes in school have done, until their time comes.

Very truly yours,

Three Seniors

Over the Knitting Needles

"Ah, Jennie, I wrote to Percy, and he said he'd come to Mardi Gras. I'm so thrilled! I'm going to take my red evening dress to Miss Tupper tomorrow and ask her where I could put some extra frills. Percy loves frills, and I do want to look my best. I thought, if I wore the red dress, I could use a veil on my hair and carry a feathered fan and get sort of a Spanish effect. But Percy likes sweet, simple girls; however, maybe he'll overlook it if I explain to him that a costume is necessary.

"You know, I'm having an awful time with this sweater I'm knitting. I've never tried to make anything but socks and mittens before and this is just a little different. I do like these new sweaters with muffey tails, don't you? . . . Well, I don't see why you don't; they're quite the thing, I've heard. I want to do one in robin's egg blue, with the tail in white. I do love contrasts.

"I'm having the most interesting courses this quarter. I don't know what any of them is about, really, but I think that's because the professors try to get me mixed up. Just the other day Mr. Bell asked me where the mind was and I couldn't seem to figure it out. One girl next to me said hers was a million miles away, but I think she must have been joking. Some people have such a strange sense of humor.

"Jennie, I'm really getting worried about this Saar question everybody's been discussing. Percy wrote me about it the other day, and he seemed to be in an awful storm over it, for some reason. I can't understand why it's so important. All the people have to do is to vote, and then it's all over. Goodness, I voted in the last primary, you know. I was just twenty-one and I was so thrilled to be able to scratch names right and left. It really isn't anything to it; anybody can do it. After I'd handed my ballot in I couldn't understand why they made one wait until I was twenty-one. My little brother could make marks through names.

"Did you see the Sunday paper with that fascinating picture of Amelia Earhart on the front page? She looks like a cross between Lindbergh and Katharine Hepburn, doesn't she? And she told about all the sandwiches and hot chocolate and everything she carried to eat; and then she said she didn't eat anything but a hard-boiled egg and some tomato juice! She ought to go to college so she could appreciate good food. I'd like to do something like flying across the Pacific Ocean — don't know, something glorious and free and wonderful like that. But then, I guess Percy wouldn't like it very much, particularly after she mentioned "shooting the stars" with some sort of instrument. Really, Jennie, I do think that's going a little too far. There couldn't be any point in it.

"What! You're not going? Well, do come back later, because, as I've always said, I'd rather have a chat with you than anybody else I know."

Alumnae News

Cole-Tyus

A marriage of much interest was that of Miss Anne Mae Tyus of Stony Creek and Harold Dallas Cole of Norfolk, which took place at Fort Grove Methodist Church in Stony Creek at 8 o'clock Saturday evening, Jan. 5. Rev. G. S. Carlton officiated, using the ring ceremony.

King-Tunstall

The wedding of Miss Lucy Ida Tunstall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Herbert Tunstall of Crewe, and Mr. Charles Milton King, son of Mrs. C. B. King and the late Mr. King of Brunswick County, was solemnized Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 30, at 3 o'clock at the home of the bride. The Rev. A. M. Fox officiated, using the ring ceremony, in the presence of the immediate families.

Mrs. Starke Heads U. D. C. Chapter

Under the presidency of Mrs. Thomas J. Starke, (Maria Bristow) the Stonewall, Jackson Chapter of U. D. C. of Richmond reports a most successful year with the completion of many worthwhile proects.

Recent Graduates Teach In Cuba

Corrine Mosby of the class of '34 is teaching in Havana, Cuba, and Laurie Boush of the class of '33 is teaching English at Colegio Sanchey Tiant, Havana, Cuba.

Did you hear about the Chinese couple whose son was born the day of Amelia Earhart's flight? They named him Wun Long Hop.

From Other Colleges

The Gates plan of complete institutional control of intercollegiate athletics has just been officially installed to become effective at the beginning of the 1935-36 session at the University of Virginia. A director will be named to operate the athletic program, answerable only to Dr. J. L. Newcomb, president of the University, and the board of visitors. Previously the students had voted for the granting of certain scholarships primarily for athletic ability; but their requests were ignored, because it was feared that professionalism in college athletics paralyzes true sportsmanship, for it makes the warrior on the gridiron or the diamond a sort of mercenary."

Miss Gertrude Stein, noted actress and leading exponent of modernistic writings, will speak at the University of Richmond on Feb. 6. Miss Stein, a native of Pennsylvania, is making an American tour this year. She has traveled much in Europe. Her salon in Paris has become the place of gathering for all artistic Paris, and the rest of the world as well.

Students at Bard College, men's residential unit of Columbia University, have a four-week's reading and study period immediately following the Christmas holidays, during which no classes are attended.

A system of a three-quarter term instead of semesters is being considered at Washington and Lee.

All students of East Carolina Teachers College, Greenville, N. C., are required to attend chapel, which is held each Tuesday and Friday. No students who have unexcused absences from assembly will be eligible to office in student or college organizations, nor can they receive, for the next succeeding quarter, any financial assistance whatsoever through college sources. Four unexcused absences during any quarter will mean that that student will be requested to withdraw from college. However, the registrar will grant excuses for assembly absences if valid reasons are given.

The co-eds of Erskine College, Doe West, S. C., surpass their male friends, scholastically, recent statistics prove. Women students have a 2.412 point average compared with 1.869 for men. The seniors far outdistance all other classes scholastically. The general college rating averages slightly above medium.

The Hampden-Sydney freshmen have been campussed by the sophomores for twenty-five days or until the first of February, as a result of their too "horsey" display of numerals.

Review of the News

Out of the fog which has prevailed over the news due to the preminence given the Hauptmann trial, a few important items of note have emerged. Franco-Italiaan affairs received a decided impetus from the conference between French Foreign Minister Laval and Il Duce. As other attempts at promoting favorable relations between these two powers have come to naught, the success accorded the present parley is encouraging. No one can doubt that the future of peace in Central Europe is largely determined by the attitudes of the French and Italian governments, especially in their attitudes toward Austria, which they declare must be kept independent. The cessions in Africa created much interest; first, Italy's protest at boundaries has been met with a cession of nearly 44,000 square miles on the Libyan line; second, Italy is aided in her desire to overrun Abyssinia by the purchase of a part-interest in the railroad leading to Addis Ababa, the capital of the country.

When Laval and Mussolini assumed that Germany would reenter the Geneva disarmament conference, they were, doubtless, presumptuous. Who can predict what Herr Hitler has up the sleeve of his Black Shirt? Anyway, if England still desires to push her "Locarno" for the whole of Europe, and Germany does accept the invitation to the peace conference, much will be done towards assuring peace in the future.

Superstitions of the Folk

From generation to generation are passed certain superstitions of the folk. Even today, many of these make us watch our step. Many people say that they are not superstitious; yet, they will avoid walking under a ladder, or will go out of their way lest they pass where a black cat has crossed before them. Here are just a few superstitions handed down to us by these folk of long ago:

1. A poker resting on the top bar of a grate and pointing up the chimney draws up the fire.

2. A poker placed so as to form a cross with the top bar of a grate will keep the devil away.

3 A man with a tendency to become bald should shave off his beard, because the growing beard abstracts some of the nourishment from the head.

4. The grease of a bear rubbed on the scalp will prevent baldness.

5 A sty can be cured by the lick of a dog's tongue, or the rubbing of a gold wedding ring on it. And a sty is certain to go away if struck nine times with a tom cat's tail.

6. If one puts butter on a cat's paws, it will prevent it from straying from its new home.

7. See a pin, pick it up;
All day you'll have good luck.

8. Poker players will have good luck if they rub the hump of a hunchback.

9. "Scare me, Alf, I got the hiccups."

10. When the horns of the moon point upwards, there will be a dry period.

11. If one touches a toad, one will surely get warts.

12. It is a common superstition that when one's left ear burns, mean things are being said about one, but if it be the right one good things.

13. Ways of getting rid of warts:
a. Buy a wart by saying: I'll give you a penny for that wart.
b. Tie knots in a string and bury it at a crossroad in the moonlight.

14. Friday is the worst day in the week for some; the best for others.

15. "Rain at seven; fine at eleven."

16. "Fine on Friday; fine on Sunday.'

17. Indications of bad weather:
aa. Halo around the moon.
b. Bats flying.
c. Toads appearing at sunset.
d. Many snails about.
e. Spiders hanging on their webs in the evening.
f. Cows scratching their ears.
g. Man's pet corn hurting him.
h. Aching of joints.

18. Sure sign of death:
a. Baying of a dog to the moon.
b. Falling of a tree in the distance.
c. If a dog lies down and rolls over, there will be a death in the direction he first points to .
d. Roosters crowing at night.
e. A cow mooing at night.

19. If potatoes are planted on the dark side of the moon, they will be all tops.

20. Black-eyed peas must be eaten on New Year's Day, so that there will be plenty of food in the house for the rest of the year.

21. If one leaves a place and has to return, because he has forgotten something; he must make a cross on the wall lest bad luck follow him.

22. If the first person to cross the doorstep on New Year's Day be a man, good luck will be to that household throughout the year, but if it be a woman, bad luck.

SOCIALS

With the gay holidays over, S. T. C. society, expecting the usual rest in early January, watches with much interest the activities of other colleges. Last week-end University of Virginia held mid-winters, and on the 24th, 25th, and 26th of January Washington and Lee is holding Fancy Dress Ball.

To Charlottesville

Among those who attended mid-winters at the University of Virginia are: Miss Jane Royall, Louise Potter, and Frances Woodhouse, Lucy Baylor, also, spent the week-end in Charlottesville.

At Home

Quite a number of girls ventured home last week-end. Among them were: June Allen, Evelyn Knaub, Mary Elizabeth Minor, Anne Peple, Dorothy Turner, Gay Stieffen, Elizabeth Shiplett, Virginia Baker, Kitty Chappell, Mary Jane Pendleton, Belle Lovelace, Nan Page Trent, Caroline Jones, Mary Alice Wood, Virginia Jones, Claudia Harper, Margaret Jones, Marjorie Robertson, Dorothy Glover, Mary Louise French, Ida Sue Carter, Burnley Brockenbrough, Catherine Zimmerman, Charlotte Young, Nancy Beard, Evelyn Wilson, Beverly Wilkinson, Elizabeth Rucker, and Henrietta Salsbury.

In Richmond

Richmond still claims its share of S. T. C. girls, for last week-end Elsie Cabell, Isabel Plummer, Kathleen McCann, Carter Belle Munt, Eugenia Jolly, Sally Rose Chappelle, Bobbie Mattox, Grace Allen Pittard, and Frances Maxey visited there.

In Lynchburg

Mary E. Harrison, Nancy Pobst, Margaret Dortch, and Louise Francis went to Lynchburg for the week-end.

Men on S.T.C. Faculty Entertain Mr. Holton With Birthday Party

Tuesday night, Jan. 8, the male members of the faculty entertained Mr. Holton at his home. The occasion for the celebration was Mr. Holton's birthday. An interesting part of the evening's program was a discussion during which everyone present told of his arrivals at S. T. C. Everyone seemed to enjoy relating and hearing accounts of first impressions, first associations, and reasons why various persons came to the college. Many delightful experiences involving associate faculty members and Dr. Jarman were remembered.

W. and L. Broadcasts Gay Fancy Dress Ball

In its issue of Jan. 11, Ring-tum Phi carries the notice that the twenty-ninth Annual Fancy Dress Ball, with Isham Jones playing, will be broadcast over the entire Columbia network for half as hour at 12:30 Saturday morning.

The Associated Press has asked for pictures of the Fancy Dress figure to be distributed over its wire-photo service.

Bridge Shower Given Brides-Elect January 19

Mrs. Ann Sydnor Newman entertained at a bridge shower on Tuesday, Jan. 15, in honor of Miss Catherine Diehl and Miss Paula Irving. Miss Diehl and Miss Irving will both be married on Jan. 19.

Alpha Kappa Gamma Serves Informal Dinner Friday

Blue and gold was the color scheme carried out at the Alpha Kappa Gamma dinner in the honor society room Friday night. The dinner was prepared by the girls, and Jestine Cutshall took the role of waitress. The tables were decorated with yellow cloths and unique blue place cards.

Faculty members present were: Miss Stubbs, Miss Mix, Miss Mary Clay Hiner, Miss Nichols, and Miss Iler. Miss Mary White Cox was the guest of the evening.

Radio Highlights For January 16-20

Wednesday

6:45 P. M.-WJZ—Lowell Thomas, Commentator.
7:15 P. M.—WEAF—The Key to Recovery-General Hugh S. Johnson.
8:30—WEAF—Wayne King Orchestra.
WJZ—Lanny Ross, Tenor; Salter Orchestra.
9:30—WABC—George Burns and Gracie Allen, Comedians. chestra.
10:15—WOR-Current Events — H. E. Read.
10:30 — WJZ-Denny Orchestra; Harry Richman, Songs.
WABC—Free the People of America—Senator Huey P. Long of Louisiana.

Thursday

6:55—WABC Press-Radio News.
8:00—WEAF Vallee's Varieties.
9:00—WABC Gray Orchestra.
9:30—WJZ Future of the NRA —S. Clay Williams, chairman National Industrial Recovery Board.
WABC—Waring Orchestra.

Friday

6:55—WABC Press-Radio News
9:30—WOR Kemp Orchestra.
WJZ—Phil Baker.

Saturday

6:55—WABC Press-Radio News.
8:30—WOR Denny Orchestra.
10:30 — WOR Richardson Orchestra.
11:00—WABC Gray Orchestra.

Sunday

7:00—WJZ Jack Benny, Comedian.
7:30—WJZ Joe Penner, Comedian.
WABC—Will Rogers, commentator.

Brides-Elect Entertained

Miss Margaret Birdwell entertained Friday night, Jan. 4, at her home on Second Avenue, complimenting Miss Bettie Shields, whose engagement has been announcement.

Mrs. Frank S. Blanton and Mrs. Boyd Coyner entertained at a luncheon at the home of Mrs. Blanton on High Street on Thursday at noon for Miss Paula Irving, whose engagement to Dr. Hyneasworth of Buckingham has been announced.

Miss Irving will also be honored at a tea next Wednesday afternoon, given by Mrs. D. E. Davidson and Mrs. George Richardson at the home of Mrs. Richardson on Buffalo Street.

Mrs. Anne S. Newman entertained at her home on Beech Street Tuesday at a kitchen shower, honoring Miss Paula Irving and Miss Catherine Diehl, whose approaching marriages have been announced.

Appointed Instructor

Mildred Lancaster, a B. S. Degree graduate of '33, has been appointed instructor of English and Literature at Mrs. M. M. Layne's Business School. She will take secretarial training in the school in the meanwhile.

Dr. Allan Declares Lynchburg Winner

Continued from page 1

affirmative, according to the judge, failed to show clearly just how their plan of government ownership would work and failed to give a concrete definition of the terms, arms and ammunition.

The concensus of opinion is that Dr. Allan's criticism was highly beneficial to the speakers and that his decision was entirely fair to all.

Catherine Crews acted as a substitute for Margaret Pollard, who was forced to go to the infirmary two days before the debate. She took over the already planned speech and learned it in one day.

Literary Digest Mails 300,000 Poll Ballots

Continued from page 1

4. In alinement with our historic procedure in drafting manpower in time of war, would you advocate the principle of universal conscription of all resources of capital and labor in order to control all profits in time of war?

5. Should the United States enter the League of Nations?

'Bawn' Virginia Teacher Heads Insurance Company Bureau

Interesting and noteworthy achievements of Farmville Alumnae are reported from week to week in this column. Clippings, letetrs, or information about our graduates and former students who have done unusual things, should be sent to James M. Grainger, Head of the Department of English.

MISS PAULINE WILLIAMSON

A Farmville College alumna wept distractedly as she wandered aimless among the unheeding crowds that milled around the massive portals of the Pennsylvania Station in New York City. Tall, well-dressed, prepossessing, she might be expected to have a mind of her own. But she was passing through the Valley of Decision, her heart torn between her first love and this new lure. Her tears flowed for the old life as a school teacher back home in Virginia with its simple, kindly satisfactions. But she knew she could not say "No" to this new call, so strident and importunate and domineering. She knew she would be swept irresistibly away from home and friends and the old love around which she had built up her life.

Pauline Williamson had always loved children. She loved to see them active, happy, and healthy —sound in mind and body. So, after graduation from the high school at Pulaski, when she left her home in the mountains of South West Virginia to come to the Normal School at Farmville, it was the fulfillment of the girl's longest and fondest dream. She would become a teacher to live and work with children and for children, the children of her own beloved state.

No wonder she made a fine record in the professional studies and was ranked excellent as a teacher in both "instruction and discipline." Her teachers, supervisors, and pupils all knew her for the keen mind and the steady skill which she brought to all her work and above all for the sympathetic insight into the problems of childhood which she carried into her practice teaching in the old Training School, then housed in the present English class rooms below the Library.

After her graduation in 1906, Pulaski called Miss Williamson back to her home country to spend her first two years teaching the children of the people she knew and loved best. Next Roanoke summoned her to serve as teacher and assistant principal in one of the city schools. After four years of successful work there, her Alma Mater brought her back to Farmville, in 1913, as supervisor of the fifth grade in the training school, where only teachers of the finest devotion to their work and the highest attainments in their fields are permitted to help the student teachers through the difficult period of their novitiate. Miss Williamson was what they used to call "a Bawn teacher" but she was more. She could not only teach the children, she could "teach to

Continued on page 4, col. 1

Campus Comments

There are ways and ways of getting out of the infirmary. Eleanor Mitchell says "Bridges" will do it every time.

Last year we knew Tommy Graham as a happy, carefree sort of a person. Can it be that Mary Jane Pendleton is responsible for that serious, far-off look in his eyes?

Hampden-Sydney has exams and S. T. C. girls have more time for studying. Strange, this way of the world.

We've heard of going forwards, we've heard of going backwards and Jean McClure has demonstrated for us that there is such a thing as going "Edwards."

Wyc Scott advocates a careful mastery of the Spanish language as an easy means of picking up a little extra cash. Wonder if by consultation with your victims you wouldn't be a higher paid loafer?

Saturday night the seniors were most highly entertained with a monologue on the Hauptman case, daring gymnastics, etc. We congratulate the performer on his spirited ability.

First Bloke: "Did you ever see a ream walking?"
Second Ditto: "Yeah, and I bet on a horse named Dream."

S. A. Legus
TAILOR
CLEANING
PRESSING
REPAIRING
Phone 203

Going Away? . . . . . .
Travel by
GREYHOUND
Safe—Comfortable—Economical

C. E. Chappell Co.
Stationery, Blank Books and School Supplies
Cigars, Cigarettes and Soda
Farmville, Virginia

Rice's Shoe Store
Street and Dress Shoes
Dancing Slippers Dyed
Correct fits our specialty

Kleanwell
CLEANERS AND TAILORS
Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling ladies garments
Main Street, opposite Post office
Phone 98

Gray's Drug Store
QUALITY—PRICE—SERVICE
Come in and Get Acquainted
We are glad to have you with us!
Farmville, Virginia

Mack's
BARBER AND BEAUTY SHOP
323 Main Street
We use the Frederick Method
Hair cutting and thinning a Specialty

PRINTING . . . . .
When you think of Printing think of
—The—
FARMVILLE HERALD

GOLDSTRIPE HOSIERY, sheerest, finest and best wearing hose in America—in all the new winter shades. Buy one of these and you will always be a Goldstripe wearer
Per pair $1.00
RAINCAPES—Colors of the Rainbow.
Special $1.00
Newest Tree Bark Shoes
DRESS TIES, PUMPS OR SPORT OXFORDS.
Special this week ..... $3.95 Values $2.95
THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE
Farmville's Best Place to Shop!

—FOR—
EVERYTHING—SCHOOL SUPPLIES, CANDIES, FRUITS, CONFECTIONS, ETC.
GO TO . . . . .
GILLIAM'S
Open 'till 9:00 p. m.

SHOES
For All Occasions

Evening—Dress—Sports—Street Wear
$2.95 to $5.95
DAVIDSON'S

ARE YOU INTERESTED?
JACKETS of Grain and Suede Cloth and Wool SWEATERS.
We are showing the season's newest. Come in. We are glad to show—Just what we have—and the line is very attractive.
VERSER'S

PHILCO RADIO
World's largest manufacturers of Radio
A complete line
Watch repairing a specialty
Sheet Music—Strings for Instruments
LYNN, The Main Street Jeweler

YOUR NEIGHBOR,
The Weyanoke Beauty Salon
invites you to drop in and take advantage of their Special prices now in effect.
Permanent Waves—$4 & $6 Shampoo & Fingerwave 75 cents
Manicure 40 cents
Individual, courteous, efficient service and an established reputation for dependability and satisfaction. That is our guarantee, and your assurance of perfect workmanship.

Mrs. Fitzpatrick Announces Extra-Curricula Classes

Continued from page 1

A poster will be on the swimming pool board so that any person who wishes to gradually increase endurance in swimming may check on the "Add a Length" poster the date she swims one length, two lengths, and so on. Guards will inform swimmers about the "Add a Length" method.

The two 'experimental" meets last quarter proved so successful that meets within each class have been planned this quarter. Only freshmen will compete in the first meet, sophomores in the second, etc. Instruction in six classes is the requirement for entrance into a meet. Winners from each class will come together for a final meet near the end of the winter quarter. In all the meets each girl will be limited to three events.

Tuesday afternoon, 4:00-4:30 o'clock, freshmen and juniors interested in taking part in meets will be instructed in racing starts, strokes, turns, lengths, and stunts. Wednesday afternoon, 4:00-4:30 o'clock, the same instruction will continue for sophomores and seniors.

A class in diving will be offered this quarter. Louise Walmsley, instructor, will give individual help to beginners and advanced swimmers who report for this class on Tuesday afternoon, 5:00-5:30 o'clock. A class for beginners in swimming will be offered on Tuesday afternoon, 5-5:30 o'clock, for those students interested in swimming who do not take the regular credit class.

The pool schedule for the winter quarter follows:

	Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday	Thursday	Friday
4:00-4:30	Open	Freshmen-Jr. meet practice strokes, turns, etc.	Senior-Soph meet practice	Open	Red Cross Life-saving class
4:30-5:00	Red Cross Make-up Class	Diving class	Diving class	Open
5:00-5:30	Open	Beginners class	Open	Open	Open

Wherever "Open" appears on the schedule the pool will be used for recreational swimming when instruction will be given if requested.

NOTE—Students interested in receiving instruction are requested to come at the time scheduled for class.

Sixteen Girls Report For Red Cross Class

Sixteen girls have entered the Red Cross Life Saving swimming class. They are: Sarah Beck, Hazel Smith, Rebecca Kern, Helen Fern Perdue, Frances McDaniel, Kitty Smoot, Helen Smith, Norvell Montague, Mary Robeson, Florence Tankard, Mary Joyner Cox, Fannie Bosworth, Helen Harris, Brooks Wheeler, Ellen Mason, Florence Sanford, Louise Walmsley, Margaret Farrar, and Lelia Mattox.

Mrs. Fitzpatrick has requested that any other students interested in taking the Life Saving work sign the roll this week.

HOCKEY GAME POSTPONED

The final hockey game between the sophomores and juniors for the class championship, has been postponed until spring, Miss Iler has announced.

University of Travel To Honor Roman Poet

Continued from page 1

Vergil, Cicero, and Homer.

To come into contact with the leaders of these cruises is a delightful education in itself. "Dr. H. H. Powers, founder and president of Bureau of University Travel, will accompany both of the cruises as director of the first and co-director of the second with Prof. Louis E. Lord, professor of classics, Oberlin College. Dean Walter Miller of the University of Missouri, whose knowledge of Greece is equalled only by his love for it, will accompany both cruises. . . .

"Lorado Taft, one of the best known and certainly one of the best loved of American artists, will accompany both cruises."

These cruises are not restricted to student of Latin and Greek, for the interest they hold is as great for artists, historians, lovers of beauty in general.

There will be special rates for those who take both cruises and a deferred payment plan for the teachers and others with a fairly assured income.

Agnes Bondurant's name was omitted from the varsity basketball squad announced last week.

"Bawn" Va. Teacher Heads Health Bureau

Continued from page 3

'each."

Next after one year as elementary supervisor in the North Carolina College for Women, at Greensboro, which only served to how how hard it was for her to stay away from Virginia, Miss Williamson came back to Richmond as primary supervisor in the city schools. Her constant interest in the welfare of children, especially in combatting the dangers to their health and in inculcating health habits, led to her appointment, in 1923, as State Rural Supervisor in charge of health work for all Virginia, under the combined authority of two state departments, those of education and health. The latter was then headed by the late Dr. Eunion G. Williams, one of the greatest public servants Virginia ever had. Under expert guidance, Miss Williamson went into every part of Virginia studying and working out the problems of children's health everywhere at first hand. She gave courses for teachers in seventeen colleges and universities. She was soon recognized for devotion to the work and the effectiveness with which she carried it on. She was always sensible, practical, original, and efficient.

Hers had been a fine record of service, a steady stepping upward and outward. By 1925 her work had attracted national notice. She studied at Harvard, Chicago, Columbia, collaborated with Dr. C. E. A. Winslow, of Yale University in writing The Laws of Health and How to Teach Them, a health text-book for teachers. She contributed to educational journals and delivered lectures and addresses before teachers institutions, colleges and universities, state and national educational meetings.

When the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company cast about for the person best qualified to serve as chief of its School Health Bureau, it found Pauline Brooks Williamson at work in Virginia, invited her to New York and made her a flattering offer. This brought her into the situation described at the beginning of our story.

But she accepted the Metropolitan positios and has extended the scope of her service to the whole field reached by this great enlightened organization.

She reaches not merely the children of the company, but millions more, for the literature published by the company goes into thousands of schools and homes throughout the world, and thus through the loving and efficient labors of a "bawn" Virginia teacher trained at Farmville, the influence of the State Teachers College is carried far beyond the boundaries of her home state.

Senior Sing Presents Prophetic Picture Of Class 10 Years Hence

Last year the class of '35 won the prize for putting on the best of the class Sings and from the performance they put on Saturday, when they entertained at Sing again, it seems likely that they will carry off the honors this year as well.

The seniors' idea was to show how time flies and to provide a look into the next ten years. The show began with a group of seniors singing a tuneful little ditty informing the audience that they now are seniors; the curtain parted showing Frankie McDaniel kicking the gong around to 1945.

The audience looked ten years into the future, when Louise Hyde played the Rosary to her naughty twins who had decided not to go to bed. Louise was revealed as the wife of a minister, and it is hoped that she will be able to discipline her husband as well as her children. Something along the line of "music that soothes."

BASKETBALL

The basketball practice schedule for the week is as follows:

Monday—	4:00	Varsity
	5:00	General
Tuesday—	4:00	General
	5:00	Varsity
Wednesday—	4:00	General
	5:00	General
Thursday—	4:00	General
	5:00	Varsity

Ten practices are required by the second week in February for eligibility to a class basketball squad.

Jestine, as Secretary of Agriculture in Washington, proved herself a woman with set ideas about potatoes versus tobacco. Her idea was that the potato is in every way superior to that lowly, much abused weed, tobacco, which should be banished forever.

Dot Justice, in a slinky satin evening gown, was simply scintillating as the radio entertainer. She put pep, vim and vigor, as well as jazz into her rendition of "Pop Goes Your Heart."

Elizabeth Showell was a learned professor of history at Columbia University. Her remarks about history were pointed and ably said.

Sarah Beck and Lelia Mattox happened to run into each other at the Who's Who Convention of 1945. They were delighted to see each other again. The conversation showed that Lelia was a brilliant journalist, a member of the International as well as the Associated Press, while Sarah was head of the department of athlethic as Vassar, (and please pronounce it Varsah, my dean!)

Nelle Oakey Ryan, in spite of her long black dress, managed to give a very able performance as a member of the Physical Education Department at S. T. C. She taught tiny little Ruth Showalter how to do a tap step.

Helen Smith was the National Y. W. C. A. secretary. She said she was glad to tell the audience that she was sure S. T. C. was delighted to have her visit her Alma Mater again so that she could tell them all the thrilling news about Y. W. C. A. work.

Carman Clark, after ten years of study under Dewey an Kilpatrick at Columbia, stated that she at last understood the meaning of "Cosmological Epistomology," a book by the famous educator, "Pete Wynne".

Laeta Barham, a dear kind soul, was shown as a social worker in the mountains. How zealous she was proved by her attempt to plant the seeds of learning in the apparently barren and unruly mind of little Margaret Gilmer, a mountain child.

EACO THEATRE

Mats. 4 p. m.; Nights 8 p. m.
Adults 25c; Children 15c
Unless otherwise noted

Thurs.-Fri., Jan. 17-18
ANNE SHIRLEY
TOM BROWN
"Anne of Green Gables"
"Old Dutch Mill" in colors
Adults 25c and 35c

Sat., Jan. 19 News
Helen Hayes
in
'What Every Woman Knows'

Next Mon-Tues, J. 21-22
Will Rogers
in County Chairman
All Color Comedy
Adults 25c and 35c

Next Wed., Jan. 23
Frankie Thomas
Edw. Arnold, Karen Morely
Wednesdays Child
For thhe Whole Family
Chapt 14 "The Red Rider"

Southside Drug Store
(On the Corner)
Films Developed FREE
If bought at this store

The Schemmel Conservatory of Music
Offers interesting instruction by Artist Teachers, arranged to suit the needs of each pupil. Piano: Elsa Schemmel Fairchild, Marie Schemmel Shroder. Voice: Mattie Spencer Willis. Violin: Richmond Seay of Blackstone College.

Farmville Mfg. Co.
BUILDING MATERIALS
MILLWORK
Farmville, Va.

You Would Love to Have Your Shoes Fixed at
Lovelace Shoe Shop
110 Third Street

ROOM FURNISHINGS
SCHOOL SUPPLIES
CANDIES
ROSES
5-10-25c Store
FARMVILLE, VA.

Overton-Mottley Hdwe. Co.
ELECTRIC GOODS
Tennis Rackets and balls
Roller Skates

Shannon's
Is Headquarters for the Best
SANDWICHES
—and—
DRINKS
in Farmville!

Special orders for
Teas and Parties
Try our doughnuts
Foley's Bakery
Third Street

WILLIS
The Florist
Flowers for all occastons
PHONES 181-273

Conoco Gas and Oil
Fill up at
Johns Motor Co.
Farmville, Va.

Martin the Jeweler
Gifts of
Lasting Remembrance
317 Main St. Farmville

POTTED MEATS
SANDWICH SPREAD
SANDWICH ROLLS
HOT DOGS
Everything for the Picnic
W. R. Drumeller
Main Street Farmville

Cleaning at reduced rates
State Cleaning Co.
Third Street

SUPPERS AND
SMALL PARTIES
Good Breakfast
Dinners
Suppers
College Tea Room
and
LONGWOOD

Buy Your
C A N D Y
To Sell at
H. T. Stokes & Co.

G. F. Butcher
High Street
"The Convenient Store"
FOR GOOD THINGS
TO EAT AND DRINK

Electric Shoe Shop
Will Fix Your Shoes
While You Wait
BEST WORKMANSHIP
AND LEATHER USED

The Fashion Shoppe
Reflects the newest styles. All dresses $2.95 up
COATS, SUITS, DRESSES, UNDERWEAR
Silk Hose
Fine quality ..... 49c 59c and 69c

Warner's "True - Lift" Brassieres
GIRDLES—CORSELETTES
Come in today and see the many new foundation garments created especially for the college styles.
BALDWIN'S
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

WE ARE FIRST TO SHOW THE NEWEST!
New French Berets with Triangular Scarfgs to match—football colors. Special 97c
ALLEN A, new winter shades, in Sheer, Chiffon HOSIERY. They have that Certain Thing called "IT." You will love them ..... 69c pr.
Just received new shipment of Holiday Dresses in three price groups ..... $5.45—$7.45
YOUR ROOMMATE SHOPS HERE — ASK HER — SHE KNOWS — IT PAYS TO BUY AT
DOROTHY MAY STORES
FARMVILLE, VA.

SEE "PIPE DREAMS" FRIDAY

The Rotunda

We Teach To Teach

ATTEND RECITAL PROGRAM MONDAY

Volume XV. FARMVILLE, VA., JANUARY 28, 1935 No. 14

Florence Sanford And Grace Eubank PlayLeading Roles In Junior Comedy

Musical Production to Be Presented Friday Night

BROADWAY TREAT

Plans are progressing famously for the Junior Class Production, which will be staged Friday, Jan. 25, at 8 p. m., in the college auditorium, under the direction of Hazel Smith and Margaret Farrar.

The juniors are presenting again an original musical production, this time entitled "Pipe Dreams." It tells the story of a struggling young composer of popular songs, who finds his inspiration in a lovely girl who later becomes the star in the show in which his songs are made famous.

Florence Sanford enacts the part of the young hero, with Grace Eubank playing opposite.

"Pipe Dreams" features many of the very newest and most popular song hits of the season, original dances, and the very latest thing in costumes. The juniors' best talent is being used in the way of graceful dancers, lovely singers, and pep and personality!

"A trip to Broadway for only twenty-five cents," is the opinion which has been expressed of "Pipe Dreams."

Christmas Seal Sale In 1934 Is Success

That the sale of Christmas seals in both the College and County was unusually successful in 1934 is evident from the latest report of those in charge of the sale. There is a noted increase in the number of sales last year over that of 1933. Up to date, $48.24-$9.04 more than was collected last year—is the amount turned in from students and teachers. The sales within Prince Edward County total $404 against $346 which the County raised last winter from the sale of the seals.

The Christmas seal campaign is carried on each year to provide means for helping tubercular patients. Helen Smith with the Y. W. C. A. cabinet was in charge of the campaign in school, and Mr. Holton was the sale chairman of seals in the county.

Classes Elect Editors For Rotunda Contest

That the annual class editing contest will be held during the month of February has been announced by the editor of the Rotunda. Each class will publish the paper one week. A prize of $2.50 will be awarded by the Rotunda staff for the best issue, to be judged by Miss Jennings, Mr. Holton, and Dr. Jeffers.

Editors for each class were elected Tuesday night at the class meetings. The first issue will be published by the freshmen with Elizabeth Morris as editor. The other classes in the order of publication, and their editors are: sophomore, Bernice Jones; junior, Kitty Hoyle; senior, Lois Moses.

This contest has been held each February for a number of years. Its purpose is to give a small amount of journalistic training to a large number of students.

No members of the regular staff of the Rotunda are permitted to work on class editions.

1935 Virginian to Be Finished And Distributed First Of May

Work on the 1935 Virginian, yearbook of State Teachers College is rapidly going forward. The book will be completed and ready for distribution the first part of May.

The engraving for this year's book is being done by Johns Illier Engraving Co. of Chicago, Ill. The greater part of the mounting has been done and sent to the engravers. Much of the work has been returned to the staff and has met with their thorough approval.

Editor

Janice White, Art Editor, has completed the work on the book, consisting of four division pages and four sub-division pages. The art work is extremely good and quite a variation from that of last year's book. It carries out the theme in a very expressive way.

The Literary Department reports great progress. Elizabeth Walton heads this group and has turned the senior and sophomore write - ups over to Virginia Leonard, who is responsible for typing them. Doris Coates is doing the proof reading after which they will be sent to the printer.

To date one hundred and seventy-five girls have subscribed. The contract with the printers provides for three hundred books as a minimum. A table will be kept in the hall on Thursdays, where those desiring to subscribe may do so.

New Members Added To College Orchestra

Helen Carper, trumpet, and James Lipscomb, clarinet, have been added as new members to the orchestra this quarter. Alice Grainger, president of the orchestra, says that more new members will be added later.

There has been much improvement in the orchestra this year in the balance of instruments and in the skill of the players. It will be remembered that the orchestra, under the direction of Miss Lisabeth Purdom, presented the following program in Chapel Saturday morning, Jan. 12; German Dances—Beethoven; Lullaby—Traditional Air; Melody in F—Rubenstein. The orchestra was assisted in this program by Annette Roberts of the College Choir, who sang "Love's a Merchant," by Carew.

Dramatic Club Begins Rehearsals For Play

Work has begun on the annual spring play to be presented by the Dramatic Club. As yet a definite date has not been set; Miss Wheeler has mentioned sometime near the first of April. The leading characters of the play, "A Kiss For Cinderella," have been cast; Evelyn Knaub will play Cinderella with Helen Shawen playing opposite her as leading man. This same play was given at S. T. C. a few years ago with a great deal of success. The club contemplates much hard work on the elabtorate staging as well as on the acting itself.

Monogram Club Announces New Member, A. B. Anthony

The Monogram Club announces Annie B. Anthony as a new member. Annie B. is a senior who has done outstanding athletic work in her four years here. Good sportsmanship, leadership, and industry characterize her.

Miss Moran Explains New Course of Study

Miss Grace B. Moran, associate professor of Geography, spoke on the new curriculum at Wileysburg, Virginia, Jan. 15. Miss Grace E. Mix, assistant principal of the Training School, introduced Miss Moran.

Miss Moran explained the purpose of the new course of study and showed how through the unit method it could be used in the various grades in school. She illustrated the kinds of units that might be worked out in teaching by the new curriculum, a subject of much discussion in educational centers today.

Dr. Rives Arrives At S. T. C. Today

Dr. J. J. Rives, eminent Young Peoples' Worker, arrived this afternoon for a stay through Sunday. He is being sponsored by the Fellowship Committee of the Y. W. C. A. He attended the open Cabinet meeting of the Y. W. C. A. at 5:00 p. m. this afternoon and also the birthday dinner. At 8 o'clock tonight there is to be a discussion for everyone in the Student Building Lounge. There are to be individual and group conferences, throughout his stay. The schedule of Dr. Rives has been made as follows:

Thursday, Jan. 24

10:20—Chapel.
10:30—6:00—Conferences with groups or individuals.
6:00—Dinner in the Tea Room.
6:45—Prayers.
8:00—Discussion in the lounge.

Friday, Jan. 25

10:20—Chapel.
10:30—4:00 — Committee and Individual conferences.
4:00—Longwood.
5:00—Cabinet Meeting.
6:45—Prayers.
8:00—Junior Production.

Saturday, Jan. 26

10:20—Chapel.

Conferences for the rest of the day.

6:45—Sing.
8:00—Informal Reception in Student Building Lounge, Sunday, January 27.

Conduct services in the Methodist Church.

New Importance of Elementary Education Demands Modification Of Teachers' Courses of Study

(Dr. J. P. Wynne)

Fifty-two juniors were registered in the State Teachers College at Farmville last September for advanced work toward the B. S. degree in elementary education. The significance of the number is understood when it is compared with the number of twenty-five juniors last year. These figures compel the faculty and students to give attention to these three topics in the near future: (1) the new importance attached to the educational qualifications of teachers in the elementary grades; (2) the demand for modifications in the college courses of study for teachers preparing to teach in the elementary school; (3) the necessity of adjustments during a transition period in student-teaching and courses closely related to student-teaching.

New Importance Attached to the Education of Teachers for the Elementary School. For many years now those who have been in a position to speak with authority have contended that it is as desirable for teachers in the elementary school to have as good an education as it is for teachers in the secondary school and the college. In response to this attitude our teachers colleges have made it possible for students preparing to teach in the grades to continue their work for the B. S. degree in education. However, the division superintendents of the state have not been inclined to give much preference to the degree graduates over the diploma graduates. Furthermore, not much difference has been made in salary and in any other sort of recognition.

This attitude of the administ-

Continued on page 4, Col. 2

Fascism, Freedom, Communism–Topic Of Lyceum Lecture

January 24 Brings International Writer, N. Hapgood

Norman Hapgood, brilliant national figure, will lecture here Jan. 24 on: Fascism, Communism and Freedom. This will be the fourth in a series of lyceum numbers.

Norman Hapgood became widely known and appreciated, by his editing for a decade of Collier's Weekly, and thereafter of Harper's Weekly, making these journals influential factors in shaping American policies. Interrupting his journalistic career, he became minister to Denmark, 1919. As the intimate of political powers and presidents, from Theodore Roosevelt to Franklin D. Roosevelt, Mr. Hapgood has rendered important service in counsel and action. His talks on present problems are illuminated by glimpses of such leaders as Woodrow Wilson, Colonel House, Governor Smith, Calvin Coolidge, President Hoover, and other leading statesmen fianciers, etc. His journalistic genius prompts him to put the most important principles and facts into simple human form.

One critic says of him: "Hapgood has always been a crusader, swept by enthusiasm and zeal for causes, but has always been ready to see the other side of the shield."

Tickets may be secured Thursday morning in the Registrar's Office.

Sigma Pi Rho Initiates One New Member

The Virginia Alpha Chapter of Sigma Pi Rho, national honorary fraternity in Latin, initiated into membership Lelia Mattox, on Friday night, January 18.

Student 'Sick List' Decreases While Faculty List Increases

While the student "sick list" has been decreasing, the faculty list is increasing. Miss Willie London, Miss Haynes, Miss Jennings, Miss Camper, Miss Wheeler, Dr. Walmsley, Dr. Wynne, and Mr. McCorkle have been absent from the College during the past week because of illness.

Radio And Concert Singers In Recital At S. T. C. Monday

Admission Proceeds Aid Memorial Fund

Admission charge to the concert Monday night, featuring Reinald Werrenrath and Louise Bernhardt, will be fifty cents to the faculty and students of this college. To those outside, the admission charge will be $1.10. Proceeds from this concert will go to the Tabb Memorial Fund.

The committee in charge of the tickets is: Louise Hyde, Jestine Cutshall, Louise Gathright, Addie Norfleet and Helen Boswell.

Freshman Decision Limits "Rat Week"

The freshmen have settled a question over which they have been debating for three weeks. At the class meeting Tuesday night, discussion on the continuance of rat week was finally put to a vote. The vote consisted of three parts, first, rat week altogether; second, keeping it as formerly; third, limiting it to three days. The last alternative received the favor of a large majority.

Throughout the entire discussion at this meeting and the preceding ones, there were one or two points on which all members were agreed. Freshmen were dissatisfied with the slackness which characterized rat week; their argument was for strict discipline by the sophomores in order to make the week outstanding in a new girl's first college year. There arose a general complaint against private rat courts conducted in dormitory rooms in an unsportsmanlike manner.

Strong spirit was in evidence over this important question. The final vote was for three days of strict rule and for a Friday night rat court to bring sophomore justice to even those rats planning to leave for the week-end.

The freshmen have been conducting a campaign for the collection of class dues. The campaigners were divided into groups which contested against each other for the most collections. At the meeting, Ann Peple, announced that the winners were those belonging to Evelyn Montgomery's group. The prize was a huge cake visible through its wrappings. Evelyn immediately announced that her group would hold a short but important meeting in the front of the auditorium after the meeting adjourned.

British Impressionist Gives Program Here

Mr. Richard Kean, eminent British actor, appeared in the college auditorium Thursday night, January 17, before a large audience. Mr. Kean's performance was the third of the artist series presented here each year.

Mr. Kean is a character actor and impressionist of many years standing. Through expert facial expressions, appropriate costuming, fitting makeup, posture, and gestures, he brought before the audience many well known characters.

In the second part of his pro-

Continued on page 4 col. 1

Musical Critics Acclaim Werrenrath, Baritone

WITH BERNHARDT

The College Choir and Choral Club will present in concert the nationally known concert and radio star Reinald Werrenrath, America's most popular baritone, assisted by Louise Bernhardt, contralto, on Monday evening, Jan. 28, in the College auditorium. This recital promises to be a concert program in which there will be an unusual amount of pleasure and delight to all music lovers.

Mr. Werrenrath has long been an outstanding figure in the musical life of America and his many records, known as the "Victor Seal" records number into the hundreds. At one time it was reputed that his royalties from records alone exceeded $70,000 yearly. As a concert artist he is known throughout America for his wonderful voice and personality plus the gift of interpretation, and his recitals have been marked by real musicianship.

Miss Louise Bernhardt, whose phenomenal rise in the musical world has been the cause of many favorable comments from musical critics, has won the National Federation of Music Clubs trophy for the most outstanding young singer in America, and following that she identified herself with the American Opera Company and later the Chicago Grand Opera Company. Youth, personality, beauty and musicianship have been attributed to her from every musical critic who had the opportunity to see and hear her, and she will add much to the program in which Mr. Werrenrath is featured.

The following program will be

Continued on page 4, Col. 1

New Study in Mental Hygiene to be Given

During the first term of the coming summer school a new course in education will be offered. This course, a study in Mental Hygiene, will be a three-hour credit class conducted by Mr. Coyner. It will deal with the following subject matter: The nature and development of a healthy mental life and stable personality; methods of avoiding maladjustments, such as tantrums, criminal tendencies, emotional complexes, and other undesirable traits; proper treatment of common mental disturbances; and the study of general principles through the analysis of numerous case studies.

This course will be elective for juniors and seniors.

Kappa Delta Pi Has Dr. Allan to Lecture

Dr. D. M. Allan, professor of psychology and philosophy at Hampden-Sydney, will speak to Beta Epsilon chapter of Kappa Delta Pi on the "Adjustment of the College Student to College Life," on Thursday, Jan. 24, at 7 p. m., in the Honor Room.

The general program theme for the year is "Mental Hygiene." Miss Mix has discussed one phase of it, "The Adjustment of the Kindergarten Child." From time to time other speakers will treat various other phases of this subject.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Published by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

MEMBER
Associated Collegiate Press
1934 Collegiate Digest 1935
MADISON WISCONSIN

Staff

Lelia Mattox ..... Editor
Evelyn Massey ..... Associate Editor
Lena Mac Gardner ..... Business Manager

Board of Editors

Miss Jane Royall ..... Alumnae
Florence Sanford ..... Make-up
Susan Gresham ..... Headlines
Kathryne Cotten ..... Literary
Birdie Wooding, Emma Bingham, Bess McClothlin ..... Editorials
Anne Putney ..... World News
Anne Diggs ..... Social
Kathleen Ranson, Lelia Sanford ..... Sports
Belle Lovelace, Amis Montgomery ..... Features

Proof Readers

Elizabeth Walton, Dorothy Deans, Agnes Bondurant

Managers

Alva Sawyer ..... Asst. Business
Maude Rhodes, Lila Jacob, Elsie Cabell ..... Circulation

Assistants and Reporters

Bonnie Lane, Minnie Smith, Mary Lee Newcomb, Elsie Cabell, Mary Adeline McGlothlin, Katherine Coleman, Elizabeth Mann, Grace Allen Pittard, Margaret Farrar

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 23, 1935

The Saar

With an overwhelming, though expected, majority, the Saarlanders voted to return to their Fatherland, Germany; and so Europe is relieved of one of its chief danger spots. For fifteen years the Saar territory has been under the international governmental control of the League of Nations, and it is with satisfaction and pride in the success of the experiment that the League returns the Saar to Germany.

However, the satisfaction is not universal. There are thousands of Saarlanders, who for racial or political reasons will be forced to leave their homes and face distress and hardship. Jews, Catholics, Communists, and Socialists comprise nearly 20 to 30 per cent of the Saarlanders, but even with the courageous fight they have put up, the Saar is still not a very pleasant place for them to live in. Nazi Germans have threatened vengeance against their opposers in the Saar, despite the fact that the German government has promised that there will be no reprisals nor religious or racial discrimination during the year of transition.

During the transitional year the plebiscite tribunal of the League will hear complaints of pressure or reprisal against voters, the coal mines will be turned over to German, French currency in the Saar will be replaced by German, Nazi government will be extended to the Saar, and the Saar's economic life will begin.

To France, as well as to any other country in Europe, the return of the Saar Basin to Germany is welcome and not merely because of the returns she will get. They are only what she is due. Insofar as any gain is concerned, France and Germany came out almost equal. Germany will pay France $60,000,000 for the coal mines. Payment will be made in coal deliveries and the transfer to France of French currency now in circulation in the Saar. France has little worry about in this matter, for the Saar is dependent upon her for consumption of a large portion of the coal, and is even more dependent upon her for the iron ore used in its steel mills, practically all of it coming from Lorraine. Thus these two territories must cross an economic and political frontier in order to carry on the logical "working together" that is necessary to industry in the Saar.

So another important chapter in the history of Europe and the League of Nations comes to a close and "German the Saar remains."

"A Musical Scoop"

Farmville will host a great singer on Monday, January 28th, when Reinald Werrenrath comes to the College to give a recital. Long before Tibbett or John Charles Thomas had made any impression on a musical public, Mr. Werrenrath was creating a furore with his "Danny Deever" and other well known songs, and his Victor records were sold by thousands. Caruso, John McCormack and Reinald Werrenrath had the people sitting on the edge of their seats. John McCormack and Reinald Werrenrath are still going strong. This concert is sponsored by the College Choir and Choral Club of the College.

We can recommend this outstanding recital to every reader of The Rotunda, and your presence will tend to show your appreciation for the effort put forth by the organizations which are sponsoring it and help to swell THE TABB MEMORIAL FUND.

Letters from Students

Dear Editor,

I waked with a start some time in the small hours of the morning. The big bell was ringing furiously, and immediately I concluded that the school was on fire. A picture of panic and confusion came into my mind and then a storm of questions presented themselves, and to each one I was forced to answer, "I don't know."

What is the signal for a fire at S. T. C.? What procedure would the girls follow in case of fire? Does anyone understand the use of the fire extinguishers on the halls, or how many know where a near-by fire escape is? Why do we never have a fire drill?

Perhaps there are fire regulations at S. T. C., but neither I nor many girls whom I have talked with are familiar with the system. It does seem that we should be prepared to cope with such a dangerous situation.

A Junior

Dear Editor,

How can we justify the enormous amount of "baby talking" we do? After all, girls come to college to put away childish habits, and baby talk could hardly be considered a characteristic desirable for a young lady—especially when the young lady is planning to become a teacher of "the up and coming Americans". Imagine how popular the teacher would be who asked her "iddy biddy dirl" to answer the next question. We would all consider a teacher of that type as nothing short of a freak, but habits we form in college might make "freaks" of us some day if we are not cautious.

"Chirley"

A Spirit of Dependability

At ten minutes of eleven Saturday morning there was no honest student in assembly who did not sincerely feel ashamed, who did not feel that she owed an apology to someone, or to everyone in general. When Dr. Jarman considered it necessary to speak to the entire student body about the careless little habits we slip into, they loomed big before us.

We are sorry that it was necessary; however, now that Saturday is behind us, we have something more important to do than simply to be sorry. It is good that we not forget, but that we keep our spirit of humility. It is to the little things that we want to turn out attention, toward the careless little habits of speech, of dress, of thought, of attitude. What are these small demons? We have heard them all—come to meals fully dressed, be prompt in class attendance, in coming to meals, in attending to one's affairs, be neat in appearance, be quiet and lady-like, though never drab and dull, be thoughtful of others, tune the radio moderately, practice your tapping before eleven o'clock—need we go through the whole list again? Just this—another reminder—should be enough.

Alumnae News

Lancaster-Diehl

Of interest to students and alumnae of recent years is the wedding of Miss Catherine Diehl, daughter of Mrs. Frederick Diehl, to Mr. Guy Lancaster, son of Mrs. William Lancaster. The wedding took plash at Ashland, Va., on January 19, 1935. The couple will reside in Farmville after a short trip to Florida.

Miss Reese Appointed Home Demonstrator

Miss Myra Reese, who has been in the Chesterfield County Home Demonstration office for the last four months, has been appointed Home Demonstration Manager of Prince Edward County. She is filling the vacancy caused by the resignation of Miss Courtney Farrar, who has been the agent in Prince Edward for the last five years.

Cunningham-Lowe

Major and Mrs. Lowe of Charlottesville have announced the marriage of their daughter, Virgina, to Mr. Edward Cunningham. The wedding took place in New York City on December 26, 1934.

Haynesworth-Irving

A number of out-of-town guests, a few friends and the immediate family attended the wedding of Miss Paula Irving, daughter of Mrs. Paulus A. Irving of Farmville, to Dr. J. E. Haynesworth of Buckingham. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's mother on High Street on Jan. 19, at five o'clock.

Teacher Injured In Auto-Train Crash

Miss Ruth Walton, a member of the Pittsylvania County public school faculty, is recovering at Memorial Hospital in Richmond from injuries sustained when a car in which she was riding was hit by a Southern Railway train at a crossing near Hurts, Va.

Committee Plans Pageant For Dinwiddie

Among the members of the planning committee for the pageant and field day program for the Dinwiddie County Schools are the following Farmville graduates: Miss Susie Reams, Darvills High School; Miss Parke Leigh Orgain, McKenney High School; Miss Susie Allen, Ford School; Miss Katherine Wilkerson, Reams School; Miss Alice V. Abernathy, Smith Grove School; and Miss Annie B. Sheffield, Sapony Schools.

Entertains At Bride Breakfast

Mrs. H. V. Lancaster entertained last Thursday morning at a bridge breakfast in honor of Miss Catherine Diehl, whose marriage to Mr. Guy Lancaster took place on Saturday.

DON'T-YOU-WORRY-TOWN

There's a town called Don't-You-Worry,
Where the Cheer-Up and Be-Happy
Blossom sweetly all the while,
Where the Never-Grumble flower
Blooms beside the fragrant Ivy,
And the Ne'er-Give-Up and Patience
Point their faces to the sky.

In the valley of Contentment,
In the province of I-Will,
You will find this lovely city
At the foot of No-Fret Hill.
There are thoroughfares delightful
In this charming little town,
And on every hand are shade trees
Named the Very - Seldom - Frown.

Rustic benches, quite enticing,
You'll find scattered here and there,
And to each a vine is clinging
Called the Frequent-Earnest Prayer.
Everybody there is happy
And is singing all the while,
In the town called Don't-You-Worry,
On the banks of River smile.
—Selected.

An omission: In last week's "Rotunda" the editorial "Students Stand for Peace" was taken from "The Louisiana Talks." Through mistake, credit was not given to that paper for the editorial.

Rotunda Reverberations

Things We Wish We Didn't Know: That Spring holidays are fifty-five days off . . . that there will always be afternoon classes . . . that the best radio programs will come in when your roommate wants to sleep . . . that most professors have a distinct aversion to your cutting their classes when you're on the dean's list . . . that alarm clocks will always go off to ruin the happiest dreams . . . that everybody can't possibly get to Fancy Dress . . . that week-ends will never come faster than every six days.

Things We'd Like To Recommend: Burkeville hamburgers and screwy slot machines . . . Mr. Bell as Hamlet . . . an hour of basketball for a lot of softies . . . the abolishment of bangs . . . Mrs. Tabb's broiled steak and French fried potatoes . . . Shannon's for co-educational purposes . . . Halliburton's newest, "The Flying Carpet" . . . "Hands Across the Table" with Lombardo.

We can't decide whether Miss Britt is interested in the social life of Shannon's or the excellent service she gets . . . We'd like to be further informed on the subject.

These Juniors with their "Pipe Dreams" must figure they have to have a production to indulge.

We've all heard about the greatness of the baritone, Werrenrath. But it took Mr. Strick to show us what a colossal figure he is. P. S. For further information see poster by the faculty mail box. If you can't find it, you may borrow our microscope.

If the Sophomores continue to shine as they did in Sing, we'd like to recommend a few pairs of dark glasses for a credulous student body.

We never knew before last week what a flu-ent faculty we have.

Things We Hate to Pieces: Baby talk in secluded corners . . . enthusiastic student teachers . . . people who "pass the buck" subtle g. s.-ing . . . an eight-thirty class on rainy day . . . advertisements before the movie . . . the person who quotes Joe Penner all day Monday just because she listened to him a half hour Sunday night . . . pink ham and stewed prunes . . . the person who reads Johnnnie's letters to the student body.

Review of the News

Some of us, probably, have faint recollections of the descending of the rum-runner, I'm Alone, to Davy Jones' locker. This untimely sea burial occurred in 1929 when an American Coast Guard cutter sank the Canadian-registered boat of fthe cost of Louisiana. The United States had a hard time defending her action to the roaring British and Canadian governments while even at home would-be wets fumed at the destruction. To clear up the affair a commission was appointed under the U. S.-England treaty on liquor of 1924 with Justice Lyman Poore Duff to represent Canada and Associate-Justice Willis Van Devanter of the Supreme Court to represent the U. S. Last week the commission sent in its report which called for the payment of $25,666.50 to the ship's captain and crew, and $25.000 to the sinking of the ship and cargo were held to be unjustified under all exisiting treaties and international law. The United States confessed herself guilty and sent her apologies.

The whole truth and nothing but the truth about the Saar Plebescite will, in all probability, never be known, but we do know that it was one of the most expensive elections ever held. When it comes to the actual costs of the election, the amount involved is said to have made each ballot cost, officially, $3.00. However, the amounts spent by countries interested in sub rosa expenditures can only be gusessed at. If they approach the amount Germany and France accused each other of spending—if each country spent as much as she says the other one did, the cost of each ballot approximates $63.00. Five hundred and five thousand votes were cast, showing that vast sums paid out would pay a large part of the European war debt.

Among My Favorities

Invictus

Out of the night that covers me,
Black as the pit from pole to pole,
I thank whatever Gods may be
For my unconquerable soul.

In the fell clutch of circumstance
I have not winced nor cried aloud.
Under the bludgonings of chance
My head is bloody, but unbow'd.

Beyond this place of wrath and tears
Looms but the Horror of the shade,
And yet the menace of the years
Finds and shall find me unafraid.

It matters not how straight the gate,
How charged with punishments the scroll,
I am the master of my fate:
I am the captain of my soul.
—William Ernest Henley.

The Soul Selects

The soul selects her own society,
Then shuts the door;
On her divine majority
Obtrude no more.

Unmoved, she notes the chariots pausing
At her low gate;
Unmoved, an emperor is kneeling
Upon her mat.

I've known her from an ample nation
Choose one;
Then close the valves of her attention
Like stone.
—Emily Dickinson.

From: The Day Is Done

And the night shall be filled with music,
And the cares that infest the day
Shall fold their tents, like the Arabs,
And as silently steal away.
—Longfellow.

Memory

My mind lets go a thousand things,
Like dates of wars and deaths of kings,
And yet recalls the very hour—
'Twas noon by yonder village tower,
And on the last blue moon in May—
The wind came briskly up this way,
Crisping the brook beside the road;
Then, pausing here, set down its load
Of pine-scents and shook listlessly
Two petals from that wild-rose tree.
—Thomas Bailey Aldrich

The World Is Too Much With Us

The World is too much with us; late and soon,
Getting and spending, we lay waste our powers;
Little we see in nature that is ours;
We have given our hearts away, a sordid boon!
This sea that bares her bosom to the moon;
The winds that will be howling at all hours,
And are up-gathered now like sleeping flowers;
For this, for everything, we are out of tune;
It moves us not.—Great God! I'd rather be
A Pagan suckled in a creed outworn,
So might I, standing on this pleasant lea,
Have glimpses that would make me less forlorn;
Have sight of Proteus rising from the sea,
Or hear old Triton blow his wreathed horn.
—Wordsworth.

SOCIALS

Even though our so-called "season" is supposed to be over with the last of the holidays, S. T. C. calendars are well marked with accounts of week-end trips, dances, and other social affairs.

It seems we were a bit ahead of ourselves last week in saying that Mid-winters at the University of Virginia were on the week-end of Jan. 11. We understand now that it was the Medical Dances some of our students attended there last week-end.

At Home

As home is always foremost in the minds of many, some girls fulfilled their longing to return there last week-end. They were: Calara Hailey, Bernice Jones, Virginia Hurt, Pattie Jeffreys, Calara Hailey, Bernice Jones, Frances Johnson, Delha Chambliss, Eleanor Dodson, Sarah Beck, Laeta Barham Nancy Beard, Elizabeth Butterworth, Ethel Burgess, Kitty Chappell, Mary L. French, Mildred Meeks, Nora Jones, Inez Chappell, Belle Lovelace, Kathryn Jamerson, Grace Collins, Crenshaw Jones, Josephnie Kent, Zilla Newsom, Marion Pond, Mary Alice Wood, Mary Lynn Thomas, Pauline Pearson, Marion Shaffner, Frances Jones, Mary Phipps, Christian Rennolds and Charlotte Rice.

To Richmond

Our little S. T. C. week-end droves have started to Richmond. Among those who went there last week-end are: Ann Mears, Mary Bowles, Frances Hudgins, Bebe Russell, Minnie Smith, Amis Montgomery, Rose Puller, Ruth Montgomery, Elizabeth Booth, Frances Yester, Annie McCready, Dorothy Glover, and Billie Arthur.

In Blacksburg

Farmville S. T. C. was well represented in Blacksburg last week-end, for among those who spent the week-end there are: Marion Hansbrough, Lucille Akers, Valla Nimmo, Martha Watson, Anthelia Robinette, and Agnes Oglesby.

In Norfolk

Norfolk claimed her share of S. T. C. visitors, too, for Mary Joyner Cox, Virginia Martin, Georgie Custis, Henrietta Eichelberger and Dorothy Wise visited there.

At Other Places

Among other places visited were: Roanoke by June Allen; Newport News by Patsy Nottingham; Prospect by Dorothy Robertson; Drakes Branch by Elizabeth Trent; Sunnyside by Eleanor Wood; Rawlings by Eleanor Wade; Hot Springs by Merwyn Gathright; Blackstone by Ava Alderman; Curdsville by Kathryn Harvey; and Amherst by Anne Johnson.

Tri Sigma and A. S. A. New Girls Entertain Pledges

Sigma Sigma Sigma's new girls entertained the pledges of the other sororities at a pajama party in the Tri Sigma chapter room Monday night, Jan. 21, at 10 o'clock. The guests numbered approximately sixty.

Alpha Sigma Alpha's chapter room was the scene of a formal tea on Tuesday afternoon from four until six o'clock, when the Alpha Sigma Alpha pledges entertained the pledges of the other sororities.

Midland College (Fremont, Neb.) students are estimated to consume their own weight in food every month, plus 12 pounds each for good measure. The avreage collegian monthly drinks 51 pounds of milk, eats 35 pounds of vegetables, 18 pounds of fruit, and 12 pounds of meat.

Attendance and gate receipts at Columbia University (New York City) grid games this year were almost double those of last season.

Exactly 42 per cent of the three Harvard University (Cambridge, Mass.) upper classes are listed as candidates for honors.

Carnegie Institution (Washington, D. C.) astronomers are conducting studies of a very faint nebula said to be 1,330,000,000,000,000,000,000 miles away.

"Fairy Teacher" Conducts Sodalitas Latina Meeting

A fairy teacher, represented by Doris Moore, conducted the program meeting of Sodalitas Latina on January 17, in the Language Room.

The teacher and her pupils, the other members of the club, held their lessons in Latin. They proved to be very efficient in reading, arithmetic, and spelling.

After the fairy teacher dismissed the class, Maude Rhodes gave a talk on the Horatian Cruises. This was very appropriate, because this year is the bimillennium of Horace. Each member of the club discussed a quotation from Horace, and the meeting was closed by the singing of one of his favorite poems, "Integer Vitate."

Six Sororities Bid Girls Friday Night

The six sororities in College issued bids, Friday night, January 18, following a week of rushing. The girls pledged are:

Sigma Sigma Sigma

Mary Joyner Cox, Smithfield.
Jennie Belle Gilliam, Petersburg.
Emily Guy, Bramwell, W. Va.
Elizabeth Harris, South Boston.
Carolyn Hoon, San Antonio, Texas.
Ruth Montgomery, Baskerville.
Carter Belle Munt, Petersburg.
Buck Pleasants, South Hill.
Isabel Plummer, Petersburg.
Dorothy Rust, Alexandria.
Nan Seward, Petersburg.
"Will" Scott, Orange.
Mary Harrison Vaughan, South Boston.

Alpha Sigma Alpha

"Bobbie" Brooke, Louisville, Ky.
"Midge" Davis," Chester.
Virginia Daughty, Exmore.
Eleanor Dunham, Durham, N. C.
Charlotte Elliott, Hampton.
Louise Floyd, Birds Nest.
Annie Watson Holden, Petersburg.
Jacqueline Johnson, Smithfield.
Alice Nelson, Richmond.
Mary Elizabeth Slater, Lewisburg, W. Va.

Gamma Theta

"Ducky" Davies, Culpepper.
Eleanor Dodson, Norfolk.
Sue Eastham, Culpepper.
Catherine Fitzgerald, Chatham.
Catherine Galusha, Dinwiddie.
Marian Hansbrough, Salem.
Evelyn Montgomery, Ronceceverte, W. Va.
Valla Nimmo, Suffolk.
Page Nottingham, Eastville.
Anne Peple, Richmond.
Helen Fern Perdue, Chester.
Tyler Wood, Parsley.

Mu Omega

Virginia Agee, Logan, W. Va.
Mamie Barnes, Richmond.
Margaret Frailey, Appalachia.
Elsie Green, Churchland.
Edna Harvey, Dillwyn.
Anne Johnson, Blacksburg.
Nellwyn Latimer, Bristol, Tenn.
Elizabeth Morris, Big Stone Gap.
Mary Jane Pendleton, Troutville.
Nancy Pobst, Grandy.
Margie Lee Robertson, Dillwyn.
Katherine Smoot, Alexandria.
Elise Turner, Richmond.
Julia Anne Waldo, Churchland.
Marjorie Woolfolk, Orange.

Pi Kappa Sigma

Leslie Bradshaw, Waverly.
"Kittie" Jamison, Roanoke.
Bonnie Powell, Newport News.
Josephine Quinn, Newport News.
Margaret Long, St. Paul.

Zeta Tau

Lucille Davis, Covington.
Dorothy Deans, Portsmouth.
Jane Lybrock, Fincastle.

Seven eclipses will occur during 1935, the maximum number that can occur during a single year. The combination will not occur again for 550 years.

The number of college students in the United States has increased approximately 900 per cent since 1900, while the population of the country has increased only 63 per cent.

The government of China has decreed that military training in all colleges in Canton, China, shall be compulsory.

Among the Alumnae

Interesting and noteworthy achievements of Farmville Alumnae are reported from week to week in this column. Clippings, letters, or information about our graduates and former students who have done unusual things, should be sent to James M. Grainger, Head of the Department of English.

Recently, The Staunton News Leader has carried appreciative news articles and editorials concerning the work of Miss Ruth Jamison (Class of 1916), County Home Demonstration Agent of Augusta. The immediate occasion was the announcement that one of her club members had won first place among other contestants in canning at the National 4-H Club Congress meeting in Chicago, this being the fourth consecutive year in which Miss Jamison's students have received honors in state or national contests.

While a student at State Teachers College, Miss Jamison was known among the faculty for her willingness to undertake more than one person could do, and for succeeding in doing what she set out to do for her grit, as one of her teachers expressed it; among the students and faculty she was known for a contagious and unfailing optimism that carried her class to success in the face of all obstacles. Some of her intimates hinted that she was shy, that her brave manner was "put on" to hide fright in a difficult situation. But with a longer view, it appears that belief in her work and zest for it, rather than any thought of self, any so-called grit, are the controlling elements in her achievements.

After leaving Farmville, Miss Jamison taught for several years in the public schools of Franklin County, of Big Stone Gap, Va., of McDowell County, West Virginia, and in St. Louis, Missouri. Between times in her busy career she has found time for additional training at the University of Virginia and at Washington College, St. Louis, Missouri. For the past several years, she has been with the Co-operative Extension Service of the University of Virginia and Virginia Polytechnic Institute, having served in Brunswick and Augusta Counties. The high quality of her work with the women and girls in Home Demonstration Clubs, in Junior Homemakers Clubs, and with 4-H Clubs is attested, not only by the honors that come to her groups of girls but also by the tributes of the district and state leaders and all those with whom and for whom she works.

Radio Highlights

January 23-27
Wednesday

P. M.
8:00—WEAF, "Within the Law," a play with Mary Pickford.
8:15—WABC, Edwin C. Hill, News Commentator.
8:30—WJZ, Lanny Ross.
9:00—WEAF, Fred Allen's Show.
9:00—WABC, Lily Pons.
9:30—WABC, Burns and Allen.
10:00—WEAF, Guy Lombardo.
10:30—WJZ, Harry Richmand.

Thursday

7:45—WJZ, Ruth Etting.
8:00—WEAF, Rudy Valee.
9:00—WEAF, Captain Henry's Show Boat.
9:00—WABC, Glen Gray's Casa Loma Orchestra.
10:00—WEAF, Paul Whiteman.

Friday

7:45—WABC, Boake Carter.
9:00—WEAF, Lyman's Orchestra.
9:30—WJZ, Phil Baker.

Saturday

1:50-5:15—WJZ, Opera "Romeo and Juliet" with Geraldine Farrar.
8:20—WJZ, Grace Hayes and Her Songs.
9:00—WEAF, Rose Bampton, contralto.
9:30—WEAF, The Gibson family.
9:30—WABC, Richard Himber's Orchestra.
10:30—WJZ, "Ireland, the Nationless Nation Maker"—Post-Master General James A. Farley.

Sunday

2:30—WJZ, "The Bad Man," a play with Walter Huston.
3:00—WABC, New York Philhormonic Symphony Orchestra.
7:00—WJZ, Jack Benny.
7:00—WABC, Alexander Woollcott.
7:30—WJZ, Joe Penner.
7:30—WABC, Will Rogers.

The United States has a higher proportion of college graduates than any other nation in the world. There is one for every 44 persons.

Eighty-nine per cent of the women in the Boston University (Mass.) college of practical arts and letters recently voted in favor of smoking.

Heard nightly on the kitchen halls, "Hamburgers, sandwiches!" —The Call of the Wild!

"Yes Saar, Mr. Adolph!" answered Hitler's yes men last Sunday.

V. M. I. now has sound pictures for demonstration use in its physics and chemistry departments. Among other improvements there are a new laundry and mess hall which have just been completed.

Seventeen men made letters in football at Guilford the past fall and Bridgewater's Monogram Club was enlarged by eight new men after the close of football season.

S. A. Legus
TAILOR
CLEANING
PRESSING
REPAIRING
Phone 203

Going Away? . . . . . .
Travel by
GREYHOUND
Safe—Comfortable—Economical

C. E. Chappell Co.
Stationery, Blank Books and School Supplies
Cigars, Cigarettes and Soda
Farmville, Virginia

Rice's Shoe Store
Street and Dress Shoes
Dancing Slippers Dyed
Correct fits our specialty

Kleanwell
CLEANERS AND TAILORS
Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling ladies garments
Main Street, opposite Post office
Phone 98

Gray's Drug Store
QUALITY—PRICE—SERVICE
Come in and Get Acquainted
We are glad to have you with us!
Farmville, Virginia

Mack's
BARBER AND BEAUTY SHOP
323 Main Street
We use the Frederick Method
Hair cutting and thinning a Specialty

PRINTING . . . . .
When you think of Printing think of
—The—
FARMVILLE HERALD

JUST RECEIVED—lovely new print dresses and new solid colors. They are really outstanding for looks and quality—in two price groups
$5.85 AND $7.85
Clearance of all Novelty Shoes and Oxfords—$4.00 and $5.00 Shoes. Your unrestricted choice $2.45
Sale on Dollar Gold Strip Hosiery—with Non-Run tops 79c
THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE
Farmville's Best Place to Shop!

—FOR—
EVERYTHING—SCHOOL SUPPLIES, CANDIES, FRUITS, CONFECTIONS, ETC.
GO TO . . . . .
GILLIAM'S
Open 'till 9:00 p. m.

SHOES
For All Occasions

Evening—Dress—Sports—Street Wear
$2.95 to $5.95
DAVIDSON'S

ARE YOU INTERESTED?
JACKETS of Grain and Suede Cloth and Wool SWEATERS.
We are showing the season's newest. Come in. We are glad to show—Just what we have—and the line is very attractive.
VERSER'S

PHILCO RADIO
World's largest manufacturers of Radio
A complete line
Watch repairing a specialty
Sheet Music—Strings for Instruments
LYNN, The Main Street Jeweler

YOUR NEIGHBOR,
The Weyanoke Beauty Salon
invites you to drop in and take advantage of their Special prices now in effect.
Permanent Waves—$4 & $6 Shampoo & Fingerwave 75 cents
Manicure 40 cents
Individual, courteous, efficient service and an established reputation for dependability and satisfaction. That is our guarantee, and your assurance of perfect workmanship.

Freshman Basketball Team Elects Captain, Makes Plans To Play

Freshman basketball players have organized a team, elected a captain, and are getting ready to meet other teams.

Betty Butterworth was elected captain of the freshman team when they met Monday, Jan. 21. Jennie Belle Gilliam and Margaret Thomas were the other two nominees for the captainship.

The freshman team is making plans now to play College High, Petersburg, Farmville High, and the Westhampton College freshmen.

Language Clubs Make Annual Bazaar Plans

Plans for the annual foreign language bazaar were begun at recent meetings of El Circulo Espanol and Le Cercle Francais. The bazaar will be held Feb. 13, from four to six o'clock, in Miss Coulling's class room.

El Circulo Espanol chose the following girls to head the committees: Katherine Milby and Dot Deans, money; Ione Covert and Martha Ann Laing, hostesses; Charlotte Young, Kitty Coleman, and Marguerite Rollins, booths; Elsie Cabell, decorations; Virginia Payne, exhibits; Audrey Clements, program.

Members of Le Cercle Francais plan to pantomine several old and new songs at the bazaar. The following girls are in charge of the committees. Bonnie Lane, program; Lila Jacob, music; Elizabeth Walton, decorations; Anne Putney, money; Marjorie Boston, marionette show.

Beta Pi Thea will sell cocoa and sandwiches at the bazaar. Winnie Frances Eubank is in charge of these plans.

The general opinion is that the bazaar, although it was not held last year, will be more successful than it has been previously.

British Impressionist Gives Program Here

Continued from page one

gram, the actor applied his make-up on the stage entirely. This helped the audience see how he accomplished his work so quickly and effectively, and it gave his performance an informal air.

The artist showed great strength and character in the role of Shylock, the Jew, a Shakespearean character. As Cardinal Woolsey, he portrayed great feeling and resignation.

The second half of the program was of a lighter, more amusing type. Mr. Kean's representation of his original character, Peter, the Miser, was clever. As Uriah Heep, he was entertaining and amusing.

The remainder of the program consisted of character impressions at Alfred Jingle (Pickwick Papers), Svengali (Trilby), and Gunga Din (Kipling).

Radio and Concert Singers in Recital At S. T. C. Monady

Continued from page 1

presented:

Part I—Love Me or Not, Secchi: Leezie Lindsay, (Old Scotch) Arr. by Fritz Kreisler; Allerseelen, Richard Strauss; The Two Grenadiers, Robert Schumann, Mr. Werrenrath.

Part II—Non ho Parole, Sibelli: La Giocondita, Sibella; Nuages, Georges; The Gypsy Song (from Carmen), Bizet, Miss Bernhardt.

Part 3—Three Sea Songs: Pirate Song, Henry F. Gilbert; Trade Winds, Frederick Keel; Captain Stratton's Fancy, Deems Taylor; Mr. Werrenrath.

Part IV—Yasmin, Dobson; I Know Where I'm Goin', Hughes; So Near to Thee, Gabrilowitsch Miss Bernhardt.

Duet Scene from Don Rupert O Erlebach; Chumleigh Fair, John C. Holliday; Duna, Josephine McGill; Down Deever, Walter Damrosch. Mr. Werrenrath.

La ci Darem (Don Giovanni), Mozart. Duet.

At the piano, Ruth Penick.

Newspapers of Other Schools To Be Placed In Reading Room

Beginning today, all college and high school newspapers sent to "The Rotunda" will be placed on the magazine holder nearest the newspaper rack in the library. This will be done for the interest and convenience of the students as long as the students, in reading these newspapers, observe the rules posted on the newspaper rack.

The Rotunda receives the following newspapers which will be put in the library:

The Breeze, Harrisonburg S. T. C., Harrisonburg
Grapurchat, East Radford, S. T. C., East Radford
The Hi-Po, High Point College, High Point, N. C.
College Topics, University of Virginia, Charlottesville.
The Ring-tum Phi, Washington and Lee University, Lexington
The Sweet Briar News, Sweet Briar College, Sweet Briar.
The Yellow Jacket, Randolph-Macon College, Ashland.
The Student, Central Missouri, S. T. C., Warrensburg, Mo.
The Spectator, Mississippi State College for Women, Columbus, Miss.
The Virginia Tech, V. P. I., Blacksburg.
The Sun Dial, Randolph-Macon Woman's College, Lynchburg
The Erskine Mirror, Erskine College, Due West, S. C.
The Richmond Collegian, University of Richmond, Richmond
The Davidsonian, Davidson College, Davidson, N. C.
The Tulane Hullabaloo, Tulane, University, New Orleans, La.
Skull and Bones, Medical College of Virginia, Richmond
The Alabamian, Alabama College, Montevallo, Ala.
The Pelican, New Jersey S. T. C., Montclair, N. J.
The Exponent, Northern Normal and Industrial School, Aberdeen S. D.
The V. M. I. Cadet, V. M. I., Lexington
The Wittenburg Torch, Wittenburg College, Springfield, Ohio.
The Tiger, Hampden-Sydney College, Hampden-Sydney
The Critograph, Lynchburg College, Lynchburg.
The Flat Hat, William and Mary College, Williamsburg
The Lenoir Rhynean, Lenoir Rhyne College, Hickory, N. C.
The Salemite, Salem College, Winston-Salem, N. C.
The Florida Flambeau, Florida State College for Women, Tallahassee, Florida.
The Brackety-Ack, Roanoke College, Salem.
The Tech Echo, East Carolina Teachers Col., Greenville, S. C.
The Twig, Meredith College, Raleigh, N. C.
The Black Chat, Blackstone High School, Blackstone
The Monocle, John Marshall High School, Richmond.
The Kempsvillian, Kempsville High School, Princess Anne.
The Swan, William Byrd High School, Vinton
The Student, Woodrow Wilson High School, Portsmouth

New Importance of Element'y Education

Continued from page 1

tration in Virginia is now rapidly changing. The few students who have majored in elementary education and graduated with a B. S. degree apparently have done so well in the schools that they have "sold" the idea of better educated teachers. The people of the state have at last learned the difference between educated teachers and trained teachers. From now on they will not be satisfied to have their children taught by women who do not have the scholarship, experience, and maturity, which this important work requires. They see how, as they have never seen before, that childhood is the crucial period in the educational program. They realize that teachers in the elementary school need a superior rather than an inferior sort of educational experience.

Modification in the College Course of Study. An important change in the course of study for students preparing to teach in the elementary grades is eminent. Heretofore, the emphasis in our teachers college courses of study for these students has been on the first two years. The content in subject matter, principles and procedures, and the practice teaching have all had to be concentrated in two years. The two-year curriculum was in practice a finishing program. When a student returned for a degree in elementary education, the additional courses were simply added on to those which she had already pursued without much attempt at integrated organization. There has often been much overlapping because the work on the lower level in many cases had to be repeated on the higher level in order to assure thoroughness. When the program is thought of in terms of four years rather than in terms of two years, the professional classes and the teaching that now come in the first two years could be deferred to the junior and senior years and thus provide for the establishment of a better subject matter basis during the earlier years.

Also the kind of courses offered should be modified considerably. Most of the junior and senior courses have been designed primarily for students preparing to teach in the secondary schools. From now on more attention must be given to the development of courses that are especially adapted to the needs of students preparing to teach in the elementary school.

(To Be Continued Next Week)

CRYPTOGRAPHS

Collegiate Digest
Associated Collegiate Press

With this issue of The Rotunda we are inaugurating this new feature — Cryptograms. This popular form of puzzle has existed for centuries. If you are at all literary-minded, you will remember that there is a "crypt" in Poe's "The Gold Bug," which incidentally, cryptogram fans claim is absurdly simple. We can't give you any really hot clues for our first puzzle in this series—but it is about a crossword puzzle fan. By the way, if you have any questions about this new feature, or can suggest suitable puzzles for this series, write the puzzle editor, Collegiate Digest, Madison, Wis.

Here's the first puzzle, the answer to which will be given next week:

ABCDDECBF ACGHIJKJGK "LMLKLDLD" DNKKLDHD EC-BF JD JGHBJGDJAIOOP ABPQ-HCKBIRRIHJA. CB FC EL LBB?

Overheard at dinner one night.

First Senior: "I surely do want to go to A—and S—'s wedding.

Second Ditto: "Oh, it's just going to be a very quiet one."

First Ditto: "That's all right. I won't make any noise.'

EACO THEATRE

Mats. 4 p. m.; Nights 8 p. m.
Adults 25c: Children 15c
Unless otherwise noted

Thurs-Fri., Jan. 24-25
Clarke Gable
Joan Crawford
Robt. Montgomery
in
"Forsaking All Others"
Adults 25c and 35c

Sat., Jan. 26 Cartoon
May Robson
MARY CARLYLE
in
"Grand Old Girl"
Glorifying the American School Teacher

Next Mon. & Tues., Jan. 28-29.
Claudette Colbert
in
'Imitation of Life'
All color comedy
Adults 25c and 35c

Next Wed., Jan. 30
ZANE GREY'S
"Home on the Range"
With Jackie Coogan
Randolph Scott
Last Chap. "Red Rider"
Our Gang Comedy

Southside Drug Store
(On the Corner)
Films Developed FREE
If bought at this store

The Schemmel Conservatory of Music
Offers interesting instruction by Artist Teachers, arranged to suit the needs of each pupil. Piano: Elsa Schemmel Fairchild, Marie Schemmel Shroder. Voice: Mattie Spencer Willis. Violin: Richmond Seay of Blackstone College.

Farmville Mfg. Co.
BUILDING MATERIALS
MILLWORK
Farmville, Va.

You Would Love to Have Your Shoes Fixed at
Lovelace Shoe Shop
110 Third Street

ROOM FURNISHINGS
SCHOOL SUPPLIES
CANDIES
ROSES
5-10-25c Store
FARMVILLE, VA.

Overton-Mottley Hdwe. Co.
ELECTRIC GOODS
Tennis Rackets and balls
Roller Skates

Shannon's
Is Headquarters for the Best
SANDWICHES
—and—
DRINKS
in Farmville!

Special orders for
Teas and Parties
Try our doughnuts
Foley's Bakery
Third Street

WILLIS
The Florist
Flowers for all occasions
PHONES 181-273

Conoco Gas and Oil
Fill up at
Johns Motor Co.
Farmville, Va.

Martin the Jeweler
Gifts of
Lasting Remembrance
317 Main St. Farmville

POTTED MEATS
SANDWICH SPREAD
SANDWICH ROLLS
HOT DOGS
Everything for the Picnic
W. R. Drumeller
Main Street Farmville

Cleaning at reduced rates
State Cleaning Co.
Third Street

SUPPERS AND
SMALL PARTIES
Good Breakfast
Dinners
Suppers
College Tea Room
and
LONGWOOD

Buy Your
CANDY
To Sell at
H. T. Stokes & Co.

G. F. Butcher
High Street
"The Convenient Store"
FOR GOOD THINGS
TO EAT AND DRINK

Electric Shoe Shop
Will Fix Your Shoes
While You Wait
BEST WORKMANSHIP
AND LEATHER USED

The Fashion Shoppe
Reflects the newest styles. All dresses $2.95 up
COATS, SUITS, DRESSES, UNDERWEAR
Silk Hose
Fine quality ..... 49c 59c and 69c

Warner's
"True - Lift"
Brassieres
GIRDLES—CORSELETTES
Come in today and see the many new foundation garments created especially for the college styles.
BALDWIN'S
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

Lovely new spring sweaters, in colors that are really cheerful, with all the different effect necks that are being worn $1.97
We also have skirts to match at $1.97
Clearance Sale of Dresses
Values to $7.45 $2.97
WE ARE FIRST TO SHOW THE NEWEST!
Lovely new Navy blue dresses in sheer materials. Just the dress you have been looking for—$5.45.
DOROTHY MAY STORES
FARMVILLE, VA.

FRESHMAN ROTUNDA NEXT WEEK

The Rotunda

We Teach To Teach

SEE THE FRESHMAN PLAY—COLLEGE HIGH TONIGHT

Volume XV. FARMVILLE, VA., JANUARY 30, 1935 No. 15

Sophomore Class Presents Musical Comedy, Feb. 14th; Jones To Direct

Name of Production Is "Life Begins at 8:30"

BEGIN REHEARSAL

"Life Begins at 8:30," a musical production, will be presented by the sophomore class on Feb. 14.

. This musical comedy will give a vivid scene of night life in Radio City. Four "high-stepping" young men have "a date with an angel" to go to Radio City for one night. They visit the shops and watch the speciality numbers advertising the wares. They attend the scandalous burlesque shows and see the fancy dancers. They watch the big broadcast and try to crowd the hours full of more night life scenes.

Virginia Jones is chairman of the production; Merwyn Gathright, of staging; Gay Stieffen, of dancing; and Virginia Baker, of costuming.

Students of '80 and '90 Were "Ideal" Men Declares Columbia Dean

(By Associated Collegiate Press)

NEW YORK, CITY—Students of the Eighties and Nineties were the "ideal" college men, Dean Herbert Hawkes of Columbia College, declared here recently. The college students of that day were a picked group with a broader cultural background than those of the present, Dean Hawkes pointed out.

"It is safe to say that ten times as large a percentage of our present population enters college as did at that time, with the inevitable lowering of the average of cultural background of purely intellectual interests and knowledge subjects that comprised the course of study at that time."

Modern education is infinitely more suited to our present condition than the former methods were, Dean Hawkes said.

GUEST SPEAKER

Dr. D. M. Allan

Dr. Allan Lectures To Kappa Delta Pi

Dr. D. M. Allan, professor of philosophy at Hampden-Sydney College, was the guest speaker at the regular meeting of Kappa Delta Pi, Thursday night, Jan. 24. Dr. Allan talked on "The College Student's Adjustment to College Life." Basing his talk on actual conclusions drawn from personality tests given freshmen at Hampden-Sydney, Dr. Allan presented the problems and remedies of adjustment as he had found them to exist.

With the problem of physical adjustment Dr. Allan began his lecture. He spoke of the changed environment that confronts some boys who come from the city to the country atmosphere surrounding the "Hill." "Hampden - Sydney is by no means a quiet place, though," he added. Dwelling briefly on the turmoil created in the student's mind by the new theories and ideas met in college, Dr. Allan told how boys were sometimes led into atheism or other religious quirks which would lead to the maladjustment of the student.

"One of the most upsetting conditions to be faced is the confronting of new people—the fear of not making the grade," stated Dr. Allan when he discussed the social adjustment of the student. Here he told of the boy "tied to his mother's apron string" and the homesick boy. He spoke, too, of the frequent anxiety created in the student in regard to making fraternities and "going over" in a social way.

In treating personality adjustment, Dr. Allan told of the personality tests containing over two hundred questions which were given freshmen. He related some of the results found for advanced

Continued page 3, col. 2

Fifty-four Girls Will Be Initiated By Dramatic Club

The apprentices receiving invitations to become members of the Dramatic Club will be formally initiated tonight. Last night at an informal meeting each girl put on an amusing stunt. The following girls will be initiated: Rosalie Greear, Mildred Potter, Kitty Smoot, Norvel Montague, Mary W. Clark, Louise Gathright, Fletcher Walker, Mary Louise French, Nancy Pobst, Martha Harrison, Dartha Harrison, Susan Gresham, Anne McCready, Grace Allen Pittard, Marjorie Woolfolk, Geneva Parker, Lucille Rhodes, Martha Hamlet, Bobbie Brooks, Nan Seward, Marion Pond, Roberta Haskins, Louise Haskins, Anthella Robinette, Alice Nelson, Evelyn Dickerson, Erma Dickerson, Kathleen McCann, "Duckie" Davies, Annie Watson Holden, Helen Glass, Jennie Belle Gilliam, Edith Samford, Bonnie Powell, Gertrude Levy, Josephine Quinn, Inez Chappell, Muriel McAllister, Liz Carol, Virginia Payne, Thelma Gunter, Louise Lewis, Mary Joyner Cox, Frances Britton, Virginia Tissue, Suzan Lane, Ruth Phelps, Carter Belle Munt, Vallo Nimmo, Elsie Greene, Jacqueline Johnson, Katherine Ryburn, Helen Fern Perdue, and Tyler Wood.

Popular Song Hits, Dances, Costumes Make Junior Show Financial Success

Ticket Receipts Exceed Former Plays

A second successful musical comedy, "Pipe Dreams," was presented by the Junior Class Friday, Jan. 25. Margaret Farrar and Hazel Smith directed the production, and Florence Sanford and Grace Eubank played the leading roles of Don and Ann.

The scene of the prologue was laid in Ann's apartment in the fall of 1933. Don, a despairing young composer of popular songs, came in to put his troubles before the one person who had faith in him and who was willing to criticize and change his music. A dramatic scene took place, after which Don was willing to try again to make a success of his music.

Don realized his ambitions and the second act of the production showed, "The Little Review," which, in the winter of 1935 on Broadway, presented the song hits of Don Jackson. Each number was sung through a microphone which carried the words clearly to the entire audience. Nancy Pobst was the able pianist for the production.

"Walking in a Winter Wonderland," sung by Caroline Byrd and Marion Umberger, opened the second act. It was followed by an original skating dance by Margaret Farrar, Virginia Hall, Henrietta Salsbury, Billie Rountree, Mary Alice Glass, and Dot McNamee. The skaters were dressed in all white costumes.

Grace Eubank and Florence Sanford, the great composer and his financee, sung, "Love is Just Around the Corner."

To the music of "You're the Top," Elizabeth Huse, Mary Alice Glass, and Addie Norfleet, clad in riding habits, gave an attractive tap dance.

Following "Am I to Blame?" and "After You've Gone," by

Continued page 4, col. 3

Noted Singers and Speakers Appear in Programs at S.T.C.

Dr. Rives' Talks Prove Interesting To Student Body

Many Attend Individual and Group Conferences

Much interest was shown by the student body in the talks of Dr. J. J. Rives. Many went to him for individual and group conferences.

On Wednesday night he attended the birthday dinner in the dining hall. Later there was a reception held in the Student Building Lounge at which musical selections were given by Louise Hyde, Lila Jacob, and Dorothy Wise.

Dr. Rives spoke at chapel on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday mornings. He used as his theme, "The Basic Principles of Life" and took his text from Revelations, "Behold I set before thee an open door which no man can shut."

In Prayers Thursday and Friday nights, Dr. Rives spoke about prayer. He stressed that "one should be still" and sincerely say, "If it is Thy will."

There was a discussion period at the Y. W. C. A. cabinet meeting and an open discussion meeting Saturday night in the lounge.

Dr. Rives concluded his stay in Farmville by leading Morning Watch on Sunday morning and preaching at the 11 o'clock service at the Methodist Church.

30,000 Ballots Point Toward World Peace

On the ballots in the College Peace Poll being conducted by The Literary Digest and the Association of College Editors, more than 325,000 students in more than 100 American colleges were asked these questions:

1. Do you believe that the United States could stay out of another great war?

(a) If the borders of the United States were invaded, would you bear arms in defense of your country?

(b) Would you bear arms for the United States in the invasion of the borders of another country?

2. Do you believe that a national policy of an American Navy and air-force second to none is a sound method of insuring us against being drawn into another great war?

3. Do you advocate government control of armament and munition industries?

4. In alinement with our historic procedure in drafting manpower in time of war, would you advocate the principle of universal conscription of all resources of capital and labor in order to control all profits in time of war?

5. Should the United States enter the League of Nations?

The same questions, altered to fit the special case, are being put to undergraduates in one Canadian University, Queen's, as a test of the Canadian anti-war sentiment.

Just over 30,000 ballots have been returned from thirty colleges at this report. In this early report, majorities in all 30 colleges voted: That the United States could stay out of another

Continued page 4 col. 1

IN CONCERT

Reinald Werrenrath

Hapgood, Lecturer Of National Fame, Speaks Thursday

Thursday night at 8 o'clock a large audience gathered in the large auditorium to hear Mr. Norman Hapgood, international lecturer, speak on "Fascism, Communism, and Freedom."

Mr. Hapgood became a national figure by his brilliant editing of the Collier's Weekly and Harper's Weekly. Later on he interrupted his journalistic career to become the United States Minister to Denmark. Being a friend to many of the presidents Mr. Hapgood has received vital information about both national and international political problems, and, in return, he has rendered both counsel and action to the American government. Mr. Hapgood is interested in the progress of democracy today. As a member of the Columbia Conserve Company he is taking part in a very unusual business experiment. This firm is trying to bring about friendlier relations be-

Continued page 4, col. 3

Many Hear Recital Of Bernhardt and Werrenrath Here

Audience Appreciates Famous Baritone and Contralto

Reinald Werrenrath, nationally known concert and radio singer and America's most popular baritone, and Louise Bernhardt, contralto of Chicago Grand Opera Company, sang in a joint concert in the auditorium, Monday night at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Werrenrath, a concert artist, held the audience spellbound by his deep and melodious tones which will linger long in the memory of his hearers.

In addition to the program, as printed, his selected encores "Sylvia," portraying remarkable genius in interpretation, "Smilin' Through," rich in tenderness and sympathy, and "On the Road to Mandalay," characterized by a distinctive pronunciation brought volumns of applause.

Miss Bernhardt with her charming personality and graceful stage appearance, evoked great admiration from those who saw and heard her. The exquisitness of her voice captivated all who love beauty in music. The refrain, "says Alice," in "Buckingham Palace," an encore by request, was entrancingly dramatized according to the different moods of the song.

No less of an artist was Miss Ruth Penick, who ably accompanied the singers.

Discuss Important Issues At Meeeting Held Monday

Monday, Feb. 4, there will be a student body meeting in the large auditorium. Two important questions will be discussed.

A discussion of student government grades on the term reports will be the most important factor of the meeting.

S. T. C. To Conduct Summer Session Under New Policy

During the summer of 1935 the State Teachers College at Farmville will conduct its usual summer sessions under a policy somewhat new and different as necessitated by the changed conditions and new needs of education in Virginia. President J. L. Jarman announces that since early last fall he has had a special committee of the faculty studying the new conditions in order to recommend ways and means of enabling the summer sessions to render the best service possible to those in attendance, mostly teachers in service in all parts of Virginia. The new policy of the summer school will carry out the suggestions of this committee.

As heretofore, two sessions will be held, the first dating from June 11 to July 19, and the second from July 20 to August 23. By meeting classes daily instead of three times per week as in the fall, winter, and spring sessions of the college, students will be enabled to do the equivalent of one quarter's work during the summer, entitling them to full college credit. For this work the summer school places at the service of the students all of the resources and facilities of the oldest teacher-training institution in the commonwealth — the one which is now ranked among the twelve leading colleges of its kind in the United States.

Besides the usual academic and professional courses, new and special courses in all departments will bear, directly or indirectly, on the curricula for Virginia schools recently formulated. Instead of the practice school for student teachers heretofore maintained, the college will conduct a demonstration school taught by trained experts of long experience who will demonstrate under observation the approved methods of dealing with the problems presented by modern curricula.

Continued page 4, col. 2

Values of Class Productions Are Far-reaching and Varied

Last week a weary classman made this query, "Why do we have to have class productions?" Another one, equally as weary offered this solution: "To make money." Perhaps this is the primary and most gratifying result but upon further analysis more enduring qualities are revealed.

The production committee must take inventory—that is, decide upon the type of program the class will present. In this the committee must keep in mind its limitations in order not to "bite off more than they can chew." Available talent of any kind must be given a try-out, not only dramatic and musical talent but costumers, artists, propagandists, etc., must be secured.

By the time all this has been accomplished practically every class member has had an opportunity to do his part, whatever that may be. The cast begins rehearsals that would try the patience of a saint; the costumers are given a bunch of nondescript articles from which they are expected to create lovely, effective garments. At times the situation seems hopeless and it takes no little determination and "stick - to-it-iveness" to go ahead. The girls' dresses look pale and emaciated under the stage lights, the chorus girls' costumes aren't even made and the girls taking boys' roles resemble coat hangers in their borrowed clothes.

People talk incessantly except when they're supposed to and then they forget their lines. The fragments they retain sound like idiotic chatter because the girls aren't living their parts.

With fear and trembling the cast and stage hands go backstage on the final night. Stage whispers sound like wind in the trees and frantically people jump into their clothes and yell for pins.

But when the final curtain falls and gratifying remarks come from the audience the class feels proud and relieved. The proceeds far exceed their expectations, people who have never sung before have gone over big, patched up cotton costumes looked like chiffon.

And so the moans and groans heard at such a time should be music to our ears because we know that folks are really working.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Published by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

MEMBER
Associated Collegiate Press
1934 Collegiate Digest 1935
MADISON WISCONSIN

Staff

Lelia Mattox ..... Editor
Evelyn Massey ..... Associate Editor
Lena Mac Gardner ..... Business Manager

Board of Editors

Miss Jane Royall ..... Alumnae
Florence Sanford ..... Make-up
Susan Gresham ..... Headlines
Kathryne Cotten ..... Literary
Birdie Wooding, Emma Bingham, Bess McGlothlin ..... Editorials
Anne Putney ..... World News
Anne Diws ..... Social
Kathleen Ranson, Lelia Sanford ..... Sports
Belle Lovelace, Amis Montgomery ..... Features

Proof Readers

Elizabeth Walton, Dorothy Deans, Agnes Bondurant

Managers

Alva Sawyer ..... Asst. Business
Maude Rhodes, Lila Jacob, Elsie Cabell ..... Circulation

Assistants and Reporters

Bonnie Lane, Minnie Smith, Mary Lee Newcomb, Elsie Cabell, Mary Adeline McGlothlin, Katherine Coleman, Elizabeth Mann, Grace Allen Pittard, Margaret Farrar

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 30, 1935

Thank You

It is a rare treat, which Farmville State Teachers College has seldom been privileged to enjoy, to have had on its campus within one week four such eminent persons as Reinald Werrenrath, Louise Bernhardt, Norman Hapgood, and Dr. Rives.

Each of these great personalities has brought to students at S. T. C. new ideas and messages which will have a lasting influence. Most noteworthy of all, students have been led to thrash out freely among themselves practical religious problems. In ordinary conversation they have discussed within the past week the principles and personal opinions expressed by Dr. Rives. The unusual interest and enthusiasm with which students received the talks by Dr. Rives are valuable proof of their appreciation of his visit here.

The hearty encores which Mr. Werrenrath and Miss Bernhardt received Monday night and the enthusiastic discussion which followed Mr. Hapgood's lecture last Thursday night are proof that these great singers and the noted Mr. Hapgood can fully realize the great opportunity many students failed to take advantage of.

To each of these—Reinald Werrenrath, Louise Bernhardt, Norman Hapgood, and Dr. Rives—we are indebted. To Mr. Strick, Dr. Jarman, the Y. W. C. A., the College Choir, the Choral Club, and to others who made possible their coming we are grateful.

What To Do About It

At the December meeting of the Students Standards Committee, one of the problems referred to this group by the faculty was an investigation of study hour conditions in school. Two questions immediately arose in the minds of those students present. First, "Why is the faculty asking for such investigation?" and second, "How on earth can we do anything about it?"

Neither of these questions is irrelevant or unnatural; indeed, they even demand answers. Why should the faculty ask that something be done about study hour conditions? For a logical reason--they make their contacts with us through work. For several quarters, it seems, the instructors have felt a strain in our work; lately the results of our efforts have fallen a little below par. There could be only one or two answers; either the work is not properly adjusted to us or we are not properly adjusting ourselves to what we have to do. In dealing with the scholastic problems of our student body the faculty have set themselves to the task of carefully studying the former proposition and fairly enough asked that we and only we, can regulate.

In regard to the second of our questions, "How are we to do anything?" the Students Standards Committee as a representative body is using The Rotunda, common voice of the student body, trying to get an efficient representative opinion on the matter. We are not asking you to consider a moment, and then to decide, if you have satisfactorily budgeted your time, if you accomplished the amount of work you set yourself to do. If you find that all is not as good as you would like it, tell us what you think would help. The solution you need may be exactly what would help some other student.

As a guide, ask yourself some of these questions: Do I have the proper place to study? Is it quiet? What hours do I use to best advantage? And then, voice your opinion on the subject.

If you have any suggestions, make them. Either write your opinions on a slip of paper and drop it in The Rotunda box or talk the matter over with some member of the Student Standards Committee.

When To Applaud

From year to year, in the college, there have been indications that the student body does not know when to applaud at chapel exercises. Last week when Dr. Rives spoke in chapel, a part of us applauded while others remained silent. The very fact that not all applauded shows that there was some doubt as to the appropriateness of applause.

Some one has said that applause is a matter of feeling, as well as of etiquette. We certainly do not feel like applauding in church, and if we follow the finest distinctions in our feelings we shall not wish to clap for any talks, even outside of church, which are of a religious nature. Talks of a religious nature should arouse such sacred emotions that they cannot be expressed by outward show.

Applause at the wrong time and for the wrong thing, or even too much applause, may be most embarrassing. Let us consider the speaker or entertainer, the host or hostess, if there is one, and the other members of the audience. Put yourself in the speaker's or singer's place. If the subject of the talk or song is of such a nature that outward applause seems superficial and disgusting, refrain from applauding. Think of others in the audience, especially in giving encores. There are some, perhaps, who do not wish to hear more of the singing or speaking.

There are times to applaud and times not to . Let us be sure of the right times.

Dear Editor,

In your column a few weeks ago I noticed a splendid editorial, a plea for quiet during Prayers. The need was great, and the appeal which you made measured up to the need; but the cooperation that was urged has not been displayed by some students.

To those of us who attended Prayers last Thursday night (and to those who refused to avail themselves of such a privileg—condolences!) it seemed that never before had more stamping across the passage above the auditorium taken place. As the speaker eloquently and beautifully spoke on quiet and silence during prayer, the thundering horde passed above. As we left the service, there was hardly one of us who did not reproach aloud or in her heart the ones who had been so unthoughtful. Despite their inconsideration, the vesper service was inspiring.

Thank you for your appeal, although it did not reach some fifty for whom it was probably intended. You, at least, belong to the NRA.

A Student

Rotunda Reverberations

Gardenias to Florence Sanford for being able to wear a boy's suit without looking bumpy in the wrong places.

Gardenias to Grace Eubank for good singing, and to Margaret Farrar for that certain microphone appeal otherwise known as X.

Gardenias to discerning professors who lecture on Monday mornings when nobody knows the assignment.

Gardenias to Dr. Rives for excellent quotations in the right places, and for presenting a great philosophy of life in three days time.

Gardenias to Caroline Upshur for being a good Joan of Arc, and to Nancy Pobst for so perfectly imitating Bonnie Lane's vagaries.

Things We Found Out During the Week-end:

That snow is beautiful, but oh, so slick! . . . . that Fancy Dress goes on and on, far, far into the night . . that Isham Jones never disappoints . . . that several girls could add another scene to "It Happened One Night" after the bus accident Sunday night . . . . that Sallie Perrow is still amazed at finding out what a jolly person Werrenrath's ghost turned out to be . . . that some people's dates still wear overshoes.

Mr. Hapgood's visit to S. T. C. has made Al Smith as much a subject of conversation as the 1928 election.

Song class doesn't seem to get very good results, judging from the singing at the birthday dinners. 'Twould be such fun to hear the East Wing and West Wing sing the same tune at the same time.

A certain freshman wants to know who's going to break the bottle at the unveiling of the Mardi Gras queen.

Rarities at S. T. C.:

Undisturbed sleep on Sunday mornings . . . Mr. Graham in his office . . . an athletic senior . . . Mrs. Laing not being vehement about study hour . . . Miss Jennings teaching a class without taking off her glasses between each sentence . . . Mrs. Fitzpatrick not smiling when she says, "No" . . . Addie Norfleet . . . a person who says what she thinks, provided she thinks.

Alumnae News

Gouldman-Fox

Of interest to present students and recent alumnae is the wedding of Virginia Louise Fox, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Fox, 322 Brook Road, Richmond, to Mr. Clyde Clements Gouldman.

Alumnae and Faculty Members Hold Offices

From the directory of officers of the Virginia Education Association of 1935, the following alumnae and faculty members are included.

DEPARTMENT OF CLASSROOM TEACHERS:
Treasurer—Miss Lucie Chrisman, 1618 Park Ave., Richmond.

FINE ARTS SECTION:
Secretary—Miss Sara Joyner, 1021 Brandon Ave., Norfolk.

MATHEMATICS SECTION:
President—Miss Carrie B. Talaferro, State Teachers College, Farmville

MODERN LANGUAGAES SECTION:..
Secretary - Treasurer — Odell Lavinder, John Marshall High School, Richmond

SCIENCE SECTION:
President—Dr. G. W. Jeffers, State Teachers College, Farmville

TEACHER TRAINING SECTION
Secretary - Treasurer — Miss Mary D. Pierce; vice-president, Miss Mae Kelly, State Teachers College, East Radford.

WRITING SECTION:
Secretary-Treasurer—Miss Ottie Craddock, State Teachers College, Farmville.

Review of the News

All the earmarks of turmoil are manifest in the latest news of Japanese aggression in China, although Mr. Hirata, in a very peaceful manner, has just issued a coldly-received invitation to England and America to a new naval conference.

Advancing behind a screen of tanks and heralded by an air barrage, the Japanese troops have moved into Chahar. The bombers have shelled a territory near the Great Wall a bare fifty miles from Peiping. Chinese troops could not withstand the attack of such a highly mechanized force and were forced to retreat.

Japan is probably sounding her warning to Russia, with whom a war is believed to be inevitable. By extending her possessions out into Mongolia with the cession of Jehol and Chahar she will be within shelling distance of Kalgan, a strategic point on the Trans-Siberian railroad and may be in a position to effectually divide her enemies, China and Russia, and successfully break the Russian outlet to Vladivastock.

With one real war in the world and two threatened combats—one already stimulating aimed conflict—it is difficult to see where all this talk about peace comes from. The League of Nations was foiled in its attempt to stop the butchering in the Chaco by the non-co-operation of the U. S. with the agreement to sell arms and munitions to Bolivia but not to Paraguay. The refusal was explained on the grounds that Congress could not allow an embargo on arms to one country but must prohibit the sales to either. Since Paraguay would not submit in League settlement, it is thought that she will concentrate on the Bolivian border and finally bring her enemy to her knees.

The other belligerent rumor comes from Africa, where a massacre by Abyssinian nomads in Samailland precipitated a crisis with Mussolini. It is hard to think of modern warfare in an Ethiopian jungle--in fact, it would be nothing short of murder.

Have You Read?

Bachelor of Arts: Erskine
A novel of the new younger generation — college boys and girls of 1934—by one who knows them well. This is a fun-loving tender story of real life at Columbia College.

Captain Nicholas: Walpole
The horror story of a modern buccaneer who is forced to return to England from the continent because of the depression Follow his sinister progress in this weird novel.

Five Silver Daughters: Golding
A character feast—What lies in store for the five young daughters of Sam Silver, the host of the neighborhood's parlor communists?

Black Camel: Biggers
"Death is a black camel that kneels unbid at every gate." One night he kneels on the Beach at Waikiki. Shela must bow before this god. Thus goes the story . . .

Cassino Murder Case: Van Dine
A Philo Vance story that deals with three poisonings — a swift logical detective story!

Strange Boarders of Palace Crescent: Oppenheim
Extraordinary clever stories with ingenious twists and intriguing clues spiced by the presence of a woman of the world.

Maiden Voyage: Norris
She was a society reporter to whom romance meant only a news story until—?

Women Must Work: Aldington
An experience in living—the bitter, tender, ironical story of a woman who tried to stand alone in life.

Lost Horizon: Hilton
A touch of fantasy, a touch of allegory, a touch of adventure and a full-blooded modern romance.

Wine From These Grapes: Millay.
Poems of the foremost woman poet of America today.

Mary Peters: Chase
Within her experiences one sees changes in life of the Maine coast during the last fifty years with the decay of the shipping industry and the influx of summer tourists.

Distant Dawn: Pedler
To love is not enough? A romance whose enchantment is laid in London, the English hunting country, and romantic Venice.

Stars Fell On Alabama: Carmer
Exciting and vital—a prose writing whose beauty is genuine and permanent.

Blue Marigolds: Miller
A gallant southern carrying the burdens of poverty finds love in the life of the old south.

Christmas Bride: Hill
A delightful, pleasant inoffensive romance full of sweet sentiment.

Among My Favorites

Romance

I will make you brooches and toys for your delight
Of bird-song at morning and star-shine at night.
I will make a palace fit for you and me,
Of green days in forests and blue days at sea.

I will make my kitchen, and you shall keep your room,
Where white flows the river and bright blows the broom,
And you shall wash your linen and keep your body white
In rainfall at morning and dew-fall at night.

And this shall be for music when no one else is near,
The fine song for singing, the rare song to hear!
That only I remember, that only you admire,
Of the broad road that stretches and the roadside fire.

—Robert Louis Stevenson.

Bread and Music

Music I heard with you was more than music,
And bread I broke with you was more than bread;
Now that I am without you, all is desolate;
All that was once so beautiful is dead.

Your hands once touched this table and this silver,
And I have seen your fingers hold this glass.
These things do not remember you, beloved,
And yet your touch upon them will not pass.

For it was in my heart you moved among them.
And blessed them with your hands and with your eyes;
And in my heart they will remember always,—
They knew you once, O beautiful and wise.

—Conrad Aiken...

Let Me Grow Lovely

Let me grow lovely, growing old—
So many fine things do:
Laces, and ivory, and gold,
And silks need not be new;

And there is healing in old trees,
Old streets a galmour hold;
Why may not I, as well as these,
Grow lovely, growing old?

—Karle Wilson Baker.

Like all states, cryptograph fans must have a floral symbol and the puzzle given below will, when solved, tell you what it is. This is the second in this new series of brain-teasers. If you have a favorite puzzle of this type, or any suggestions, write the Puzzle Editor, Collegiate Digest, Madison, Wis.

The solution to last week's crytograph is: Crossword containing "Exegeses" suggests word is intrinsically cryptogrammatic. Or do we err?

Work on this one now and watch for the answer next week.

ABCDAEFDBA GBH BGGDIDEJ GJBKLH GHB MNOOJLHP: CBPP. QDIFDBAEHR QI GDALP DF EP "IERMFBSECBNP MJEAF."

SOCIALS

S. T. C. was well represented at the Fancy Dress Ball at Washington and Lee. Those attending were Anne Irving, Mary Gilmer, Florence Tankard, Martha Nottingham, Anne Diggs, Mary Denny, Winifred Goodman, Mary Jane Pendleton, and Tyler Wood.

In Richmond

Many girls spent the week-end in Richmond. They were: Margaret McNamara, Bobby Saunders, Bobby Brooke, Rachel Joyner, Evelyn Knaub, Virginia Martin, Jean McClure, Elizabeth Pampline, Katherine Zimmerman, Katherine Young, Martha Glenn Davis.

At Home

The S. T. C. girls who ventured home are: Mildred Habel, Ida Sue Carter, Dudley Allen, June Allen, Grace Conyers, Kitty Chappell, Jestine Cutshall, Nancy Dodd, Grace Eubank, Rose Friend, Claudia Harper, Margaret Jones, Virginia Jones, Lois Jenkins, Maude Jones, Belle Lovelace, Rebecca Mayes, Zilla Newsome, Elizabeth Puckett, Louise Partridge, Dorothy Price, Billie Rountree, Anthelia Robinette, Elizabeth Rucker, Marjorie Robertson, Margaret Roache, Hazel Smith, Lorna Smiley, Mena Smelley, Mary Lynn Thomas, Agnes Thompson, Fletcher Walker, Katherine Hurt, Sara Parker and Elna Shorter.

At Other Places

Other places visited were: Fork Union by Margaret Herndon and Ethel Burgess; Charlotte Court House by Virginia Hooke and Marie Hundley; Burkeville by Rebecca Carter; Petersburg by Kathleen McCann and Evelyn Howell; Dillwyn by Edna Harvey and Pauline Pearson; Blackstone by Nancy Beard, Sarah Beck, and Evelyn Hastings; Victoria by Louise Briggs; Ashland by Dorothy Bagby; Pamplin by Frances Jamerson and Dorothy Hutcheson; Buckingham by Mary Cunningham; Gladys by Marion Layne; Kenbridge by Ruth Showalter; Appomattox by Mary Bee Wright; Portsmouth by Tac Waters; Crewe by Evelyn Wilson; and Drakes Branch by Audrey Wilson.

SORORITY PARTIES

Pi Kappa Sigma's chapter room was the scene of a formal tea on Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 23, from five until six o'clock, when the Pi Kappa Sigma pledges entertained the pledges of the other sororities.

Gamma Theta's new girls entertained the pledges of the other sororities at a kid party in the Gamma Theta chapter room Wednesday night, Jan. 23, at ten o'clock.

The pledges of the Mu Omega sorority were hostesses to the pledges of the other sororities at a formal tea given in the Mu Omega chapter room Thursday, Jan. 24, from four until six o'clock.

The Zeta Tau pledges entertained the pledges of the other sororities at a tacky party in the Zeta Tau chapter room Saturday, January 26, at ten o'clock.

English Majors and Minors Attend Tea in Y. W. Lounge

One hundred students, majors and minors in English, attended a tea given by the department of English in the Y. W. lounge, Jan. 22 at 4:30 p. m. Mrs. James Grainger and Mrs. Taylor presided at the tea table. During the afternoon musical numbers were given by Miss Purdom with a part of the college ensemble, Louise Hyde, Dorothy Wise, Mary Legrand, and Jimmy Grainger. The afternoon brought the English teachers in closer contact with the students who are interested in this subject.

A high-brow is one who says: "Possess your soul in patience."

A medium-brow is one who says: "Hold your horses."

A low-brow is one who says: "Keep your shirt on."

—Skull and Bones.

New Importance of Elementary Education Demands Modification Of Teachers' Courses of Study

(Dr. J. P. Wynne)

(Continued from last week)

The sharp distinction between a curriculum for those expecting to teach in the lower grades and a curriculum for those expecting to teach in the upper grades should be removed. When the primary purpose is to train the student in specific subject matter and techniques, it is necessary to make a distinction between the primary curriculum and the grammar-grade curriculum. However, when the student has ample time to secure the more important conceptions of our American civilization and an understanding of principles for which the four-year program provides, there is little argument for a primary curriculum as distinguished from a grammar-grade curriculum. When we think in terms of an educated teacher rather than in terms of a trained teacher, we must think in terms of a curriculum for teaching in the elementary grades and not in terms of two curricula, one for teaching in the primary grades and another for teaching in the grammar grades. During the transition period the elementary curriculum should be looked upon perhaps as an outline of courses for a four-year program leading to teaching in the elementary grades. But the problem of finding courses suitable for diploma graduates who return for a degree should give place to the problem of finding means of adapting the four-year curriculum to the needs of a few students who come to the college for only two years. For instance, from now on the students should enroll in the four-year curriculum rather than in the two-year curriculum. This four-year program should be arranged for students expecting to teach in the elementary grades. Those who expect to enter teaching at the end of the second year should have their individual programs modified somewhat in order to secure the necessary drill in specific subject matter and routine techniques, as in the past. But such routine work should not be the main emphasis any longer.

Student Teaching and Professional Courses during the Transition Period. In the four-year curriculum a larger proportion of the student-teaching should come near the close of the period, perhaps in the junior or senior year. With a superior educational background the senior should do appreciably better teaching than the sophomore. In consequence of her longer experience and greater maturity she should profit more from her teaching than could the sophomore. The method courses should accompany the teaching and be postponed, therefore, until the junior or senior year.

During the transition period there will be many adjustments that can be understood by the students and by members of the faculty only after some reflective consideration of the problems involved. For instance, teaching in the elementary grades is now done by sophomores. To say that all teaching should be done next year, or even two years from now, by seniors is merely an academic rather than a practical attitude. Only gradually over an extended period of time can the educational age level for teaching in the training schools be raised to the senior year, or even to the junior year, for all students. The teaching in these schools must go on. We should, therefore, reduce the number of hours taught by juniors and seniors as rapidly as possible. But if we do not have enough upper classmen to do the teaching it must be done by the sophomores. Perhaps some sophomores can postpone their teaching altogether, but the number that can be permitted to defer their teaching until the senior year is very limited as yet, although it should continue to increase from year to year.

Advanced courses in methods of teaching and curriculum-making should come in the four-year program during the junior and senior years and be closely related to the directed teaching in these years. Heretofore such courses have come during the first two years. These should be deferred one at a time as rapidly as possible to the last two years. However, it is probable that such courses for the present will have to be placed in the first two years as well as in the last two years. These later professional courses must therefore be similar in many respects to those on the lower levels. However, they should be much more advanced in character. The overlapping that will inevitably occur during this transition period requires an understanding on the part of every member of the faculty as to what is taking place. It also requires a sympathetic understanding on the part of the head of the department of education and the administrative authorities, if the many problems of adjustment involved in shifting students from the two-year curriculum to the four-year curriculum are to be adequately solved.

Dr. Allan Lectures To Kappa Delta Pi

Continued from page one

students in working over the test on such questions as these: "Do you think people like you as well as they do others? When you were young, did you enjoy playing by yourself more than with other boys? Do you worry about financial matters? Do you worry about grades?" He cited several interesting cases of boys who had not adjusted their personalities to college life. He told of the methods of observation and experiment in attempting to find causes of inconsistencies or unusual conduct.

Turning to a brighter side of the situation, Dr. Allan briefly discussed integration. "Integration is an essential feature leading to the successful adjustment of the student to the new life around him," said Dr. Allan as he enumerated ways of accomplishing it. Dr. Allan stated that faith in God and in people was one of the potent means of assuring contentment, happiness, and successful relations in college.

He concluded his talk with a plea for the "normal" student—one who can be busy and not overwork, one who meets daily crises with steady nerves, one who ceases to "cross bridges before he gets to them," one who is carefree and free from worry about conditions he can't help.

After Talk Miss Wheeler Gives De-Ho-Ec Club Chinese Chop Sticks

Miss Leola Wheeler spoke before the De-Ho-Ec club at a meeting of that group yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. She told of the domestic life in China and showed the club interesting pictures of the clothes and houses of the Chinese. After her talk, she gave the De-Ho-Ec Club two real Chinese chop sticks.

Jane Tice, and Annie B. Anthony assisted Madeline Martin in serving tea.

Going Away? . . . . . .
Travel by
GREYHOUND
Safe—Comfortable—Economical

S. A. Legus
TAILOR
CLEANING
PRESSING
REPAIRING
Phone 203

Radio Highlights

Jan. 30—Feb. 3
Wednesday

P. M.
8:00—WEAF, Play, "Forever After," with Mary Pickford, actress.
8:15—WABC, Edwin C. Hill, commentator.
8:30—WJZ, Lanny Ross, Tenor.
8:30—WEAF, Wayne King Orchestra.
9:00—WEAF, Fred Allen, Comedian.
9:00—WABC, Lily Pons, Soprano.
:30—WABC, George Burns and Gracie Allen, Comedians.
9:30—WJZ, John McCormack, tenor.
10:00 — WEAF, Lombardo Orchestra.
10:30—WABC, Mary Eastman, Soprano; Evan Evans, Baritone.

Thursday

P. M.
7:30—WABC, Nick Lucas, songs.
7:30—WEAF, Minstrel Show.
7:45—WJZ, Ruth Etting, songs.
8:00—WEAF, Vallee's Varieties.
9:00—WABC, Glen Gray's Orchestra.
9:00—WEAF, Captain Henry's Show Boat.
9:30—WABC, Warring's orchestra.
10:00—WEAF, Whiteman's Music Hall.

Friday

P. M.
7:45 — WABC, Boake Carter, commentator.
8:00—WEAF, Jessica Dragonette, soprano.
8:15—WABC, Edwin C. Hill, commentator.
8:30—WJZ, Jane Froman, song.
9:00—WEAF, Lyman's orchestra
9:30—WABC, Hollywood Hotel, sketch; with Dick Powell, Jane Williams, Ted Flo-Rita Orchestra.

Saturday

P. M.
7:15—WJZ, Wayne King's orchestra.
7:30—WOR, Street Singer.
8:30—WJZ, Olsen's orchestra.
8:30—WOR, Denny's orchestra.
9:30—WEAF, The Gibson Family.
10:30—WABC, Variety Musicale.

Sunday

P. M.
2:30—WJZ, Play, with Margaret Sullavan.
5:00—WEAF, Mme. Schumann-Heink, contralto.
7:00—WJZ, Jack Benny, comedian.
7:30—WJZ, Joe Penner, comedian.
7:30—WABC, Will Rogers, commentator.

C. E. Chappell Co.
Stationery, Blank Books and School Supplies
Cigars, Cigarettes and Soda
Farmville, Virginia

Rice's Shoe Store
Street and Dress Shoes
Dancing Slippers Dyed
Correct fits our specialty 1t

Kleanwell
CLEANERS AND TAILORS
Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling ladies garments
Main Street, opposite Post office
Phone 98

Gray's Drug Store
QUALITY—PRICE—SERVICE
Come in and Get Acquainted
We are glad to have you with us!
Farmville, Virginia

Mack's
BARBER AND BEAUTY SHOP
323 Main Street
We use the Frederick Method
Hair cutting and thinning a Specialty

PRINTING . . . . .
When you think of Printing think of
—The—
FARMVILLE HERALD

JUST RECEIVED—lovely new print dresses and new solid colors. They are really outstanding for looks and quality—in two price groups
$5.85 AND $7.85
Clearance of all Novelty Shoes and Oxfords—$4.00 and $5.00 Shoes. Your unrestricted choice $2.45
Sale on Dollar Gold Strip Hosiery—with Non-Run tops 79c
THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE
Farmville's Best Place to Shop!

—FOR—
EVERYTHING—SCHOOL SUPPLIES, CANDIES, FRUITS, CONFECTIONS, ETC.
GO TO . . . . .
GILLIAM'S
Open 'till 9:00 p. m.

SHOES
For All Occasions

Evening—Dress—Sports—Street Wear
$2.95 to $5.95
DAVIDSON'S

ARE YOU INTERESTED?
JACKETS of Grain and Suede Cloth and Wool SWEATERS.
We are showing the season's newest. Come in. We are glad to show—Just what we have—and the line is very attractive.
VERSER'S

PHILCO RADIO
World's largest manufacturers of Radio
A complete line
Watch repairing a specialty
Sheet Music—Strings for Instruments
LYNN, The Main Street Jeweler

YOUR NEIGHBOR,
The Weyanoke Beauty Salon
invites you to drop in and take advantage of their Special prices now in effect.
Permanent Waves—$4 & $6 Shampoo & Fingerwave 75 cents
Manicure 40 cents
Indiivdual, courteous, efficient service and an established reputation for dependability and satisfaction. That is our guarantee, and your assurance of perfect workmanship.

Prospects For Basketball Good; Freshmen Play In Gym Tonight

The varsity squad is getting down to real hard work and with the good material available, S. T. C. should make a fair showing this year. Definite dates have been decided upon for three varsity games and negotiations are still going forward in the attempt to arrange a game with Sweet Briar College. To date the team is scheduled to meet Harrisonburg S. T. C. at Harrisonburg on February 15; William and Mary at Williamsburg on February 22; Blackstone on the home court on March 1.

MANAGER

Florence Sanford

The freshmen are making basketball history this year. There is a commendable number on the varsity squad and what's more it looks as if some of them, at least, will board the bus when our team begins playing games. The freshman team, captained by Betty Butterworth, will meet the Farmville High School team tonight at seven-thirty in the gymnasium. Sara Beck is coaching this team and from opinions expressed, the contest should be interesting. Plans are being made for the freshman to play the Westhampton freshmen and College High in Petersburg.

"Practical" Freshmen Show Upperclassmen As Others See Them

Two Saturdays ago the seniors brought before S. T. C. students scenes as they see them in 1945, but the more practical-minded freshmen brought to the attention of Sing-goers Saturday night an excellent chance to "see themselves as others see them."

The curtain opened on a scene of the Rotunda. Joan of Arc, Aunt Lucy, and all—right there on the stage. Will Scott rushed on the stage, tearing her hair and lamenting her Dramatic Club responsibilities. Soon the audience recognized Will as impersonating Meg Herndon at a drastic time before a Dramatic Club play is to be presented. (Will is also to be congratulated on her worthy portrayal of Will Scott).

Frances Parker, as Addie Norfleet, offered a solution to Meg's trouble by suggesting that they go to a show. Frances did not fail to put Addie's pep into the part. She even remembered to wear tap shoes and say "Oh yeah" to Tac Waters whose quiet dignity was well portrayed by Nellwyn Latimer.

Nancy Pobst, as Bonnie Lane, and Margaret Fraley, as Louise Hyde, gave a most pleasing reproduction of a scene that may be witnessed almost any day in the Rotunda. Bonnie, of course, was weighted down by her international worries, besides having a sneezing spell right before "Miss Mary." Louise soon came to Miss Mary's aid, however, and managed to offer her support while Bonnie checked her hearty sneezes for a minute.

Elise Green, as Kitty Bass, made her appearance with an armful of books and a headful of cold. Marion Hansbrough, as "Nubby" Knaub, gave a true-to-life picture of "Nubby," who thrilled even to her finger tips when there was mention of a ride to Richmond and a chance to see "Barbee". Isabelle Plummer brought scene one to a close when she came on stage to impersonate Elizabeth Vassar who was too busy to get a "subscription," to The Virginian—and just because she had a date waiting for her at Shannon's.

In scene two of Sing the freshmen presented "The Freshmen, themselves" in several musical selections, the last one being "It's Red and White."

30,000 Ballots Point Toward World Peace

Continued from page one

great war; that they would fight if this country were invaded; that they would not fight in the invasion of the borders of another country; all save Georgia, Indiana, and Purdue, that a navy and air force second to none is not a sound method of keeping for government control of armament and munitions industries and for universal conscription of capital and labor in time of war.

On entry into the League, sixteen colleges reported favorably. Wisconsin, Michigan, Iowa, De Pauw and Chicago were the only colleges in the Middle West that voted for entry into the league. In the East, only George Washington, Lehigh, Pennsylvania, Penn State, and Syracuse opposed entry into the League.

Summer Session Under New Policy

Contined from page one

Methods and observation courses given in the college will be devoted to the study and interpretation of the work in the demonstration school and individual conferences will enable the students to get expert advice on their particular problems. Courses of this kind will deal with the social sciences, the language arts, mathematics, and elementary science. Teachers, principals, and superintendents may thus study the difficulties presented by the new curricula under favorable conditions and for college credit.

A course in library technique will be given by a trained librarian for credit in the English Department. This course will help teacher-librarians and others responsible for starting school libraries and providing and caring for the large amount of materials required by the new Virginia curricula.

A broad offering of academic courses in the upper years of the college will afford the students the opportunity to carry on work leading to the bachelor's degree soon to be required of all teachers in Virginia. By taking such courses at Farmville, they can add to their academic attainments and equipment in an atmosphere charged with the professional spirit and in daily contact with other teachers who have problems similar to their own. The personal contacts of such a school sometimes prove as valuable as the class work.

The summer school will draw its faculty mainly from the regular faculty of the State Teachers College, supplemented by teachers of superior training and rich experience from the outside.

Although the enrollment of the college at Farmville has been restricted in the fall, winter, and spring quarters to women students, during recent years an increasing number of men have found it convenient during the summer months to avail themselves of the rich offering of this institution with its favorable central location. Among these men students are teachers and administrative officers in the schools and college students from other institutions who have wished to secure supplementary credits to be transferred to other colleges which they attended. Special arrangements will be made in the summer of 1935 for the accommodation of men students and measures will be taken to give them the full advantages of the colleges. Convenient and comfortable quarters and good board at low rates will be available and special arrangements will be made for recreation and other activities among the men students.

The extra-curricular activities for all of the students will be much enriched in 1935. Outside speakers, high grade entertainments, athletics and outdoor sports, swimming in the pool recently constructed, and other forms of recreation will be provided with a view to enabling every one here to live a well rounded, wholesome life of work and play on a high plane during the summer months.

The complete catalogue will be sent to prospective students on request.

Popular Song Hits Feature Junior Show

Contined from page one

Caroline Byrd, Grace Eubank sang, "Waltz of Love." Kitty Smoot and Rachel Joyner accompanied her with a graceful waltz.

"I'll Stay Warm All Winter," was sung by Margaret Farrar. For an encore Margaret sang, "Take a Number From One to Ten."

Grace Eubank took the spotlight again with "June in January." The chorus was composed of Lucy Potter, Sallie Perrow, Rachel Joyner, Marion Umberger, Billy Wilkinson, and Hazel Smith, costumed in ruffled organdy dresses.

"Hands Across the Table," by Margaret Farrar, was accompanied by a chorus; boys: Kitty Smoot, Sue Waldo, Katherine Harvey, and "Tib" Simmerman; girls: Claudia Harper, Dorothy Deans, Mildred Poter, and Sallie Perrow. They were dressed in dinner clothes and seated at small tables.

Lucille Jones added, "With Every Breath I Take."

Lelia Sanford introduced the grand finale, "Mr. and Mrs. is the Name," as the preacher. The bridesmaids, Virginia Hall, Henrietta Salsbury, Caroline Byrd, and Hazel Smith, entered with the groomsmen, Kitty Smoot, Billie Rountree, Katherine Harvey, and Sue Waldo. The bride and groom were happily united after years of struggle for success.

The break between acts was filled by "Tub" Oliver, director of the Hampden-Sydney orchestra, who sang, "For You," and "I Can't Give You Anything But Love, Baby," and "My Gal, Sal."

Soft lights and elaborate evening clothes added greatly to the production.

The success of the production was the result of constant practice and hard work by the majority of the members of the junior class. The ticket receipts exceeded those of the past two years.

Hapgood, Lecturer, Speaks Thursday

Contined from page one

tween labor and capital by giving the worker a voice in the conduct of the business as well as a share of the profits.

In his lecture Mr. Hapgood distinguished between the meaning of the terms: Fascism, Communism, and Freedom. He explained these forms of government by pointing out the political, economic, and social conditions in various nations today.

"In Russia," Mr. Hapgood explained, "the people regarded the Czar as second in power to God. The legislature had no power at all; it was ruled by the Czar. During the war the Czar was overthrown and the business men took the governmental rule in their hands. After the government changed hands, Great Britain and the United States both sent a commission to Russia to view the situation. The reports came back that the Russians were happy in the new regime. Unfortunately this was not true. At this time a great leader created by the Revolution stepped into this smouldering land of discontent. Lenin gave two things to Russia: he said good-bye to war with its horrors, and he did away with the powerful landlords who were the enemies of the peasants. In brief this is Russia before she embarked on her career of communistic control by which she has revolutionized her people and nation. Communism is the desire for equality in all phases of life.

"In Italy there is a Facsist rule headed by Mussolini. Fascism is the substitution of the rule of many to the will of a few. Mussolini holds supreme power over the nation. The people are led by this man.

"Freedom is America's slogan. The depression is met most successfully in nations where the standards of living are highest and the people are the most satisfied. Russia and Italy are not raising the standard of living. America is endeavoring to achieve this. Through education lies one of our biggest hopes for a successful government."

EACO THEATRE

Mats. 4 p. m.; Nights 8 p. m.
Adults 25c; Children 15c
Unless otherwise noted

Thursday, Jan. 31
Greta Garbo
'The Painted Veil'
Cab Calloway Musical
Adults 25c and 35c

Fri.-Sat., Feb. 1 & 2
Warner Baxter
Myrna Loy
"Broadway Bill"
Terry Toon and Fox News
Adults 25c and 35c

Next Mon.-Tues, Feb. 4 & 5
Ann Harding
Rbt. Montgomery
"Biography of a Bachelor Girl"
CARTOON AND NEWS
First Chapt. "Tailspin Tommy" Tuesday
Adults 25c and 35c

Next Wed., Feb. 6
Victor Herbert's
'Babes in Toyland'
With Laurel and Hardy, Little Bo-Peep, Tommy Tucker and Old King Cole
FIRST CHAPTER
"Tailspin Tommy"
NO ADVANCE IN PRICES

Southside Drug Store
(On the Corner)
Films Developed FREE
If bought at this store

The Schemmel Conservatory of Music
Offers interesting instruction by Artist Teachers, arranged to suit the needs of each pupil. Piano: Elsa Schemmel Fairchild, Marie Schemmel Shroder. Voice: Mattie Spencer Willis. Violin: Richmond Seay of Blackstone College.

Farmville Mfg. Co.
BUILDING MATERIALS
MILLWORK
Farmville, Va.

You Would Love to Have Your Shoes Fixed at
Lovelace Shoe Shop
110 Third Street

ROOM FURNISHINGS
SCHOOL SUPPLIES
CANDIES
ROSES
5-10-25c Store
FARMVILLE, VA.

Overton-Mottley Hdwe. Co.
ELECTRIC GOODS
Tennis Rackets and balls
Roller Skates

Shannon's
Is Headquarters for the Best
SANDWICHES
—and—
DRINKS
in Farmville!

Special orders for
Teas and Parties
Try our doughnuts
Foley's Bakery
Third Street

WILLIS
The Florist
Flowers for all occasions
PHONES 181-273

Conoco Gas and Oil
Fill up at
Johns Motor Co.
Farmville, Va.

Martin the Jeweler
Gifts of
Lasting Remembrance
317 Main St. Farmville

POTTED MEATS
SANDWICH SPREAD
SANDWICH ROLLS
HOT DOGS
Everything for the Picnic
W. R. Drumeller
Main Street Farmville

Cleaning at reduced rates
State Cleaning Co.
Third Street

SUPPERS AND
SMALL PARTIES
Good Breakfast
Dinners
Suppers
College Tea Room
and
LONGWOOD

Buy Your
C A N D Y
To Sell at
H. T. Stokes & Co.

G. F. Butcher
High Street
"The Convenient Store"
FOR GOOD THINGS
TO EAT AND DRINK

Electric Shoe Shop
Will Fix Your Shoes
While You Wait
BEST WORKMANSHIP
AND LEATHER USED

The Fashion Shoppe
Reflects the newest styles. All dresses $2.95 up
COATS, SUITS, DRESSES, UNDERWEAR
Silk Hose
Fine quality ..... 49c 59c and 69c

Warner's
"True - Lift"
Brassieres
GIRDLES—CORSELETTES
Come in today and see the many new foundation garments created especially for the college styles.
BALDWIN'S
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

"THE LAST ROUND-UP"
Final Reductions On Winter Togs
43 Dresses, formerly to $7.95 ..... $2.85
52 Dresses, formerly to $16.50 ..... $3.97
$15 Swaggers and Sport coats, naw $6.97
Fur trimmed coats and swaggers, $35 value $16.97
New spring suits just unpacked and moderately priced at $9.45
DOROTHY MAY STORES
FARMVILLE, VA.

FASHION REVUE FRIDAY

The Rotunda

We Teach To Teach

22 DAYS FOR VIRGINIAN SUBSCRIPTIONS

Volume XV. FARMVILLE, VA., FEBRUARY 6, 1935 16

"Life Begins at 8:30" Scheduled Feb. 14

Radio City Scene Of Sophomore Production

The Sophomore Class' musical production "Life Begins at 8:30" will be presented on February 14 at 8 o'clock in the large auditorium. Radio City is to be the scene of night life in a typical American metropolis. The radio hall is visited by four young couples; Mary Bowles and Elinor Dunham, Chic Dortch and Katherine Hurt, Sue Mallory and Mildred Chandler, Marguerite York and Katherine. These sight seers take in all the excitement offered in the big city, including the shops with their gay wares, clever burlesque shows, featuring numerous dancers, and the actual broadcasting studio in operation.

One of the outstanding features of the broadcasting station is Mr. Edwin Cralle's vocalization.

Admission is to be twenty-five cents. The proceeds derived from this undertaking will be the contribution of the class for Funder's Day.

The size of the cast is particularly unusual in that it includes almost every member of the class in some role.

Virginia Jones has lent her untiring efforts in the capacity of director of this presentation. Merwyn Gathright is in charge of staging, while Gay Stieffen supervises dancing and Virginia Baker is official costumer. The entire class is co-operating with these girls to make the endeavor successful.

With its abundant talent, colorful costuming, and attractive scenery, "Life Begins at 8:30" is anitcipated with enthusiasm by the student body.

Eaco Theatre Fire Arouses Students

Last Wednesday night in the midst of studying, many of the S. T. C. girls were aroused by the sound of the fire siren. The fire which caused so much excitement was in the Eaco Theater. The girls rushed to the windows of the Student Building; others even ventured to go down to the scene of the alarm which is against the rule. Fortunately, there proved to be more smoke than fire. Little damage was done; the picture was resumed almost immediately. The "mob spirit" was exemplified in this instance.

Costumes To Typify Mardi Gras Spirit

A spirit of fun and gayety will prevail on Tuesday, March 5, when S. T. C. will celebrate its third festival of Mardi Gras in the school gymnasium. Masked figures attired in gorgeous array will add to the brilliance of the gayly decorated gym while the smooth music of the Hampden-Sydney Collegians who have been procured for the occasion will ure the dancers on to the floor.

Mardi Gras in S. T. C. is sponsored by Pi Gamma Mu, National Honorary Social Science Fraternity and they have decided that no one will be allowed to enter the gym who is not masked and does not wear some suggestion of a costume. Masks will be sold at the door. The Queen and her court are to be distinguished from the rest of the crowd by wearing evening dress. No one else will be allowed to enter wearing evening dress.

Continued on page 4, Col. 3

Service Committee Seeks Contributions

The Y. W. C. A. Service Committee is asking for clothing, especially a coat, size fourteen, for a girl at one of the country schools. The co-operation of the Student Body is desired in order that the girl may attend school and church. If you can make a contribution, please report to Sue Waldo of the service committee.

Alumnae Chapter Has Short Meeting

The local chapter of Farmville Alumnae held a short business meeting in the Lounge on Monday evening. Active committees were organized with the following chairmen:

Mrs. Farrar, membership; Mrs. Jeffers, program; Miss Willie London, Social Mrs. Young, finance.

Spring social and program meetings were discussed. Transportation chairman, Louise Richardson, and hostesses from the Social and Membership committees were named for Founders' Day. The annual contribution was voted for the Student Building fund to be given on Founders Day. The co-operation of the local chapter was asked in sponsoring the establishment of a Jennie Masters Tabb Memorial Fund, a proposed project for the general association.

Mrs. Frank Nat Watkins outlined plans for the Alumnae Fashion Revue to be given Friday evening in the auditorium. Committees were named and tickets to be sold in town were distributed.

After a further discussion of the part of every alumna in the Founders' Day celebration, the meeting was closed with a general request for alumnae news for the Alumnae Column of the Rotunda.

New Plan Adopted By Group Leaders

The Freshmen have instituted a new plan with a two-fold purpose: to stimulate attendance at class meetings and to raise money. The fifteen groups, into which the class has been divided, are competing for a prize to be given the group whose record for attendance is most nearly perfect and who raises the most funds. Group leaders are urging their members to co-operate. Tuesday night, Feb. 5, was the first time the attendance phase of this plan was put into operation. A remarkably good representation encouraged the competition and spoke well of the workability of the atentdance contest. Equally good results are expected in the financial rivalry.

Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity Holds Annual Dances

The Pi Kappa Alpha held its annual set of dances on February first and second in the Comity Club house at Hampden-Sydney. A formal dance was held Friday night and dansant Saturday afternoon, followed by a buffet supper at Mrs. Clarke's home. Festivities were continued Saturday night with an informal dance. A number of girls from out-of-town as well as Hampden-Sydney alumni attended the dances.

1st Roman Banquet Proves Successful For Sigma Pi Rho

Arrayed as Romans, the members of Sigma Pi Rho held a Roman banquet February first at 8 o'clock in the Honor Room.

As the guests entered they were cautioned, "Deprio pede," for the Romans believed it ill luck to enter a rom with the left foot. After a prayer had been offered to placate the gods, the guests seated themselves at the tables which were arranged in the shape of the letter—"U," according to the custom.

While the first course was being served, the hostess gave a discourse on the importance of salt to the Romans. The dishes served were typically Roman, and the Roman atmosphere was furthered by candle-light. Between courses each guest who had come attired as some character of Roman history or literature spoke a few words in order that the others might guess whom he or she represented.

After the wine was brought in and a prayer made to the god of wine, the guests were wreathed and annointed with perfume. Then followed the last course, apples, for the Romans went not from soup to nuts but from eggs to apples.

This was the first time Sigma Pi Rho had attempted a banquet. It was pronounced a success, however, by the guests. Those present were: Lila Jacob, Carmen Clark, Jeannette Jones, Doris Moore, Claudine O'Brien, Margaret Pollard, Anne Putney, Maude Rhodes, Katherine Walton, Katherine Adams, Miss Rice, and Dr. Walmsley.

Quiet Sought For Study Hour

The House Council met Monday night to discuss a very serious question. The discussion centered on the conditions on the halls during study hour. This meeting was the result of a suggestion of the Student Standards Committee. Students' opinions were so sought, and it was found that they desire a correction of these conditions. The noise at this time is almost intolerable to those who desire quiet for study.

The president of the House Council, Nell Oakey Ryan, is calling the girls of each hall together and asking their co-operation with the hall presidents. There must be absolute quiet during study hour, and lights must be turned out when the light bells ring. If the hall presidents speak to a room twice, a call down is given. Any girl who receives as many as three call downs must go to closed study hall for one week, as Dr. Jarman has secured girls to keep these study halls open for those who fail to co-operate, or to those who are especially desirous of going there during the study hour.

Colleges Vote League Entry Against Navy And Air Force

Second returns in the 325-000-ballot Peace Poll of undergraduates in 119 colleges and universities give a scant majority of 50.07 per cent. for United States entry in the League of Nations, according to the tabulations published in tomorrow's issue of The Literary Digest.

The favorable vote for U. S. League entry was concentrated in Eastern institutions, fourteen voting "Yes" and eight "No" while the other sections of the country voted 26 against and 12 for.

A total of 65,000 ballots are shown as received to date from sixty colleges.

The students were asked to express their opinion in this "College Peace Poll" on seven issues relating to war and peace. On the first question as to whether the United States could stay out of another great war, the vote was 68.31 per cent. "Yes" and 31.69 per cent. "No."

Asked if the individual student would bear arms in defense of the United States in case the

Continued page 3, Col. 1

S. T. C. Alumnae Stage Style Show School Girls Model

The local chapter of Farmville Alumnae is sponsoring a unique Fashion Revue on Friday evening, February 8 at 8 p. m., in the auditorium. The costumes date back from our Mothers' day to advanced spring styles, which are from Baldwin's.

Program

Prelude: The College Orchestra.
Directed by Miss Purdom

Part I

My Mother's Day
Speaker .....
Mabel Fitzpatrick Putney
Interlude: Dance Group
Led by Nell Oakey Ryan

Part II

My College Days
Scene I—In my room (Lounging).
Scene II — On the campus (Sports).
Scene IV—At Tea (Tea and Dinner).
Interlude: Radio Broadcast.
Mr. Boyd Coyner
Scene V—At Cotillion (Evening).
Scene VI—Off for home (Suits and Coats).

Models

Margaret Farrar, Anne Irving, Louise Hyde, Jean McClure, Belle Lovelace, Lucy Potter, Blanche Lane, Wycliff Scott, Kitty Roberts, Mary Bowles, Caroline Jones, Kitty Jamison, Alice Hardaway, Tib Simmerman, Bebe Russell, Rose Somers, Grace Eubank, Sara Beck, Ducky Davies, Isabel Plummer, Bonnie Powell, Eleanor Dodson, Merwyn Gathright, Lucile Moseley, Dorothy Rust, Frances Parker, and Alumnae.

Make Virginian Subscriptions Now

February 28 is the last day for subscribing to the 1935 Virginian. Subscriptions may be given to members of the Virginian staff at any time this month. On Thursdays from Chapel time until one o'clock the table in the hall will be kept for subscriptions. A first payment of one dollar must be made; the other four dollars may be paid at any time before getting the anual.

Members of the staff include: Margaret Clark, Doris Coates, Agnes Crockett, Merwyn Gathright, Margaret Herndon, Anne Irving, Virginia Leonard, Anne Peple, Charlotte Rice, Lelia Sanford, Elizabeth Shippiett, Elizabeth Vassar, Elizabeth Walton, and Janice White.

Freshman Production Booked For Display

The Freshmen production, "Freshmen 57 Varieties," is booked for Friday night, March 1. Plans are rapidly materializing to prove that variety is the spice of life. As try-outs are in progress, talent of all kinds is being discovered among the members of S. T. C.'s new citizens.

Alpha Kappa Gamma Recognizes Leaders

Freshman Classman

Miss Jane Royall

Students' Meeting Held February 4th

The Student Body held its February meeting Monday night. Four "reminders" were brought before the students by the president: the conduct during chapel, especially on Students' Day; coming to the dining room late, and in insufficient and unsuitable dress; girls hanging over the Rotunda on Saturday and Sunday nights; and the great amount of noise in the library.

Whether the girls receiving notes from the Student Council may get on the Honor Roll will be determined by the decision of the Council after considering the seriousness of the offense, the length of the campus term, and the number of slips they have received.

The committee selected by the Student Council to appoint the girls from which the Editor of the Rotunda, the Editor of the Virginian, and the Business Manager of each of these publications will be elected was approved by the Student Body. The list includes Lelia Mattox, chairman; Elizabeth Vassar, Janice White, Mr. Holton, and Mr. McCorkle.

Southern Women Theme of History By Dr. Simpkins

Dr. Francis B. Simpkins has been at work for several years on a history of the "Women of the Confederacy." In this study he emphasizes the part the Southern women had in bringing on the Civil War, the support which they gave the Confederate soldiers, and the griefs and joys aroused by the great emotional experiences of the women of this section of the United States. Dr. Simpkins has completed this book and hopes to publish it by next Christmas.

Dr. Simpkins is now beginning a life of Ben Tillman, a South Carolina politician. This work, if completed, will be an amplification of a previous work of this writer.

Swimming Pool Re-opened

The swimming pool which has been closed for the last week was reopened yesterday afternoon. It was drained for government inspection pending its approval and acceptance as a P. W. A. project. A large number of girls showed their appreciation of the availability of an enthusiastic swim yesterday afternoon.

Bids Extended Four Juniors Monday Night

Four Juniors have been recognized as leaders by Alpha Kappa Gamma, national honorary fraternity for leadership. Agnes Crocket, Margaret Farrar, Hazel Smith, and Louise Walmsley received bids to that fraternity Monday night.

Activities in which they have been outstanding are:

Agnes Crockett — Photographic editor of the Virginian; World Fellowship Committee of the Y. W. C. A.; Campus League; House Council; active in class work.

Margaret Farrar—Pi Gamma Mu; Artists Dance Group; Business Manager of the Dramatic Club; Rotunda staff; belongs to the tennis team; showed exceptional talent, with Hazel Smith, in directing and in acting in the class production.

Hazel Smith—Annual staff two years; Student Government three years, of which she is now Secretary; Y. W. C. A. Cabinet as head of Sing; Treasurer of Cotillion Club; very versatile in directing class projects.

Louise Walmsley — Vice-president of Athletic Association; Monogram Club; Pi Gamma Mu; Y. W. C. A.; Student Standards Committee; varsity basketball squad three years; active in class activities.

Dr. Jarman Gives Names of Founders Day Committee

The committee to plan the Founders' Day program has been announced. It consists of: Dr. Jeffers, chairman; Miss Pauline Camper; the advisors of the four classes, Miss Moran from the Senior Class, Miss Bedford from the Junior Class, Miss Iler from the Sophomore Class, Miss Royall from the Freshman Class; and the usual representatives from the Student Body, including the Ex-officio members.

Founders' Day is March 9. On Friday night, March 8, "The Messiah" will be given, with the Founders' Day program following it March 9.

Dramatic Club's New Members Initiated

The small auditorium was the scene of surprising antics Tuesday, January 29, when the fifty-four apprentices of the Dramatic Club entertained the old members with original impersonations. Stunts included class room scenes, fashion shows, a make-up group meeting, and a typical S. T. C. post office scene, as well as other recitations.

Wednesday night, the occasion was more solemn, for the aspirants were becoming full-fledged members. White dresses, candles held by members of the executive board, and the repetition of the pledge added to the impressiveness.

Since September, these girls have worked in the various and sundry departments of the organization, endeavoring to prove their abilities. As each girl added her name to the roll of the Dramatic Club, she heard in the scratch of the pen the glad tidings of her achievement.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Published by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

MEMBER
Associated Collegiate Press
1934 Collegiate Digest 1935

Staff

Lelia Mattox ..... Editor
Evelyn Massey ..... Associate Editor
Lena Mac Gardner ..... Business Manager

Board of Editors

Miss Jane Royall ..... Alumnae
Florence Sanford ..... Make-up
Susan Gresham ..... Headlines
Kathryne Cotten ..... Literary
Birdie Wooding, Emma Bingham, Bess McGlothlin ..... Editorials
Anne Putney ..... World News
Anne Diggs ..... Social
Kathleen Ranson, Lelia Sanford ..... Sports
Belle Lovelace, Amis Montgomery ..... Features

Proof Readers

Elizabeth Walton, Dorothy Deans, Agnes Bondurant

Managers

Alva Sawyer ..... Asst. Business
Maude Rhodes, Lila Jacob, Elsie Cabell ..... Circulation

Assistants and Reporters

Bonnie Lane, Minnie Smith, Mary Lee Newcomb, Elsie Cabell, Mary Adeline McGlothlin, Katherine Coleman, Elizabeth Mann, Grace Allen Pittard, Margaret Farrar

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 1935

Wanted—Answers

Is it the desire of upperclassmen that the Freshmen be placed under restrictions? Do they feel it necessary to show their superiority through allowances not extended to their underclassmen, or is it someone else's idea that Freshmen be treated as graded children? Is there onl ytruly logical reason for girls sixteen to twenty years of age being compelled to sign their names on a card when wishing to walk a block to a drug store or two blocks to a five and ten cent store? If it's to limit the extent of girls going down town, haven't they an Honor System? Would it be impractical to ask that, as a consideration to their Alma Mater, the girls not loaf down town? I think even Freshmen have sense and family background enough to realize that ladies are not—"Drug Store Cowboys." Now we find something like 22 freshmen confined to the campus like babies locked in closets for sucking their thumbs. And why are they campused? Why, because when it would take one approximately five minutes to chase from the Student Building to the store and back, they didn't want to walk all the way to the Rotunda to ask if they might buy note book paper, and explain just why they couldn't obtain the kind they wanted in the tea room.

One freshman, who had broken her glasses during the morning needed them for a 2:10 class and went to the Home Office for permission. She was told that she might take them to be mended during the freshmen hours, from 3:30 to 5.. Consequently, she attended her class without them. What that reasonable?

Is there ever any objective in causing people to be unnecessarily unhappy and discontented? In this democratic country of ours, the home of the free, have we teachers' colleges, or day nurseries?

Food For Thought

Where is the class spirit of the S. T. C. students? Why is there not a better attendance at class meetings? Is it because of carelessness? Are the meetings uninteresting? Where does the fault lie? The attendance of class meetings has decreased gradually during the year. It is rather disconcerting to the class officers to realize that only half of the class is there. Little can be accomplished with such a small representation; yet those who do not attend meetings or help in class projects are constantly criticizing the class work. If these critics would come to class meetings and turn their comments into constructive criticism, it would be an asset to the class.

Class organizations have a vital part in college activities, that cannot be replaced. So important is the work of the class organizations that every individual must contribute her part to accomplish the most. At this particular time, especially with the approach of Founder's Day, let us bind together through our class organizations and "work wonders" for our Alma Mater.

What About This?

There has been quite a disturbance about the campus concerning our Mardi Gras dance. A large number of girls have felt that it would be impossible for them to attend as they are unable to obtain costumes. Some of our friends who would come from other schools to the dance are sending their regrets as they, too, have nothing to wear.

We have comparatively few dances here at school and those are enjoyed by all of us. Naturally we are all anxious to attend this one, but many are going to be sadly disappointed if we're to be refused admission because we have no costume. If everyone wears a lovely one it will be a beautiful and colorful affair, but there will not be a very large number of girls and the dance will be "sticky" to say nothing of the fact that a rather large sum of money will be lost through the small number of subscriptions sold.

Girls have too much pride to be seen in shabby, unbecoming garments and they will stay away rather than have the genius males see them in such. Woe and disappointment to these poor unfortunates who will go to bed at ten o'clock on the fifth of March! Even more woe if they have pretty evening gowns hanging uselessly in the closets.

Does the Shoe Fit?

What would you think if one morning Aunt Lucy knocked on your door and said, "It's twenty minutes after eight."

Instead of having someone do this at each door, we have the bell to tell us when to go to our classes, meals, meetings, etc.

When the bell rings, we naturally think it is time to go to a certain class or to a meal. We go, and upon arriving, we find that we are ten minutes or more early. These ten minutes could be spent in studying, but instead, one is angry for having come early; and ten minutes are wasted, or not spent to the best advtantage.

Why does the bell ring when it is not supposed to? Surely Charlie is not ringing it for exercise, or to hear the tone of the bell! No, there are a few girls who can't resist the temptation of ringing the bell, when they see the rope hanging there so invitingly.

What can be done? We surely are not childlike enough to have a guard put by the bell-rope. It seems that college students—even the freshmen — could realize the extra steps their little prank has caused.

We suggest standing by the rope until time for the bell to ring; we are sure Charlie wouldn't mind overseeing the job.

The American girl understands freedom better than her English cousins because she belongs to a country that is young and free with obligations neither to history no rto cusom. She does not abuse her liberty.—Edna Best, actress.

The most beautiful memorial is a fragrant memory.—Le Baron Cooke.

The best example of love does not occur during courtship or early in marriage, but later in life when a wife exclaims: "John, don't forget, your rubbers."—William Lyon Phelps.

Open Forum

There is too much criticising around our campus among the students. Don't misunderstand. I'm not opposed to criticism if it is the right kind. The kind of which I'm now talking is far from the helpful, intelligent thought-provoking criticism which, if heeded, is the very soul of growth. No, the sort I kick against is that done in a sneering, egotistical biting manner that breaks the spirit of many who would otherwise be willing, yes glad, to give their contributions of talents and ideas to our school life.

An Old French Proverb Reads Like This: "La critique est aisee et l'art est difficile." The criticism is easy, and the art difficult. Is this not very true? Take, for example, teachers. Is there one among us who has not and does not even now pick our instructors to pieces? They don't grade fairly, or they're partial to Mary Jane so and so. You who are out teaching or have been, do you think those pupils you were teaching could have done your job better than you were doing it for all your efforts? No, but doubtlessly they did. The same applies to our relations with our instructors. I use this merely as an illustration: it is the same in every activity, every project instigated on our campus. Those who never tried to do anything like it or are not interested in doing so, run around making belittling remarks about, and even to, those who are making an attempt to develop themselves into more socially adaptable members of society. Don't think for a minute that extra activities will not help us after graduation.

Just to be a bit more specific, another illustration that is vital to all of us. There are only a few students who know the straight story behind a lot of the recent instances of campus; yet, there is no end of talk, most of which is unfounded so far as real knowledge goes. Someone gets mad, letting fall a few sarcastic digs even when she knows that she or whoever she is defending was in the wrong. Then, the ball is started rolling. You all know how fast news travels at S. T. C.; most of the time half a dozen personal opinions are added to the original criticism. The whole student body gets all wrought up; the news is carried to all parts of the state by letter or word of mouth; then, outsiders take it up as authentic, spreading a bad name for a place that we, who started all the gossip, really love. It is a shame that good news doesn't often get around as quickly as the bad.

I realize it would be a hard habit to form, but it would be grand if we as potential teachers could learn to give constructive criticism and could learn to do a thing ourselves before raking someone else over for not being perfect.

A Criticiser

Confidentially

Ladies, ladies, and more ladies, lend us thine ears. We have come to describe the Future Man—not to praise him.

He will be taller—forcing us to look up to him.

He will have deep-set eyes—all the better to see with, my dear.

A more prominent nose—all the better to smell the perfume he sent you, my dear.

The Future Man will have a smaller mouth. How do you like that?

He will have a more prominent chin — thus booming Burma-Shave.

His feet will be more refined—this means a second depression for the makers of Absorbine, Jr.

Fingers will be longer—all the better to hold your hand, my dear.

He will lose his appendix, little toes, and wisdom teeth—here's where the doctors lose out.

We hope you like him!

Review of the News

The promise of the new editors of the Yale Daily News is to startle its readers with what might be termed radical views.

From a recent article on the installation of a course on "Fascism and Communism" at Yale is quoted the following excerpts:

"Education should open eyes, not shut them. We are here to learn about the world as it is not as our mentors choose to have us see it. The bad must be spread before us with the good, the dangerous with the harmless, the unpleasant with the pleasant.

"Fascism and Communism are realities that we of this generation must face. Not only do they exist in the world, and hence affect us indirectly, but they affect us directly as ever-present threats. To deny the possibility of their ever taking hold in this country is either sheer blindness or wishful thinking. They are, and will be, vital issues in our lives.

"With this in mind we need widespread knowledge to know how to combat them. In no case can ignorance enable us to face them.

"It is essential that courses be instituted at Yale to deal specifically with these problems. In all probability, small weekly seminars would provide the best means for investigating the political philosophy, the mechanics of government, and the actual results of Fascism and Communism It is to be hoped that qualified members of the government department would be able to devote two hours a week to the task. Needless to say, the study of our own government and of more nearly related systems must be in no way sacrificed. Indeed it can be made the more significant in the light of contrast . . ."

When Vassar college girls found out the Yale Junior prom

Continued on page 4

From Other Colleges

Miss Cleveland, the professor of French at Harrisonburg, gave a very interesting talk to the students at H. S. T. C. last week on the history of Harrisonburg, as she was a member of the faculty when the school was founded. One incident of remarkable interest was that the number of students has grown from 150 in 1910 to 800 in 1935.

(The Breeze),
Harrisonburg S. T. C.

Young men at the University of Virginia are preparing for their mid-winter dances. They have not decided on the prices for the dances, but complete arrangements have been made for the music. The orchestras of Red Nichols and Mal Hallett are going to play instead of Lee Reisman.

(College Topics)
University of Virginia.

On February 15, the Tulane Glee Club is going to stage a concert. It will sing music of all types; classical, popular, and strictly Tulane numbers. The Glee Club will tour southern Lousiana with the proceeds.

(Hullabaloo)
Tulane University.

FRESHMAN STAFF

Elizabeth Morris .....Editor
Gertrude Levy ..Associate Editor
Virginia Agee .....
Headlines and Make-Up
Mary Harrison Vaughan .....Literary
Bobbie Brooks, Anne Peple, Nancy Pobst .....Editorials
Margaret Fraley .....World News
Frances Robinson .....Social
Ruth Phelps .....Sports
Will Scott, Annie Watson Holden .....Features
Meriel McAllister, Lois Vassar .....Proof Readers
Helen F. Perdue .....Circulation Manager
Julia Anne Waldo, Tyler Wood, Nellwyn Latimer, Sue Eastham, Caroline Upshur. ..... Reporters

England's Rupert Brooke

On August 3, 1887, there was born in Rugby, England, a boy who was destined to become the ideal of English youth in later years. He was the son of William Brooke, assistant master of Rugby. He was called Rupert, and today the heart of every Englishman swells with pride at the mere mention of the name—Rupert Brooke. This boy became the kind of man that England would like all of her sons to be. In reverance, she sets him before her modern sons and says, "Behold a true Englishman!" Rupert Brooke reached the heights as a poet, and yet he only had twenty-eight short years on this earth.

The boy went to schol at Rugby and later graduated from King's College at Cambridge. He grew to be one of the handsomest Englishmen of his time. He is referred to as a "golden young Apollo" —tall, blonde, and broad. He had eyes of a deep, living blue and he moved with an easy, careless grace that set him apart from other men. He looked the true English gentleman that he was. He was a keen thinker and a delightful talker. He enjoyed giving his opinion and did so frequently. Brooke was a good swimmer and by determination finally became an accomplished diver.

One of the happiest years of Rupert Brooke's life was spent the South Sea Islands. He passed through the United States and Canada en route. Some of his best poems were written on this trip.

When the World War broke out Brooke was among the first to join the army. If England was at war, so was Rupert Brooke. The sonnets he wrote while in service are the pinnacle of his perfection. They are among the few utterances England has of supreme patriotism. They are written naturally and easily from the courageous heart of a soldier about to die for his country. He did not mind dying for so glorious a cause; he only hated to give up the vital joy he found in life. His poems reveal the fact that he knew he was going "West," but he never once considered turning back. He died of blood poisoning on April 23, 1915, at Skyros. They buried him among the olive trees on the Island of Skyros the next day, and the world wept for him—her boy-poet who possessed the gift of song as no other of his time. Rupert Brooke, who could have lived a genius, chose instead to die a soldier.

The Soldier—A War Sonnet

If I should die, think only this of me:
That there's some corner of a foreign field
That is forever England. There shall be
In that rich earth a richer dust concealed;
A dust whom England bore, shaped, made aware,
Gave, once, her flowers to love, her ways to roam,
A body of England's, breathing English air,
Washed by the river, blest by suns of home.

Day That I Have Loved

Tenderly, day that I have loved, I close your eyes,
And smooth your quiet brow, and fold your thin dead hands.
The grey veils of the half-light deepen; colour dies.
I bear you, a light burden to the shrouded sands.

Close in the nest is folded every weary wing,
Hushed all the joyful voices; and we, who hold you dear,
Eastward we turn and homeward, alone, remember—
Day that I loved, day that I loved, the night is here!

Voice on Phone: "John Smith is sick and can't attend class today. He requested me to notify you."

Professor: "All right. Who is this speaking?"

SOCIALS

The girls at S. T. C. always seem to find a reason to leave for the week-ends.

Dances at the University of Virginia called Kitty Bass, Elizabeth Scott, and Billy Wilkinson away.

Dances at N. C. State claimed Claudia Harper, and Duke took Libby Ware.

To Richmond

Margaret McNamara, Lucille Rhodes, Elizabeth Spitler, Elise Turner, Evelyn Massey, Fanny Bosworth, Carmen Clark, "Chic" Dortch, Mabel Britt, Marjorie Booten, Doris Coates, Audrey Clements, Rachel Joyner, "Knubby" Knaub, Patsy Nottingham, and Anne Peple.

To Lynchburg

Virginia Jones, Jean Willis, Kat Harvey, Helen Harris, Dot Justis, Sally Perrow, Ellen Moore, Mary L. Powell, Dot Robertson, Nan Seward, Brooks Wheeler, Eleanor Wade.

Besides the number visiting "home", attractions in surrounding vicinities claimed the usual quota.

S. T. C. girls were hostesses to a number of out-of-town guests who attended the Pi Kappa Alpha dances at Hampden-Sydney.

College Votes League Entry Against Navy

Continued from page 1

country were invaded, 83.50 per cent. indicated they would fight, while 16.50 per cent. voted that they would not fight.

On the question of whether or not they would bear arms for the United States in its invasion of the borders of another country, 81.63 per cent. marked their ballot negatively, while 18.37 per cent. showed they would fight even in the case of an aggressive war.

On the fourth question of "Do you believe that a national policy of an American Navy and Air Force second to none is a sound method of insuring us against being drawn into another great war" the vote was 62.98 per cent. against such a policy and 37.02 per cent. for it.

An overwhelming majority of 90.25 per cent, showed advocacy of governmental control of armament and munitions industries, while 9.75 per cent. of the student voters registered opposition on this issue.

Voting on the question "In alinement with our historic procedure in drafting man-power in time of war, would you advocate the principle of universal conscription of all resources of capital and labor in order to control all profits in time of war?" the balloting showed 81.5 per cent. marked in favor of such universal conscription to 18.50 per cent. voting against it.

The Literary Digest anounces that it is conducting this College Peace Poll in leading American institutions, and one Canadian, on higher learning in cooperation with the recently-formed Association of College Editors.

"De Pauw, Chicago, Colorado, Iowa, Kansas, Kansas State, Michigan, Oberlin, Washington University (St. Louis), Washington and Lee, Western Reserve, and Wisconsin" The Literary Digest states in its columns, "were the colleges outside the East which favored entry into the League.

"In the East, Boston College, Carnegie Tech., George Washington, Lehigh, Maine, M. I. T., Pensylvania and Penn. State opposed entry into the League.

"It is interesting to compare the results of the American College Peace Poll with the trend indicated by the latest returns on the Peace Ballot being conducted in England by the League of Nations Union.

"Out of 1,050,092 who have voted already in the English Peace Ballot, 973,965 voted in favor of England's remaining in the League. The all-round abolition of naval and military aircraft by international agreement was advocated by 87 per cent. of the voters. Nearly 93 per cent. of the voters in the English Peace Ballot advocated an international agreement for the prohibition of the manufacture and sale of armaments for private profit.

"Almost 94 per cent. of the British ballots advocated the use of non-military and economic sanction to check an aggresor nation from attacking another nation; 70.2 per cent. advocated the use of military measures, if necessary."

Y. W. C. A.

Entertaining Sing Given By Juniors

The Juniors of S. T. C. gave a very clever and entertaining sing last Saturday night in the auditorium. Florence Tankard, Margaret Farrar, Grace Eubank, and Nancy Pobst were workers in a music shop. Addie Norfleet proved a very promising buyer who entertained the audience with a tap dance. Louise Gathright was good as an old crippled gentleman who didn't care for the kind of music they had for sale. It proved too modern for him, and he wanted something on the order of "The Flying Trapeze." Toot Walton entered with her "little boy," Lelia Sanford, and the two were a very interesting pair. Pleased with the seeming interest of the proud mother, the ladies did their best to entertain her little Oswald. Margaret Farrar sang "Irresistible," "Stange," and "Take A Number from One to Ten." Grace Eubank sang "Night and Day" and "Waltz of Love." Mamma Toot finally left, remarking that they had enjoyed the entertainment and she had no intention of buying anyway. Imagine the disappointment of the shop keepers!!!

Alumnae News

Mrs. Watkins Entertains For Mrs. Lancaster

On Friday afternoon, Feb. 1, from 4 to 6 p. m., Mrs. Frank Nat Watkins was hostess at a lovely tea, honoring Mrs. J. G. Lancaster, formerly Miss Catherine Diehl.

Mrs. Watkins, Mrs. Lancaster, and her mother, Mrs. Frederick Diehl composed the receiving line. Mrs. H. V. Lancaster met the guests at the door. Miss Mary White Cox and Mrs. J. B. Wall presided at the tea table.

Longwood was artistically decorated in daffodils and snapdragons, carrying out a color scheme of yellow and green.

Harwoods Located In Farmville

Mr. John Harwood and wife, who was formerly Miss Mary Scott Martin ,arrived February 1 to make their home in Farmville. Mr. Harwood will be connected with the J. E. Garland agency for the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company.

Southampton Alumnae Elect Officers

A meeting of the Southampton Chapter of Farmville Alumnae was held at the News Office Saturday afternoon with Mrs. J. P. King persiding. New officers eleeted were: President, Miss Lizzie Story, Capron; secretary and treasurer, Miss Elizabeth Hurt, Boykins; and the following district vice-presidents: Berlin-Ivor, Mrs. F. T. Joyner; Boykins, Mrs. J. M. Britt; Courtland, Mrs. Jas. T. Gillette; Capron, Mrs. Clyde G. Johnson; Drewryville, Mrs. Monroe Grizzard; Franklin, Mrs. B. T. Watkins; Newsoms, Miss Irma Vaughan.

Announce Birth of Twins

Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wallace of Norfolk announce the birth of twins, a son and a daughter, on Thursday, Jan. 24. Mrs. Wallace will be remembered in Farmville as Miss Frances Newman.

Pottage-Elliott

In the presence of a few intimate friends and near relatives, a quiet but impressive wedding took place in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Kidd of Crewe on Saturday, January 19, when Miss Sally Margaret Elliott became the bride of Mark Anthony Pottage.

Miss Betty Shields Entertained

Miss Betty Shields, who is to be married to Mr. Robert Brumfield on Thursday, has been the guest of honor at a number of social affairs. Among the recent ones are: a luncheon at The Weyanoke on Jan. 26 with Mrs. Taylor Thompson hostess, a luncheon at the home of Mrs. Willard Hart on Jan. 29, Mrs. Rippard's theater party on Jan. 31, Miss Betty River's theater party and dinner at the Cactus Inn on Jan. 29, and Grace Bernier's bridge party on February 2.

Among the Alumnae

Achievements of Farmville alumnae are reported in this column. Materials for it may be sent to James M. Grainger, English Department.

The following article appeared recently on the literary page of a Sunday edition of the Birmingham (Ala.) News. Mrs. Agnew was Jean Cameron, of Deerfield, Va. She received a diploma from this institution in 1896.

By Martha Lyman Shillito

Carl Carmer, who prefaces his latest book, "Stars Fell on Alabama," with a map in which he divides Alabama into five sections, has placed the town of Lafayete at a point where Foothills, Black Belt, and Conjure Country meet. Just now interest centers in Lafayette because it is the home of the president of the Alabama Writers' Conclave. Jean Cameron Agnew (Mrs. Henry Agnew) was elected to succeed Mittie Owen McDavid of Birmingham.

Jean Agnew is a good Scotch Presbyterian and takes her work seriously, which accounts in a large measure for the success which has come to her. Her enthusiasms are quiet but deep and, although she is affiliated with both state and national writers' organizations, most of her work has been done in her workshop at "Fassifern," the home of the Agnews several miles from the town. So earnest about the business of writing is this Alabama woman that she refuses to have a telephone in the house and when the master of the house is away on business, even the radio is disconnected. "Fassifern," named for the ancestral home in Scotland and the Cameron homestead near Hot Springs, Va., is the scene of many hospitable gatherings. The Agnews are ideal hosts and their terraced lawn, with its rock gardens and lily ponds, make an artistic setting for the plays pageants, and alfresco parties which are presented for guests around that countryside.

Mrs. Agnew's forte is playwrighting and her achievements along this line are worth recording. Her three-act play, "A Woman in the House," won first prize a few years ago in a nation-wide contest sponsored by the Vallejo Community Players, of Vallejo, Cal., and was presented at the Farenholt Theatre, Mare Island. Last year a one-act play won a prize from the Los Angeles County Drama Association and was presented by the Glendale Little Theater.

In the annual dramatic contest sponsored by Alabama College, Mrs. Agnew won first prize in 1932 and second prize in 1933. This year, her three-act play, "Pillard Porticos," was again awarded the Alabama College first prize. Several other plays have been published and produced. One of them, which won a national prize in a religious drama contest, was recently heard over Station API and its appeal, together with the artistic interpretation given it by the Radio Thespians, has led to numerous requests that it be repeated over the same station.

Essays and feature stories have also won acclaim for the new executive of the Writers' Conclave. She was awarded The Birmingham News prize in 1928 for her essay. "How to Develop An Intelligent and Healthy State Pride in Alabama." In 1930 The Montgomery Advertiser award for the best essay on "What Has Been the Effect of Enfranchisement of Women in Alabama?" was also made for her entry.

Last summer Mrs. Agnew was awarded the feature-story prize offered at the Century of Progress through the National League of American Penwomen. Her story, titled "Thirty-Six Marble Columns" was written about the huge monolithic marble columns quarried at Sylacauga, Ala., and sent to the nation's capital to be used in the construction of the new Supreme Court Building. The data was assembled for this article while Mr. and Mrs. Agnew were spending the winter at Sycharm of style and artistic presentation.

Jean Agnew is a graduate of Virginia State College for Teachers and has also studied at the University of Virginia, from which institution both her father and grandfather were graduated. For many years she was a teacher of English and History in the high schools of Alabama. In 1930 she was married to Henry Drennen Agnew, who is prominently identified with the Comer Mills.

As program chairman of the Writers' Conclave this past year, Jean Agnew should have a trophy herself to add to the collection, or so think those who attended the carefully planned programs which she so successfully arranged and carried out. She has also served this organization as vice-president and historian. She is a past president of the Selma-Montgomery Branch, League of American Penwomen and a member of the Press and Authors' Club of Montgomery.

Going Away? ..... Travel by

GREYHOUND

Safe—Comfortable—Economical

S. A. Legus

TAILOR

CLEANING

PRESSING

REPAIRING

Phone 203

C. E. Chappell Co.

Stationery, Blank Books and School Supplies

Cigars, Cigarettes and Soda

Farmville, Virginia

Rice's Shoe Store

Street and Dress Shoes

Dancing Slippers Dyed

Correct fits our specialty 1t

Kleanwell

CLEANERS AND TAILORS

Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling ladies garments

Main Street, opposite Post office

Phone 98

Gray's Drug Store

QUALITY—PRICE—SERVICE

Come in and Get Acquainted

We are glad to have you with us!

Farmville, Virginia

Mack's

BARBER AND BEAUTY SHOP

323 Main Street

We use the Frederick Method

Hair cutting and thinning a Specialty

PRINTING .....

When you think of Printing think of

—The—

FARMVILLE HERALD

JUST RECEIVED

LOVELY NEW SPRING OXFORDS

Ghillie ties in two-tone tans, beiges and solid white. For campus, sports and dress wear.

$1.95 $2.95 $3.95

Lovely new Spring Suits

Popular bi-swing backs $9.95

THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE

Farmville's Best Place to Shop!

—FOR—

EVERYTHING—SCHOOL SUPPLIES, CANDIES, FRUITS, CONFECTIONS, ETC.

GO TO .....

GILLIAM'S

Open 'till 9:00 p. m.

SHOES For All Occasions

Evening—Dress—Sports—Street Wear

$2.95 to $5.95

DAVIDSON'S

ARE YOU INTERESTED?

JACKETS of Grain and Suede Cloth and Wool SWEATERS.

We are showing the season's newest. Come in. We are glad to show—Just what we have—and the line is very attractive.

VERSER'S

PHILCO RADIO

World's largest manufacturers of Radio

A complete line

Watch repairing a specialty

Sheet Music—Strings for Instruments

LYNN, The Main Street Jeweler

YOUR NEIGHBOR,

The Weyanoke Beauty Salon

invites you to drop in and take advantage of their Special prices now in effect.

Permanent Waves—$4 & $6 Shampoo & Fingerwave 75 cents

Manicure 40 cents

Individual, courteous, efficient service and an established reputation for dependability and satisfaction. That is our guarantee, and your assurance of perfect workmanship.

First Basketball Game of Season Successfully Played By Freshmen

The S. T. C. Freshmen defeated the College High School basketball players in the gym here Wednesday night, January 30th, with a score of twenty-four to two.

The game proved to be exciting and interesting to the spectators. Both teams were well matched in their playing, although the Freshmen took the lead in the beginning and held it throughout the entire game. Enthusiasm was shown in the hard playing of both sides. Good passwork was a result of faithful practice under Coach Iler. This was the first game of the season, and the two teams will meet again soon.

The line-up was as follows:

Freshmen		C. H. S.
Chappell	R.F.	Mann, E
Gilliam	L.F.	McCorkle
Eastham	J.C.	Reynolds
Butterworth	S.C.	Solomon
Thomas	R.G.	Newman
Britton	L.G.	Cobb

Substitutes—Freshmen: Bolick, Lewis, Mann, E., Rountree, C. H. S. Hardy.

Sarah Parker's name has been added to the varsity basketball squad.

Faculty News

Dr. Jarman, Dr. Jeffers, and Dr. Wynne will attend the conference of Virginia Conferences to be held at the Virginian Hotel Friday.

Miss Stubbs attended a convention in Lynchburg Thursday.

Miss Jones has returned from Florence, Ala.

Miss Coulling has been absent from classes on account of illness.

Miss Nichols attended Barker's Convention held at John Marshall Hotel in Richmond.

Dr. Simpkins went to Petersburg Saturday.

Radio Highlights

Today's Program
WRVA—1110 Kc

7:00 A. M.—Musical Clock
8:00—Morning Devotions
8:15—William Meader, organist
8:30—Cheerio.
9:00—Breakfast Club
10:00—Betty Moore
10:15—Clara, Lu, 'n Em.
10:30—Today's Children
10:45—Betty Crocker
11:00—Floyd Backus, guitar, songs
11:15—Tony Wons
1130—Virginia Dept. of Health
11:45—Magic Recipes
12:00—Domino Girl and orchestra
12:29 P. M.—Weather Report
12:30—Farm and Home Hour
1:30—Market Reports
1:45—Sunshine Program
315—Wiseman
2:45—Al and Lee Reiser
3:00—Rambler's Trio
3:30—Cosmopolitan Hotel Orchestra
4:00—Betty and Bob
4:15—Boys' Radio Club
4:30—Bubbles Becker's Orchestra
5:00—Rhythm Parade
5:25—Junior Firemen's Club
5:40—Sports Reporter
5:45—Orphan Annie
6:00—Smoky and Poky
6:15—Evening Musicale
6:30—Comedy Stars of Hollywood
6:45—Lowell Thomas
7:00—Amos 'n Andy
7:15—John, Gene and Dick
7:30—Red Davis
7:45—Sally Sothern
8:00—Mary Pickford & Co.
8:30—Phil Marley's Revue
9:00—Town Hall Tonight
10:00—Lombardo-Land
10:30—One Man's Family
11:00—Musical Movie News; Concert Orchestra
11:30—Bubbles Becker's Orchestra
12:00—Sign off.
7:30 A M.—The Timekeeper
8:30—Chapel Singers
8:45—Lyric Serenade
9:00—The Joke Book

Having the biggest navy and air force is not a sound method of keeping the country out of keeping the country out of war, in the opinion of the great majority of the 30,000 college students who have answered the question in a poll being conducted by the Literary Digest.

Three thousand students now receiving help from the federal government in 43 colleges affiliated with the Congregational and Christian church, are to have mapped out for them a program under the direction of a committee headed by President Robert M. Hutchins of the University of Chicago.

Book Review

Goodbye, Mr. Chips: James Hilton, publ., Little, Brown and Company, Boston, Mass.; 126 pages.

James Hilton has presented a sensitive portrayal of character which will long be remembered for its clarity of line and delicacy of touch in his novel, Goodbye, Mr. Chips.

The Mr. Chipping of one story, fondly honored as Mr. Chips by Brookfield, the boys' school around which his life has revolved since his early 20's, can best be described in Hilton's own words. He says of him, "For Chips, like some old sea-captain, still measured time by the signals of the past."

Chips has become old now, and when you are getting on in years, it is nice to sit by the fire and drink a cup of tea. For his days and nights were full of dreaming.

Through the author's eyes, we see a Chipping who reminisces upon a life, uneventful, perhaps, to many, but upon a life assuming a definite pattern of hopes, disappointments and quiet satisfactions. That Hilton has been gentle in that life's unfolding, that his thoughts have been clothed in words of dignity, and laughing humor, touched with unmistakable pathos, show the artistry of the man.

Mr. Chips finds adventure now in his feeling that he is a definite part of Brookfield tradition. His trips across to the school have become momentous occasions of delight to him.

His one great adventure had been his marriage to Katherine. "Till his marriage he had been a dry and rather neutral sort of person . . . She made him to all appearances a new man; though most of the newness was really a warning to life of things that were old, impersonal, and unguessed. . . .

"Kathie broadened his views and opinions, also giving him an outlook far beyond the roofs and turrets of Brookfield—"

And then, Kathie, the lover of life dies. When one of his boys asks him, "Please, sir, may I have the afternoon off?" and when one of his classes plays an April Fool's Day joke at his expense, we see a vague Mr. Chips brought back from his quiet grieving, and becoming inwardly vehement at the futility of the usual things, going on without the active appreciation of Kathie to share them with him.

He settles back into his particular groove, however, the only difference, now, being the ever-present but unspoken question in his mind which guides his actions, "What would Kathie like for one to do?" She has left a definite impression upon a wiser Mr. Chips.

She has his little jokes, his little peculiarities which make him so beloved a teacher. These remain with him after his retirement.

He has a kindness, a gentle, smiling quality of living which warm his readers to a genuine love of a person so real.

That he is saying good-bye to the pattern in which he has become involved, and that this pattern of graceful living and true refinement will remain after he has gone, Hilton has clearly shown. He has given us a picture sincere, and great in dignity and truth, in Good-bye, Mr. Chips.

We Freshmen

Freshmen are made to sign up because of the fear that they would lose themselves in the great metropolis of Farmville. If this sad mishap occurs a searching party would be sent out.

Freshmen are more likely to be run over than upper-classmen.

The hike from S. T. C. to Main Street would tire the Freshmen out if taken more than twice a week.

If Freshmen went shopping more than twice a week, prosperity would return sooner, leaving people nothing to gripe about.

If Freshmen went downtown every day, they would become dumber in their classes than the upper-classmen.

The Freshman Personality would be missed around this institution if they stayed downtown all the time.

If the Freshmen could go downtown every day, the town would be overrun by Hampden-Sydney.

In the winter when there are no blossoms Freshmen have to take their place.

Here and There

Dr. Simkins gives a lecture without touching his hair, putting his hands on his hips or in his pockets.

What has happened to Lucy Potter's smile? Could it have departed with an absentee from Hampden-Sydney?

Who is the third person in the McGlothlin - Armstrong case? Could it be "The Lady On the Flying Trapeze?"

Why the smile, "Tac"? Could it be the Prospect of a trip to West Virginia?

Which one of the "Jones girls" goes in for sentimental farewells in front of Student Building?

Just "wee" things please some people. Ask Dot Price.

There's nothing like a fire to add to S. T. C. night life—especially when it means free admission to the movies.

Most S. T. C. girls have fluffy dogs, but Helen Smith has a "kitty." Have you seen the picture in her room?

Why the look of despair, Virginia? Have your duties as chairman of Sophomore production got you down?

Review of the News

Continued from page two

is to be held Feb. 14, they wired the committee: "Understand your prom is to be the 14th. Since many Yales plan to attend ours, imperative to success of ours you change date. Please advise immediately." Some Yale student sent this unofficial reply: "Since Eve it has been the immemorial right of a woman to change her mind. Please advise."

It has been reported that the University of Montreal, in view of a police drive against the lottery, has decided to call off its endowment fund sweepstakes.

Costumes To Typify Mardi Gras Spirit

Continued from page 1

No attempt is made to make money on the dance. The admission is only ten cents per person to cover the expenses of the orchestra and decorations.

Man is losing his teeth—all the better to eat with, my dear.

A prudent man is like a pin—his head keeps him from going too far.—Skull and Bones.

EACO THEATRE

Mats. 4 p. m.; Nights 8 p. m.
Adults 25c; Children 15c
Unless otherwise noted

Thurs.-Fri., Feb. 7-8
Bing Crosby
KITTY CARLISLE
in
'Here is My Heart'
Charlie Chase Comedy and Cartoon
Adults 25c and 35c

Sat., Feb. 9 News
Lew Ayres
"PAT" PATERSON
"Lottery Lover"
'Tom, Tom, the Piper's Son'
Next Mon. and Tues.

Feb. 11 & 12
Claudette Colbert
FRED MacMURRAY
in
"The Gilded Lily"
"Hollywood Rythm"
Adults 25c and 35c

Next Wed., Feb. 13
'Babes in Toyland'
with
Laurel & Hardy, Old King Cole, Little Bo-Peep, etc.
CHAPTER 2
'Tailspin Tommy'

Southside Drug Store
(On the Corner)
Films Developed FREE
If bought at this store

The Schemmel Conservatory of Music
Offers interesting instruction by Artist Teachers, arranged to suit the needs of each pupil. Piano: Elsa Schemmel Fairchild, Marie Schemmel Shroder. Voice: Mattie Spencer Willis. Violin: Richmond Seay of Blackstone College.

Farmville Mfg. Co.
BUILDING MATERIALS
MILLWORK
Farmville, Va.

You Would Love to Have Your Shoes Fixed at
Lovelace Shoe Shop
110 Third Street

ROOM FURNISHINGS
SCHOOL SUPPLIES
CANDIES
ROSES
5-10-25c Store
FARMVILLE, VA.

Overton-Mottley Hdwe. Co.
ELECTRIC GOODS/
Tennis Rackets and balls
Roller Skates

Shannon's
Is Headquarters for the Best
SANDWICHES
—and—
DRINKS
in Farmville!

Special orders for
Teas and Parties
Try our doughnuts
Foley's Bakery
Third Street

WILLIS
The Florist
Flowers for all occastons
PHONES 181-273

Conoco Gas and Oil
Fill up at
Johns Motor Co.
Farmville, Va.

Martin the Jeweler
Gifts of
Lasting Remembrance
317 Main St. Farmville

POTTED MEATS
SANDWICH SPREAD
SANDWICH ROLLS
HOT DOGS
Everything for the Picnic
W. R. Drumeller
Main Street Farmville

Cleaning at reduced rates
State Cleaning Co.
Third Street

SUPPERS AND
SMALL PARTIES
Good Breakfast
Dinners
Suppers
College Tea Room
and
LONGWOOD

Buy Your
CANDY
To Sell at
H. T. Stokes & Co.

G. F. Butcher
High Street
"The Convenient Store"
FOR GOOD THINGS
TO EAT AND DRINK

Electric Shoe Shop
Will Fix Your Shoes
While You Wait
BEST WORKMANSHIP
AND LEATHER USED

The Fashion Shoppe
Reflects the newest styles. All dresses $2.95 up
COATS, SUITS, DRESSES, UNDERWEAR
Silk Hose
Fine quality
49c 59c and 69c

Warner's
"True - Lift"
Brassieres
GIRDLES—CORSELETTES
Come in today and see the many new foundation garments created especially for the college styles.
BALDWIN'S
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

HE'LL LOVE YOU
IN ONE OF THESE NEW SPRING SUITS
They're new—they're different—they're everything you'd want them to be.
Spring Suits $9.45 and $15.97
We're really enthusiastic about the lovely new things we're showing for spring.
GORGEOUS DRESSES AND ACCESSORIES
You won't be asked to buy
DOROTHY MAY STORES
FARMVILLE, VA.

COME TO SEE
"Life Begins at 8:30"
TOMORROW NIGHT

The Rotunda

We Teach To Teach

Plan Your Costume
AND MAKE A DATE
FOR MARDI GRAS

Volume XV. FARMVILLE, VA., FEBRUARY 13, 1934 No. 17

"Messiah" Planned For Founder's Day

Well Known Soloists Will Also Appear

Last year part first of the "Messiah" was presented during the Fiftieth Anniversary proceedings, and the re-action of that memorable concert has lead many to believe that the continuance of the "Messiah" would be worthwhile every year. This year the first part of the Messiah will be followed by special numbers from other Oratorios and Choruses by the College Choir and Choral Club.

The soloists will be Miss Kimball, well known soprano of the Handel and Haydn Society of Boston, Mrs. Marie Murray, soloist with the Boston Symphony Orchestra; Mr. Deroin, a well-known tenor, and John Herrick, the N. B. C. Radio Star, Baritone. The concert will be given Friday evening, March 8th in the auditorium. The program as outlined by Mr. Strick will be given in a future edition of the Rotunda.

Two other features of the Founder's Day program of interest will be a dance program sponsored by Mrs. Fitzpatrick on Friday morning, March 8th, and a free dance for all on Saturday night, March 9th. More detailed plans will be completed later.

Representatives Attend Meeting

Dr. J. L. Jarman, president of the college, and Dr. J. E. Walmsley, head of the history department, attended the annual session of the Association of Virginia Colleges, which was held in Lynchburg on Friday and Saturday, Feb. 8th and 9th. While there they heard an address by Dr. Fred J. Kelly, chief of the division of higher education in the United States Bureau of education. Dr. Kelly was principal speaker on Friday's program, acting as a substitute for Dr. J. W. Studebaker, who was scheduled to speak.

The association considered the general topic, "Co-ordination Among Institutions of Higher Learning in Virginia." Friday morning was devoted to the consideration of college entrance requirements. John C. Simpson, president of Stratford College, Danville, spoke from the point of view of private secondary schools; Fred M. Alexander, Newport News, public secondary schools; and Dean George O. Ferguson, Jr., of University of Virginia, the point of view of the college administrator. Among other speakers were Dean J. E. Williams of V. P. I., Dean W. J. Gifford of Harrisonburg, Dr. J. E. Hillman, president of the association and of Emory and Henry, and Dr. Sydney B. Hall, superintendent of public schools of Virginia.

At the formal dinner held at the Virginia Hotel, Dr. Kelly

Continued on page 4, Col. 3

Head of Home Goes On Short Florida Trip

For first time in a number of years Miss Mary White Cox, head of the Home Department, left Monday for an indefinite period during the school session. She was called to Tampa, Fla., to be with her sister, Mrs. J. G. Nesbit, who is ill. She expects to be there for about two weeks.

Mrs. Shelton, Mrs. Warren and Miss Jane Royall will be in charge of her office in her absence.

JUNIOR CLASSMAN

Miss Virginia Bedford

FarmvilleAlumnae Give Style Show; School Girls Model

The Farmville Alumnae Chapter sponsored a fashion show in the college auditorium Friday evening. The styles varied from the latest fashions of 1820 to the spring fashions of 1935. The college orchestra furnished music before and during the show.

The first portion of the program was introduced and announced by Mrs. Walter Putney. Fashions of an earlier period were modeled. They were as follows: Miss Frances Lancaster, modeling a formal dress worn about 1920; Miss Maud K. Taliferra representing a bride of October, 1869; Della Pope Chambliss wearing a formal dress of 1888; Miss Ottie Craddock, representing a school girl of the '90's; Mrs. Farrar modeling an evening dress worn about 1903; Mrs. Boyd Coyner wearing a wedding dress of 1907; Miss Nan Gilbert wearing a graduating dress of 1908; Miss Helen Draper wearing a graduating dress from this college in 1909; Miss Jane Royall wearing a dress worn by Miss Mary White Cox at school here in 1915; Miss Belle Lovelace wear-

Continued on page 4, Col. 1

Freshmen Plan "57" Varieties

Some one is stealing Mr. Heinz's racket and going in for varieties in unique style. This is to be proclaimed to the school and world at large through the freshmen production which is to be given Mach 1, at 8:15 in the large auditorium.

These freshmen have entitled their production "57 varieties" due to the fact that it includes a "little bit of everything." We have reason to believe that Ann Peple and Miss Jane Royall who are responsible for the originality of the show, are giving us something quite different from anything presented heretofore as a class production.

The dances are in the charge of Mary Joyner Cox; Eleanor Dodson will see to the costumes and Madeline McGlothlin — the staging.

Nancy Pobst has been heard at the piano preparing for what we believe are going to be unusually good musical numbers.

We have seen Julia Ann Waldo, Melwyn Latimer and Elise Turner with their heads together working out details of the business plans.

Everything is set for a fine production with lots of ingenuity, pep, sparkle and rhythm included in those "Fifty-Seven Varieties."

Farmville Herald To Edit Special

During the month of March the Farmville Herald will issue a special edition of their paper containing fifty-six pages. A page and a half will be devoted to S. T. C. The theme of this edition will be:

"Honor for the past, help for the past, and hope for the future."

Advantages for agriculture and industry for this section will be enumerated. It will also contain stories of all businesses operating here. A comprehensive history of Buckingham, Prince Edward, and Cumberland counties will be given.

The first section will be given over to Farmville with a survey of its physical advantages, the industrial possibilities, and its history.

The second section will be a series of agriculturat articles by George W. Corner, Commissioner of Agriculture of Virginia, Calvin T. Wood, and R. D. Michael, of the Extension Division of V. P. I. There will also be other feature articles showing how this section is adapted to raising tobacco, grain, fruit, and poultry.

Section three will be devoted to the educational institutions of this section, particularly stressing the county school system, S. T. C., and Hampden-Sydney College. Past history and present advantages will be pointed out, also.

The fourth section will contain community and religious conditions in the three counties. Mrs. J. L. Bugg is tracing the development of the Presbyterian Church; Dr. J. D. Eggleston of the Episcopal Church; and Mr. H. E. Cromer of the Methodist Church. The history of the Baptist Church will also be given.

A history of Prince Edward County by Mr. H. C. Bradshaw, of Cumberland County by Garland Hopkins of Richmond, and of Buckingham county by William Shepard of Farmville will be found in section five. This is the first time the history has been recorded of Cumberland and Buckingham counties. Mr. E. J. Harrison will give side-lights of Farmville.

The sixth section will contain facts of interest concerning old homes and families of these counties and will have ten sketches of old homes.

Following this edition a book of about 250 pages will be published containing this same material.

Debate Club Names Three New Members

The Debate Club wishes to announce the following new members. Nora Jones, Kathleen Ransan and Gertrude Levy.

Junior Class Recalls Varied Experiences of College Years

Three years ago a large group of rather scared freshmen entered the walls of State Teachers College. After learning our way through the "labarinthine ways" of corridors and halls and becoming adjusted to college life, we decided to organize our class. Tac Waters was choosen president and Miss Bedford as our classman. That year Mardi Gras was inaugurated — what a thrill to attend a real fancy dress ball! Then we gave our, "All-American Cabaret" — food, fun and frolicking!

Our sophomore year we choose Tac again to lead the class. Miss Bedford was asked to guide us in our problems. Of course we will never forget the 50th anniversary of our school which we celebrated in '34. Then came our production "Doin' The Town" — the best ever.

At graduation we lost a large number of fine girls—many are teaching now.

And so—we returned this year —a smaller group—but close together—determined to succeed. Again Tac was choosen to lead us and Miss Bedford to act as classman. None will forget the fun of working together on our Junior show. "Pipe Dreams"—and the many activities in which we participated and are participating as Juniors.

Continued page 4, col. 1

Language Bazaar Proves Success

The annual Valentine Bazaar, sponsored by the Modern Language Department of the college, held from 4:00 to 6:00 this afternoon, was one of the most interesting ever given here. Much time and effort were devoted to making it a successful undertaking. Those present seemed to enjoy the affair and many congratulated both Le Cercle Francais and El Circulo Espagnol for the genuine interest and enthusiasm which was manifested.

The bazaar this year was held in Miss Coulling's art room. The room was decorated to represent France and Spain divided by the Pyrenees. As usual real French and Spanish money was used, and girls dressed in peasant costumes acted as hostesses. To carry out the idea of a real bazaar Mexican ware was on display, and booths of dolls and notebooks were for sale. Tables, imitating the sidewalk cafes of the Rue de la Paix, were provided for those who enjoy a sandwich and a cup of hot chocolate during the afternoon. Besides a program of French and Spanish songs and dances, a special attraction in the form of a "guignol" or puppet show was presented.

A true spirit of gayety and festivity reigned. French and Spanish atmosphere ruled supreme—students attending the bazaar felt that they had truly had a glimpse of old France and Spain.

French, Spanish, and English were spoken since the number of those invited was not limited to those students studying the languagaes. The main purpose of this bazaar, is to stimulate interest in the languages in the student body as well as in the department itself, and to teach the students something about the use of foreign money.

Flat Hat Appears With New Feature

WILLIAMSBURG, Feb. 7.—The first issue of the Flat Hat, weekly publication of the student body of the College of William and Mary, came from the press yesterday. The paper, edited this semester by Dick Velz of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., has joined the United Press and received a special News service for college weeklies.

The local paper is the first one published in a Virginia College to maintain such a service and looks forward to the day when it can be published several times weekly, if not daily on campus. Improvements in the paper include a cartoon service, special photo service and other features not formerly had.

JUNIOR PRESIDENT

Miss "Tac" Waters

Summer Courses To Demonstrate New Curriculum

FARMVILLE, Feb. 9.—In line with the policy of the past few years, the summer session of State Teachers College at Farmville will be built around the needs of the teachers of Virginia, especially as regards the new course of study. In addition to the usual professional and cultural courses, special courses in all departments will bear directly upon the new curriculum of the state.

Because of the need for demonstration of the new setup and new methods in the State, the training school of State Teachers College will be devoted entirely to demonstration work this summer. Instead of practice teachers instructing under the supervision of experienced supervisors, the teachers of the training school division this summer will be trained teachers of long experience who will demonstrate under observation the improved methods of dealing with the problems presented by modern curricula. Method and observation courses given in the college will be devoted to the study and interpretation of the work in the demonstration school, and individual conferences will enable the students to get expert advice on their particular problems.

—Reprinted from Richmond-Times Dispatch.

A. C. E. Gives Party For New Members

The Association of Childhood Education initiated 29 new members on Thursday February 7th. Those girls initiated were: Elizabeth Andrews, Daisy Saunders, Julia Derr, Mary E. Harrison, Katherine Chappell, Martha Gwaltney, Marion Layne, Sallie Rose Chappelle, Frances Johnson, Maude Deekens, Mildred Doris Bebe Russell, Marjorie Bradshaw, Alice Zeigler, Rose Somers, Dorothy Robertson, Ella Arthur Black, Emily Channell, Elise Marshburn, Chic Dortch, Kitty Bass, Virginia Bean, Sue Mallory, Frances Woodhouse Zilla Newsom, Nancy Dodd, Annette Roberts, Katherine Fitzgerald and Jean Willis.

After the initiation a most attractive party was given to both the old and new members. Games were played and unique prizes awarded after which, refreshments consisting of punch and and cakes were served. Laeta Barham told fortunes. Marjorie Booton and Audrey Mattox were in charge of the party. Faculty members present were: Miss Mix, Miss Penny, Miss Moran, and Miss Haynes, advisor.

To be eligible for membership in this organization one must have completed their practice teaching. It strives to foster high endeavor in the fields of primray teaching.

Sophomores Give Musical Comedy

Virginia Jones Is Director of the Production

"Life Begins at 8:30" on Thursday, Feb. 14, or so says the Sophomore class which is producing its annual musical extravaganza under the direction of Virginia Jones. Reports from the final rehearsals indicate a unique production that promises splendid entertainment for the whole student body when the curtains part at 8 o'clock tomorrow night.

Radio City is to be the scene of gay night life in a typical American metropolis. The radio hall is visited by four young couples, Mary Bowles and Elinor Dunham, Chic Dortch and Katherine Hurt, Sue Mallory and Mildred Chandler, Marguerite York and Kathryn Irby. Scenes depict the various forms of entertainment visited by these couples highlights of which show a broadcasting station in operation featuring Mr. Edwin Cralle, baritone, and Miss Virginia Fisher, contralto in several songs and a burlesque show, featuring numerous dances.

Merwyn Gathright is stage manager for the production while Gay Stieffen has taken charge of dance routines with Virginia Baker in charge of costumes.

The talents of the Sophomore class as portrayed in their enterpretation of the newest and most popular song hits, the colorful costumes, clever dances, and the unusual scenery make "Life Begins at 8:30" a production which will be remembered for its color, pep and more real enjoyment than one could ordinarily expect for twenty-five cents, the admission price. Proceeds from the production will constitute the contribution of the class to Founder's Day.

Nearly every member of the Sophomore class in the cast.

When the four couples visit

Continued on page 4, Col. 3

Students To Hear S. Parkes Cadman

The Y. W. C. A. Cabinet and the World Fellowship committee are motoring to Richmond Monday to hear Dr. S. Parker Cadman, who will lecture to the Woman's Club of that city. The subject of his address will be "The World at the Crossroads."

Dr. Cadman, who is regarded as one of the leaders of religious life in this country, is pastor of the Central Congregational Church, Brooklyn, is the author of a number of religious books. Among these are "Ambassadors of God;" "The Religious Uses of Memory," "The Three Religious Leaders of Oxford," "Imagination and Religion," "The Christ of Jesus" and "The Prophets of Israel."

The noted lecturer is heard each Sunday afternoon in a coast-to-coast radio broadcast and his syndicated columns "Questions and Answers" appears in daily papers throughout the country. Dr. Cadman is considered by many one of the most elequent speakers in the English-speaking world.

The girls going to hear him are: Helen Smith, Martha Glenn Davis, Katherine Walton, Louise Hyde, Jestine Cutshall, Marguerite York, Agnes Crockett, Hazel Smith, Margoret Clark, Carmen Clark, Meg Herndon, Sue Waldo, Lucy Potter, Virginia Leonard, Bonnie Lane, Louise Gathright, Julia Derr, and Marion Umberger.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Published by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

MEMBER
Associated Collegiate Press
1934 Collegiate Digest 1935
MADISON WISCONSIN

Staff

Lelia Mattox ..... Editor
Evelyn Massey ..... Associate Editor
Lena Mae Gardner ..... Business Manager

Board of Editors

Miss Jane Royall ..... Alumnae
Florence Sanford ..... Make-up
Susan Gresham ..... Headlines
Kathryne Cotten ..... Literary
Birdie Wooding, Emma Bingham, Bess McGlothlin ..... Editorials
Anne Putney ..... World News
Anne Diggs ..... Social
Kathleen Ranson, Lelia Sanford ..... Sports
Belle Lovelace, Amis Montgomery ..... Features

Proof Readers

Elizabeth Walton, Dorothy Deans, Agnes Bondurant

Managers

Alva Sawyer ..... Asst. Business
Maude Rhodes, Lila Jacob, Elsie Cabell ..... Circulation

Assistants and Reporters

Bonnie Lane, Minnie Smith, Mary Lee Newcomb, Elsie Cabell, Mary Adeline McGlothlin, Katherine Coleman, Elizabeth Mann, Grace Allen Pittard, Margaret Farrar

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 13, 1935

St. Valentine's Day

The festival of hearts, the days of romance is the fourteenth of February, St. Valentine's Day. Now it is a day of social pleasantry, marked by parties and the exchange of valentines, but in olden times the customs of the day were taken quite seriously by young men and women. It was an ancient saying, alluded to by Geoffrey Chaucer, that birds choose their mates on St. Valentine's Day; and it was a general belief that the first person of the opposite sex that one met on that day was to be one's "valentine" for the year; perhaps for life. One young damsel wrote in 1754, "I lay abed and shut my eyes all morning till he came to our house, for I would not have seen another man before him for all the world."

Sometimes the people held a lottery on St. Valentine's eve, when the names of the girls were put into a box and were drawn at random by the young men. Then each pair would exchange gifts, and each would be the other's "valentine" for the year.

So far as can be learned St. Valentine had nothing to do with all this. There are seven St. Valentine's from Italy, France, Belgium, Spain, and Africa, and February 14 is the saint's day for all of them. It is thought that the customs of the day originated in modified form from an ancient Roman festival called the Lupercalla, which occurred on February 15 and was something like a carnival.

Mardi Gras or a Dance?

It seems unfortunate that a number of students at S. T. C. will allow the lack of putting forth a small amount of effort and thought to keep them from enjoying themselves on the night of March 5, when Pi Gamma Mu is sponsoring a school Mardi Gras.

Three years ago, Pi Gamma Mu decided to institute an annual Mardi Gras celebration. They went to a great deal of trouble, expense, and expended much effort to make our S. T. C. Mardi Gras as much a small replica of the real celebration in New Orleans as possible. Since the celebration lasts several days in New Orleans, they were forced to combine some of the best features of several days' celebration into one big night.

There has been a great deal of discussion because Pi Gamma Mu has decided that no girl will be allowed on the dance floor unless costumed, and it is hoped that the boys will enter into the spirit of the occasion and will come similiarly clothed. In past years, girls were allowed on the dance floor who were not wearing costumes. Realizing that it was unfair for some of the students to go to some expense and trouble to procure costumes in order that they might attend the dance while others who have gone to no trouble should be allowed to also attend the dance, those in charge have decided to strictly inforce the rule of being costumed.

In order that the Queen and her Court who will be clad in evening clothes may be distinguished from the rest of the throng, it was decided to bar anyone else wearing evening clothes.

It seems very unlikely that a girl who really wishes to attend the dance will not be able to secure a costume in some manner. If she does not have one at home for which she can write or know of one which she can borrow, she can make one. Making a costume does not necessarily entail a great expenditure of time nor money as the costume can be based on something which the girl already has, such as an old May Day costume that can be recut. It can be attractive and one which a girl would not be ashamed to wear.

Many of us will have a gay time at Mardi Gras. It is to be hoped that no one will let a mere costume be a stumbling block to a good time!

The question resolves into this: do we want a fiesta which is a Mardi Gras—small but authentic in detail of spirit, setting, and costume; or do we want just another school dance?

Honoring Our Heroes

At this season of the year we turn in grateful memory to two of our national heroes. We celebrate the birthdays of Abraham Lincoln and George Washington. It is appropriate as we pay our tributes of respect to the memory of these heroes that we should reflect upon the qualities which contribute to their greatness. The more we study the career of Washington, the plainer it becomes that his position in history is due to sterling qualities in character rather than to technical expertness or brilliance of mind. "There have been greater generals in the field and statesmen in the cabinet in our own and other nations," says James Truslow Adams. "There has been no greater character." "When we think of Washington," continues the historian Adams, "it is not as a military leader, nor as an executive or diplomat. We think of the man who by sheer force of character held a divided and disorganized country together until victory was achieved, and who after peace was won still held his disunited countrymen by their love and respect and admiration for himself until a nation was welded into an enduring strength and unity . . . When the days were blackest, men clung to his unfaltering courage as to the firm ground in a rising flood."

Abraham Lincoln, too, was a man who was remembered through the ages not because he was a genius but because he was a man of common sense coupled with broad sympathy and magnanimity of a sort which is seldom found. The same thing may be said of still another hero, honored at first merely in the South, but now respected and loved throughout the nation. Robert E. Lee, than whom our country has produced no finer character, is, as the years go by, achieving a firm place among our national heroes.

The American people are fortunate in having as national heroes men whose greatness depends upon qualities of character rather than upon marvelous technical or intellectual achievements.— Reprint from American Observer.

In these few lines we wish to express the sympathy of the student body to Nancy Beard and Dot Morris in their recent bereavements.

Alumnae News

Brumfield-Shields

Of particular interest was the beautiful wedding of Miss Betty Shields, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Southard Shields, to Mr. Robert Thornton Brumfield, son of Dr. and Mrs. William Andrew Brumfield. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. C. Tucker on Thursday evening, Feb. 7, at the home of Mrs. Wallace Gray Dunnington, near Farmville.

Mrs. Heatwole Is Chairman of Program

Mrs. C. J. Heatwole, formerly Miss Sue Porter, was chairman of the program on Feb. 6 at the Ginter Park Woman's Club when Madame Pierre Ponafidine, American wife of a Russian nobleman spoke on her "Personal Adventures and Reminiscences." She was heard at 3:30 o'clock at the Lewis Ginter Community Building.

Miss Alma Joyce

Funeral services were held at Stuart Feb. 8 for Miss Alma Joyce, member of a prominent family of that town, who died Feb. 7 from the after effects of influenza. She was a member of the graduating class of Farmville of the year, 1931, and a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Joyce.

Housewives League Hear Miss Sinclair

Miss Georgiana Sinclair, director of the Social Service Bureau, spoke on "The Problems of the Bureau and How They Are Solved" at the meeting Wednesday of the Richmond Branch of the National Housewives League, which was held at 11 o'clock at the Mayo Memorial Church House.

Pilcher-Graves

The wedding of Miss Virginia Graves, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Graves of Roanoke, to Dr. John A. Pilcher of Roanoke, took place on Feb. 7 at 4 p. m. at Calvary Baptist Church in Roanoke. Miss Lucille Graves, sister of the bride was her only attendant. Dr. and Mrs. Pilcher left immediately after the ceremony for a Central American cruise.

"Snow-Bound"

Virginia Teachers have little cause to complain would be Miss Edith Marshall's opinion—that is, as far as the weather is concerned. From Pittsfield, New Hampshire, Miss Marshall writes: "Last Friday my sister wrote me that Lynchburg was having very cold weather, that the thermometer registered only three above zero. Well, it registered only thirty-eight below here that morning, and as I went to school at a quarter of nine the morning before it was twenty-eight below. Also, we have a foot of snow that we should be glad to spare to some of the Southern children for recreational purposes. It fell over a week ago but has not melted noticeably yet. And did we have drifts! Why, I could fully appreciate "Snow-Bound." With all of the equipment for breaking out roads in the present day we found it impossible to have school for two days. I could get out as soon as a path was broken to the door, but some of the youngsters were not out for almost a week."

It Isn't Fair

For "Toot" Walton to have so much sense.

For George to have all of Tac's affection.

For Louise Walmsley to be so swell.

For Margaret Farrar to be so versatile.

For Mary Gilmer to be so successful in fooling the student body.

Did Mary think of it alone or did Bob help her?

Junior Staff

Editor ..... Kitty Hoyle
Associate Editor ..... Hazel Smith
Headlines ..... Billie Roundtree
Humor ..... Hazel Smith
Sports ..... Frances Yester
World News ..... Caroline Byrd
Features ..... Grace Eubank
Proof Readers ..... Doris Moore
Winnie Frances Eubank
Circulation Mgrs. .. Doris Coates
Addie Norfleet
Reporters and assistants: Lucy Potter, Louise Gathright, Margaret Clark, Billy Wilkinson, Claudia Harper, Agnes Crockett, Elizabeth Huse.

Keyhole Ramblings

And so—another week's happenings to relate by ye old key hole peeper—

Orchids (says Winchell) to the "Gilded Lily" for being a very, very fine show—and didn't you walk out of ye old Eaco expecting to find snow on the ground?—pass the popcorn—we wonder where all the plaits have gone—a month ago everyone was wearing one—now—well you can almost be sure they're natural—

Three young maids of Farmville turn their faces westward next week-end—we're heard lots about those West Virginia men—so watch out girls—

The editor wishes to create an endowment fund—beginning with the munificent fund of one cent—to buy more clothes for such folks as Liz Huse, Jean McClure and Elinor Dodson—don't you miss hearing Kay Kaiser? Rumors were to the effect that he would provide sweet music at Tech next week-end—but alack! and aday!—'t'was not true—Bert Lown and Johnny Feathers will dispense the danceable notes—

And so on the same trend we are reminded that a large number of our girls will attend these dances—Ann Johnson and Nancy Pobst will be back on their old stomping grounds . . . . And are we in a twit about Mardi Gras—ye Editor feels called upon to say that a Mardi Gras without costumes is—well! . . . . Only last week we noticed a note in the Tiger to the effect that many good shows are ruined by the cute cracks of S. T. C. girls—may we retalliate Mr. Editor—with a cold glare and at least we don't carry out our "ratting" in the theatre! (Catty! Catty!) . . . . .

Have you ever noticed Bonnie Powell's striking resemblance to Joan Crawford — also Martha Nottingham's to Sylvia Sidney — and, of course, Jestine's need not be mentioned. (Incidentally), church is worth going to—eh, Jestine?) . . . .

Orchids to the cutest joke I've seen—here 'tis—"Historic Moments"—when Stonewall Jackson heroically refused to wear a "Union" suit—get it? . . . .

What ho! Cotillion is March 30th—so sad about the Hampden-Sydney lads who will be away on Spring vacation! We'll miss you all . . . . No more . . . . See ya!

Review of the News

The Treasury told a nervous world Monday night that regardless of the Supreme Court gold decision it did not have to worry about the dollar abroad and what happens to it. As markets, unable to fathom successive delays in the announcement of the high tribunal's verdict, came to an almost complete standstill. Secretary Morgenthau disclosed that the $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund had been and would be used to manage the dollars foreign value.

On February 11 the Senate passed and sent to the House Senator U. L. Spence's Bill appropriating an emergency fund of $3,000,000 for immediate highway repairs and improvements in North Carolina. The bill, however, passed only after more than an hour of onesided debate in its favor.

Sovereignity over that part of Madden Road passing through the territory of Panama is wanted by the United States it is learned from a reliable source. The road is of concrete and was built in connection with the construction of Madden Dam. Panama has claimed that the part within her territory should revert to that government on the completion of the dam, "Political jurisdiction" over all the road by the United States has been recognized up until now. It is learned the United States offered to build a road from France Field to Cativa in exchange for sovereignty over Madden Road, but the proposals were not acceptable to Panama.

Former President Herbert Hoover is again paying a visit in the east. This time he is in New York attending a meeting of the board of directors of the New York Life Insurance Company, to which he was elected recently.

LITERARY COLUMN

"Today is the tomorrow you were worrying about yesterday, and all is well."

The Year's at the Spring

The year's at the spring
And day's at the morn;
Morning's at seven;
The hillside's dew-pearled;
The lark's on the thorn:
God's in His heaven—
All's right with the world!
—Robert Browning...

Invictus

Out of the night that covers me,
Black as the pit from pole to pole,
I thank whatever gods may be
For my unconquerable soul.

In the fell clutch of circumstance
I have not winced nor cried aloud.
Under the budgeonings of chance
My head is bloody, but unbowed.

Beyond this place of wrath and tears
Looms but the Horror of the shade,
And yet the menace of the years
Finds and shall find me, unafraid.

It matters not how straight the gate,
How charged with punishment the scroll,
I am the master of my fate;
I am the captain of my soul.
—William Earnest Henley.

The World Is Too Much With Us

The world is too much with us, late and soon,
Getting and spending, we lay waste our powers,
Little we see in nature that is ours;
We have given our hearts away, a sordid boon
This sea that bares her bosom to the moon,
The winds that will be howling at all hours,
And are upgathered now like sleeping flowers,
For this, for everything, we are out of tune;
It moves us not.—Great God! I rather be
A Pagan suckled in a creed outworn,
Tonight I, standing on this pleasant lea,
Have glimpses that would make one less forlorn,
Have sight of Proteus rising from the sea,
Or hear old Triton blow his wreathed horn.
—William Wordsworth.

Epilogues from "Asolando"

At the midnight in the silence of the sleeptime,
When you set your fancies free,
Will they pass to where-by death, fools, think, imprisoned.
How he lies who once so loved you, who you loved so,
Pity Me?

Oh, to love so, be so loved, yet so mistaken!
What had I on earth to do
With the slothful, with the mawkish, the unmanlpy?
Like the aimless, helpless, hopeless, did I drivel.
Bring Who?
One who never turned his back but marched breast forward,
Never doubted clouds would break,
Never dreamed, though right were worsted, wrong would triumph,
Held we fall to rise, are baffled to fight better,
Sleep to wake.

No, at noonday in the bristle of man's worktime
Greet the unseen with a cheer!
Bid him forward, breast and back as either should be,
"Strive and thrive" cry "speed—fight on, fare ever
There as here!"
—Robert Browning.

Dr. R. E. Blackwell, 80, president of Randolph-Macon College, was one of four persons injured in three traffic accidents in Richmond, Feb. 10.

SOCIALS

Although there were no special set of dances this past week-end, an unusually large number of girls left school. Some went to Richmond. They were: Martha Glenn Davis, Audrey Hawthorne, Catherine Zimmerman, Evelyn Massey, Anna Maie Campbell, Lucille Moseley, Elsie Cabell, Kathleen Powell, Christine Childrey, Irene Parker, Doris Moore, and Maude Rhodes.

Those who went home were: Dot Glover, Sue and Ella Mallory, Mary Lee Powell, Louise Gathright, June Allen, Irene Bailey, Louise Bailey, Margaret Bailey, Leslie Bradshaw, Nancy Leigh Bland, Kitty Chappell, Catherine Crews, Emily Channell, Juanita Callis, Carter Belle Munt, Bobbie Mattox, Sara Mattox, Mary Elizabeth Wood, Nancy Wall, Sylvia Dunnavant, Kitty Hoyle, Rose Marie Hunter, Pattie Jeffreys, Valla Nimmo, Ada Virginia Pollack, Charlotte Rice, Marion Shoffner, Kathryn Switzer, and Elizabeth Sutton.

A large number of girls went to South Hill. They were: Mary Lynn Thomas, Bessie Hary, Chic Dortch, Mary Bowles, Virginia Bean, Minnie Smith, Amis Montgomery, Edith Hart, Nell Boswell, Ruth Montgomery, Elizabeth Butterworth, and Rose Puller.

Other places that were visited were: Drakes Branch by Elizabeth Trent; Alexandria by Dorothy Rust; Amelia by Maud Deekens; Altavista by Virginia Doughty and Susan Lane; Crewe by Mary Jane Pendleton, Frances Farris, J. Cutshall and Merwyn Gathright; Blacksburg by Phyllis Ferguson; Lynchburg by Katherine Milby, Georgie Custis, Leah Davis, Henrietta Eichelberger, Virginia Martin, and Dorothy Wise; Keysville by Mary Denny and Audrey Mattox; Kenbridge by Rose Walton, Ruth Showalter, and Katherine Young; Lexington by Dorothy Hutcheson, Elizabeth Hart, Frances Jameson, and Sylvia Somers. Brooks Wheeler had as her guests in Arrington, Helen Harris, Fannie Bosworth, and Eleanor Wade. Lloyd Kelly went to Covington; Patsy Nottingham to Newport News; Bebe Russell, Gertrude Levy, Patsy and Deane Saunders went to Bedford.

FreshmanCommission Gives Silent Wedding

The Freshman Commission aided by other members of the Freshman Class carried out a very unusual idea for Sing last Saturday night—a silent wedding.

The procedure was very comical, and it was with great difficulty and trouble that the poor bride was finally wedded to her wee fiance. The bride's parents with all of their other offspring were there in full regalia. The organist and soloist, in their respective ways, added the finishing touch to the atmosphere.

Members of the Commission include: Nan Seward, chairman; Libby Morris, Virginia Agee, Carolyn Upshur, Ducy Davies, Margaret Russell, Boogie Parker, Buck Pleasants, Frances Robinson, Ruth Montgomery, Kathleen McCann, and Bobbie Brooke.

Others participating in Sing were Alice Nelson, Frances Maxey, the Hubbard twins, Ruth Phelps, Jennie Belle Gilliam, Grace Allan Pittard, Madeline McGlothlin, Edith Hammack, Mary Joyner Cox, Ethel Doughtry, Blanche Lane, Isabell Plummer, Jack Johnson, Lib Harris, Edith Nicholls, Eugenia Jolly, Fran Parker, and Emily Guy.

Johnny Long and his Duke Collegians will furnish the music for the Pan-Hellenic dances to be held at Randolph-Macon College on Feb. 22 and 23.

Nearly one-sixth of American University under-graduates state they would not bear arms in case the United States was invaded, according to the semi-final returns of the Literary Digest College Peace Poll conducted among the students of 115 leading universities.

Sororities Entertain Pledges at Banquets

Sigma Sigma Sigma entertained their pledges at an informal dinner in the banquet room of the college tea room last night.

Place cards in the form of purple violets the sorority flower and snap dragons added to the attractiveness of the table.

Those present in addition to the chapter members and pledges were Miss Pauline Camper and Miss Martha Ann Laing.

The Mu Omega Sorority held its annual pledge banquet in the banquet room of the tea room on the evening of Feb. 9th.

Those present in addition to the old girls and the pledges were: Miss Leola Wheeler, Miss Helen Draper, Mrs. Fitzpatrick, Josie Spencer Cook and Janet Harris.

The valentine motif was carried out in both decorations and program.

The Gamma Theta Sorority held its pledge banquet or Saturday evening, February 9th, at Longwood.

Those present in addition to the old girls and pledges were: Ann Davis, Kitty Waters, Welty, Clara MacKenzie, Lucille Tiller, Martha Moore, Margaret Parker, Jean McClung, Virginia Riddick, Martha Brothers, Margaret Woodard, Frances Dorin, Kitty Woodson, Tony Jones, Lelia Lovelace, Miss Mix, Miss Stubbs, Mrs. Waters and Mrs. Knaub.

Spring Fashion Hints

Spring is just around the corner and we want to have some clothes in tune with the weather.

The first suggestion is to add a touch of light color. White accents on black frocks are good. White collars, jabots, cuffs and gilets enliven things.

Crinkle weaves of dark colored grounds with dusty pastels and dark colored grounds with clear primary colors are seen in the smartest shops.

Stripes are making a very strong bid to replace plaids.

Solid colors for Spring show a decided grayed note. Smoky pink and blue are being used. These shades are exquisitely worked out in prints as well as in solids.

The texture for Spring fabrics is divided into two schools: Smooth group, satin and taffeta: Rough group, crepes and materials with crinkles pronounced.

The cotton prints have formalized patterns and emphasis is on texture and interest on stripes.

Rough textured cottons, crash, tweeds, and semulated peasant linen, will play a large role for Spring and Summer suits.

This is a good season for tailored clothes.

Knox is the Hatter.

Chiffon sets the music.

Campus Comments

We Wonder Why?

Belle Lovelace spent a quiet week-end at school for a change?

Kitty Bass is so unconscious?

There were so many freshmen down town Thursday afternoon?

Weddings seem to put notions in "Rudy's" head. Watch out Tib!

Laeta "got in on" half of Mabel's box of candy?

"Marthas" seem to be the preference of Burch Douglass?

Zell Hopkins is so interested in boxing?

Jean McClure has taken up the fad of washing gloves?

The "Rountree" family doesn't go in for light housekeeping in Farmville?

There are so many "coy" S. T. C. girls in Shannon's this week? Maybe they'll be successful?

Grace Eubank likes to roam so much? Think of your dear roommate.

Ted Shawn and his ensemble of men dancers will be presented at State Teachers College at East Radford on April 16, at 8:15 p. m.

Forgive Us Our Trespasses

Houghton Mifflin Company—126 pages. Price $2.50.

In reading this book, at first we are inclined to think that Lloyd C. Douglas is an atheist. However, after the strange and rare awakening of a human soul, we are convinced that the author is conscious of an All Loving, All Forgiving Father.

It would be difficult to find a theme more inspiring, especially to adolescent youth, or one better suited to the talents of "Magnificent Obsession" and "Green Light" than that of "Forgive Us Our Trespasses."

Douglas' wonderful description power and his choice of words are made more fascinating by his unusual but interesting style of writing. He ends an episode at the beginning of the chapter; then he proceeds to begin the story and carry one back to the end again.

Lloyd C. Douglas' character, his style of writing, and his ability to paint word pictures are wonderfully woven together to make "Forgive Us Our Treaspasses" a clean, hopeful, inspiring novel.

Denny, the hero of the novel, was born to hatred. He not only despised the man who deserted his too trusting young mother while she gave her life to bring his child into the world, but also, came into the world in savage revolt against the whole universe.

At the age of twenty-five, he had been a successful reporter, typesetter, football star, and columnist. His college career, which had begun in a small midwestern school, was abruptly ended when he blackened the eyes of the Y. M. C. A. Secretary to save the moral of his college president. This expulsion gave him more cause and more time to sharpen and use his deadly weapon—the pen. Until—

It seems so unreal and almost unbelievable that a human soul asleep for so long to everything that comes from love and being loved could be suddenly awakened by the opening of a secret drawer in an old walnut desk.

Seniors To Conduct Prayers This Week

The Seniors are in charge of Prayers this week. The girls who will lead the services are:

Monday—Frankie McDaniel.
Tuesday—Lena MacGardner.
Wednesday—Jean McClure.
Thursday—Katherine Young.

Short prayer services are held immediately after supper each night with the exception of Saturday and Sunday nights.

The chief duty of the president of the student body is:

1. To ventilate the auditorium before chapel each morning.
2. To pick up trash in the gym.
3. To chaperone Miss Mary.

99 44-100 per cent pure is used to advertise:

1. Snowdrift.
2. Boar's Head Ale.
3. Bayer's Asperin.
4. Ivory Soap.
5. Little Women.

Goodbye Mr. Chips is:

1. Name of a book by James Hilton
2. What Roosevelt said to the Chinese ambassador on April 4, 1934

Going Away? . . . . . .
Travel by
GREYHOUND
Safe—Comfortable—Economical

S. A. Legus
TAILOR
CLEANING
PRESSING
REPAIRING
Phone 203

ADDLEGRAMS

Lynn Fountanne is:

1. The name of the fountain of youth sought by Ponce de Leon
2. A famous American actress
3. The name of a famous fountain located in India
4. The name of the grandmother in Jaina

A hot dog may mean:

1. Warm feet
2. A form of bologna
3. A dog born in the tropics

Illy means:

1. Very, very ill
2. Rather ill
3. Bad

Mardi Gras is:

1. A grass grown in Florida
2. The newest cocktail in the best speakeasies on Broadway
3. A term of endearment for mother
4. The pre-Lental festival held in New Orleans

Bobby pins mean:

1. A team for English policemen who have long legs
2. The name of the latest Nobel prize winner
3. A type of pin used in the hair
4. Tin pins which Bobby plays with

Salamander is:

1. A salad for which "Mandy" is well noted
2. A species of the lizard
3. The heroine of a Shakespearean play

Man-of-War may mean:

1. Ulysses
2. A term given to any man who fought on the Western front
3. Carter Glass
4. A vessel constructed for defense in war

The right way to start an automobile is to:

1. Put one foot on the running board and shove with the other
2. Jump up and down on the front seat
3. Put the key in the ignition and whisper "Start",

Moraine is:

1. A kind of silk cloth
2. What the farmers want during a drought
3. A person of subnormal intelligence
4. A line of rock and gravel at the edges and base of glaciers

Morphology is:

1. The theory of immortality advocated by Dante
2. A kind of morphine recommended by doctors
3. Science of the forms of the organs of animals and plants

Pediatrics may mean:

1. The science that treats of hygienic care of children
2. That branch of medecine dealing with diseases of the feet
3. The scientific term for fallen arches
3. An impediment of speech

C. E. Chappell Co.
Stationery, Blank Books and School Supplies
Cigars, Cigarettes and Soda
Farmville, Virginia

Rice's Shoe Store
Street and Dress Shoes
Dancing Slippers Dyed
Correct fits our specialty 1t

Kleanwell
CLEANERS AND TAILORS
Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling ladies garments
Main Street, opposite Post office
Phone 98

Gray's Drug Store
QUALITY—PRICE—SERVICE
Come in and Get Acquainted
We are glad to have you with us!
Farmville, Virginia

Mack's
BARBER AND BEAUTY SHOP
323 Main Street
We use the Frederick Method
Hair cutting and thinning a Specialty

PRINTING . . . . .
When you think of Printing think of
—The—
FARMVILLE HERALD

JUST RECEIVED
LOVELY NEW SPRING OXFORDS
Ghillie ties in two-tone tans, beiges and solid white. For campus, sports and dress wear.
$1.95 $2.95 $3.95
Lovely new Spring Suits
Popular bi-swing backs $9.95
THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE
Farmville's Best Place to Shop!

—FOR—
EVERYTHING—SCHOOL SUPPLIES, CANDIES, FRUITS, CONFECTIONS, ETC.
GO TO . . . . .
GILLIAM'S
Open 'till 9:00 p. m.

SHOES
For All
Occasions

Evening—Dress—Sports—Street Wear
$2.95 to $5.95
DAVIDSON'S

ARE YOU INTERESTED?
JACKETS of Grain and Suede Cloth and Wool SWEATERS.
We are showing the season's newest. Come in. We are glad to show—Just what we have—and the line is very attractive.
VERSER'S

PHILCO RADIO
World's largest manufacturers of Radio
A complete line
Watch repairing a specialty
Sheet Music—Strings for Instruments
LYNN, The Main Street Jeweler

YOUR NEIGHBOR,
The Weyanoke Beauty Salon
invites you to drop in and take advantage of their Special prices now in effect.
Permanent Waves—$4 & $6 Shampoo & Fingerwave 75 cents
Manicure 40 cents
Indiivdual, courteous, efficient service and an established reputation for dependability and satisfaction. That is our guarantee, and your assurance of perfect workmanship.

COLLEGE SPORT SLANTS

Basket Ball

Wake Forest stepped ahead of Randolph-Macon last Thursday night ending the game with a three point lead, 27-24.

The Yellow Jackets trounced American University by a 41-11 score.

Navy downs Cavaliers in hard fought encounter, 38-25.

Richmond College beat Tigers 47-30.

Boxing

It looks as if Virginia has been training some fine punchers in the boxing ring this year. They have been victorious in three out of their four meets, winning from V. P. I. and North Carolina and dropping a close meet to V. M. I. The big surprise came when the Cavaliers downed Navy. What team will come out on top in the finals this year?

Swimming

Tankmen from many schools are now putting in some heavy practice. Several meets are scheduled for this week.

Martha Putney Heads S. T. C. Varsity Quint

Twelve members of the varsity squad accompanied by Miss Olive T. Ber, coach, leave Friday at 12:30 for Harrisonburg to compete with Harrisonburg S. T. C. in our first basketball game of the season.

We know that in playing Harrisonburg we are being opposed by a strong team which has already seen several victories this season.

Martha Putney, a senior, who has been outstanding heretofore in athletics has been recently chosen to head the team.

Farmville Alumnae Give Style Show

Continued from page 1

ing a street dress of 1915; Miss Anne Irving wearing an evening dress of about 1910.

Nell Oakey Ryan, as an old maid school teacher, taught an effective tap dance to her willing and eager pupils who were Lelia Mattox, Helen Smith, Janice White, Kat Young, and Jessica Jones in scene two.

Scene three depicted the lounging pajamas of many styles, shades, and materials to be worn in a college lounge. These were modeled by Lucy Potter, Lucille Moseley, Frances Lee Parker, Bonnie Powell, Ducky Davies, Isabelle Plummer, Dot Rust, and Eleanor Dodson.

Smart spring boucle suits, tennis clothes, street dresses, riding habits, and golf clothes were modeled in scene four.

Formal tea dresses, varied types of evening dresses, afternoon dresses, tailored spring suits, coats and street dresses were effectively modeled in scene five.

Between scenes James Grainger played two flute solos, "Siciliano" by Bach and "Serenade" by Titl.

Mr. Coyner expressed the appreciation of the alumnae to Baldwin's store for lending clothes for the fashion show and for the co-operation of individuals which made the show possible.

Girls from S. T. C. who acted as models in the various scenes of the show were: Margaret Farrar, Lucy Potter, Jean McClure, Belle Lovelace, Anne Irving, Blanche Lane, Wycliff Scott, Kitty Roberts, Grace Eubank, Caroline Jones, Kitty Jamison, Tib Simmerman, Sarah Beck, and Mary Bowles.

Among the numbers played by the orchestra under the direction of Miss Lizabeth Purdom were: "Tristigan" by Losey, "Melody in F" by Rubenstein, "Cradle Hymn" by Rousseau, "German Dance" by Schubert and "Dancing Moonbeams" by Baumann.

Junior Recalls Varied College Experiences

Continued from page one

Now our faces are turned to the future. With the donning of caps and gowns we will meet our last year here together. What is in store for us—fresh freshmen, sophisticate sophomores, jubilant juniors and—?

Among the Alumnae

Elizabeth Malcolm, honor student of the graduating class of 1817, has had a literary and journalistic career which has more than fulfilled the predictions made for her during her two years' training at S. T. C. Here she made outstanding contributions to the school's publications, winning the "Focus" cup in 1917, and writing a class poem of unusual beauty and promise.

Teaching during the following years (she married during the fall of 1917), she did not relinquish her ambitions for higher academic achievement and literary excellence. A few years later she received her degree from the University of South Carolina. Meanwhile, from "Arcady," the South Carolina farm where she, her husband, and baby daughter lived while he was engaged in business in Columbia, Elizabeth Malcolm Durham wrote much of the verse which was to be published by the Pandora Press in 1927 under the title, Price of Wisdom. Included in the volume are poems which had received awards of merit from the University of South Carolina and the Southern Poetry Society.

"The Nordic Gesture," an ode published in 1923 by the Poetry Society of South Carolina, received the Southern Prize of one hundred dollars in the regional contest which was judged by Miss Harriet Monroe. While she was a student at the University of South Carolina, a short poem, "Ghosts," won for her the Carolinian Medal awarded by that institution in 1920; "La Belle Vie" received the Skylark Prize for Undergraduate Verse in 1921. Two sonnet-sequences, "Perspective," and "Departure From Arcady," won honorable mention in Blindman contests conducted by the state poetry society. Other verse included in the Price of Wisdom volume are reprinted from Poetry, A Magazine of Verse; The Carolinian, yearbook of the Poetry Society of South Carolina; The Gray Goose, Sunday page of the Columbia State; The Conning Tower, F. P. A.'s column in the New York World, as well as from the columns of the morning and evening papers of Wilmington, Delaware.

Meanwhile, having moved to Wilmington, the young writer did not desert her profession of teaching, in which she was consistently rated "A" while she contributed regularly to the columns of an evening paper. She did not abandon the profession for which her Alma Mater had specifically prepared her until after much of her work had been published in the Philadelphia "Public-Ledger. She resigned her position in order to hold a full-time position on the Philadelphia newspaper.

For more than six years, Elizabeth Malcom, under the name "Vivian Shirley," has written daily and special weekly features for the Evening Ledger, covering current local topics, persons promiment in the news, historical shrines, criminal cases — live subjects which she treats authoritatively and interestingly. Indeed such features were written from first hand information which she gained in interviews and through participation in extra-reportorial activities: she mounted skyscrapers in steam-shovels, rode motorcycles into the camps of the National Guardsmen, visited criminals in their cells—once acted as hostess in a New York night club, with guards supplied by the mayor of the city for her protection, in order to give her public the facts in each case. Naturally she is sought as a speaker by various women's organizations; and she is popular with the young literati of Philadelphia. One early journalistic venture from which she derived much fun was her column, "Chatting by Mail with Vivian Shirley"; since it was syndicated, she pretended to be thrilled over the fact that she was probably averting catastrophes in in numerous lives. For even "Miss Mary" would approve the sage advice which she gave the lovelorn: it was the essence of wisdom. Three years ago she began writing full-page features for the Sunday Ledger, informative, timely, vigorous articles on matters of economic and social importance to women.

Elizabeth Malcolm is a loyal alumna of Farmville, never failing to praise her Alma Mater for the excellent teacher—and other —training which she gives her daughters and for the deservedly high place she occupies among teahcers' colleges. When a classmate chances to pass her way, she always ends her reminiscences by saying, "You know, I'd like to send Elizabeth Junior to Farmville when she's through high school!" Young Elizabeth has already won honors for herself in a Friends' School in Philadelphia, and has assisted an editor of Russian fairy stories in converting legends into appropriate language for American children. At present she is studying languages in a private school in Germany.

Radio Highlights

February 6-11

All P. M.

Wednesday

7:00—WEAF, Jack Denny and Orchestra.
8:30—WEAF, Wayne King's orchestra.
WJZ — Lanny Ross and Orchestra.
9:30 — WABC, Gracie Allen's Adventures.
10:00—WEAF, Guy Lombardo's Orchestra.
12:30—WEAF, Stan Myers and Orchestra.

Thursday

WEAF, Hal Kemp's Orchestra.
8:00—WRVA, Rudy Valee's Orchestra.
11:30—WMBG, Cab Calloway's Orchestra.
12:00—WEAF, Henry King and Orchestra.

Friday

8:00—WMBG, St. Louis Blues.

Saturday

9:00—WEAF, Rose Bampton and Songs.
12:00—WABC, Johnny Green's Orchestra.

Sunday

7:30—WRVA, Joe Penner.
10:00—WEAF, Jane Froman Orchestra.
WABC, Wayne King's Orchestra.
12:00—WABC, Cab Calloway Orchestra.

Monday

8:00—WRVA, Corn Cob Pipe Club.
WJZ, Jan Garber's Supper Club.

Freshman Tag Day

Thursday, Feb. 14, is Freshman Tag Day. During the day members of the freshman class will sell small red hearts. Any amount may be given for the privilege of wearing one of these tags. Upper classmen are requested to support the freshmen in this drive.

Representatives Attend Meeting

Continued from page 1

proposed to the association a national system for the co-ordination of education, without federal control. Although there are many associations in the country, and others in the states, of education groups, there is no single organization in which higher education as a whole has a voice.

Sophomores Give Musical Comedy

Continued from page 1

Sherry's Candy Shop in Radio City the boxes of candy become very much alive and offer excellent entertainment. From Sherry's the group wanders into Bretanes Book Shop, where they find books portrayed by models from life. Each model gives a true interpretation in terms of interesting and individual action.

Books and candies having been disposed with the toy shop is the next stop. Again the four couples find entertainment and so on through Radio City.

EACO THEATRE

Mats. 4 p. m.: Nights 8 p. m.
Adults 25c; Children 15c
Unless otherwise noted

Wed., Feb. 13
Robert Young Betty Furness
"Band Plays On"
Chapt. 2 "Tailspin Tommy"

Thurs., Feb. 14
May Robson, Fay Wray
'Mills of the Gods'
Todd-Kelly Comedy

Fri.,-Sat., Feb. 15-16
MAURICE CHEVALIER
JEANETTE MacDONALD
The Mercy Widow
Cartoon and News
Adults 25c and 35c

Next Mo., Feb. 18 News
Chester Morris
VIRGINIA BRUCE
"Society Doctor"
Successor to 'Men in White'

Next Tu. Feb. 19 Muscl.
Ginger Rogers
FRANCES LEDERER
"Romance of Manhattan"

Next We. Feb. 20 Serial
Clark Gable, Joan Crawford
Robt. Montgomery
"Forsaking All Others"

Shannon's
Is Headquarters for the Best
SANDWICHES
—and—
DRINKS
in Farmville!

Special orders for
Teas and Parties
Try our doughnuts
Foley's Bakery
Third Street

WILLIS
The Florist
Flowers for all occastons
PHONES 181-273

Conoco Gas and Oil
Fill up at
Johns Motor Co.
Farmville, Va.

Martin the Jeweler
Gifts of
Lasting Remembrance
317 Main St. Farmville

POTTED MEATS
SANDWICH SPREAD
SANDWICH ROLLS
HOT DOGS
Everything for the Picnic
W. R. Drumeller
Main Street Farmville

Cleaning at reduced rates
State Cleaning Co.
Third Street

SUPPERS AND
SMALL PARTIES
Good Breakfast
Dinners
Suppers
College Tea Room
and
LONGWOOD

Buy Your
C A N D Y
To Sell at
H. T. Stokes & Co.

G. F. Butcher
High Street
"The Convenient Store"
FOR GOOD THINGS
TO EAT AND DRINK

Electric Shoe Shop
Will Fix Your Shoes
While You Wait
BEST WORKMANSHIP
AND LEATHER USED

Southside Drug Store
(On the Corner)
Films Developed
FREE
If bought at this store

The Schemmel Conservatory of Music
Offers interesting instruction by Artist Teachers, arranged to suit the needs of each pupil. Piano: Elsa Schemmel Fairchild, Marie Schemmel Shroder. Voice: Mattie Spencer Willis. Violin: Richmond Seay of Blackstone College.

Farmville Mfg. Co.
BUILDING MATERIALS
MILLWORK
Farmville, Va.

You Would Love to Have Your Shoes Fixed at
Lovelace Shoe Shop
110 Third Street

ROOM FURNISHINGS
SCHOOL SUPPLIES
CANDIES
ROSES
5-10-25c Store
FARMVILLE, VA.

Overton-Mottley Hdwe. Co.
ELECTRIC GOODS!
Tennis Rackets and balls
Roller Skates

The Fashion Shoppe
Reflects the newest styles. All dresses $2.95 up
COATS, SUITS, DRESSES, UNDERWEAR
Silk Hose
Fine quality ..... 49c 59c and 69c

HATS that will go to any woman's head !
Your spring hat is the most important millinery purchase of the year. You'll find OUR millinery tit-bits delicious! Just bring in your head ....and we'll do the rest !
BALDWIN'S

HE'LL LOVE YOU
IN ONE OF THESE NEW SPRING SUITS
They're new—they're different—they're everything you'd want them to be.
Spring Suits ... $9.45 and $15.97
We're really enthusiastic about the lovely new things we're showing for spring.
GORGEOUS DRESSES AND ACCESSORIES
You won't be asked to buy
DOROTHY MAY STORES
FARMVILLE, VA.

EXAMS BEGIN LATER

The Rotunda

We Teach To Teach

ORDER ANNUAL BEFORE FEBRUARY 25

Volume XV. FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, FEBRUARY 20, 135 No. 18

National Fraternity Announces Masters

Alice Grainger Promoted

The Delta chapter of Alpha Phi Sigma, national honorary fraternity in scholarship, initiated the following new members on Tuesday, Feb. 12. Sarah Corbin, Clair Eastman, Eleanor Gibbs, Claudia Harper, Dorothy Rhodes, Annette Roberts, Marguerite York, and Janie Lee Young.

At the same meeting Alice Grainger was promoted to the apprentice degree.

Bonnie Lane, Bess McGlothlin, and Katherine Milby, having attained the unusually high scholastic average of 2.50 were honored on Tuesday, Feb. 19, by being advanced to the highest degree in the fraternity, that of the Masters. The formal promotion service was held in the honor room, and attended by the other masters and the honory members.

MISS GRACE MORAN

The Classman for the four years of the Class of '35.

Saturday Night Sing Given by "Y" Cabinet Makes College Hero

"And I laughed and laughed" is the only way to express just what effect the sing presented Saturday by the Y. W. C. A. Cabinet had on each individual in the audience. Two short skits, "The Lighthouse Keeper," and "A Spanish Villian," revealed just what each girl wants, a real hero. A package of life savers to Helen Smith for her excellent life saving.

We hope the sings presented in the future will keep up the pep note set by this presentation.

House Council Gives Feb.-March Dinner

About one hundred girls will celebrate their birthdays Friday night at the February-March Birthday Banquet, sponsored by the House Council.

Red, white, and blue decorations will be used to honor the spirit of Washington, whose birthday is also the twenty-second.

During the dinner those girls who do not celebrate their birthday this time will sing the familiar "Happy Birthday" to those being honored.

S. Parkes Cadman Heard By Students

The Y. W. C. A. Cabinet and the World Fellowship Committee motored to Richmond to hear Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, who gave a most interesting lecture to the Woman's Club of that city. The subject of his address was "The World At the Crossroads."

Dr. Cadman is regarded as one of the leaders of religious life in this country, and is at present pastor of the Central Congregational Church, Brooklyn, New York. He has edited a number of books. Among these are "Ambassadors of God," "The Religious Uses of Memory," "The Three Religious Leaders of Oxford," "Imagination and Religion," "The Christ of Jesus," and "The Prophets of Israel."

Dr. Cadman is heard each Sunday afternoon over the radio and his columns "Questions and Answers" appears in daily papers throughout the country. At his lecture, "The World At the Crossroads," some time was given to answering questions asked by members of the audience. One of the most startling statements came in reply to the question, "What do you think is the cause of war?" Dr. Cadman answered, "The unequal distribution of pop-

Continued on page 4, Col. 3

Youth Conference DiscussesProblems

Representatives of S. T. C. Sent By Y. W. C. A.

The Virginia Christian Youth Conference will convene in Richmond, Feb. 22, 23, and 24, at the Grace Covenant Presbyterian Church. The theme is to be: "Christian Youth Building a New World." The program is as follows:

Friday, Feb. 22

9:00-10:00 a. m. — Registration and Enrollment.
10:00-10:20—Worship Service led by Richmond Young People.
10:20-11:00 — Opening Address, by Dr. Jesse Bader.
11:00-12:30—Discussion Groups.
12:30—Lunch.
1:30 P. M.—Assembly. Songs and Announcements.
2:00-3:30—Discussion Groups.
3:45—Address—"Needs of Our

by colored young people (Petersburg Choir.)
8:00 P. M.—Address by Dr. Wm. Hiram Foulkes.

Saturday, Feb. 23

9:00-9:30 A. M. — Opening - Songs.
9:30-11:00—Discussion Groups.
11:10—Worship Service.
11:30-12:30—Address—"Last Path to the Secret Place," by Dr. Daniel A. Poling.
1:00-5:00 P. M.—Recreation and meeting of committees.
6:00 P. M.—Banquet.
8:00 P. M.—Address — "Making Our Ideals Work," by Dr. Daniel A. Poling.

Sunday, Feb. 24

9:30-10:00 A. M.—Worship Service led by College Young People.
10:00-10:45—Address, "The Divine Quest," by Dr. Harry Holmes.
2:30 P. M.—Report of Group Findings.
3:00-3:45—Address, Dr. Harry Holmes.
3:45—Closing Service.

The following girls from Farmville will attend the conference: Misses Louise Hyde, Helen Smith, Carmen Clark, Katharine Walton, Winnie Frances Eubank, and Sue Waldo.

This conference is one of a series being held throughout the United States and Canada this spring and is a part of a united youth program— interdenominational in character and international in scope.

Undergrads' Poll Want Armed Peace

College Peace Movement Held Over the U. S.

Exact and definite proof that college students are becoming more active in peace movements and beliefs is found in the returned in the College Peace Movement has already been higher than in any past Literary Digest Poll the Literary Digest states.

Nearly one-sixth of American university undergraduates state that they would not bear arms in case the United States was invaded.

Of the 91,055 students voting on this issue 83.60 per cent marked their ballots that they would fight in case an enemy invaded the United States, while 16.40 per cent voted negatively.

On the policy of "should the United States enter the League of Nations" the balloting was almost a tie 50.17 per cent voting for entry and 49.83 per cent signifying they were opposed.

Asked if they believed the United States could stay out of another great war, the student bodies responded with a more than two to one vote that the nation could avoid another major conflict.

The undergraduates balloted overwhelmingly negative on the question of bearing arms "for the United States in the invasion of the borders of another country." Of the 90,281 votes recorded on this section of the referendum 17.83 per cent were marked "yes" while 83.17 per cent were tallied in the "no" column.

The students balloted 90.78 percent advocating "government contorl of arament and munitions industries.

By a vote of 33,870 to 58,025 they voiced opposition to the national policy that "An American navy and air force second to none is a sound method of insuring us against being drawn into war."

On the question of "in alignment with our historic procedure in drafting man-power in time of war, would you advocate the principle of universal conscription of all resources of capital and labor in order to control all profits in time of war?" The vote showed 81.98 per cent for such universal conscription to 18.02 per cent opposition.

Most prominent among student organizations which tend to develop interest in peace movements are the International Relations Clubs, some of them affiliated with the Carnegie Endowment for international Peace, societies and the United Front Against War. Also active in this respect are the Y.W.C.A. and the Y. M. C. A.

The senior class was given an opportunity to cast their ballots on the peace movements. Intelligent questioning leads to intelligent thinking. "The volumn of returns would seem to indicate that American undergraduates are thinking seriously and universally about the source of current events."

Cotillion Members To Give March Hop

S.T.C. Debate Club Begins Hand Grind

Debates On Schedule For March 2, 6, 7, 8, and 9

Earnest effort is being made by the Debate Club members of S. T. C. to cover and understand completely the Pi Kappa Delta question, "Resolved: That the nations should agree to prevent the international shipment of arms and munition." Margaret Pollard Agnes Bondurant, Louise Francis and Dudley Allen will debate a team from Charleston, S. C., on March 2, and one from Waynesburg, Penn., on March 6. These girls with Gertrude Levy will also represent S. T. C. at the South Atlantic Tournament. This tournament will be held at Hickory, N. C., March 7, 8, and 9.

Local Basket Five Loses; Score 30-14

Twelve members of the varsity basketball squad accompanied by Miss Olive T. Iler, coach, went to Harrisonburg on Friday, Feb. 15. There they played Harrisonburg S. T. C. in the first game of the season.

The first game of the season unfamiliar court and a competent, strong, opposing team proved to be a set-back. The Farmville girls did well and the forwards worked hard.

Better luck to them next time, which is to be with William and Mary on the William and Mary court next Friday.

Prof. Coyner Heard By Kappa Delta Pi

Mr. Boyd Coyner, professor of psychology here at S. T. C., spoke at the last regular meeting of the Beta Epsilon Chapter of Kappa Delta Pi. This meeting was held in the honor room on Thursday evening, February 14, at 7 o'clock.

"The Nature and Treatment of Some Functional Mental Disorders" was the topic under discussion. Mr. Coyner brought out the fact that disorders of the mind may be classified either as structural (that is, due to some physical affliction) or functional disorders, very real to the sufferer, shift from one part of the body to another and in this way may be distinguished from structural disorders. For example, a man who, as the result of a functional mental disorder, thinks he has a brok-

Continued on page 4, Col. 3

Many Alumnae Are Expected For This Event

Revelry will be the order of the evening, Saturday night, March 23, when the Cotillion Club will hold its spring hop in the S. T. C. gymnasium. Either Jimmie Poiner and his N. C. State Orchestra, which has been voted first preference by the Club, or Dan Gregory and his Columbia Recording Orchestra, will furnish the music. Plans pending until the N. S. State Orchestra is heard from.

The Cotillion Club is composed of approximately 95 members headed by Evelyn Knaub, president; Jean McClure, leader; Laeta Barhan, business manager; and Hazel Smith, secretary and treasurer.

The new girls will not be allowed boy bids to the spring dance. Initiation of the new girls will be held after this dance.

The officers of the Club will lead the figure and all old members are expected to take part.

The Club is very enthusiastic about the dance and elaborate plans are being made. Many alumnae are expected to return.

Sutherland Killed In Auto Smash-Up

William Alexandria Sutherland of Charleston, West Virginia, was instantly killed Monday night in an automobile accident near Rice.

"Ecky" as he was better known, had returned to attend mid-winter dances at Hampden-Sydney College. He was a student at Hampden-Sydney last year and a member of Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity. This year he studied law at Washington and Lee University.

Anthony Demuth of Pittsburg, also an old Hampden-Sydney student sustained injuries in the wreck and is now in Southside Hospital. Demuth is a student at the Medical College of Virginia.

English Folk Musical Put On By 7th Grade

Student body, faculty, and visitors at chapel assembly on Wednesday morning, Feb. 13, enjoyed the Seventh Grade's presentation of an old English folk song play by Bertha Remick entitled "Sally in Our Alley."

The singing was excellent. Colorful costumes, dances, and a piano solo further contributed

Continued on page 4, Col. 3

February Brings Joy To Many As Mail Brings Love's Tokens

Valentine at S. T. C., as always, was a gay time. Even Dr. Jarman caught the spirit, not that Dr. Jarman doesn't enter into the spirit of everything that concerns the welfare of the student, but to many Valentine is merely a time of "hearts and loves." To a larger number, though, it is one of those little holidays, different from the important celebration of Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Easter, that, like so many other little things, make life worthwhile.

People, in general, more or less expect gifts at Christmas and flowers at Easter; but the delight of the long line of girls at the post office waiting to receive thrilling remembrances brought a different kind of joy. If all the seniors weren't made happy by candy from home or elsewhere, a special sort of pleasant surprise awaited them at their class meeting; so, all in all, almost every one shared in the happiness.

Some one remarked not long ago that February itself was a nice month so filled with these pleasant little holidays, especially birthdays, that it seemed a shame that it was such a short month. While some of these industrious students who cannot find time to give two hours preparation a day to each class and still carry on an equal amount of outside work are petitioning for a longer day, they might bear February in mind at the same time and petition for a longer month; that is, if they don't think the charm of it, perhaps, might be in its very briefness and rarity.

The Sodalitas Latina Celebrated Valentine

The Sodalitas Latina met in the Language Club room, Thursday afternoon, February 14. A most interesting program, carrying out the theme of Valentine, was given. Elizabeth Walton told the story of Saint Valentine's Day. Martha Hamlet gave the story of Grandmother's Valentine and Winnie France Eubank told of Little Eve's Valentine. After the program the club was entertained with a party. A new version of "Pinning the Tail on the Donkey" was carried out. It seemed the girls have learned that the way to a man's heart is through his stomach. Valentine quotations were passed out and read aloud by each girl. Baskets of candy hearts were enjoyed by all. The extra baskets were sent to the girls in the infirmary.

Everyone had loads of fun and left with the true spirit of Valentine.

Examination Schedule Undergoes Change

According to a recent statement made by Mr. McCorkle, examinations will not begin on Monday, March 11 as originally scheduled, but will begin on Tuesday and continue through Friday. The new term will begin on Saturday.

We All Shine For Alma Mater In S. A. S. S. C. Trial Inspection

Rub, scrub, clean, wash and shine, are the words that truly describe the activities in which the whole school plant is engaged. Windows, ceilings, floors, clothes, and persons are all existing under the same label, Cleanliness.

All the useless accumulations of letters, boxes and papers found their way to the trash can. Books have been dusted and put to use.

Many methods of shining have been invented at S. T. C. Farmville, and some of them are good ones, but under the stress and strain of expecting classroom visitors all these shining inventions have been abandoned and good old-fashioned hard study resorted to as the best after all.

We really appreciate the experimental study by Dr. Baker, representative of the Southern Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges, for it gives us an opportunity to see how we really can look and to find that high standards exist underneath.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Published by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

Associated Collegiate Press
1934 Collegiate Digest 1935
MADISON WISCONSIN

Staff

Lelia Mattox ..... Editor
Evelyn Massey ..... Associate Editor
Lena Mac Gardner ..... Business Manager

Board of Editors

Miss Jane Royall ..... Alumnae
Florence Sanford ..... Make-up
Susan Gresham ..... Headlines
Kathryne Cotten ..... Literary
Birdie Wooding, Emma Bingham, Bess McGlothlin ..... Editorials
Anne Putney ..... World News
Anne Diggs ..... Social

Proof Readers

Elizabeth Walton, Dorothy Deans, Agnes Bondurant

Managers

Alva Sawyer ..... Asst. Business
Maude Rhodes, Lila Jacob, Elsie Cabell ..... Circulation

Assistants and Reporters

Bonnie Lane, Minnie Smith, Mary Lee Newcomb, Elsie Cabell, Mary Adeline McGlothlin, Katherine Coleman, Elizabeth Mann, Grace Allen Pittard, Margaret Farrar

WEDNESDAY, FEB. 20, 1935

Use of College Training

Mankind does nothing save through initiation on the part of inventors great or small, and imitation by the rest of us. These are the sole factors in human progress. College training develops in us the power to think, the power of independent movement. Most of us will be in spite of all this development intended to make us as Woodrow Wilson said "master adventurers in the field of opportunity," just good citizens. To be a good citizen is no small job. There will be many outspoken, dynamic personalities with seemingly ex-cellent plans for government machinery. Which of these personalities shall we follow?

Put your college training to use. Develop a bit of common sense and get on to the idea of knowing a good man when you see one.

Cupid and Campus

"Can it be?—It isn't—But then again it may be—Spring!" As usual there is a small majority of skeptics who believe that this is just another false alarm—another of those tantalizing tricks that Cupid seems to enjoy playing on young hopefuls. Perhaps they were once trusting, but now disillusioned, victims of the June in January rage. Most of us seem, though, to realize the vast possibilities offered by the breath of Spring. You have only to see the half dreamy, half determined look in our eye to know that. Youth, that's us even if it is in the singular lives in the present. At one time it may have been profitable to beg the harvest moon to shine on so that a blooming summer love might not turn into a faded summer romance, but that is past now.

We have heard and firmly believe that "in spring a young man's fancy lightly . . ." By seeing the hopeful attitude of us one might gather that we do not intend for our young man's fancy to be elsewhere.

The very subtle moral of this is: Do not get in trouble on campus with Cupid.

Enough Said, Says We

A New Course Needed: Couldn't the Phiysical Education Department give a course in "Standing" for the benefit of those who "just can't take it" all through the amen to a hymn. Listen to the seats of the weak ones clatter.

The above is written by a professor and sanctioned by the editor.

Extra-Activity Sales Talk

We did some thinking the other day. It started because the faculty seemingly were very interested in us personally—"Were they giving us too much outside work; were we able to study during study hours; how much time did we spend on studies outside the classroom?"—these and a host of other questions were asked. We decided that maybe they wanted to give us more work so we shouted we have too much now to do. The profs immediately investigated our extra-curricular activities and said some definite things. We noticed no investigation was made in the study assignment line. Now, when we go to fill in blanks to get a position, in which to indulge in our professional inclinations, we find space for other than teaching abiltes. Most of us are average or above n our chosen profession, because we are seeking to graduate? Our trained abilities are our best sales talk. Shall we be made dumb? We are still thinking?

Campus Gayety Affected by Slump

New York (NSFA)—The effect of the depression which has swept from the college campus much of the gay background against which the undergraduates posed his studies has also adversely affected college enrollments, a survey of twenty-four colleges and universities of the country indicates.

In answer to queries from The New York Times, officials of institutions from Boston to Berkeley estimated that the chief effect of the depression had been to modulate the carefree joy of campus life and to focus the attention of students on books and blackboards. The student of 1932, many of the replies indicated, has sold the flashy roadster and is buying second-hand books, and more than ever before he is asking for scholarship aid, low-priced dormitory rooms, and a chance to work his way.

An interpretation of the statistics and replies indicates a trend away from technical education toward cultural subjects. In general, the institutions, the enrollments of which were most affected by the depression, seemed to be those located in the farming belts of the Middle West. Most of the local colleges and universities maintained their enrollments at about the same figures as last year, and a few Eastern institutions such as Amherst, Fordham, Harvard and Vassar reported slight increases in their student attendance. Columbia with an estimated drop of more than 1,000 students, reported the largest decrease of any of the nineteen institutions.

Apparently students who formerly were attracted from College by offers of lucrative positions are now continuing their studies for lack of something better to do. On the other hand, students who have not yet entered college drag out high school work or enter local junior colleges to save money by living at home."

Dear Editor,

We want to know whether or not we are going to be forced to knock the freshmen in the head in order to make them understand that they don't belong in the Senior parlor. And even though a certain freshman just can't see why she can't use the Senior Parlor—since the poor unattractive seniors never have dates—we'd still like a little privacy when we do have the rare privilege of visits from members of the stronger sex.

Hintfully yours,
S(weet) S(enior) S(ufferers)

The Army and Navy football game of 1935 will be played at Soldiers Field in Chicago, if efforts of promoters are successful. That field is the scene of the famous 21 to 21 tie battel played nine years ago.

The balances that justice carries are not adjustable to long waits.

Life's Chatter

As interesting and as absurd as Joe Penner himself is his gagman that concocts most of the silly jokes that Joe blurts out via radio and screen to his childish minded augience. Known in Hollywood as "Hal Raynor" this gagman is actually the Right Reverend Scot Rubel, an ordained Episcopal minister, who decided to utilize a natural inclination in order to pay off a mortgage on his church. Rev. Rubel's special talent lies in the reeling off of silly expressions as, "Oh, you nasty man." At one time he was politely dismissed from a radio audition after tearing off an original little number entitled "To A Nasturtium." This was during his ministerial days in New York City. It was not until radio sponsosr and Hollywood directors discovered a gold mine in the weakness of the American public for Joe Pennerisms that Rubel found a market for his silliness. He reconciles his movie job with his former profession by declaring that the primary function of religion is to bring happiness and health.

In Utah a resolution is up before the state senate proposing a general tax of dollars per year on all unmarried men between the ages of twenty-one and fifty. It appears as if women were gaining the upper hand in the politics of Utah. Bachelors may have just cause to regret the vote they cast in favor of the seventeenth ment.

One of the queerest motives for suicide on record: a whistling heart. In England a certain saloonkeeper had a strange disease. With every beat of his heart a whistling sound could be plainly heard. No doctor could cure the man and he was slowly driven to suicide. In this case whistling did not signify happiness or pleasure.

One of the ironic fates that control the lives of criminals caused Eugene Tischler, age 21, to draw a reformatory sentence from a judge for a street robbery that netted him exactly five cents. Tischler has a criminal record, and has committed a number of crimes. What made an inevitable sentence more insufferable was the smallness of the crime. Just another verificatio nof that popular song hit, "It's the Little Things In Life."

The following is a copy of a note recently received by a teacher in a school near Boston: "Dear Miss Smith: Please excuse Mary for staying at home, as she was very sick. The doctor said she must stay in, and that is made her stay out.—Mrs. Blank."

A man was telling about a dog that was chased by a bull. "The bull," he said, "was gaining and there seemed no hope for the dog. Suddenly the dog spied a pine tree standing in the middle of the pasture. He dashed toward it and climbed it, out of reach of the bull." "But," cried the indignant listener, "dogs can't climb trees." "This dog had to," the narrator explained.

Mr. Butterworth, the grocer, was looking over the credit sales-slips one day. Suddenly he called to the new clerk: "Did you give George Callahan credit?" "Sure," said the clerk. "I—." "Didn't I tell you to get a report on any and every man asking for credit?" "Why, I did," retorted the clerk, who was an earnest young fellow. "I did get a report. The agency said he owed money to every grocer in town, and, of course, if his credit was that good I knew that you would like to have him open an account here!"

Before the passage of the present strict banking laws in Wisconsin, starting a bank was a comparatively simple proposition. The surprisingly small amount of capital needed is well illustrated by the story a prosperous country-town banker told on himself, when asked how he happened to enter the banking business:

College Contribute Most of 1934's Best

All but one of the twelve young men selected as the outstanding young men of 1934 are college or university graduates or at one time attended college. The selection of 1934's "best" was made by Durward Howes, editor of "America's Young Men," who's who of the younger generation.

The only one placed on the list who is not a college graduate is Clark Gable, 34-year-old movie actor who was selected for the honor roll for his outstanding performance in the screen hit, "It Happened One Night."

Following is the complete list:

Walter E. Disney—famed animated cartoonist.

Lewis — Douglas — formerly President Roosevelt's director of budget.

Clark Gable—movie actor.

John Hoover—director of investigation, United States Department of Justice.

Robert LaFollette, Jr.—one of the heads of the new Progressive party.

Charles Lindberg—chosen for his continued contribution to aviation.

Henry Luce—editor and publisher of Time and Fortune magazine.

Paul Siple—chief biologist on second Byrd Antartic Expedition.

Edward Stettinius, Jr.—vice-chairman of the finance committee of the United States Steel Corporation.

Eugene Vidal—director of aeronautics, United States Commerce Department.

James Warlburg — economist, writer, and vice-chairman of the Bank of Manhattan.

E. Richard West—president of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce.

At Other Colleges

Florida Alligator Editorial: "It has been our observation that by the time a man becomes a senior at college he considers himself thoroughly familiar with all angles of the marriage relationship and its sexual foundation. He is the graduate of a thousand smut sessions and the possessor of a vast collection of misinformation. The senior class of the University of Florida will have an opportunity this year to receive intelligent instruction on such problems by an expert, Dr. E. R. Groves. He is author of a dozen books in Sociology, and family relationships and is a staff member of the Institution of Social Research at the University of North Carolina.

Tulane Hullabaloo: "Thinking About Marriage" is the unique course of study on courtship and marriage for youth being given at the Carrollton Avenue Methodist Church each Sunday. 'Every young person thinks about marriage. To prepare for it intelligently is as important as to prepare for a career," said Dr. Jeffry.

Vienna, Austria (IP): "So many pupils in Vienna schools were committing suicide rather than face the consequence of taking home poor report cards that the city's department of education decided something had to be done about it.

As a result, a new bureau was inaugurated, made up of volunteers who go home with the pupils who have bad looking report cards for the purpose of showing severe parents how they can help their children rather than beat them up.

"Well," he said, "I didn't have much else to do, so I rented an empty store-building and painted bank on the window. The first day I was open for business a man came in and deposited a hundred dollars with me; the second day another man came in and deposited two hundred and fifty; and so, by George, along about the third day I got confidence enough in the bank to put in a hundred myself!"

Senior Worries

Helen Smith—stumpy toes.

Bobby Saunders — the flashlight.

Nancy Dodd—the "drag" sisters.

Elizabeth Showell—"B" on International Relations.

Mary Gilmer—idea of being true to Jutt.

Jean McClure—way with her men.

Knubby Knaub—more descriptive adjectives for Barbee and her Hope Chest.

Wye Scott—Self - Satisfaction—Love—Life—and Shining.

Dot Glover—none.

Louise Colman—"Payne."

Ella Mallory—trying to find her "origin ' self.

Ann Irving—what she said to Bess.

Iris Dean Hart—trying to find a hat to fit her head.

Meg Herndon—more methods for shining.

Kat Young—"Tummys," oh, I mean Tommy.

Lena Mac. Gardner — circle of friends.

Winnie Goodman — can she "Cope" with the "Adams" complex.

Phyllis Ferguson—blondes.

Louise Floyd—"Death Takes a Holiday."

Belle Lovelace—striving to attain Frank's level of intellect.

Dot Justis—how to win the Nobel prize.

Sally Joe Kent—"men."

Lois Moses—Florida.

Mildred Linthicum — proper care of "Chicks."

The Mattox Girls—song hits.

Laeta Barham—fruitcakes.

Sarah Beck—display of her extensive wardrobe.

Mable Britt — Charlie's other girls.

Louise Hyde—everybody elses business.

Joan D'Arc of Lorraine

In 1412 there was born in Dommremy of Lorraine a poor shepherd girl who was destined to serve her native country, France, in a great and noble way. This pure and noble-hearted girl rose from obscurity through her religious convictions which led her to believe that she must somehow remedy the woes of her country.

And so it was that by her courage and sincerity of purpose Joan of Arc led the king's army to battle and delivered Orleans for France. But it was not for honor and power that Joan served. It was for love of humanity and her country. The Maid of France chose, moreover, not only to serve her country but to die for it, for after her capture by the English army, the peasant girl of Dorraine was shamefully burned at the stake. She died as she had lived—with undaunted fortitude.

The Equestrian Statue of Joan found in the Colonnade is one of the most valuable possessions of our Alma Mater. Here we see Joan as she went into battle. "In a male dress, fully armed, she bore the sword and sacred banner, as the signal of victory, at the head of the army." This statue is the orginal model presented to the college by Mrs. Anna Hyatt Huntington, the sculptress. Mrs. Huntington became interested in Farmville when she found Joan was our patron saint and that Alpha Kappa Gamma was interested in obtaining a statue of her.

Since Joan of Arc is our patron saint, each of us should stand for her spirit of service and seek to be the woman she was—courageous, a seeker after truth, capable of any self-sacrifice, and willing at all times to serve.

Senior Staff

Editor ..... Lois Moses
Associate Editor ..... Mabel Britt
Features ..... Katherine Walton
Proof Reader ..... Janice White
Circulation Mgr. .. Audrey Mattox
Reporters ..... Fanny Bosworth
Sarah Beck, Estelle Agee, and Elizabeth Vassar.

SOCIALS

S .T. C. calendars are well marked with accounts of week-end trips, dances and other social affairs.

To Richmond

Virginia Martin, Dorothy Wise, Kathryn Hoyle, Mary Bee White, Alice Wilson, Evelyn Knaub, Kat Young, Anne Peple, Virginia Scanlin, Elise Marshburn and Virginia Agee.

At Blacksburg (and V. P. I.)

Frances Channel, Kitty Fitzgerald, Dot Glover, Kat Harvey, Helen Fern Perdue, Sally Perrow, Anne Johnson, Nancy Pobst, and Livian Powell.

At Lexington

The boxing matches in Levington were attended by Frances Woodhouse and Zell Hopkins.

To Home Sweet Home

Lois Jenkins, Audrey Wilson, Page Nottingham, Nancy Dodd, Kitty Pope, Victoria Gillette, Margery Quarles, Nan Page Trent, Marth Stine, Sarah Beck, Dudley Allen, Marjorie Booten, Marguerite Bradford. Maude Jones accompanied by Irene Bailey, Midge Davis, accompanied by Eleanor Mitchell, Mary Reeves Black, Margaret Russell, Elinor Dunham, Katherine Conway, and Will Scott.

Hampden-Sydney Dances
Feb. 15, 16, 1935

Mary Bowles—Ted Tower.
Virginia Bean—W. D. Temple.
Mary Denny—Jimmy Davidson.
Chic Dortch—O. B. Bobbitt.
Virginia Daughty—Billy Rue.
Martha Glenn Davis—F. L. Argan.
Louise Floyd—Max Whitlock.
Jennie Belle Gilliam — Verne Ferguson.
Emily Guy—Charles Smith.
Mildred Habel—Will Sydnor.
Eugenia Jolly—Bill Leftwich.
Dorothy Justis—Tom Noble.
Kathleen McCann—Val Parham.
Carter Belle Munt — Bene Dortch.
Jean McClure—Red Weisiger, Billy Thomas.
Martha Nottingham — John Frank Chambers.
Isabel Plummer—Bruce Franz.
Rose Puller—C. V. Montgomery.
Francis Robinson—Dave Rice.
Dorothy Rust—Spencer Wilson.
Dorothy Robertson — Marton Barbour.
Nan Seward—Billy Crawford.
Minnie Smith—Mosby Phlegar.
Tyler Wood—Edd Payne.
Frances Britton—Arley Hayman.
Virginia Hall—Jack Gray.
Elizabeth Harris—O. B. Watson.
Zell Hopkins—Jack McCurdy.
Ruth Montgomery — Frank Crews.
Frances Parker — Jack Norment.
Dot Price—Woodrow Wilkerson.
Tib Simmerman—Rudy Young.
Frances Woodhouse — Dick Lewis.
Ruth Showalter—Don Martan.
Florence Tankard — Clarence Campbell.
Evelyn Wilson—Billy Lipscomb.
Florence Sanford — Charlie Bernier.
Mary Lynn Thomas—Tryston Haydes.

At S. T. C.

Helen Conquest visits her Alma Mater.

To Keysville

Miss Mix and Miss Moran to a teacher's meeting.
Dr. Walmsley spoke at Woman's Club.

To Orange

Miss Wheeler journeyed to Orange to interest S. T. C. alumnae in the organization of a Dramatic Club.

Seniors Display Talent

The Senior class is discovering new talent every day. The last talents unearthed were in the form of impersonations. Meg Herndon gave her impression of Dr. Wynne's Cosmological Epistomology. She also gave a living portrait of J. P.'s smile.. Belle Lovelace borrowed some glasses' (yes, Meg they were yours) and was immediately transformed into Miss Jennings. Helen Smith bade us never forget Mr. Bell's "Words, swords, without thought." Nelle Oakey Ryan, "Bunny" to you, took us back to Mr. Simkin's comment on Mr. Hapgood's lecture—"Mr. Hapgood, would it be too germaine to ask you to do a Russian fan dance?" Meg, not to be outdone, assigned a lesson for Miss Barnes. Miss Moran, capped the climax by impersonating cupid, and supplying hearts galore for the entire class, they were good spicy hearts, too.

"Tac" Waters interviews "Chic" on current news. He says the next ladder to be used by Hauptmann will be Jacob's ladder!

Students Are A Sad Lot

(Apologies to the Flambeau)

Students are at college getting an EDUCATION
But they never decide what it is.
Students spend much time at lectures
But they usually flunk a quiz.

Students aim to become INTELLIGENT
But they never have a thought.
Students are the busiest people on earth
But it all sums up to nought.

Students try to do many things, ACTIVITIES,
But the real thing goes undone.
Students hear that college days are best
But they never "have any fun."

Students talk about the "REVOLT OF YOUTH"
But they revolt only from assembly.
Students plan to improve institutions
But they graduate from them completely.

Students speak of themselves as TOMORROW'S LEADERS
But they act just for a day.
Students may have great minds of their own
But they never say.

Spots of Historic Note Around Farmville

Farmville, though we seldom think of it, has several spots of historic interest and value.

About one mile west of Farmville is a historic shrine which few of us know about. There are many tiny "shacks" which were built and provided for by John Randolph of Roanoke. Randolph was greatly opposed to slavery and to the North, therefore, before his death in 1783 he freed all his slaves and made provisions for them to begin life anew. He started his slaves in the new life by providing tiny huts for them to live in with their families and few possessions. Many of these shacks remain today.

Longwood, too, is a spot which has a great deal of historic value especially to the students at S. T. C. Little need be said about Longwood for most of us are familiar with the fact that it is the birthplace and home of General Joseph Eggleston Johnston. Johnston, who is one of our most loved Civil War generals, played an active part in the war. Longwood today is owned by our college.

There is another spot in Farmville which we should all know about yet few of us do. This is the home of the former Miss Mary Jackson, on Beech Street. It is said that this is the place where General Robert E. Lee last met his staff before his surrender at Appomattox.

Lithia Springs too has historic interest; however, we always connect it with picnics. On the hill just above the springs we find a Confederate Cemetery, where many of the Confederates who fought in the War Between the States are buried.

These shrines are an asset to our community and to our college.

Dr. Jarman's Life So Far

Dr. Joseph Leonard Jarman, fourth president of the State Teachers College at Farmville, Va., was born in Charlottesville, Va., Nov. 19, 1867.

Until he was 14 years old, Dr. Jarman was educated in the public schools of Charlottesville. At the end of that time, having been left an orphan, he was sent to the Miller Manual Training School. In 1886 he won the Miller Scholarship at the University of Virginia, where he was a student until 1889. His major work in the University of Virginia was done in the field of natural and physical sciences.

In 1890, Dr. Jarman was appointed professor of Natural Science at Emory and Henry College, where he taught for twelve years. While he was there, the college conferred on him the B. A. degree.

In 1902, Dr. Jarman came to Farmville as president of the Female Normal School. It was in 1906 that Hampden-Sydney conferred upon him the degree of L. L. D., and in 1931, membership pin Omicron Delta Kappa.

In 1923, because of distinguished service to the state, Dr. Jarman was elected to Phi Beta Kappa by the University of Virginia.

Dr. Jarman also held membership and official positions in various organizations in the town. He was the organizer and the first president of the Southside Community Hospital, the first institution of its kind established under the Commonwealth Fund. He was also one of the organizers of the stock company that built the Weyanoke Hotel. In 1917 and 1918, he was chairman of the War Work Committees of the Y. M. C. A. as well as of the Second Red Cross Drive. For the past thirty years he has been chairman of the official board of the Farmville Methodist Church.

In his thirty-two years of life and service at Farmville, Dr. Jarman has developed the Female Normal School into an A rating State Teachers College, granting a B. S. degree in Education, and holding membership in the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools as well as in the American Association of Teachers College.

The Richmond News Leader paid Dr. Jarman this tribute: "Mention the State Teachers College a tFarmville, and in the same breath you find yourself talking of J. L. Jarman. He is worth $100,000.00 a year to Virginia in the influence he is exerting on the teaching profession alone."

Class Comments

Freshman: Valentine's day was also Freshman Tag Day! The Freshman class sold red hearts to students, faculty and administration members and made about $4 in this way. "We're willing to try anything once," said the freshmen when the Juniors gave up Tag Day as an unprofitable project.

Sophomore: The Sophomore production "Life Begins at 8:30," was so successful that the class is thinking of presenting it elsewhere

Junior: Since the Juniors have no news they must still be having "Pipe Dreams."

Senior: The Seniors celebrated Valentine's Day with a little party along with their business meeting on Tuesday night of last week. Everyone left the "rec" eating little heart-shaped cookies made by Miss Moran.

Intellect and Industry

Some time ago the president of one of our great universities made a statement which at first glance seemed rather strange, coming as it did from the head of an institution of higher learning. He said that one's educational process could not be judged by testing his intellectual development. If, said this prominent educator, we wish to know whether one is truly educated, we should inquire first about his character and second about his manners. Evidence of intellectual performance should come third.

Intellect and industry are important enough. The intellect should be discipline and hard and sustained labor should be encouraged. But it is not enough that an engine be powerful and well fueled. If it is driven in the wrong direction it may become an instrument of destruction. If it is not wisely guided it may be an instrument of futility. The worth of an individual depends not upon what he is capable of doing but upon what he does. The direction of one's activities depends not alone upon understanding but upon purpose, and purpose is a matter of character. One who sets out to win success for himself in narrow economic terms may do it without contributing to the welfare of society. Now leaving aside for the moment what that may do for him, it must be recognized that this result is a bad thing for the community. The school is a servant of the community, and it is not doing its full part unless it seeks not only to make students competent, but to inspire them with purpose—purpose to contribute to the well-being of others. It may furthermore be said with assurance that an individual who pays no heed to moral obligations cheats himself out of the best things which life affords. If he has not learned to feel and practice a fine regard for the feelings of others, he will not be well liked. He will not fit smoothly into the associated life. This maladjustment will probably stand in the way of economic advancement and it will certainly disturb the peace of mind and serenity of spirit so essential to human happiness.

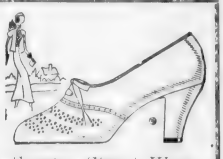
Going Away?.....
Travel by
GREYHOUND
Safe—Comfortable—Economical

S. A. Legus
TAILOR
CLEANING
PRESSING
REPAIRING
Phone 203

C. E. Chappell Co.
Stationery, Blank Books and School Supplies
Cigars, Cigarettes and Soda
Farmville, Virginia

Rice's Shoe Store
Street and Dress Shoes
Dancing Slippers Dyed
Correct fits our specialty It

Kleanwell
CLEANERS AND TAILORS
Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling ladies garments
Main Street, opposite Post office
Phone 98



Gray's Drug Store
QUALITY—PRICE—SERVICE
Come in and Get Acquainted
We are glad to have you with us!
Farmville, Virginia

Mack's
BARBER AND BEAUTY SHOP
323 Main Street
We use the Frederick Method
Hair cutting and thinning a Special

PRINTING.....
When you think of Printing think of
The FARMVILLE HERALD

Lovely Spring Sweaters, in all the new pastel colors. All wool in the new Jacquard knit. $2.00 values—S. T. C. Special $1.25
Zipper Spring Oxfords in white and white and brown. These shoes sell elsewhere in Farmville at $3.95. S. T. C. Special $3.45
Other Spring Oxfords in white, two tone tan and beige $2.49
SHOP AT THE THRIFT STORE
THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE
Farmville's Best Place to Shop!

—FOR—
EVERYTHING—SCHOOL SUPPLIES, CANDIES, FRUITS, CONFECTIONS, ETC.
GO TO.....
GILLIAM'S
Open 'till 9:00 p. m.

SHOES
For All
Occasions

Evening—Dress—Sports—Street Wear
$2.95 to $5.95
DAVIDSON'S

ARE YOU INTERESTED?
JACKETS of Grain and Suede Cloth and Wool SWEATERS.
We are shewing the season's newest. Come in. We are glad to show. Just what we have and the line is very attractive.
VERSER'S

PHILCO RADIO
World's largest manufacturers of Radio
A complete line
Watch repairing a specialty
Sheet Music Strings for Instruments
LYNN, The Main Street Jeweler

YOUR NEIGHBOR,
The Weyanoke Beauty Salon
invites you to drop in and take advantage of their Special prices now in effect.
Permanent Waves $4 & $6 Shampoo & Finger-wave 75 cents
Manicure 40 cents
Industrial experts, efficient service and an established reputation for dependability and satisfaction. That is our guarantee, and your assurance of perfect workmanship.

Senior Class Song

Joys we have known
Friends we have grown
Sharing together, friendships that can
Never, never, never, sever
Loyal and true
We'll be to you
Seniors of thirty-five
We sing to you.
Near draws the end
Of college days
Happiness brought us, ties that will
Never, never, never, sever
Faithful and true
Ever to you
Seniors of thirty-five
We sing to you.

Senior Classman Song

And now we're Seniors,
We're near the end
Of college friendships true,
And ties that blend
Our tears and laughter too
Into a rhapsody
Our four College years
We hail our classman so dear
Our Miss Moran!
For her devotion sweet
For all she's been to us
Our thoughts of her will live.

NEW YORK—(IP)—Not content with taking care of the physicial illnesses of its students, Columbia University is going to set up a clinic where mental troubles can be taken care of also.

In announcing plans for such a clinic, Dr. William H. Castline, medical officer of the university, said in part:

"The stress and strain of these unsettled times are wrecking some sensitive and perhaps a bit unstable personalities. . . . . They find themselves unable properly to evaluate the experience of the abnormal mind and are inclined to weave into their own mental life the distorted and unreal images of others.

"Perhaps it is not wise for the adolescent and impressionable individual to delve into the pathological aspects of the mind too deeply, any more than it is necessary for one to have intimate knowledge of the pathology of diseased tissues to appreciate the joy of a vigorous body when he is happily engaged in work or recreation.

"For years these problems have been a source of much concern, and now we look forward with confidence to greater success at least in reducing on our campus the number of students who must be eliminated eventually because of failure to respond to treatment."

Grains of Salt

Parents should learn that it is best not to write in a letter: "Enclosed you will find a check." They should write on the back of the check: "Enclosed you will find a letter."

You never affairm and
You never deny.
You never will laugh and
You never do cry.
You never are angry
And seldom are gay.
I wish you'd be vulgar
But that's not your way.
You're always so quiet.
Good breeding: that's you.
I venture to say that
Your soul is sky blue.

The only kind of love which is really wasted is that which is left to "waste its sweetness on the desert air."

I wonder what you'd say, my sweet,
If you did only know
My heart, my soul, is all for you
If you would will it so.

Perhaps you then would realize
That you're in love with me,
That you were mine since time began;
Our love was meant to be.

But more than like you'd probably
Just as the well known cad.
And pat my forlorn shoulders whilst
You said, "Now that's too bad."

—Copied from Reid & Black.

Rotunda Paintings

In the dome of the Rotunda, if one has rubber enough in the neck to look, we have a group of very beautiful paintings. These are among the many beautiful things around the college that the very unobservant miss. This group of paintings contains portraits of four famous educators: Horace Mann, Thomas Jefferson, Dr. W. H. Ruffner, and Dr. Curry. The rest of the paintings are figure groups portraying, "Study and Meditation," "Teaching," "Recreation," and "Rest," the four elements of education. These paintings were done by a Pittsburg artist who returned to school a few years ago to touch them up.

Subscribe Now

Midnight, Feb. 28, has been set as the deadline for Virginian subscriptions; in view of which the staff is diligently canvassing the halls in search of them. No subscription will be taken after that date, and no extra annuals will be made, so everyone who intends to get a Virginian must do so by then.

The various organizations, also, are urged to pay for their representtaion in the annual before Founder's Day. The Virginian staff is promising us an excellent book this year, so no one should miss such an opportunity by putting off gretting their annual. Buy yours now!

Gamma Psi, honor sorority in art, wishes to announce the following new members: Dorothy McNamee, Martha Gwaltney, and Emma Bingham.

Current News

Philippines: Under the new constitution proposed for the Philippine Islands, the Filipinos will govern themselves independently, but under the protection of the United States for ten years. During that time, their country will be known as "First Commonwealth of the Philippines" and its relation to the United States will be like that of Australia or Canada to England. At the end of the ten years period, its name will become "Republic of the Phillipines" and it wil lbe completely free of American control.

Germany: The London Pact, by which France and England hope to induce Germany to re-enter the councils of Europe in return for arms equality, has been received by Hitler as if it were a petition. Up to the present he has not indicated what his reply will be. He may demand that some of the European and colonial lands taken away from Germany by the peace treaty be returned to her.

Turkey: Gazi Mustafa Kemal, leader of the Republican People's Party and dictator of Turkey, exercises complete control over his country as Stalin, Mussolini, and Hitler do over theirs. Until a few years ago, Turkish women were not permitted to show their faces in public and even today most Turkish men have separate quarters in their homes for the women members of the family. But the new election shows an important development in the rise of Turkish women, for 17 of the 399 new legislators are women. It is the first time in Turkish history that women have taken part in national political life.

Canada: Canadians will have a New Deal if Prime Minister Bennett has anything to say about it. Mr. Bennett, by partly a conservative, has been delivering speeches declaring for a new order of things much on the Roosevelt model. He has come out from minimum wages and maximum hours of work; unemployment, sickness, accident, health and old age insurance; and higher taxation on unearned profits.

William L. Phelps On Teaching

I do not know that I could make entirely clear to an outsider the pleasure I have in teaching. I had rather earn my living by teaching than in any other way. In my mind teaching is not merely a life work, a profession, an occupation, a struggle, it is a passion. I love to teach. I love to teach as a painter loves to paint, as a musician loves to play, as a singer loves to sing, as a strong man rejoices to run a race. Teaching is an art—an art so great and difficult to master that a man or woman can spend a lifetime at it, without reaching much more than his limitations and mistakes, and his distance from the ideal. But the main aim of my happy days has been to become a good teacher, just, as every architect, and every professional strives toward perfection.

This Youth of Today

Much has been said both for and against the younger generation. Many tears have been shed over the deplorable condition the youth of America seemed to have thrown itself into. The tears, of course, were shed by pessimists, who failed to look for a bright side of the question.

Our interviewer, however, found out of two trials, two optimists, who love youth, and are more than willing to stand up for its ideals.

Miss Wilhemenia London, on being approached on the subject said: "I think they are darling. They are a queer combination of dependence and independence, thinking themselves terribly sophisticated, when if they knew the truth, they are not very different from the older generation, but just a little more open and above board in all of their dealings with people."

Prof. Coyner Heard By Kappa Delta Pi

Continued from page one

en arm may say sometimes that his left arm is fractured and then again that his right arm is. Day dreams, fantasies, inferiority complexes are other indications of functional mental disorders in which the sufferer tries to escape realism.

English Folk Musical Put On By 7th Grade

Continued from page 1

to the effectiveness of the play. The entire production represents an integration of seventh grade class work in music, physical education, home economics, and reading. It was directed by Miss Marion Howe Umberger, assisted by Miss Dorothy Justis, and teachers of the subjects mentioned.

Among the pupils, Ruth Glass took the part of "Sally;;' Charlie Thompson, that of "John." Frank Birdsong was the messenger. Group dancers weer Joe Brumfield, Jane Sanford, Freda Walker, and Winifred Wright. Jean Strick of the sixth grade did the solo dance and Helen Wiley Hardy played the piano solo. Group singing was by the entire grade. Arthur Scruggs acted as class critic.

S. Parkes Cadman Heard By Students

Continued from page one

ulation."

The girls who heard this lecture were: Helen Smith, Martha Glenn Davis, Katherine Walton, Louise Hyde, Jestine Cutshall, Marguerite York, Agnes Crockett, Hazel Smith, Margaret Clark, Carmen Clark, Meg Herndon, Sue Waldo, Lucy Potter, Virginia Leonard, Bonnie Lane, Louise Gathright, Julia Derr, and Marion Umberger.

EACO THEATRE

Mats. 4 p. m.; Nights 8 p. m.
Adults 25c: Children 15c
Unless otherwise noted

Thurs-Fir., Feb. 21-22
Gary Cooper
FRANCHOT TONE
"Lives of a Bengal Lancer"
"Elephant Never Forgets"
Adults 25c and 35c

Sat., Feb. 23 News
Myrna Loy
Cary Grant
Wings in the Dark
Also "Pro Foot Ball"

Mon., Feb. 25 Novelty
Grace Moore
One Night of Love
Adults 25c and 35c

Tues.-Wed. Mat only
Ramon Novarro
EVELYN FAYE
"THE Night Is Young"
Regular prices

Wed. Night only
TIM McCOY
'The Prescott Kid'
Chapt. 4 "Tailspin Tommy"

Southside Drug Store
(On the Corner)
Films Developed FREE
If bought at this store

The Schemmel Conservatory of Music
Offers interesting instruction by Artist Teachers, arranged to suit the needs of each pupil. Piano: Elsa Schemmel Fairchild, Marie Schemmel Shroder. Voice: Mattie Spencer Willis. Violin: Richmond Seay of Blackstone College.

Farmville Mfg. Co.
BUILDING MATERIALS
MILLWORK
Farmville, Va.

You Would Love to Have Your Shoes Fixed at
Lovelace Shoe Shop
110 Third Street

ROOM FURNISHINGS
SCHOOL SUPPLIES
CANDIES
ROSES
5-10-25c Store
FARMVILLE, VA.

Overton-Mottley Hdwe. Co.
ELECTRIC GOODS!
Tennis Rackets and balls
Roller Skates

Shannon's
Is Headquarters for the Best
SANDWICHES
—and—
DRINKS
in Farmville!

Special orders for
Teas and Parties
Try our doughnuts
Foley's Bakery
Third Street

WILLIS
The Florist
Flowers for all occasions
PHONES 181-273

Conoco Gas and Oil
Fill up at
Johns Motor Co.
Farmville, Va.

Martin the Jeweler
Gifts of
Lasting Remembrance
317 Main St. Farmville

POTTED MEATS
SANDWICH SPREAD
SANDWICH ROLLS
HOT DOGS
Everything for the Picnic
W. R. Drumeller
Main Street Farmville

Cleaning at reduced rates
State Cleaning Co.
Third Street

SUPPERS AND
SMALL PARTIES
Good Breakfast
Dinners
Suppers
College Tea Room
and
LONGWOOD

Buy Your
CANDY
To Sell at
H. T. Stokes & Co.

G. F. Butcher
High Street
"The Convenient Store"
FOR GOOD THINGS
TO EAT AND DRINK

Electric Shoe Shop
Will Fix Your Shoes
While You Wait
BEST WORKMANSHIP
AND LEATHER USED

The Fashion Shoppe
Reflects the newest styles. All dresses $2.95 up
COATS, SUITS, DRESSES, UNDERWEAR
Silk Hose
Fine quality ..... 49c 59c and 69c

HATS that will go to any woman's head !
Your spring hat is the most important millinery purchase of the year. You'll find OUR millinery tit-bits delicious! Just bring in your head ....and we'll do the rest !
BALDWIN'S

JUST RECEIVED, New shipment of Evening and Dance Frocks. Specially priced
$5.95–$7.85 and $9.85
GEORGEOUS TWIN SWEATERS for Spring, in two tone color combination ..... $1.97 and $2.97
SKIRTS TO MATCH ..... $1.97 and $2.94
SHOP THE DOROTHY MAY WAY
Farmville's Only Exclusive Women's Store
DOROTHY MAY STORES
FARMVILLE, VA.

MARCH 5
FOR MARDI GRAS

The Rotunda

We Teach To Teach

SUPPORT
FRESHMAN PRODUCTION

Volume XV. FARMVILLE, VIRGINA, FEBRUARY 27, 1935 No. 19

Freshmen Present Class Production

"57 Varieties" Will Display Novel Talent

"57 Varieties" is to be displayed on Friday, March 1, at 8:15 in the large auditorium by the Freshman Class. Talents in many friends have been discovered among a large number of the members of this class.

College life is to be carried out in a most unique way. The setting will be a typical college room, featuring one of the many "book worms" of S. T. C.

The title, "57" Varieties," eliminates a real lead by anyone. The true variety is shown when the book-worm's romance bursts into realism. The slogan "It pays to advertise" is illustra ed in "57 Varieties." Laurel and Hardy are outclassed by twin comedians in the Archery Dance. Highly imaginative is the South Sea Island setting, where a few select models display what the well dressed woman wears. The villain wins his women with his baritone voice, but in winning so many loses his heart's desire in a dramatic musical comedy.

Madeline McGlothlin is stage manager of the production while Mary Joyner Cox is in charge of the dance routines with Eleanor Dodson costuming and Nancy Pobst at the piano.

A large percentage of the student body is expected to be present as the previous ones have been well attended.:

6 Delegates From Farmville Attend Youth Conference

The Richmond Area Christian Youth Conference was held February 22, 23, and 24, at the Grace Covenant Church, Richmond, Va. The conference was under the auspices of the joint committee on united youth program for the United States; the Ministerial Union; Youth Federation; Virginia ouncil of Religious Education; the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. The theme of the conference was "Christian Youth Building a New World."

The theme was carried out in the discussion groups which were led by ministers of Richmond and other prominent religious leaders. Problems of world peace, the liquor problem, patriotism, and economics, as well as religious questions were discussed.

Friday's program consisted of:

9:00-10:00 a. m.— Registration and enrollment.

Meeting of Discussion Leaders.

10:00-10:20 a. m.—Worship Service led by Richmond Federation of Christian Young People.

10:20-11:00 A. M.—Opening Address—Dr. Jessie M. Bader.

11:00 a. m.—Discussion Groups.

12:30 p. m.—Luncheon. Dr. William Hiram Foulkes speaker.

1:45 p. m.—Assembly. Songs and Announcements.

2:00-3:30 p. m. — Discussion groups.

1:45 p. m.—Address by Youth Speaker—Mr. Sam Wiley.

7:30 p. m.—Worship Service led by Negro Group.

8:00 p. m.—Address—Dr. William Hiram Foulkes.

On Saturday:

9:00-9:30 a. m.—Opening. Songs.

Continued on page 4, Col. 3

MISS OLIVE T. ILER

Sophomore Classman

J. Hofmann Presents Recital in Lynchburg

The music world of this section of the state is being given an opportunity such as rarely comes its way. On Saturday evening, March 16 at 8:30 o'clock, Josef Hofman will be presented in a piano recital at the auditorium in Lynchburg. It is expected that many of the girls at State Teachers College will be eager to attend the recital, and arrangements will be made concerning transportation to Lynchburg. Miss Mattie S. Willis of Farmville has tickets for the performance on sale at the present time.

Hofmann, who electrified Europe at the age of five and America at the age of ten, has returned to the United States from an extended tour through the capitals of Europe. Repeating the enormous success of his appearances there last year, this supreme artist has again been making his performances with orchestra, and his own recitals, the highspots of the musical season in Warsaw, London, Budapest, Vienna, Paris, Madrid, Rome, The Hague, Amterdam, Stockholm, and numerous other music centers. Press and public have vied to do him honor. "I should think," commented a London critic, "that every famous pianist within a hundred miles of London must have been present at his recitals, to say nothing of celebrities in other walks of life"

Comments of the press of Europe and American include the following:

"Josef Hofmann, at his recital at Queen's Hall last night played everything in his programme simply impeccably—with monumental grandeur, with piercing insight and with tone control."—London Daily Telegraph, Oct. 25, 1933.

"Hearing Hofmann again after several years, one realizes at once what a consummate artist he is in every respect."—London Morning Post, Oct. 27, 1933.

"Josef Hofmann's recital provided evidence anew that depressions have the least effect on the finest in art . . . as great a tribute to the intelligence of the public as to the playing of Mr. Hofmann."—New York Times.

Mathematical Club Members Enjoy Puzzles and Games

The Mathematics Club had a meeting in the parlor on the first floor, senior building last Wednesday afternoon, Irene Parker, and Edith Coffey had charge of the program which consisted of mathematical gam s and puzzles. Refreshments were served at the end of the program. Some of the freshmen taking course III Math. were gu sts at the meeting.

S. T. C. Victorious Over Sweet Briar

Lightning Six Brings Farmville a Victory

Farmville S. T. C. played Sweet Briar on the latter's court Tuesday, Feb. 26, at four o'clock. Farmville kept a point or two ahead of Sweet Briar during the entire game, but the scoring was close enough to make the game one of excitement and interest.

The Farmville guards, Beck and Gilliam, were outstanding for their good defensive work. Ransom, at center, continued her good playing, and Hudgins, a new-comer to the team this year, played outstandingly at forward. Captain Putney, our versatile player, did good work at forward and center.

The final score was Sweet Briar 18, Farmville 23. The Farmville players were outstanding for their good team work, and the entire team should be congratulated on their excellent sportsmanship.

After the game Farmville was entertained at tea by Sweet Briar.

Farmville's line-up was:

Beck .....Right guard
Gilliam .....Left guard
Ransom .....Jump center
Butterworth .....Side center
Putney .....Left forward
Hudgins .....Right forward

Farmville's substitutes: York for Putney; Putney for Butterworth; Eastham for Putney; Putney for York.

House Council Stage International Revue Of Latest Fashions

An international fashion show was given Saturday night at Sing by the House Council. First, the Japanese announcer, Gertrude Levey, introduced the English society lady, Martha Hamlet, who appeared to the tune of "Turkey in the Straw." Next as "Stay as Sweet as You Are" was played, we saw Diamond Lil, better known as Ella Ware. While we listened to "Tiger Rag," and "Here Comes the British," we saw the newest fashion of Spain and France by Alice Zeigler and Susan Lane.

We were particularly interested in seeing the latest swim suit worn by Florida's Bathing Beauty, Mildred Potter, as "Winter Wonderland" was played; and last, but not least, our own American society girl, Kathryn Harvey, showed us the most up-to-date style while Helen Carper, who played the accompaniment for the entire revue, played "Over There."

College Papers Are Exempt From Tax

Washington Official Speaks to V.I.P.A. In Richmond

The initial step in clarifying the relationship of the college newspaper to the NRA was taken by the Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association at a meeting in the Hotel Richmond, Saturday, Jan. 23.

Probable results of the special business meeting of the V. I. P. A. in Richmond, Saturday, will be that college newspapers in Virginia will be exempted from the payment of the NRA compliance fee. According to Maurice B. Pasch, NRA official from Washington, who spoke at the V. I. P. A. meeting, this exemption may be granted on the basis that college newspapers are not competitive in nature. Mr. Pasch stated that all state-owned newspapers, among which is the Rotunda, will be automatically exempted, without application, from the payment of the code administration fees.

Mr. Pasch pointed out that although college newspapers are by definition included under the Graphics Arts Code, they can and will be exempted from the payment of the fee if none of their activities came under the jurisdiction of the code. The only case in which a college paper can be assessed is one in which the paper owns its printing shop.

Mr. Pasch requested that all editors and business managers who write to the administration in Washington for exemption from the payment of the compliance fee state the conditions under which the paper operates. Whether or not the editor and business manager receive salaries may be grounds for paying the assessment, but Mr. Pasch expressed the opinion that this would not necessarily be a point in question.

The special meeting of the V. I. P. A. in Richmond convened at 4 o'clock, Saturday, February 23. Approximately thirty representatives of college newspapers attended the meeting. At the request of Alexander Hudgins, executive secretary of the V. I. P. A., Mr. Pasch, of the legal department of the National Recovery Administration in Washington, came from Washington to speak to the convention on the NRA in its relation to college newspapers.

Systematically and well conducted throughout, the business session of the V. I. P. A. came to a close at 11 o'clock Saturday night. Besides the discussion of

Continued page 4, Col. 1

Students Welcome Miss Mary On Her Return From Florida

The Student Body welcomes Miss Mary back from her visit with her sister in Tampa, Fla. We have missed her and were glad to see her return on Thursday, the 21.

She says that she enjoyed very much being with her sister and her family; and she was well pleased with the fact that her sister, though she had been sick, was well enough to go driving with them.

Many of the beautiful flowers were in bloom, including the beds of calla lilies; however, some of the fruit trees and flowers had been damaged by the cold.

Saturday, the 16, Miss Mary attended a wonderful recital at the Singing Tower in the Mountain Lake Sanctuary near Lake Wales, Florida. Anton Brees, well-known bell master, is Carillonian for this Singing Tower. The bells are best heard at a distance away, and the melody is beautiful. The scenery here was lovely, brought about by the fact that many beautiful trees and flowers were in full bloom.

Miss Mary visited Mr. and Mrs. Redhead also. Mrs. Redhead will be remembered by those of us who were here last year as Miss Virginia Potts.

We are very glad that Miss Mary enjoyed her stay in Tampa,

Mardi Gras To Be Celebrated March 5

Ten Seniors Voted "Outstanding" Girls

The seniors last night voted ten of their members as "outstanding". Beginning next week, in each issue of "The Rotunda" until the end of th term a picture and write-up of each of these seniors will appear. These will substitute for the customary "Among our Caps and Gowns".

In their vote for ten outstanding seniors the class was urged by Miss Moran, senior classman, to think seriously and carefully of the qualifications of the girls and to judge them as "outstanding" for the contributions they have made to class and college activities.

Dance Class to Give Recital on March 9th

Mrs. Fitzpatrick has begun in her Natural Dancing Class and in the Dance Club for a recital which will be one of the outstanding features of Founders Day.

The program is to be presented Saturday morning, March 10, in the large auditorium, at the request of the Founders Day committee.

Indian Ritual, the chereography of which has been worked out by Virginia Leonard. This dance will be done by the new members of the Dance Club and will thus give Freshmen and Sophomores a chance to display their talent.

Lois Moses and Frankie McDaniel will do original solo dances.

Conflict, an original dance, worked out and done by Fanny Boswell and Christine Childrey.

At the end of the recital the gift for Founders Day from all the organizations in school will be presented to Dr. Jarman in an attractive dance.

Miss Moran Speaks At A. C. E. Meeting

Thursday evening, Feb. 21, Miss Moran gave a talk at the Association of Childhood Education meeting for the benefit of teachers and prospective teachers. The nucleus of her talk concerned education in the kindergarten and the first three grades according to the new State Course of Study. She did much toward clearing up the difficult spots in the use of this book in planning and developing units in these grades.

As the Course of Study is a new thing to both faculty and students, we are working together in "acclimating" ourselves to the method of its use. Contained in the book are the Centers of Interest for each grade, and the aspects of each Center of Interest. There is a section devoted to the interests, abilities, and characteristics of children which should be of great assistance to us in selecting units for the various grades.

Founder's Day Dance

Girls, get your dates for March 9th now! Someone might get your "chosen one" and waltz off with him on the night of this gala event.

Students Anticipate a Gay and Colorful Affair

Mardi Gras, a gala fevent o the year's social calendar, will be held on March 5 from eight until 12 o'clock in the gymnasium. At this time Lucy Potter and her court of nine girls will reign over the festivities.

Dancers are expected to wear costumes and masks. This is to preserve the spirit of the occasion. Spectators and those in evening drseses will be allowed on the balcony, but not on the dance floor. The Hampden-Sydney Collegians will provide music for the occasion, which is expected to be a most colorful pageant.

Pi Gamma Mu is sponsoring the dance as a social and historical event. They are attempting to make Mardi Gras a miniature of that annual fancy dress ball at W. and L. Everyone is looking forward to it with much enthusiasm.

Continued page 4, Col. 1

Farrar and Putney Represent College At Davidson, N. C.

Pi Gamma Mu Delegates At Meet Last Week

Margaret Farrar and Anne Putney represented the Virginia Gamma Chapter of Pi Gamma Mu, national social science fraternity, at the Southeastern Students Conference on International Relations, held at Davidson College, Davidson, N. C., on Thursday, Friday, and Saturday of last week. This was the twelfth annual meeting of the conference, and there were representatives from fifty colleges.

The program for the three days began at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon, Feb. 21, with registration, followed by an informal reception. That night there was an open meeting for the purpose of extending a welcome to all those present.

At nine-thirty Friday morning, there was discussion of the Far East, of which Alan Jenkins, Asheville School, was the leader, and Dr. A. A. McFayden, Missionary to China, collaborator. At 11 o'clock there was discussion of Central Europe, led by T. W. Lingle; collaborator was Dr. Otto Nathan.

Luncheon was at twelve-thirty, followed by an address on "Work of the League of Nations and American Policy" given by Dr. K. C. Frazer, University of North Carolina.

At three-thirty Friday afternoon, Dr. C. B. Gosnell, Emory University, was leader in a discussion of the Munitions Industry; collaborator was Dr. J. M. MacConnell, Davidson College.

There was a formal banquet at seven o'clock that night, followed by an address at eight-thirty by Dr. Otto Nathan, Princeton University.

On Saturday morning, Feb. 23, reports were heard from the various International Relations Clubs. There was a business meeting at eleven-thirty, and at twelve-thirty the Conference closed with an enjoyable luncheon.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Published by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

MEMBER
Associated Collegiate Press
1934 Collegiate Digest 1935
MADISON WISCONSIN

Staff

Lelia Mattox ..... Editor
Evelyn Massey ..... Associate Editor
Lena Mac Gardner ..... Business Manager

Board of Editors

Miss Jane Royall ..... Alumnae
Florence Sanford ..... Make-up
Susan Gresham ..... Headlines
Kathryne Cotten ..... Literary
Birdie Wooding, Emma Bingham, Bess McGlothlin ..... Editorials
Anne Putney ..... World News
Anne Diggs ..... Social

Proof Readers

Elizabeth Walton, Dorothy Deans, Agnes Bondurant

Managers

Alva Sawyer ..... Asst. Business
Maude Rhodes, Lila Jacob, Elsie Cabell ..... Circulation

Assistants and Reporters

Bonnie Lane, Minnie Smith, Mary Lee Newcomb, Elsie Cabell, Mary Adeline McGlothlin, Katherine Coleman, Elizabeth Mann, Grace Allen Pittard, Margaret Farrar

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 1935

Founders Day

Fifty-one years ago the State Female Normal School at Farmville was founded. When we think of all that has gone before us, all the traditions that have been built up, and all the joys and sorrows behind these four walls, we are proud to be a part of so great an institution. Looking back and seeing the great changes that have taken place, we marvel that the same spirit—that identical, dominating emotion — has lived and still lives, a part of each one of us.

Over a period of half a century there have been girls, over $15,000 of them, who have walked down the same halls, worshipped in the same chapel, dreamed the same dreams, sung the same songs, and despaired the same misfortunes as we have. Is it no small wonder that the bonds that link are close and unbreakable? This atmosphere that surrounds our Alma Mater is a wonderful thing, created through love and beauty, trials and tribulations, and finally that infinite and perfect understanding that may come from friendship. And through a great part of this we find our beloved leader, our wise adviser, and true friend, Dr. Jarman, the embodiment of the finer part of this college. Without him a vital part of this institution would no longer exist.

And so, as the day draws near for us to celebrate the fifty-first anniversary of our beloved Alma Mater—Founders Day—let us raise up our voices and loudly proclaim "All Hail, Alma Mater, Dear Mother to thee, thy daughters true ,faithful, and loyal will be."

Cooperation

Cooperation is the stepping stone to success in school life. It is the central figer of achievement and the most necessary elcment in a student body.

Class organizations, team work, and club formations would be utterly hopeless without the cooperation of each of their members. There should be members who possess the initiative and ability to lead as well as those who willingly consent to do a task when called upon. The creed of each member of the organization should be to do some work that is needed, and to do it well; to make their toil count for something in adding to the sum of what is actually profitable for the group.

Cooperation createst a wider scope of friendships among fellow students. When individuals are called upon to work in a group together they naturally become better acquainted with each other. This, in turn, brings about the centralization of class spirit which makes systematic organization possible.

A capable leader is one of the most essential elements for a successful organization. This must be one who has the ability to keep the group interested in their work and wanting to do their part in order to obtain teamwork.

A Criticism of Reading

Many college students go for weeks without delving itno a newspaper beyond the "Popeye" cartoon, the Dorothy Dix column, or the society section. They never know what is happening in the world about them. Every boy and girl should have some knowledge of the current topics of the day. The students should cultivate an interest in the affairs of the nation, that he may be able to carry on an intelligent conversation in regard to any one of the subjects. Reading current newspapers and magazines will prepare him to decide a question in regard to a certain national problem, should he be called upon to do so, or to state his own views on the matter; it will also aid him in voting in an election. This type of reading broadens one's views and increases one's intellect.

Then, too, there is the type of literature that the cultured person is never without; this is that knowledge of the classics and of the better-known and greater works of prose and poetry. Reading maketh a full man!

The above quotation does not pertain to that kind of literature that appeals to some. We should avoid the cheap romantic novels that are published in the bulk today, as well as the foolish love stories in our daily newspapers. This kind of literature, if it may be called by that name, only tends to lower our morale and hinder our intelligence.

While here in college, we are afforded excellent opportunities for becoming acquainted with all the very best literature, and for keeping up with all the current events of the day. Our library is well-equipped to meet such needs, and we should not shun these advantages.

One Volume Dictionaries

Definitions that a child can understand are the basis for the Thorndike-Century Junior Dictionary, edited by Dr. Edward Lee Thorndke, of Columbia, and published by Scott Foresman & Co., at $1.32.

Dr. Thorndike decided that "junior" dictionaries that merely repeat what adult dictionaries publish serve no useful purpose He wanted definitions in the language that children use. For instance: garrulous: talking too much about trifles; trite: worn, commonplace. Such expressions as "like sardines in a box" and "cheeks like roses" have become trite.

A New Book About Birds

Another book filled with information is called "All About Birds"." W. S. Berridge, an Englshman, is the author. (Robert M. McBride & Co. $2.50) The illustrations are from photographs and most alluring. It discusses the characteristics of birds, habits of migration and how and where they build their nests. There is a great deal about birds, of fine feathers, birds that can not fly, ducks, swans, geese, cranes, gulls, pelicans and birds of land and sea. This book has the merit of being exceedingly interesting to read, even if one never catches sight of many of the birds here described.

Flashes of World News

Italy is about to seize more African possessions. She has picked a quarrel with Ethiopia, which quarrel has no other purpose than that of furnishing an excuse for a war of aggression and conquest.

At Other Colleges

INTERCOLLEGIATE NEWS ...

Hollins College acquired a United States post office on Jan. 1, 1935. The idea of placing a post office on the campus has been under consideration for some years, due to the increasing mail. Also, the greater part of the mail handled at the Hollins station belongs to the college. Thus Hollins College has taken over the bulk of the work of the Hollins Post Office, which now drops to a fourth-class office.—
—Hollins Student Life

By action taken recently, the rules governing the award of V. M. I.'s highest distinction, the Jackson-Hope Medals, were changed. Henceforth there will be four medals instead of two.

The medals will be given to the highest distinguished graduate in each of the four departments; namely, Chemical Engineering, Civil Engineering, Electrical Engineering, and Liberal Arts. In the past the medals were given to the two graduates attaining the highest degree of proficiency over the four-year period in subjects which all members of the class took.
—The V. M. I. Cadet.

The name of the seven-year—old New York prodigy, who is credited with being as intelligent as Einstein, has been made public. He is Arthur Greenwood, now a student at the Brooklyn Ethical Cultural School.
—The V. M. I. Cadet.

Ithaca, N. Y.—Cornell University is positive it has a student whose name is as short as anyone else's in the world. The student is Mr. I., a graduate student from Tsinan Shantung, China. His first name is Fu, and His middle name Te.

Wellesley, Mass.—An attempt to discover what foods offer human beings the best resistance to the common cold is being made at Wellesley College by Miss Ella Uhler. A large number of freshmen are helping gather information for Miss Uhler, who is a senior and is doing this work for her honors' thesis.

Voice of Experience

Love letters speed up the males.
You will rarely ever be sorry for what you don't say.
Keep your temper—most people have all they need.
While searching for the ideal friend, it is well to be one.
Very often we think if we were in the other fellows shoes we'd shine them.
A Highbrow is one educated far above his intelligence.
If it isn't good manners to use tooth-picks, why were the things invented?
The mind is like an umbrella, it only functions when it is open.
And Jonah met the whale the next day, and said, "If you'd kept your mouth shut, I'd never have gotten in this fix."
They tell us that anyone who thinks by the inch and talks by the yard, ought to be moved by the foot.
Never continue a conversation when you find yourself losing your temper.
Never put off 'till tomorrow what your roommate can do today.

The Student Body expresses all good wishes for a rapid recovery to Elise Marshburn.

Sophomore Staff

Editor—Bernice Jones.
Associate Editor — Virginia Bean.
Humor—Zell Hopkins.
Sports—Kitty Roberts.
World News—Bobbie Mattox.
Proof Readers—Virginia Jones —Sue Mallory—Dorothy Wise—Caroline Jones.
Circulation Manager — Elizabeth Booth.
Reports and assistants—Frances Woodhouse, Chic Dortch, Zilla Newsome, Martha Glenn Davis, Jean Willis, Virginia Tillman, Sue Baynard, Merwyn Gathright, Margaret Long, Lloyd Kelly, Virginia Baker.

Alumnae News

Richmond Alumnae Have Bridge-Tea

Mrs. Thomas J. Starke, president of the Richmond Chapter of Farmville Alumnae, entertained the members at a bridge-tea at her home on Kensington Avenue, February 23, from 3 to 5 o'clock. Preceding the social program was a short business meeting, at which the following officers were elected for the coming year: first president, Catherine Bentley; second president, Elizabeth Bowers; secretary, Carolyn Watts.

An enthusiastic response was made to the invitation to Founder's Day by Dr. and Mrs. George W. Jeffers, who represented the college at the meeting. The Alumnae enjoyed the old annuals and the news the Jeffers carried to them of the Pre-nursing and Pre-library courses, the swimming pool, and the golf course at Longwood.

Coleman-Barker

Invitations have been received to the wedding on March 2 in the First Baptist Church, Lynchburg, at 8:30 p. m., of Miss Margaret Apperson Barker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carey Barker, of Lynchburg, and Paul Hill Coleman, son of the late Mr. and Mr. and Mrs. J. Tinsley Coleman of that city.

West-Hutchins

A wedding of interest throughout the state was solemnized at St. Paul's, Suffolk, Feb. 23 at 5 o'clock, when Miss Frances Lorymna Hutchins, daughter of City Clerk and Mrs. Charles Lee Hutchins, became the bride of Joshua Cottingham West, third, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. West, Jr.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Edward Hubbard announce the engagement of their daughter, Margaret Armistead, to Mr. Walter Jackson Seeley of Kew Gardens, Long Island, New York. Mr. Seely is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Seely of Kew Gardens. No date has been set for the wedding.

Mrs. Dupont Contributes Statuary Hall

Mrs. Alfred I. DuPont, better known to Farmville as Miss Jessie Ball, contributed $25,000 to the Virginia Museum. This amount will be used for a statuary hall, which will be in the center of the museum. It will be dedicated to the memory of Mary Custis Washington, mother of Washington, and the central figure will be a statue of the mother presenting the son with a knife after persuading him not to go to sea.

William Douglas Blanton, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Blanton, of Richmond, announce the birth of a son, William Douglas Blanton, Jr., on Wednesday, Feb. 13, at the Southside Hospital. Mrs. Blanton will be remembered here as Miss Louie Morris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Morris.

Noted Educator Dies

Dr. Lyon G. Tyler, noted educator and son of John Tyler, tenth president of the United States, died Feb. 12, at his home in Charles City County. Surviving Dr. Tyler is his second wife, the former Miss Sue Ruffin, and several children.

Dorothy Stone Resumes Work

Dorothy Stone of Newport News will return to schol to resume her work at the beginning of the Spring Quarter.

Ruth Flippen

News of the death of Miss Ruth Flippen, of Stuart, Virginit, has been recently reported to the Alumnae Office. Her death occurred Feb. 13, 1935, at Mt. Airy N. C.

Miss Flippen was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Flippin of Stuart. She was graduated from Stuart High School and attended State Teachers College, Farmville and Roanoke National Business College.

POETRY COLUMN

Life's Test

If never a sorrow came to us, and never a care we knew.
If every hope were realized, and every dream came true,
If only joy were found on earth, and no one ever sighed,
And never a friend proved false to us, and never a loved one died.
And never a burden bore us down, soul-sick and weary, too,
We'd yearn for feats to prove our worth, and tasks for us to do.

Sonnet
Edna St. Vincent Millay

Time does not bring relief, you all have lied
Who told me time would ease me out of my pain.
I miss him in the weeping of the rain.
I want him at the shrinking of the tide.
The old snows melt from every mountain side,
And last year's leaves are smoke in every lane.
But last year's bitter loving must remain
Heaped on my heart, and my old thoughts abide!
There are a hundred places where I fear
To go—so with his memory they brim,
And entering with relief some quiet place
Where never fell his foot or shone his face.
I say, "There is no memory of him here!"
And so stand stricken so remembering him!

SONNET
Edna St. V. Millay

I think I should have loved you presently,
And given in earnest words I flung in jest,
And lifted honest eyes for you to see
And caught your hand against my cheek and breast,
And all my pretty follies flung aside
That won you to me, and beneath your gaze,
Naked of reticence and shorn of pride
Spread like a chart my little wicked ways.
I, that had been to you, had you remained,
But one more, waking from a recurrent dream
Cherish no less the certain stakes I gained
And walk your memory's halls, austere, supreme,
A ghost in marble of a girl you knew
Who should have loved you in a day or two.

I Am Not Sorry

I am not sorry for my soul,
That it must go unsatisfied.
A soul can live a thousandfold
Eternity is deep and wide.
I am not sorry for my soul,
But oh! my body that must go
Back to the little drift of dust
Without the joy it longed to know.

ADVICE

By the time you swear you're his,
Shivering and sighing,
And he vows his passion is Infinite—undying—
Lady, make a note of this:
One of you is lying.

Age

Age is a quality of mind.
If you've left your Dreams behind,
If Hope is cold,
If you no longer look ahead,
If your ambition fires
Are dead,
Then you are old.

Travel and Love

How will he know, unless he go
To Hawaii and Cathay,
Whether or not his love for me
Is true in every way?
Now it may be the girl for him
Is here beneath his nose;
But how can he tell, unless he smell
The Carthaginian rose.
The fabric of his faithful love
I'm sure won't dim or ravel
While he stays here—but oh, my dear,
If he should ever travel!

SOCIALS

The trials and tribulations of many an S. T. C. girl were cast aside last week-end. Since exams are fast approaching, it seems that we must take our cuts while we may.

Those attending the Midwinter dances at V. M. I. in Lexington were: Jennie Belle Gilliam, Dorothy Glover, Frances Parker, and Caroline Wilkins.

Several girls enjoyed the Pan-Hellenic dances at Randolph-Macon College in Ashland. Among those attending were: Berniece Jones, Evelyn Knaub, Ann Mears, Mary Lee Powell, and Evelyn Wilson.

At home were: Virginia Baker, Lucy Baylor, Sally Rose Chappelle Carolyn Crouch, Ida Sue Carter, Agnes Crockett, Margaret Carroll, Margaret Clark, Georgie Custis, Margaret Drake, Myrtle Laura Dodd, Mildred Davis, Martha Glenn Davis, Lucille Akers, Nell Boswell, Helen Boswell, Sarah Beck, Edna Bolick, Elizabeth Booth, Leah Davis, Richie Adelle Ellis, Sue Eastham, Henrietta Eichelberger, Martha Hamlet, Annie Watson Holden, Elizabeth Harris, Pattie Jeffreys, Caroline Jones, Margaret Jones, Blanche Kahn, Virginia Hannah, Clara Hardey, Dena Harvey, Evelyn Hastens, Betty Harrison, Mildred Habel, Lelia Hill, Doris Isbell, Audrey Mattox, Mary Eliz. Minor, Katherine Milby, Belle Lovelace, Carter Belle Munt, Ruth Montgomery, Lucille Moseley, Virginia Martin, Jean McClure, Anne Peple, Isabel Plummer, Dorothy Price, Marion Pond, Eliz. Overbey, Rose Puller, Louise Partridge, Kathleen Powell, Virginia Payne, Pauline Pearson, Mena Smelley, Marguerite Rollins, Marjorie Robertson, Anthelia Robinette, Dot Rust, Eunice Tanner, Zaida Thomas, Nan Page Trent, Dot Turner, Eliz. Trent, Isabelle Tanner, Ruth Showalter, Nan Seward, Edith Sanford, Rose Somers, Eliz. Smith, Rose Walton, Julia Ann Waldo, Mary H. Vaughan, Charlotte Young, Janie Lee Young, Marjorie Woolfolk, Frances Wilson, Eliz. Walton, Katherine Walton, Dot Wise, Goldie Williams, Catherine Zimmerman, Eleanor Wade.

To Richmond: Jean Willis, Sue Waldo, Hazel Smith, Helen Smith, Florence Sanford, Zilla Newsom, Bess McGlothlin, Eleanor Mitchell, Lelia Mattox, and Kitty Chappell.

To Norfolk: Mabel Aydlette, Catherine Gillespie, Mabel Murden, Juanita Zeigler.

To Lynchburg: Dot Robertson, Grace Allen Pittard, Lorna Smiley, Frances Maxey, Ellen Mason, Jacqueline Johnson, Helen Harris, Mary Harrison, Grace Va. Bass.

Other places visited: Virginia Agee, Rocky Mount; Ethel Burgess, Fork Union; Mabel Britt, Boykins; Eliz. Butterworth, De Witt; Emma Bingham, Sandy Hook; Marjorie Bradshaw, Crewe; Louise Briggs, Sebrell; Eliz. Carroll, Rocky Mount; Annie Campbell, Gordonsville; Mary Louise French, Sunny Side; Margaret Fraley, Rocky Mt. Frances Faris, Salem; Frances Jamison, Rice; Evelyn Howell, Franklin; Virginia Lee, Alta Vista; Irene Lacy, Sandy Hook; Bonnie Lane, Williamsburg; Eliz. Morris, Rock Mt.; Lilian Powell, Boykins; Nellie Pierpont, Salem; Agnes Thompson, South Hill; Mary Lynn Thomas, South Hill; Minnie Smith, South Hill; Patsy Saunders Bedford; Iris Rountree, Williamsburg; Brooks Wheeler, Baltimore.

Winnie Frances Eubank and Carmen Clark spent the week-end at Westhampton College.

Evelyn Montgomery attended the game and dance at Annapolis last week-end.

Frances Woodhouse attended the boxing matches at University of Virginia last week-end.

Curse of a Lonely Heart

Blessed be the ties that bind
Our friendly hearts—but gee!
Cursed be the railroad ties
That keep you far from me!!!

51ST ANNIVERSARY FEATURES "MESSIAH"

Marie Murray Assists In Program

All those who were fortunate enough to hear Handel's immortal Oratorio "The Messiah" at the Fiftieth anniversary at State Teachers College, Farmville, last year, will be interested to know that "Messiah" will be part of the Founders Day program this year. The College Choir and Choral Club, composed of 100 voices, and four national artists will combine in rendering Part I of Handel's "Messiah" and excerpts from Bach and Mendelssohn's Oratorio "Elijah", on Friday evening, March 8th, at 8:15 o'clock. An added feature will be the presentation of the "Scene and Prayer" from Mascagni's "Cavallerina Rusticana," in which the entire chorus and artists will join as a climax to this beautiful program. The soprano soloist, Miss Alice Armstrong Kimball, has been soloist with the Handel and Haydn Oratorio Society of Boston; Miss Marie Murray, contralo, soloist with the Boston Symphony Orchestra; John Herrick, baritone, National Broadcasting star and concert artist. (Incidentally Mr. Herrick sings over WJZ every Saturday night at seven o'clock). The tenor, Mr. William N. DeRoin also comes highly recommended.

Following is the program:

PART I.

"The Messiah" ..... Handel

Part the First

Overture
Comfort Ye) Recit
Every Valley) Air
And the Glory of the Lord ..... Chorus
Thus saith the Lord) Recit
But who may abide) Air
O Thou that tellest ..... Air and Chorus
Rejoice Greatly ..... Soprano and chorus
Then shall the eyes ..... Recit
He shall feed His flock ..... Contralto soprano and chorus
Hallelujah Chorus

PART II

My Heart ever Faithful ..... Bach
Alice Armstrong Kimball
Recit. "Ye people rend your hearts")
) (Elijah) .... Mendelssohn Aria "If with all your hearts")
William N. DeRoin
Choral "O Morning Star, how fair how bright" ..... Bach
"List" the Cherubic Host (Holy City) ..... Gaul
College Choir—Choral Club
O Rest in the Lord (Elijah) ..... Mendelssohn
Marie Murray
It is enough (Elijah) ..... Mendelssohn
John Herrick
Chorals "Commit thy ways to Jesus" ..... Bach
"Lord Christ of God Supernal" ..... Bach
"Scene and Prayer" (Cavalleria Rusticana) ..... Mascagni
College Choir—Choral Club

Radio Highlights

Wednesday

8:30 WEAF—Wayne King Orchestra
10:00 WEAF—Lombardo Orchestra.
10:30 WEAF—Ray Noble's Orchestra
9:30 WABC—George Burns and Gracie Allen.
11:05 WABC—Belasco Orchestra
8:30 WJZ—Lanny Ross, tenor

Thursday

8:30 WEAF—Rudy Valee.
9:30 WEAF—Captain Henry's Showboat
10:00 WEAF—Paul Whiteman
9:00 WABC—Glenn Gray's orchestra
9:30 WABC—Fred Waring
11:00 WABC—Paul Whiteman
7:45 WJZ—Ruth Etting

Friday

9:30 WABC—Ten Flo-Rita and Dick Powell
10:00 WOR—Hal Kemp
9:30 WJZ—Phil Baker - Belasco Orchestra

Saturday

11:00 WABC—Glenn Gray's Orchestra
12:00 WABC—Dance Music until 1:30 A. M.
7:15 WJZ—Wayne King
10:45 WJZ—Lombardo

Sunday

7:00 WJZ—Jack Benny
7:30 WJZ—Joe Penner
7:30 WABC—Pickens Sisters
8:00 WABC—Eddie Cantor

Going Away?.....
Travel by
GREYHOUND
Safe—Comfortable—Economical

S. A. Legus
TAILOR
CLEANING
PRESSING
REPAIRING
Phone 203

Campus Comments

What dashing young man about town has been trying to make time with Virginia Leonard?

What did the lonesome gals up here do this past week-end? We know that their paths are destined.

What charm, what grace as you displayed in sing Saturday night. Congratulations! Ella!

What charming senior has gone for the navy in a big way?

What lovely little blond from Clarkesville spends her Sundays dressing for Gus—P. S. Gus never shows up.

It seems as if it takes two hints to make three particular freshman understand that productions aren't free.

Whose gloves will Jean McClure wash to get to the next Hampden-Sydney dances?

Wednesday night will be our big night for Anne Irving. She gets off campus. Watch your step, Green.

Wonder what kind of eyes Evelyn Montgomery made at Annapolis this week-end to get such a big pin?

We wonder if Tommy Graham is going away. He gave Mary Jane an all-week sucker.

And Miss Fitzpatrick said to her tapping class, "You had better learn both parts; you never can tell when you''r'e' going to be a lady."

Competition on both sides seems to help with Sue Mallory.

Why does June Allen like the marriage question?

"Tank" you'd better get your Daddy to come up to get you for the dances next time.

Zeta Tau Banquet

Zeta Tau Sorority had its annual spring banquet at Longwood Saturday night, Feb. 23, 1935. The banquet room was attractively decorated with candles and snapdragons, and a delicious four-course dinner was served.

Besides the active members of the sorority, there were present Miss Grace Mix, Pan-Hellenic adviser; Miss Virginia Bedford, faculty adviser; and Miss Mary Nichols, faculty member. Fourteen alumnae of the sorority returned for the banquet.

They were Marguerite Foster Mohr, Grace Virginia Woodhouse, Charlotte Hutchins, Mary K. Taylor, Hannah Crawley Young, Martha Von Shilling, Gladys Downer, Louise Van Lear, Ophelia Booker, Alice and Grace Rowell, Jac Morton, and Alberta and Alfreda Collings.

C. E. Chappell Co.
Stationery, Blank Books and School Supplies
Cigars, Cigarettes and Soda
Farmville, Virginia

Rice's Shoe Store
Street and Dress Shoes
Dancing Slippers Dyed
Correct fits our specialty 1t

Kleanwell
CLEANERS AND TAILORS
Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling ladies garments
Main Street, opposite Post office
Phone 98

Gray's Drug Store
QUALITY—PRICE—SERVICE
Come in and Get Acquainted
We are glad to have you with us!
Farmville, Virginia

Mack's
BARBER AND BEAUTY SHOP
323 Main Street
We use the Frederick Method
Hair cutting and thinning a Specialty

PRINTING.....
When you think of Printing think of
—The—
FARMVILLE HERALD

Lovely Spring Sweatefs, in all the new pastel colors. All wool in the new Jacquard knit. $2.00 values—S. T. C. Special $1.25
Zipper Spring Oxfords in white and white and brown. These shoes sell elsewhere in Farmville at $3.95. S. T. C. Special $3.45
Other Spring Oxfords in white, two tone tan and beige $2.49
SHOP AT THE THRIFT STORE
THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE
Farmville's Best Place to Shop!

—FOR—
EVERYTHING—SCHOOL SUPPLIES, CANDIES, FRUITS, CONFECTIONS, ETC.
GO TO.....
GILLIAM'S
Open 'till 9:00 p. m.

SHOES For All Occasions

Evening—Dress—Sports—Street Wear
$2.95 to $5.95
DAVIDSON'S

ARE YOU INTERESTED?
JACKETS of Grain and Suede Cloth and Wool SWEATERS.
We are showing the season's newest. Come in. We are glad to show—Just what we have—and the line is very attractive.
VERSER'S

PHILCO RADIO
World's largest manufacturers of Radio
A complete line
Watch repairing a specialty
Sheet Music—Strings for Instruments
LYNN, The Main Street Jeweler

YOUR NEIGHBOR,
The Weyanoke Beauty Salon
invites you to drop in and take advantage of their Special prices now in effect.
Permanent Waves—$4 & $6 Shampoo & Fingerwave 75 cents
Manicure 40 cents
Individual, courteous, efficient service and an established reputation for dependability and satisfaction. That is our guarantee, and your assurance of perfect workmanship.

Sport News

S. T. C. of Farmville clashed with William and Mary's six on the latter's court last Friday, Feb. 22. The game was called at four o'clock and provided for an hour of nerve-racking excitement. This was the second game of the season. Although not successful in defeating Wm. and Mary, the team showed a great deal of improvement since the game last week at Harrisonburg. The final score was: William and Mary, 36; S. T. C., 17.

The outstanding players for Farmville were Sarah Beck and Ellen Gilliam, who played a wonderful defensive game. Martha Putney, Farmville's captain, who has played almost every position on the team, was transferred from the center to forward, where she continued her good playing.

Farmville's lineup was:

Putney	right forward
Hudgins	left forward
Ransom	jump center
Butterworth	side center
Beck	right guard
Gilliam	left guard

Tests of Will Power

Can you:

1. Meet a friend who is suffering from a cold and refrain from suggesting your favorite remedy?

2. Leave a party as soon as you've told your host you must go?

3. Mail a letter for someone else without glancing at the name and address on the envelope?

4. Locate the buzzer under the dining-room table without squirming around in your chair and making horrible faces?

5. Buy new shoe laces before the old ones break?

6. Clean out the attic without stopping to read old newspapers and magazines?

7. Pass a Wet Paint sign without touching the article to see if it is really wet?

8. Take the time and patience necessary to (a) refold a road-map, dress pattern, or railroad timetable in its original creases, or (b) dry your hands thoroughly on one paper towel?

9. Pass an excavation without loitering to watch the steam shovel at work?

10. Resist the impulse to push the Down elevator button even though half a dozen other people are already waiting for the car?

11. Drop a letter into a mailbox without clanking the lid noisily three or four times?

12. Clean your eye-glasses witohut (a) blowing on them, and (b) holding them to the light to see if they're clean?

Mardi Gras To Be Celebrated March 5

Continued from page 1

The queen will be accompanied by the rex who is Marion Humphries. Her court will include: Jennie Belle Gilliam escorted by Edward Renn; Jean McClure, by Bill Thomas; Evelyn Knaub, by Barbee Betts; Caroline Jones, by Cuss Owens; Belle Loveiace, by Frank Dunbar; Janice White, by Elwood Spickard; Hazel Smith, by Buddy Smith, and Kitty Roberts, by Maynard Smith.

College Papers Do Not Have to Pay Tax

Continued from page 1

the NRA question, other matters of business taken up at the meeting will be discussed in detail at the next regular session of the V. I. P. A. which convenes in Harrisonburg next fall. Miss Virginia Cox, of Harrisonburg, president of the V. I. P. A. convention for 1935-'36, presided at the meeting in Richmond, Saturday. Lelia Mattox represented The Rotunda.

Sophomores Conduct Prayers This Week

The Sophomore Class is in charge of prayers this week. On Monday night they were led by Caroline Jones, who spoke on the building of character. Bess McGlothlin, led prayers Tuesday evening, and took as the theme of her talk the Biblical quotation, "Judge not that you be not judged." Marjorie Bradshaw will have charge tonight, and Zaida Thomas will conduct them on Thursday night. There will be Vespers as usual on Friday night.

World News

Washington: President Roosevelt's $4,880,000,000 relief bill emerged from the Senate with a 44 to 43 vote in favor of adding McCarran's prevailing wage amendment to the bill. In view of the fact that this would necessitate credit by adding approximately $2,340,000,000 to the funds necessary for carrying out the relief project, the administration leaders have sent the bill back into the Senate's appropriation committee for reconsideration. The bill in its present form seems to defeat the purpose for which it was originally planned, since the drain on the treasury would be so great, and the unemployed would seek the governmental jobs rather than those of private industry. Since, however, it is certain the president will veto it, we can rest assured that the bill will hardly be passed with the prevailing wage amendment attached.

Paraguay: Paraguay submitted her resignation to the League of Nations after being threatened by the League to put a stop to her war in the Chaco. Being successful lately in marching through the Chaco region to reach Bolivia's rich oil fields, Paraguay does not consider it to be to her advantage to continue as a member of the League and submit to their peace requirements. She is subject to the League's jurisdiction for two years, anyway, and Geneva is now worried over what punishment should be inflicted on Paraguay as a peace breaker in the Chaco.

Germany: The Nazi government is busy with construction work believed to be military. The barbed wire enclosing the erection of two and three-story buildings, the leveling of broad fields, and other occupations which have employed hundreds of men has up to this time been kept such a secret that writing or talking about them meant imprisonment or death.

Russia: The Soviet government has upset the hope for European security through the Anglo-French London Proposals by insisiting on Germany sharing in an eastern as well as a western agreement. The London Proposals provide fundamentally for a western peace pact, bringing in Germany by granting the Reich military equality, but England, has been unsuccessful so far in concerning Germany with an eastern pact. The British contemplate sending ministers to Moscow for discussion of the problem in the near future.

A Secret

I have a treasure quite unknown
The dearest one of all I own.
It lies beneath the open sky,
Far from the high road rushing by.
A little spring-shaped like a cup
Where joy is ever bubbling up.
And often through the lovely day
On eager feet I steal away
To kneel upon its fern-ringed brink,
And take a deep, cool, sparkling drink.

—L. H. '35.

Calendar

March 4—
Virginian 7:00; Athletic Association, 7:00, A. K. G., 8:00.
March 5—
Pi Gamma Mu 8:30
Student Council 10:00
March 6—
Y. W. Cabinet 5:00
Rotunda 7:00-7:30
March 7—
Artist Dance Group.....4:15

"College Humor"

The big clock in the Rotunda had just struck twelve on a winter's night at S. T. C. All was dark and silent; at least all was supposed to be dark and silent. There was one exception. Upstairs in our room in the Annex all was noise and bustle, warmth and light.

Outside, the rain tapped softly with insistent fingers at my windowpane. Inside, many girls were sitting around on beds, pillows, and the floor, in various stages of undress.

In the middle of my bed was an enormous box, which had been delivered to us by Aunt Lucy. In this box were all things estable and dear to a college girl's heart. There were pickles, olives and cheese, almond cake and chocolates; ham, fried chicken, and, best of all, angel cake.

There was more than enough for us. A few of our best friends joined us in celebrating so momentous an occasion, and we were fast deminishing the plentiful supply.

Suddenly in the midst of our hilarity a stealthy foot step was heard. A dead silence held us as Jane whispered frantically.

"Sh! it's Miss Mary. What shall we do?"

At once the lights went off. A shuffle and bustle of noise followed. Anne scrambled under the bed while Jean leaped into it. Eugenia rushed toward the closet; Janet, through excitement, hurled a sandwitch against the window. I was simply bewildered and stood like a stone wall We all thought that our day of doom had come.

Tap, tap, tap! The steps came nearer a nndearer. Abruptly the door opened and—a tall girl appeared.

"Did anyone in this room get a box marked "Sixty-six'?"

A dreadful fear came over us. The numbers sixty-six were only too vivid on the cover of the box. Speechless with dismay and embarrassment, we pointed to the empty package.

6 Delegates From Youth Conference

Continued from page 1

9:30-11:00 a. m. — Discussion Groups.
11:00-11:30 a. m.—Worship Service. Federation of Christian Young People.
11:30-12:30 p. m.—Address, "Lost Path to the Secret Place," Dr. Harry Holmes.
1:00-5:00 p. m.—Recreation and Meeting of Committees. Discussion Groups if desired.
6:00 p. m.—Banquet.
8:00 p. m.—Address, "Making Our Ideals Work," Dr. Daniel A. Poling.

And Sunday saw the conference drawn to a conclusion with:
9:00-9:30 a. m.—Worship Service led by College Group.
9:30-10:30 a. m.—Address, "The Divine Quest". Dr. Harry Holmes.
2:30 p. m.—Report of Group Findings.
3:00-3:45 p. m.— Address — Dr. Harry Holmes.
3:45 p. m.—Closing Commitment Service.

Delegates attended the conference from all churches in Richmond and the surrounding area. Among the colleges represented were: The Virginia University Union: Bridgewater College Emory and Henry College; University of Richmond, Westhampton and Farmville.

Those attending the conference as delegated from the Farmville Y. W. C. A. were: Helen Smith, president; Carmen Clark, treasurer; Martha Glen Davis, secretary; Sue Waldo, Service Committee Chairman; Winnie Frances Eubank, Church Co-operative Committee Chairman; and Hazel Smith, Sing Committee Chairman.

In about twelve months the new teaching and adminstration building at V. P. I. is to be completed. The lecture hall in the new building will seat 3,000 without a gallery. The new auditorium will be used for public addresses, sound motion pictures.

EACO THEATRE
Mats. 4 p. m.; Nights 8 p. m.
Adults 25c; Children 15c
Unless otherwise noted

Thurs.-Fri. Feb. 28-M. 1
ALL STAR CAST
—in—
"David Copperfield"
Adults 25c and 35c

Sat., March 2 News
SYLVIA SYDNEY
GENE RAYMOND in
"Behold My Wife"

Clark Gable
ConstanceBennett
After Office Hours
Novelty and News
Adults 25c and 35c

Wed. March 6 Cartoon
RICHARD ARLEN
MADGE EVANS
—in—
"Helldorado"
Chapt. 5 "Tailspin Tommy"

Southside Drug Store
(On the Corner)
Films Developed FREE
If bought at this store

The Schemmel Conservatory of Music
Offers interesting instruction by Artist Teachers, arranged to suit the needs of each pupil. Piano: Elsa Schemmel Fairchild, Marie Schemmel Shroder. Voice: Mattie Spencer Willis. Violin: Richmond Seay of Blackstone College.

Farmville Mfg. Co.
BUILDING MATERIALS
MILLWORK
Farmville, Va.

You Would Love to Have Your Shoes Fixed at
Lovelace Shoe Shop
110 Third Street

ROOM FURNISHINGS
SCHOOL SUPPLIES
CANDIES
ROSES
5-10-25c Store
FARMVILLE, VA.

Overton-Mottley Hdwe. Co.
ELECTRIC GOODS!
Tennis Rackets and balls
Roller Skates

Shannon's
Is Headquarters for the Best
SANDWICHES
—and—
DRINKS
in Farmville!

Special orders for
Teas and Parties
Try our doughnuts
Foley's Bakery
Third Street

WILLIS
The Florist
Flowers for all occasions
PHONES 181-273

Conoco Gas and Oil
Fill up at
Johns Motor Co.
Farmville, Va.

Martin the Jeweler
Gifts of
Lasting Remembrance
317 Main St. Farmville

POTTED MEATS
SANDWICH SPREAD
SANDWICH ROLLS
HOT DOGS
Everything for the Picnic
W. R. Drumeller
Main Street Farmville

Cleaning at reduced rates
State Cleaning Co.
Third Street

SUPPERS AND
SMALL PARTIES
Good Breakfast
Dinners
Suppers
College Tea Room
and
LONGWOOD

Buy Your
CANDY
To Sell at
H. T. Stokes & Co.

G. F. Butcher
High Street
"The Convenient Store"
FOR GOOD THINGS
TO EAT AND DRINK

Electric Shoe Shop
Will Fix Your Shoes
While You Wait
BEST WORKMANSHIP
AND LEATHER USED

The Fashion Shoppe
Reflects the newest styles. All dresses $2.95 up
COATS, SUITS, DRESSES, UNDERWEAR
Silk Hose
Fine quality ..... 49c 59c and 69c

SPRING SPORT SHOES
Brown and white combination and sketched here. The ideal campus shoe that puts you at the head of footwear class.
$3.95 PAIR
OTHERS at $3.5 to $6. New zipper styles and dress "blues."
BALDWIN'S

JUST RECEIVED, New shipment of Evening and Dance Frocks. Specially priced
$5.95-$7.85 and $9.85
GEORGEOUS TWIN SWEATERS for Spring, in two tone color combination ..... $1.97 and $2.97
SKIRTS TO MATCH ..... $1.97 and $2.94
SHOP THE DOROTHY MAY WAY
Farmville's Only Exclusive Women's Store
DOROTHY MAY STORES
FARMVILLE, VA.

WEAR WHITE ON FOUNDER'S DAY

The Rotunda

We Teach To Teach

CONGRATULATIONS MARDI GRAS COMMITTEE

Volume XV. FARMVILLE, VA., MARCH 6, 1935 No. 20

Mardi Gras Dance Is Colorful Affair

Lucy Potter Crowned Celebration Queen

COLLEGIANS PLAY

Approximately seven hundred pleasure seekers attended the annual Mardi Gras of Farmville State Teachers College. This statement in itself bespeaks the sensational success of this project sponsored by the members of Gamma Mu. Not only was Mardi Gras larger this year than last but the statement can be completed in saying that it was better in every way than last year. The big gymnasium was decorated in festive colors and the confetti and streamers added to the gayety of the costumed guests. The butcher, the baker, the candle stick maker, and all the rest were there dressed in their finest. Guessing games were the feature of th eevening due to the masked dancers.

The dance began promptly at 8:30 Tuesday evening and in a few minutes the floor was crowded and continued to grow more thickly populated during the evening. Tub Oliver and his Hampden-Sydney Collegians furnished music for the dance. At nine o'clock the floor was cleared and the bugle sounded the approaching coronation of the queen. Pages dressed in effec-

Continued on page 4, Col. 1

Director

MR. ALFRED H. STRICK, professor of music, who will direct the College Choir and Choral Club in their rendition of "The Messiah." Friday night.

Women Graduates Neglect Appearance for Intellect, Says Personnel Director

(By Associated Collegiate Press)

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—A new formula for success for women graduates of the Colleges and and universities in the United States was advanced here recently by Miss Jean L. Shepard, a New York personnel director.

And the reason most college women find it difficult to obtain jobs after graduation is because they neglect style consciousness for intellectual pursuits, she said.

"To succeed in business," she advised, "the average college girl must give more attention to her appearance, and that means more than being well dressed. In sweater and skirt, the college girls look attractive on the campus, but I am shocked to see how lacking these same girls are in smartness and chic when they come to New York."

Debaters of S. T. C. Oppose Waynesburg

S. T. C. held a dual debate with Waynesburg College, Pennsylvania, this morning, Wednesday, at 11:00 o'clock in the small auditorium and recreation hall. The question for the debate was Resolved: That Nations Should Agree to Prevent the International Shipment of Arms and Munitions. The affirmative side was upheld by Agnes Bondurant and Margaret Pollard; the negative, supported by Louise Francis and Dudley Allen.

These four S. T. C. debaters will leave Thursday morning for Hickory, North Carolina, where they will participate in the South Atlantic Tournament to be held on March 7, 8, and 9. Thirty-six schools will be represented in this tournament. Each debater will take part in five debates. On Friday there will be a luncheon at which the contestants will give after-dinner and extemporaneous speeches.

Juniors Win Prize For Best Rotunda

Committee Judges the Freshman Edition Second

A committee composed of Miss Jennings, Dr. Jeffers, and Mr. Holton announced today that the prize of two dollars and a half for the publication of the best Rotunda will be awarded the junior class. Honorable mention is accorded the freshman class.

The four classes entered into competition during the month of February for the publication of the best paper, each class publishing The Rotunda one week The freshmen published it first, with Elizabeth Morris as editor-in-chief. The sophomore class was scheduled to publish The Rotunda next, but because this date and that of the sophomore production conflicted, the junior class published it instead, with Kitty Hoyle as editor-in-chief. The senior class edited The Rotunda the third week in February with Lois Moses as editor-in-chief, and last, the sophomore class edited the paper with Berniece Jones, editor-in-chief.

Mechanics, content, and general make-up of the entire paper are the bases upon which the committee judged the class editions of The Rotunda.

Examination Schedule March 12-15

Day and Hour of Examination	Class Hour
Tuesday
8:30	11:00 M. W. F.
11:00	12:00 M.W.F.
4:00	4:00 P. M.
7:15	7:15 M. W.
Tuesday
Wednesday
8:30	8:30 T. T. S.
11:00	9:30 T. T. S.
1:10	2:10 T.T.
Thursday
8:30	11:00 T. T. S.
11:00	12:00 T. T. S.
1:10	3:10 P. M.
Friday
8:30	8:30 M. W. F.
11:30	9:30 M. W. F.

Dan Gregory Chosen to Play For Spring Cotillion March 23

To Play For Cotillion

Dan Gregory

Dan Gregory has been contracted to provide music at the spring dance of the Cotillion Club. The orchestra consists of thirteen artists including Fat Gority, entertainer, and features two vocalists—Gene Kobler and Bob Lenig. The date fixed for the occasion is March 23.

There was considerable discussion as to whether the club should have a dansante Saturday afternoon or not. However, with the consent of the administration and the majority vote of with the consent of the administhe members of the club, the officers are going forward with plans for a dansante, Last spring, Cotillion was the inauguration of an afternoon dance and because of its success the members voted for another one this year.

The figure will be somewhat different this spring. Last year the club selected fifty members to be in the figure. This year all active members, including girls bid in the fall quarter and freshmen, will participate. Because this will make the figure much larger it is necessary that every member be present at all rehearsals. Any girl who misses two rehearsals will be asked not to participate in the figure.

Gamma Psi will decorate for the dances. Tickets will be available March 11, and members have been urged to get theirs as soon as possible.

Committee Announces Publications Heads

The editors-in-chief and business managers of The Virginian for 1935-36, the college annual year book, and for The Rotunda, weekly journalistic publication, will be announced in chapel on Saturday, March 16.

Instead of being elected as has been the custom in former years, the heads of these publications were selected by the following committee: Lelia Mattox, chairman, Elizabeth Vassar, Mr. Holton, Mr. McCorkle, and Janice White. This committee was elected by the student body upon the recommendation of the Student Council.

'57 Varieties' Ends Class Productions

Friday night marked the end of the class productions when the freshmen presented "57 Varieties," an original musical comedy. It was directed by Miss Jane Royall, classman, and Anne Peple, class president. Mary Joyner Cox originated and taught the dances, assisted by Eleanor Dodson who had charge of almost all the costumes. Madeline McGlothlin did the staging with the aid of Elizabeth Scott.

The story was in three acts; the first was laid in a typical college bedroom occupied by several students who were discussing the heart affairs of one of their crowd. All but one, "the bookworm," left to go to a dance; she fell asleep over her magazine. Her dream, including advertisements, fiction, and fashions, composed the second act. The closing scene took place back in the college room as the girls returned from the dance. They woke the bookworm, Norvel Montague, to tell her of the fun and of the reconciliation of their friend and her sweatheart. Their noise brought in the dean who blamed the poor bookworm for the whole thing.

Old and new songs were cleverly woven into the plot and into the dream, as well as snappy dances to add "variety."

Rank of Academic Institutions Given Teachers Colleges

State Board Decision Authorizes Granting B. A. & B. S.

FACULTY IS SAME

(From The Richmond Times-Dispatch)

The four State Teachers Colleges in the state were raised to the rank of academic institutions Saturday by a resolution of the State Board of Education which authorized the granting of an A. B. degree as well as the B. S. in education. A change in curriculum was necessitated by the decision and the following requirements were approved: two years of either Latin or Greek, two years of history, two years of English, two years of science, one year of mathematics, one year of a modern language, one year of philisophy or psychology and one year of a social science other than history.

In announcing the Board's decision Dr. Sidney B. Hall stated that the changes were made to meet the need for more academic training of teachers and for the need of furnishing cultural education to Virginia women not planning to teach. Under the new ruling the four colleges will be on equal academic standing with other accredited institutions offering the A. B. and B. S. degrees.

Further requirements laid down as core curriculum by the State Board of Education include: 63 session hours, equivalent to 126 semester hours or 189 quarter hours of which 39 of the 63 session hours would be in required subjects and 24 in electives. The 39 credit hours would be distributed as follows: English 6; foreign language 9, including 6 in Latin or Greek; history 6; social science 3; mathematics 3; science 6; philosophy or psychology 3; physical education and hygiene 3. Three credit hours in a subject equals one year's work.

Continued on page 4, Col. 1

51st Anniversary Celebration Begins Friday, March 8

Longwood Club Requests Cooperation of Students

The Longwood Garden Club has been given permission by Dr. Jarman to work on the circle at the end of the boxwood at Longwood.

The Club has begun work on the circle. By mulching the box and constructing a temporary supporting rock wall they hope to preserve the box. They plan to construct rock steps leading up to the circle and to make a flag-stone top with a round bench inside the circle.

In order that the Club's plans may go forward rapidly and that the improvements may be completed by May Day, S. T. C. Students are urgently requested to keep away from the circle of boxwood until the work being done is entirely finished.

Conservatory Music Students in Recital

The Schemmel Conservatory of Music presented a number of pupils in an unusually interesting recital of vocal and piano numbers on last Tuesday.

The following school girls took part in the recital: Annette Roberts, Ernestine Payne, Lucy Baylor, Caroline Jones, Alfreda Strick, Jeannette Jones, Lila Jacob, Sylvia Somers, Goldie Williams, Mildred Meeks, Eleanor Wood, and Sara Canada. Others taking part on the program were: Mr. Edwin Cralle, Mrs. Florence Cralle Bell of Hampden-Sydney, Mrs. Florence Glenn Caldwell of Prospect, and Miss Elizabeth Ranson of Dillwyn. Miss Mattie Willis accompanied the singers.

E. & H. Debaters Lose To Farmville

Dr. M. Allan of H.-S. Evaluates the Points

S. T. C. girls successfully upheld the affirmative side of the debate here with Emory and Henry College last Thursday evening at eight o'clock in the small auditorium. The question was Resolved: That the nations should agree to prevent the international shipment of arms and munitions.

Agnes Bondurant and Catherine Crews upheld the affirmative side of the question. George Thompson and S. C. Beard, of Emory and Henry College, upheld the negative. Grace Collins, a member of the S. T. C. Debate Club, presided.

Dr. Allan, of Hampden-Sydney, who was critic judge, gave a most worthwhile criticism of the debate. He evaluated the arguments put up by both sides and discussed the treatment of these arguments, pointing out the weaknesses and strong points on both sides. He said the points at issue didn't clash as much as they might have, but were more like pop-gun firing.

After the debate, the S. T. C. Debate Club entertained the speakers in the Student Building Lounge.

Governor G. C. Peery Principal Speaker Saturday

DANCE MARCH 9

The fifty-first anniversary exercises at Farmville State Teachers College will begin Friday, March 8, at 5:00 p. m. and continue through Saturday and Saturday evening.

Governor George C. Peery will be the principal speaker at the exercises March 9. As outlined by Dr. Jeffers, chairman of the Founder's Day Committee, the program Friday will be a presentation of the first part of Handel's "The Messiah" by the College Choir, the College Choral Club and four well known singers. The Friday evening presentation of "The Messiah" is the first of what is planned as an anual event of the college during the founder's day observance.

The program in full for both days of the celebration will be as follows:

Friday, March 8—

5:00 p. m.—In the gymnasium —Folk Dance Demonstration by the Freshman class.

8:00 p. m.—In the Auditorium —"The Messiah."

Saturday Events—

9:00 a. m.—Student Building Auditorium—Business Meeting of the Association of Alumnae.

11:00 a. m.—College Auditorium—Dance Orchestra Recital—Presentation of Gifts.

1:00 p. m.—Longwood—Alumnae Luncheon.

3:00 p. m.—Gymnasium—Basketball, Alumnae Versus Varsity

4:00 p. m.—Informal teas for Reunion Classes. Alumnae are invited to visit and swim in the swimming pool, Saturday afternoon from 2:45 to 4:30.

6:00 p. m.—College Dining Hall —Founder's Day Dinner—His Excellency George C. Perry and Mrs. Peery will be guests of honor.

10:00 p. m.—Gymnasium—Founder's Day Dance.

Dr. Wynne to Teach New Course of Study

In the spring quarter a new course for seniors on the use and supervising the use of the New Virginia State Courses of Study will be offered. All seniors in Courses I, II, and III, who wish to take this course should sign for it Thursday, March 7, when they make their schedules for the spring quarter. No definite hours can be set until after the schedules are made. Dr. Wynne will call a meeting of those signing for the new course as soon as possible for the purpose of helping them plan an organization for the group that will serve as many interests as can be met under the practical conditions.

The seniors of this college already have had two courses in the field of curriculum making. Those preparing to teach in the elementary schools have had some experience in dealing with curriculum problems in education 361 and 362. Those preparing to teach in the secondary schools have had similar experience in Education 337 and 435. Furthmore, most of these students have

Continued on page 4, Col. 2

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Published by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

MEMBER
Associated Collegiate Press
1934 Collegiate Digest 1935
MADISON WISCONSIN

Staff

Lelia Mattox ..... Editor
Evelyn Massey ..... Associate Editor
Lena Mac Gardner ..... Business Manager

Board of Editors

Miss Jane Royall ..... Alumnae
Florence Sanford ..... Make-up
Susan Gresham ..... Headlines
Kathryne Cotten ..... Literary
Birdie Wooding, Emma Bingham, Bess McGlothlin ..... Editorials
Anne Putney ..... World News
Anne Diggs ..... Social

Alva Sawyer ..... Asst. Business
Maude Rhodes, Lila Jacob, Elsie Cabell ..... Circulation

Assistants and Reporters

Bonnie Lane, Minnie Smith, Mary Lee Newcomb, Elsie Cabell, Mary Adeline McGlothlin, Katherine Coleman, Elizabeth Mann, Grace Allen Pittard, Margaret Farrar

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 6, 1935

The Nomination Suggestions

The suggestion presented in student body meeting Monday night concerning the spring elections has found much favor among the leaders of the various organizations and seems to have the approval of the entire student body. The idea of having the different major organizations of the school suggest a possible list of candidates for nominations seems to be the solution which everyone has been seeking for some time.

The judgment of the student body in electing the right girls for the right offices has always been exceptionally fine. The chief difficulty has always been with the nomination, particularly those of the minor offices. Students in general, are familiar with the duties of the major officers, but outside of the officers themselves very few students are really acquainted with the duties of all the minor officers in the various organizations; for example, the student body knows that certain girls are interested in Y. W. work, but it does not know whether these girls would make better secretaries or vice-presidents.

There are certain outstanding and capable girls whom people wish to see in some office of responsibility; consequently, because everyone wants to be sure that they receive some one office, they are nominated for every major office. It is the aim of these committees composed of outgoing officers in each organization to suggest these girls, for the offices for which each girl is really best suited. This will make counting the nominations simpler and will be fairer to the girls nominated because if votes are concentrated on one office rather than scattered through all, these girls will have a much better chance of being nominated.

It is the desire, however, of each organization that the student body realize that these committees are in no sense of the word nominating committees, that the names posted are merely suggestions which it is hoped will help everyone concerned, and that the students may, as always, nominate any one at all, on or off the list.

The Spirit of Music

"Music the fiercest grief can charm
And faith's severest rage disarm.
Music can soften pain to ease
And make despair and madness 'pease'."
Pope

"Music has great power to surpass the limits of imagination, but the imagination has an almost equal facility in re-creating an dimagining afresh what it has once experienced. Thus, the sweet musical experiences usually occur in childhood. It is an astounding experience to hear for the first time a piano or organ played perfectly, a bass voice that is less noise than a well of deep sound, a soprano voice with no strain but pellucid and rich."

Men and women when wearied by their wanderings on the world's busy thoroughfare, turn to music for refreshment. Never before has there been such a need for music—music that will drive away care—music that breaks down prejudice and misunderstanding among peoples of all creeds, nationalities. Even though this is the day of boundless freedom, the truly artistic will master the commonplace. The world of music is a vast universe in itself. To live in it and respond to its appeal will make new creatures.

Last year when the "Messiah" was sung at the exercises of the Fiftieth anniversary of State Teachers College, it was a revelation to those who heard those young voices ring out in that glorious "Hallelujah" Chorus. This immortal Oratorio was first sung in Dublin, Ireland, March 1742, Handel, the composer, being then fifty-seven years old. The "Messiah" was given in London the following year and received with applause and admiration. At the words "For the Lord God omniponent reigneth," the king and every one present arose and remaned standng to the end. Thus was the custom of standng durng the Hallelujah chorus initiated. Since that time it is heard every year in every village and hamlet throughout England and on the Continent and now in America. Music is the one universal language understood by everybody.

'|Comfort Ye my people," "Every Valley shall be exalted," "O Thou that tellest good tidings to Zion, O thou that tellest good tidings to Jerusalem, say unto the cities of Judah, Behold your God!" "He shall feed his flock like a shepherd," "Speak ye comfortably to Jerusalem, and cry unto her that her warfare is occomplished, that her iniquity is pardoned." "Hallelujah," "For the Lord God Omnipotent reigneth," "And He shall reign forever and ever."

Thanks To V. I. P. A.

(Reprint from News Leader)

To the delight of its seniors, and in the interest of common-sense fair play, a youthful Virginia organization has blazed a new trial, along which the young people of every state will gratefuily walk.

Most unreasonably, Virginia college papers had been asked to pay a compliance fee to the graphic arts code authority. In a series of letters from officialdom, these student journalists had been told that if they did not remit, they would be defying NRA and would be haled into court. Emphatically, they must "play ball." It was preposterous, but, like many other preposterous things, itwas demanded.

The young editors were not convinced. They did not pay. Instead, they went to the NRA in Washington and asked for a chance to explain why they did not consider student publications in the "competitive" class.

They got results. At the business session here on Saturday, the members of the Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association were told by Maurice B. Uasch of the NRA, Division 7, that the legal department does not consider college journals in "competition" within the meaning of NIRA. If they apply as individuals, they will be relieved from paying the compliance fee and will have the right to continue the use of the NRA insignia.

Had not Virginia collegiate editors investigated, they would never have known that they had an appeal to Washington. They would have paid—and would have felt that NRA, as it applied to them, was worse than an absurditiy.

Thanks, then, to the vigorous V. I. P. A.! It is "on the job." Founded at Farmville in 1928, it is the only such organization in the country that has held regular meetings since that time.

ALCOHOLIC REVOLUTION

Dear James: I had twelve bottles of whiskey in my cellar the other day and my wife made me empty the contents of each and every bottle down the sink. So I did as my wife desired, withdrew the cork from the first bottle and poured the contents down the sink, with the exception of one glass which I drank. I then withdrew the cork from the second bottle and did likewise, with the exception of one glass which I drank. I then extracted the cork from the third bottle, emptied the good old booze down the sink except the glass which I devoured. I pulled the cork from the fourth sink and poured the bottle down the glass when I drank some. I pulled the bottle from the cork of the next and drank one sink out of it, and then threw the rest down myself. I pulled the sink out of the next cork and poured the bottle down my throat. I pulled the next bottle out of my throat and poured the cork down the bottle out of my throat and poured the cork down the sink, all but the sink, which I drank. I pulled the next cork out of my throat and poured the sink down the bottle and drank the cork. Well, I had them all empty and I steadied the house with one hand and counted the bottles with the other, which were twenty-four. I also counted them again when they came around and I had seventy-four, and as the house came around I counted them again.

Finally, I had all the houses and bottles counted and I proceeded to wash the houses but I couldn't get the bottles into the brushes, so I turned the bottles inside out and washed and wiped them and went upstairs and told my other half all about what I had done, and oh, boy!! I've got the wifest little nice in all the world!!—Selected.

Rotunda Reverberations

Things we're thankful for: "Frankie" McDaniel's alleged appreciation of good music . . . the comparative calmness of our fifty-first Founders' Day . . . Florence Sanford's ultra-fine ability in bull sessions . . . faculty members who cooperate with the seniors in presenting the game of the season . . . week-ends that begin on Thursday . . . term papers because they come but once a quarter.

We still think it's too bad that Miss Mary and the welcoming flowers couldn't arrive at the station at the same time.

Spring weather seems to inspire educators as well as poets. We hope the next quarter's influx of education students enjoy the new Cosmological Epistomology.

Things we love to death: Waking up at six o'clock in the morning and realizing there's a whole hour more to sleep . . . the pre-Mardi Gras excitement . . . the way Dr. Walmsley directs traffic when he teaches history . . . . W. C. Fields' characterization of Micawber . . . popcorn to crunch, and shadows on a firelit wall . . . taking our shoes off after a dance . . . a gril who remains calm even during the great event of dragging down a Special from the Home Office mantel . . . people who can express an idea without using a quotation . . . the return to nature of the eyebrow, which for so long has been shorn . . . the comforting amount of space three dots take up.

The bird that sings at dawn can't put anything over on Florence Tankard. But birds in their nest and room-mates in bed have a different attitudes toward life.

Things we can't forget: "57 Varieties" . . . examinations . . . too many, many chapel cuts . . . . Schubert's Serenade on a summer night . . . the regime of Hitler.

Mrs. Warren's friendly notes signed always, "Thanks, E. H. W." . . . . Lena Mac Gardner's willingnes to help anybody with a "woe-begone expression" . . . . that S. T. C. is a teacher's college.

Among Our Caps and Gowns

Sarah Beck

Courtesy News Leader

Editor's Note: This is the first in a series of pictures and write-ups of the ten most outstanding seniors. These seniors have been voted by the class as outstanding for their contributions to class and college activities during their four years here. The pictures and write-up swill appear in alphabetical order.

Generous, good natured, sincere—these are the characteristics we know Sarah for. In her work she has proved herself dependable, in her relationships friendly, and in her accomplishments capable as well as versatile.

Always an interested particicipant in sports, she started off as captain of the freshman basketball team, climbing to the same position in her sophomore year, and then to the captainship of Varsity in her junior year.

In recognition of her abilities as a leader Sarah was invited to become a member of Alpha Kappa Gamma, national honorary fraternity for leadership, of which organization she is now the secretary. She was elected by the student body to the position of president of the Athletic Association for the session 1934-'35. She has also been elected to be a lord in the May Court this year. She is a member of Sigma Sigma Sigma and of the Cotillion Club.

Although S. T. C. will suffer a loss with Sarah's graduation, she may justly feel proud of such a representative.

Stars Tonight

These poems have been selected from Sara Teasdale's book "Stars Tonight."

Night

Stars over snow,
And in the west a planet
Swinging below a star—
Look for a lovely thing and you will find it,
It is not far—
It never will be far.

The Coin

Into my heart's treasury
I slipped a coin
That time cannot take
Nor a thief purloin,—
Oh, better than the minting
Of a gold-crowned king
Is the safe-kept memory
Of a lovely thing.

"There Will Be Stars"

There will be stars over the place forever;
Though the house we loved and the street we loved are lost,
Every time the earth circles her orbit
On the night the autumn equinox is crossed,
Two stars we knew, poised on the peak of midnight
There will be stars over the place forever,
There will be stars forever, while we sleep.

The Falling Star

I saw a star slide down the sky,
Blinding the north as it went by,
Too burning and too quick to hold,
Too lovely to be bought or sold,
Good only to make wishes on
And then forever to be gone.

To Arcturus Returning

Arcturus, with the spring returning,
I love you best; I cannot tell
Why, save that your recurrent burning
Is spring's most punctual miracle.

You bring with you all longed—for things,
Birds with their song, leaves with their stir,
And you, beyond all other stars,
Have been man's comforter.

May Night

The spring is fresh and fearless
And every leaf is new,
The world is brimmed with moonlight,
The lilac brimmed with dew.

I catch my breath and sing—
Here in the moving shadows
My heart is fresh and fearless
And over-brimmed with spring.

Review of the News

After many months of negotiations the United States has concluded a tariff agreement with Belgium. The negotiations take the form of "reciprocal trade agreements," and reports from Washington indicate that we have granted concessions on 47 products and Belgium has granted us forty-five. No estimate about the volume of trade affected has been published but it is probable that the agreement will amount to very little as concessions were made on products which neither the United States nor Belgium import to a great extent. The reason for this is plain; our state department has as its guiding principle in regard to traffic the "most favored nation" clause—i. e., countries enjoying equal treatment must have the same concessions extended to them as to others in like position. In order to keep favors from becoming meaningless by the automatic passage of them to others, the change list must remain relatively small and apply to those products coming definitely from one special country.

It was a year ago that President Roosevelt asked Congress to allow him to negotiate tariff treaties as a method of combatting depression. Congress later authorized him to reduce existing tariffs as much as 50 per cent. Since then, our government has concluded three agreements: Cuba, which maintains a special status in trade relations; Brazil, which was granted concessions on 2.4 per cent of her exports to us in 1933; Belgium, which has completed an informal agreement with us.

"Reciprocity" sounds big, but, to date, negotiations have been so slow that any signs of returned prosperity are probably not attributed to it in any marked degree.

Great Britain, apparently, is restoring her balance of trade. This year her estimates on foreign trade show a deficit of 1,000,000 pounds as compared with 408,000,000 in 1931. A further fact worth noting was the estimated increase of 15,000,000 pounds over 1933 in income on on foreign investments. This increase has been ascribed to "partial assumption of interest payments" in many foreign lands and has been pointed out as in indication of recovery. British income plus revenue from short loans is estimated to be $1,047,000,000 at the present exchange value of the dollar and the pound.

Autumn Dusk

I saw above a sea of hills
A solitary planet shine,
And there was no one near or far
To kep the world from being mine.

SOCIALS

Last week's warm weather, reminding us of early spring, seemed to take many S. T. C. members away for brief week-end visits. They seem to know that these balmy days only last a short while and must be used to their best advantage.

At Home

Home always seems to head the list — but why shouldn't it? Among those who spent the week-end at "ye old homestead" are Nancy Wall, Lucile Ware, Elizabeth Ware, Dorothy Rust, Bebe Russell, Helen Smith, Elizabeth Shipplette, Nellie Pierpont, Addie Norfleet, Frances Maxey, June Allen, Sara Beck, Nancy Beard, Maude Deekins, Nancy Dodd, Virginia Hurt, Susan Lane, Belle Lovelace, Jennie Belle Gilliam, Merwyn Gathright, Marion Shoffner, Ada Pollick, Kathryn Spiers, Marcia Vick, Pauline Pearson, Bess McGlothlin, Rebecca Cousins and Chic Dortch.

Kitty Chappell, Mary E. Wood, Dorothy Robertson, Rose Walton, Edna Bolick, Mildred Chandler, Dorothy Bagley, Lucille Davis, Audrey Hawthorne, Evelyn Massey, Nora Jones, Katherine Harvey, Carolyn Crouch, Margaret Via, Elizabeth Rucker, Mary Louise French, Sylvia Dunnavant, Eleanor Dodson, Christine Childrey, Rose Marie Hunter, Evelyn Knaub, Mildred Meeks, Frances Jamerson, Dorothy Johnson, Mary Hunter, Evelyn Knaub, Mildred Meeks, Frances Jamerson, Dorothy Johnson, Mary and Ruth Hubbard, Eleanor Dunham, Frances Elder, Katherine Galusha, Virginia Saunders, Henrietta Salsbury, Frances Robertson, Billy Wilkenson, Marjorie Robertson, Marie Hundley, Sallie Rose Chappelle, Virginia Brown, Mary R. Block, Margaret Pittard, Kathleen McCann, Grace Allen Pittard, Kathleen Johnson, Dehla P. Chambliss, Ethel Burgess, and Elizabeth Puckette.

Spent the Week-end In Richmond

Quite a large number ventured to Richmond during the week-end—perhaps to buy their new spring outfits? They were Frances Parker, Mary Bowles, Elizabeth Harris, Elizabeth Spitler, Kitty Bass, Bobby Brooks, Winifred Goodman, Carolyn Jones, Zilla Newsom, Elizabeth Pinnell, Agnes Crockett, Emily Channell, Catherine Smoot, Virginia Baker, Billie Arthur, Jane Main and Rose Puller.

Lloyd Kelly, and Virginia Daughty spent the week-end in Kenbridge.

Among those who spent the week-end in Lynchburg are: Laeta Barham, Mary K. Denny, and Nancy Pobst.

Other places visited during the week-end are: Victoria by Mary Wilson Clark, and Josephine Quinn; Fredericksburg by Helen Boswell; Amelia by Katherine and Elizabeth Walton; Drakes Branch by Audrey Wilson and Elizabeth Trent; Petersburg by Mary E. Harrison; South Hill by Carter Belle Munt; Charlottsville by Lucy Potter; Clarksville by Katherine Fitzgerald; Crewe by Dudley Allen; Burkeville by Virginia Pilcher; Fork Union by Margaret Herndon; Gladys by Marion Layne; Halifax by Mary Ann Seales; Blackstone by Elizabeth Stubbs; Portsmouth by Charlotte Rice; and Blacksburg by Helen Fern Perdue.

Pi Kappa Sigma Sorority Has Annual Banquet

The Pi Kappa Sigma Sorority had its annual spring banquet, Saturday night, March 2, at Longwood. The color scheme of blue and yellow was carried out.

Besides the members of the sorority present, Miss Mix, Miss Iler, Mrs. Paulette, Mrs. Jack Harvey, Margaret Gathright, Miss Jane Royall, and Miss Mary Diehl attended.

Home Economics Classes Visit Places in Richmond

Senior majors in Home Economics went with Miss Jeter to Richmond, Wednesday, Feb. 27, to visit places of interest in connection with their work in Home Economics.

While they were in Richmond, they visited Kingan's meat market, Ewart's Cafeteria, Dutch markets, and Nolde's Bakery.

Those who went with Miss Jeter were: Annie Anthony, Virginia Brown,, Rebecca Cousins, Eleanor Holman, Madeline Martin, Martha Putney, Bobby Saunders, Libby Ware, Mrs. T. M. Trent, and Miss Myra Reese.

Members of the Interior Decoration class went with Miss Tupper to Richmond, Saturday, March 2, to Miller and Rhoades to study periodic furniture. Those who went with Miss Tupper were: Dorothy Billings, Christine Childrey, Agnes Crockett, Sallie Perrow, Elizabeth Spitler, and Frances Tilman.

Honor Fraternity To Convene Here

Joan Circle to Be Convention Hostess April 5-7

Representatives from colleges in which there is an active circle of Alpha Kappa Gamma will be the guests of the Joan Circle at S. T. C. this year for the national convention. Last year the convention was held at Queens Chicora in North Carolina and a number of S. T. C. girls attended.

The convention will convene on Friday afternoon, April 5, and will continue through the week-end. The circle is expecting around fifteen or twenty guests at this time. It is hoped that girls from colleges interested in chartering Alpha Kappa Gamma will attend the meetings and festivities.

The entertainment committee is planning to afford the best entertainment S. T. C. can boast. Friday night the members of the convention will attend the spring play of the Dramatic Club, "A Kiss For Cinderella" and Saturday night the convention banquet will be held, probably at Longwood.

Janice White is acting as chairman of the entertainment committee, Belle Lovelace as subchairman and Miss Jane Royall is acting as faculty adviser.

The program committee, made up of Tac Waters, chairman, Florence Sanford, Miss Stubbs and Miss Hiner, is hard at work securing speakers for the meetings and an after dinner speaker for the formal banquet. There are notables on the list of prospects but the names will be announced when the plans have progressed a little farther.

Five Delegates Attend Fredericksburg Meet

Birdie Wooding, Anne Putney, Helen Boswell, Doris Coates, and Mary Lee Newcomb represented S. T. C. at the International Relations Club Institute sponsored by Fredricksburg S. T. C. on Friday and Saturday, March 1 and 2.

The first session began Friday at 2:45 o'clock, and the program continued through Saturday night.

The noted speakers present at the Institute were: Mr. William I. Stone, Washington representative of the Foreign Policy Association; Dr. Wallace McClure, assistant chief of Treaty Division department of the State in Washington; Dr. Fredrick J. Libby, executive secretary of the National Council for the Prevention of War; and the Hon. Elbert Duncan Thomas, who is United States Senator from Utah. Dr. Enrique Coronado, assistant editor of the Pan-American Union Bulletin, was also a speaker at the Institute.

Farmville Woman's Club Gives Dance

The Junior Woman's Club of Farmville sponsored a Junior Prom in the Armory Friday night, March first, for the benefit of the clinic for crippled children at Southside Hospital. The Hampden-Sydney Collegians furnished music for the occasion. During the course of the evening the crowd was entertained by two interesting floor shows.

The S. T. C. girls who assisted in serving were: Ida Sue Carter, Zell Hopkins, Bernicee Jones, Nell Latimer, Zilla Newsom, Elise Turner, and Frances Woodhouse. The S. T. C. girls and their dates attending the dance were:

Virginia Bean—W. D. Temple; Frances Britton, Arly Haymon; Grace Collins, Grayson Collins; Mary Bowles, Ted Tower; Martha Glenn Davis, Birch Douglass; Mary Louise Frence, Kendall Godsey; Katheryn Fitzgerald, Howard Bouldin; Louise Floyd, Bill Leftwich; Jennie Belle Gilliam, Red Weisiger; Emily Guy, Lyle Graham; Clara Hailey, William Pettus; Virginia Hall, Jack Gray; Elizabeth Harris, Frank Crews; Jacqueline Johnson, Dwight Rivers; Dorothy Justis, Tom Noble; Susan Lane, Tommy Armatt; Frances Maxey, Jack Long; Carter Belle Munt, E. Owen; Martha Nottingham, John Frank Chambers; Frances Parker, Vernon Spratley; Mary Jane Pendleton, Tommy Graham; Isabel Plummer, Bob Baldwin; Dorothy Price, Bob Sears; Helen Shawen, Cass Hardaway; Frances Tilman, Curtis Hubbard; Audrey Wilson, Willie White Paulette; Tib Simmerman, Rudy Young; Martha Stine, Tommy Lane; Minnie Smith, Spencer Wilson; Frances Faris, C. H. Lee.

Drama League Offers Student Scholarships

The Drama League Travel Bureau, a non-commercial organization, has at its disposal scholarships covering full tuition for the six weeks summer session at the Central School of Speech and Drama, affiliated with University of London. These scholarships are primarily intended for students interested in literary and drama study, but are also given for the more important purpose of promoting international understanding. The League is eager that the donors of these scholarships shall not be disappointed in the response to the unusual opportunity offered American students.

Students of the theatre and teachers of drama and its allied arts are eligible to come before the committee on awards, and application blanks may be obtained from the League's headquarters in Essex House, New York. The League will welcome all letters of inquiry concerning the granting of scholarships.

Why Girls Leave School

The males are being held up.

1. Dances-dances are every - where.
2. Cousins are so kind.
3. Even boxing has developed hitherto unknown charms.
4. The joys of home send increasingly urgent calls.
5. To see the dentist, of course.

Going Away? . . . . . .

Travel by

GREYHOUND

Safe—Comfortable—Economical

S. A. Legus

TAILOR

CLEANING

PRESSING

REPAIRING

Phone 203

Athletes and Singers Return Founders Day

Shades of Olympus, not to mention shadows of the Muse of Music. The incumbents at S. T. C. will have to prove they're earning their salt or at least contributing to the good name of S. T. C. for this week-end of March 9 will bring back many tried, tested, and found true alumnae who will in a measure place on the scales the stars of both the song and athletics. All of which is an introduction for two facts of interest.

On Friday night at 8 o'clock, a number of former choir members will be present to assist in the rendition of "The Messiah," and on Saturday afternoon, March 9, at 2 o'clock a picked alumnae squad will play the varsity basketball team. Among those expected back for the program Friday night are Sue Yeaman, Barbara Kester, Ruth Gaines and Mary McCarn, while the varsity team will bother with such well-remembered athletes as Mary Gregory, Martha Gunter, and Dot Snedegar.

Longwood

Fragrance of box in the old time gardens,
Soft-lying hill, where the sun sets low,
Hardy holly trees, glossy and verdant,
A glimpse of the forest stretching below.

Memories of beauty, of laughter and dancing
Of love-lit eyes and of candle shine,
A crossing of swords in an hour of passion,
A broken pledge—and a glass of wine.

A blending of pride in the royal birthright
Of gallant death and of living fair,
With the glamour of mystery, romance and fancy.
It is good for my soul to have tarried there.

L. H. '35.

Summer Evening

Evening, and all the birds
In a chorus of shimmering sound
Are easing their hearts of joy
For miles around.

The air is still and sweet,
The first few stars are white,
Oh let me like the birds
Sing before night.

C. E. Chappell Co.
Stationery, Blank Books and School Supplies
Cigars, Cigarettes and Soda
Farmville, Virginia

Rice's Shoe Store
Street and Dress Shoes
Dancing Slippers Dyed
Correct fits our specialty

Kleanwell
CLEANERS AND TAILORS
Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling ladies garments
Main Street, opposite Post office
Phone 98

Gray's Drug Store
QUALITY—PRICE—SERVICE
Come in and Get Acquainted
We are glad to have you with us!
Farmville, Virginia

Mack's
BARBER AND BEAUTY SHOP
323 Main Street
We use the Frederick Method
Hair cutting and thinning a Specialty

PRINTING . . . . .
When you think of Printing think of
—The—
FARMVILLE HERALD

MARDI GRAS SPECIALS
The navy is here—Three-quarter length navy blue suits. They are chic—stylish and she will adore you in them. Three price groups—$9.95—$14.95 and $16.50
THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE
Farmville's Best Place to Shop!

—FOR—
EVERYTHING—SCHOOL SUPPLIES, CANDIES, FRUITS, CONFECTIONS, ETC.
GO TO . . . . .
GILLIAM'S
Open 'till 9:00 p. m.

SHOES
For All Occasions

Evening—Dress—Sports—Street Wear
$2.95 to $5.95
DAVIDSON'S

ARE YOU INTERESTED?
JACKETS of Grain and Suede Cloth and Wool SWEATERS.
We are showing the season's newest. Come in. We are glad to show—Just what we have—and the line is very attractive.
VERSER'S

PHILCO RADIO
World's largest manufacturers of Radio
A complete line
Watch repairing a specialty
Sheet Music—Strings for Instruments
LYNN, The Main Street Jeweler

YOUR NEIGHBOR,
The Weyanoke Beauty Salon
invites you to drop in and take advantage of their Special prices now in effect.
Permanent Waves—$4 & $6 Shampoo & Fingerwave 75 cents
Manicure 40 cents
Individual, courteous, efficient service and an established reputation for dependability and satisfaction. That is our guarantee, and your assurance of perfect workmanship.

Farmville Defeats Blackstone In Last Game of Season

Local Team Outscores Visitors By 18-10

MANY ATTENDED

On Friday, March 1, the local basketball team concluded their season by defeating Blackstone College with a score of 18-10. The game was called at 7 o'clock on the home court and well attended by members of the student body. It was the first game to be played here this season.

During the first half of the game the visiting team was held to a shut out while the Farmville six scored eleven points. Frances Hudgins played a splendid game, scoring six points out of seven free shots and being top score girl of the game.

The greater part of the game was played in the home team's territory, where the Blackstone guards proved highly efficient in blocking shots and breaking up the play.

In the third quarter the Blackstone team rallied and scored 6 points against 2 for the local team.

Sarah Beck played an exceptionally good game, guarding the goal more than the opposing forward.

In the fourth quarter Farmville again took the lead in scoring. They showed unusually good passwork completing several passwork completing several passes for the length of the court.

After the game, the visiting team attended the Freshman Production, "57 Varieties," as guests of the Athletic Association. After this they were taken to the Student Building lounge, where they were served hot chocolate and cake.

Volley Ball Practices To Start March 18

Monday, March 18, will be the first day for volley ball practices, which will continue a month. Ten practices are required to make a class volley ball squad. Points are given for volley ball toward the Monogram Club, and the color cup.

Evelyn Massey, manager of volley ball, has chosen as her assistant, Mary Adeline McGlothlin a freshman.

Rank of Academic Institutions Given

Continued from page 1

Each of the four colleges will be required to offer at least 12 session hours in these major fields: English, foreign language, history, social science, mathematics and science at least nine session hours in the following minors: Latin, fine arts and music, philosophy, psychology, another language and another science.

The presidents of the colleges stated that they could offer all these courses with their present salaries which compare favorably with those of other Virginia college faculties.

Mardi Gras Dance Is Colorful Affair

Continued from page 1

tive costumes announced the arrival of the queen and her attendants at the Mardi Gras and with another call from the bugle their entre began. The eight attendants with their escorts preceded the queen and formed a semi-circle around her throne. The crown bearer laid an aisle for her majesty which completed the preliminaries and Lucy Potter escorted by Mr. Marion Humphries ascended the throne. After the grand march the crowd resumed their positions on the floor and the dance was on again.

At eleven o'clock the grand march began and while the participants were parading the judges were hard at work trying to decide upon the most outstanding costumes, individually and as partners. The decisions rendered are as follows: Margaret Farrar, the most original costume; Billie Morgan, the handsomest costume: Lucille Akers and Frances Jamerson, representing Mickie and Minnie Mouse, won the prize for the best couple costume scheme.

Having witnessed two Mardi Gras at S. T. C., some students may be jusified in believing that this occasion on the school calendar has possibilities of becoming what Pi Gamma Mu would have it be—another Fancy Dress.

WON TWICE, LOST TWICE THIS SEASON

Courtesy Richmond News Leader

Members of the S. T. C. Varsity Basketball squad. Front row, left to right: Ellen Gilliam, Linda Walker, Inez Chappell, Evelyn Mann, Martha Putney (capt.), Frances Hudgins, Marguerite York, Bernice Mann, and Agnes Bondurant. Middle row, left to right: Iris Rountree, Betty Butterworth, Frances Britton, Mary Lena Anderson, Jennie Belle Gilliam, Margaret Thomas, Louise Walmsley, Sara Parker. Top row, left to right: Edna Bollick, Rebecca Kern, Maxine Lewis, Kathleen Ranson, Ruth Phelps, Sue Eastham, Florence Sanford (Manager), and Sara Beck.

Dr. Wynne To Teach New Course of Study

Continued from page 1

dealt in a direct and practical way with curriculum questions in special subject fields and also in their practice teaching. The work in the Virginia Curriculum Program has been given especial attention at every convenient point in many other college courses.

But now the New Courses of Study have been prepared for the state. They have been used in many schols already and will be used in many more next year. The college, therefore, is going to provide an opportunity for seniors to take an additional course on the use of the New Virginia Courses of Study. The work will consist of:

(1) a more systematic analysis of the courses of study than the students have made in other courses.

(2) a consideration of different procedures by which the new courses of study may be adjusted to practical classroom situations.

(3) observation and discussion of the uses of the new courses of study in the College Training School, where they are being employed as a basis of instruction.

The organization of such a large group will doubtless be difficult. If, however, the principle of co-operation is observed, a plan can be worked out that will be satisfactory. Probably all those interested in the new course will be organized into a class for lectures by members of the faculty interested in the more general problems. Sub-classes will be organized according to the special interests on the part of students. Possibly the same student may enter two or more such classes. For instance, it is quite possible that a student might attend the general lectures, enter the sub-class interested in the high school work, and also enter a sub-class interested in the work for the grammar grades. Perhaps there will be a number of small groups dealing with the new course of study from the standpoint of particular subjects on particular grade levels, as the language arts in the eighth grade. All these organization problems will be worked out by the class as a whole.

Junior and Senior Basketball Teams Meet In Gym, 7:00

Kathleen Ranson, Sarah Beck, Are Captains

SOPHS FORFEIT

The first class basketball game of the season will take place Thursday, March 7, at 7:00 p. m., when the junior and senior teams meet in the large gymnasium.

Because the sophomores did not have a complete team, they have forfeited to the freshmen.

Those who have had 10 practices and will compose the class squads are:

Seniors	Juniors
Beck, S. (Capt.)	Bondurant, A.
Gardner, L. M.	Harrison, M.
Mattox, A.	Kern, R.
Putney, A.	Nottingham, P.
Putney, M.	Ranson, K. (Capt.)
Ryan, N. O.	Rountree, B.
White, J.	Sanford, F.
	Walker, L.
	Walmsley, L.

Sarah Beck, senior, and Kathleen Ranson, junior, were elected captains of their respective teams at a meeting of those groups after chapel, Tuesday, March 5. Betty Butterworth had been previously elected captain of the freshman team.

Summer Evening

Evening, and all the birds
In a chorus of shimmering sound
Are easing their hearts of joy
For miles around.

Conoco Gas and Oil
Fill up at
Johns Motor Co.
Farmville, Va.

Martin the Jeweler
Gifts of
Lasting Remembrance
317 Main St. Farmville

POTTED MEATS
SANDWICH SPREAD
SANDWICH ROLLS
HOT DOGS
Everything for the Picnic
W. R. Drumeller
Main Street Farmville

WILLIS
The Florist
Flowers for all occasions
PHONES 181-273

Special orders for
Teas and Parties
Try our doughnuts
Foley's Bakery
Third Street

Shannon's
Is Headquarters for the Best
SANDWICHES
—and—
DRINKS
in Farmville!

Southside Drug Store
(On the Corner)
Films Developed FREE
If bought at this store

The Schemmel Conservatory of Music
Offers interesting instruction by Artist Teachers, arranged to suit the needs of each pupil. Piano: Elsa Schemmel Fairchild, Marie Schemmel Shroder. Voice: Mattie Spencer Willis. Violin: Richmond Seay of Blackstone College.

Farmville Mfg. Co.
BUILDING MATERIALS
MILLWORK
Farmville, Va.

You Would Love to Have Your Shoes Fixed at
Lovelace Shoe Shop
110 Third Street

ROOM FURNISHINGS
SCHOOL SUPPLIES
CANDIES
ROSES
5-10-25c Store
FARMVILLE, VA.

Overton-Mottley Hdwe. Co.
ELECTRIC GOODS/
Tennis Rackets and balls
Roller Skates

EACO THEATRE
Mats. 4 p. m.; Nights 8 p. m.
Adults 25c; Children 15c
Unless otherwise noted

Thurs-Fri., March 7-8
Margaret Sullavan
HERBERT MARSHALL
in
"The Good Fairy"
See her trim a millionaire!
COLOR CARTOON
Adults 25c and 35c

Sat., March 9 News
Paul Lukas
GERTRUDE MICHAEL
"Father Brown Detective"
Kelly-Todd Comedy
Cartoon Fox News

Next Mo-Tu, Mar. 11-12
Warner Baxter
Janet Gaynor
in
'One More Spring'
Krazy Kat and News
Adults 25c and 35c

Next Wed., March 13
Tim McCoy
"The Westerner"
Chapt. 6 "Talispin Tommy"

Cleaning at reduced rates
State Cleaning Co.
Third Street

SUPPERS AND
SMALL PARTIES
Good Breakfast
Dinners
Suppers
College Tea Room
and
LONGWOOD

Buy Your
CANDY
To Sell at
H. T. Stokes & Co.

G. F. Butcher
High Street
"The Convenient Store"
FOR GOOD THINGS
TO EAT AND DRINK

Electric Shoe Shop
Will Fix Your Shoes
While You Wait
BEST WORKMANSHIP
AND LEATHER USED

The Fashion Shoppe
Reflects the newest styles. All dresses $2.95 up
COATS, SUITS, DRESSES, UNDERWEAR
Silk Hose
Fine quality ..... 49c 59c and 69c

SPRING SPORT SHOES
Brown and white combination and sketched here. The ideal campus shoe that puts you at the head of footwear class.
$3.95 PAIR
OTHERS at $3.5 to $6. New zipper styles and dress "blues."
BALDWIN'S

LOVELY EASTER DRESSES
in one and two piece effects. You must see them to realize what wonderful values are $5.45, $7.45 & $9.45.
SPRING SUITS—the prettiest in town
$.945 to $15.97
DOROTHY MAY STORES
First to Show the Newest!
FARMVILLE, VA.

Circulation This Issue 6,000

The Rotunda

We Teach To Teach

Read Dr. Jarman's Letter to Alumnae Page Two

Volume XV. FARMVILLE, VA., MARCH 13, 1935 No. 21

Students Present Unusual Recital For Founders Day

Gifts For the Student Building Are Presented

ORCHESTRA ACCOMPANIES

Solo Dances By Moses and McDaniel Are Features

Friday morning at eleven o'clock the Artist Dance Group and the dancing classes, with the College Orchestra, presented an unusual and beautiful program for Founders Day, at the conclusion of which gifts for the Student Building were given.

Original solo dances were given by Lois Moses and Frances McDaniel. Evelyn Knaub and Margaret Farrar, Jestine Cutshall, Christine Childrey, Lois Moses, and Fanny Bosworth dancesd gracefully to the music of Lully, Delibes, and Prokofieff.

Helen Smith, Dorothy McNamee, Doris Moore, Lois Moses, Mary Alice Glass, Emma Bingham, Mary Robeson, Virginia Leonard, Helen Fern Perdue, Carolyn Upshur, Mary Joyner Cox, Tyler Wood, Anne Peple, Crenshaw Jones, Kitty Bass, Louise Gathright, Edith Sanford, Nelle Oakey Ryan, and Marion Umberger took part in the group dances.

Selections played by the Orchestra were taken from Rousseau, Schubert, Mozart, Russian Folk Songs, and Rubenstein.

To the tune of "Comin' Round the Mountain", the student gifts, in the disguise of a "little red rooster," were presented to Dr. Jarman.

Dr. Jarman who claims that he has never made a "speech", made a short talk expressing appreciation for the gifts and briefly explaining the custom of Founders Day in the College.

The alumnae gifts and messages were received by Dr. Jeffers, who passed the good wishes for a successful day on to the audience.

New Course of Study Observed in Action

Superintendent W. E. Kidd of Nelson County and fifty teachers of the Nelson County School system visited the College Training School and training schools at John Randolph, Rice, and Worsham last Thursday to observe the New Virginia State Course of Study in action.

The visitors spent the entire day observing the work being done in both College Training School and the rural training schools. Dr. Wynne, head of the education department, and Mr. Holton, principal of the Training School, conducted the tours of observation in the College Training School. In the morning Miss Camper, rural supervisor, took a group of the teachers to the John Randolph and Rice schools. In the afternoon those who had observed in the morning in the College Training School went with Miss Camper to the training school at Worsham.

These Nelson County teachers saw the New State Course of Study demonstrated in all classes from the kindergarten on through the high school. They examined much of the construc-

Continued on page 5, col. 2

Twin Editors

(Top) Lelia Sanford, editor-in-chief of the 1935-'36 "Virginian". (Botton) Florence Sanford, who will edit "The Rotunda" for 1935-'36.

Prominent Juniors Head Publications

M. Clark, E. Massey, Appointed Business Managers

MAJOR ELECTIONS NEXT WEEK

Florence and Lelia Sanford, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Sanford of Orange, Va., have been appointed editors-in-chief of The Rotunda, weekly publication, and The Virginian, annual year book, respectively. Evelyn Massey of Post Oak, Virginia, has been chosen business manager of The Rotunda and Margaret Clark of Crozet, Virginia, is to act in this capacity on The Virginian staff for the coming year. This announcement was made by the nominating committee for the school publications today.

Florence and Lelia came to S. T. C. in the fall of 1933 after completing a year's work at William and Mary College. They joined the ranks of the sophomore class then and have been active in varied phases of school activities. Both have worked efficiently on their particular publication staffs. Florence's first work on The Rotunda came about when she was elected editor-in-chief of her class issue in 1934. This year she has held the position of make-up editor on the regular staff. Lelia has shown

Continued on page 6, Col. 3

College Choir And Choral Club Sing Handel's 'Messiah'

Four Well-Known Artists Appear on Program

A large audience heard Handel's "Messiah" sung Friday evening by four well-known artists, with the College Choir and Choral Club participating in the choruses. The fact that the audience showed even greater appreciation than was shown last year bears testimony that the grandeur of this immortal masterpiece gains upon each successive hearing. The dramatic effect produced by the singing of the mighty music impressed one with the fact that the Choir, under Mr. Strick's able direction, had attained a degree of perfection of which the College is proud.

The second part of the program was devoted to solos and choruses from Mendelssohn's Oratorio "Elijah" and Chorals composed by Bach. The four soloists, without exception, were in excellent voice and did beautiful work. Miss Grace Armstrong Kimball's timbered and colorful soprano voice was under perfect control. Miss Marie Murray, with a rich, mellow, contralto voice, peculiarly suitable for Oratorio, sang with such feeling that the audience listened spellbound. William N. DeRoin, tenor, magnetized the listeners with his singing of the beautiful Arias, and John Herrick, baritone, sang almost flawlessly.

The climax to this beautiful program was the "Scene and Prayer" from "Cavalleria Rusticana" by Mascagni, the four artists and entire chorus singing, with Miss Irene Leake, a local soprano, taking the solo part.

Only $18,500 More

To date, the Student Building fund stands:

Original cost of bldg. .. $165,900
Total amt. given by March 1934 ..... $164,682
Total amt. given since March, 1934 ..... $1,118

S. T. C. To Conduct Summer Session Under New Policy

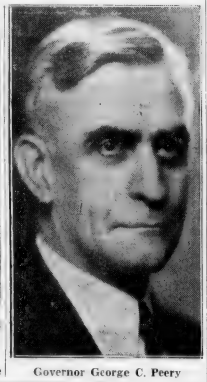
To solve the problems presented by the new state curriculum program will be one of the chief aims of the summer sessions at Farmville State Teachers College in 1935. Dr. Jarman hopes and expects that the summer school this year will bring back to Alma Mater many alumnae and former students.

Farmville girls were never the kind to "sit on the tail of progress and holler "Whoa." Joan must get out of the Rotunda, mount her charger, and ride forth brandishing her sword and crying, "Forward with God."

And now that Virginia is setting out on the most promising forward movement of recent times in the education of the state, Farmville girls, like the College that trains and inspires them, can be counted on to do their part.

As heretofore, two sessions will be held, the first dating from June 11 to July 19, and the second from July 20 to August 23. Students will be enabled to do the equivalent of one quarter's work during the summer, entitling them to full college credit. For this work the summer school places at the service of the students all of the resources and facilities of the oldest teacher-training institution in the commonwealth—the one which is now ranked among the twelve leading colleges of its kind in the United States.

New and special courses in all departments will bear, directly or indirectly on the curricula for Virginia schools recently formulated. Instead of the practice school for student teachers heretofore maintained, the College will conduct a demonstration school taught by trained experts of long experience who will demonstrate under observation the approved methods of dealing with the problems presented by modern curricula. Methods and observation courses given in the College will be devoted to the study and interpretation of the work in the demonstration school and individual conferences will enable the students to get expert advice on their particular problems. Courses of this kind will deal with the social sciences, the



Continued on page 5, col. 4

High State Officials Speak At Fifty-first Anniversary

Honored Guests at Founders Day

Lieutenant-Governor Jas. H. Price

Governor George C. Peery

Interracial Relations Course Here Receives High Commendations

Much interest has been shown in an article, written by Miss Florence H. Stubbs, which appeared in the December, 1934, issue of The Southern Workman. The article, entitled "Course in Interracial Relations A Success," is a write-up of the course, The Negro, which Miss Stubbs of the Sociology department offered here last year in the spring and summer quarters. This course on The Negro was the first credit course in interracial relations to be offered at Farmville State Teachers College. Last spring it was offered as an elective course in sociology for juniors and seniors, and upon request was repeated in the summer quarter. This course will be given again in the spring quarter this year.

A write-up of the article by Miss Stubbs in The Southern

Continued on page 5, Col. 2

Virginian Staff Reaches Goal of 300 Subscriptions

The Virginian staff, under the leadership of Elizabeth Vassar, editor-in-chief, and Lelia Sanford, business manager, reports that they have reached their goal of three hundred subscriptions.

May the first is the approximate date set for the distribution of The 1934-35 Virginian.

HighSchool Pupils To Enter Contest

S. T. C. Dramatic Club Will Present Cups for Best Plays

The S. T. C. Dramatic Club will sponsor a play contest between Southside Virginia High Schools, on April 12 and 13, in the large auditorium here. Margaret Pollard, chairman of the committee in charge, has stated that the purpose of the contest is to create and develop a greater interest in the field of dramatics among high school pupils.

The executive committee of the Dramatic Club has been working on plans for such a contest since last fall. The committee has expressed the desire that this contest become a permanent annual event.

The high schools participating in this contest will be divided into two groups: one group to be composed of the larger high schools, another group of the smaller high schools. In each group a cup will be awarded the high school presenting the best play. Any high school winning the cup three years in succession will be granted permanent possession of the cup. All the plays will be limited to one act.

Among the high schools that have planned to enter this dramatic contest are: Crewe, Rice, Pamplin, Prospect, Kenbridge, Curdsville, Farmville High, and College Training School. Others are expected to enter.

In addition to creating interest in dramatics among high school pupils, this contest is expected to afford S. T. C. students an opportunity to see the type of plays that can be presented effectively in high school.

The contestants will be entertained in the College.

Peery, Price, Hart Eason, MacDonald, Saunders Here

Dr. Jarman Introduces Founders Day Speakers

His Excellency Governor George C. Peery was guest of honor at the alumnae banquet in the dining hall, Saturday night, March 9. Governor Peery spoke of the financial improvements in the educational system of Virginia. He expressed his deep interest in this system, saying that the children of Virginia are entitled to the best educational advantages that can be afforded them. He urged that students preparing to be teachers work hard to secure these advantages for their pupils. Concluding his talk, Governor Peery quoted from "O May I Join The Choir Invisible":

This is the life to come,
Which martyred men have made more glorious
For us to strive to follow. May I reach
That purest heaven, be to other souls
The cup of strength some great agony,
Enkindle generous ardor, feed pure love,
Beget the smiles that have no cruelty,
Be the sweet presence of a good diffused,
And in diffusion ever more intense
So shall I join the choir invisible
Whose music is the gladness of the world."

Dr. J. L. Jarman welcomed the alumnae and guests, and after presenting Governor Peery, Dr. Jarman introduced Judge Rose MacDonald and Superintendent Joseph Saunders, members of the State Board of Education, Mrs. Saunders and Superintendent Harris Hart, who introduced Lieutenant-Governor Price.

In his talk Lieutenant-Governor Price commended the S. T. C. Orchestra which played during the banquet. The Orchestra was under the direction of Miss Lizabeth Purdom.

The members of the administration and faculty and the town ministers and their wives were also guests at the banquet.

The menu for the banquet consisted of: grapefruit cocktail, baked chicken, country ham, sweet potatoes, green peas, pickles, celery, tomato aspic salad, and ice cream and cake.

FERA Funds Benefit Ninety-one Students Total Sum $5,268.30

From a report from the Business Office the real benefits of the Federal Emergency Relief Administration in its relationship to students of S. T. C. were revealed

At the present there are ninety-one students employed here in part time jobs in the following activities: clerical work, dining room serving, library assistance, playground supervision, laboratory assistance, reading, music assistance, and health work. The F. E. R. A. has paid a total of $5,268.30 to the students employed from September through February. In September $358.34 was paid; $1,098.25, in October; $1,064.22, in November; $614.19 in December; $1,031.25, in January; and $1,102.05, in February.

Plans Go Foward For Spring Dance

Dan Gregory Signed To Play For Set March 23

Plans for the Spring Cotillion dance, which will take place on Saturday, March 23, in the S. T. C. gymnasium are well underway.

Dan Gregory and his thirteen-piece Victor Recording and Broadcasting Orchestra will play for the tea dance in the afternoon and for the formal dance in the evening. Last year's dansante met with such approval that the Club is attempting to make it a regular feature of the Spring Cotillion.

Figure practices will start next week. The time of practices will be announced, and the executive committee of the Club has stated that any member missing two practices will automatically eliminate herself from the figure. Only old members of the Club will participate in the figure.

The tea dance is scheduled to begin at four p. m. and the formal dance at eighty-thirty p. m.

The admission price for old members will be $1.50; for new members, $2.50; and for alumnae, $1.00. These tickets give old members one boy bid and one girl bid, and the alumnae one date bid. New members are allowed no extra bids.

Tickets are on sale on the second floor Rotunda every afternoon, except Saturday and Sunday, from 3:00 until 3:30 o'clock. No tickets will be sold after March 22, except to alumnae.

"Goat Week" will take place the week following Spring Cotillion dance.

"I Want An Education"

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article written by the late Miss Celeste Parrish, one of the first graduates of the State Normal School, is a reprint from The Atlanta Journal. A write-up of Miss Parrish is in this week's "Among Our Alumnae."

"I was 22 years, old and although a fine education had been my earnest desire. I knew that I was still an ignorant, awkward, uninformed country girl. A thirst for knowledge had prompted me to much reading, but this had been unaided and desultory.

My school education had been worse than desultory. The best teacher I had had did not know mathematics beyond arithmetic, and she met all her difficulties in that with a "key." We had memorized text-books in composition without written exercises, in science without performing or seeing a single experiment in history without any thought of a possible bearing upon the life about us, and had done nothing of real worth.

I had accomplished something unaided. I knew when I was 12 years old that my language was incorrect, and had corrected it by the rules in Bullion's grammar. I had memorized Blake's astronomy in school, and recited it to my father word by word; but at home I found an old Burritt's geography of the heavens, and with the help of the accompanying atlas had traced out all the main constellations visible in that latitude, and, by means of study and observation, had gained a fair notion of the position and movements of the heavenly bodies.

An old music book had fallen into my hands, and I had done, unaided, some crude singing at sight. I had begun a study of birds and plants without either book or teacher, but my guardians had been so distressed at my tom-boyish habits that they had commanded me to be a lady and learn embroidery. The death of both parents and consequent financial misfortune had consigned me, when I was 10 years old, to the legal guardianship of an uncle, who thought that girls had no use for education except a domestic one, and to the training of two maiden aunts, hysterical invalids, much given to "uneasiness. When I was 15 years old, they had demanded that I relieve them of the burden of my support by teaching and I had tried to do this, failing utterly at first, but persisting with the desperation of a drowning woman. I had never seen a blackboard, and had never had a good teacher. My first struggles were not that I might improve, but that I might earn more money. At last, I had an awakening of the new "Birth and Practice of Teaching." I had not known that a book had ever been written on teaching, and when this fell into my hands I sat up all night to read it. In the gray dawn I knelt over the book and promised the Lord to be a better teacher. The experience was, indeed, a baptism of the Holy Spirit, for from that time I devoted the best of my energies to my profession and lost no opportunity for professional as well as a personal culture.

The success which followed my conversion attracted attention after a time, and I was called from the country public school, which had become much noted in a small locality, to the public school of the nearest town. I had been supporting my sister in the "female college" of this town, and I determined now to gratify my long cherished desire for an education by studying in this institution in my leisure. My salary, $40 a month, was to defray my living expenses and pay a debt which I had incurred during the residence of my sister in the institution.

The methods of teaching which had been so successful in my country school, had to be changed and adopted and the task, at first, taxed my courage to the utmost, but in spite of this, I began the student work for which I had longed. Although 22 years old, I did not know any Latin, had studied no mathematics beyond arithmetic and had never seen a French or German book. The only Latin class I could join was one made up, for the most part, of children not over 12 years old, but I did not hesitate and undertook also some algebra and higher English. Of course, I was obliged to study far into the night. When sleep threatened to overwhelm me I plunged my face in a bowl of water and began again. One night I tried to keep awake by studying on my knees by the table, where I could lay my book under the lamp. In spite of myself, I dozed, my head fell over on the lamp chimney and I was awakened by the pain of the scorching skin. Another complication arose. Then public school hours prevented my being at the "college" at the regular dinner hour, but the success of my work was largely dependent upon my living in the institution. I agreed to provide my own dinner, but as I frequently lacked the money, and, more frequently still the time to do this, I often went dinnerless. Sometimes I was so hungry and faint that I could not do my work well, but I was determined to succeed and too proud to explain.

Little Roy was taking a cold, and seemed unusually quit. "Don't you feel well sonny?" asked his mother.

"No, mother, I don't," answered the boy, "my nose is too tight-fitting."—Christian Evangelist.

Joe: "Did you get your hair cut?"

Jim "No, I just washed it and it shrank."

Singers Here Founders Day

ALICE A. KIMBALL, Soprano

MARIE MURRAY, Contralto

W. N. DeRoin, Tenor

JOHN HERRICK, Baritone

Varsity Team Trims Former Players, 30-0

Of unique interest on the Founders Day program was the basketball game between the alumnae team and the S. T. C. Varsity, Saturday at 3 p. m. Many of S. T. C.'s former star athletes returned Founders Day to play in the game so that the combat between the two teams was more interesting than the score would indicate.

By the time the teams came on the floor the cheer leaders, Mary Bowles and Willis Scott for the alumnae, and Billie Rountree and Helen Shawen for the Varsity, had the crowd of spectators in fine spirit to appreciate the fast work of both teams.

Despite the strong defensive of the alumnae team the varsity succeeded in leading the score throughout the game. The final score stood 30-0.

During the half, the sophomore tumblers put on a peppy performance on the mats. The team of nine girls in the sophomore tumbling act were: Virginia Hannah, Mary Bowles, Virginia Tillman, Margaret Pittard, Gay Steiffen, Marguerite York, Bonnie Lane, Victoria Gillette, and Bess McGlothlin. They amused the spectators with forward rolls, pyramids, forward diving, and an original rising stunt for the finish.

The line-up for the game was:

Varsity Alumnae

Marguerite York r.f. Sue Yeaman

Fran's Hudgins lf Marg'e Massey

Kathleen Ranson c Mary Gregory

Martha Putney (Capt.) sc .....

..... Miss Olive Iler

Sarah Beck rg Easter Souders, c

Ellen Gilliam lg Martha Gunter

Substitute: Varsity, Linda Walker, Florence Sanford, Betty Butterworth. Alumnae: Miss Grace Moran, Frances Horton.

Lelia Mattox referred the game; Frankie McDaniel umpired; Florence Sanford and Edna Bolick were timekeepers; and Rebecca Kern scorekeeper.

"I think I'll take a trip around the globe," said the goldfish.—Look-A-Head, Norwalk, Ohio.

Eleanor: "Look how pale the moon is tonight."

Mildred: "Well, she's out every night"—McClain High School Dragon, Greenfield, Ohio.

Knaub And Shawen Play Leading Roles

W. and J. University Refuses To Assist College Celebration

Washington and Jefferson University has refused to help Louisiana State University celebrate its 75th anniversary because of the alleged influence of Senator Huey P. Long in the conduct of the southern university.

In a letetr to President James M. Smith of Louisiana, Dr. Ralph C. Hutchison, president of Washington and Jefferson, said:

"It is very gracious of you to advise us of the celebration to be held from April 9 to 12. I wish very much that we might be represented there, but, to be perfectly frank, we should hesitate to lend our support at just this time when high purposes of the university seem, at a distance, to have been subordinated to the political objectives of Mr. Huey Long.

"We do not wish to judge at a distance, but we cannot believe in the position of a university which will submit for a moment to such a control and to such limitation of the freedom of speech and of individual thought.

"It seems to me a rather difficult time for you to ask colleges and universities to send representatives."

"Have you seen Pete?"

"Pete who?"

"Petroleum."

Other Characters Are Announced For Play

In selecting "A Kiss For Cinderella" as the spring play to be presented April 5, the S. T. C. Dramatic Club has again shown their preferences to Sir James M. Barrie, well known author of "Admirable Crichton" and "What Every Woman Knows"—two plays previously given here by the Dramatic Club.

The cast under the direction of Miss Wheeler, have rehearsed diligently for the past five weeks, and will continue to do so until the time the play is to be presented.

Evelyn Knaub, who has been outstanding in dramatics since her freshman year, will interpret the part of Cinderella, dearest of all Barrie's characters. Helen Shawen in the role of the prince and policeman, will play opposite her. The cast is extremely large, having many important and clever characters which are as follows:

Dr. Bodie—Madeline McGlothlin; Dannie—Carter Bell Munt; Nurse—Margaret Dortch; Mr. Bodie—Elizabeth Carroll; Fairy Godmother — Jacqueline Johnson; Queen—Gertrude Levy; King — Margaret Herndon; Lord Times—Audrey Clements; Lord Mayor—Bonnie Lane; Preacher — Katie Ryburn; Censor—Ruth Phelps; Customers — Josephine Quinn, Bonnie Powell, Mary Joyner Cox,

Continued on page 6, Col. 3

MEMORABLE HAPPENINGS OF THE SCHOOL YEAR Since September

Sept. 18—615 students enroll at S. T. C.
Sept. 21—Y. W. C. A. reception for new girls
Sept. 26—Miss Bugg appointed Registrar
Sept. 26—The Rotunda changes size, paper, heading
Sept. 26—Collegiate Digest made feature of The Rotunda.
Sept. 27—Seniors required to go to chapel

Oct. 1—Marion Marmein, interpretative dancer at S. T. C.
Oct. 2—Dr. Jarman installs 51st senior class
Oct. 5 and 6—Pan-Hellenic dances at Hampden-Sydney.
Oct. 10—Juniors given privilege of Dean's list
Oct. 12—Miss Alfreda Peel gives ballad and folklore program
Oct. 12-13—S. T. C. delegates attend I. R. C. meeting at Hollins
Oct. 16—New swimming pool opens
Oct. 27—Sororities bid upperclassmen
Oct. 20—Rat week begins
Oct. 25—Pi Gamma Mu goes to Williamsburg
Oct. 26—V. I. P. A. delegates go to Blacksburg
Oct. 31—Sept.-Oct. birthday dinner

Nov. 3—Senior class presents Miss Moran
Nov. 3—Fall Cotillion dance
Nov. 5-11—National Education Week observed
Nov. 7—Pi Gamma Mu tasting party.
Nov. 10—College circus
Nov. 12—Siberian singers here
Nov. 13—Mardi Gras queen elected
Nov. 15—Spanish banquet in Cactus Inn
Nov. 16—"Bird in Hand", S. T. C. Dramatic Club and H.-S. Jongleurs play.
Nov. 19—Nov.-Dec. birthday dinner
Nov. 21—Juniors present Miss Bedford
Nov. 23—German Club dances at H.-S.
Nov. 26—Jestine Cutshall and Jean McClure elected Lord and Lady of May
Nov. 28-Dec- 3—Thanksgiving holiday

Dec. 4—Juniors win junior-senior hockey game
Dec. 5—Sophomores win freshman - sophomore hockey game
Dec. 7—Sigma Pi Rho presents 'A Roman Wedding'
Dec. 8—May Court elected
Dec. 8—Senior dance
Dec. 12—Sophomores present Miss Iler
Dec. 14—Christmas dinner
Dec. 14—Hanging of the greens
Dec. 16—Old English carol service
Dec. 17—White Christmas
Dec. 17-20—Exams
Dec. 20—Christmas holiday begins

Jan. 2—Students return to S. T. C.
Jan. 2—Announcement of David Grainger having begun work on portrait bust of Dr. Jarman.
Jan. 11—Lynchburg College wins debate with S. T. C.
Jan. 16—Freshmen present Miss Royall
Jan. 16—Sororities bid new girls
Jan. 17—Richard Kean, impressionist, here
Jan. 19—Miss Diehl resigns to be married
Jan. 22—Freshmen decide to limit Rat week
Jan. 23—January birthday dinner
Jan. 23—Dr. J. J. Rives, of Washington, here
Jan. 24—Dr. Allan, of Hampden-Sydney, lectures to Kappa Delta Pi.
Jan. 24—Norman Hapgood lectures
Jan. 25—"Pipe Dreams", junior production
Jan. 28—Werrenrath and Bernhardt recital

Feb. 1—Roman banquet held by Sigma Pi Rho
Feb. 8—Fashion Revue sponsored by Farmville alumnae
Feb. 12—Miss Mary goes to Florida
Feb. 13—Modern language bazaar
Feb. 14—"Life Begins at 8:30", sophomore production
Feb. 15—Farmville-Harrisonburg basketball game there
Feb. 22—February birthday dinner
Feb. 22-24—S. T. C. sends delegates to Youth Conference and V. I. P. A. meetings in Richmond
Feb. 26—Farmville defeats Sweet Briar in basketball game there
Feb. 27—Farmville debate team defeats E. & H.

March 1—Four state teachers colleges authorized by State Board to grant A. B. degree.
March 1—"57 Varieties," freshman production
March 1—Farmville basketball team defeats Blackstone here
March 5—Mardi Gras dance
March 6—S. T. C. debaters lose to Waynesburg College, Penn.
March 8—"The Messiah" sung by Choral Club, Choir and visiting artists.
March 9—Fifty-first Founders Day

Until June

March 12-15—Examinations
March 16—Spring quarter begins
March 22—High school play
March 23—Cotillion Club dance

April 5—Dramatic Club play, "A Kiss for Cinderella"
April 5-7—Alpha Kappa Gamma convention
April 9—S. C. A. program
April 11—Lyceum dance program, Doris Humphrey
April 12-13—High school play contest
April 18—Easter holidays begin 12 a. m.

May 4—May Day
May 10—Pi Gamma Mu convention
May 28-31—Examinations
May 31—College High commencement

June 1-4—College commencement

1934 Wedding List Approximates 100

To many S. T. C. alumnae 1935 is more than a fifty-first anniversary; it is a first anniversary. Approximately one hundred Farmville alumnae are celebrating their "paper" wedding anniversaries this year.

A few of the names which follow below are those of alumnae who are celebrating their second or "calico" anniversaries, but because they still receive or fail to receive mail with their maiden addresses they have requested that their present names and addrsses be published.

A list of the marriages and addresses of Farmville S. T. C. alumnae since the 1934 Founder's Day follows:

Pauline Aderholt—Mrs. Samuel M. Carmack, Hopewell.

Rosabel Archer—Mrs. Howard W. Suit, Waynesboro.

Elizabeth B. Antrim — Mrs. Charles F. Niemann, Jr., Roanoke.

Edith Abbitt—Mrs. John D. Rose.

Angerona Aydlette—Mrs. Gene Gilmer, Jr.

Charlotte Baxter—Mrs. Williams E. Rawlings, Jr., Ashville, N. C.

Hilda Baldwin—Mrs. Thomas C. Hix, Prospect.

Lorena Bland —Mrs. Edward W. Paulett, Clarendon.

Mary Clare Booth—Mrs. Sidney B. Lloyd, Greenway Court, Lynchburg.

Lila Boswell—Mrs. Edwin H. Harris, South Hill.

Dorothy Bloomfield — Mrs. James E. Tunstall, Blackstone.

Bess Bagett—Mrs. Reese W. Helmondollar, Welch, W. Va.

Mary M. Baskerville—Mrs. Peyton G. Jefferson, Baltimore, Md.

Mary Arthur Billups — Mrs. Benjamin C. Prince, Jr.

Lois Bradshaw—Mrs. Joseph Sharrer.

Louise Barlow — Mrs. Oscar Gibson, Pennington Gap.

Martha W. Barber—Mrs. Alfred R. Armstrong.

Louise Barlow—Mrs. O. T. Gibson, Amonate.

Henreitta Cornwell—Mrs. Frederick Ritter, Winchester.

Beatrice Carico—Mrs. J. Hamilton Hening, City Point.

Ruth Cleland—Mrs. Carroll B. Wiltshire, Lynchburg.

Mary L. Carwile—Mrs. P. Pittman, Gates, N. C.

Mary L. Carter—Mrs. William B. Hubbard, Covington.

Edna O. Crenshaw—Mrs. Price L. Rogers, Philadelphia, Penn.

Mary V. Cralle—Mrs. Rockwell S. Boyle, Lexington.

Hanna L. Crawley—Mrs. John Young, Jr.

Sue F. Casey—Mrs. P. Y. Jones, Hopewell.

Lucy L. Dortch—Mrs. Clarence Garrard, Lynchburg.

Anne Deffenbaugh—Mrs. Edward Madison Grant.

Catherine Diehl—Mrs. J. Guy Lancaster, Farmville.

Mattie E. Evans—Mrs. James W. Wright, Gladstone.

Virginia Ellis—Mrs. Frank C. von Richter, Richmond.

Sally M. Elliott—Mrs. Mark Pottage, Crewe.

Virginia Frritts—Mrs. Robert Royston, Lexington.

Grace Fowlkes—Mrs. Clarence Martin, Tappahannock.

Virginia L. Fox — Mrs. Clyde Gouldman.

Elizabeth Goode—Mrs. W. H. Gills, Powhatan.

Ella Gates—Mrs. W. N. Rankin, Winston-Salem, N. C.

Virginia Hamilton — Mrs. Roy Evans, Jr., Newport, R. I.

Leyburn Hyatt — Mrs. John Askew, Norton.

Emily Hillsman—Mrs. Charles W. Bailey, Richmond.

Reba Hill—Mrs. Edward M. Stafford.

Susie L. Hyatt — Mrs. John Winslow.

Pocahontas S. Hall—Mrs. James S. Brown.

Alice Harrison—Mrs. A. Taylor Dunlap, Keyser, West Va.

Ruth Hardiman—Mrs. Humphrey Steger, Buckingham.

Mary L. Harry—Mrs. Charlie W. Howell, Jr.

Frances L. Hutchins—Mrs. J. C.

Continued on page 6, col. 1

Among Our Alumnae

The office of the Alumnae Association at Farmville is gathering for its files all the information obtainable about graduates and former students of the institution and their experiences and achievements. In the course of time it hopes to build up here such a collection of data as may serve to indicate how great a service the college has rendered and is rendering to the state and the nation through the alumnae.

Among the thousands of trained teachers who have gone out from the institution in the past fifty years, hundreds have rendered exceptional service in the field of education, which would be inspiring to know about and have on record. In many other fields than teaching, our graduates have also distinguished themselves. They have become writers, poets, journalists, musicians, missionaries, social workers, scientific workers, business and professional women. Some have entered politics and even agriculture, and thousands, of course, have become efficient housewives and mothers of presidential possibilities. Whatever the field of activity Alma Mater wishes to place in her files as complete as record as possible.

Each week "The Rotunda" plans to publish in this column items of interest and value from these files. The editor of the column will be grateful for suggestions and information which may add to the value and interest of the column.

Letters of the alumnae, newspaper clippings, magazine articles, or books published, records of participation in community and school activities, broadcasting, curriculum building, will be gladly received. Whatever you can send in to the alumnae office or to James M. Grainger, Farmville, will be gratefully received, placed on file and put to use when possible.

Since the beginning of the present session this column has published sketches of the following:

Jennie M. Tabb, class of 1893; Lillian Rhodes, 1929; Julia Johnson, 1910; Carrie Sutherlin, 1904; Pauline Williamson, 1906; Helen Thomas, 1927; Elizabeth Malcome Nason, 1917; Constance Rumbough, 1914; Grace George, 1927.

"Georgia's ablest woman," "Georgia's ablest educator" — These are the words with which two educational leaders, the State Superintendent and the agent for Rural Schools in Georgia, paid tribute to one of the first graduates of the State Female Normal School at Farmville, Virginia, when she died in 1918. She was Miss Celeste S. Parrish.

Born in 1853 in Pittsylvania County, orphaned at ten, she began teaching at fifteen. At twenty-two, although she was supporting her brother and sister in school, she determined to "gratify her own desire for a higher education by studying in a local college in her leisure. She was graduated the following year with high honors. Always eager to improve herself personally and professionally she attended summer normal at University Virginia, took correspondence courses and even studied analytical mechanics at H. S. When the State Female Normal School was established at Farmville in 1884, she became one of its first students. Graduating in 1886, she was made a member of the faculty. There her ardor for learning and teaching she did much to place professional training of teachers in Virginia on a high plane and to give the new school a prestige which it has maintained ever since.

When Randolph Macon Woman's College was established at Lynchburg in 1893, Miss Parrish was called to the Faculty there to teach mathematics, psychology, and pedagogy A tireless pioneer in experimental psychology she established the first psychological laboratory in this part of the country, having also attended the University of Michigan, and acquired a degree from Cornell University, and studied under Dewey at Chicago.

In 1904 she became a member of the faculty of the State Normal School (afterward the Teachers College at Athens, Georgia) and from 1911 until 1918 she was supervisor of the North Georgia Schools. Her service in Georgia brought her recognition as one of the South's alert educators. After her death in 1918 memorial exercises were held in Atlanta; her portrait was hung in the college at Athens; a student loan fund was established in her memory, and the Georgia legislature adjourned for her funeral.

Among her papers was found an account of her heroic struggle for an education which is an inspiring human document.

This article appears in another part of this Rotunda.

Interracial Relations Course Here Receives High Commendation

Continued from page one

Workman appeared in the February 1935 Peabody Reflector and Alumni News.

Miss Stubbs has received from various parts of the country letters expressing interest and appreciation for the course being given here. Dr. W. D. Weatherford, president of the Y. M. C. A. Graduate School at Nashville, Tenn., has offered the service of the extensive graduate school library on Race Relations to S. T. C. students who may be doing a special piece of work in this field. George E. Haynes, Executive Secretary of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, N. Y., has written to express interest and appreciation in the work being done here and has offered to supply free materials for use in the course on The Negro.

Some others who have written to Miss Stubbs about the interracial relations work being done here are: Dr. Payne and Dr. Frost of the Peabody College for Teachers, Nashville, Tenn., and President Lawrence of Mississippi College.

New Course of Study Observed In Action

Continued from page one

tion work done by the various classes. At John Randolph they were especially pleased with the home economics department and with the library which was endowed by the Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority of this College.

Those who observed the work were quite pleased and declared the observation had been most instructive. They thought it well to have seen actual units in all stages of development. During the course of the day many of the teachers had conferences with the various supervisors.

The College entertained its Nelson County visitors, among whom were several alumnae, with lunch in the dining hall.

S. T. C. to Conduct Summer School Under New Policy

Continued from page one

language arts, mathematics, and elementary science. Teachers, principals, and superintendents may thus study the difficulties presented by the new curricula under favorable conditions and for college credit.

A course in library technique will be given by a trained librarian for credit in the English Department. This course will help teacher-librarians and others responsible for starting school libraries and proving and caring for the large amount of materials required by the new Virginia curricula.

A broad offering of academic courses in the upper years of the College will afford the students the opportunity to carry on work leading to the bachelor's degree. By taking such courses at Farmville, they can add to their academic attainments in an atmosphere charged with the professional spirit and in daily contact with other teachers who have problems similar to their own.

Although the enrollment of the College has been restricted in the fall, winter, and spring quarters to women—students during recent years an increasing number of men have found it convenient during the summer months to avail themselves of the rich offering of this institution with its favorable central location. Among these are teachers and administrative officers in the schools and college students from other institutions who have wished to secure supplementary credits to be transferred to other colleges.

The extra-curricular activities will be much enriched. Outside speakers, high grade entertainments, athletics and outdoor sports, swimming in the pool recently constructed, and other forms of recreation will be provided with a view to enabling every one here to live a well rounded, wholesome life of work and play on a high plane during the summer months.

Dr. Jarman will be glad to have the complete catalogue sent to prospective students on request, especially to the alumnae.

The rural teacher was having trouble with one of the pupils. Finally she wrote the following note to his mother: "What shall I do with George? He is the brightest yet the most mischievous boy in the class."

The mother wrote: "How do I know? That's your business. I have enough trouble trying to manage his father and two little brothers."

Old Man: "Have you five cents for a cup of coffee?"

Student "Yes, I believe I can manage, thank you."

Going Away? . . . . . .

Travel by

GREYHOUND

Safe—Comfortable—Economical

S. A. Legus

TAILOR

CLEANING

PRESSING

REPAIRING

Phone 203

C. E. Chappell Co.

Stationery, Blank Books and School Supplies

Cigars, Cigarettes and Soda

Farmville, Virginia

Rice's Shoe Store

Street and Dress Shoes

Dancing Slippers Dyed

Correct fits our specialty

Kleanwell

CLEANERS AND TAILORS

Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling ladies garments

Main Street, opposite Post office

Phone 98

Gray's Drug Store

QUALITY—PRICE—SERVICE

Come in and Get Acquainted

We are glad to have you with us!

Farmville, Virginia

Mack's

BARBER AND BEAUTY SHOP

323 Main Street

We use the Frederick Method

Hair cutting and thinning a Specialty

PRINTING . . . . .

When you think of Printing think of

—The—

FARMVILLE HERALD

SPRING SPECIALS

The navy is here—Three-quarter length navy blue suits. They are chic—stylish and she will adore you in them. Three price groups—$9.95—$14.95 and $16.50

THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE

Farmville's Best Place to Shop!

—FOR—

EVERYTHING—SCHOOL SUPPLIES, CANDIES, FRUITS, CONFECTIONS, ETC.

GO TO . . . . .

GILLIAM'S

Open 'till 9:00 p. m.

SHOES For All Occasions

Evening—Dress—Sports—Street Wear

$2.95 to $5.95

DAVIDSON'S

ARE YOU INTERESTED?

JACKETS of Grain and Suede Cloth and Wool SWEATERS.

We are showing the season's newest. Come in. We are glad to show—Just what we have—and the line is very attractive.

VERSER'S

PHILCO RADIO

World's largest manufacturers of Radio

A complete line

Watch repairing a specialty

Sheet Music—Strings for Instruments

LYNN, The Main Street Jeweler

YOUR NEIGHBOR,

The Weyanoke Beauty Salon

invites you to drop in and take advantage of their Special prices now in effect.

Permanent Waves—$4 & $6 Shampoo & Fingerwave 75 cents

Manicure 40 cents

Individual, courteous, efficient service and an established reputation for dependability and satisfaction. That is our guarantee, and your assurance of perfect workmanship.

1934 Wedding List Approximates 100

oCntinued from page five

West III, Suffolk.

Lucy Irving — Mrs. William Shepard, Farmville.

Paula Irving—Mrs. J. E. Haynesworth, Buckingham.

Pattie M. Jeter—Mrs. Temple Timberlake, Richmond.

Alice C. Jett—Mrs. C. H. Pulver, Rochester, N. Y.

Sally T. Kie—Mrs. Harry H. Wilson, Munfordville, Ky.

Katie Kidd—Mrs. Marvin Austin, Sheppards.

Stella Lotts—Mrs. S. Talmadge Magann, Columbus, Ohio.

Emily L. Lawrence—Mrs. Ralph Hoffer, San Diego, Calif.

Virginia P. Lowe—Mrs. Edward Cunningham, University, Va.

Nina Latimer—Mrs. Juan Gonzales, Richmond.

Cecil Morgan—Mrs. Irby B. Cole.

Cornelia McIntyre — Mrs. J. William Hollis.

Louie Morris — Mrs. Norton Foster, Richmond.

Anna Elizabeth Minter—Mrs. Walter Jefferson, Jr., Culpeper.

Janet M. Maddrey—Mrs. H. M. Butler, Norfolk.

Dorothy Meyers—Mrs. William Farrar, Huntington, W. Va.

Margaret Huston McCue—Mrs. Robert Goodloe Saunders, Wilmington, Del.

Elizabeth McCraw—Mrs. Berkley Martin.

Mary S. Martin — Mrs. John Harwood, Farmville.

Cornelia McIntryre — Mrs. J. Frank Highsmith, Jr.

Carolyn Maddux—Mrs. James W. Sutherland, Prince George Courthouse.

Elsie McLaughlin—Mrs. Ronald E. Leininger, Danville.

Rosa L. Maddux—Mrs. Charles Ferguson, Washington, D. C.

Nellie E. Moore—Mrs. Paul D. Miller, Chase City.

Lillian Noil — Mrs. Edward Hawthorne, Richmond.

Mary Johnson Norvell — Mrs. William Foster, Dillwyn.

Flora Neatrour—Mrs. Chamberlain Townes, New Orleans, La.

Lucille Norman—Mrs. William L. O'Brien, Jr., Washington, D. C.

Eloise V. Perkins—Mrs. Homer Elliott, Jr., Charleston, W. Va.

Martha B. Parr—Mrs. Alexandra W. Boxley.

Irene Piggott —Mrs. Charles Hofner, Newark, N. J.

Mary Pearson—Mrs. Ernest W. Sanford, Jr., Farmville.

Virginia Potts—Mrs. John A. Redhead, Jr., Tampa, Fla.

Eva Powers—Mrs. William Madrin.

Virgie B. Pollok—Mrs. Harry H. Clark, Danville.

Emma L. Pulliam—Mrs. W. M. Willis, Richmond.

Louise M. Pond—Mrs. Lampkin Jenkins, Crewe.

Lucy C. Pruitt—Mrs. Heartwell Peebles, Oxford, N. C.

Mary S. Quaintance—Mrs. Cary L. May, Gordonsville.

Mary L. Roundy—Mrs. Bernard C. Wilkerson, Farmville.

Ruby Rose—Mrs. William P. Miller.

Claudine Richardson — Mrs. George McDowell.

Elizabeth C. Rawls—Mrs. Junius W. Camp.

Virginia Sizemore—Mrs. Roy Hobgood, Buffalo Junction.

Marie Sutton—Mrs. J. C. McCurdy, Indianapolis, Ind.

Josephine Spencer—Mrs. John Howard Cook, Farmville.

Audrey Sharpe—Mrs. George W. Moore, Mooreton.

Mary E. Stephenson — Mrs. Dawson E. Watkins, Jr., Waynesboro.

Polly Sheffield—Mrs. J. F. McCanless, South Boston.

Mary F. Shepard—Mrs. Meade Flinn, Alberta.

Sarah E. Sykes—Mrs. Charles L. Scott, Jr., Danville.

Margaret Snead—Mrs. Clifton Smith, Virgilina.

Betty Shields — Mrs. Robert Brumfield, Farmville.

Frances Thornton — Mrs. W. Byrd Milton.

Marjorie Thomas—Mrs. Charles P. Johnston.

Lucy Thompson— Mrs. Fleet Robinson, Emporia.

Lucy I. Tunstall—Mrs. Charles King, Gasburg.

Ida Trolan—Mrs. Ryland Allen, Crewe.

Annie M. Tyus—Mrs. Harold D. Cole, Norfolk.

Mary Trimyer — Mrs. Charles Eason.

Mary W. Vincent—Mrs. L. E. Thomasson, LaCross.

Lucy I. Wilson —Mrs. Eugene Hardy.

Ann E. Watts—Mrs. Redmond Hogan, Beckley, W. Va.

Frances A. Wilson—Mrs. Y. L. Ripley.

Lucille White—Mrs. William L. O'Brien, Jr.

Helen Walthall—Mrs. Louis A. Micou, Farmville.

Lucille Wood—Mrs. Stephen M. Cartwright, Norfolk.

Anne Woodson—Mrs. William H. Overbey, Rustburg.

Linda Wilkinson—Mrs. Frederic Bock, Holderaft.

Martha R. Wilkinson—Mrs. A. N. Harris, Jr.

Mary J. Wilkinson—Mrs. A. N. Harris, Jr., Welch, W. Va.

Annie L. Winston—Mrs. Atkins

Junior Basketeers Defeat Senior Six

Monday afternoon at two-thirty the junior basketball team defeated the seniors, 28 to 10, in a hard-fought battle in the gym. Since the sophomores forfeited to the freshmen, the championship rests between the two red and white teams. The final game will be played Monday, March 18.

At the beginning of the game, Monday, the juniors seemed to have the victory without a struggle, but the seniors were determined to put up a fight—and they did. The red and white team made the first score and continued in the lead throughout the fray. In the last half as the juniors continued to run up the score, but more slowly, the seniors made most of their goals.

The original line-up stood as follows:

Juniors		Seniors
Ranson, Capt.	J.C.	White
Walmsley	S.C.	Mattox
Kern	R.G.	Gardner
Walker	L.G.	Beck, Capt.
Sanford	R.F.	Ryan
Rountree	L.F.	Putney

The seniors made many changes during the game, and Martha Harrison and Patsy Nottingham played half the time for the juniors.

Miss Iler and Bernice Mann called the game; Frankie McDaniel and Helen Harris were score-keepers; Edna Bolick was time-keeper.

Various Teas Given For Reunion Classes

That the members of the old classes might get together and enjoy recalling tales of days gone by the Farmville chapter of the alumnae with Miss Willie London as chairman, gave a series of teas for the reunion classes of the 5's and other alumnae.

The Honor Societies entertained the alumnae in the Honor Room, with Nelle Oakey Ryan, president of Alpha Kappa Gamma; Anne Putney, president of Delta Kappa Pi; Lila Jacob, president of Sigma Pi Rho; Katharine Walton, president of Beta Pi Theta; Elizabeth Walton, president of Alpha Phi Sigma; and Doris Coates as hostesses, assisted by Misses Camper, Nichols, and Jennings.

The class of 1915 was entertained by Miss Winnie Hiner in the drawing room of her home, 406 Main Street. She was assisted by Mrs. D T Elam, a friend of hundreds of "old girls" and by Miss Helen Hiner, who poured tea.

With Miss Jeter as hostess, the Home Economcs Department served to the class of 1925 such refreshments as only the Home Economics Department can prepare. Seniors in the department and volunteers from other classes helped Miss Jeter to serve.

These reunion teas were a pleasant interlude between the varsity-alumnae basketball game and the Founders Day dinner.

Volley Ball Practices Begin March 18

Volleyball practices begin Monday, March 18, at four o'clock in the gym. At the end of practices, the class teams will be organized, and the games will make either red and white or green and white ten points closer to the color cup award.

Not only does volleyball count toward the color cup, it is also excellent sport and recreation.

Evelyn Massey, manager, and Madeline McGlothlin, assistant, will be in charge of the practices.

Knaub and Shawen Play Leading Roles

Continued from page 4

Katherine Ryburn; Pages—Frances Woodhouse, Frankie McDaniel; Ladies—Bonnie Powell, Mary Joyner Cox, Tyler Wood, Grace Eubank, Marion Pond, Valla Nimmo, Marion Umberger, Jacqueline Johnson, Martha Hamlet; Men—Katherine Harvey, Katherine Smoot, Evelyn Massey, Josephine Quinn.

Frank: "I'd like to see something cheap in a felt hat".

Clerk in store: "Try this on and look in the mirror."—Areogagus, Talcott, W. Va.

"The grouchiest person known is the man who refuses to sleep on a feather bed for fear it will tickle him and make him laugh."—High School Buzz, Hutchinson, Kans.

Prominent Juniors Head Publications

Continued from page 1

good work as business manager of the 1934-'35 Virginian. She has not confined her work to the Virginian entirely but has been a regular contributor to the issues of The Rotunda.

Evelyn and Margaret have been conspicuous on the campus at S. T. C. for their good work on the publication staffs and in other campus activities. Evelyn has been an active member of The Rotunda staff since her freshman year in college and this year has served as associate editor of the paper. Margaret Clark, assistant business manager of The Virginian this year, has also been outstanding in her work at S. T. C.

The associate-editor of The Rotunda and The Virginian have been selected, but these names with those of the art and literary editors of the publications will be withheld until just before the minor elections which will take place in several weeks.

Nominations for the other five major officers will take place Tuesday of next week. The elections will be on Thursday.

H. Clark, Nelson.

Gertrude Wright—Mrs. Richard David Mahen, Jr.

Alma Yancey—Mrs. Charles A. Stovall, Jr.

Founders Day Dance Climaxes Celebration

A formal dance was held Saturday night in the gymnasium, climaxing the Founders Day celebration in appropriate fashion.

Tub Oliver and his Hampden-Sydney Collegians gave an excellent performance of the newest dance tunes. Virginia Martin, a Farmville girl, charmingly assisted Tub Oliver in the vocal refrains.

The dance was attended by students, alumnae and their dates. The faculty was well represented also, many participating in the dancing, while others were among the many watchers from the balcony.

The general concensus of opinion is that this Founders Day dance was one of the best dances held on our campus during recent years. Much of the credit for the smooth, delightful way in which it was conducted is due to the work of Dr. Jeffers who was in charge of the anniversary celebrations this year.

WILLIS
The Florist
Flowers for all occastons
PHONES 181-273

Special orders for
Teas and Parties
Try our doughnuts
Foley's Bakery
Third Street

Shannon's
Is Headquarters for the Best
SANDWICHES
—and—
DRINKS
in Farmville!

Southside Drug Store
(On the Corner)
Films Developed
FREE
If bought at this store

The Schemmel
Conservatory of Music
Offers interesting instruction by Artist Teachers, arranged to suit the needs of each pupil. Piano: Elsa Schemmel Fairchild, Marie Schemmel Shroder. Voice: Mattie Spencer Willis. Violin: Richmond Seay of Blackstone College.

Farmville Mfg. Co.
BUILDING MATERIALS
MILLWORK
Farmville, Va.

You Would Love to Have Your Shoes Fixed at
Lovelace Shoe Shop
110 Third Street

ROOM FURNISHINGS
SCHOOL SUPPLIES
CANDIES
ROSES
5-10-25c Store
FARMVILLE, VA.

Overton-Mottley Hdwe. Co.
ELECTRIC GOODS!
Tennis Rackets and balls
Roller Skates

Conoco Gas and Oil
Fill up at
Johns Motor Co.
Farmville, Va.

Martin the Jeweler
Gifts of
Lasting Remembrance
317 Main St. Farmville

POTTED MEATS
SANDWICH SPREAD
SANDWICH ROLLS
HOT DOGS
Everything for the Picnic
W. R. Drumeller
Main Street Farmville

EACO
THEATRE
Mats. 4 p. m.; Nights 8 p. m.
Adults 25c; Children 15c
Unless otherwise noted

Thurs-Fri., March 14-15
Rbt. Montgomery
Helen Hayes
"VANESSA"
HER LOVE STORY"
Laurel & Hardy in "Tit for Tat"
Adults 25c and 35c

Saturday, March 16
Joan Bennett
Francis Lederer
"Pursuit of Happiness"
(Bundling)
Popeye, News and Cartoon

Next Mon-Tues M. 18-19
Shirley Temple
LIONEL BARRYMORE
"Little Colonel"
'Pastrytown Wedding,' News
Adults 25c and 35c

Next Wed., Mch. 20
Warner Oland, Mary Brian
"Charlie Chan In Paris"
Chapt. 7 "Tailspin Tommy"
Popeye the Sailor

Cleaning at reduced rates
State Cleaning Co.
Third Street

SUPPERS AND
SMALL PARTIES
Good Breakfast
Dinners
Suppers
College Tea Room
and
LONGWOOD

Buy Your
C A N D Y
To Sell at
H. T. Stokes & Co.

G. F. Butcher
High Street
"The Convenient Store"
FOR GOOD THINGS
TO EAT AND DRINK

Electric Shoe Shop
Will Fix Your Shoes
While You Wait
BEST WORKMANSHIP
AND LEATHER USED

The Fashion Shoppe
Reflects the newest styles. All dresses $2.95 up
COATS, SUITS, DRESSES, UNDERWEAR
Silk Hose
Fine quality ..... 49c 59c and 69c

SPRING SPORT SHOES
Brown and white combination and sketched here. The ideal campus shoe that puts you at the head of footwear class.
$3.95 PAIR
OTHERS at $3.5 to $6. New zipper styles and dress "blues."
BALDWIN'S

LOVELY EASTER DRESSES
in one and two piece effects. You must see them to realize what wonderful values are $5.45, $7.45 & $9.45.
SPRING SUITS—the prettiest in town
$.945 to $15.97
DOROTHY MAY STORES
First to Show the Newest!
FARMVILLE, VA.

DO NOT MISS VOLLEY BALL PRACTICES

The Rotunda

We Teach To Teach

VOTE FOR MAJOR OFFICES

Volume XV. FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, MARCH 20, 1935 No. 22

Gregory To Play For Spring Dance

Cotillion Dance Will Include One Dansante

McCLURE TO LEAD

The Spring dances of the Cotillion Club, including a dansante from 4:30 till 6:00 in the afternoon and a formal dance from 830 till 12:00 at night, will be held here Saturday, March 23.

Dan Gregory and his Victor Recording Columbia Broadcasting Orchestra has contracted to play. This orchestra has recently completed an engagement at the Tantilla Gardens in Richmond.

The receiving line, composed of Dr. J. L. Jarman, Miss Mary White Cox, Miss Evelyn Knaub, Miss Jean McClure, Miss Hazel Smith, and Miss Laeta Barham, will form at the door of the Student Lounge at 8:30 p. m.

The figure, taking place at 10:30 will be led by Miss Jean McClure accompanied by Mr. Edwin Bouldin, assisted by Miss Evelyn Knaub with Mr. Barbee Betts, Miss Laeta Barham with Mr. Bill Scott, and Miss Hazel Smith with Mr. Luke Hancock. The figure will also include all Cotillion members except those bid this year.

Intermission will follow the completion of the figure, during which time punch will be served in the Student Lounge. Mrs. John K. Laing, Miss Pauline Camper, Mrs. J. H. Warren, and Mrs. J. L. Tabb will preside at the punch bowls.

The chaperones for the dances are: Dr. J. L. Jarman, Miss Mary White Cox, Mrs. John K. Laing, Mrs. J. H. Warren, Mrs. J. L. Tabb, Miss Pauline Camper, and Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Graham.

The faculty, administration, and home department, with their wives, husbands, and escorts, are cordially invited.

Tickets will be sold to members Thursday and Friday from 3:00 to 3:30 on the second floor of the Rotunda. Members in school will not be able to procure tickets after Friday, March 22. Alumnae may get tickets on the second floor of the Rotunda from 2:00 to 6:00 Saturday afternoon and at the door from 7:30 to 10:00 Saturday night.

Juniors Victorious Over Frosh Team

Monday afternoon at four o'clock in the gym, the juniors won the basketball championship. This concluded the basketball season at S. T. C., both intramural and intercollegiate games being completed.

Both teams entered into the game with a fighting spirit, and kept their determination to the end. Both played unusually well, considering the fact that they had no practice the week before because of examinations.

Team work and excellent pass work were the outstanding characteristics of the game. These were especially shown by the centers who were about evenly matched, and who really proved their ability throughout the game. Although the freshmen were unable to run up a score, they gave the juniors real competition and an exciting fight.

A very small crowd attended the game. Those loyal supporters of their colors who were present boosted the teams with songs and yells, Louise Walmsley lead-

Continued on page 4, Col. 1

R.M.W.C. Presents Dancing Recital

Dr. J. L. Jarman, Mr. and Mrs. Fitzpatrick, Miss Barlow, Miss Jeter, Miss Craddock, Phyllis Ferguson, Lena Mac Gardner, Virginia Leonard, Fanny Bosworth, Dorothy McNamee, Mary Robeson, Crenshaw Jones, and Doris Moore, from S. T. C., attended the annual dance recital held at Randolph Macon Woman's College Friday, March 15.

The trip was arranged by Mrs. Fitzpatrick, who especially desired members of the Artist Dance Group and the dancing classes to attend.

The program was presented by the Artist Dance Group of the Physical Education Dpartment at Randolph Macon. This program has been concentrated on the whole year, and is the biggest program of the year. Under the direction of Miss Eleanor Strappa, who also took part on the program, the students exhibited many forms of modern dancing, of sustained and controlled movements. The arms, head and the entire body also entered into the movements, and the fascial expressions and bows were according to the character represented. Modern dancing is expressive rather than graceful and beauti-

Continued on page 4, Col. 1

Teacher Assignments Announced Recently

The teaching assignments in the rural training schools for the spring quarter have been announced as follows:

In the elementary grades at John Randolph: Dorothy Johnson, Murkland Dressler, Myrtle Dodd, Mildred Chandler, and Alice Virginia Campbell.

In the elementary grades at Rice: Bernice Welch, Frances Hudgins, Mary Chappell, Ava Alderman and Lucille Alcers.

In the elementary grades at Worsham: Marjorie Cooke, Minnie Cocks, Catherine Gilliespie, Mary E. Bailey, Vivian Hall and Kathleen Johnson.

The girls who have been assigned to high school and the subjects they will teach are:

At Curdsvile: Dorothea Harrison, math, Lelia Mattox; Latin, Virginia Hooke; history, Ruth Showalter, science, Henriett Salsbury, English and Charlotte Young, French.

At Worsham: Dorothy Glover, history; Frances Elder, biology; and Ruby Blanton, math.

High School Students To Stage Play Here

Excitement, romance, humor, and wit are characteristic of "Romance Is A Racket," which will be presented by the juniors and seniors of the Training School Friday night at eight o'clock in the college auditorium. The play selected is a delightful one act comedy by John Kirkpatrick.

Preceding the play, the underclassmen not in the cast will give a program of dances under the direction of Lois Moses.

Betty Hardy, Dot Wright, Katherine Newman, Margaret Wilkerson, Evelyn Crenshaw, Mary Geyer, and Esther Gilliam comprise the cast of the play, coached by Audrey Clements.

Admission for S. T. C. students will be 20c.

MARGARET CLARK

Business Manager of Annual

EVELYN MASSEY

Business Manager of Weekly

NovelistWillSpeak Hereat Leadership FraternityBanquet

Miss Mary Johnston, the author of "To Have and To Hold" and many other stories of Old Virginia, has been invtied to be the speaker at the banquet to be held at Longwood during the national Alpha Kappa Gamma convention, April 5-7. The Virginia novelist has accepted the invitation to visit S. T. C. For sometime Miss Johnston has been a resident of Warm Springs, Va.

Delegates from Queen's Chicora, Charlotte, North Carolina, North Carolina State, Raleigh, North Carolina, and it is hoped from Mary Baldwin College, Staunton, Virginia will arrive here on April 5 and be the guests of the local chapter of Alpha Kappa Gamma during the weekend.

Miss Lula Andrews of Richmond, Virginia, will also be a distinguished guests at the meeting. Miss Andrews is an honorary member of Alpha Kappa Gamma and has done outstanding work in research for the organization. Miss Andrews will address the convention on Saturday afternoon. The national executives are expected to attend the meeting.

Nelle Oakey Ryan, local Alpha Kappa Gamma President, is chairman of the committee, which is making arrangements for the convention.

Spring Holidays Last Four Days Easter

Spring holidays will begin April 17, after classes, and extend throgh April 21. Students are required to return to school Monday to begin classes Tuesday morning.

The custom has been thoroughly established in the college to grant the spring holidays at Easter rather than at the end of the winter quarter. It has been decided that this time is more appropriate than the earlier date and suits the college schedule better.

College Choir and Choral Club to Present Program

For the benefit of those who were unable to be admitted to the concert in the college auditorium on the night of March 3, and for any others who wish to attend, the members of the College Choir and Choral Club with Miss Irene Leake, Edwin Cralle, and Beverly Farrar, local talent, will present a program at the Methodist church Sunday, March 24, at 7:30 p. m.

Selections from Handel's "Messiah" and a few other numbers of the Founders aDy program will be given.

Adjacent Counties Convene at S. T. C.

On Friday, March 15, at 10:30 A. M. a group of Supervisors, Superintendents, Principals and Teachers from Prince Edward and the adjoining counties met in the small auditorium. The meeting was called by Superintendent Sydney B. Hall for the purpose of finding out and discussing the problems which have been met in the introduction of the new State Course of Study.

The conference was in charge of Dr. D. W. Peters and Miss Ruth Henderson of the State Department of Public Instruction.

The morning session was addressed by Dr. D. W. Peters. In the afternoon two separate groups met, one composed of Superintendents, Principals and teachers from the various high schools. Miss Henderson presided over an open discussion. The second group was composed of teachers and supervisors of elementary schools.

Much valuable information was gained from the conference which was well attended by a very enthusiastic group. The meeting was adjourned at 5:30 p. m.

Three More Contests Confront Debate Club During 1935 Season

The S. T. C. Debate Club is having a very successful season this year. The first debate with Lynchburg College was lost, but victory crowned the next efforts with Emory and Henry College. Again bowing in defeat, the team yielded graciously to Waynesburg, Pennsylvania.

The question debated with Lynchburg and Emory and Henry was on government ownership of munitions. The national question, "Resolved That the Nations Should Agree To Prevent the International Shipment of Arms," was the topic of argument with Waynesburg.

This national question was also the subject for discussion at the South Atlantic Forensic Tournament held at Hickory, North Carolina, on March 7, 8, and 9. The affirmative and the negative teams from S. T. C. were represented by Margaret Pollard and Agnes Bondurant, Louise Francis and Dudley Allen, respectively. The affirmative team won two debates, and the negative won three, each team participating in five debates.

Gertrude Levy entered the oratorical contest at Hicory in behalf of S. T. C. She brought more glory and distinction to the college by unanimously winning the contest.

The Debate Club is sponsored and coached by Dr. Walmsley, and Margaret Pollard is its president.

During the remainder of the season, the organization plans to

Continued on page 4, Col. 1

Major Nominations Made By Students

Student Delegates Represent S. T. C. At Greensboro

The Southeastern Athletic Federation of Woman's College Conference will meet at the North Carolina College for Women in Greensboro, N. C., from Thursday, March 19, to Saturday, March 23.

Sarah Beck, Louise Walmsley and Mary Bowles will be S. T. C.'s Athletic Association's representatives at this conference. At this time delegates from the Athletic Association of other Southern Colleges will also attend.

At this meeting all phases, problems and difficulties of basketball, hockey, tennis, and swimming and other sports will be thoroughly discussed. There will be also a delightful program of entertainment including swimming parties, a camp supper and other events, the whole to terminate with a grand banquet Saturday evening.

Y. W. Committees Total Work of Season at Meeting

At the roll call of the Y. W. C. A. meeting, Wednesday afternoon, each of the ten committee chairmen gave a report of her work during the year and plans for its completion. These reports will be made into a booklet for the incoming cabinet. Discussion of the work of the Y. W. committees followed, and the president asked for helpful suggestions. The treasurer gave a report of the proposed budget and the expenditure up to the present time.

Marguerite York opened the meeting with an interesting talk on Dr. Fosdick's book entitled: "The Modern Use of the Bible." For the past month the cabinet has studied books pertaining to this subject.

After a short business meeting, the program was given over to the Social Committee. A delicious ice course was served, and the meeting ended with a spirit of jollity.

Fall Quarter Sorority Averages Announced

As a means of encouraging high scholastic rating among the sorority girls on campus a scholarship award is made to the group making the highest average for three consecutive quarters. At the end of each quarter the grades are averaged by the Pan-Hellenic advisor and the result reported to

Continued on page 3, Col. 3

Class To Be Offered In Parliamentary Law

Dr. Walmsley is offering a class in parliamentary law this quarter for all students who are interested. The class will be held from April 12 to May 2 on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 2:10 p. m. It will not be a credit class, but will give students an opportunity to understand and be familiar with parliamentary proceedings.

The class was given in the fall, and a number of officers in the student body took advantage of the opportunity to learn the order of strict parliamentary law. However, the members of the class are not restricted to officers.

Smith and Waters For Student Body President

ELECTIONS THURS.

Nominations for the major officers in school were held throughout the day Tuesday. The result of the preliminaries are as follows student body president, Hazel Smith and Tac Waters; president of Y. W. C. A., Agnes Crockett and Lucy Potter; president of House Council, Elizabeth Huse and Mildred Potter; president of Athletic Association, Mary Bowles and Louise Walmsley. Final election of major officers will be held on Thursday. Girls living in the Annex and Student Building will vote at the table at the entrance to second floor Student Building; those rooming on Main and West Main will vote on second floor Rotunda; girls rooming on White House Hall, Gym Hall and Town girls will vote at the table in the hall on the main floor; juniors and seniors living in the Senior Building will vote in that dormitory.

Nominations for minor elections will be held on Monday or Tuesday of next week.

Honor Graduates Selected In College Training School

Dorothy Wright and Margaret Wilkerson were selected from the seniors in the Training School to deliver the valedictory and salutatory, respectively, at the commencement exercises. These first and second honor graduates were selected by the supervisors with leadership attitude, scholarship, etc., as a basis for the selection. Both girls have done outstanding work in classes and in extra-curricular work during their four years of high school.

College of Today Breeds Spirit of Revolt

NEW YORK—(IP)—Modern a spirit of revolt and should be restrained. Former Governor John M. Slaton of Georgia said in a speech before the New York State Bar Association here last week.

He also accused magazines and newspapers of fostering the "spirit of unrest."

Continued page 3, Col. 3

Enrollment Changes With New Quarter

Six seniors, Margaret Birdwell, Vivian Davis, Audrey Mattox, Maude Rhodes, Helen Smith, and Mary Elizabeth Stubs completed the degree course in March and will not be in school during the spring.

The total enrollment of S. T. C. was increased at the beginning of the spring quarter by the entrance of several new girls and former students.

Virginia Morine Layne, Farmville; Margaret Belmore, Schuyler; Anne E. Butler, Norfolk; Mary Elizabeth Pinnell, Warrenton, N. C., Alma Doris Johnson, Norfolk; Janice Hart, Norfolk, Virginia; and Margaret Ping Jung, Norfolk, are the new girls who have enrolled for the spring term.

Dorothy Ellen Stone, Newport News; Nelle Stokes, Farmville; Clara Sizemore, Buffalo Springs; Margaret Burnette, Farmville; and Marjorie Woolfolk, Orange, have resumed their studies at S. T. C.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Published by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

MEMBER
Associated Collegiate Press
1934 Collegiate Digest 1935
MADISON WISCONSIN

Staff

Lelia Mattox ..... Editor
Evelyn Massey ..... Associate Editor
Lena Mac Gardner ..... Business Manager

Board of Editors

Miss Jane Royall ..... Alumnae
Florence Sanford ..... Make-up
Susan Gresham ..... Headlines
Kathryne Cotten ..... Literary
Birdie Wooding, Emma Bingham, Bess Mc-Clothlin ..... Editorials
Anne Putney ..... World News
Anne Diggs ..... Social
Alva Sawyer ..... Asst. Business
Maude Rhodes, Lila Jacob, Elsie Cabell ..... Circulation

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 20, 1935

It Might Have Been

"The saddest words of tongue or pen
Are these—it might have been"

Several days ago a young lady was heard to remark, "I might have passed that course if I had really studied," and a friend replied, "That teacher is too hard."

Do we judge our successes or failures by someone else? We should not.

Shortly before and after examinations some girls are inclined to talk of what might have been if they had done so and so. During the quarter they might tire themselves with too much pleasure and too little work, scarcely giving a thought to success or opportunity until examinations stare them in the face. And then they blame someone else for what has happened, yet what happened usually depended on themselves.

It has often been said that opportunity knocks but once, which is not altogether true. Opportunities are coming and going every day, and no matter how small they are, they should be utilized—for it is a number of small things which form our lives, building up the big opportunity that should be our success. College is a big opportunity with many little opportunities underlying it. We should make the most of it, study being the major part of what we have to do. If we go about continually talking of what might have been, we waste time. It is far better to snatch every chance, make the most of each day, and, so, be proud of success; then, it will be entirely unnecessary to lament what might have been —it will be.

It might have been that you started to stay away from college, but you did not; so, make the most of it. It might have been that you failed your first quarter's work. You did not? You passed with a minimum amount of success, which might have been better. It can be better, because every college girl has some spark of ambition. You want to win whether you fight for it or not, but the best fighter is usually the best winner. So, go into the new quarter with a new spirit. Make the most of everything that comes your way, and what might have been will be.

Stop and Think

Now is the time for all girls who are interested in the welfare of the student body and the college to stop and think. Not only is it the duty of the girls to think seriously before voting for major offices but it is the duty of each girl to vote. Each time an election is staged those officiating are surprised to find that a large portion of the students have not bothered to cast their vote. This is unfair to girls running, and to those elected under such circumstances. From what quarters does most of the destructive criticism come? Who find fault with the way in which things are being done? It is safe to say that those of us who do not take interest in and participate in school activities are quick to criticize.

If things are not being done as you think they should be why not do your part in improving the situation? It would be more gracious and effective to evidence your sentiments in a helpful way than to employ demoralizing criticism and unjust accusations.

The officers to be elected Thursday are our officers next year because we are choosing them. Let's do our part now to make them truly representative of the student body's wishes.

Does Lent Mean Anything?

As the days, growing longer and warmer, bring Spring to the world around us and to the world within us, does the figure end with the thoughts of a new spring outfit? Or does it bring to us some thought of the real Spring—the release of life from death, in every plant and animal but most gloriously in the soul of man?

We are away from home and perhaps we have neglected to establish ourselves in the relations to church life that we like and intend to do. Isn't this being the present and more especially the Lenten season the very finest time to act—to let this new happiness and new vigor turn our hearts to the simple and joyous spiirt of Easter. It means a great deal more to the theologian but let us take what is our from it as young Christians.

Let next Sunday find each of us somewhere in church and each day find in our hearts some thought worthy of that first Easter. It shall mean a truer beauty, a deeper joy in life ,in friends, in Spring than ever before.

Help us to find a cross somewhere
Since it is Easter day
Where we may foil the foolish fears
That we should throw away

* * * *

May we forget the petty trials
Dreams gone, briefly hurt, deep loss
And turn to where the lilies climb the air
To hide a bleeding cross
For hope is born where lilies bloom
Rain-sweet in early spring
And faith that found an empty tomb
Can conquer anything.

—Helen Melshimer

Economic Renaissance of the South

Numerous interesting facts are revealed concerning the land beneath the Mason-Dixon by a brief survey entiled "Industrial Awakening of the South," by Dr. A. G. Taylor, and published in the Bulletin of the Harvard Business School of February.

With the World War, the conflict that has produced so many unexpected benefits, came the awakening. The sturdy country boy of the old South was forced overseas with his countryman, the hated Yankee. Thus an amazing contrast was brought to light. The Army tests showed the lofty supremacy of the Northern system of learning. The illiteracy of the South was amazing.

A new generation emerged from that war—one conceived of new ideas for a progressive economic system. The old South gave way to the factory system for the more efficient usage of her valuable natural resources. Truth brought about swallowed pride and northern economic ideas were transplanted.

The New South is coming to be the land of ultimate learning and culture. Soon the grievance incurred by the War Between the States will be entirely forgotten and the union of the States will be heart and soul, inseparable.

Among Our Caps and Gowns

Lena Mac Gardner

—Courtesy News Leader

It would take a long list of our most choice adjectives to do justice to Lena Mac, and it will be necessary to limit ourselves to a few of them. To say that someone is capable, conscientious, and dependable is a very high compliment, but "Mac" is even more, for she possesses all of those finer traits of character which we all admire.

Since she was a freshman here, Lena has worked faithfully and steadily with and for her class, and now as a senior she stands high in the regard of us all. By electing her their vice-president, a senior chaperone, and one of the ten most outstanding seniors, the class was able to express a little of their appreciation and respect for her.

Not limiting herself to class work, "Mac" has done fine work in the Dramatic Club, on the Rotunda Staff, on Y. W. C. A. committees, and now we find her a member of Alpha Kappa Gamma, honorary fraternity for leadership.

At the present Lena Mac is writing the theme for May Day, and we are sure that she will be quite up to standard in this field.

To you, "Mac," we say sincere wishes for those things we know will be yours—success and happiness.

Alumnae News

Chatham and Gretna Alumnae Entertained

The Chatham and Gretna alumnae were delightfully entertained at tea by Mary Shelton and Elizabeth Hendricks on Wednesday, March 13, at Mrs. Marshall's home in Chatham. The Chatham chapter, which includes the alumnae from Gretna, was almost one hundred per cent present and very enthusiastic. The chapter had as their guests from Farmville Miss Leola Wheeler and Jane Royall, who told them about the recent happenings at the College.

Halifax Alumnae Have Informal Meeting

The alumnae of Halifax County Chapter had an informal meeting on Thursday evening, March 14, with Mrs. J. C. Harris in South Boston. The chapter enjoyed the recent news and pictures of Farmville that were brought to them by Miss Wheeler and Jane Royall, who met with them.

"Interest in Art Increases"

"Interest in art among the high school pupils has increased," states Miss Marjorie Goodwyn, a Farmville graduate, who is director in the Art Department at the Thomas Jefferson High School in Richmond. About 12 per cent of the student body is enrolled in the art classes, which is a comparatively high percent. This increase is probably due to the fact that the conducive and pleasant surroundings are prevalent and that such a variety of courses is offered.

Review of the News

Along with Hitler's scrapping of the Versailles Treaty came his announcement of an army to be raised, 500,000 strong; diplomatic circles answered his decree with flurries of alarm.

This is the way the various governments reacted:

1. Great Britain protested very vigorously that the rearmament of Germany threatened peace in Europe.

2. France and Italy perceived that they could do nothing to help the situation, and concerted action was held in obeyance.

3. The United States can, of course, say and do nothing as she is not an ignatory power of the treaty.

Germany maintains, however, that she is willing to talk peace with England and may consider the discussion of the Anglo-French system. Sir John Simon, England's able representative to this conference scheduled in Berlin, was on his way to that city at the time the decision of the secret cabinet meeting was announced. As all parties are willing, negotiations for peace settlement will continue, but it is evident on all sides that it will probably go the way of all conferences on the subject.

Rotunda Reverberations

Things We Can't Remember:

That some professors don't like class-cutting even when you're on the Dean's List . . . that examinations are always twice as hard to study for without adequate notese . . . that sitting on the wall isn't a very dignified form of sport . . . meetings . . . that week-ends are not supposed to begin until Saturday afternoon . . . that library books really have to be turned in . . . that alarm clocks won't alarm unless they're set.

Orchids to the two Sanfords. We prophesy that as editors they will be as capable as they are at entertaining S. T. C.

Things We Can't Forget:

That there is a full month before spring holidays . . . that knitting is still S. T. C.'s favorite indoor sport . . . that every quarter must end with exams . . . that bills have to be paid sooner or later . . . that in the spring a young woman's fancy turns to thoughts and thoughts and thoughts . . . that student teachers have one-track minds . . . classes . . . that week-ends can be such beautiful things . . . that seniors are supposed to have dignity along with their caps and gowns.

Now that we're on the last lap of the year we're wondering how many people feel only the thrill approaching vacation brings, how many people are doing no more than plodding along, refusing to think or feel at all. Aren't we making a huge mistake in not looking either backward or forward enough?

Things We Can't Forgive:

Long advertisement talks in the midst of the best radio program of the evening . . . curiosity sugar-coated with supposed kindness . . . boys who come to girl-break hope without dates . . . loud-voiced comments in conspicuous places . . . two or three animated cartoons plus a news reel before the main picture . . . clever remarks that leave us flailing the air for a proper retort . . . people we can't understand.

Remember, now at the beginning of a new quarter, the old proverb, "Never put off until tomorrow what can be done today."

It is common knowledge that Germany has been building up her fleet of commercial planes-masquerading as such, but not deceiving anyone. The fact is that she can convert them into bombers at a moment's notice and has had them flying over Berlin all this week. A grim escort for the peace representatives of other nations!

The United States has pending before her congress a bill for increased naval appropriations. This thrust is manifestedly aimed at Japan, but, coming at a time like this, it has significance in such a critical situation.

POETRY

Slayer of winter, art thou here
O welcome, thou that bring'st the summer nigh!
The bitter wind makes not thy victory vain,
Nor will we mock thee for thy faint blue sky.
Welcome, O March! whose kindly days and dry winds
Make April ready for the throstle's song,
Thou first redresser of the winter's wrong!

Yea, welcome, March! and though I die ere June,
Yet for the hope of life I give thee praise,
Striving to swell the burden of the tune
That even now I hear thy brown birds raise,
Unmindful of the past or coming days;
Who sing, "O joy! a new year is begun!
What happiness to look upon the sun!"

O, what begetteth all this storm of bliss,
But Death himself, who, crying solemnly,
Even from the heart of sweet Forgetfulness,
Bids us, "Rejoice! lest pleasureless ye die.
Within a little time must ye go by.
Stretch forth your open hands and, while ye live,
Take all the gifts that Death and Life may give."

—William Morris

The Wind Is Blind

The wind is blind.
The earth sees sun and moon; the height
Is watch-tower to the dawn; the plain
Shines to the summer; visible light
Is scattered in the drops of rain.
The wind is blind
The flashing billows are aware
With open eyes the cities see;
Light leaves the ether, everywhere
Known to the homing bird and bee.
The wind is blind.
Is blind alone. How has he hurled
His ignorant lash, his sinless dart,
His eyeless rush upon the world,
Unseeing, to break his unknown heart!
The wind is blind.
And the sail traps him, and the mill
Captures him; and he cannot save
His swiftness and his desperate will
From those blind uses of the slave.

—Alice Meynell.

March

Green triangles have come on the ground,
Green fretted things that we shall see
Grown to wild parsley soon. The hens
Are talking news excitedly.
Big dimples stay in the sparrow's fluff,
They preen with such fine energy.
The very dust's alert. His songs
The blackbirds— stirs from memory.
The prettiest one he knew last year
Is still a soft uncertainty.
The catkins drip like honey spilt,
The cock crows twice as frequently.
And the wind rises, tossing back
The spring: "You'll like it more," says he,
"For twisting aside, like the blackbird's song,
And vexing you with "Presently."

—Camilla Doyle.

Wind And Silver

Greatly shining,
The Autumn moon floats in the thin sky;
And the fish-ponds shake their backs and flash their dragon scales
As she passes over them.

—Amy Lowell.

SOCIALS

"Come out, come out, the weather is clear" seems to have been the call that issued forth from every corner last week-end. And the S. T. C. girls as well as others certainly did heed the call.

At Home

Home sems always to be foremost in the minds of those away. Among those who spent the week-end at home are: Virginia Bean, Chic Dortch, Nancy Dodd, Virginia Hurt, Elizabeth Harris, Dorothy Glover, Lena Mac Gardner, Elizabeth Huse, Eugenia Jolly, Louise Floyd, Frances Farris, Jessica Jones, Lucile Moseley, Elizabeth Smith, Isabel Plummer, Eleanor Mitchell, Susan Gresham, Louise Hyde, Anne Peple, Ann Mears, Agnes Powell, Evelyn Howell, Evelyn Knaub, Margaret Herndon.

Mary Elizabeth Wood, Katherine Conway, Martha Gwaltney, Catherine Zimmerman, Marion Pond, Kathleen McCann, Clentis Mattox, Amis Montgomery, Mary Lee Powell, Virginia Hannah, Josephine Kent, Merwyn Gathwright, Rachel Joyner, Charlotte Young, Eleanor Wood, Bernice Jones, Jennie Belle Gilliam, Frances Jones, May Harvey, Rose Friend, Carter Belle Munt, Thulia Park, Marion Shoffner, Virginia Rawlings, Wyc Scott, Edna Shorter, Charlotte Rice, Hazel Smith, Billy Wilkinson, Lois Vassar, Clyde Tuck, Nan Page Trent, Ella Ware, Dorothy Price, Iris Rountree, Margaret Russel, Rose Somers, Henrietta Salsbury, Deane Saunders, Anthelia Robinette, Eleanor Wade, Elizabeth Spitler, Marjorie Robertson, Patsy Saunders, Virginia Martin, Pauline Pearson, Mildred Meeks, Elizabeth Puckett, Elizabeth Mann, Louise Gathright, Lilian Powell, Helen Harris, Irene Parker, Jane Holland, Dora Parker, Frances Johnson, Bobbie Mattox, Ernestine Payne, Kitty Jamisonfi Charligne Hall, Katherine Milby, Izell Houck, Laeta Barham, Jestine Cutshall, Maude Deekins, Kitty Bass.

Mildred Davies, Sue Eastham, Alma Elliot, Mary Lou French, Irene Bailey, Mamie Barnes, Mary Wilson Clark, Margaret Pollard, Nan Seward, Virginia Saunders, Rebecca Carter, Margarette Duck, Edna Bolick, Margaret Aldredge, Maude Duck, Virginia Baker, Margaret Jones, Rebecca Cousins, Mary Black, Doris Coates, Mildred Habel, Fanny Bosworth, Martha Glenn Davis, Grace Collins, Ines Chappelle, Georgie Custis, Bobby Brooke, Mary Denny Annie Leigh Bailey, Ethel Burgess, Louise Bailey, Mary E. Newcomb, Mary Jane Pendleton, Anne McCready, Betty Butterworth, Sarah Beck, and Christian Reynolds.

In Richmond

Among those who ventured to Richmonds last week were: Blanche Kahn, Lelia Mattox, Grace Eubank, Josephine Quinn, Elizabeth Pinnell, Lois Moses, Belle Lovelace, Emily and Frances Channell, Claudia Harper, Rose Marie Hunter, Margaret Drake and Alice Ziegler.

At Culpepper

Culpepper certainly did prove interesting last week-end for Katheryn Fitzgerald, Tyler Wood, Evelyne Montgomery and Jean McClure.

In Lynchburg

Brooks Wheeler, Audrey Mattox, Virginia Leonard, Anne Johnson and Marion Layne spent the week-end in Lynchburg.

To Georgia

Talk about globe-trotting—well Caroling Jones and June Allen certainly did it. All the way to Savannah, Ga., and back.

Other Places Visited

Among other places visited were: Lexington by Mary Glimer, Frances Woodhouse and Zilla Newsom; Danville by Virginia Brown and Margaret Ferguson; Rice by Edith Hart, Evelyn Holmes, and Bessie Hart; Drakes Branch by Audrey Wilson, Dillwyn by Edna Harvey, Jeannette Jones; Winston Salem by Ellen Simmerman; Blackstone by Elizabeth Stubs, Pamplin by Lucille Rhoades, and Martha Hamlet; Lawesville by Virginia Lee Harvey; Martinsville by Ruth and Mary Hubard; Salem by Marion Hansbrough, Virginia Salem, and Valla Nimmo; Kenbridge by Virginia Daughty and Leslie Bradshaw; Fincastle by Jane Lybrook and Mildred Linthecum; Luray by Marjorie Booten; Clover by Catherine Crews; South Boston by Margaret Crenshaw; Big Island by Sally Rose Chappelle, and Lawrenceville by Mary Harrison Vaughan.

Among Our Alumnae

Dr. John A. Cunningham, second president of the State Female Normal School at Farmville called Miss Celeste Parrish, then a member of his Faculty "the brainest woman is Virginia."

The Rotunda published a sketch of her life in this column last week and an excerpt from her account of her own struggle for an education, clipped from the Atlanta Journal. Her story is continued below and will be concluded next week.

The year after I graduated from the "college" I attended the first "summer normal" ever held in my state. The public school teachers gathered at the state university and in the six weeks of our sojourn I had another intellectual awakening. The libraries, the laboratories and may of the lectures were revelations to me. From occasional lectures by the university professors, I obtained glimpses of great fields of knowledge whose names had, previously, meant nothing to me. I came in contact with one or two university students of the better type, who gave me some insight into the sort of work they were doing, and, ince again, an intense discouragement took temporary possession of me.

At that time I had never seen a really good picture. A fine copy of Raphael's School of Athens hung in the assembly hall of the university and several lectures upon it were given by the professor of philosophy. I listened eagerly, remained often alone in the hall for the pleasure of looking at it and studying it as closely as my limitations would allow. I think the time I spent simply in looking at it without moving or speaking was productive of the best results. In the regular sessions of the summer school, I came in contact with teachers who were more skillful than I, and determining to do better work, myself, I examined their methods and tried to select all that was good and adapt it to my particular conditions. I aimed at other improvements. Hitherto, I had no control over my voice and it was often disagreeably loud and harsh. My articulation was very rapid and indistinct. A fairly good teacher of elocution happening to be at the university, I joined a private class which she was teaching and, at the end of six weeks, had gained a basis from which I could work out my own salvation. I continued the work for a number of years, taking within that time private lessons in vocal music and trying, and, at the end of six weeks, had a pleasant manner of speaking.

I had been an extremely awkward girl. My aunts had been annoyed and sometimes exasperated by it, but they did not know how to help me and their continual sarcasms only made me the more self-conscious and, therefore, the more awkward. To remedy this I took private work in calisthenics, walking six miles under a broiling midday sun to reach the teacher. I am not quite sure whether the actual exercises or my faith in them wielded the more potent influence, but at any rate, I became, after a year or two, a less awkward woman.

Through all the period described, I had read industriously and with high enjoyment. Scott, Dickens, Thackeray, George Eliot, Longfellow, Tennyson, Carlyle, Shakespeare and Macauley had been the employment of my vacations. I read, also, translations of Greek and Latin authors with much pleasure, had access to a few good magazines, with a member of a reading club composed of the most cultivated people of the town and was fast becoming what I had always longed to be—a cultivated woman.

Political complications arising in the public school system, I resigned in disgust and accepted a position in the "college," but a year later a "State Female Normal school" was established in my state and I went as a student to that. At the end of six weeks I was invited to become a teacher the following year, continuing meanwhile, my student work.

I fell easily into the work which was the despair of many of the students, and taught my first practice lesson so well that the critic teacher insisted that I had been trained. I soon completed the course, was given the entire charge of the department of mathematics, was invited at once to a position in the "summer normals" of the state and soon found myself in demand for that sort of work. In these schools I became acquainted with teachers from all parts of the state, and finding many of them face to face with difficulties which had confronted me in my earlier experience, I was able to help them. Silver and gold I had none, for all that I earned above my bare expenses had always been used for those who had claims upon me, but I know that I gave fresh courage to many a soul fainting under heavy burdens who would, otherwise, have believed effort useless.

After a few years I began to plan a year's study at a great university, but calamity came again, the path of duty was plain and I worked on.

Miss Cox Entertains At Informal Dinner

Miss Mary White Cox honored the out-going Student Council, the House Council, and the Y. W. C. A. Cabinet with an informal dinner in the lounge on Tuesday evening.

As hostesses, Miss Mary and Miss Royall welcomed the girls and invited them to pull up their chairs for a social chat and an informal meal.

A plate dinner, consisting of hot turnovers, chicken salad, potato chips, cheese straws, and pickled peaches was served. For dessert there were ice cream with cherries, cup cakes, and cookies.

The lounge was appropriately decorated with lovely vases of jonquils,

Fall Quarter Sorority Averages Announced

Continued from page 1

the groups. For a notable length of time Zeta Tau has monopolized first place but the averages for the fall quarter reversed the tables somewhat. The results are as follows:

Mu Omega	2.018
Zeta Tau	1.840
Gamma Theta	1.710
Sigma Sigma Sigma	1.626
Alpha Sigma Alpha	1.547
Pi Kappa Sigma	1.353

Ezra, tomorrow is our twenty-fifth wedding anniversary hadn't we better kill a chicken?

Why, punish the chicken for something that happened twenty-five years ago?

"In the time of trial," said the preacher, "what brings us our greatest comfort?"

And from the back of the room the answer came back, "An acquital."

Going Away? . . . . . .

Travel by

GREYHOUND

Safe—Comfortable—Economical

S. A. Legus

TAILOR

CLEANING

PRESSING

REPAIRING

Phone 203

College of Today Breeds Spirit of Revolt

Continued from page 1

He also accused magazines and newspapers of fostering the "spirit of unrest."

"Propaganda for every conceivable vagary finds its way into print and receives a favorable, or at least a tolerant, reception," he said. "Novelty has a value greater than worth, and he who challenges it must meet the withering title of 'reactionary.' Any theory is acceptable, though it antagonizes every principle that is justified by experience and resistence to the assaults of time, provided the theory is entitled 'progressive.'"

This spirit of revolt, he said, is bred within college walls, and he cited as an example the case of a woman profesor in a women's college who advocated the abolition of religion and its repressions. He said things had gone so far that people taught companionate marriage and spending instead of thrift."

Flush—"How'd ya get that cut on the head "

Lush—"Musta bit myself."

Flush—"Gwan, how could you bite yourself way up there?"

Lush—"Musta stood on a chair."

The Winds

Those hewers of the clouds, the Winds, that lair
At the four compass-points, are out tonight;....
I hear their sandals trample on the height,
I hear their voices trumpet through the air:
Builders of storm, God's workmen, now they bear
Up the steep stair of sky, on backs of might,
Huge tempest bulks, while-sweat that blinds their sight—
The rain is shaken from tumultuous hair:
Now, sweepers of the firmament, they broom
Like gathered dust, the rolling mists along
Heaven's floors of sapphire; all the beautiful blue
Of skyey corridor and celestial room—
Preparing, with large laughter and loud song,
For the white moon and stars to wander through.

—Madison Cavein.

WILLIS
The Florist

Flowers for all occasions

PHONES 181-273

C. E. Chappell Co.

Stationery, Blank Books and School Supplies

Cigars, Cigarettes and Soda

Farmville, Virginia

Rice's Shoe Store

Street and Dress Shoes

Dancing Slippers Dyed

Correct fits our specialty It

Kleanwell

CLEANERS AND TAILORS

Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling ladies garments

Main Street, opposite Post office

Phone 98

Gray's Drug Store

QUALITY—PRICE—SERVICE

Come in and Get Acquainted

We are glad to have you with us!

Farmville, Virginia

Mack's

BARBER AND BEAUTY SHOP

323 Main Street

We use the Frederick Method

Hair cutting and thinning a Specialty

Radio Highlights

Wednesday

8:30 WEAF—Wayne King
9:45 WOR—Garber Orchestra
10:00 WEAF—Lombardo
10:15 WOR—Current Events
10:30 WEAF—Ray Noble
WABC—Symphony Orch.
11:05 WABC—Belasco Orchestra

Thursday

6:45 WJZ—Lowell Thomas
8:00 WEAF—Vallee's Varieties.
9:00 WABC—Glenn Gray
9:30 WABC—Fred Waring
11:00 WJZ—Denny Orchestra
11:00 WABC—Little Jack Little
11:15 WEAF—Berger Orchestra

Friday

6:15 WJZ—Dance orchestra
6:30 WABC—Current Events
6:45 WJZ—Lowell Thomas
900 WEAF—Abe Lyman
9:30 WJZ—Belasco Orchestra
11:00 WJZ Dance orchestra
11:05 WABC—Nelson Orchestra

Saturday

6:00 WABC—Little Jack Little
7:15 WOR—Dance orchestra
8:30 WJZ—Art Jarrett
9:00 WJZ—Ray Noble
10:30 WJZ—Dance orchestra
11:00 WABC—Glenn Gray

He—"I suppose you dance."
She—"Oh, yes. I love to."
He—"Great. That's bettern' dancing."

PRINTING . . . . .

When you think of Printing think of

—The—
FARMVILLE HERALD

SPRING SPECIALS

The navy is here—Three-quarter length navy blue suits. They are chic—stylish and she will adore you in them. Three price groups—$9.95—$14.95 and $16.50

THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE

Farmville's Best Place to Shop!

—FOR—

EVERYTHING—SCHOOL SUPPLIES, CANDIES, FRUITS, CONFECTIONS, ETC.

GO TO . . . . .

GILLIAM'S

Open 'till 9:00 p. m.

ARE YOU INTERESTED?

JACKETS of Grain and Suede Cloth and Wool SWEATERS.

We are showing the season's newest. Come in. We are glad to show—Just what we have—and the line is very attractive.

VERSER'S

PHILCO RADIO

World's largest manufacturers of Radio

A complete line

Watch repairing a specialty

Sheet Music—Strings for Instruments

LYNN, The Main Street Jeweler

YOUR NEIGHBOR,

The Weyanoke Beauty Salon

invites you to drop in and take advantage of their Special prices now in effect.

Permanent Waves—$4 & $6 Shampoo & Fingerwave 75 cents

Manicure 40 cents

Individual, courteous, efficient service and an established reputation for dependability and satisfaction. That is our guarantee, and your assurance of perfect workmanship.

Volley Ball Practices Begin Early in Week

Volley ball started off "with a bang" Monday afternoon after the junior-freshman basketball game. It was a small "bang", but an enthusiastic, loyal, noisy, and happy one. Approximately fourteen girls attended the first practice and as many the second one.

Practices will be held two hours on Tuesdays and Wednesdays and one hour on Thursdays until the week before Easter. This schedule, which will be posted on the Athletic Association bulletin board, provides time for tennis and lacrosse practices which will begin soon.

Present plans are for the class volley ball games to be played on Monday and Tuesday before Easter holidays. This gives four weeks for practices, ten of which are required for the class squad. Volley ball is a sport for everyone and one in which everyone can take part.

R. M. W. C. Presents Dancing Recital

Continued from page 1

ful; it expresses what can not be said in words.

The most familiar numbers on the program were Kismet and Assandra, the Greek goddess. Kismet was dressed in green and black, and had a beautiful lighting effect in which to perform the solo dance. Cassandra, also a solo performance, was dressed in flowing purple robes.

The prgoram was concluded with a negro ritual, with dancing accompanying the singing of negro spirituals.

Miss Struppa presented a lovely and expressive satire, the first half of which was classic and the last half romance.

Juniors Victorious Over Frosh Team

Continued from page 1

ing the juniors, and Jane Royall leading the freshmen.

In the first quarter the juniors took the lead in the score and continued ahead during the entire game. The forwards demonstrated quick timing and precision in their shots. They were backed by strong guards and centers.

Martha Putney refereed the game, and Miss Iler umpired.

The line-up was:

Freshmen		Juniors
Chappelle	R.F.	Rountree
Gilliam, J. B.	L.F.	Sanford, F
Eastham	J.C.	Ranson C
Butterworth, S.	S.C.	Kern
Bolick	R.G.	Walker
Thomas	L.G.	Bondurant

Substitutions: freshmen; E. Mann, F. Britton—juniors; L. Walmsley.

Three More Contests Confront Debate Club

Continued from page 1

debate with Harrisonburg, Westhampton, and Winthrop Colleges. Winthrop is one of the colleges in which Dr. Walmsley formerly taught.

The club is constantly working on the national question and other major subjects. They intend to make the rest of the season as successful as the first part.

Books Add to Home

Only when books are owned, read, and loved do they really belong to the home, says the New York state college of home economics.

Books should not be kept behind locked glass doors in one room, but some should be in every room. Homemakers will not become weary with the daily routine if they keep books in the kitchen and read them during spare moments. Children's books should also be handy so that mother may read to them occasionally.

The habit of reading is as necessary for mental health as fresh air and sunshine are for bodly health, and books can be had in every community if we realize the need for them.

MUSIC IN THE AIR

(Reprint from V. M. I. Cadet)

FREDDIE MARTIN will soon leave the East to take up a post on the West Coats at the Cocoanut Grove . . . CHANDU, THE MAGICIAN will be back on the air with a new sponsor . . . The HOLLYWOOD HOTEL program which features DICK POWELL and FRANCES LANGFORD may leave the air in the near future . . . IRRWING STONES AT THE SUN seems to be the song that is played most on the air . . . The band leaders seem to favor FAIR THE WELL, ANNABELLE, from The RUDY VALEE show, SWEET MUSIC . . One of the hit tunes from WAKE UP AND DREAM, shown recently at J-M HALLL is TOO BEAUTIFUL FOR WORDS . . . Funny songs lose favor, BLUE MOON which led the popularity for about two months is slipping fast . . . WOLLARD BORISON is not a Negro as so many think . . . This was the illusion as to the eevr popular SINGIN' SAM . . . To clear up another rumor, BOB CROSBY is the brother of the famous BING . . . He is single and twenty-three . . . In New York there are rumors that a large network may soon burst forth with commercial television programs . . The Mutual Net-Work which includes WOR, WGN, WLW, and WXYZ may soon add some Pocific Coast Stations and then step into the field now dominated by the National and Columbia chains . . . To sart things off WOR has increased its power to 50,000 watts . . . WLW is the most powerful station in the country with 500,000 watts . . . TED WEEMS can be heard almost nightly over WGN . . . Try WGN around 9:45 p. m. and 10:15 p. m. . . . RUDY VALLEE will wear the uniform of an Annapolis Midshipman in his next picture . . . The famous DON MARQUIS may soon come on the air to rival ALEXANDER WOOLCOTT . . . A scientist says that Radio may soon be able to transmit odors . . . Stale jokes are bad enough, but when we have to put up with the odor . . . Phooey . . . One of the finest bits of reporting of the Hauptmann trial on the air was done by BOAKE CARTER, who gave his news in an unbiased way. . . Several of the other commentators on the same case were not quite as important and invoked a great deal of criticism from the radio listeners . . . . DOROTHY PAGE of the JAN GARBER SUPPER CLUB is the mother of a boy and a girl . . . MME. SCHUMANN-HEINK and DR. WALTER DAMROSCH are the oldest performers on the air . . . CLYDE LUCAS and his CALIFORNIA DONS will open at the Hotel New Yorker soon . . . This band was a sensation in Chicago at the World's Fair . . . PEE WEE HUNT is six feet tall and weighs 200 pounds . . . PRISCILLA LANE of the FRED WARING program is the sister of LOLA LANE of the movies . . . . PRISCILLA would be an attraction in any movie . . Long awaited GOODRICH TIRE program seems to be off indefinitely . . . . Trouble among the featured stars which were to include PHIL DUEY, DOCTOR ROCKWELL, TED LEWIS, TIM and IRENE, and THE MODERN CHOIR . . . If it ever does come on the air, TED LEWIS will be missing, nuch to the regret of many. . . Ted will be replaced by LEO SPITALNY who is a brother of the famous PHIL . . . By the way, PHIL is looking for a girl tuba player, and if you know of any, he would be glad to know . . . PHIL is the leader of an all-girl orchestra that is receiving a lot of comment . . . One of the bad things on the air at present is the conflict between BING CROSBY and BEN BIERNIE, who share the same hour on different net-works . . . A little shifting would help the cause . . . Another conflict is the one between ALEXANDER WOOLCOTT and JACK BENNY .. The leading bands in a popularity poll are: WAYNE KING, GUY LOMBARDO, JAN GARBER, BEN BIERNIE, FRED WARING. . . In another poll the stands are as follows: GUY LOMBARDO, WAYNE KING, RUDY VALLEE, FRED WARING, GUS HAENSCHEN . . . JACK BENNY tops both polls as best comedian . . . . As does JIMMY WALLINGTON the announcers . . It seems funny to hear JACK PEARL in the role of PETER PEIFFER after hearing him for so long in the role of THE BAON . . . THE BARON character is still with Jack . . . FRED ALLEN between broadcasts studies for B. A. degree . . Among the newer songs are: "I'M RUNNING AROUND IN CIRCLES, by the writer of the sensational PICOLO PETE; LOVE PASSES BY, fom the picture LIVE TONIGHT; IT'S EASY TO REMEMBER, from BING CROSBY'S new picture titled MISSISSIPPI . . . . LITTLE JACK LITTLE has written two new songs . . . TELL ME and YOU'RE A HEAVENLY THING . . . He also introduced another tune entitled LOUISIANA FAIRY TALE . . . All three are good tunes . . . . The anniversary of JOHN PHILIP SOUSA was celebrated recently . . . The POST BAND would do well to try some of his marches which are the "TOP" in marital music . . . TED LEWIS has asustaining program from CHICAGO and originating from a night club. . . . A friend picked him up recently on a Sunday night . . . Thanks C. B. G. . . . FRED WARING and his imitaions are still good . . . The wife of LIEBERT LOMBARDO died recently on West Coast . . . HART and RODGERS, the Writers of BLU EMOON, have a new musical show ready which will star RAY BOLGER, who recently was featured in LIFE BEGINS AT 8:40 . . BEA LILLIE, English comedianne, who is now on the air, is a record breaker of long standing here and abroad . . . If you want to hear your favorite movie stars over the air listen to the LU XRADIO THEATRE over the NBC-WJZ net-woor.

Plan Trip to Protest Passage of Student Loyalty Bill

NEW YORK, (NSFA) — At a meeting of New York City college and high school student council presidents and editors, a mass protest trip to Albany to protest the passage of the Nunan Bill, prescribing loyalty oaths for all students entering New York colleges in whole or part supported by public funds, was planned for March 7. Colleges throughout the States are expected to send delegates to the Capitol on that day to voice their opposition to the bill described by Senator Nunan as a method "to keep Communists out of college." At the meeting it was pointed out that far from accomplishing this end it would stimulate radical activity because of its design to suppress minority belief and expression.

A petition to be signed by opponents of the measure throughout the state will be circulated by a steering committee elected at the meeting to arrange details of the campaign to defeat the proposal. This petition reads as follows: "Whereas the Nunan Bill is a direct threat against academic freedom and the right of students to speak and act on social issues; and whereas, this bill is introduced at a time of widespread evidences of suppression in schools and colleges throughout the country, I, the undersigned, vigorously oppose the bill and urge its immediate abandonment."

Westerner's Pistol Subdued Brawlers in Dorm Feud

The dorms must be getting pretty noisy these days. In fact we hear that the only way one gentleman from the West could quiet them down was to get out the old revolver and show that he meant business. Now, we have heard that at one time shooting was rather prevalent at Virginia. Long ago it was no oddity at all to see a student shoot out the lights before going to bed. Even further back than that a military unit was installed here — shouts and squeals from the R. O. T. C. rappers—and on several occasions the students demonstrated that "straight from the hip" meant more than it means even today.

All this, however, was long ago, perhaps the gentlemen who live in this particular dorm did not suspect that there was a pistol on the campus. Recently they discovered their mistake. They insisted upon exorcizing the son of Adam, or, in the vulgar phrase, raising Cain after being told by one of their number that he wished to study. They did not realize that one student in their midst had come to the University from way out west and probably had cowboy instincts.

They soon found this out when he faced them boldly, revolver in hand. He fired into the air, looked significantly at the gun and went back to his room to study. From then on he found ideal studying conditions.

Martin the Jeweler
Gifts of
Lasting Remembrance
317 Main St. Farmville

POTTED MEATS
SANDWICH SPREAD
SANDWICH ROLLS
HOT DOGS
Everything for the Picnic
W. R. Drumeller
Main Street Farmville

Special orders for
Teas and Parties
Try our doughnuts
Foley's Bakery
Third Street

Shannon's
Is Headquarters for the Best
SANDWICHES
—and—
DRINKS
in Farmville!

Southside Drug Store
(On the Corner)
Films Developed
FREE
If bought at this store

The Schemmel Conservatory of Music
Offers interesting instruction by Artist Teachers, arranged to suit the needs of each pupil. Piano: Elsa Schemmel Fairchild, Marie Schemmel Shroder. Voice: Mattie Spencer Willis. Violin: Richmond Seay of Blackstone College.

Farmville Mfg. Co.
BUILDING MATERIALS
MILLWORK
Farmville, Va.

You Would Love to Have Your Shoes Fixed at
Lovelace Shoe Shop
110 Third Street

ROOM FURNISHINGS
SCHOOL SUPPLIES
CANDIES
ROSES
5-10-25c Store
FARMVILLE, VA.

Overton-Mottley Hdwe. Co.
ELECTRIC GOODS
Tennis Rackets and balls
Roller Skates

EACO THEATRE
Mats. 4 p. m.; Nights 8 p. m.
Adults 25c; Children 15c
Unless otherwise noted

Thurs., March 21
Will Rogers
Ev'n Venable, Stepin Fetchit in County Chairman
Adults 25c and 35c

Fri., March 22
SALYL EILERS
Lee Tracy, Jimmy Durante
"CARNIVAL"
"Sheomaker & the Elves" All Color. REGULAR PRICES

Sat., March 23
Cary Grant
Elissa Landi
"Enter Madame"
Cartoon and Fox News

Next Mon.Tues M. 25-26
Irene Dunne
Fred Astaire
Ginger Rogers
"ROBERTA"
Comedy and Paramount News—Adults 25c and 35c

Next Wed., March 27
Jean Parker, Russell Hardie
"SEQUOI"
Chapt. 8 "Tailspin Tommy"

Conoco Gas and Oil
Fill up at
Johns Motor Co.
Farmville, Va.

SUPPERS AND
SMALL PARTIES
Good Breakfast
Dinners
Suppers
College Tea Room
and
LONGWOOD

Buy Your
C A N D Y
To Sell at
H. T. Stokes & Co.

G. F. Butcher
High Street
"The Convenient Store"
FOR GOOD THINGS
TO EAT AND DRINK

Electric Shoe Shop
Will Fix Your Shoes
While You Wait
BEST WORKMANSHIP
AND LEATHER USED

The Fashion Shoppe
Reflects the newest styles. All dresses $2.95 up
COATS, SUITS, DRESSES, UNDERWEAR
Silk Hose
Fine quality ..... 49c 59c and 69c

SPRING SPORT SHOES
Brown and white combination and sketched here. The ideal campus shoe that puts you at the head of footwear class.
$3.95 PAIR
OTHERS at $3.5 to $6. New zipper styles and dress "blues."
BALDWIN'S

LOVELY EASTER DRESSES
in one and two piece effects. You must see them to realize what wonderful values are $5.45, $7.45 & $9.45.
SPRING SUITS—the prettiest in town
$9.45 to $15.97
DOROTHY MAY STORES
First to Show the Newest!
FARMVILLE, VA.

BUY YOUR TICKET TO "A KISS FOR CINDERELLA"

The Rotunda

We Teach To Teach

TRY OUT FOR THE ROTUNDA STAFF

Volume XV. FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 27, 1935 No. 23

May Day Costume And Dance Plans Progress Rapidly

Classes in Home Ec. and Physical Ed. Assist

May Day plans are being carried through with definite progress by the head committee. The costumes and dances to be used are already in the making.

Miss Tupper's class in Home Economics is acting as the costume committee this year. These girls with the help of Mrs. Fitzpatrick and the two major chairmen have decided upon the colors and texture of materials to be used. They have also cut patterns to be used as models in costuming each dance.

This committee is working as follows:

May Court: Rebecca Cousins. Folk Dances, Annie B. Anthony, Eleanor Holeman. Puritan Woman, Virginia Saunders, Elizabeth Ware. Puritan Men, Virginia Brown, Madeline Martin.

Jester and Phantom characters, Martha Putney. Shadow Costume, Rebecca Cousins. Gayety and Gloom, Eleanor Holeman.

The artist dance group and the Dance Club under the direction of Mrs. Fitzpatrick worked on the May Day dances all last term. Their work has resulted in making each dance an original composition. Evelyn Knaub is the chairman of the Artist Dance Group, and the girls from this group will help her by acting as various chairmen of the May dances, and teaching the dances to other students chosen to take part in them.

The two folk dances to be used in the program are being taught by Miss Iler and Mrs. Fitzpatrick in their Freshmen Physical Education classes. They will select from their classes a large number of freshmen to represent their class in the May Day. Miss Barlow is teaching the Morris Dance. This committee is working as follows:

Phantom Dance, Lois Moses; Puritan Dance, Dorothy McNamee; Dance of the Maskers, Virginia Leonard; May Pole Dance, Evelyn Knaub, Frankie McDaniel; Court Dance, Margaret Farrar, Evelyn Knaub. Indian Dance, Virginia Leonard; Shadow Dance, Fannie Bosworth; Jester Dance, Frankie McDaniel; Gayety and Gloom, Fannie Bosworth, Christine Childrey; Hobby Horse, Mary A. Glass.

The cast of characters will be announced in next week's issue of the Rotunda.

Fifty-eight Girls Make Dean's List

As announced by the registrar, the Dean's List of Farmville State Teachers College for the Spring Quarter, 1935, includes:

Margaret Alsop, Prospect; Grace V. Bass, Evington; Emma Bingham, Norfolk; Ruby H. Blanton, Guinea Mills; Agnes Bondurant, Rice; *Fanny Bosworth, Brownsburg; Sallie E. Carter, Darlington Heights; Carmen Clark, Collierstown; Louise Coleman; Buffalo Junction; Katherine Coleman, Orange; Kathryne Cotten, Portsmouth; Mrs. Mary N. Crockett, Newport News; Dorothy Deans, Portsmouth; Frances Elder, Brookneal; Grace Eubank, Newport News; Winnie Frances Eubank, Franklin; Margaret Farrar, Farmville; Louise Floyd, Birds Nest; Lena MacCORRECTION

Easter holidays will begin at noon on April 18 instead of April 17 as announced in the last week's Rotunda. Classes will be resumed on April 23 as previously announced.

Delegates Return From Conference

Sara Beck, Louise Walmsley, and Mary Bowles represented Farmville at the Athletic Federation of College Women Conference, held at Women's College University of North Carolina, Greensboro, N. C., from March 21-23.

The conference began with registration at 11:30 on Thursday morning, followed by a luncheon. The afternoon was taken up with talks such as "What the College Expects of Its Athletic Association," "Basket Ball Problems," and "The Future of The Athletic Association." Thursday morning the guests were entertained with Square Dancing, led by the Square Dance Club of W. C. U. N. C.

Friday's program began at 9:15 a. m. with a talk on "Personality and Leadership" by Miss Chamin Coleman of Women's College. At 10:00 a. m. representatives from the various colleges spoke on subjects such as awards and intramural organization.

At 5:30 p. m. all the guests of the conference were entertained at an A. A. camp supper. This ended the day's program.

Saturday morning was devoted to lectures and discussion groups which in some cases were enlivened with demonstrations.

The Conference reached its climax Saturday night when the guests were entertained with a banquet at the O'Henry Hotel, followed by a dance drama at the Woman's College.

Famous Alumna To Speak Here

Mrs. Fanny Littleton Kline will be presented by Kappa Delta Pi in a lecture on April 2 at 7 o'clock in the Student Building Lounge. The title of Mrs. Kline's lecture will be "Total Personality."

An outstanding alumna of this college, Mrs. Kline was graduated in the class of 1889. After graduation she taught science, chemistry, and physics here. One of the school's songs was written by Mrs. Kline. At present she is assistant professor of psychology at Skidmore College. She has also held a position on the teaching staff of Mratha Washington College.

Besides attending Farmville, Mrs. Kline has been a student at the universities of Cornell, Columbia, Michigan, and Virginia. She is co-author with her husband, Dr. L. W. Kline, of "Psychology by Experiment."

During the World War she was Director of Girl's Work in the War Camp Community Service at Dayton, Ohio. She has served as president of the Duluth Branch Association of Collegiate Alumnae, President of Saratoga Springs College Club.

As Mrs. Kline is an eminent authority on psychology, students here look forward with great interest to her talk. The meeting will be open and all interested students and members of the faculty are invited to attend.

Cutshall and Smith Attend Convention

Jestine Cutshall, S. T. C.'s Student government president, and Hazel Smith, president elect, left yesterday morning to attend the Student government convention to be held at Florida State College for Women in Tallahassee from Thursday, March 28 through Saturday, March 30.

Thursday welcome addresses will be given, and in the afternoon a discussion of dormitory and social problems will take place. Thursday night, Dr. K. T. Abbey, Professor of History, F. S. C. W., will speak on "The Student government — What It Is and Should be." There will be talks Friday by several well-known educators. Dr. Evelyn Newman of Rollin's College, Winter Park, Florida, will speak on "Women and Democracy." Miss Thyrsa Amos of University of Pittsburg on "The College Girl and her Art of Living," and Dr. Philip Davidson, Professor of History at Agnes Scott, on "Campus Interest in Public Affairs."

A number of things have been planned for the enjoyment of the delegates, among them a steak fry and swim at Camp Flastocowo on Lake Bradford late Thursday afternoon, a banquet and "play night" Friday night, and a trip to Wakulla Springs Saturday for those who stay over.

National Fraternity To Entertain Here

The Virginia Gamma chapter of Pi Gamma Mu has extended an invitation for a state convention on Saturday, May 11, at Farmville to Radford State Teachers College, Emory and Henry College, Randolph Macon Woman's College, and William and Mary College which have chapters of Pi Gamma Mu on their campuses.

Tentative plans for the one day session under the chairmanship of Anne Putney aided by Doris Coates and Margaret Farrar, include a morning business meeting, a speaker in the afternoon, and a banquet at night. The banquet will be followed by the presentation of the Virginia Gamma chapter's project which is a convention of the nations of the world to revise the Versailles Treaty. Each member in the chapter has been studying some particular country and will represent the probable attitude of that country toward the revision of the treaty.

Farmville Debates Gettysburg, Penn.

S. T. C. held a debate with Gettysburg College, Penn., Tuesday evening at 9 o'clock in the small auditorium. The question for debate was: Resolved That Nations of the World Should Agree to Prohibit the International Shipment of Arms and Munitions. The affirmative was upheld by Agnes Bondurant and Margaret Pollard; the negative was supported by Robert Runk and Sam Schrechengaust.

Both teams most effectively upheld their interpretation of the question although the debate was non-decisive.

The Debate Club will bring the official debating season to a close Thursday night, March 28, at 8 o'clock when they take part in a dual contest with Winthrop, South Carolina. The question for discussion is Resolved: That the Nations Should Agree to Prevent the International Shipment of Arms and Munitions. The teams, affirmative and negative, will be upheld by Margaret Pollard, Agnes Bondurant, Louise Francis and Dudley Allen, respectfully.

This debate is of special interest to the college because the opposing teams represent a college with which two members of our faculty are associated. Dr. Walmsley was a professor at Winthrop College for a number of

Continued on page 4, Col. 1

Rimmer, Evangelist, Visits H.S.C. & S.T.C.

Mr. Rimmer, well-known minister and learned scientist, visited the Hampden-Sydney Campus the week of March 11, lecturing and talking with the student body.

Presenting his faith in Jesus Christ to the modern mind, his lectures, attended each evening by a large assembly, were fascinating and intellectual Dr. Rimmer sought to lead college men to bring the light of all their scientific learning (all knowledge, to focus on the Bible and sustained his claim that such searching and scrutiny did but further uphold the integrity of God's Word.

A noted archaeologist and investigator in modern research, Dr. Rimmer was prepared to prove his challenging statement that as yet no scientific fact had been established to disprove any passage from the Scriptures. The evolutionist theory has proved nothing against the Biblical story

Continued on page 4, Col. 2

Spring Dramatic Club Play Features Fairy Tale Theme

What ho! look to your feet! Are they so small and so lovely that their exquisite beauty brings princes and policemen alike to shower them with passionate kisses? That, my dears, is the power of the tootsies belonging to Knubby Knaub. However, let's not all begin to stare at those wonders at the same time for your admiring glances will bring forth a, "Now you all quit looking at my feet "from our little heroine, Cinderella.

The lad who does all the kissing in A Kiss For Cinderella is, in real life our own very feminine Helen Shawn. But don't you know that makebelieve can work wonders, even to transforming our Helen into a very versatile young man who in town is a policeman and then a prince? It can be done and is effectively accomplished by lovely Jac Johnson as the fairy godmother, who does not confine her magic powers to Cinderella alone. Oh yes—this play has everything —even a godmother.

Art plays its part in the life of Cinders in the personage of a more or less (mostly less) eligible bachelor, Liz Carroll, who lives with his beautiful wife, Venus de Milo, atop a typical London lodging house. Would you like to know what Venus was doing when eternity snatched her for its own? You surely must wonder how a bachelor can have a wife. Come see the play.

When would the world be without children and where would A Kiss For Cinderella be without the charming, infant personalities of Woman Strystlin, Ann—and Peepsy—? Left in a lurch, I can assure you, for these dear little tots add the touch that can be added only by

Continued on page 4, Col. 3

College Holds Major And Class Elections

Tac Waters Heads the Seniors; Bowles Junior President

Tac Waters for three years president of her class, was on Tuesday night again elected by unanimous vote of the incoming Senior Class as their president. Mary Bowles was elected president of the incoming Junior Class meeting Tuesday night.

The juniors elected Margaret Clark as vice-president; Doris Coates as secretary and Helen Boswell as treasurer; Farrar and Sue Waldo, Grace Eubank, Kitty Hoyle, Louise Walmsley and Claudia Harper.

The freshman class completed the preliminaries of elections by nominating three candidates for presidency. Those before the class are Anne Peple, Mary Joyner Cox, and Madeline McGlothlin. The names will be voted upon tonight at a meeting held for this purpose.

Class officers not yet elected will be chosen in the near future.

Edwin Cralle Baritone Broadcasts Saturday

Saturday, March 30, the Schemmel Conservatory of Music will broadcast over WRVA at 5:00 p. m. Edwin Cralle, baritone, student of Miss M. Spencer Willis' will sing in the program. Mr. Cralle has sung in the college and has broadcast several times before. He will be accompanied by Miss Ella Schemmel Fairchild, piano soloist.

Cotillion Club Dances Pronounced Success;

The spring dances of the Cotillion Club, including a dansant and a formal dance, were held Saturday afternoon and night, March 23.

Dan Gregory and his Columbia Broadcasting Victor Recording Orchestra provided music for the gala affair. Particularly amusing was the comedian, "Pat" Garvity, and his rendition of "There's Something About a Soldier," in full costume, was one of the high spots of the evening.

The dances were held in the gymnasium which was beautifully and unusually decorated by Gamma Psi, the effect being that of a trellis covered with large and colorful flowers.

Miss Jean McClure, accompanied by Mr. Edwin Bouldin, led the figure which took place at 10:30 p. m. She was assisted by Miss Evelyn Knaub, Miss Laeta Barham, and Miss Hazel Smith, with their escorts. The figure included all old members of the club and their escorts. The couples marched around the gym in various patterns; then, the figure was completed by the formation of a C.

Intermission followed the completion of the figure. At this time Mrs. Johnn Kay Laing and Miss Pauline Cumper served punch in the student lounge.

There was a very large crowd attending the dance, including spectators, students, alumnae, friends, and their dates. Hampden-Sydney, V. P. I.? V. M. I., University of Virginia, and other colleges were well represented.

The dansant was good and the breaking was continuous. The formal dance was not quite so rushy, but the breaking was steady. The entire affair was pronounced one of the best dances the Cotillion Club has had in recent years.

Smith, Crockett, Huse, and Walmsley Hold Major Offices

Results of the election of major officers for 1935-36 were made public Thursday night when it was announced that Hazel Smith had been elected as president of the Student Council, Agnes Crockett as president of the Y. W. C. A., Elizabeth Huse as president of the House Council, and Louise Walmsley as president of the Athletic Association.

Hazel Smith has been outstanding since her freshman year. She has served on the staffs of the Virginian and The Rotunda, is treasurer of the Cotillion Club, is a member of the Y. W. C. A. cabinet holding the chairmanship of the Sing Committee. Last year Hazel was elected secretary of the Student Council and due to her fine work this year received a bid from Alpha Kappa Gamma, national leadership fraternity.

Agnes Crockett, who was elected president of the Y. W. C. A., has served on the House Council, at one time was a member of the Campus League, she has been active in the Y. W. C. A. and this year was Freshman Counselor as well as a member of the World Fellowship Committee. Agnes has been a contributing member of the Choral Club and the Dramatic Club. She recently became a member of Alpha Kappa Gamma.

Elizabeth Huse, who will head the House Council, has served as hall president and vice-president of the Council. This year she is treasurer of the Student Council. She is an active member of the Y. W. C. A.

Louise Walmsley, who has been a faithful and efficient worker in the Athletic Association, was elected president of this organization.

Louise has been secretary of the Monogram Club and also vice-president of the same. She has held secretaryship and vice-presidency of the Athletic Association, treasurer of the junior class and is a member of the Y. W. C. A. cabinet. Last year Louise was a contributor to The Rotunda.

Spring Honor Roll Includes 171 Girls

The honor roll announced by the Registrar, for the spring quarter includes 171 girls. They are:

Agee, Estelle; Agee, Virginia; Allen, Dudley; Alsop, Caroline; Anderson, Mary Lena; Baird, Muncele; Baker, Virginia; Bass, Kathleen; Bass, Grace; Bean, Virginia; Bingham, Emma; Blanton, Ruby; Bolick, Edna; Bondurant, Agnes; Bondurant, Edith; Booton, Marjorie; Boswell, Helen; Boswell, Nell; Bowles, Mary Elizabeth; Bracey, Virginia; Bradshaw, Marjorie; Britton, Frances; Cabell, Elsie; Carter, Rebecca; Carter, Sallie; Chappell, Inez; Chenault, Mary; Childrey, Christine; Clark, Margaret; Clark, Carmen; Clements, Audrey; Coats, Doris; Cobb, Kemper; Coleman, Louise; Coleman, Katherine; Collins, Grace; Cotten, Kathryne; Crews, Catherine; Crocket, Mrs. Mary N.; Cutshall, Jestine; Deans, Doro-

Continued on page 4, Col. 2

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Published by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

MEMBER
Associated Collegiate Press
1934 Collegiate Digest 1935
MADISON WISCONSIN

Staff

Lelia Mattox ..... Editor
Evelyn Massey ..... Associate Editor
Lena Mac Gardner ..... Business Manager

Board of Editors

Miss Jane Royall ..... Alumnae
Florence Sanford ..... Make-up
Susan Gresham ..... Headlines
Kathryne Cotten ..... Literary
Birdie Wooding, Emma Bingham, Bess McClothlin ..... Editorials
Anne Putney ..... World News
Anne Diggs ..... Social

Alva Sawyer ..... Asst. Business
Maude Rhodes, Lila Jacob, Elsie Cabell ..... Circulation

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 27, 1935

And Now—Goodbye!

In April 1934 twenty-one would - be newspaper women set themselves the task of editing The Rotunda for the session 1934-35. Since then seventeen of that number and thirteen others have worked diligently to publish in the best form the news of the college.

We, the present Rotunda staff publish our last issue tonight. Our work on the staff for the past year has meant more than simply a hard job for us. Worrying and working over headlines, articles, and problems of make-up, we have had associations with our co-workers that will linger in our memory long after the hardships of the task have been forgotten. These associations in the Tuesday and Wednesday night sessions, our association with the faculty, administration and townspeople, who have so willingly helped us, have made our work during the past year a great experience.

We would not yield our places to the incoming staff without sincerely thanking Miss Jennings, Mr. Holton, Mr. Barrye Wall and his staff, the student body, and our advertisers for the cooperation with us in editing the 1934-35 Rotunda.

With confidence in the ability of the new staff under the direction of Florence Sanford, Evelyn Massey, and Agnes Bondurant, we, the retiring staff, wish them luck and hope that they will find their labors as pleasant and as profitable as we have found them.

Wanted Cooperation

The May Day Committee has been working hard over the production of this year's May Day. Work was begun before school opened last September and has continued up to the present time. No one girl can realize the amount of work it takes to plan and carry out the program in an effective and efficient way. But it is necessary for each girl to realize that this planning and effort can be lessened to a great extent if every member of the student body will respond to the committee when asked to participate in the production.

It is your May Day—not the head committee's alone. We feel sure that each student will feel her responsibility in making this year's May Day a success.

"Together, we stand; divided, we fall."

So let us stand together.

Can We Take It?

Quoting one of our own professors, we will agree that "we must live in this old world as we find it." However, there is one modification that can be made—we can help make our part of the world better and suddenly we will find the other parts better also.

The depression, into which we have been sunk for several years has affecetd every life. Changes have had to be made that were hitherto unheard of. In the struggle to get necessities and a few comforts there have been many who have showed a fine spirit of fight, but there have been slackers too.

In our college life we face a similar situation. Everyone cannot do everything in the best way. Some must serve actively and some must "stand and wait," but everyone must, in some way, do her part, and those who put up the best fight are those who can "take it," either winning or losing. That is just a part of taking life as we find it.

To live happily in this world we need to overlook the petty ills that are on every hand. We need to be tolerant of the other fellow, and we need to practice patience when every nerve is shouting in rebellion. But we need, also, to be able to enjoy the ever-present beauties that overbalance the ills. Life is easier when we fight with it. instead of against it.

Are we really a part of our life here? Are we taking it—or can we take it?

Open Forum

Dear Editor,

There has been considerable talk concerning the conflict which may be caused by the unfortunate selection of April 5 as the night for the Hampden-Sydney Pan-Hellenic Dances as well as for the presentation of our Spring Dramatic Club play.

This is truly a bad situation, but some students have suggested a clever solution. Since the play and dance are equally inviting it would be folly to pass up one in favor of the other—so take our advice and enjoy the variety of both.

The atmosphere on the night of April 5 will suddenly change to that of the more sophisticated where city socialites go to the theatre in the early evening, leaving it to dance in one of the more exclusive night clubs. Here at school the boys and girls attired in evening clothes will attend the theatre to see Barrie's charming play, "A Kiss for Cinderella," in which the well-known and talented little actress, Evelyn Knaub, plays the part of the lovable Cinderella and Helen Shawen of "Midsummer's Night Dream" fame again acquires the masculine air in the interpretation of the inimitable prince and policeman. After enjoyng the performance the couple will leave the theatre to dance to sweet music in Hampden-Sydney's Comity Club.

Don't you think this an admirable suggestion? And do you not believe that the students of both colleges should cooperate in order to make both occasions successful? Certainly, compromise is the only solution for overcoming a situation that might prove fatal if ignored.

A Reader

Youth Is Tolerant

The Student Mirror shows the youth of America, the college men and women, as wanting change, as being desirous of new standards in education, religion, economics, in the conduct of world affairs.

Thus far the Mirror gives a true picture of the demands of youth in a world that we think must be a young man's world, for have not the old heads let things get pretty well shot to pieces?

But what do we have against those who, being old, hold that one cannot know until he also is old and that anything new or young is therefore not be held to or heeded? Their intolerance?

That should be, and we believe is, the keynote of youth's demands for an international world, for a religion that is not hidebound, for an economic system that will care for all.

The Guilfordian

Among Our Caps and Gowns

Margaret Herndon

Courtesy of News Leader

At the close of every college year there is always the personality girl that leaves us. Among our caps and gowns this personality is typified in Margaret Herndon.

Meg came to us in the fall of '32 as a sophomore from William and Mary. Her initiative was discovered early, especially in the field of dramatics and general leadership. Her ability began as chairman of the Sing Committee of the Y. W. C. A., and she has continued to be an important figure on the S. T. C. campus.

At the present time she is chairman of the Social Committee of the Y. W. C. A., president of the Dramatic Club and Advertising Editor of the Virginian; In 1933-34 Meg was Associate-Editor of this publication. Alpha Kappa Gamma recognized her leadership and this year she holds an office in the circle. Meg is a member of the Cotillon Club and is a Mu Omega.

Other than Meg's capability as a leader, her interesting personality is appreciated by all who know her. She is ever the same happy-go-lucky Meg, and one can always depend upon her to furnish a laugh to chase any sobriety. If she isn't impersonating someone, she is portraying another trait of her own versatile self.

Again we can say we are losing one of our most outstanding girls, but we can also say, "Three Cheers For Meg."

Alumnae News

Richmond Alumnae Elect Officers

The Richmond Chapter of Farmville Alumnae recently elected new officers for 1935. They are: Miss Catherine Bentley, president; Miss Catherine Bowers, vice-president; and Miss Carolyn Watts, secretary-treasurer.

Hopewell Alumnae To Organize

The Hopewell Alumnae had an informal meeting at the Hopewell High School on Thursday, March 21. The twenty alumnae who were there decided to organize and appointed a committee to nominate officers. The college was represented at this meeting by Miss Florence Stubbs and Jane Royall.

Scott-Garden

Mr. Charles Atkinson Garden of Prospect announces the marriage of his daughter, Lucile, to Wesley Summerfield Scott of Bedford. The wedding took place at the Garden home at Prospect on March 21.

Farmville representatives attend D. A. R. Convention.

Mrs. J. L. Bugg and Misses Lila and Willie London attended the state convention of the Daughter's of the American Revolution, which was held in Bristol, Va., last week.

Miss Hubbard Entertained

Miss Margaret Hubbard, whose engagement has been recently announced, was the guest of honor at a bridge party last Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. Edward Smith.

Miss Margaret Armstrong entertained in honor of Miss Hubbard at a bridge party on March 23 at the Cactus Inn.

Review of the News

One after another of Germany's possible diplomatic supports in Europe has deserted her since Hitler made his momentous statements about rearmament in the Reich. Poland, who last year succumbed to the artful flirtation of Germany, was the last one of these supports to make a stand against the Rhineland. She sent her note of protest, too, and fickleness was proven by the Frenchy tone it had. (Russia needn't be alarmed at rumors of a Prusso-Polish invasion since France's checkerboard seems to have made its appearance again.)

Germany put up a military front to greet Sir John Simon on his arrival in Berlin. Sir John just smiled and bowed to the soldiers and dismissed them from sight. He went to Berlin to discuss peace and, therefore, for him this demonstration typifies all that Europe would like to see modified in Germany. Germany is speculating on the possibility that Britain, taking a free hand at present, is advocating a return to the old balance of power in Europe. The conference now being held is one of importance is being watched eagerly by the whole world.

Rotunda Reverberations

Sore feet, bruises from being shoved about in the "maddening crowd," and a few fond memories tell the tale of one more Cotillion . . . . Incidentally, we liked Dan Gregory, but did the "entertainer" entertain? We weren't very sure of that . . . . And while we're about it, a corsage of orchids to the "goats" for doing a great job on the decorations.

Waiting for the past quarter's grades seems to be the chief form of diversion these days.

Ruth Showalter has our deepest sympathy. After six hours in the country every day, she's not the same cheery Ruth.

Tennis has taken the college by storm. From the imposing lists of girls signing up for instruction, it would seem that we'd better turn the whole campus into courts. Or perhaps it's just the momentarily call of spring.

We're inclined to believe that Dr. Jarman is at his best in receiving lines. Anyway, we're giving him practice.

Things we enjoy:

A good meal . . . hose without runs . . . cutting classes . . . . seeing those leaves come back on the trees just outside our windows . . . hours and hours of sleep . . . new evening dresses . . . lots and lots of mail . . . seeing six hundred girls industriously knitting between classes.

From Other Colleges

Thomas A. Malloy, freshman football player at Washington and Lee University, has been granted permission to organize a chapter of the League for International democracy. George Edwards, director of the student department of the organization, will address a member of interested students.

Malloy gives as his reasons for starting the organization a desire to consolidate the group on the campus which is interested in socialism; to explain more fully the theories of socialistic beliefs, and to form eventually. A student political group with socialistic tendencies to operate on the campus during student elections.

The Ring-tam Phi.

While papa Kelly goes about the nation with a bodyguard of a score of hocky gorilla, his daughter, Rose, a student at Louisiana State University (Baton Rouge) hurries from class to class with a worried look and does not dare to leave the campus alone for fear that some enemy of her dad's might see that the sins of the father are visited upon the children.

The Bruckety-Ask.

LITERARY COLUMN

Sonnet

You thought I cried for you—it was not so!
I cried for all the lovely things that go
Down into darkness, trampled, torn;
For every fallen sunset, for every love forlorn.
I did not weep because I love you so
And you had wrecked my heart and let me go.
I cried for mirth turned sorrow anywhere—
Weight of a century's sorrow filled the tear-choked air.
You did not understand. That you had proved untrue
Could not have hurt me, but I lost the thought of you
In thoughts of spring turned winter, and the rose
Tumbled to nothingness that mankind never knows.
The little grief of you was still and small
Compared with unity, and crushing, undivided all.

—Cleo Stephens.

Sonnet

I would be true to fairest memory,
The cold, clean sweep of winds across the bay,
The ivy heart prest close against a tree,
The piercing sunlight of a summer day.
I would be true to all fair, lovely things,
A life unruffled by this world that teems
With ugliness, a clear young voice that sings,
A visionary face that keeps its dreams;
I would be true though heavy fogs set in
And blur the outline of today's clear sky.
I would find silence now amid life's din.
I would find peace beneath life's hunger-cry.
How futile is this grasping for the moon.
How surely frivial things will claim me—soon.

—Carll Louise Caldwell.

Song Is So Old

Song is so old,
Love is so new—
Let me be still
And kneel to you.

Let me be still
And breathe no word,
Save what my warm blood
Sings unheard.

Let my warm blood
Sing low of you—
Song is so fair,
Love is so new.

—Herman Hagedorn.

Dust of Moon

The sky is spotless—silver and jet,
For the angels cleaned house today;
And the dust of the moon
Which they brushed away
Has fallen into your hair.

—Katherine Campbell.

They Pity Me

They pity me who know that you are gone,
And see me tread familiar paths alone;
They search my face, half-hoping it will own
My loss in haggard eyes and lips tight-drawn.
They gossip at my obvious gaiety,
"Her heart is calculating, cold as steel;
She simulated love she did not feel,
But retribution comes to such as she."
Poor silly souls! I cannot wish them ill
Who think my love unsure as flowing sand.
They do not know you walk beside me still.
That I can sense the nearness of your hand;
That, when I watch the sunset from yon hill,
I see the grasses bending where you stand.

—Viola Ann Herrig.

SOCIALS

The outstanding social event of last week-end was Spring Cotillion with all its gayety and fun, but in spite of the fact, quite a large number of S. T. C. globe trotters took themselves away for another short trot.

At Home

"Our thoughts are ever wending home"—so it seems—Among those who spent the week-end or a part of it at home were: Dorothy Glover, Margaret Bailey, Alva Sawyer, Agnes Thompson, Lucy Bailor, Kitty Pope, Mabel Britt, Katherine and Elizabeth Walton, Anne Irving, Lelia Hill, Paige Maghee, Nan Page Trent, Katherine Young, Fletcher Walker, Brooks Wheeler, Blanche Kahn, Lelia Mattox, Christian Reynolds, Virginia Scanlon, Nancy Bland, Virginia Jones, Edna Harvey, Martha and Dortha Harrison, Ethel Joyner, Pauline Pearson, Mildred Linthicum, Tyler Wood, Eunice Tanner, Irene Lacy, Juliette Barrett, Margery Quarles, Blanche Lane, Eleanor Meredith, Georgie Powell, Dorothy Bagby, Edith Coffey, Mary L. French, Frances Janes, Copeland Johnson, Evelyn Hastings, Louise Coleman, Doris Isbell, Frances Johnson, Alice Campbell, Mamie Barns, Kitty Chappell, Clara Pinckard, Mena Snelly, Kathleen Powell, Lois Jenkins, Agnes Oglesby, Anthella Robinette, Elizabeth Sutton, Margaret Jones, Eleanor Thacklelton, Frances Tease, Mary R. Haskins, May Harvey, Maude Jones, and Mary Elizabeth Minor.

Spent Week-end in Richmond.

Richmond seemed a magnate last week-end, at least to F. S. T. C. girls. Among those who were down that way were: June Allen, Virginia Martin, Lois Moses, Catherine Smoot, Virginia Tissue, Marjorie Booton, Frances Yester, Frances and Emily Channell, Marion Shoffner, Marie Moore, Grace Eubank, Ella Black, Marion Layne, Anna Hock, Ann Mears, Bobby Brooke, and Louise Keesee.

In Petersburg

Petersburg claimed a few F. S. T. C. girls. Among them were: Katherine Milby, Virginia Pilcher and Virginia Payne.

Other Places Visited

Among other places visited were Newport News by Patsy Nottingham; Burkeville by Rose Somers; Boydton by Evelyn Wilson; Crewe by Mildred Chandler and Frances Faris; Slate Mills by Virginia Fisher; Alta Vista by Madeline Martin; Gladys by Isabelle Tanner; Drakes Branch by Elizabeth Trent; Harrisonburg by Audrey Wilson; Tubeville by Frances Wilson; and Greensboro, N. C., by Mary Bowles and Sarah Beck.

Conservatory Pupils Present Chorus Today

"Carry Me Back to Old Virginny," as a four part chorus was a main feature of the annual open meeting of the Farmville Junior Woman's Club, held Wednesday afternoon in the Student Building Lounge. The subject of the program was "Southern Music."

Lila Jacob, Sylvia Somers, Sara Canada, Mildred Meeks, and Mrs. Florence Cralle Bell, sopranos; Annette Roberts, Goldie Williams, Frances Kent, Ernestine Payne, Marjorie Woolfolk, Mrs. Louise Dahl, and Mrs. Florence Caldwell, mezzo; Frances Jones and Mrs. Francis Simkins, first altos; Eleanor Wood, Dorothy Ransom, and Alfreda Strick, second altos made up the chorus which supplemented a most complete and interesting paper by Miss Mattie Spencer Willis of the Schemmel Conservatory of Music.

Edwin Cralle sang two selections by a southern composer, and Lucy Baylor played the first movement of the "Sonate Noble," by John Powell, a Virginia composer. May Fairchild played Mr. Cralle's accompaniment.

Among Our Alumnae

The Rotunda has published an account of the life of Miss Celeste Parrish, "the teacher who taught herself," in a previous issue. Her story has been published for the past two weeks, and is continued below.

Years passed, and I was 38 years old, but I was not less determined to have a college training than I had been in my youth. Financial pressure was partly removed and I obtained leave of absence to study for a year in the University of Michigan, specializing in mathematics and astronomy. Up to this time I had studied only elementary algebra, geometry and trigonometry, and as far as any practical knowledge went, had taught myself these. I asked how to be allowed to take higher algebra, analytical geometry and calculus at the same time. The request was reluctantly granted and I succeeded in the undertaking. I had studied only the most elementary geometry, but I plunged into the practical work and met a measure of success. I formed now the fixed purpose to take a college degree, and worked steadily toward that end. I was obliged to return to my work in the college at the end of the year, but I kept up my mathematical study. Refused not only admission to, but even a correspondence course in the university of my own state, I drove seven miles on Saturday for a year to a small male college and studied Bowsee's Analytical Mechanics under one of the professors.

About this time a woman's college was established in my state and I was called to the chair of mathematics. I was to have charge of the philosophical department in addition to the mathematics in the infancy of the college. Psychology and pedagogy were a part of my work, and knowing nothing whatever of modern psychology, I went to the summer session of Cornell University to learn something, remaining after the close of the session and working under the direction of the professor of psychology until opening of the institution in which I was to work. I worked hard, recognizing my limitations and striving to overcome them.

My work in mathematics back in the "college" prospered. Finding my limitations in psychology still too great for successful work, and hungering for more knowledge of it on my own account, I applied to the professor at Cornell for correspondence work, but he refused. Finally my need became so imperative that I wrote, "You must help me. A man who sits down to the rich feasts which are spread before you has no right to deny a few crumbs to a poor starling like me." He did give me the most generous assistance then and afterwards became my very kind friend.

I saw the possibilities of experimental work in elementary classes and improvised apparatus and experiments, persuading the president of the college to give me $25 as a laboratory fund. A small table drawer was my apparatus case and the top of the table my laboratory area, but I did enthusiastic work. The next summer I did at Cornell a small piece of original work which was published in the American Journal of Psychology.

I decided now to work for the Cornell degree and applied for admission to the university. I was admitted upon the diploma of the "college" in which I had studied years before and of the State Normal School. I received advanced credit for work done at Michigan University, and took a number of examinations upon work done without a teacher. When it was all summed up, I lacked less than a year of the work necessary for the degree, but there was one mountain of difficulty. Latin was required and my Latin acquirements were barely sufficient for entrance examination. I was advised to take a degree which did not require Latin, but refusing with some scorn, I bought a Latin grammar, and carried it under my arm, in my walks, on the street car, while I waited for a class to begin, and everywhere and at all times I used odd moments in learning the lost forms and the syntax. I joined a class composed, for the most part, of teachers and graduate students of Latin, and when I found that I could not have sufficient individual attention in the class, paid the professor $2.50 per hour for extra and individual work. I had been trained to consider it dishonorable to use a "pony." Unaware of the different standard which prevailed at the university at that time, I struggled on and bore the irritation of the professor without ever looking at a translation.

Thinking, I suppose, that I was following the usual custom and yet could not read, the professor grew fiercer from day to day until I hated him. He advised me more than once to give up the struggle and assured me that I could not learn so much Latin in the time I could command. I refused indignantly to give up and at the end of eight weeks made a grade of 80 per cent on Latin, covering six months of a college course. The Latin was conquered, but my way was not yet open. The longest leave of absence I could obtain from my college was one semester. The minimum residence allowed at Cornell was one year. I had been hoping to have my summer residence credited as part of this, but just as I was finishing my summer's work—I had been carrying about twenty-five hours and been carrying about twenty-five hours and had taken some extra examinations—I was informed that the summer school was not connected with the university.

Then I asked for an interview with the president, and, meeting with the kindliest courtesy from him, I pleaded the case as I have never pleaded before or since. When I had finished, he said: "If it were mine to decide, I would grant your request now. But it is not. Go to every member of the faculty, tell each man what you have told me and tell it in the same way."

I took his advice and went back to my work with a strong hope that my request would be granted. When early in October, a telegram was handed to me, I knew it contained the decision, and my fingers trembled so that I could not open it for a moment or two. When I read the words, "Petition Granted," I went into hysterics for the first time, and when the first flush of triumph was over, was obliged to succumb and was ill for several weeks. I had not entirely recovered from this when I went to Cornell for my final work, but there were no serious obstacles in my way now, and, struggling against physical weakness as best I might, I won the degree.

The struggle was always hard, but the time came when there was a very real joy in it.

I am now trying to think what the result has been and in which respects it has been worth while. Most important, I think, has been the change in my own character. A very selfish, thoughtless, narrow-minded girl has developed into a woman who loves the humanity Christ died to save. The ignorance which degrades and enslaves has passed away and the joy of the intellectual life has taken its place. A better understanding of God's great universe has come and with it a clear enough vision of His purpose to make me glad to serve. The struggle has been hard, it has been long and is not over yet, but it has been richly worth while.

S. A. Legus

TAILOR

CLEANING

PRESSING

REPAIRING

Phone 203

Radio Highlights

Wednesday

6:05—WEAF—Dance Orchestra.
6:30—WJZ—Press Radio News.
6:45—WJZ—Lowell Thomas.
7:00—WOR—Sports Resume.
7:30—WJZ—Red Davis-Sketch.
8:00—WJZ—Coleman Orchestra.
8:30—WEAF—Wayne King.
WJZ—Lanny Ross.
9:00—WEAF — Kayton Orchestra.
9:45—WOR—Garber Orchestra.
10:00—WEAF — Lombardo Orchestra.
10:30—WEAF—Roy Noble Orchestra.
11:00—WJZ—Siry Orchestra.
11:05—WABC—Belasco Orchestra
11:30—WJZ—Dance Music.

. . . . . Thursday . . . . . .

6:00—WEAF—Dance Orchestra.
6:15—WJZ—Dance Orchestra.
6:30—WABC—Dailey Orchestra.
6:45—WJZ—Lowell Thomas.
7:45—WJZ—Nichols Orchestra.
8:00—WEAF—Vallee's Orchestra.
8:30—WABC—Johnson Orchestra.
9:00—WABC—Gray's Orchestra.
9:30—WABC—Waring's Orchestra.
11:00—WJZ—Dance Orchestra.
WABC—Little orchestra.
11:15—WEAF—Dance Orchestra.
11:30—WEAF — WJZ — Dance Music.

Friday

6:00—WJZ—Dance Orchestra.
6:45—WJZ—Lowell Thomas.
7:30—WJZ—Red Davis Sketch.
8:00—WABC—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.
8:30—WJZ—Goodman Orchestra.
9:00—WEAF—Lyman Orchestra.
9:30—WABC—Hollywood Hotel, Sketch.
10:00—WJZ—Rolfe Orchestra.
11:00—WJZ—Dance Orchestra.
11:05—WABC—Nelson Orchestra.
12:00—WEAF—Dance Music (to 1:00 a. m.)

Saturday

6:00—WABC—Little Orchestra.
6:45—WEAF—Sports-Thornton, Fisher.
7:00—WJZ—Dance Orchestra.
7:30—WABC—Orden Orchestra.
8:15—WOR—Dance Orchestra.
8:30—WJZ—Jarrett Orchestra.
9:00—WJZ—Ray Noble Orchestra.
9:30—WOR—Dance Music.
10:30—WEAF—Cregat, Goodman and Murray Orchestra (until 1:30 a. m.)
11:00—WABC—Gray Orchestra.
11:30—WJZ—Dance Music (to 1 a. m.)

Sunday

7:00—WJZ—Jack Benny.
7:30—WJZ—Joe Penner.
8:00—WABC—Eddie Cantor.

"A Beautiful poem is like a violin bow drawn across the fibres of our soul, setting not only the thoughts of the poet but our own souls singing."
—Anatole France.

On Saturday, March 23, President Roosvelt signed the new constitution of the Philippines. They are now able to achieve their independence by July 4, 1946.

Ted Weemes and his famous band have been signed for the final dances at V. M. I. in June. The whistling of Elmo Tanner and the vocals of County Washburn and Parker Gibbs are unique features of the orchestra.

Don Bestor has been contracted to play for the Easter Hops.

Going Away?.....

Travel by

GREYHOUND

Safe—Comfortable—Economical

PRINTING.....

When you think of Printing think of

—The—

FARMVILLE HERALD

SPRING SPECIALS

The navy is here—Three-quarter length navy blue suits. They are chic—stylish and she will adore you in them. Three price groups—$9.95—$14.95 and $16.50

THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE

Farmville's Best Place to Shop!

—FOR—

EVERYTHING—SCHOOL SUPPLIES, CANDIES, FRUITS, CONFECTIONS, ETC.

GO TO.....

GILLIAM'S

Open 'till 9:00 p. m.

WILLIS The Florist

Flowers for all occastons

PHONES 181-273

C. E. Chappell Co.

Stationery, Blank Books and School Supplies

Cigars, Cigarettes and Soda

Farmville, Virginia

Rice's Shoe Store

Street and Dress Shoes

Dancing Slippers Dyed

Correct fits our specialty 1t

Kleanwell

CLEANERS AND TAILORS

Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling ladies garments

Main Street, opposite Post office

Phone 98

Gray's Drug Store

QUALITY—PRICE—SERVICE

Come in and Get Acquainted

We are glad to have you with us!

Farmville, Virginia

Mack's

BARBER AND BEAUTY SHOP

323 Main Street

We use the Frederick Method

Hair cutting and thinning a Specialty

ARE YOU INTERESTED?

JACKETS of Grain and Suede Cloth and Wool SWEATERS.

We are showing the season's newest. Come in. We are glad to show—Just what we have—and the line is very attractive.

VERSER'S

PHILCO RADIO

World's largest manufacturers of Radio

A complete line

Watch repairing a specialty

Sheet Music—Strings for Instruments

LYNN, The Main Street Jeweler

YOUR NEIGHBOR,

The Weyanoke Beauty Salon

invites you to drop in and take advantage of their Special prices now in effect.

Permanent Waves $4 & $6 Shampoo & Fingerwave 75 cents

Manicure 40 cents

Individual, courteous, efficient service and an established reputation for dependability and satisfaction. That is our guarantee, and your assurance of perfect workmanship.

Volleyball and Tennis Schedule Announced

The schedule for volleyball and tennis practices has been posted on the Athletic Association bulletin board. It is as follows:

	Hour 4:00	5:00
Monday	Tennis	..... Tennis
Tuesday	Volleyball	.. Volleyball
Wednesday	Volleyball	Volleyball
Thursday	Volleyball	.... Tennis
Friday	Tennis	..... Tennis

Work is being done on the tennis courts and they will soon be ready for use. An unusually large number of girls have signed up for tennis instruction, which will be conducted in the gymnasium until the courts are ready.

Farmville Debates Gettysburg, Pa.

Continued from page 1

years, while Miss Tucker was graduated from there.

The faculty, administration, home department, student body are invited and urged to attend this debate.

Last Friday night S. T. C. journeyed to Westhampton to participate in a dual debate. The debate centered around the national question of the government's control of arms and munitions. The critic judge rendered a decision in favor of Westhampton's negative team and Farmville's affirmative side.

Fifty-eight Girls Make Dean's List

Continued from page 1

Donald Gardner, Shawsville; Louise Gathright, Goochland; *Mary Alice Glass, Farmville; Claudia Harper, Newport News; *Ila Harper, Farmville; Helen Harris, Lynchburg; Iris Deane Hart, Norfolk; Margaret Herndon, Richmond; Virginia Hooke, McDowell.

Lila N. Jacob, Machipongo; Ethel Joyner, Courtland; Dorothy Justis, Exmore; Evelyn Knaub, Richmond; Belle Lovelace, South Boston; *Ella B. Mallory, Lawrenceville; Ann Elizabeth Mann, Richmond; Evelyn C. Massey, Post Oak; Doris C. Moore, Richmond; Addie N. Norfleet, Suffolk; *Margaret Pollard, Amelia; Anne Putney, Farmville; Martha Putney, Farmville; Margery Quarles, Charlottesville; Virginia Rawlings, Birds Nest; Dorothy Rhodes, Cartersville; Maude Rhodes, Hampton, Mary Robeson, Blacksburg; *Marguerite Rollins, Messick; Nelle Oakey Ryan, Shawsville; Ellen Simmerman, Wytheville; Helen Smith, Roanoke; Elizabeth Spitler, Luray; Clyde Tuck, Virgilina; Elizabeth Vassar, Keysville; Eleanor Wade, Raphine; Elizabeth Walton, Clifton Forge; Katherine Walton, Clifton Forge; Brooking Wheeler, Arrington; Janice White, Oak Hill, W. Va.; *Mary Wicker, Farmville.

* On Dean's List, Fall and Spring Quarters; On Dean's List Winter & Spring Quarters; On Dean's List entire session.

Life Insurance Agent (impressively): "Madame, everytime I breathe someone dies."

Madam: "Good heavens, you ought to use Listerine."

"How is it?" inquired the tardy plumber arriving to fix the pipe.

"Not so bad," replied the home owner. "While we were waiting for you I taught my wife to swim."

"I wonder how many men will be sorry when I marry."

"How many do you expect to marry?"

Freshman: "Actions speak louder than words, don't they?" She (growing impatient): "Well, why don't you make some noise?"

Spring Honor Roll Includes 171 Girls

Continued from page 1

thy; Deekens, Maud; Dickerson, Erna; Diggs, Ann; Dunham, Eleanor; Dunnavant, Sylvia.

Eastman, Claire; Eckler, Bernice; Eubank, Winnie Frances; Farrar, Margaret; Ferguson, Margaret; Fisher, Virginia; Floyd, Louise; Gathright, Louise; Gilliam, Jennie Belle; Gilmer, Margaret; Gilmer, Mary; Glass, Helen; Glass, Mary Alice; Glenn, Rebecca; Graham, Anne; Hamlet, Martha; Hammock, Edith; Hannah, Virginia; Harper, Claudia; Harper, Ila; Harris, Helen; Harris, Eleanor; Harrison, Betty Gray; Harrison, Dartha; Harrison, Martha; Harrison, Mary Early; Hart, Iris; Harvey, Edna; Herndon, Margaret; Holden, Annie Watson; Hooke, Virginia; Hoon, Carolyn; Hoyle, Katherine; Jacob, Lila; Jamison, Kathlyn; Jenkins, Lois Archer; Johnson, Kathleen; Jones, Jessica; Jones, Margaret; Jones, Nora; Joyner, Ethel Leigh; Justis, Dorothy; Kahn, Blanche; Knaub, Evelyn.

Lane, Bonnie; Latimer, Nellwyn; Levy, Gertrude; Linthicum, Mildred; McAllister, Meriel; McDaniel, Frances; McGlothlin, Bessie; McGlothlin, Mary; McMullen, Emma; Magee, Paige; Mallory, Ella; Mann, Elizabeth; Martin, Sallie; Massey, Evelyn; Mattox, Audrey; Mattox, Clintis; Milby, Catherine; Minon, Mary Elizabeth; Montague, Norvell; Moore, Doris; Moore, Martha; Morris, Dorothy Lee; Morris, Helen Lee; Morris, Elizabeth; Moseley, Lucile; Norfleet, Addie; O'Brien, Claudine; Parker, Geneva; Payne, Virginia; Pendleton, Mary Jane; Pond, Marion; Price, Dorothy; Putney, Anne; Putney, Mary Virginia; Quarles, Marjorie; Rawlings, Virginia; Rhodes, Dorothy; Rhodes, Maude; Roberts, Elizabeth; Robeson, Mary; Rodgers, Minnie Lee; Rollins, Marguerite; Rountree, Willie; Russell, Margaret.

Sanford, Florence; Saunders, Deane; Scott, Wyclif; Seward, Nan; Showalter, Ruth; Smith, Helen; Smoot, Catherine; Spiers, Kathryn; Spitler, Elizabeth; Stine, Martha; Switzer, Kathryn; Thomas, Zaida; Tilman, Virginia; Tuck, Clyde; Turner, Dorothy; Tweedy, Alice; Vassar, Elizabeth; Vassar, Lois, Vaughan, Mary Harrison; Vick, Marcia; Wade, Eleanor; Walker, Fletcher; Walmsley, Louise; Wallhall, Martha Reed; Walton Elizabeth; Walton, Katharine; Wheeler, Brooking; White, Janice; Wicker, Mary; Wilkinson, Beverly; Wood, Mary Elizabeth; Yester, Frances; York, Marguerite; Young, Katherine; Young, Janie Lee.

Rimmer, Evangelist Speaks to Students

Continued from page 1

of creation which science cannot in turn set at naught in its favor. One of the most convincing lectures of the series was that of Friday night on the miracles of the Bible and how the modern mind can keep its faith in the literal text. The miracles are miracles and as such have no other explanation but modern science advances no argument to render them impossibilities but instead operates in far more amazing and incredulous feats which we accept unnoticed because of their closeness and familiarity in our lives.

Each morning at their chapel hour, Dr. Rimmer addressed the men his Christian messgage to them as young men of today, and on Friday morning he spoke to the S. T. C. student body. So sure, so young, so understanding was his viewpoint all who heard listened.

Don't believe it just because it's proverbial, but—

Look before you leap.

Yes, but—He who hesitates is lost. A man gets no more than he pays for.

But—The best things in life are free. Leave well enough alone.

But—Progress never stands still.

—Reader's Digest.

Spring Dramatic Club Play Features Fairies

Continued from page 1

dashing children.

Not much larger in statue than three babies are the snappy looking, tiny pages, Peanut Woodhouse and Frankie MacDaniel, serving in the brilliant court of the kindly, generous king and queen, Meg Herndon and Gertrude Levy. This same illustrious court boasts of Bonnie Lane with her booming, nasal tones, announcing such widely known personages as as Audrey Clements with her pompous air and Ruth Phelps with her head-censoring complex—not to mention the gay old penquin, Katie Ryburn.

Sophisticated and pulchritudinous competition is offered the sweet Cinderella by a hand-picked collection of S. T. C. beauties. Who are they? Here, here, come see for yourselves! All I have to say is that Tyler Wood and Mary Joyner Cox surely are poor at guessing royal riddles.

Then we could not complete this tete-a-tete without pouring out a heart full of sympathy for the "chic" little nurse, Chic Dortch, who is half in love with the very loveable and winning soldier boy, Carter Belle Munt—both of whom are pestered unmercifully by the hard-hearted old doctor, Madeline McGlothlin.

And last, what is an S. T. C. play without Mary Boles as the cute maid who focusses all eyes on herself as she trips across the stage in conventional maid style, balancing a tray of tea cups? She is right there every time, faithful as the play is long.

Like a ship without a rudder, like Addie Norflett without a wisecrack, that's what this grand play would be like without the coaxing, coaching, and foot-stamping of our beloved director, Miss Wheeler. She's there every second to make a touching little street waif out of Knubby or a tender lover out of Shawn, and what's more she really does it, supported by a huge cast of ratworkers.

Oh yes! oh yes! Oh yes! The night of April 5 is going to be a great evening for many of our girls as they attend this captivating play before faring forth to Hampden-Sydney wilds for an hour or so of high stepping at Pan-Hels.

"A Kiss For Cinderella," and one for all the other young actresses in the 1935 spring play.

Gelett Burgess

Gelett Burgess wrote "Goops"—a manual of manners for children in ryhme—"The Bromide," a dictionary, short stories, novels, poems, plays, musical comedy, lyrics, essays, satire, parody, and juveniles. His latest book is a mystery story, "Two O'Clock Courage." In spite of his versatility he sems to be most famous for his unbiquitous jingle, "The Purple Cow" which reads:

"I never saw a purple cow,
And hope I never see one,
But I can tell you anyhow,
I'd rather see than be one."

Five years after this was published, Burgess grew heartily sick of having his name attacked to it and burst forth with:

"Ah, yes, I wrote "The Purple Cow"—
I'm sorry, now, I wrote it!
But I can tell you, anyhow,
I'll kill you if you quote it!"

Third Grade Pupils Give Chapel Program

Chapel program was in charge of the third grade of the Training School this morning. They sang as a group, following Carter Belle Munt, who led the devotionals.

The theme of the program was Winter and Spring. The songs were introduced by attractive posters held by two boys of the class. The winter songs were: January — "New Year Song," "Over the Snow," and "Coasting"; February — "Valentine Song"; "America," and "Nature's Dream."

During Winter and Spring, the song for March, the curtain opened to show a lovely spring scene. The stage was effectively decorated with pines and sprays of peach blossoms. The gay colors of the clothes and the smiling faces of the singers completed the atmosphere of spring.

The spring songs for April were: "Dancing Together," "Fair Crocuses," and "Welcome Sweet Springtime."

As an encore, the group sang "Billy Boy." They were accompanied by Betty Pamplin.

Special orders for
Teas and Parties
Try our doughnuts
Foley's Bakery
Third Street

Shannon's
Is Headquarters for the Best
SANDWICHES
—and—
DRINKS
in Farmville!

Southside Drug Store
(On the Corner)
Films Developed
FREE
If bought at this store

The Schemmel Conservatory of Music
Offers interesting instruction by Artist Teachers, arranged to suit the needs of each pupil. Piano: Elsa Schemmel Fairchild, Marie Schemmel Shroder. Voice: Mattie Spencer Willis. Violin: Richmond Seay of Blackstone College.

Farmville Mfg. Co.
BUILDING MATERIALS
MILLWORK
Farmville, Va.

You Would Love to Have Your Shoes Fixed at
Lovelace Shoe Shop
110 Third Street

Martin the Jeweler
Gifts of
Lasting Remembrance
317 Main St. Farmville

POTTED MEATS
SANDWICH SPREAD
SANDWICH ROLLS
HOT DOGS
Everything for the Picnic
W. R. Drumeller
Main Street Farmville

ROOM FURNISHINGS
SCHOOL SUPPLIES
CANDIES
ROSES
5-10-25c Store
FARMVILLE, VA.

Overton-Mottley Hdwe. Co.
ELECTRIC GOODS
Tennis Rackets and balls
Roller Skates

EACO THEATRE
Mats. 4 p. m.; Nights 8 p. m.
Adults 25c; Children 15c
Unless otherwise noted

Wed., March 27 Bosco
Jean Parker
"SEQUOIA"
Chapt. 8 "Tailspin Tommy"

Thurs.-Fri., Mar. 28-29
Mary Ellis, Carl Brisson
"All the King's Horses"
Champagne Musical Romance of 1935
Adults 25c and 35c

Sat., Mar. 30 Musical
Ann Harding
Frank Morgan, Ralph Forbes
'Enchanted April'

Next. Mon.Tues. Ap. 1-2
Louisa M. Alcott's
"LITTLE MEN"
Sequel to "Little Women" with CORA SUE COLLINS and Selected Cast
Adults 25c and 35c

Wed., April 3
GEO. O'BRIEN in
"When a Man's a Man"
Harold Bell Wright's
Chapt. 9 "Tailspin Tommy"

Conoco Gas and Oil
Fill up at
Johns Motor Co.
Farmville, Va.

SUPPERS AND SMALL PARTIES
Good Breakfast
Dinners
Suppers
College Tea Room
and
LONGWOOD

Buy Your
CANDY
To Sell at
H. T. Stokes & Co.

G. F. Butcher
High Street
"The Convenient Store"
FOR GOOD THINGS
TO EAT AND DRINK

Electric Shoe Shop
Will Fix Your Shoes
While You Wait
BEST WORKMANSHIP
AND LEATHER USED

The Fashion Shoppe
Reflects the newest styles. All dresses $2.95 up
COATS, SUITS, DRESSES, UNDERWEAR
Silk Hose
Fine quality ..... 49c 59c and 69c

SPRING SPORT SHOES
Brown and white combination and sketched here. The ideal campus shoe that puts you at the head of footwear class.
$3.95 PAIR
OTHERS at $3.5 to $6. New zipper styles and dress "blues."
BALDWIN'S

LOVELY EASTER DRESSES
in one and two piece effects. You must see them to realize what wonderful values are $5.45, $7.45 & $9.45.
SPRING SUITS—the prettiest in town
$.945 to $15.97
DOROTHY MAY STORES
First to Show the Newest!
FARMVILLE, VA.

Buy Your Ticket For "A Kiss For Cinderella"

The Rotunda

We Teach To Teach

Vote Wisely For Minor Nominations

Volume XV. FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, APRIL 3, 1935 No. 24

National Meeting Of College Leaders To Convene Here

Prominent Speakers; Play; Formal Banquet on Program

OPENS ON FRIDAY

Plans for the annual Alpha Kappa Gamma Convention taking place at Farmville State Teachers College April 5 and 6 are near completion.

Delegates from the Florence Nightingale Circle and the Olympian Circle are expected to arrive early Friday. That afternoon before the beginning of the regular business meeting, Dr. Jarman, president of State Teachers College, will welcome the visitors.

After the business meeting, an informal tea will be given at Longwood, at which time the visitors may have an opportunity to see the house dedicated to the memory of General Johnston, and the grounds about Longwood.

At 8:00 P. M. the Dramatic Club at Farmville will present its annual spring play, "A Kiss for Cinderella" by James Barrie. The cast has been well-chosen; the players are being ably coached by the dramatic instructor, Miss Leola Wheeler. The play shows every indication of being a marked success. All

Continued to page 4, col. 3

S. T. C. Dramatic Club Sponsors High School Contest April 12 - 13

S. T. C. Dramatic Club is sponsoring a Southside Virginia Play Contest to be held in the large auditorium on the nights of April 12 and 13.

The purpose of this Dramatic Tournament is to create a greater interest among the high school boys and girls in dramatic work and to afford them an opportunity for real dramatic training.

The following is a list which, as yet, is incomplete, of high schools participating in the contest. The titles of the one-act plays to be presented are given. Crewe, "Overtones"; C. H. Friend High School of South Boston, "O' Me Thumb"; College High "Romance is a Racket"; Kenbridge, "It Pays to be a Poggle"; Prospect, "The Bean of Bath"; Pamplin, "The First Dress Suit"; Rice, "My Cousin From Sweden"; Volens, "A Girl to Order"; Curdsville, "Bimba the Pilot"; Orange, "Thank You Doctor." Others expected to enter are: Farmville High, Clarksville, and Keysville.

The high schools participating in the contest will be divided into two groups; one group consisting of the smaller schools, the other composed of the larger high schools. The smaller schools will give their plays on Friday night, and the larger schools will present theirs on Saturday night.

A cup will be awarded the high school presenting the best play in each group. The Dramatic Club hopes to make this contest an annual event. If a high school wins the cup three years in succession the cup will be given to that school as a permanent possession.

The small sum of .10 will be charged as admission fee for each nights performance. For this amount a person is entitled to see as many as five or six one-act plays in one night.

Students, members of the faculty, home department, and administration officers are urged to support the undertaking by swelling the attendance at the program.

Nell Oakey Ryan

Nell Oakey Ryan, president of Alpha Kappa Gamma, who will preside over convention.

Farmville Triumphs On Double Debate

S. T. C. defeated Winthrop College, South Carolina, in a dual debate which took place here last Thursday night.

The question discussed was the official Pi Kappa Delta question of the year: "Resolved that the nations should agree to prevent the international shipment of arms and munitions." This issue was not new either to the visiting or the home teams. The teams of both colleges had taken part several weeks before in debates on this subject at the Southern Atlantic Forensic Tournament at Hickory, N. C.

Agnes Bondurant and Margaret Pollard of S. T. C., defending the affirmative of the question, debated with Billy Cole and Alice Saffy of Winthrop College, who upheld the negative. While these two teams were debating in the music room, Billy Pruitt and Mary Virginia Plowden of Winthrop, upholders of the affirmative, were debating the same question with Dudley Allen and Louise Francis of S. T. C. upholders of the negative, in the little auditorium.

The Honorable J. Taylor Thompson of Farmville acted as the critic judge and Dr. Walmsley as presiding officer for the debate in which Farmville's affirmative team took part. Mr. Tucker Doyne, also of Farmville, acted as critic judge and Dr. Keith of Winthrop College as presiding officer for the debate in which Farmville's negative team took part.

After the rendering of the decisions the debate club members, assisted by Mrs. Laing, entertained the visiting debaters, the judges, and all the faculty mem-

Continued to page 4, col. 2

Mr. Strick Unites Schools Of Appomatox for Festival

On Wednesday, March 27, Mr. Strick, who was accompanied by two music students visited schools in Appomattox County, which are preparing to unite in a County Festival of Music. This Festival will be held on May 3rd. Mr. Strick has been responsible for seven other such county festivals envolving a total of 12,000 children. Mr. Strick is also supervising a festival to be held in Buckingham County.

Mr. Strick, who planned the unit for the Festival, met with Superintendent Burke and afterwards the principals and teachers of the schools in the county. The unit calls for 12,000 children representing the different schools in the country to sing five Folk Songs in united chorus and there will be other special groups consisting of a Toy Symphony, a Harmonica Band, String Quartette, a Vested Choir, a Vocal Quartette, and Solos and Dances.

At all the schools visited, the pupils as well as the teachers showed much enthusiasm and interest in the proceedings.

Mr. Walter J. Payne, Jr., principal of Vera High School and a graduate of S. T. C., Farmville, has been selected by Mr. Strick to direct the Appomattox Festival.

MinorNominations Are Held April 2; Elections April 4

The results of today's voting show that the following girls have been nominated for minor offices.

Vice-president of the Student Council, Louise Gathright and Lucy Potter; secretary of the Student Council, Dorothy Deans and Bonnie Lane; Treasurer of the Student Council, Victoria Gillette and Martha Hamlet; Campus League Chairman, Merwyn Gathright and Elizabeth Morris.

Vice-president of the Y. W. C. A., Martha Glen Davis and Sue Waldo; Secretary of the Y. W. C. A., Marion Umberger and Elizabeth Walton; Treasurer of the Y. W. C. A., Winnie Frances Eubank and Dorothy Wise; Freshman Commissioner, Elizabeth Shipplett and Caroline Upshur.

Vice-president of the Athletic Association, Katherine Irby and Kathleen Ransom; Secretary of the Athletic Association, Frances Hudgins and Martha Stine; Treasurer of the Athletic Association, Mary Bowles and Sue Eastham.

Secretary of the House Council, Virginia Leonard and Mildred Potter.

Y. W. C. A. Advisory Board, Dr. J. E. Walmsley, Miss Lucille Jennings, Miss Helen Draper, Miss Wilhelmina London, Miss Mary B. Haynes, Mrs. S. M. Holton, Miss Frances Waters, and Mrs. J. K. Laing.

The election for the above officers will be held Thursday, April 4.

Committee Announces May Day Characters

The cast for the May Day celebration has been selected by the various committees in co-operation with the head committee and is as follows: Gayety, Fanny Bosworth; Gloom, Christine Childrey; Bradford, Mary Robeson; Morton, Dot Justis; Jester, Frankie McDaniel; Shadow of Lady, Fanny Bosworth; Hobbie Horses, Mary Alice Glass and Mabel Britt.

Group dances have begun rehearsals. Those taking part in the Virtian dance under the direction of Dorothy McNamee are: men, Kitty Chappell, Maline Burk, Hazel Smith, Louise Gathright, Christine Reynolds, Claudia Harper, Tac Waters, Audrey Clements, Grace Eubank and Virginia Layne; women, Edith Samford, Virginia Hall, Doris Moore, Lois Moses, Dorothy McNamee, Marion Umberger, Crenshaw Jones, Rachel Joyner, Em-

Continued to page 4, col. 3

Committee Announces Assoc. Editors of Publications

The committee appointed to select editors for the Rotunda and Virginian for the years 1935-36, announce the following new editors: Associate Editor of the Rotunda, Agnes Bondurant; Literary Editor of the Virginian, Doris Coates; and Art Editor of the Virginian, Merwyn Gathright.

Agnes Bondurant, who will be a senior next year, has done notable work on the Rotunda staff in the past. Doris Coates, who will also belong to the senior class next year, has worked on the Virginian staff in the capacity of Assistant Literary Editor. Merwyn Gathright, who is a junior next year, was Assistant Art Editor of the Virginian this year. She is also a member of Gamma Psi.

Delegates Return From Convention In Florida, April 1

Jestine Cutshall, student government president, and Hazel Smith, president elect, represented Farmville at the Southern Intercollegiate Association of Student Government Convention held in Florida State College for Women in Tallahassee, Florida, last week. Nearly thirty southern colleges were represented at this convention.

The meeting opened on Thursday with addresses by Dr. Olivial Darman and Dr. Edwards Conradi. Discussion Groups or "Problems of Denominational Schools" and "Dormitory and Social Problems" were held Thursday afternoon following an address by Dr. Kathryn T. Abbey, professor of history, on "The Student Government — What it is and What it Should Be."

An enjoyable feature on Thursday's program was the steak fry and swim held at Camp Flastacows in the afternoon. Dean Shaller Mathews of Chicago University closed the day's program with a talk on "The Rising Generation and Its Moral Task."

Discussion groups on "Technique of Presidency" and "Extra Curricular Activities" were held Friday morning and a speech was made by Dr. Evelyn Newman of Rollins College on "Women and Democracy." The remainder of Friday's program included an informal tea and a formal banquet.

Saturday morning a discussion group on "Campus Honor" was held followed by a trip to Wakulla Springs in the afternoon.

Officers of the association are: Mary Virginia Barnes, Randolph Macon, president; Carolina De Montigue, Florida State College, vice-pres.; Doris Davis, Sophie Newcomb, secretary; Alberta Palmour, Agnes Scott, treasurer.

College Choir Elects Miss Bugg Sponsor

At a recent meeting of the College Choir, Miss Virgilia I. Bugg, registrar, was unanimously elected sponsor of the College Choir, to fill the vacancy made by the death of the late Miss Jennie Masters Tabb.

Miss Bugg has long been identified with the institution, first as student, then assistant to Miss Jennie, and finally in the important office of registrar. During all these years she has shown a devotion to the college and manifested interest in the fine arts. For sometime she was a member of the Choir of Johns Episcopal Church and has studied music.

The choir feels it will have in Miss Bugg a sponsor who will give to the members a quiet force that will add much to the personnel of the organization. Mr. Strick, in his remarks to the Choir, made it known that he was personally pleased at the election of Miss Bugg and in-

Continued to page 4, col. 4

"Tac" Waters To Head Alpha Kappa Gamma

"Tac" Waters was elected last night as president of the Joan circle of Alpha Kappa Gamma, national honorary fraternity for leadership, for the 1935-'36 session. Other officers of the fraternity for next year who were elected at the meeting last night are: vice-president, Margaret Pollard; secretary, Margaret Farrar; treasurer, Agnes Crockett.

Knaub and Shawen Are Co-Stars In Play

Dramatic Club Presents "A Kiss For Cinderella"

FRIDAY AT 8 P. M.

Evelyn Knaub and Helen Shawen, concluding their dramatic career in the S. T. C. Dramatic Club, appear Friday night in Sir James Barrie's intriguing play, "A Kiss For Cinderella."

Upperclassmen will remember Evelyn for her portrayal of Tweeny, the pert and pretty young kitchen maid in Barrie's "Admirable Crichton" and for her unforgetable interpretation of the prisky little "Puck" in "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

Again Evelyn protrays another character which will live in one's memory—that of Cinderella, the irresistible little servant girl who works at the studio of the artist, Mr. Bodic.

The poor litle waif once heard the fairy tale of the little kitchen drudge and, imagining herself to be that Cinderella, she waits for an invitation to the king's ball. Hunger and exposure cause the little girl to take pneumonia; while fever holds her mind and body, she dreams the ball which is indeed a queer affair. Many things which to us are most commonplace have impressed the little street girl as being the height of luxury; hence in her dream the king and queen hang on straps such as are used in street cars, and the Times instead of being a houdou paper which is powerful in public affairs becomes Lord. Times who is so powerful that he tells the king what to do.

The policeman whom Cinderella met in the first part of the play,

Continued on page 4, col. 1

Kappa Delta Pi Hears Address by Mrs. Kline On 'Total Personality'

Speaking to a large audience assembled in the Student Building Lounge at the open meeting of Kappa Delta Pi last night, Mrs. Fannie Littleton Kline explained what is meant by "total personality." She urged her hearers to take a personality test of themselves. Mrs. Kline, who was introduced by Carmen Clark, chairman of the program committee, is a former student of S. T. C. She was also professor of chemistry and physics here at one time. At present Mrs. Kline is professor of psychology at Skidmore College, Saratoga Springs, New York.

Mrs. Kline treated the topic, "Total Personality," in a delightfully interesting way. She pointed out that we are living in an age of personality. Citing Hitler, Mussolini, Stalin, and Roosevelt as examples of world personalities, the speaker marveled at the accomplishments for world peace which might be the result of these personalities combined.

"I do not know what personality is," declared Mrs. Kline. However, before the speech was finished, she fully convinced her audience that she was entirely well informed on the subject. Several definitions were discussed and evaluated, the most able one chosen being the idea that personality is "the sum total of all an individual is — his mental and physical traits integrated into a certain pattern."

"The background for personality is laid in one's native (physi-

Continued to page 4, col. 2

Wins Forensic Distinction

Miss Margaret Pollard

M. Pollard Is Entitled to Wear Diamond Key

Margaret Pollard completes this year the winner of seven intercollegiate debates during her college debating career. She is thereby entitled to membership in the highest order in Pi Kappa Delta, National forensic society. This is the order of Special Distinction which gives Margaret the privilege of wearing the diamond-set key of the fraternity.

Margaret has participated in just twelve debates in her college debating and has won seven of these. This is an unusual record to have attained in the junior year of college.

The debaters this year have won and lost an equal number of debates. They have, however, taken part in a larger number of debates than usual and have gained in practical experience what they have lost in decisions.

Dramatic Club Gives Tea For New Members Friday

The old members of the Dramatic Club gave a tea for the faculty and new members of the club last Friday afternoon in the club room. Each old member took a new girl as her guest to the tea. The hours of calling were from four until six. Tea, sandwiches, cakes, mints, and nuts were served.

Miss Coulling Talks At Open Meeting of Sigma Pi Rho

Miss Martha Coulling, head of the college art department, gave a talk of unusual interest at an open Sigma Pi Rho meeting Friday night. To illustrate her talk on "Roman Art and Architecture", Miss Coulling showed pictures.

Roman architecture was predominately Doric. The columns of the buildings at our college are patterned after this Roman style.

The Basilica Julia and Constantine were two famous basilicae of Roman art. The sign of the cross of the Roman Catholic Church originated from additions to the basilica, which was rectangular in shape.

The ancient Romans believed in baths, for the Caracalla bath house occupied the space of one-fourth mile. Miss Coulling visited the Caracalla ruins when she was in Rome.

The Colosseum, familiar to all of us, was one-third of a mile

Continued to page 4, col. 2

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Published by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

MEMBER
Associated Collegiate Press
1934 Collegiate Digest 1935

Staff

Florence Sanford ..... Editor
Agnes Bondurant ..... Associate Editor
Evelyn Massey ..... Business Manager

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 3, 1935

Our Goal

To make The Rotunda a representative publication, to present the news of the college and in so doing to give honor where honor is due, to make the paper a vital institution of life at S. T. C., to offer valuable training and experience to its staff and subsequently to afford opportunities to form close associations and lasting friendships, to help girls realize the infinite value of hard work which involves self-sacrifice and cooperation, to let girls taste of the satisfaction which comes with the termination of a job well done is the sincere aim and earnest desire of the incoming Rotunda staff.

"Tis more easily said than done." For this reason the staff invites criticism adverse or favorable, from the faculty, the student body, or any reader of the publication. Only with this help can the staff hope to accomplish the goal before them.

New staff? Not entirely, but many valuable contributors are leaving this year and there are vacancies to be filled. In order to contact all phases of life here at S. T. C. girls of varied interests and talents are urged to try out for The Rotunda staff. One does not have to be a journalist of note—if she does not write well she should try the business end of the work. A sense of humor, a specific interest, or a versatility of interests and the desire to be an active member of the student body are primary qualifications. You possess some of these. Won't you capitalize your abilities?

In Recognition

April 5th the Dramatic Club will present another of its plays, adding yet another service of worth, and we feel sure, a higher attainment in the field of dramatic art. It is worthwhile that the student body give its attention to the work which the Dramatic Club does in college and community.

It is one of the oldest and most active groups in school, having grown during these last thirty years from an organization of a few members selected only for their acting ability to one of many departments in which approximately two hundred are now enrolled for activity and service. The accomplishments of this S. T. C. club have been awarded credit worthy of their effort in the fields of work which they enter. For several years the members of the club have sponsored training in each phase of dramatic art work here in the school, have directed plays at the training school, have offered their assistance in almost every production which the college has undertaken beside giving their annual plays, in fall and spring, and the one-act plays presented before the club. This spring the club is sponsoring a play tournament for the public schools of Southern Virginia.

In a more material way, the Dramatic Club has added to the school equipment a lighting system valued at eight hundred dollars, the curtains for the auditorium and stage, all the scenery and stage properties used, and the curtains for the small auditorium. Each Founders Day the group presents to Dr. Jarman a gift to be applied on the Senior Building. This year the gift was five hundred dollars. Every organization in school has received the service of the Dramatic Club, through the help of its leaders, use of lights, and stage equipment as well as make-up and costumes.

The plays which the Dramatic Club presents have always been of literary merit as well as highly entertaining. In the fall production the Hampden - Sydney Jongleurs play in cooperation with the S .T. C. Dramatic Club, adding interest and ability to their work. With such a record we cannot hesitate in urging every student and friend in Farmville to be present on the evening of April 5 for the presentation of "A Kiss For Cinderella" by Sir James Barrie.

Honesty

More times than we can count we have heard this phrase—"Honesty is the best policy." So often have we heard it, that it seems almost as if its use has been worn out. Certainly it fails to make much impression on some people. However, no matter how we view it, there is absolute truth in the phrase. "Honesty is not only a good policy, it is a necessity"—that was stated recently in CCC news from Maryland, and it struck home, for not many days before a new quarter had begun in our college, and with it appeared that old situation of stolen books. Now is that honesty?

Honesty not only involves other people, it also involves each individual personally. If a person practices honesty with himself, he practices honesty with others. Not consciously do people cheat themselves. What can it be that makes them cheat others? Sooner or later they will be found out, and in the meantime their conscience plays queer tricks on them, giving them little peace and no pleasure for that which they took was not theirs.

The loss of a book is small in comparison with the loss of truth and self-respect, for do dishonest people really respect themselves?

College is a many-sided institution, with every possible situation, but that of dishonesty is a prominent one. Honesty should be one of the greatest things in our lives. Is it?

Open Forum

Dear Editor,

Having gotten a report and having seen others get them, it has been interesting to wonder what the faculty's reaction is. Could they feel the injustice, the unfairness, the disappointment, and the elations the student body feels? We do not believe they do; whether they can or cannot, we do not know. But thinking ahead to the days when prospectively we shall be in their places it's fair to say, "Well, maybe we'll come to the same thing." However, we hope not.

Both for and against any grading system, there are many arguments. As yet it seems there is none that is really fair in practice. Certainly the ones of tossing papers in the waste basket unlooked-at, throwing them upstairs to see which lands highest, and selecting the largest for the best head the list of unjust ones. We are inclined to list the curve system along with these.

To have one's work judged and passed on by another is hard enough when it means such a tremendous amount to the individual student. True, ten years from now, only a few of us will remember the course and scarcely any the grade, but this isn't ten years from now.

Grading is perhaps to both student and teacher the most obnoxious and unsatisfactory part of the educational system. As long as we have it, and it is one of the most vital influences on the class, our suggestion is that it be remembered we are all individuals and much as we have undone, it helps a lot to have what we do stand on its own merits and not be influenced by the color of our hair, the amount Mary does or what we might have gotten finished if we had been doing something else.

—Student

Among Our Caps and Gowns

Louise Hyde

Courtesy News Leader

In 1932 there came to us from Hollin's College a girl who entered S. T. C. as a member of the Sophomore Class. Her leadership and musical talent were detected from the very first, and she has put both into play during her three years with us.

Although her sophomore year held evidences of this girl's talents, she, as a junior, brought them more and more to the surface. It was then that she was elected as class representative on the Student Council, and then to be elected in her senior year vice-president of that same organization. From assistant director and accompanist for the College Choir during her junior year, she became its president as a senior. She was and is head of the music departments for the Y. W. C. A. and the Dramatic Club.

In this last year, she has added to her already brimming cup. Besides being chosen president of the Wesley Foundation for Methodist Girls, she was also elected to Alpha Kappa Gamma, National Fraternity for leadership. She is a Mu Omega and is to be in our May Court on May 4. To crown all of these glories, this girl, who you probably know by now to be Louise Hyde, is to represent S. T. C. as its princess at the Apple Blossom Festival in Winchester.

Rotunda Reverberations

Come on Cotillion "goats," don't be like that. The worst is yet to come. Then too, in this big world what's a dose of castor oil and a few paddle licks? Such trifles will be forgotten when you find yourself dazed by that "kiss" whether it be for you or for Cinderella. And why does Phyllis Ferguson have such a guilty look? Is it something she's done wrong or the "play"?

Yes, spring is here. All the sap is running and so are the girls. One would say that S. T. C. campus loked like a park bench in December last weekend. "In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to love"—we doubt that when there were only five dates in school Saturday night. Dot Stone we hear that you packed your bag Saturday, but went no place. Was it just impossible for you to leave such a pleasant environment?

Whee—just 360 hours and two week-ends before Easter vacation.

Things we'd like to do without: seven-fifteen bell in the morning—radios at twelve o'clock—practice teaching—term papers—exams—soap dishes without any soap—lab — reports — radiators that "bump" every morning at six o'clock—week-ends in Farmville—and meetings.

Things we can do without:
Knitting in Shannon's.
Popping chewing gum in the library.
Hair curlers in gym class.
Spring holidays that don't coincide.
Girls that get four or five bids to Pan-Hels.
Cotillion Goats that stamp their feet during the Figure.
People who "can't take it" with a grain.
Doors tied with sheets.
Girls that get "rides" home every week-end.
People who cast longing eyes over the Rotunda on Saturday and Sunday nights.

"Principal points brought out last time, please, Miss——."

People who are late to Miss Wheeler's play practice.

Leaving Chapel as the song begins.

"Girls, girls, it's time for lights out—"

Pictures like "Enchanted April."

Noise in Room 21 every night from 7:30 until 10.00.

"Good Bye N-o-ow-w-w."

Ring-around-the-bathtub.

"Blah-blah-blah."

"This is a fine watch; the only thing wrong with it is that it doesn't work."

Early Saturday morning, "Linens, please."

Wonder what happened to all our cute girls this past week-end? The power of attraction seemed to be vested in only two or three.

Bougie Parker goes in for "Good" things in a big way.

Sylvia Somers has a new interest in life—song(sters).

Alumnae News

Misses London Honored

Misses Lila and Willie London were the honor guests at a lovely tea at the home of Mrs. Gordon Hughes, Kingsport, Tenn., on Saturday, March 23. Mrs. Hughes is remembered at Farmville as Elizabeth Bugg. The guest list was composed of Farmville alumnae who enjoyed the recent news of Farmville.

Northampton and Accomac Alumnae Organize

The Northampton Alumnae, at an enthusiastic meeting at Eastville, on March 29, decided to organize. A temporary chairman was selected and a nominating committee appointed.

The Accomac Alumnae also became a part of the State Alumnae Association on Saturday, March 30. Miss Florence Stubbs and Miss Tac Waters were guests at the meeting and brought interesting news of the college to the alumnae.

Engagement Announced

Mrs. Horace Morrison Allen, of Kenbridge, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Anna Ruth, to Robert Lee Hines. Mr. Hines is the son of Mrs. William P. Hines of Emporia. The wedding will take place in June.

Announce Marriage

The Rev. and Mrs. Hugh Jefereys Paylor announce the marriage of their daughter, Elizabeth Odell, to Mr. Joseph Ogburn, on March 29 with the bride's father, Dr. Paylor, officiating.

After a short trip Mr. and Mrs. Hart will make their home at Hartstone in Mecklenburg County.

Announce Engagement

Dr. and Mrs. L. C. Tucker of Blackstone announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary, to Herbert C. Peterson of Richmond. The wedding will take place in late spring.

Places Open In European Work Camps For Summer

NEW YORK, (NSFA) — Approximately twenty-five places are open in international work camps in Europe for American students. These camps are located in Switzerland, Holland and Wales, and applications for the camps are being received by International Student Service, 8 W. 40 St., New York.

The camps provide a healthy vacation period, a chance to learn to know students from man countries and to become acquainted with the European working classes and peasants. Students whose applications are accepted receive free board and room and transportation to the camps from the frontier of the country in many cases. In other camps they pay five dollars for the three week-period.

Why do so many girls think it's common to wear new frocks on Easter?

LITERARY COLUMN

THE SECRET

It was the house of Quietness
To which I came at dusk;
The garth was lit with roses
And heavy with their musk.

The tremendous tall poplar trees
Stood whispering around,
The gentle flicker of their plumes
More quiet than no sound.

And as I wondered at the door
What magic might be there,
The Lady of Sweet Silences
Came saftely down the stair.

Christopher Morley

The Solitary

My heart has grown rich with the passing of years,
I have less need now than when I was young
To share myself with every comer,
Or shape my thoughts into words with my tongue.

It is one to me that they come or go
If I have myself and the drive of my will,
And strength to climb on a summer night,
And watch the stars swarm over the hill.

Spring In Carolina

Spring, with that nameless pathos in the air
Which dwells with all things fair,
Spring, with her golden suns and silver rain,
Is with us once again.

Out in the lonely woods the jasmine burns
Its fragrant lamps, and turns,
Into a royal court with green festoons,
The banks of dark lagoons.

In the deep heart of every forest tree,
The blood is all aglee,
And there's a look about the leafless bowers,
As if they dreamed of flowers.

Yet still on every side we trace the hand
Of Winter in the land,
Save where the maple reddens, on the lawn,
Flushed by the season's dawn;

Or where, like strange semblances we find
That age to childhood bind,
The elm puts on, as if in nature's scorn,
The brown of autumn corn.
As yet the turf is dark, although you know
That, not a span below,
A thousand germs are groping through the gloom,
And soon will burst their tomb.

In gardens you may note beneath the dearth,
And near the dewdrop's tender white and green,
The violet in its screen.

But many gleams and shadows need must pass
Along the budding grass,
And weeks go by, before the enamored South
Shall kiss the roses mouth.

Still there's a sense of blossoms yet unborn
In the sweet air of morn;
One almost looks to see the very street
Grow purple at his feet.

At times a fragrant breeze comes floating by,
And brings, you know not why,
A feeling as when eager crowds await
Before a palace gate.

Some wondrous pageant, and and you scarce would start,
If from a buck's heart,
A blue-eyed Dryad, stepping forth, should say,
"Behold me! I am May!"

—Henry Timpod.

SOCIALS

According to the large number of girls away from school last week-end—it looked as if Hampden-Sydney and Farmville were having Spring holidays. However, many of the faithful preferred remaining in "ecstasy" (S. T. C.) on college ground.

At Home

Among the girls who just couldn't wait for the spring holidays to roll around to go home were: Dudley Allen, Virginia Brown, Sarah Beck, Elizabeth Conner, Grace Collins, Grace Conyers, Inez Chappell, Delha Chambliss, Anne Diggs, Katheryn Fitzgerald, Francis Ann Giles, Winifred Goodman, Mildred Hobel, Evelyn Holmes, Bessie Hart, Edith Hart, Doris Isabell, Margaret Jones, Nora Jones, Pattie Jeffreys, Eleanor Meredith, Ruth Montgomery, Ellen Mason, Livian Powell, Dot Robertson, Rose Summers, Lelia Sanford, Willis Scot, Wyc Scott, Elna Shorter, Irene Taylor, Nan Page Trent, and Mary Alice Wood.

To Richmond

Richmond claimed its share of S. T. C. visitors: Billie Arthur, Elsie Cassell, Caroline Crouch, Martha Glen Davis, Julia Deer, Katherine Hoyle, Jane Holland, Jacqueline Johnson, Martha Nottingham, Patsy Nottingham, Alice Nelson, Anne Peple, Irene Parker, Francis Robertson, Marjorie Robertson, Henrietta Salsbury, Virginia Saunders, Elise Turner, Florence Tankard, Catherine Zimmerman, and Charlotte Young.

Lynchburg

Grace Virginia Bass, Louise Harris, Helen Harris, Martha Earnestine Payne, Lucille Rhodes and Elizabeth Spitler seemed to have had interests in Lynchburg.

Roanoke

Roanoke was visited by: Winnie Francis Eubank, Eleanor Dodson, Willie Rountree, Marion Shoffner, and Elizabeth Shiplett.

Petersburg

Petersburg proved interesting to some of the S. T. C. students: Mary Bowles, Frances Britton, Jennie Belle Gilliam, Evelyn Howell, Mary Harrison, Kathleen McCann, Katherine Switzer, and Nan Seward.

Other Places Visited

Among other places visited were: Crewe by Edna Bolick, Rustburg by Irene Taylor, Hampton by Marguerite Bradford, Waverley by Leslie Bradshaw, Glen Allen by Louise Briggs, Fork Union by Ethel Burgess, Amherst by Nancy Beard and Mildred Meeks, Fluvanna County by Mary Rues Black, Clarksville by Mildred Chandler, Francis Maxey, Margaret Pittard, Clara Sizemore, Buckingham by Mary Cunningham, Cumberland by Ida Sue Carter, Blackstone by Rebecca Cousins, South Boston by Margaret Crenshaw, Nathalie by Catherine Crewa, Culpeper by Elinor Dunham, Mildred Davis, Norfolk by Ethel Doris Doughty, Virginia Doughty to Exmore, Alma Elliot to Danville, Francis Farris to Crewe, Victoria Gilette to Courtland, Elizabeth Harris to South Boston, Marion Hansborough to Salem, Clara Haley to Drakes Branch, Edna Earl Harvey to Dillwyn, May E. Harvey to Concord Depot, Ethel Joyner to Courtland, Bernice Jones to Leaksville, Francis Jamerson to Pamplin, Evelyn Jordon to Chester, Jessica Jones to Glen Allen, Lloyd Kelly to Courtland, Josephine Kent to Amherst, Marion Layne to Gladys, Susan Lane to Alta Vista, Francis Maxey to Clarksville, Madeline Martin to Martinsville, Helen Lee Morris to Jetersville, Pauline Pearson to Dillwyn, Nellie Pierpont, Salem Mary Jane Pendelton to Troutville, Charlotte Rice to Portsmouth, Patsy and Deane Saunders to Bedford, Ruth Showalter to Kenbridge, Wyc Scott to Orange, Hazel Smith to Tallahassee, Elizabeth Smith to Newport News.

Dr. Jarman has been confined to his home for a few days with a severe cold.

H. S. C. Spring Dances To Be Held April 5-6

The Pan-Hellenic Council of Hampden-Sydney College has announced that its spring set of dances will be given April 5 and 6 in the Comity Club. The formal dance will be on Friday night from 9:30 to 1:30; the dansant from 4 to 6 on Saturday afternoon; and the dance that night will begin at 9:00 and end at 12:00. Bobby Jones and his orchestra, featuring "Babe" Pearson and a girl singer, will furnish the music.

The S. T. C. authorities have given permission for the girls to remain at the dance until 1:30 provided that the dance ends promptly at that time. In the past it has been necessary for the S. T. C. girls, who could not remain 'til 1:30, to leave the floor while the dance was in full swing. This has always caused a lot of confusion in addition to depriving those girls and their escorts of the enjoyment of the last hour of the dance.

Hal Kemp and his orchestra have been engaged for the last two dances of Finals, F. S. Towers, President of the German Club, has announced.

While the orchestra has not been definitely signed by contract, an agreement has been reached by exchange of telegrams, and Mr. Tower feels certain that the contacts will go through.

"Sing" Shows School As We Would Like It

School as we would like it was shown to us in two parts in Sing Saturday night. The first part shows Nell Oakey Ryan as Miss Mary joyously giving Virginia Agee, whom Miss Wheeler has gladly excused from play practice, permission to go away for a week. Then who should walk in but Mrs. Laing, portrayed by Bobbie Brooks, who tells of an amusing incident when she slipped in butter brought up from the dining room by the girls. Annette Roberts tells Miss Mary that gliders are being shipped here for our campus, and the first part ends with Miss Mary and Annette going off to Shannon's, where the Home Department is being entertained.

The ideal schoolroom is the scene of the second part of this little comedy, with "Knubby" Knaub as the teacher. She knits while the pupils sleep, write letters, and do as they please. The climax is reached when Kitty Jamison, who left class to get her mail, returns and says Mr. French is going to take them all for a ride. Both teacher and class then make their exit in a delightful scramble to get there first.

(The Position of the Netherlands Today)

Although the Netherlands appears a small country is no reason to say that she is not active. This little nation which is on the north coast of the continent and only about one-half as large as West Virginia occupies as much territory as France, Germany, Spain, Italy, and Belgium as a whole.

Although she remains a barrier between Great Britain and Germany, she is one of the most important empires of the world. Her large colonial empire gives her a most important share in world trade; her rich islands of the Dutch East Indies and in Dutch Guiana of South America account for this trade. There is much competition in these islands; Japanese competition, especially, is feared. The only result that may follow is that this little nation may have to leave the Gold Standard to keep in the race for markets.

Going Away?.....

Travel by

GREYHOUND

Safe—Comfortable—Economical

Review of the News

(Results of Hitler-British Conference at Berlin)

At last the long awaited results of the Hitler-British Diplomatic Conference at Berlin have been made known to the whole world. It is understood that Hitler has demanded "gun to gun" and "man to man" equally with other European powers. He wants as many soldiers, guns, and airplanes as France; he also would like to have arms superior to Soviet Russia. A small percentage of the British Navy will content him (He wants a navy of 400,000 tons). Equality with other powers still remains his policy even though his rearmament problem and his revision on Versailles are to him accomplished facts. The return of certain Czechoslovak land and an economic union with Austria are other additional demands of Hitler.

Great Britain appears to be the only country not entirely stirred by this affair. Everyone thinks that Great Britain favors this policy of Hitler's since it intends to check France's hegemony and Russia's power. Questions are in the air whether Great Britain will remain independent or enter an alliance against rearmed Reich. The French, Russians, and Italians don't seem to be in doubt as to the position they are to take since the French decision is that "Germany is working toward making herself Europe's most powerful nation." Italy is taking no chances since she has informed the world of her plans to double her tempo of military airplane construction to renew and re-enforce her airfleet in three years instead of six years. Soviet Russia has offered this explanation: "This plan of Germany threatens the world unless some German Security system is worked out. Even Japan will not allow her mandates in Germany's former island possessions of the Pacific.

Sir John Simon willingly made his report to the British cabinet on March 27, '33, as to the "Parlez Gains" which included a British" gentlemen's agreement" for no mutual assistance clause of Eastern European security pact: Germany, in return, gave assurance that she will not attack Russia. Hitler is willing to enter an agreement for friendship with Lithuania if Lithuania lives up to the Statute guaranteeing rights to German residents of Memel.

There is a hope that the forthcoming Italo-Anglo-French conference at Stressa, Italy will be a success; it can be said that the trip to Berlin was worthwhile.

(Tokio's Resignation From League of Nations)

Since Japan's trouble with Geneva over military conquests of Manchuria and establishment of Manchoukuo two years ago she handed in her resignation to the League on the midnight of March 27, '35. Even though Japan has resigned, she still intends to maintain her grasp on the mandated islands in the Pacific. She also intends to cooperate with quite a few of the peace movements sponsored by the League but governed by international agreements outside the League. The enthusiastic support of Russia partly compensates the loss of another great nation which certainly weakens the League.

Does the world agree with Dr. Hoo Chi-Tsai when he declares that Japan's stand isn't legal because she refused the league's recommendations concerning military operation in Macedonia?

WILLIS
The Florist
Flowers for all occasions
PHONES 181-273

S. A. Legus
TAILOR
CLEANING
PRESSING
REPAIRING
Phone 203

Among Our Alumnae

Germania Wingo of Farmville on the Air.

Next Tuesday afternoon, April 9th, Miss Germania J. Wingo will talk over WHAS, Louisville, Ky., 2:30 C. T. S. Miss Wingo, a Farmville girl, was graduated from the Normal School in 1911. On Tuesday she will participate in the regular weekly broadcast of the Eastern Kentucky State Teachers College at Richmond, Ky., where she is now Assistant Professor at Elementary Education and Supervising Teacher in the Elementary Training School. She will present fourteen children from her Fourth Grade in the Training School at Richmond in a play called "The Capture of the Girls," an original dramatization by the children on a story famous in Kentucky history. She will also speak on "Original Drama by the Fourth Grade."

"The first two years after graduation," she writes, "I had the pleasure and special privilege of teaching in the grades at Crewe, Virginia, under the supervision of Dr. Fannie Wyche Dunn (formerly a member of the Faculty at Farmville) now professor of rural education at Teachers College, Columbia University." Then for three years she taught third and fourth grades at Amelia and for another three years at Pulaski. While attending the summer session at Columbia in 1920 she received the offer of a position at Richmond, Kentucky, and went there in the fall as supervising teacher in the Training School. Continuing her studies at Columbia, she attained the B. S. degree and a dipolma in critic work in 1926 and the M. A. in 1930.

The Journal of Educational Method for October, 1926, published an article of her's on "Some Developments from a Simple Group Activity." President H. G. Donovan, of the Teachers College at Richmond (Ky.) writes:

"Miss Wingo is one of the best teachers I have ever observed.

"We had a nationally known educator visit our College last year who observed her work. This educator said to me, 'I do not believe there is a better fourth grade teacher in America than Miss Wingo.'"

Farmville hearts swell with pride as they listen in on Germania's program Tuesday at 2:30, C. S. T.

(The league covenant prohibits any member from withdrawing unless its obligations under the league were fulfilled.)

C. E. Chappell Co.
Stationery, Blank Books and School Supplies
Cigars, Cigarettes and Soda
Farmville, Virginia

Rice's Shoe Store
Street and Dress Shoes
Dancing Slippers Dyed
Correct fits our specialty 1t

Kleanwell
CLEANERS AND TAILORS
Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling ladies garments
Main Street, opposite Post office
Phone 98

Gray's Drug Store
QUALITY—PRICE—SERVICE
Come in and Get Acquainted
We are glad to have you with us!
Farmville, Virginia

Mack's
BARBER AND BEAUTY SHOP
323 Main Street
We use the Frederick Method
Hair cutting and thinning a Specialty

Radio Highlights

Wednesday

6:45—WJZ, Lowell Thomas.
8:30—WEAF—Wayne King. WJZ—Lanny Ross.
9:30—WABC — George Burns and Gracie Allen.
9:45—WOR—Garber Orchestra.
10:00—WEAF — Lombardo Orchestra.
10:30—WEAF—Ray Noble Orchestra. WABC — Symphony Orchestra.
11:05—WABC—Dance Orchestra.

Thursday

6:00—WEAF—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.
6:45—WJZ—Lowell Thomas.
8:00—WEAF—Valee's Varieties.
9:00—WABC—Gray's Orchestra.
9:30—WABC—Waring Orchestra.
10:00 — WEAF — Whiteman's Music Hall.
11:15—WEAF—Dance Orchestra.

Friday

6:00—WEAF—Dance Orchestra.
6:45—WJZ—Lowell Thomas.
7:45—WABC—Boake Carter.
9:00—WEAF—Lyman Orchestra.
9:30—WJZ—Phil Baker.
10:30—WEAF—Symphony Orchestra.
11:30—WEAF—Dance Music.

PRINTING.....
When you think of Printing think of
—The—
FARMVILLE HERALD

SPRING SPECIALS
The navy is here—Three-quarter length navy blue suits. They are chic—stylish and she will adore you in them. Three price groups—$9.95—$14.95 and $16.50
THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE
Farmville's Best Place to Shop!

—FOR—
EVERYTHING—SCHOOL SUPPLIES, CANDIES, FRUITS, CONFECTIONS, ETC.
GO TO.....
GILLIAM'S
Open 'till 9:00 p. m.

ARE YOU INTERESTED?
JACKETS of Grain and Suede Cloth and Wool SWEATERS.
We are showing the season's newest. Come in. We are glad to show—Just what we have—and the line is very attractive.
VERSER'S

PHILCO RADIO
World's largest manufacturers of Radio
A complete line
Watch repairing a specialty
Sheet Music—Strings for Instruments
LYNN, The Main Street Jeweler

YOUR NEIGHBOR,
The Weyanoke Beauty Salon
invites you to drop in and take advantage of their Special prices now in effect.
Permanent Waves—$4 & $6 Shampoo & Fingerwave 75 cents
Manicure 40 cents
Indiivdual, courteous, efficient service and an established reputation for dependability and satisfaction. That is our guarantee, and your assurance of perfect workmanship.

Longwood Is Scene Of A. A. Banquet

Colonial Longwood was the scene of a delightful banquet Thursday, March 28, when the Athletic Council entertained the members of the varsity hockey and basketball teams. Miss Olive T. Iler, Miss Grace Moran, Miss Mary Barlow, and Mr. Tucker Jones and Mr. Otis Douglas of William and Mary College were also guests of the evening.

The theme of the banquet was the A. A. alphabet, which was carried out in the place cards and in the order of the toasts. The color scheme was effectively carried out in blue and white.

Toasts were given to Miss Iler by Martha Stine, to the old president by Louise Walmsley, to the new president by Sara Beck, to the varsity squads by Mary Bowles, and to the varsity captains, Kathleen Ransom and Martha Putney, by Bess McGlothlin.

Following the dinner Mr. Jones, head of the physical education department at William and Mary, was the guest speaker of the evening. He based his address on the value of simplicity in living and the importance of a healthy mental development.

EMMA BINGHAM EDITOR OF STUDENT HANDBOOK

According to a report from Jestine Cutshall last night the Student Council elected Emma Bingham as editor of the 1935-36 Hand Book. It is believed that with concentrated effort the hand-book can be made a more complete and outstanding publication.

Knaub and Shawen Are Co-Stars in Play

Continued from page one

finds her almost frozen to death, and takes her to a hospital. Helen Shawen, who plays this strong character part, made her first appearance on our stage in a "Midsummer Night's Dream" as Theseus, the king, proving then her ability to interpret a masculine chaacter. She holds up her established reputation as a good acter when she becomes Cinderella's lover.

From her illness on, life is much easier for Cinderella. She is taken to the home of Dr. Bodie, Madeleine McGlothlin, sister of the artist, Mr. Bodie, who is the friend of Cinderella and who assumes a sort of guardianship over her. Elizabeth Carroll self very admirably to this interesting part.

Chic Dortch and Carter Belle Munt in their characters of flighty young nurse and wounded soldier boy afford an amusing sidelight of this refreshing play.

Many characters support Evelyn and Helen in unfolding the pathetic life of Cinderella and her dream. Those children whom Miss Wheeler has patiently coached add much to the whole play; they are Louise Borrks as Gladys, Ann Taliaferro as Gretchen, and Nancy Gallaway as Marie Theresa. The court scene is especially colorful with its exaggerated characters: Audrey Celements as Lord Times, Bonnie Lane as Lord Mayor Ruth Phelps as the Censor, Katherine Ryburn as Gentrude, the Bishop, Gertrude Levy as Queen, and Meg Herndon as King; the court beauties are Tyler Wood, Mary Bowles, Mary Joyner Cox, Martha Hamlet, Grace Eubank, Valla Nimmo, Marion Pond, Agnes Powell, and Jacqueline Johnson. Marion Umburger, The courtiers are Josephine Quinn, Katherine Harvey, Katherine Smoot and Murkland Dressler. The two pages are Frankie MacDiniel and Frances Woodhouse. Some of these girls also take other roles throughout the play: Mary Joyner Cox, and Agnes Powell as customers in the Penny Shop.

Members of the Dramatic Club have been working diligently on this production and prediction has it that their efforts will be well justified Friday night when Miss Wheeler will again win the acclaim of a big audience for her splendid direction.

Beauty Title Won By Katherine Newman

Katherine Newman won the title of "Miss Farmville" in the beauty contest sponsored by the American Legion in the high school last Friday night. The following town girls who are members of the S. T. C. student body were participants: Dorothy McNamee, Maxine Lewis, Helen Glass, Margaret Farrar, Marguerite York, Rosalie Greear, and Kitty Roberts. Other representatitives from the college were Jane Royall, Bess McGlothlin, Edith Bondurant, Kemper Cobb, Ann Putney, Harriet Garnet, Mildred Potter. Alumnae in the contest were: Mrs. Margaret Grigg Cox, Mrs. Mabel Fitzpatrick Cox, and Mrs. Katherine Grigg Newman.

Miss Coulling Talks At Sigma Pi Rho

Continued from page one

in diameter. It was eliptical in form and seated 50,000 people.

"The Catacombs were very spooky. When we were in Rome, we had as a guide a little monk who hurried through the dark tunnels before us. As our only light was a candle, we, too, had to hurry for fear we'd lose the trail in the tombs."

The Romans excelled in architecture. They didn't care much about pictures except in mosaics made of marble or glass in cement. Portrait statuary was characteristic of the Romans.

It is interesting to Virginians to know that Thomas Jefferson interpreted these Roman remains of art at the University of Virginia. The State Captol in Richmond is patterned after the Maison Carree of Rome.

Farmville Triumphs In Double Debate

Continued from page one

bers and students associated with South Carolina, at a reception in the lounge. Punch and cakes were served. After everyone had become thoroughly acquainted, there was music and dancing.

On the evening of the debate, Miss Tucker of S. T. C., who is a graduate of Winthrop College, entertained the guests from South Carolina at a dinner in the tea room. The S. T. C. faculty members who have been associated in any way with South Carolina were invited. Miss Tucker's guests included Dr. Keith, Billy Cole, Alice Saffy, Billy Pruitt and Mary Virginia Plowden of Winthrop College, Miss Penny, Miss Norris, Dr. Simkins, Mr. and Mrs. Holton, and Dr. and Mrs. Walmsley.

Kappa Delta Pi Hears Address By Mrs. Kline

Continued from page one

cal) make-up, his physical features, emotional tendencies, and attitudes which may be subjective or objective," explained Mrs. Kline. Going further into the subject of attitudes she asserted that the best way for one to develop a wholesome objective attitude was to do worth while tasks. "I believe the students in college today are taking a more serious attitude toward their work than was common a few years ago," the audience was told.

Factors entering into the development of personality are character, persistence at work, energy or will power, social tendencies, memory, imagination, and intelligence, although the latter is not given the place of importance it formerly received by psychologists. The value of religion, a sense of humour, ideals, interests, and the process of integration are also important factors in total personality. Many interesting cases of partially or totally distintegrated personalities were cited by Mrs. Kline.

Special orders for

Teas and Parties

Try our doughnuts

Foley's Bakery

Third Street

Tennis Practices Are Posted On Athletic Bulletin Board

All the tennis practices have been posted on the A. A. board. A special practice was called Tuesday afternoon, but only a very few girls came down to play. The games will soon be scheduled, one with William and Mary and another with Sweet Briar. So, until the courts are fixed, come on and knock a few balls around the gym to get in practice for these games.

National Meeting To Convene Here

Continued from page one

members and visitors of the Convention are invited to attend.

On Saturday, from 9:00 to 10:30, the business session will be resumed. After a short intermission, business matters will again be the order of the day until lunch time.

Until 2:30, the girls will be given an opportunity to see places of interest about the Farmville campus, after which Miss Lula O. Andrews of Richmond, Virginia, an English professor of note, will speak on the topic: "Growing Rich During Depression Times."

At some time during the day round table discusions will be held concerning Alpha Kappa Gamma's place and importance, and its function toward other organizations on campus.

At 6:30 o'clock the banquet at Longwood, is scheduled to take place. Two outstanding leaders of the South are to make addresses at this time: Miss Adele Clark of Richmond, Virginia, an artist who has gained much prominence, and Miss Mary Johnston, a writer of note. Miss Stubbs, the Executive Secretary of Alpha Kappa Gamma, has stated that she is highly pleased to have three such leaders among women today on the program, and that their talks will surely inspire and stimulate the groups to deeper thinking and to more constructive action.

Committee Announces May Day Characters

Continued from page one

ma Bingham and Elizabeth Shiplette.

The Mask Wearers under the supervision of Virginia Leonard are: Tyler Wood, Valla Nimmo, Rose Somers, Ann Peple, Mary Joyner Cox and Virginia Leonard. Virginia is training Helen Fern Perdue, Eleanor Dodson and Caroline Upshur to do an Indian dance.

The Phantom dance trained by Lois Moses will include Katherine Fitzgerald, Edith Samford, Virginia Tilman, Florence Tankard, Caroline Byrd, Elizabeth Huse, Julia Derr, Ann Diggs, Martha Nottingham, Page Nottingham, Bess McGlothlin, Gay Stieffen, Billy Wilkinson, Katherine Hurt, Henrietta Salisbury, Frances Tilman, Lucille Moseley, Emma Bingham, Dorothy McNamee, Marion Umberger, Crenshaw Jones, Elizabeth Shiplette, Doris Moore, Elizabeth Smith, Virginia Hall, Janice White, Marjorie Bradford, Billy Rountree and Zaida Thomas.

Other features of the program will be the Morris Dance directed by Miss Barlow and Folk Dances by Miss Iler and Mrs. Fitzpatrick. The May Pole dance by the court will be directed by Evelyn Knaub.

Martin the Jeweler

Gifts of

Lasting Remembrance

317 Main St. Farmville

POTTED MEATS

SANDWICH SPREAD

SANDWICH ROLLS

HOT DOGS

Everything for the Picnic

W. R. Drumeller

Main Street Farmville

College Choir Elects Miss Bugg Sponsor

Continued from page one

structed the College Manager, Miss Louise Hyde, to present the matter to the newly elected sponsor.

At this meeting it was also made known that the choir has been invited to give a special program at the state meeting of the Federation of Music Clubs of Virginia and Virginia Music State Teachers Association which will be held in Norfolk sometime in April. In commenting on the letter received from Mrs. Sidney Small, Mr. Strick declared that it was a signal honor to be invited to give a special program at a meeting of this kind, and that he felt that not only the choir but the institution should feel deeply pleased at this invitation.

Dr. Thomas Alexander Speaks On New College

Dr. Thomas Alexander of the New College, the teachers college of Columbia University, spoke to the student body and faculty in chapel Tuesday. He explained the organization of the college and the discussed apparent results of the organization.

Dr. Alexander with thirteen students of New College observed teacher training work here in the training school and in the rural schools. They also visited several English, history and education classes in the college.

Shannon's

Is Headquarters for the Best

SANDWICHES

—and—

DRINKS

in Farmville!

Southside Drug Store

(On the Corner)

Films Developed

FREE

If bought at this store

The Schemmel Conservatory of Music

Offers interesting instruction by Artist Teachers, arranged to suit the needs of each pupil. Piano: Elsa Schemmel Fairchild, Marie Schemmel Shroder. Voice: Mattie Spencer Willis. Violin: Richmond Seay of Blackstone College.

Farmville Mfg. Co.

BUILDING MATERIALS

MILLWORK

Farmville, Va.

You Would Love to Have Your Shoes Fixed at

Lovelace Shoe Shop

110 Third Street

ROOM FURNISHINGS

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

CANDIES

ROSES

5-10-25c Store

FARMVILLE, VA.

Overton-Mottley Hdwe. Co.

ELECTRIC GOODS!

Tennis Rackets and balls

Roller Skates

EACO THEATRE

Mats. 4 p. m.; Nights 8 p. m.

Adults 25c; Children 15c

Unless otherwise noted

Thurs., Ap. 14 Our Gang

Carole Lombard

George Raft

"RUMBA"

No Advance in Prices

Fri-Sat., Apr. 5-6 News

Edw. G. Robinson

Jean Arthur

"The Whole Town's Talking"

W. R. Burnett's Story that ran in Collier's

Cartoon—"Old Dog Team"

Adults 25c and 35c

Next Mon-Tues. News

WILL ROGERS

'Life Begins at 40'

Adults 25c and 35c

Next Wed, A. 10 Oswald

Mr.&Mrs. Martin Johnson's

"BABOONA"

Best jungle picture yet

Chap. 10 "Tailspin Tommy"

Conoco Gas and Oil

Fill up at

Johns Motor Co.

Farmville, Va.

SUPPERS AND

SMALL PARTIES

Good Breakfast

Dinners

Suppers

College Tea Room

and

LONGWOOD

Buy Your

CANDY

To Sell at

H. T. Stokes & Co.

G. F. Butcher

High Street

"The Convenient Store"

FOR GOOD THINGS

TO EAT AND DRINK

Electric Shoe Shop

Will Fix Your Shoes

While You Wait

BEST WORKMANSHIP

AND LEATHER USED

The Fashion Shoppe

Reflects the newest styles. All dresses $2.95 up

COATS, SUITS, DRESSES, UNDERWEAR

Silk Hose

Fine quality .....

49c 59c and 69c

SPRING SPORT SHOES

Brown and white combination and sketched here. The ideal campus shoe that puts you at the head of footwear class.

$3.95 PAIR

OTHERS at $3.5 to $6. New zipper styles and dress "blues."

BALDWIN'S

LOVELY EASTER DRESSES

in one and two piece effects. You must see them to realize what wonderful values are $5.45, $7.45 & $9.45.

SPRING SUITS—the prettiest in town

$9.45 to $15.97

DOROTHY MAY STORES

First to Show the Newest!

FARMVILLE, VA.

COME OUT FOR SPRING SPORTS

The Rotunda

We Teach To Teach

HATS OFF TO HONOR GRADS

Volume XV. FARMVILLE, VA., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 10, 1935 No. 25

Katherine Walton Is Valedictorian

Virginia Bean Is Elected Salutatorian

PROGRAM JUNE 4

Dr. Jarman announced in chapel yesterday morning the honor graduates in the degree and diploma classes as elected by the faculty on Monday, April 8.

Katherine Lee Walton was elected first honor graduate of the degree class which automatically makes her valedictorian. The second honor graduate of the degree class is Anna Elizabeth Vassar.

Helen Virginia Bean was elected first honor graduate of the diploma class. To Virginia goes the honor of being salutatorian. The second honor graduate of the diploma class is Willie Grace Collins.

Katharine Walton has made an unusually high scholarship record. She has made A's on practically all of her classes. Dr. Jarman stated in chapel. Katharine has also taken an outstanding part in extra-curricular activities. She was vice-president of the Y. W. C. A., president of the French honor society, Beta Pi Theta, and also class representative on the Student Government Council this year. She is a member of Pi Gamma Mu, Sigma Pi Rho, Kappa Delta Pi, and Alpha Phi Sigma, and has taken an active part in the work of each of these organizations.

Elizabeth Vassar has also made a good scholarship record and has taken part in a number of extra-curricular activities. Her most outstanding work has been on the "Virginian" of which she was editor-in-chief this year. Elizabeth is a member of Alpha Phi Sigma, Alpha Kappa Gamma, and Kappa Delta Pi. She was also a member of the Rotunda Staff in her freshman and sophomore years. Elizabeth has been a faithful worker in each of these organizations.

Continued on Page 4, Col. 4

Officers Elected In Class Meetings

The freshman, sophomore, and junior class elected officers for the coming year Tuesday night. The Freshmen elected Nancy Pobst, vice-president; Carter B. Munt, secretary; Elizabeth Hardis, treasurer; and Marjorie Robertson and Caroline Upshur, Student Government representatives. The new president, Madeline McGlothlin, was elected last week.

The sophomore class elected Martha Stine as vice-president, Lucille Mosley as secretary, Virginia Baker as treasurer, and the representatives for the Student Standards Committee are: Zaida Thomas and Jean Willis. Virginia Leonard, Katherine Hurt, Merwyn Gathright, Charlotte Rice, and Claire Eastman were nominated for the Student Government Council. Last week Mary Bowles was elected president of the sophomore class.

The juniors elected Louise Gathright and Dorothy Deans as representatives for the Student Government Council. Louise served on the Government last year. For the Student Standards Committee the juniors re-elected Henrietta Salsbury and Doris Moore. Last week, Tac Waters was re-elected president of the junior class for the fourth year.

S.T.C.'s Minor Officers Are Elected April 4; Installation April 15

Minor officers for the session 1935-36 were elected by the student body last Thursday. It is notable that more students participated in the election than in those of previous years. Ninety per cent of each district throughout the school cast a vote. The following girls were elected: Lucy Potter, vice-president of the Student Council, Bonnie Lane, secretary of the Student Council, Martha Hamlet, treasurer of the Student Council, Libby Morris, Campus League Chairman; Sue Waldo, vice-president of the Y. W. C. A., Elizabeth Walton, secretary of the Y. W. C. A., Dorothy Wise, treasurer, Elizabeth Shiplett, Freshman Counsellor; Kathleen Ranson, vice-president of the Athletic Association, Frances Hudgins, secretary, Mary Bowles, treasurer; Virginia Leonard, secretary of the House Council.

Installation of the recently elected Student Council will be held in the auditorium, Monday, April 15. The student body is urged to attend this service.

Miss Craddock At Penmanship Meeting

Miss Ottie Craddock of Farmville State Teachers College faculty spent a part of last week at the National Association of Penmanship Teachers and Supervisors, held in the Hotel Pennsylvania, New York City.

Representatives from the East, all the way from Maine to Texas were present at this association. There were handwriting exhibits on display from thirty-five states. Besides these exhibits, there was a handwriting evolution exhibit covering three hundred years of American education.

Miss Craddock was Chairman of the Teachers College Committee for 1934-1935 and served on the nominating committee at the association. Mrs. Anne Cox, Supervisor of handwriting of Newport News, who is an alumna of S. T. C., was elected secretary of the Association of Penmanship Teachers and Supervisors for the coming year.

Among the famous educators who took part on the program was Dr. Paul R. Mort, Director of the School of Education, Teachers College, Columbia University, who spoke on "Schools Worthy of the American Tradition."

The association received wide publicity in New York where the teachers of penmanship had never before gathered for their association.

Honor Societies Elect Officers For 1935-'36

The following honor societies have elected their officers for the 1935 - 1936 term. Beta Pi Theta, national honor fraternity for French has the following officers: Agnes Bondurant, president; Virginia Payne, vice-president; Winnie Frances Eubank, secretary; Elizabeth Walton, treasurer. Alpha Phi Sigma, national fraternity for scholarship has the following officers:

Bonnie Lane, president; Bess McGlothlin, vice-president (masters degree); Marjorie Booton, vice-president apprentice degree; Virginia Acworth, vice-president novice degree; Doris Moore, secretary; Gertrude Levy, treasurer.

Annual Convention Proves Successful

Miss Mary Johnston Is Speaker At Banquet

11 DELEGATES

At noon Friday, April 5, the national convention of Alpha Kappa Gamma was called to order in the honor society room in Student Building. All told there were eleven out-of-town delegates in attendance representing Queen-Chicora at Charlotte, North Carolina and the University of South Carolina at Chapel Hill. Frances Cardwell of U. of S. C. presided over the business meetings.

After a brief business session Friday afternoon, the visitors were entertained at an informal tea at Longwood. At this time the convention members had the privilege of meeting Miss Mary Johnston, prominent Virginia writer, who was the guest of the convention. In the evening Alpha Kappa Gamma enjoyed the dramatic club production, "A Kiss For Cinderella"

Saturday morning's program was well taken up with discussions on common problems and the functions and responsibilities of Alpha Kappa Gamma. Miss Doris Jackson of Chapel Hill led the discussions. An informal luncheon in the banquet room of the college tea room was followed by a brief rest period. At three o'clock Miss Lulu Andrews of Richmond, Virginia made an in-

Continued on Page 4, Col. 1

Two Alumnae Groups Organized Last Week

Two new alumnae chapters were organized last week, when Charlotte and Winston-Salem, North Carolina, held meetings and elected officers. The Winston-Salem chapter was a revival of an older one, while the Charlotte chapter was new.

Of sentimental and historical interest is the fact that Mrs. Hunter Marshall was elected honorary president of the Charlotte chapter. Mrs. Marshall was graduated from Farmville Female Seminary in 1878, six years before the establishing of what is now State Teachers College.

The officers of the two chapters are: Charlotte: Mrs. Hunter Marshall (Kate Ficklin), honorary president; Mrs. Louis B. Vreeland (Lila McGhee), president; Mrs. E. P. Krumpler (Helen Smith) secretary.treasurer.

Winston-Salem: Mrs. W. Nevyn Rankin, president; Mildred Owen, secretary; Carrie Dunningham, treasurer.

Ten High Schools To Enter Contest

On Friday and Saturday nights the S. T. C. Dramatic Club will sponsor a play contest between a number of high schools in this county and neighboring counties. Those participating on Friday night are Rice, Prospect, Pamplin, Curdsville, and Volins. Those on Saturday night are Clarksville, Orange, C. H. Friend, Crewe, and College High.

The program will include six one-act plays each night which are to be judged on a basis of interpretation, presentations, and preparation.

The purpose of this contest is to demonstrate to prospective teachers what type of play they may some day have occasion to coach when they begin teaching. It is hoped that the contest which is to become an annual affair, will encourage the high schools which take part to put on better plays and to develop the dramatic ability within their districts.

Miss Mary Johnston Speaks to Students

Miss Mary Johnston, famous novelist who was the guest of the Alpha Kappa Gamma Convention, held here last week, spoke to the student body, faculty, and administation in chapel Saturday and again on Monday. Both of the talks were enjoyed by all who heard them.

Saturday Miss Johnston spoke of her expectations of the College and what she found it to be.

Monday Miss Johnston talked of her week-end visit, thirty years ago, at the home of Sir James Barrie, who was then Mr. Barrie, a novelist. Miss Johnston decided on her subject after seeing "A Kiss For Cinderella," one of the Barrie's plays which was presented Friday night by the S. T. C. Dramatic Club.

Miss Johnston discussed the personality of Sir James Barrie as she came in personal contact with him. She told of his first accomplishments and something of his plays which he wrote later. She saw a great resemblance in the man and his work. His quiet, rather whimsical personality which caused him to be loved by all who knew him is reflected in his writing.

The beautiful and historical setting of Barrie's Surrey cottage was brought out by Miss Johnston.

Miss Johnston also talked briefly of the present Southern writers, their personalities and future, and the new lines of thought and expression they are beginning. She included Ellen Glasgow, James Branch Cabell, Willa Cather, Dr. Dodd, and other novelists, poets, and editors.

School Lasses To Depict Scene A Merry Mount

When May comes to grace our campus she will find a right royal reception to herald her brief but joyous reign. Just to remind May of when first our ancestors welcomed her in this country by song and dance, the lasses of our school will endeavor to depict the riotous, happy scene at Merry Mount. Stern Puritans were shocked by the hilarious gaiety of the May pole dancers who abided so close to them. We moderns will be far from shocked, indeed will be pleased, to see our goof president become a high stepping young suitor in a festival which will be as gay as May herself. There always has to be a reason for any young fellow to go dancing about, so when Jestine Cutshall becomes Lord of May she chooses Jean McClure to be Lady of May—thus making a dandy pair to lead off in the many dances which will run their frolicsome course over the hills and dells of our Longwood.

Many a potential teacher from among our number has felt the call of May—a call to trip the light fantastic. Nor do I mislead when I say light fantastic for even the names of these trippings are fanciful, hobby-horse, foolery, and a few more like those. There is one rather disagreeable feature of all this preparation to receive May with open arms, those arms are at present aching from over exertion in more or less suc-

Continued on Page 4, Col. 2

Dancer And Group Presents Program

Doris Humphrey

To Give Dance Recital

H.-S. College S. C. A. Presents Collegians, Glee Club, Magician

The S. C. A. of Hampden-Sydney College presented a most entertaining program in the S. T. C. auditorium Tuesday night. The program was furnished by the Hampden-Sydney Glee Club, directed by Hugh White, the Hampden-Sydney Collegians, directed by "Tub" Oliver, and Benjamin Franklin, magician.

The entertainment was divided into five parts. The first was a presentation of song numbers by the Glee Club, among which "Ole King Cole" was especialy enjoyed. The second division was rendered by the orchestra. Popular numbers were played including an original arrangement of "Lullaby of Broadway" and "Water Under the Bridge." The orchestra was assisted in the vocal selections by Miss Virginia Martin. Next came Benjamin Franklin, with his marvelous tricks of magic. They were thoroughly enjoyed by the entire audience, though they were also very baffling. The Glee Club reappeared with a group of four delightful selections. The program was concluded with a second performance by Ben Franklin. This performance was even more mysterious than the first.

This entertainment was indeed one of the most interesting that that has been presented this year in the S. T. C. auditorium. The entire auditorium was well filled with students from both Hampden-Sydney and S. T. C. besides members of the faculty and the town people.

Conference of Social Work Begins April 10

Miss Florence Stubbs, Florence Sanford, and Grace Eubank will represent S. T. C. at the thirty-fifth annual meeting of the Virginia Conference of Social Work to be held in Richmond at the John Marshall Hotel April 10, 11, 12.

The general subject or conference theme is, "The Social Welfare Needs of Virginia Ways and Means Whereby These Needs May be Met." The theme will be developed through seven divisions or sections organized to discuss and formulate conclusions and recommendations according to the subject to be discussed.

Some of the interesting subjects to be discussed are: Informal Education and Recreation —the Constructive Use of Leisure; Child Welfare—Problem of Juvenile Dependency and Neglect;

Continued on Page 4, Col. 1

Doris Humphrey To Give Lecture-Dance Recital

FINE IS PIANIST

Doris Humphrey and her group will present a lecture-dance recital in the S. T. C. Auditorium at 8 o'clock Thursday, April 11. This is one of the Lyceum concerts to be presented before the student body this year. Miss Vivian Fine will accompany the group as pianist.

Doris Humphrey is recognized as one of the leading exponents of the modern dance. She not only is a gifted dancer, but also a brilliant choreographer. In her lecture-dance recitals Miss Humphrey talks on the heritage, technique and form of the modern American dance. This discussion is supplemented by actual demonstration of the elements of the movement as well as a presentation of several group dances from her recital repertory.

1.
Talk on the Modern American Dance ....Doris Humphrey
2.
Demonstration of Movement in Dance Form ....The Group

Intermission

PROGRAM OF DANCES

Variations on a Theme (Handel-Brahms. ...Doris Humphrey
2.
Counterpoint No. 1 (Achron) from "Pleasures of Counterpoint," Ernestine Henoch and Group

Continued on Page 4, Col. 2

Spring Production Is Great Success

"A Kiss For Cinderella" presented Friday night by the Dramatic Club exceeded the highest expectations of the appreciative but comparatively small audience.

First honors undoubtedly go to Evelyn Knaub for her ingenious and beautiful interpretation of Barrie's inimitable "Cinderella." Never before has "Nubby" appealed so deeply to her audience as she did Friday night.

Helen Shewmen in the role of "Our Policeman" assumed such a degree, of masculinity that numerous playgoers had to look twice before believing that Helen was really Helen. She was especially fine in the second act as "Princess-Hard-To-Please" adding a good bit of comedy to an already amusing part.

In minor roles honors are given to Madeline McGlothlin for her perfect stage poise and excellent voice.

Meg Herndon and Gertrude Levy brought forth much laughter through their ludicrous portrayal of the King and Queen. Elizabeth Carroll deserves credit for her good portrayal of a difficult role.

This play was perhaps the hardest ever staged in the auditorium. The scenery was especially difficult to handle and recognition and praise are most certainly due to Phyllis Ferguson for her untiring efforts and work which made the whole play a success.

Louise Coleman and "Tib" Simmerman deserve credit for their tedious work on properties and costumes, respectively.

Miss Wheeler, as coach and Adviser cannot be handed enough honors for her fine presentation of a most attractive play.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Published by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

MEMBER
Associated Collegiate Press
1934 Collegiate Digest 1935
MADISON WISCONSIN

Staff

Florence Sanford ..... Editor
Agnes Bondurant ..... Associate Editor
Evelyn Massey ..... Business Manager

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 10, 1935

Lyceum Programs

How many of us realize the true value of our lyceum programs? I dare say we seldom stop to think of this advantage we have, merely taking it for granted.

These lyceum programs bring us many noted personages, acclaimed as famous by the entire country. If we could but realize the opportunity afforded us and would attend these programs more often, we would certainly find ourselves greatly benefited by them. They are of immense value from not only the standpoint of education, but also of culture. The more we listen to fine music, and worthy lectures, and see great actors and actresses, the more appreciative we will become of these higher forms of entertainment. Our aesthetic sense will be greatly developed, and we will really seek them, instead of avoiding them.

How many times we save our pennies to go to shows and buy candy when right here at hand we have these opportunities which we may not have again.

Tomorrow night, to those who desire it, will be given another of these programs with Doris Humphrey and her dance group. Thus another chance is offered us to see a really good performance.

Spring Fever

Spring fever, the bane of all enterprising mortals, that malady that everybody uses as an excuse for laziness, is the most popular sickness that has ever preyed upon man. If you don't want to work, you have spring fever. If you want to lie in the shade and read a book, you have spring fever. In fact, every little queerness one may have is laid to the same disorder—spring fever.

This plague comes in April or May, when everything is beginning to awaken from its winter slumber. You have eaten hearty foods all winter, and when spring steps onto the calendar you are overeating. No wonder you feel "dopey" with all that surplus energy that you need for heat during the colder months. You lose your appetite in the spring for the same reason. You lay this to spring fever, too.

Probably the best way to cure yourself is to take spring in large doses. Get out into the country, take long walks, and shake yourself free of that sleepy feeling.

Spring fever isn't so bad after all, in fact it is quite a well-meaning one if controlled. There are times when one has nothing to do—it is then that an attack of spring fever may be encouraged.

Congratulations!

A great success is scored by the Dramatic Club again! After weeks of practice and hard work, the play "A Kiss For Cinderella" was pronounced by all one of the best ever given here.

Our Dramatic Club is one of the largest and hardest working organizations in the school. Success for it means profit for the college. It gives and has given so much to the college that it deserves a "big hand" in whatever it undertakes.

Success is determined by goood leaders and those that faithfully work with them. The Dramatic Club does not lack good leaders and faithful workers, so they are due every bit of success they get.

Good luck for the future and congratulations for the present are now in order. Keep up the excellent work and may our Dramatic Club have a long life. Here's to you!

Support Your Officers

Election by popular vote is a system in our civilized order which challenges the finest spirit, and zeal of youth. It is an institution for intelligent, thoughtful, honest people, and for this reason we should be proud of it, ready to uphold it, and careful not to abuse its privilege or to allow others to do so.

In our recent elections there was a democratic spirit and interest shown. There was more discussion of candidates and more nominations-votes as well as election votes cast than in any previous years of recent record.

Now that we have elected our major and minor officers, officers, who, we think will lead our Alma Mater and its students on to better things in the college career, there is another very important matter before us —that of cooperation with those new officers. It would be absurd for us to hope for success entirely through their work, for "a chain is no stronger than its weakest link." Our new officers need the loyalty, ideas, faith, and zeal of every member of our student body in order that they may do their best work as our officers of trust. It isn't a question of the leader, it is a question of ourselves. Are we to stand by and think things will take the right course, or are we to step into the day ourselves? Surely it is necessary that we work together for the common good of all, and in cooperating with every member of our student body we should also challenge our new officers for their best in service. Just remember that "united we stand, divided we fall."

Do Something Worthwhile

"Oh, how I wish it were next week! If Saturday would come. Why doesn't the 18th hurry up and roll around?" — Common enough phrases, all of them — we repeat them day by day. It is nice to have something to look forward to—it would be a dreary world if we didn't, but did you ever stop and consider how much of your life you waste in wishing for things that will come eventually, naturally enough?

Away at school, especially, we are inclined to yearn to go home to see everybody or to go away for the week-end just to get away. Classes seem such a bore, when we get letters from home and it seems that they are doing all the things that we don't. But now that sprng is just around the corner we hope you can go out for tennis and volley ball, or if they're too strenuous you can drag out your trusty roller skates and join the crowd. Time really flies when you don't sit down and try to hurry it along.

Dear Editor,

It will probably be of interest to S. T. C. students to read the special edition of The Farmville Herald which was issued March 29. I have just had an opportunity to read one, and found it so interesting throughout that I am passing the information on to you and to the readers of The Rotunda that copies of The Herald for March 29 may still be obtained at The Herald office.

An editorial in the Richmond Times-Dispatch, March 30, entitled, "In a Class by Itself" highly commends Mr. Wall and his staff on this excellent special edition of The Herald.

S. T. C. students will find the section on "Education" especially worth reading, since it gives a history of the Hampden-Sydney and State Teachers Colleges. Prospective teachers of history, as well as those doing their practice teaching in history now, may find helpful information in the "History" section.

The library, no doubt, has this issue of The Herald on file. I suggest it as excellent material in which any student here could spend an afternoon of real "browsing."

A Student

Among Our Caps and Gowns

Lelia Mattox

—Courtesy News-Leader

Lelia Mattox, one of the most outstanding and beloved members of the senior class, has distinguished herself in almost every phase of college life.

In her freshman year, Lelia was the only member of her class taken into the Monogram Club. Thus was her character and ability proven. Lelia was also a member of Alpha Phi Sigma.

As a sophomore she was among other things, news editor of the Rotunda, assistant manager of hockey, and secretary of the Monogram Club.

In her junior year Lelia was president of the Monogram Club, vice-president of her class, associate editor of The Rotunda. She was also accorded one of the highest honors one can receive when she was elected to Alpha Kappa Gamma, honorary fraternity for leadership.

Lelia is a member of the Cotillion Club. She has been outstanding in athletics, playing on class and varsity squads in hockey, basketball, baseball, tennis and volley ball.

It is hard for her Alma Mater to lose such an all around girl as Lelia Mattox. Farmville is proud to send her out. Lelia has participated in almost every phase of school activity and has a host of friends as well. To use a colloquialism, Lelia is "swell" and it is difficult to do her justice.

Rotunda Reverberations

We wonder if Hamlet ran up any "Bills" in Lynchburg last week-end.

Orchids to the girls who worked so diligently for three weeks for bids to Pan-Hells and got them—awkwards to those who didn't succeed.

Onion-tops to those girls who expect you to thrill at their romances.

Figure this one out—the name "Pat" was not mentioned at Pan-Hells.

A tip to Billy Wilkerson. Next time don't use a paper bag.

And Emily Post says on page twenty-nine paragraph two — "Never ask a girl why she is wearing flowers to a dance."

Have you heard Rountree's and Hoyle's latest theme song — "Where There's Smoke There's Fire"?

S. T. C. has some rather charming young men, and we don't mean Hampden-Sydney, but those revealed to us in the Dramatic Club play.

It seems that Charlie has been quite busy the past few days building mantle pieces for Cotillion Club goats to eat from.

Why is it that Mildred Meeks "Hops" to Amherst every week-end?

The Dramatic Club play did a lot for the school—it unearthed ten beauties of whom we were unaware.

A barrel of Orchids to Helen Shawen and Evelyn Knaub for their splendid acting in "A Kiss for Cinderella."

According to Evelyn Wilson sarcasm doesn't get one a bid to Pan-Hells.

One of the Hampden-Sydney lads became quite infatuated with Joan of Arc Sunday night. It seems he was struck by her resemblence to one of our charming freshmen.

And, incidentally, "Rain" has become the general theme song of S. T. C.

BLACKSBURG, Va. — A study of class averages reveals that FERA students at V. P. I. made better grades during the first quarter of the current school year than their classmates, in spite of the fact that they were working part-time.

Shirley Temple, juvenile movie actress will use her "Bright Eyes" to select the six most beautiful girls at Louisiana Tech. (Ruston).

Review of the News

Il Duce May Ask Powers Aid In Curb On Hitler

It seems as though France and Italy are beginning to show a bit of co-operation concerning the Hitler rearmament plan at Stresa.

It has been reported that Premier Mussolini of Italy retired in Forli Province to meditate on the question. It is also reported that he has decided to ask Great Britain, France, and Italy to join forces at Stresa to keep Germany from bursting out of her boundaries.

France is also to seek signatures of Great Britain, and Italy at Stresa to a resolution condemning Germany's rearmament. She has moved thousands of troops into eastern frontiers, an army of 35,000, ready for emergency.

Among the other topics of discussion reported in wait for the Stresa conference are: Austria's plea to rearm and maybe Lithuania's resentment of Germany's interference. The whole world is anxiously awaiting the inevitable results.

Nazi Dictator for Free City Seen In Address

From all appearances Rudolph Hess, Adolph Hitler's personal spokesman, in his speech at Danzig has advocated a Nazi dictatorship for this free city—thus having the same internal system that prevails in Germany. Hess tries to persuade them by strong arguments to favor Hitler's unemployment program and that they need "Hitlers." General Goering, a Reich air minister, declared the city's return to Germany "certain." Does the world or Danzig agree with this statement?

"Chinese Reds Resume Drive on Kweijang"

The question lying in wait for interesting discussion is why the communists continue their drive to occupy Kweijang, in the Kurcichow Province. Even though the Government troops warded off any injuries to the city, the Reds continue to move toward Yuman; but they don't seem to make any progress beyond Shefery. Their attempts to occupy the Eastern Kweichou border, however, continue, and public opinion seems to favor Kweiyang's bravery.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—Do you laugh at puns? If you do, you are not of the highest intelligence, says Profesor Richard N. Sears, of Harvard. Recent tests in class rooms revealed that students who were receiving the lowest marks fairly roared at the puns cracked by professors. The "Smarties" merely assumed a pained expression.

LEXINGTON, Va. — Although Finals are a long way off, it has been anncunced that Ted Weems will play at V. M. I. and Hal Kemp and Glen Gray at W. & L.

Best Society Says—

That the expressions, "pardon me," "lovely food," are not in the best usage has never occurred to most of us. These expressions and their correct substitutes are found in Emily Post's "Blue Book of Etiquette," in which she points out a number of expressions that the "Best Society" never uses.

"Best Society" says: talk, not converse; I suppose not I presume; brilliant or clever, not brainy; good food not lovely food; beautiful house not elegant home; she dresses well or she wears lovely clothes not stylish dresser; sing a solo not render a solo; play the piano not perform on the piano; how do you do or I'm very glad to meet you not charmed; curtains or draperies not drapes; photograph not photo; phonograph not phone; automobile, not auto; peppermints, not mints.

According to Emily Post "Best Society" is like a fraternity and the sign of recognition is the avoidance of certain seemingly unimportant words. People of the fashionable world use certain expressions and avoid others. When a stranger uses an "avoided word" it proclaims that he does not belong exactly as a pretended Freemason proclaims himself as an "outsider" by giving the wrong grip—or whatever it is by which brother Mason's recognize one another.

Such differences as that between saying wash or wawsh, advertisment or advertisement, are of small importance. But no one who makes the least pretense of education says: kep for kept, geneelman for gentlemen, pro-poganda for propoganda, laydee for lady, reefined, or vawdevil.

Beau Brummel once remarked, "When one attracts too much notice one could be sure of not being well dressed but overdressed." This is also true of one's speech.

Carter Glass' favorite reading is, "The Arabian Nights," and "The Letters of Junius." He also believes that Bacon and other Elizabethans wrote Shakespeare's plays.

Have you read the recent best sellers, "Come and Get It," by Edna Ferber; "Green Light," by Lloyd Douglas; "While Rome Burns," by Alexander Woollcott?

Life is what you make it;
Sports is how you take it;
Then let us give the best we possess
To make this old world of ours progress,
Undaunted in spirit, with colors high,
Determined to do our best or die,
Striving ever onward, with heart full of zest
To make the good better, and make the better best.

K. R. '36.

NEW ORLEANS, La. (NSFA)—More than two hundred delegates from colleges in sixteen southern and southeastern states are expected to attend the spring student conference to be held in New Orleans under the auspices of Tulane University and Sophie Newcomb College on April 11, 12, 13. Member colleges of the National Student Federation of America will send representatives to the conference which will also be attended by the Southern Federation of College Students and the Southern College Press Association.

"Holiday courses in Europe, 1935," a recent publication of the International Institute of Intellectual Co-operation, lists 156 courses on a wide variety of subjects to be given this summer and fall in sixteen different European countries.

1935," is available at NFSA, 8 "Holiday Courses in Europe, West 40th St., New York City.

It's Joe E. Brown, D. M., now. Whittier College (Whittier, Cal.) recently conferred the degree. It means "Doctor of Mirth."

Sally Rand, of fan dance fame, was once a student in the school of journalism at Columbia University, New York City.

SOCIALS

Notwithstanding the fact that Hampden-Sydney had much attraction for the S. T. C. girls, Blacksburg seems to have had equal attraction. Those from S. T. C. attending the dances at V. P. I. were: Elsie Green, Mary Lou French, Anne Johnson, Sue Mallory, Nancy Pobst, Florence Tankard, Virginia Tillman, Frances Channell and Emily Channell, Brooks Wheeler, Blanche Kahn, Zell Hopkins, and Mary Denny.

To Richmond

These girls seem to think that Richmond is a fine place to buy Easter frocks: Virginia Brown, Virginia Baker, Elsie Cabell, Margaret Clark, Audrey Clements, Virginia Fisher, Evelyn Howell, Audrey Hawthorne, Caroline Jones, Evelyn Knaub, Anthelia Robinette, Virginia Martin, Margaret Long, Henrietta Salsbury, Blanche Lane, Anne Scales, Sue Eastham, and Minnie Smith.

At Home

There are those who think there's no place like home: Mary Reeves Black, Nell Boswell, Helen Boswell, Becky Carter, Grace Collins, Mary Cunningham, Catherine Conway, Inez Chappell, Rose Friend, Martha Hamlet, Lois Jenkins, Francis Jones, Pauline Pearson, Livian Powell, Marjorie Robertson, Lelia Sanford, Wye Scott, and Willis Scott, Jane and Betty Tice, Nan Page Trent, Edna Harvey, Virginia Hurt, Elizabeth Puckett, Betty Harrison, Ethel Burgess, Eleanor Meredith, Ida Sue Carter.

Other Places Visited

Among other students who spent the week - end away are: June Allen to Portsmouth, Edith Coffey to Red Oak; Kitty Chappell to Drakes Branch; Nancy Dodd to Chase City; Frances Farris to Crewe; Merwyn Gathright to Halifax; Susan Gresham to Annapolis; Lelia Hill to Ashland; Claudia Harper to Newport News, Elizabeth Huse to Roanoke; Katherine Jamison to Roanoke; Mildred Linthicum to Stuartsville; Belle Lovelace to South Boston; Mildred Meeks to Amherst; Elizabeth Mann to Bedford; Lucille Mosley to Newport News; Clintis Mattox to Roanoke; Margaret Pittard to Roanoke; Kathleen Powell to Gordonsville; Mary Jane Pendleton to Lexington; Margaret Russell to Scottsburg; Fletcher Walker to Blackstone; Ruth Showalter to Kenbridge and to Wake Forest Dances; Eleanor Wood to South Hill; Charlotte Young to Bedford; Ella Mallory to Louisville; Katherine Galusha to Dinwiddie; Audrey Wilson to Ridgeway; Margaret Bailey to Roanoke; Jane Holland to Lynchburg; Patsy Nottingham to Roanoke; Martha Harrison and Christine Rennolds to Roanoke; Martha Nottingham and Jean McClure to Petersburg; Belle Lovelace to Lynchburg; and Mary Wilson Clark to Newport News.

Members of Art Fraternity Enjoy Banquet in Tea Room

The Gamma Psi banquet in the tea room Tuesday night, April 9, was a very enjoyable occasion for all of the fraternity's active members, visiting alumna, and honorary member, Miss Coulling.

The table was attractively decorated with a centerpiece of lilacs and green candles carrying out the club colors, and the place cards carried out the spirit of the occasion, for they were shaped like an easel and finished in club colors.

Lively conversation and the tea room's usual good food made the event one to be remembered by Gamma Psi members.

Old Rotunda Staff to Hold Annual Banquet Thursday

The old Rotunda staff will hold its annual banquet in the tea room on Thursday evening at six o'clock.

The faculty advisors of the staff, also Miss Mary and Miss Jane Royall, alumnae editor, will be guests.

Lena Mac Gardner, retiring business manager of the Rotunda, will be toast-mistress.

H. S. Dances Draw Many S. T. C. Girls

The Pan-Hellenic Association of Hampden-Sydney College held thei spring dances Friday and Saturday nights, April 5 and 6 in the Comity Club. The music was furnished by Bobby Jones and his orchestra featuring "Babe" Pearson and a girl singer.

The S. T. C. girls with their escorts who attended the dances are:

Virginia Agee .....Ed Payne
Virginia Bean ....W. D. Temple
Nancy Beard .....Billy Willis
Mary Bowles .....Bill Hopstetter
Helen Boswell .....Noel Falwell
Leslie Bradshaw ....Frank Johns
Frances Britton ..Arley Hayman
Elizabeth Butterworth
.....Jordan Steed
Dehla Pope Chambliss
.....Claiborne Jones
Agnes Crockett Preston Campbell
Virginia Doughty
.....Hampton Baylor
Martha Glenn Davis
.....Birch Douglass
Maud Deekins ..Jimmy Whitlock
Eleanor Dodson ....John Glover
Chic Dortch .....Jordan Temple
Claire Eastham ....Tom Roberts
Katherine Fitzgerald Polk Kellam
Louise Floyd ..... Bob Kinkad
Margaret Frailey .....Ed Evans
Jennie Belle Gilliam
.....Red Weisiger
Margaret Gilmer ....Ted Towers
Emily Guy ..... Pat Mitchell
Mildred Habel .....Will Snyder
Calara Hailey .....Fulton Elter
Virginia Hall .....John Kenyon
Elizabeth Harris ....Bill Formalt
Anne Irving .....Greene Lawson
Pattie Jeffreys ... Aubrey Adams
Jacqueline Johnson Jim Davidson
Eugenia Jolly ....Richard Lewis
Bernice Jones..Johnny Apperson
Dorothy Justis .....Tom Noble
Susan Lane .....Bill Price
Kathleen McCann..Bill Heyward
Frances Maxie .....Jack Long
Jean McClure .....Bill Thomas
Madeline McGlothlin
.....Bill Armstrong
Ann Mears ....Clarence Martin
Ruth Montgomery ....Lee Bean
Elizabeth Morris Max Graber, Jr.
Carter Belle Munt ..Andy Leake
Zilla Newsom .....Junie Blake
Martha Nottingham
.....John Frank Chambers
Page Nottingham .. John Harris
Frances Parker .Vernon Spratley
Sara Parker .....Charles Good
Anne Peple....Walter Woodward
Sallie Perrow .... Rooker White
Isabel Plummer..John Coulbourn
Lucy Potter ..... Buddy Lewis
Agnes Powell .... Alex Dickerson
Dot Robertson .... D. Robertson
Frances Robinson .... Dave Rice
Dorothy Price, Woodrow Wilkerson
Rose Puller .....Billy Towles
Bebe Russell ....Dwight Rivers
Dorothy Rust....Jimmy Thweatt
Florence Sanford, Charles Bernier
Elizabeth Scott ....Van Alfred
Helen Shawen, Caswell Hardaway
Ellen Simmerman ..Rudy Young
Minnie Smith ....Mosby Phlegar
Martha Stine .....Lewis Roach
Hatherine Switzer
.....Kemp Plummer
Frances Tilman ....Bill Rodgers
Mary Lynn Thomas, Henry Mosby
Mary Harrison Vaughn
.....Lundy Barkley
Frances Woodhouse
.....Bill Crawford
Katherine Young
.....Spencer Wilson

S. T. C.'s Annual Year Book To Be Distributed May 1

The Virginian, S. T. C.'s annual year book is being done by J. P. Bell Company of Lynchburg, Virginia.

As three hundred and seven copies have been ordered there will be a few extra copies for those who failed to subscribe. The staff is now busy collecting second payments for The Virginian. It will be distributed about the first of May.

Going Away?.....

Travel by

GREYHOUND

Safe—Comfortable—Economical

Alumnae News

Engagement Announced

Mrs. James Kay Laing of the State Teachers College, Farmville, announces the engagement of her daughter, Martha Ann, to Roy R. Pearson, of Socony Vacuum, Hong Kong, China. Miss Laing will sail in June for Hong where she will be married. Her mother will accompany her there for the ceremony.

Plays Leading Role

Miss Nancy Bergwyn, Richmond, will play the leading part in "Fourth Wall," the closing production of The Little Theatre League's current season Friday night at 8:30 o'clock at the Woman's Club.

College Choir Elects Miss Bugg Sponsor

At a recent meeting of the College Choir, Miss Virgilia I. Bugg, Registrar, was unanimously elected sponsor of the College Choir to fill the vacancy made by the death of the late Miss Jennie Masters Tabb.

Announce Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Houston Fairchild announce the engagement of their daughter, Louise Rosalie, to Ford Denchfield of Miami, Fla. The wedding will take place during the month of April and the couple will live in Miami, where Mr. Denchfield holds a position on the staff of the Miami Herald.

Elected Secretary of the Handwriting Association

Mrs. Wilson Cox, formerly Ann Wilson, of Newport News, was elected secretary of the National Association of Teachers of Handwriting at the recent convention in New York.

Junior Woman's Club Elects Officers

Miss Alice Hardaway was elected president of the Junior Woman's Club, Mrs. John Harwood, first vice-president, Mrs. E. Louis Dahl, second vice-president, Miss Jane Royall, recording secretary; Mrs. Gordon Young, corresponding secretary, Mrs. R. E. Garland, treasurer and Mrs. S. M. Holton, parliamentarian.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Love of Kenbridge announce the engagement of their daughter, Bernie May, to Mr. William Lee Bridgeforth, also of Kenbridge.

Studies In Connecticutt

Miss Mary Frances Hatchett, of the 1930 graduating class, is now studying at the New Haven School of Physio-thergry, New Haven, Conn.

Did you know it really happens? Raining cats and dogs, I mean.

Mary: Clara, did you know it's raining cats and dogs?

Clara: Yep, I just stepped on a poodle.

Believe it now?

Spring Recital Is Presented At Schemmel Conservatory

The students who took part in the recital at Schemmel Conservatory Monday were: Martha McCorkle, Helen Bell, Goldie Williams, Helen Wiley Hardy, Eleanor Wood, Margaret Drake, Virginia Scanlan, Caroline Jones, Mildred Meeks, Elizabeth Boylan, Jeanette Jones, Lucy Baylor, and Sylvia Somers.

Dr. Jarman Attend Gridiron Club Dinner in Washington

Dr. Jarman will attend the fiftieth anniversary dinner of the Gridiron Club in Washington April 13. This will be at the Willard Hotel. This club is very prominent in the district as most of the members are newspaper correspondents.

WILLIS
The Florist
Flowers for all occasions
PHONES 181-273

S. A. Legus
TAILOR
CLEANING
PRESSING
REPAIRING
Phone 203

MRS. S. JEAN BOATWRIGHT

By referring to the books of the Farmville State Teachers College you will find enrolled around the year of 1887 the name of S. Jean Carruthers, afterwards Mrs. S. Jean Boatwright.

S. Jean Carruthers was born in Lynchburg, Va., of staunch Scotch and English parentage. She was carefully trained in the Presbyterian faith. Her father and mother not only believed in a firm religious foundation, but also in giving every educational advantage to their children that was in their power to grant. On account of this, and her own native ability and ambitions, Jean graduated with honors and distinction from the Lynchburg High School.

At that time few girls who intended making teaching their profession, went to college. Mr. Carruthers, however, sent his daughter to Farmville that she might have greater qualifications for teaching.

Thus Miss Carruthers entered the Normal School, and graduated therefrom. She never failed on any occasion to cherish the memory of her Alma Mater. It seemed as dear to her as the apple of her eye. There were no praises of the Institution which, in her estimation, would be too much, no sacrifice too great for Farmville College. She always looked forward to attending the gatherings of the alumnae with the keenest pleasure, and expended her time and energy in preparation for such gatherings to make them successful.

She taught in Lynchburg a number of years, and was always untiring in her efforts to advance and improve her work in every way. Many of her pupils will testify to her inspiring influence and her patrons to her excellent teaching.

In 1919 she began supervisory work in the schools of Campbell County.

Afterwards she attended Radford State College, and took her B. S. degree there. She then served several more years as supervisor of the schools of Bedford County.

She resigned this position, and attended Columbia University, from which institution she received her Master's degree in 1925.

While engaged in the work at Columbia, she was chosen as principal of school in New Jersey. She continued her work at Columbia in the evening and Saturday classes, commuted to New Jersey, and directed this above normal school.

She was soon advanced to higher work, for which Columbia recommended her. There she did a distinctly fine piece of work according to Columbia authorities.

However, Mrs. Boatwright loved her native state, Virginia. She returned and took a position of supervisor of Augusta County Schools.

It is a gratification to state that Mrs. Boatwright had one year free from labor before Our Father took her home.

Her husband was an invalid for a number of years before his death, but she had reared four children, all of whom married except one.

One of these, John Boatwright, was in the Phillipines in government work. He had his mother come and spend a year with his family. She had an opportunity of visiting Japan and other parts of the Orient. This trip was a real pleasure and inspiration to her.

She lived only a short time after her return to America. Her depature to her eternal home was sudden.

Her memory will always be fresh in the hearts of her friends.

Though she has been dead several years, yet we miss her warm greetings, beautiful smile, cheery disposition, optimistic view of life, uplifting conversation, Christian kindliness, and heavenly benediction.

C. E. Chappell Co.
Stationery, Blank Books and School Supplies
Cigars, Cigarettes and Soda
Farmville, Virginia

Rice's Shoe Store
Street and Dress Shoes
Dancing Slippers Dyed
Correct fits our specialty It

Kleanwell
CLEANERS AND TAILORS
Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling ladies garments
Main Street, opposite Post office
Phone 98

Gray's Drug Store
QUALITY—PRICE—SERVICE
Come in and Get Acquainted
We are glad to have you with us!
Farmville, Virginia

Mack's
BARBER AND BEAUTY SHOP
323 Main Street
We use the Frederick Method
Hair cutting and thinning a Specialty

PRINTING.....
When you think of Printing think of
—The—
FARMVILLE HERALD

SPRING SPECIALS

The navy is here—Three-quarter length navy blue suits. They are chic—stylish and she will adore you in them. Three price groups—$9.95—$14.95 and $16.50

THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE
Farmville's Best Place to Shop!

—FOR—
EVERYTHING—SCHOOL SUPPLIES, CANDIES, FRUITS, CONFECTIONS, ETC.
GO TO .....
GILLIAM'S
Open 'till 9:00 p. m.

ARE YOU INTERESTED?

JACKETS of Grain and Suede Cloth and Wool SWEATERS.

We are showing the season's newest. Come in. We are glad to show—Just what we have—and the line is very attractive.

VERSER'S

PHILCO RADIO
World's largest manufacturers of Radio
A complete line
Watch repairing a specialty
Sheet Music—Strings for Instruments
LYNN, The Main Street Jeweler

YOUR NEIGHBOR,
The Weyanoke Beauty Salon
invites you to drop in and take advantage of their Special prices now in effect.
Permanent Waves—$4 & $6 Shampoo & Fingerwave 75 cents
Manicure 40 cents
Indivdual, courteous, efficient service and an established reputation for dependability and satisfaction. That is our guarantee, and your assurance of perfect workmanship.

Six Spring Sports Will Start Soon

With the close of volley ball near at hand we are looking forward to new games and athletics. Students should make use of the opportunities that S. T. C. affords in its various sports. Spring offers such sports as archery baseball, field and track, lacrosse, swimming, and tennis.

Aschery — As soon as the weather permits, targets will be put up for our Robinhoods. Archery is easy to learn and truly a valuable sport.

Baseball—In a few days the athletic field will be a gay scene of baseball players. Come out to enjoy the fun and improve your game. Join the players and see who will be the first batter to hit a home run.

Field and track — If everyone cannot be a master of some phase of sport she at least can be a good participant. To be permitted to receive expert instruction in the throwing of the javelin, shot put, etc., is a real privilege. No one should be so ignorant as not to know what a javeline is, and a little of the technique of throwing. It might come in handy sometime.

Lacrosse—Lacrosse, our new sport here at S. T. C. is to be initiated this spring. Don't let your inferiority complex get you down because none of us know anything about the game yet. There is a rumor about having color teams, come on out and help your class.

Swimming—The pool is open for recreational swimming every afternoon with the exception of Saturday. Hot weather is sneaking up on us so let's put the finishing touches on ye olde stroke.

Tennis—"The courts will soon be fixed." Until then the gym can be used for tennis. The varsity tennis squad will be picked from the try-outs. Games are scheduled with William and Mary, Blackstone, and Sweet Briar. Individual instruction in tennis will be given those desiring it.

Annual Convention Proves Successful

(Continued from page 1)

teresting talk on "Growing Rich in Depression Times." Miss Andrews dwelt upon the riches of nature and the great benefits to be derived from our common environment.

At the final business meeting Saturday afternoon reports from the committees were submitted and officers for the coming year were elected. The new officers are: Frances Cardwell, U. of S. C., president; Jane Royall, S. T. C., vice-president; Miss Florence Stubbs, S. T. C., National Executive Secretary; Nannie Lou Wilson, Queen-Chicora, treasurer; Florence Sanford, S. T. C., editor-in-chief of The Torch Bearer; Miss Doris Jackson, U. of S. C., National Historian.

The convention banquet was held at Longwood Saturday evening. Jestine Cutshall acted as toast mistress and the theme of the banquet, "Books," was quite unique and carried out in delightful fashion. At this time Miss Adele Clark Richmond artist, spoke on women leaders. In turn she introduced Miss Mary Johnston, the speaker of the evening, who made an address of unusual charm and inspiration. Dr. and Mrs. Eggleston, Miss Andrews, and Dr. Jarman were also guests of the evening.

Later, the Student Building lounge was the scene of a reception in honor of Miss Johnston. Members of the faculty of Hampden-Sydney and S. T. C. and a number of townspeople attended.

Conference of Social Work Begins April 10

Continued from page 1

Delinquency — Adult and Juvenile; Public Health—Problems of Disease Control and Prevention—Medical Care.

The delegates expect to leave Farmville Thursday afternoon and attend the conference on Friday.

Volley Ball Matches To Be Played Soon

According to a decision of the Athletic Council meeting on Monday night, the class volleyball games will be played off the first of next week. Two matches will be held on the night of April 15, and the finals will be played on the night of April 16. Ten practices are necessary for one to make a class team. As there are some who have come out, but would not otherwise have enough practices, there have been arranged two practices every day this week. It is hoped that many will take advantage of this opportunity.

Louise Frances Attends Munitions Discussion

Five colleges sent representatives to Westhampton College on Monday, April 8, for an open forum discussion of the munitions question. The colleges represented were William and Mary, Duke, University of Richmond, Westhampton and Farmville. Louise Francis represented S. T. C.

Each participant was allowed ten minutes for his constructive speech. After the constructive speeches were given, any speaker had the right to ask any question concerning the resolution and designate the person to answer it.

Dr. Mitchell, a prominent member of the University of Richmond faculty, was chairman of the discussion.

Dancer and Group Presents Program

Continued from page 1

3.

Two Ecstatic Themes (Medtner-Mallpiero . .Doris Humphrey

4.

The Shakers. . . .Traditional Airs
Accordian, Drum and Voice
Dorothy Lathrop and Group

5.

Water Study . . . .Unaccompanied
The Group

Members of the group: Cleo Athenoes, Helen Bach, Ernestine Henoch, Eleanor King, Dorothy Lathrop, Joan Levy, Katherine Manning, Edith Orcutt, Beatrice Seckler, Mildred Tanzer.

Costumes by Pauline Lawrence.

Management
NBC ARTISTS SERVICE
GEORGE ENGLES
Managing Director
30 Rockefeller Plaza
New York City

School Lasses Depict Merry Mount Scene

Continued from page 1

cessful attempts to imitate nature in her frequent twists and turns.

All this fine fuss is being sponsored by the physical education department though the plain commoners may see but little connection between gymnastics and pretty girls disguised as weird animals or men. But alas and alack, it seems that a May court at Merry Mount had animals and men in it, so we shall be faithful to their ideas and practics, converting some of our charming, demure, young ladies into dashing young men in an early American settlement.

As the time of this remarkably delightful celebration approaches we shall hear more and more of the joyous shouts and happy singing which years ago brought down the wrath of the Puritans on the heads of the Merry Mounters. Wonder what will be on the heads of these present May Dayers?

Watchout, Jean, your men will get you in trouble. Better hide him next time before inspection. Speaking of Lent, we hear that Kitty and Billy have given up going down town. Brave little girls. We're backing you.

Special orders for
Teas and Parties
Try our doughnuts
Foley's Bakery
Third Street

Doris Humphrey and Her Dancers

Doris Humphrey shown with her dance group

Radio Highlights

Wednesday

6:00—WEAF—Dance Orchestra.
6:30—WABC — Candelori Orchestra.
6:45—WJZ—Lowell Thomas.
7:00—WOR—Sports Resume.
7:15—WJZ—Robison Orchestra.
7:30—WJZ—Red Davis, Sketch.
8:00—WJZ—Kemp Orchestra.
8:30—WEAF—Wayne King Orchestra.
9:00—WEAF—Haytan Orchestra.
9:30—WJZ—John McCormack, tenor.
10:00—WEAF — Lombardo Orchestra.
10:30—WEAF—Ray Noble Orchestra.
11:00—WJZ—Marvey Orchestra.
11:05—WABC—Dance Orchestra.

Thursday

6:15—NEAF—Gogen Orchestra.
6:45—WJZ—Lowell Thomas.
7:00—WEAF— Marvey Orchestra.
7:15—WJZ—Concert Orchestra.
8:00—WEAF—Valee's varieties.
8:30—WJZ—Hessberger Orchestra.
9:00—WABC—Gray's Orchestra.
9:30—WABC—Waring Orchestra.
10:00 — WEAF — Whiteman's Music Hall.
10:30—WABC—Heidt Orchestra.
11:00—WABC—Dance Orchestra.

Friday

6:00—WJZ—Fidler Orchestra.
6:10—WEAF—Cookley Orchestra.
8:00—WEAF—Concert Orchestra.
8:30—NOR—Variety Musicale.
9:00—WEAF — Lyman Orchestra.
9:30—WEAF—Bonime Orchestra.
10:00—WOR—Sandra Swenska Soprano.
10:30—WABC—Warnow Orchestra.
10:45—WJZ—Lawrence Tibbett, Baritone.
11:00—WJZ—Zollo Orchestra.
11:30—WEAF—Dance Music.

Saturday

6:15—WABC—Dance Orchestra.
7:00—WOR—Sports Resume.
7:30—WABC—Arden Orchestra.
8:00—WEAF—Concert Orchestra.
8:30—WJZ—Jarrett Orchestra.
9:00—WEAF—Variety Musicale. WJZ—Ray Noble Orchestra.
9:30—WOR—Dance Orchestra.
10:00 — WOR — Newark Civic Symphony.
10:30—WABC—California Melodies.
11:00—WABC—Gray Orchestra.
11:30—WABC—Dance Music.

Katherine Walton Is Valedictorian

Continued from page 1

Virginia Bean, in her two years of college, has shown herself to be an excellent student and citizen of the college. Grace Collins has likewise distinguished herself in hte classroom. Grace is a member of the debate club and Alpha Phi Sigma, honorary fraternity for scholarship.

The graduation exercise will be held Tuesday, June 4.

Martin the Jeweler
Gifts of
Lasting Remembrance
317 Main St. Farmville

POTTED MEATS
SANDWICH SPREAD
SANDWICH ROLLS
HOT DOGS
Everything for the Picnic
W. R. Drumeller
Main Street Farmville

Shannon's
Is Headquarters for the Best
SANDWICHES
—and—
DRINKS
in Farmville!

Southside Drug Store
(On the Corner)
Films Developed
FREE
If bought at this store

The Schemmel Conservatory of Music
Offers interesting instruction by Artist Teachers, arranged to suit the needs of each pupil. Piano: Elsa Schemmel Fairchild, Marie Schemmel Shroder, Voice: Mattie Spencer Willis. Violin: Richmond Seay of Blackstone College.

Farmville Mfg. Co.
BUILDING MATERIALS
MILLWORK
Farmville, Va.

You Would Love to Have Your Shoes Fixed at
Lovelace Shoe Shop
110 Third Street

ROOM FURNISHINGS
SCHOOL SUPPLIES
CANDIES
ROSES
5-10-25c Store
FARMVILLE, VA.

Overton-Mottley Hdwe. Co.
ELECTRIC GOODS/
Tennis Rackets and balls
Roller Skates

EACO THEATRE
Mats. 4 p. m.; Nights 8 p. m.
Adults 25c; Children 15c
Unless otherwise noted

Wed, Apri. 10 Cartoon
"BABOONA"
Chapt. 10 "Tailspin Tommy"

Thurs-Fri Ap. 11 and 12
BING CROSBY
Joan Bennett W. C. Fields
"MISSISSIPPI"
Laurel & Hardy Comedy
Adults 25c and 35c

Sat., April 13 Cartoon
Robert Taylor
(Who scored in "Society octor")
VIRGINIA BRUCE
"TIMES SQUARE LADY"
2 shows Night: 8 & 10 p. m.

Next Mon-Tue, A. 15-16
"GEO. WHITE'S SCANDALS"
200 Beauties, Lavish Scenes
5 —song hits— 5
Novelty & Paramount News
Adults 25c and 35c

Next Wed, Ap. 17 Boop
Randolph Scott, Chic Sale
Mrs. Leslie Carter
in Zane Grey's
"Rocky Mountain Mystery"

Conoco Gas and Oil
Fill up at
Johns Motor Co.
Farmville, Va.

SUPPERS AND
SMALL PARTIES
Good Breakfast
Dinners
Suppers
College Tea Room
and
LONGWOOD

Buy Your
C A N D Y
To Sell at
H. T. Stokes & Co.

G. F. Butcher
High Street
"The Convenient Store"
FOR GOOD THINGS
TO EAT AND DRINK

Electric Shoe Shop
Will Fix Your Shoes
While You Wait
BEST WORKMANSHIP
AND LEATHER USED

The Fashion Shoppe
Reflects the newest styles. All dresses $2.95 up
COATS, SUITS, DRESSES, UNDERWEAR
Silk Hose
Fine quality ..... 49c 59c and 69c

SPRING SPORT SHOES
Brown and white combination and sketched here. The ideal campus shoe that puts you at the head of footwear class.
$3.95 PAIR
OTHERS at $3.5 to $6. New zipper styles and dress "blues."
BALDWIN'S

LOVELY EASTER DRESSES
in one and two piece effects. You must see them to realize what wonderful values are $5.45, $7.45 & $9.45.
SPRING SUITS—the prettiest in town
$.945 to $15.97
DOROTHY MAY STORES
First to Show the Newest!
FARMVILLE, VA.

BEST WISHES FOR A HAPPY EASTER

The Rotunda

We Teach To Teach

Volume XV. FARMVILLE, VA., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 17, 1935 No. 26

READ EDITORIAL ON "PEACE"

Honor Fraternity To Sponsor State Convention Here

Dr. J. J. Hayden To Be Main Guest Speaker

CONVENES MAY 10

Birdie Wooding, president of Gamma Mu, announced last night that the Annual State Convention of the organization will meet at Farmville State Teachers College on May 10 and 11 this year. The local chapter has extended invitations to Radford State Teachers College, Emory and Henry College, Randolph Macon Woman's College, and William and Mary College, all of which have chapters of Pi Gamma Mu on their campuses.

Dr. James Hayden of the Catholic University of America who is representing the General Counsel of Pi Gamma will be the chief guest speaker at the convention. Dean H. M. Henry of Emory and Henry College, Province Governor of the Virginia chapters, will act as presiding officer over the business sessions.

The anual convention banquet will take place in the College Tea Room Friday night, May 10. At this time toasts will be given to the following people: Mrs. E. M. Nuckols, president 1926-27; Margaret Hix, president 1932-33; Birdie Wooding president 1934-35; Margaret Farrar, president 1935-36; President J. L. Jarman; Dean H. M. Henry; and Doctor James J. Hayden.

Special invitations have been issued to past presidents of the local chapter from 1926 through this year. It is expected that many of these Pi Gamma Mus will be present at the convention. Those receiving special invitations are:

Continued on page 4, col. 2

Levy S. T. C. Delegate at Randolph-Macon

Gertrude Levy will again represent the Farmville State Teachers College as oratorical contestant. She will speak on April 26, at the state-wide Tau Kappa Alpha convention to be held at Randolph Macon Woman's College, Lynchburg.

Invitations to take part in this convention have been issued to every woman's college and every co-ed college in the state.

"Why We Are Here" will be the subject of Gertrude's speech on her return she will give the speech for the benefit of the S. T. C. student body and faculty.

Gertrude Levy won the woman's oratorical contest at the South Atlantic Forensic Tournament held in Hickory, North Carolina, March 7. And S. T. C. feels that she will have a worthy representative at the coming convention.

Jarman Is Guest At Gridiron Club

Dr. Joseph L. Jarman was a guest at the fiftieth anniversary celebration of the Gridiron Club in Washington, Saturday night, April 13. The anniversary was celebrated with caustic satire on the New Deal, European diplomacy, and the gold decision. President Roosevelt, the guest of honor, contrary to precedent, participated personally in one of the skits, that leading into his own speech.

The irony ranged from a Barnum side show, with cabinet members as freaks, to a new version of the Pied Piper of Hamlin in which the country was portrayed as plagued by Senators Long, Overton and Schwellenbach, Father Coughlin, Dr. Townsend, and Governor Olsen. Then there was a parade accompanied by music written especially for this occassion — The Gridiron Golden Jubilee March."

The souvenir of the dinner was a large cartoon by C. K. Berryman of the Washington Star, portraying a parade of the famous guests at the clubs' founding in 1885.

Nulric Bell of the Louisville Courier-Journal was inaugurated as president of the club and two newly elected members were initiated. They were Pyly C. Wilson, manager of the Washington bureau of the United Press and Raymond P. Brandt of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

National Honor Fraternity Initiates Margaret Alsop

On Friday night the Virginia Alpha Chapter of Sigma Pi Rho, natonal honor fraternity in Latin, initiated into membership Margaret Alsop. In addition to her outstanding scholarship in Latin Margaret is a member of Sodalitas Latina, Alpha Phi Sigma, and Kappa Delta Pi.

Kindergarten Pupils Present Program at Chapel Period

Singing, dancing, and broadcasting were features of the program which was presented by the Kindergarten pupils of the Training School last Wednesday morning at chapel period in the college auditorium. The program showed ability and excellent work on the part of both teachers and pupils. It was thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

The pupils were assisted by Miss Frances Yester, Miss Billie Morgan, and Miss Kitty Chappell.

Frosh Complete Elections

By selecting representatives to the Student Standards Committee, the Freshman completed their class selections Tuesday night. The two girls chosen for these two places were Jennie Belle Gilliam, who was re-elected to this committee and Virginia Agee.

Rice and Orange Win Dramatic Tournament In S. T. C. Auditorium

Rice High School presenting "My Cousin From Sweden" by Katherine Kavanagh and Orange High School presenting "Thank You Doctor" by Gilbert Emery won first prize last Friday and Saturday nights respectively when the first Southside Virginia Dramatic Tournament sponsored by the S. T. C. Dramatic Club was given at 7:30 in the S. T. C. auditorium. Volens High School with "A Girl To Order" by Bessie W. Springer won honorable mention on Friday night and Clarksville High School with "You Tell 'Em" won honorable mention on Saturday night.

Judges on Friday night were Mr. and Mrs. Helms of Amelia and Dr. Bell of Hampden-Sydney. Mr. Nelson of Hampden-Sydney and Mr. and Mrs. Helms judged the contest Saturday night. Mr. Helms, principal of Amelia High School is a graduate of the American Academy of Arts and Mrs. Helms has had dramatic training at the University of Virginia. Dr. Bell and Mr. Nelson are directors of the Hampden-Sydney Jongleurs. The plays were judged on the basis of interpretation, presentation, and preparation.

Prospect High School presented "Beau of Bath" by Constance D'Archy Mackay, Curdsville presented "The Proposal" by Checkor, and Pamplin "The First Dress Suit" by Russell Medcraft on Fri-

Continued on page 4, col. 1

Honorary Fraternity Convenes in Georgia

National Sigma Pi Rho Convention To Be Held In Georgia.

The annual convention of Sigma Pi Rho, national honor fraternity in Latin, will be held at Georgia State College For Women in Milledgeville, Georgia from April 26 through April 28.

The national Sigma Pi Rho fraternity was founded at Farmville State Teachers College in 1932 by the merging of the local fraternity and the Tri-V Club at Fairmont, West Virginia.

Last year several delegates from S. T. C., Farmville, attended the convention held in Fairmont, West Virginia. Joseph Fordyce of Grafton, West Virginia, elected national president then will preside over the meeting at Georgia this year. Lois V. Cox, a graduate of Farmville S. T. C. and now teaching at the School for the Blind in Overlea, Maryland, is national vice-president. Dr. J. E. Walmsley, national counselor of the fraternity, with the following delegates will represent the Virginia Alpha Chapter at the convention Carmen Clark, Lila Jacob, Doris Moore, Claudine O'Brien, and Anne Putney.

The delegates will leave Farmville on Thursday morning, April 25, stopping en route at Winthrop College, South Carolina, and arriving in Georgia Friday, April 26, in time for the meeting which convenes at noon.

Two Honor Societies Elect Officers for '35-'36 Session

The following honor societies have elected officers for the 1935-36 session. Kappa Delta Pi, national honorary fraternity for scholarship, elected Doris Moore as president, Elizabeth Walton as vice-president Agnes Bondurant as secretary; Elizabeth Spitler as treasurer, and Dr. Wynne as counselor.

Sigma Pi Rho, national honorary fraternity for Latin elected Margaret Pollard as president, Doris Moore as vice-president, Jeannette Jones as secretary, and Claudine O'Brien as treasurer.

Old Staff of Rotunda Has Annual Banquet In College Tea Room

The old Rotunda Staff, with Dr. Jarman, Miss Mary, Miss Jennings, and Miss Royall as guests, held its annual banquet in the college tea room last Thursday evening.

Bess McGlothlin, toast-mistress, began the dinner with a toast to Dr. Jarman. At intervals during the meal, toasts were given by staff members to other guests and chief officers as follows: Miss Mary and Miss Royall by Belle Lovelace; Miss Jennings and Mr. Holton, advisers, by Lelia Mattox; Lena MacGardner, business manager, by Lelia Mattox; Lelia Mattox, former editor-in-chief, and Florence Sanford present editor-in-chief, by Bonnie Lane; the staff by Evelyn Massey, former associate editor.

Gifts were presented to Miss Jennings, Mr. Holton, Lelia Mattox, and Lena Mac Gardner.

Lena MacGardner, former business manager of the Rotunda, made all arrangements for the banquet and acted as hostess of the evening. There were approximately thirty-five people present.

Delegates From S.T.C. Attend Conference

Social workers and students and enthusiasts from all parts of the state assembled at the John Marshall Hotel, Richmond, Virginia, on April 10 to attend the thirty-fifth annual meeting of the Virginia Conference of Social Work. It was a conference for the discussion and the formulation of a statement concerning the social welfare needs of Virginia—ways and means whereby these needs may be met.

Divisional meetings and open forum discussions were held in meeting rooms at the John Marshall Hotel. Some of the most interesting and stimulating discussions were on Delinquency, Mental Hygiene, Child Welfare, Illegitimacy, Public Health, and Family Welfare. On Friday Miss Florence Stubbs, representing Farmville State Teachers, acted as chairman of the discussion on "The Dependent Child Away From its Own Home." At this time Miss Katherine Watkins, acting Senior Case Worker of the Emergency Relief Administration in Prince Edward County gave a paper on "The Typical Unorganized County." Mr. W. L. Painter, director of the Children's Bureau of the State Department of Public Welfare, gave a sketch of "The State as a Whole." Mr. Painter is familiar to students here who took the Child Welfare course last fall.

Thursday evening after the banquet held in the hotel auditorium two speeches of interest and enlightenment were heard by the representatives from S. T. C. "Family Security, the Greatest Need in Virginia," was discussed by Mr. R. T. Hough, president of the conference. Miss Katharine F. Lenroot, chief of the Children's Bureau, United States Department of Labor, and President of the National Conference of Social Work, spoke on "The Relation of Social Security to Child Welfare." Miss Lenroot spoke with experience and foresight. She surveyed the progress made in social work in the last few years and predicted a great future for the work.

The conference continued through Saturday but the S. T. C. delegates were unable to attend longer than Friday. Miss Florence Stubbs, Florence Sanford, Grace Eubank, and Virginia Bean attended the conference Thursday and Friday.

Agnes Crockett

Agnes Crockett was recently elected Y. W. President.

Dancer Presents Modern Program

Doris Humphrey and her group of dancers presented a program of the modern dance in the S. T. C. Auditorium on Thursday evening, April 11.

The program was opened by a short lecture on the modern American dance by Miss Humphrey. In this talk, she traced the dance down through the different stages of its development.

"In the days of the ballet," she said, "the dance was a portrayal of something unreal — something that took us from this world into one of mythical character."

Miss Humphrey said that the modern dance is based on the natural movements of the body, and with this freedom, drama and rhythm can be worked into the dance with less difficulty. The group demonstrated the different forms of movement as Miss Humphrey explained them.

The second part of the program was alternating dances by the group and Miss Humphrey. They were accompanied by Vivian Fine, pianist.

President Names Y. W. C. A. Cabinet For Coming Year

Katherine Walton Plans Installation April 23

INVITE STUDENTS

Agnes Crockett, president-elect of the Y. W. C. A. has announced the cabinet which will lead the work in the various departments for the coming year. The following girls were selected: Chairman of the World Fellowship Committee, Mildred Potter; chairman of Sing, Bonnie Lane; chairman of service, Billy Wilkerson; chairman of publicity, Merwyn Gathright; chairman of social committee, Julia Ann Waldo; chairman of prayers committee, Elizabeth Spitler; chairman of music, Nancy Probst; chairman of town girls comittee, Marguerite York; chairman of Church Co-operative Committee, Winnie Frances Eubank.

These girls have worked on the committes within the past year and are well qualified for their positions. The new cabinet with the officers, vice-president, Sue Waldo; secretary, Elizabeth Walton; treasurer, Dorothy Wise; nd freshman counsellor, Elizabeth Shiplett, will have their setting up conference at Longwood soon after the Easter holidays. At this conference the girls will select their advisors and plan the year's program. The program will include many new projects that have been brought up within the past year.

On Wednesday, April 10, the old cabinet met with the incoming one for a joint discussion. The old cabinet gave helpful suggestions to each chairman for the coming year. After the co-operative discussion the old cabinet retired and the new group began their work.

The installation of the new cabinet will be held Wednesday night, April 24. The installation of the Student Council will be held Tuesday night, April 23. These inspirational ceremonies will be planned by Katherine Walton. The student body is urged to attend the installation of its new officers.

Preparations For Holidays Afford Excitement To S. T. C.

What is the reason for all this counting and calculating which is so frequently heard when one draws nigh to an S. T. C. student? That is simple; two words render explanation aplenty. Easter holidays. Four full days of nothing but play, good food, and sleep. However, we have our doubts about these liberated girls reaping a very large crop in the latter. After all one can sleep in Farmville; in fact, one almost has to at times from pure lack of anything else to do. But why waste moonlight nights in Hickville, Pig Wallow, or Muddy Creek in sleeping? By the way, did you know that Thuesday night is full moon? More darn fun.

Of course no one has heard any sweet young maid say, "I'm coming back early." After all, the knowledge that Hampden-Sydney boys will be here all by themselves means absolutely and positively nothing in the lives of many prospective teachers. Certainly, the girl who would even

Continued on page 4, col. 1

Goats Endeavor To Please The Cotillion Club Members

A solemn and auspicious ceremony took place in the large auditorium of S. T. C. on the night of April 15th. Dumb goats, funny goats, serious goats, just—goats, did their best to please the exexacting and none too complimentary members of the Cotillion Club. Shaking knees wobbled the goats down to the appointed place at the appointed time. Wailing, hailing, paling, and failing rode the four hundred (really sixty-two). A hilarious program was presented sacrificing the highly cherished dignity of those noble goats.

The fall goats wish to announce the marriage of two of the young socialities of the season (of unmentionable names). The bride was attired in the latest Paris gown (night gown). Her train treasured in her family for many years (as a window curtain) was gathered at the back of her head by something that looked suspiciously like a point-settia. She carried at arms length a potted lily. Bobbie Saunders, our blushing bride, coyly yanked her papa down the aisle. The father, Amis Montgomery, peered longingly at his daughter between the top of a high pongee handkerchief and the bottom of Mr. Prench's panama hat. Color schemes of every shade were carried out in the bridesmaids' gowns. The most picturesque was the harmonizing bright red, green, and pink outfit of the matron of honor. Relations from near and far gathered to cheer (rah-rah) the bride at the alter, while mother (Claudia Harper) wept long and loud. The Reverend Mr. Addie Norfleet performed the amazing ceremony. The whereabouts of the happy couple are now unknown.

A May Day theme was carried out in the next skit. We wish to compliment Lucille Davies, a hefty goat, for holding up the Maypole (a broom stick) for the goats to trip lightly around. After several handsprings by the May Queen, Betty Butterworth and Annie Leigh Baily gave their version of natural dancing, with apologies to Doris Humphrey. The faculty take off proved that the goats can easily take the place of any member in case of absence. A flying trip to Hades

Continued on page 4, col. 1

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Published by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

MEMBER
Associated Collegiate Press
1934 Collegiate Digest 1935

Staff

Florence Sanford ..... Editor
Agnes Bondurant ..... Associate Editor
Evelyn Massey ..... Business Manager

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 17, 1935

Peace

It really begins to look as if something might be done about this war business. A few days ago, about 150,000 students got upon their back legs and bellowed their defiance to the world at large, and to Uncle Sam in particular. They were not going to allow themselves to be bullied, cajoled, or shamed into throwing away their perfectly good lives protecting the interests of some bloated coupon-clipper who probably had more money than he deserved, anyhow. No, sir, not they. And to prove it, they spent an hour marching up and down the main streets of college towns all over the country. They waved flags, made speeches and thrust belligerent banners into the faces of all passersby who looked as if they might have some leanings toward war. Everybody enjoyed themselves; the news-cameramen got pictures of John Roosevelt, Will Rogers had a chance to poke a little indulgent fun at the cavortings of the younger generation, and the 150,000 could trail happily back to their classes aglow with the delightful feeling that they had done something BIG.

But now that the dust has settled and excited hearts have resumed their normal beat, a number of questions have to be faced. Is all this merely a gallant gesture, or is it really the harbinger of a millenium, when the youth of the world will unite against their elders and refuse to fight their battles for them? After all, what, exactly, has been accomplished? A brave noise has been made, a torch has burned brightly, and the youth of a first class power has outlawed a scourge—for an hour. Could we withstand the terrific pressure of popular sentiment that would arise in the case of a war? Our elders couldn't. They, too, were naginst war; they, too, had ideals which they defied any individual or nation to rend from them. And then, all of a sudden, there was a war, and they saw their friends putting on uniforms; they heard about atrocities; they felt the scorn and approbrium of those who branded them as cowards and slackers for supporting those pacifist ideals of theirs. They listened, weakening, to fiery speeches; they felt their blood surge to the martial beat of drums, and then one day, they turned up self-consciously wearing a new uniform. They liked the feel of that uniform and all it implied, they delighted in being called heroes, and they could hardly wait for the chance to kill off a few Boches—to make the world safe for democracy. When they finally did sail, they were drunk with the thought of what lay before them; the thrills, why, they might even win a few medals, and, boy, would that make the home town sit up and take notice! And now, sometimes, they shudder awake from troubled slumbers, their minds still filled with the icredible horror of the things they saw and heard and felt, and, yes, the things they did—to make the world safe for democracy.

We are not protected now, as they are, by those dreadful memories. We have little conception of war as it really is, stripped of its glamor, dirty, utterly savage, unspeakably sordid; we see pictures, hear lectures, read statistics on the costs of a day's battle, and are impressed, but, we have never seen one, never heard or felt the shock of one, never smelled or tasted one. What then is to armor us against the glib tongue of the war orators, the thousands of sources of pressure that will bear down on us when the world goes crazy again? How can we entrench ourselves so firmly in our ideals that we can be in a position to dictate to our naton?

The answer? Fairly obvious, but difficult to attain. Organization, not just of 150,000 but of 15,000,000 all imbued with the desire to protect the world against itself. Such an organization would, by it's very bulk, give pause to any nation contemplating war. But, and this is the crux of the situation, speed is the essential and governing factor of the success of this plan. Those striking students were right in being proud of their accomplishment, but only so far as concerns the beginning of a great movement; they started something, but unless they press on with redoubled vigor, unless they strike against war, not for just an hour but for all time, the movement will die. For even now, war rumors are floating around, none of them very serious in themselves, but all of them indicative of an international unrest that may sooner or later flare up into actual combat. Swift, very swift, organization of a vast number of people is the essential goal at the present point; the closer knitting together of this group can be taken care of later, but our safety lies in sheer mass, rather than in ability to maneuver.

A Tribute

To few people is it given to live eighty-seven years. Mrs. Horace G. Taliaferro lived eighty-seven beautiful years of service. Rarely did her church open its doors day or night when she was not in her place of worship. It was ever her delight to decorate her church for Christmas services and to be present at every meeting.

In her home she served with a devotion not to be excelled.

To her many friends she was a woman of high ideals and unyielding devotion to her convictions.

Through the years her brave heart never weakened, her courage never flagged, her love of mankind never failed. The Psalmist says, "He giveth his beloved sleep," so early on Friday, April 12, 1935, the God of Love, in a gentle sleep took unto Himself His devout servant, Mrs. Horace Taliaferro.

Our Conduct

We realize that life in a dormitory has its weakening tendencies, morally and that it is this influence which makes the college experience a serious question to those interested in us. Especially are we up against the problem here where we live all under one roof and, because of the size of our group, acquainted with the students individually.

As young girls it is important that we keep close check on ourselves in these small everyday matters—careful of our personal habits, of our conversation, of our attitude toward work and toward our associates. We don't want to become so informal that it results in laxness. We want to be particular about the kind of habits we allow ourselves.

We would suggest that we make one of the chief responsibilities our consideration of others. Of this item our conduct during study hour, in the dining hall, in the classroom, in the library, on the campus many times has been brought to our attention. We would emphasize all these and to this list add care in using articles provided for the use of the entire school. As a matter of consideration the Rotunda Staff has put their college exchanges in the library; as a matter of courtesy it is the responsibility of those few found in every group to leave them there where everyone may read and enjoy them.

During the knitting craze of 1914-'18, the women supplied the fighting men with sweaters. Now that they are knitting again the men are putting on breastplates.

Among Our Caps and Gowns

Frankie MacDaniel

—Courtesy News-Leader

Frankie MacDaniel has made a name for herself at S. T. C. that will not be soon forgotten. She has taken part in manp phases of college activity.

As junior and senior class president, Frankie has distinguished herself as a leader. In athletics she has shown an unusual amount of ability and is a member of the Monogram Club. At various times she has served on the Athletic Council as manager of hockey and she has been an outstanding member of varsity and class teams.

In her junior year Frankie received a bid to Alpha Kappa Gamma, national honorary fraternity for leadership. This recognition speaks for itself.

In the Dramatic Club she has been a steady contributor and her dancing ability is proven by membership in the Artist Dance Group. Frankie is a member of the Cotillion Club and is a Mu Omega.

Certainly we'll miss Frankie but with that in mind we wish her all luck and good fortune as a graduate of Farmville.

At Other Colleges

Following a strong wave of opposition by local townspeople, especially among members of those denominations holding the Lenten season especially sacred, the Randolph-Macon Cotillion Club has decided to move the date for Easter dances up one week and to hold only one dance.

According to the original date set the first dance would have been on the night of Good Friday and this fact was the motive for a great deal of the opposition registered.—The Yellow Jacket.

Iowa State College students who were given special reading improvement courses were able to increase their reading speed thirty-five per cent in two days. — The Bullet.

There are approximately 1,500,000 living college graduates in the United States More than one hundred forty college graduates who are Rhodes scholars are over forty years of age and are listed in Who's Who of America.—The Bullet.

It has been the opinion of the majority of people who have come in contact with football stars that as far as scholastic ability is concerned, such a faculty is not possessed by them. In behalf of the gridiron heroes, it has been shown by statistics that more than sixty former college football heroes are now presidents of colleges and universities in the United States. —Villanovan.

IT'S A FACT

At Ohio State a machine for grading exams has been invented.

The average student does his best studying when he has a radio beside him.

Forty-two per cent of student worries is due to grades, thirty per cent to finance, and only nine per cent to love affairs.
—The Technique.

WELLESLY, Mass.—(IP—Men will invade Wellesly campus of Wellesly College, a woman's college, this July when the summer Institute for Social Progress at Wellesly holds its annual two-week economic conference.

NEW YORK—Fifteen hundred delegates from twenty-five states thronged the Columbia University campus last week for the eleventh annual convention of the Columbia Scholastic Press Association.

Hancock Will Lecture To Sociology Class

Mr. Gordan B. Hancock of the Virginia Union Seminary in Richmond, Virginia will speak to the sociology class making a special study of the negro on April 24. The lecture will be held in the small auditorium and anyone who is interested in the subject is invited to hear Mr. Hancock.

This is the speaker's third appearance at S. T. C. He spoke to the people taking the course on the Negro last year and came back again last summer.

Rotunda Reverberations

The flowers that bloom in the spring—tra la! Little blades of grass come a-peeping up a-saying, "Welcome sweet springtime, we greet thee in song — tra la! tra la! tra la! tra la la!"

• • •

None of our S. T. C. belles were present at the Kappa Sig dances of week-end past —at least, we don't think so!

• • •

We wonder who Carroll's blond heart throb is here lately. From what we gather, she has turned literary on us and taken up her Penn.

• • •

Acording to Virginia Hall, this is a Grey world.

• • •

. . . . Iwish I were a flutterby, I'd kiss each dainty cutterbup . . .

• • •

Our sympathy to Florence Tankard! Let's send her some soup—preferably Campbell's.

• • •

S. T. C. girls are seriously thinking about sending the Metro-Goldwyn Mayer Corporation a wire demanding more pictures with Robert Taylor as the hero.

• • •

Things we can do with:
More comfort . . . more dignity . . . more respect . . . but above all more dough ! !
More sunshnei . . . more posies . . . longer vacation . . . but above all less rain!
More scandal . . . more gossip . . . . more relations . . . But above all more pink lights.

• • •

We wonder why Billy Willis is all smiles now that Helen Fern is almost off government.

• • •

And after all Fun is Fun
And Hoppitality is Hospitality.

• • •

We gather that Vann has learned a few new tricks lately. Billie, you didn't do so well, did you?

• • •

Addie you aren't such an apt chemist. We heard about your answer to that simple question.
Mr. French: Miss Norfleet, what is the formula for water?
Addie: Simple, H. I, J, K, L, M. N. O. (H to O).

• • •

Clara, do you prefer Percy or Carnegie? We're back of you.

• • •

Miss Snead wants to know what fair damsel left Charlie's (Shannon) sil— in a library book. Loser please call at Dr. Jarman's office for it.

• • •

Mrs. Warren concludes after room inspection that if men are made of dust the girls better look under their beds.

• • •

We recommend "noble" buckles, not "Noble" friends, Louise.

• • •

Well, girls, this time there is only one day before Easter.

Pianist and Soprano Present Selections at Conservatory

Helen Wiley Hardy, pianist, assisted by Florence Cralle Bell, soprano, were featured artists in a program given by the Schemmel Conservatory of Music Tuesday evening at 8:30 o'clock.

Compositions by Bach, Beethoven, Schubert, Schemmel, Mendelsohn, McDowell, and other well-known composers made up the program.

Springtime With the Poets

The Years at the Spring

The Year's at the Spring
And day's at the morn;
Mornings at seven;
The hill-side's dew-pearled;
The larks on the wing;
The snail's on the thorn:
God's in His heaven—
All's right with the world!
—Browning.

Daffodils

I wandered lonely as a cloud
That floats on high over vales and hills,
When all at once I saw crowd,
A host of golden daffodils
Beside the lake, beneath the trees,
Fluttering and dancing in the breeze.
—William Wordsworth.

April Rain

It is not raining rain for me,
It's raining daffodils;
In every dimpled drop I see
Wild flowers on the hills.
The clouds of gray engulf the day
And overwhelm the town;
It is not raining rain for me,
It's raining roses down.

It is not raining rain to me,
But fields of clover bloom,
Where any buccaneering bee
Can find a bed and room.

A health unto the happy,
A fig for him who frets
It is not raining rain to me
It is raining violets.
—Robert Loveman.

The Rhodora

In May, when sea-winds pierced our solitudes,
I found the fresh rhodora in the winds,
Spreading its leafless blooms in a damp nook
To please the desert and the sluggish brook:
The purple petals fallen in the pool
Made the black waters with their beauty gay,
Here might the red-bird come his plumes to coal,
And court the flowers that cheapens his array.
—Emerson

I Have a Rendezvous With Death

I have a rendezvous with Death
At some disputed barricade,
When Spring comes back with rustling shade
And apple blossoms fill the air—
I have a rendezvous with Death
When Spring brings back blue days and fair.
—Alan Seeger.

Ballade by the Fire

Slowly I smoke and hug my knee,
The while a witless masquerade
Of things that only children see
Floats in a mist of light and shade:
They pass, a flimsy cavalcade,
And with a weak, remindful glow,
The failing embers break and fade,
As one by one the phantoms go.
Then, with a melancholy glee
To think where once my fancy strayed,
I muse on what the years may be
Whose coming tales are all unsaid,
Till tongs and shovel, snugly laid
Within their shadowed niches, grow
By grim degrees to pick and spade,
As one by one the phantoms go.

But then, what though the mystic Three
Around me ply their merry trade?
And Charon soon may carry me
Across the gloomy Stygian glade?
Be up, my soul; nor be afraid
Of what some unborn year may show;
But mind your human debts are paid,
As one by one the phantoms go.

Envoy

Life is the game that must be played:
This truth at least, good friends, we know;
So live and laugh, nor be dismayed
As one by one the phantoms go.

SOCIALS

Where there is a dance you're sure to find representatives from S. T. C. V. M. I. seems to have offered more enticement in this way over the week-end so Elizabeth Scott, Marguerite Bradford, Leslie Bradshaw, Jennie Belle Gilliam, Zilla Newsom, and Elizabeth Harris went to Lexington.

To Richmond

Richmond continues to act as a magnet on S. T. C. girls. Those who went to Richmond are: Irene Bailey, Frances Elder, Audrey Hawthorne, Ann Peple, Florence Sanford, Elsie Turner, Nancy Wall Beverly Wilkerson, Katherine Walton, Elizabeth Walton, Winifred Goodman, Nancy Dodd, Grace Eubank, and Margaret Clark.

At Home

Despite the fact that the holidays are near, home is still a drawing card for: Mary Irvin Arthur, June Allen, Elizabeth Roberts, Edna Bolick, Mary Lou French, Frances Farris, Katherine Fitzgerald, Dorothy Glover, Rachel Joyner, Josephine Kent, Belle Lovelace, Patsy Nottingham, Anthelia Robinette, Elizabeth Huse, Frances Jamerson, Margaret Russell, and Virginia Lee.

Other Places

Other students who spent the week-end away are: Margery Quarles to Marion, Elizabeth Rucker, to Petersburg; Billie Rountree to Washington, D. C.; Christian Rennolds to Baltimore, Md.; Charlotte Rice to Portsmouth; Tyler Wood, Tac Waters, Mildred Davies, Jean McClure, and Evelyn Montgomery to Ronceverte, W. Va.; Evelyn Wilson to Harrisonburg; Elizabeth Hart to Pamplin; Virginia Bean to South Hill; Kitty Bass to Blackstone; Mary Cunningham to Buckingham; Eleanor Gibbs to Guinea Mills; Elizabeth Morris to Prospect; Elizabeth Pinnell to Warrenton, N. C.; Ethel Burgess to Fork Union, and Mildred Meeks to Amherst.

Five Sororities Issue Bids Friday April 12

Five sororities in college issued bids Friday night, April 12, following a wek of rushing. The girls accepting bids are as follows:

Sigma Sigma Sigma

Frances Britton, Waverly; Eugenia Jolly, Petersburg; Kathleen McCann, Petersburg; Frances Lee Parker, Newport News.

Alpha Sigma Alpha

Della Pope Chamblias, Rawlings; Susan Lane, Altavista; Carolyn Upshur, Cheriton.

Mu Omega

Rose Marie Hunter, Fredericksburg; Mary Robeson, Blacksburg.

Pi Kappa Sigma

Mary Wilson Clark, Newport News; Martha Moore, Chuckatuck; Marion Shoffner, Roanoke.

Zeta Tau

Mildred Chandler, Clarksville; Frances Faris, Crewe; Pattie Jeffreys, Drakes Branch; Lois Jenkins, Ashland; Doris Isobell Montpelier; Paige Magee, Yale; Margaret Pittard, Clarksville.

Feminine Curves Come Into Favor

The perennial question of the great American figure is before us again, and this time the concensus is decided—we are to have feminine curves this year.

Not the Mae Westian curves of yesterday, nor yet the wasp waist of the Gibson girl, but a happy compromise—a return to natural contours.

Rosina McDowell Lynn of the McDowell school of costume design says the new trend toward natural curves is all due to Mussolini and Hitler, and their policy of encouraging women to concentrate on the nursery.

She says the American figure follows the trend of the times, toward a more normal state of mind, and predicts that the spinach-and-grape-fruit diets of the last few years are on the way out.

Dance Clubs Give Artists Reception

The Dance Club entertained Doris Humphrey and her group of dancers with an informal reception in the Student Building Louge on Thursday evening after their most interesting Lyceum program.

Mrs. Fitzpatrick introduced Miss Humphrey and each of her dancers to the guests of the evening and to the members of the Dance Club and Artist Dance Group.

After the introductions were made general discussions were held in small informal groups.

Rose Summers, Virginia Leonard, Caroline Upshur and Margaret Fraley served refreshments throughout the evening.

Other than Miss Humphrey and her dancers the guest list included the following: Dr. J. L. Jarman, Dr. Jeffers and Mrs. Jeffers, Miss Barlow, Miss Purdom, Miss Wheeler, Miss Bedford, Miss Tupper and Mrs. Laing, Jestine Cutshall, Hazel Smith, Lena Mac Gardner Phyllis Ferguson, Dorothy McNamee, Lois Moses, Mary Alice Glass, Mary Robeson, Crenshaw Jones, Doris Moore and the members of the Dance Club and Artist Dance Group and their sponsor Mrs. Fitzpatrick who is a former student of Doris Humphrey.

Tri Sigma Celebrated At Banquet Saturday

In commemoration of the thirty-seventh birthday of the sorority the Tri Sigmas, alumnae and guests celebrated at a banquet at Longwood Saturday night, April 13.

The theme of the banquet was based on the New Deal and the color scheme was carried out with candles and red and white roses.

The alumnae back for the occassion were: Nancy Harrison, Kitty Marchant, Martha Sanders, Martha Scott Watkins, Nancy Parker, and Elizabeth Kelly. Miss Coulling, Miss Mix, Miss Mary White Cox, and Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong Smith of John Randolph were guests at the banquet.

Review of the News

At last Hitler has come to his sense and tossed an olive branch into the convention at Stressa. He is now willing to join an eastern non-agression pact (He says that he would not aid in gressor financially, economically, or commercially); but he still bars the alliance of military assistance.

Great Britain hailed the news with pleasure, and even Paris has hinted that she may drop arms protests. We also hear that Italy and Moscow, Russia are mutually stirred.

The question lying in wait for discussion is: What has happened to influence Hitler to do a thing rejected by him in former times? (Austria Links Big Army Plan to Monarchy)

The world is now aware of the fact that Austria is trying to revive memories of the Hapsburg Dynasty by attempting to restore their pre-war military service, which would involve restoration of universal conscription and also the expectation of arms equality rights—Colonel Adams maintains that barracks, uniforms, and equipment must be ready before the change. The world appears to be wishing Austria luck: so why shouldn't we "all join in"? (We have already been informed tha ther standing army was 35,000 effected by her latest treaty.)

Going Away? . . . . . .

Travel by

GREYHOUND

Safe—Comfortable—Economical

Miss Laing Is Guest Of Honor at Shower

Miss Mary White Cox and Mrs. J. H. Warren were hostesses at a miscellaneous shower at Longwood Tuesday afternoon in honor of Martha Ann Laing who is to be married to Mr. Roy Pearson early in June. The two drawing rooms were decorated with spring flowers. After delicious refreshments served on attractive plates the actual shower began. The guests were invited to take a voyage with Martha Ann and immediately everyone set sail. By directions placed at odd stations the voyagers succeeded in getting passports and all the essentials, finally coming to a halt at the dock where floated the "Good Ship Matrimony." Martha Ann hastened aboard and discovered all maner of treasure in the hold of the ship, countless gifts for the bride-to-be.

Townspeople present were: Mrs. Crawford, Mrs. Harwood (Mary Scott Martin), Mrs. Walker, Mrs. Gardner, Mrs. George Richardson, Mrs. Horace Adams, Miss Irene Leake, Mrs. Graham, Miss Alice Hardaway, Miss Mary Nichols, Mrs. E. H. Nichols, Mrs. John Cox, Mrs. Whitaker, Miss Mertie Johnson, and Mrs. Walter Putney. A number of students, members of the Home Office Department, and faculty members were there. They were: Miss Royall, Miss Shelton, Mrs. Shelton, Mrs. Jamerson, Miss Blackwell, Miss Stephenson, Mrs. Blanton, Mrs. Hurt, Miss Snead, Miss Winnie Hiner, Miss Camper, Mrs. Tabb, Dr. Fields, Miss McKee, Jestine Cutshall, Louise Hyde, Mrs. Harry Lancaster (Lucy Scott), Florence Sanford, Mary Joyner Cox, and Margaret Gilmer.

Mrs. Harry Lancaster, accompanied by Louise Hyde played the violin and Miss Irene Leake, soprano, made up the trio.

Famous Poet Dies

With the death of Edward Arlington Robinson last week America lost one of her greatest modern poets—one that is very likely to go down in literature as an important writer of modern verse.

Mr. Robinson has written reflective poetry that seems to endure as that of Emerson and Arnold has endured. He has composed his own kind of verse—intellectual, simple, and obedient to the rhythms of actual speech. He is regarded as the foremost poet of the first three decades of the century.

CREDO

I cannot find my way: there is no star
In all the shrouded heavens anywhere;
And there is not a whisper in the air
Of any living voice but one so far
That I can hear it only as a bar
Of lost, imperial music, played when fair
And angel fingers wove, and unaware,
Dead leaves to garlands where no roses are.

No, there is not a glimmer, nor a call,
For one that welcomes, welcomes when he fears,
The black and awful chaos of the night;
For through it all—above, beyond it all—
I know the far-sent message of the years,
I feel the coming glory of the Light.

WILLIS
The Florist
Flowers for all occasions
PHONES 181-273

S. A. Legus
TAILOR
CLEANING
PRESSING
REPAIRING
Phone 203

Radio Highlights

6:30—WABC Candeloni Orchestra.
6:45—WJZ Lowell Thomas.
7:15—WJZ Robinson Orchestra.
7:30—WOR Studio Music
8:00—WJZ—Kemp Orchestra
8:30—WEAF Wayne King
9:00—WABC Lily Pons, Soprano
10:00—WEAF Guy Lombardo
10:30—WEAF Ray Noble Orchestra
11:00—WABC Dance Orchestra.

Thursday

6:45—WJZ Lowell Thomas
7:00—Marvey Orchestra
7:30—WOR The Street Singer
7:45—WOR Comedy; Music
8:00—WEAF Valee's Varieties
8:30—WABC Stevens Orchestra
9:00—WABC Glenn Gray
9:30—WABC Fred Waring
10:00—WEAF Whiteman's Music Hall
10:30—WABC Heidt Orchestra.
11:00—WJZ Chester Orchestra

Friday

6:00—WEAF Coakly Orchestra
6:30—WJZ Beecher Orchestra
7:30—WJZ Red Davis
8:00—WEAF Bourdon Orchestra
8:30—WJZ Nichols Orchestra
9:00—WEAF Lyman Orchestra
9:30—WEAF Boirne Orch.
10:00—WJZ Rolfe Orchestra
10:30—WABC Warnow Orchestra
11:00—WABC Dance Orchestra

Saturday

6:00—WEAF Coakley Orchestra
6:15—WABC Dance Orchestra
6:30 — WABC Benoy Venuta, Songs
7:15—WEAF Variety Musicale
7:30—WOR Dance Orchestra
8:00—WEAF Hayton Orchestra
8:30—WJZ Madreguera Orchestra
9:00—WEAF Ray Noble
9:30—WEAF Al Jolson, songs
10:30—Dance Orchestras
11:00—WABC Glenn Gray

Little Sammy had spent most of his life across the tracks. Mr. and Mrs. Lucrich had adopted him and put him in the charge of a highbrow tutor.

One day the toutor was revealing the mysteries of the country to Sammy. Sammy saw a farmer pitching hay.

"Look at that bowlegged man over there," he burst out.

"Why Sammy how would Lord Byron have said that?" by way of reprimand.

Sammy thought. Finally: "Why he'd have said 'What-ho, what-ho, what manner of man are these, who wear their pants on parentheses?"

—Colby White Mule.

"Will we ever have a woman president?"

"Of course not! A president has to be over thirty-five years of age."

—Chicago Phoenix.

C. E. Chappell Co.
Stationery, Blank Books and School Supplies
Cigars, Cigarettes and Soda
Farmville, Virginia

Rice's Shoe Store
Street and Dress Shoes
Dancing Slippers Dyed
Correct fits our specialty It

Kleanwell
CLEANERS AND TAILORS
Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling ladies garments
Main Street, opposite Post office
Phone 98

Gray's Drug Store
QUALITY—PRICE—SERVICE
Come in and Get Acquainted
We are glad to have you with us!
Farmville, Virginia

Mack's
BARBER AND BEAUTY SHOP
323 Main Street
We use the Frederick Method
Hair cutting and thinning a Specialty

MAY DAY SCHEDULE FOR WEEK OF APRIL 15TH

Bosworth & Childrey Group	Tuesday, 2:00 p. m.	Little gym
Puritan Group	Tuesday 7:30 p. m.	Big gym
Jestor	No practice
Court and Maypole	Mon, Tues, Wed, 9:30	Big gym
Mask Dance and Indians	Mon & Wed 4 p. m.	Rec
Phantom Dance (men)	Mon. & Wed., 7:30 p. m.	Big gym
Phantom Dance (women)	Mon. & Wed., 7:30 p. m.	Big gym
Hobby Horse	Tuesday 4 p. m.	Little gym

PRINTING . . . . .
When you think of Printing think of
—The—
FARMVILLE HERALD

SPRING SPECIALS

The navy is here—Three-quarter length navy blue suits. They are chic—stylish and she will adore you in them. Three price groups—$9.95—$14.95 and $16.50

THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE
Farmville's Best Place to Shop!

—FOR—
EVERYTHING—SCHOOL SUPPLIES, CANDIES, FRUITS, CONFECTIONS, ETC.
GO TO . . . . .
GILLIAM'S
Open 'till 9:00 p. m.

ARE YOU INTERESTED?
JACKETS of Grain and Suede Cloth and Wool SWEATERS.
We are showing the season's newest. Come in. We are glad to show—Just what we have—and the line is very attractive.
VERSER'S

PHILCO RADIO
World's largest manufacturers of Radio
A complete line
Watch repairing a specialty
Sheet Music—Strings for Instruments
LYNN, The Main Street Jeweler

YOUR NEIGHBOR,
The Weyanoke Beauty Salon
invites you to drop in and take advantage of their Special prices now in effect.
Permanent Waves—$4 & $6 Shampoo & Fingerwave 75 cents
Manicure 40 cents
Individual, courteous, efficient service and an established reputation for dependability and satisfaction. That is our guarantee, and your assurance of perfect workmanship.

Class Squad Elects Volley Ball Captains

Evelyn Mann, Mary Lena Anderson, and Kathleen Ranson were elected captains of the freshman, sophomore, and junior volley ball teams respectively, at a meeting of the squads Thursday afternoon at five o'clock.

Evelyn has played on every class team this year. The fresnmen have selected a capable captain.

Mary Lena was assistant manager of basketball this year, captain of the volleyball team last year, and has played on all class teams. She was also a member of the varsity hockey team.

Kathleen has been captain of every class team this year. She served as captain of the varsity hockey team, and also played on the varsity basketball team.

Goats Endeavor To Please Club Members

Coneinued from page one

gave glimpses of some of our beloved characters of mythology; we were greatly surprised to find that they were even more modern than we. George White's Scandals now playing at the Eaco Theater was over-shadowed by the brilliant dancing of the girls in the chorus number. Great personalities of Hollywood made the trip to S. T. C. just to present a fashion show. Between boos and calls for curtain the next group put over a successful play, "The Pot Boiler."

Hopes for corsages to Mildred Meeks and Marion Hansbrough for excellent renditions of Smilin' Through and Ten Cents a Dance. Frances Robertson removed all traces of doubt in the minds of the upper class men as to the meaning of cute. (It's strictly bowlegged). We think Evelyn Montgomery is still wondering which came first the hen or the egg.

The whole affair was taken in good spirit. Funeral rites for the goats have been postponed until some time after Easter.

Rice and Orange Win DramaticTournament

Coneinued from page one day night.

On Saturday night "Romance Is a Racket" was given by College High School! "'Op' O Me Thumb" by Frederick Fenn and Richard Pryce by C. H. Friend High School of South Boston and "Overtones" by Alice Gerstenberg by Crewe.

Phyllis Ferguson and Margaret Hierndon of the College Dramatic Club had charge of staging the plays. Martha Stine headed the Entertaining Committee and Tuc Waters took charge of the advertisement.

The Dramatic Club plans to make this play contest an annual affair each spring. The purpose of the contest is to demonstrate to prospective teachers the type of play they may someday have occasion to coach and to encourage high schools in this section to put on better plays and to develop dramatic ability.

The tournament was well attended both nights and pronounced a success by Miss Leola Wheeler, S. T. C. dramatic coach.

Holiday Preparations Afford Excitement

Coneinued from page one

think of a boy, H. S. C. or any other kind, would not make a good teacher, and we're all going to be first rate schoolma'ms. Yes, sir, that is our ambition, so junked are thoughts of an early return to enjoy a few uninterrupted dates with our masculine neighbors. (Then too, faithful Tom, Dick, and Harry back home might get suspicious.)

Along with other things, thoughts of Easter bring thoughts of dandy new clothes. The like of planning and scheming has never been heard before. What is the best way to manage the folks to get a new dress and a new suit? If anyone finds a workable solution, please send it in immediately that a special issue explaining the remarkable discovery may be rushed through the press post haste. Without doubt, these merchants are cruel to keep on tantalizing us with gorgeous displays of beautiful dresses and suits with perfectly matching accessories. There should be a law against it; girls away from the temperinng influence of home spend enough without the encouragement of windows, racks, and counters full of irrestible temptations. Did you ever hear a girl say, "I wish I had a million dollars"? Doubtlessly, she has just seen a heavenly sea blue green dress. It surely would be a shame if it rains on Easter Sunday, but then, it usually does.

And so we go on with our fascinating little lessons in addition and multiplication until the proximity of the fateful hour of release sends a chill and a thrill of expectation long many a spine. Well it might for, hapless as it may seem, Easter holidays come but once a year.

Special orders for

Teas and Parties

Try our doughnuts

Foley's Bakery

Third Street

Jongleurs Begin Play Practice

Plans and rehearsals for the annual spring production of the Hampden-Sydney Jongleurs are getting under way. The play which has been selected for presentation is a comedy entitled "So This is London" by Arthur Goodrich. Only Hampden-Sydney students will take part in this production and so all feminine roles will be played by men.

The date for the presentation has been tentatively set for May 4 and as usual the performance will be staged in the S. T. C. auditorium. Dr. W. Herman Bell and Woodrow Mackey are directing the play and rehearsals have been going on for several days.

Lee Bean has been chosen for the leading role and he will play the part of Hiram Draper Jr. Clarence Lacy has been cast in the leading feminine role and he will portray Elinor Beauchamp. The rest of the cast is as follows: Hiram Draper, Sr., James Bullard; Lady Amy Ducksworth, I. Webb Surrat; Mrs. Hiram Draper, Asa D. Watkins; A Flunky at the Ritz, Walter Young; Sir Percy Beauchamp, Lawrence Wood; AleBauchamp, Lawrence Wood; Alfred Honeycutt, Walter Woodward; Thomas, a butler, Walter Young; Lady Ducksworth's butler Jennings, Walter Young.

Honor Fraternity Sponsors Convention

Coneinued from page one

Mrs. E. M. Nuckols (Cornelia Dickinson), Eloise Moore, Lois Fraser, Mrs. Lewis Knight (Elizabeth M. Taylor), Mrs. W. L. O'Brien, Jr., (Lucile Norman, Mrs. Frederick M. Ritter (Henrietta Cornwell), Margaret Hix, Louise Bulloch, Mrs. Lottie Whitehurst, Birdie Wooding, and Margaret Farrar.

The program of the convention is given below:

Friday, 3:00 p. m. Organization Meeting.

Friday °:00 p. m. — Banquet with Virginia Gamma chapter.

Friday 8:00 p. m.—Conference on Revision of Versailles Treaty.

Saturday 9:30 p. m. — Adress by Dr. James J. Hayden, Catholic University of America.

We laughed over this ad that appeared in "The Publishers Auxiliary."

A YOUNG, SINGLE PRINTER, COLLEGE EDUCATED, with some experience selling ads, reporting, proofreading, bill collecting, column writing, would like to assist a good editor or run a small weekly for someone else. He knows the backshop thoroughly except the lenotype. He is not a speed demon nor as accurate as death and taxes, but is sure he has possibilities as well as personality. Small town bred. Now employed. References. $25 a week or open. Address 210, Y. M. C. A., Flushing, N. Y.

"Why the Giraffe's Neck Is Long"

By EMMA BINGHAM

Years and years and years ago, when the world had just begun, all the animals were a great deal funnier looking than they are now. Elephants had no trunks, cats had no whiskers, and giraffes had short stump necks. So you can imagine what a queer world it was.

One day Mr. and Mrs. Giraffe and Baby Giraffe were leisurely traveling along in a deep, dark forest. Pa Giraffe had a bundle tied up in a red cloth, and Ma and Baby Giraffe were dressed up in their very best black white and Sunday clothes. They were all going to visit Grandma Giraffe. Baby Giraffe just loved to visit his grandma. Oh, my, yes! She always had nice juicy leaves in her garden for him to eat, and she knew the very best places in all the world to play hide and seek.

Baby Giraffe was so happy he just couldn't keep still! He'd run a little ahead of his father and mother and then run back to meet them. Finally, he got tired of running back; so, he hid and jumped out at his father and mother, frightening them nearly to death. To tell the truth, he frightened Ma Giraffe so badly that she scolded him until a great, big, round tear slid right out of his eye and made a spot on his best Sunday tie.

Besides being playful, this little Baby Giraffe was very curious, as all baby giraffes are. Much too often he would stick his inquisitive little round nose into someone else's affairs, and much too often he would look behind every bush, stump, and tree to find what might be hidden there. Then, too he had a huge appetite. In fact, he liked to eat almost everything from "a" to "izzard." On that day, while he was on the way to his grandma's, he ate one leaf from every tree he passed, and if the tree had fruit on it he ate one leaf and two pieces of fruit. At last his tummy became so round and full that he looked as if he might topple over any minute. Yet, he kept looking for something to eat.

Ever since his mother had scolded him, he had walked along, quite properly. But now he was watching her from the corner of his eye, and when she turned her head to shoo a fly away from her back, he capered off in search of something new to eat.

Now at this time they were passing through a forest of apple trees. And Baby Giraffe just loved apples! But these apples weren't exactly like the apples we have. Instead they were square and very, very pink, and they grew way up near the sky. But that was why Baby Giraffe wanted them so much! Finally, he came to a tree of the most tempting looking apples, but the very best one was on the topmost branch where he couldn't reach it. He knew, too, that he'd have to get that apple himself, for his father wouldn't reach it for him. So he stretched his little short neck just as far as he could, but still he couldn't reach it. Determined to have that one apple, he forgot everything else. Quite unconsciously in stretching his neck, he poked his head right through a loop of a grapevine. Just then his Ma and Pa came in sight, and on seeing what the youngster was about, they both immediately ran to pull him away. When they began to pull, the grapevine loop began to tighten. And there was baby Giraffe still trying to get his apple! His parents then took hold of his hind legs and pulled and pulled. But the more they pulled, the harder Baby Giraffe stretched his neck to reach the apple which always seemed a little farther out of reach. He stretched, and they pulled; they pulled, and he stretched until gradually, inch by inch, his neck began getting longer and longer. When Ma Giraffe looked up suddenly and saw this, she began to cry and cry, because she had been very proud of her son's short neck. But Pa Giraffe just kept pulling and Baby Girafe just kept stretching. Suddenly, with a snap, the grapevine broke, and Baby Giraffe came down spang, right on his Pa, but he couldn't cry, because the apple was in his mouth. When he jumped off his Pa's back, his head went "bang" right against the ground, for his neck had stretched so long that he didn't know what to do with it. To tell the truth, Ma Giraffe had to to tie his ears to his tail to make him hold his head up, and even though she was sad she couldn't help laughing at him.

Since that very day all giraffe's have had long necks, and all because Baby Giraffe just had to have an apple!

I'm fonder of caviar than cabbage,
And filet than potatoes a la mash,
But life in this famed Woman's College,
Has made me receptive to hash.

Shannon's

Is Headquarters for the Best

SANDWICHES

—and—

DRINKS

in Farmville!

Southside Drug Store

(On the Corner)

Films Developed FREE

If bought at this store

The Schemmel Conservatory of Music

Offers interesting instruction by Artist Teachers, arranged to suit the needs of each pupil. Piano: Elsa Schemmel Fairchild, Marie Schemmel Shroder. Voice: Mattie Spencer Willis. Violin: Richmond Seay of Blackstone College.

Farmville Mfg. Co.

BUILDING MATERIALS

MILLWORK

Farmville, Va.

You Would Love to Have Your Shoes Fixed at

Lovelace Shoe Shop

110 Third Street

Martin the Jeweler

Gifts of

Lasting Remembrance

317 Main St. Farmville

POTTED MEATS

SANDWICH SPREAD

SANDWICH ROLLS

HOT DOGS

Everything for the Picnic

W. R. Drumeller

Main Street Farmville

ROOM FURNISHINGS

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

CANDIES

ROSES

5-10-25c Store

FARMVILLE, VA.

Overton-Mottley Hdwe. Co.

ELECTRIC GOODS!

Tennis Rackets and balls

Roller Skates

EACO THEATRE

Mats. 4 p. m.; Nights 8 p. m.

Adults 25c; Children 15c

Unless otherwise noted

Thurs., April 18

Lillian Harvey

Tullio Carminati

Let's Live Tonight

'Radio Announcer's Revue'

Fri.-Sat. Ap. 19-20 News

Charles Laughton

Charles Ruggles, Zazu Pitts

in

RugglesofRedGap

Adults 25c and 35c

Midnight Show

Sunday Night, April 21

(12:01 Monday morning)

Gertrude Michael, L. Talbot

"IT HAPPENED IN NEW YORK"

Adults 25c; Children 15c

Next Mo.-Tue Ap. 22-23

Gene tStratton Porter's

LADDIE

With

John Beal, Gloria Stuart and little Virginia Weidler

NO ADVANCE IN PRICES!

Next Wed Apr. 24

Betty Boop

T. McCoy, Jacqueline Wells

"Square Shooter"

LAST CHAPTER

"TAILSPIN TOMMY"

The Fashion Shoppe

Reflects the newest styles. All dresses $2.95 up

COATS, SUITS, DRESSES, UNDERWEAR

Silk Hose
Fine quality ..... 49c 59c and 69c

SPRING SPORT SHOES

Brown and white combination and sketched here. The ideal campus shoe that puts you at the head of footwear class.

$3.95 PAIR

OTHERS at $3.5 to $6. New zipper styles and dress "blues."

BALDWIN'S

LOVELY EASTER DRESSES

in one and two piece effects. You must see them to realize what wonderful values are $5.45, $7.45 & $9.45.

SPRING SUITS—the prettiest in town

$.945 to $15.97

DOROTHY MAY STORES

First to Show the Newest!

FARMVILLE, VA.

Conoco Gas and Oil

Fill up at

Johns Motor Co.

Farmville, Va.

SUPPERS AND

SMALL PARTIES

Good Breakfast

Dinners

Suppers

College Tea Room

and

LONGWOOD

Buy Your

CANDY

To Sell at

H. T. Stokes & Co.

G. F. Butcher

High Street

"The Convenient Store"

FOR GOOD THINGS

TO EAT AND DRINK

Electric Shoe Shop

Will Fix Your Shoes

While You Wait

BEST WORKMANSHIP

AND LEATHER USED

HATS OFF TO THE SOPHOMORES

The Rotunda

We Teach To Teach

BE ON TIME FOR MAY DAY PRACTICES

Volume XV. FARMVILLE, VA., WEDNESDAY, MAY 1, 1935 No. 27

Farmville Princess Leaves For Apple Blossom Festival

Parade of Floats To Be Six Miles Long

IS TWELFTH FETE

Louise Hyde, apple blossom princess from Farmville State Teachers College, left this morning to take part in the festival to be held at Winchester May 2 and 3. Louise was selected by Dr. Jarman to be a member of the court of Mademoiselle Nella Veverka, daughter of the Czechoslovakian Minister to America, who will reign over the twelfth Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival.

The queen and princesses will be the center of a series of brilliant social events during the festival. The events of the first day include a tour of the apple orchards, luncheon by Mrs. Richard Evelyn Byrd the coronation of the queen ,which precedes a pageant in which one thousand children will participate, a tea dance at the country club, and a reception which will be followed by a ball in the evening.

On the second day the pageant will be repeated, and the queen and princesses will have luncheon at the home of Mrs. Lewis Hyde. Another tea dance will follow the parade of gorgeous floats, which is six miles long.

Following dinner in the evening of the second day, the queen's ball will conclude the festival. The figure will be composed of the princesses and their escorts. Miss Hyde will be escorted by Mr. Clarence Ale of Hampden-Sydney College.

It is estimated that twelve million apple trees will be in full bloom in the Winchester area at the time of the festival.

Famous Educator Speaks on Negro

Dr. Hancock, Ph. D. of Harvard and well-known crusader for his own negro race, spoke on "The Problems of the Negro," in the little auditorium last Wednesday afternoon, April 24. It was Miss Stubbs and the members of her sociology class that is studying the negro who invited Dr. Hancock to S. T. C. to discuss these problems.

Among the chief problems of the negro, acording to Dr. Hancock, are relief, employment, and disillusionment. The first of these problems, he said, has risen with the depression. The government is giving relief to negroes and employment to white people. This, Dr. Hancock believes, is working an ill effect upon the negroes in that it destroys their desire to work and also their self respect. He prefers very much that the negroes have jobs rather than a dole handed out to them.

The problem of employment has been brought about, Dr. Hancock said, by the white man stooping to do menial labor, such as cleaning the streets, which was once left to the negro. With this type of employment for his race, the negro educator would be content.

The disillusionment of the negro race, said Dr. Hancock, has been brought about largely by the fact that the fourteenth and fifteenth amendments of the con-

Continued on page 4, col. 1

Louise Hyde

LOUISE HYDE who will represent Farmville State Teachers College at Winchester.

Randolph-Macon Win Oratorical Contest; Levy S.T.C. Delegate

The Randolph-Macon woman oratorical contestant won first place at the Tau Kappa Alpha convention in which Gertrude Levy of S. T. C., Farmville, took part, on April 26. Six colleges in the state sent representatives to this convention which was held at Randolph-Macon College, Lynchburg.

Three prominent men of Lynchburg acted as judges of the oratorical contest. In selecting the winner, each judge first cast his vote for a different speaker, and then after a conference they decided in favor of the Randolph-Macon contestant.

The topic of the winning speaker, who represented Randolph-Macon, was "Plus Ultra." The other colleges represented were Roanoke, Radford, Lynchburg, Bridgewater, and Farmville. The speaker from Lynchburg College had as her topic, "Judas," the one from Roanoke College, "The Modern Jew", the representative from Bridgewater, "The Task Unfinished," and Gertrude Levy of Farmville, "Why We Are Here."

Miss Nichols of Farmville State Teachers College Faculty, Margaret Pollard, Deane Saunders, and Catherine Crews, accompanied Gertrude Levy to Lynchburg.

Y.W.C.A. Installation Is Held Wednesday

The Y. W. installation of officers and cabinet was an impressive candleleight service. The old cabinet with lighted candles walked down the aisle with the new cabinet, singing, "Father of Light."

"The two cabinets formed a crescent around the blue triangle emblem of the Y. W. C. A. Katherine Walton, the retiring vice-president, gave the farewell address in the place of Helen Smith, the retiring president who has recently graduated from the college. Her talk expressed the enjoyment and worth received by the old cabinet in the past cabinet. She installed the president-elect, Agnes Crockett. She gave a stirring talk on the spiritual side of college life; she spoke of the Christian character, the students may develop through worthwhile participation in Y. W. projects; she concluded with the thought of Christ and his service to mankind. Each old officer and cabinet member passed the torch on by lighting the candle of her successor. Singing "Follow The Gleam," the two cabinets walked out of the auditorium. The ceremony was closed with Y. W. motto.

S.T.C. Represented At Latin Meeting

Sigma Pi Rho, national honor fraternity in Latin, held its annual national convention at Georgia State College for Women, Milledgeville, Georgia from April 26 to April 28. Lila Jacob, president of the Virginia Alpha chapter, was elected national president for the ensuing year.

Leaving here Thursday morning, April 25, five delegates from the local chapter with Dr. J. E. Walmsley, national counselor, motored to Milledgeville. They broke the trip at Augusta, Georgia by staying Thursday night in the home of Lois Moses. On the trip homeward the party stopped for a brief visit at Winthrop College, Rock Hill, South Carolina, and made a tour through the grounds of Duke University, Durham, North Carolina.

The session of the convention was opened Friday afternoon by a tour of the city and surrounding country and gardens, Friday night, the delegates were present at a concert given by the Mercer University Glee Club. After a tour of the college Saturday morning, the first business session was called to order by Dr. Walmsley in the unavoidable absence of the president, Mr. Joseph Fordyce of Fairmount, West Virginia. Election of officers, reports of committees, and passage of resolutions constituted the business of the second session Saturday. A banquet given in the college tea room concluded the scheduled program, at which time Dr. Daniels, head of the Latin department at G. S. C. W., delivered an address, entitled The Advantages of Classical Study.

Sigma Pi Rho is a professional organization interested in the promulgation of the classics and all the classical education. It endeavors to promote interest in Latin and the teaching of Latin as well as high scholarship

Continued on page 4, col. 1

Registrar Association Honors 'Miss Jennie'

The American Association of Collegiate Registrars honored Miss Jennie Tabb and passed resolutions to her memory at their annual convention held in Raleigh, North Carolina, on April 16, 17, 18.

Miss Tabb was a faithful and loyal worker in the Association of Registrars. Last year she attended the annual convention which was held in Cincinnati.

This year, Miss Virgilia Bugg, who is now registrar of Farmville State Teachers College, attended the annual convention of registrars in Raleigh.

Following is a copy of the Resolutions that the Association of Registrars passed in memory of Miss Tabb.

Whereas, since our last meeting, this Association has lost through death our dearly beloved friend and member Jennie Masters Tabb, who for thirty years had been Registrar and Secretary to the President of the State Teachers College at Farmville, Virginia and,

Whereas, her passing is a great loss to all who numbered her among their friends and associates, therefore be it

Resolved, that the American Association of Collegiate Registrars enter in its records our recognition of the services and contributions of Jennie Masters Tabb to the Welfare of our Association and the institution which she served, our deep regret at her passing.

Smith and Council Installed Tuesday

Hazel Smith, the president of the student body, with the newly-elected Student body, was installed Tuesday night April 23rd. Agnes Crockett, the president of the Y. W., and the Y. W. Cabinet, were installed Wednesday night, April 24. These two installations were the most inspiring ceremonials held on campus this year.

After the old and new Student Councils, singing the Alma Mater, had marched upon the stage, the Rev. Mr. Gardner of the Presbyterian church gave the invocation. Jestine Cutshall, the retiring president, gave her farewell address. In her talk, she thanked the student body, the faculty, the administration, and the home department for their splendid co-operation during the past year. She expressed the purpose and ideal of the student government in the college—to develop well-rounded citizenship through cultural, educational and social contacts and training. Lastly, she passed her cap and gown on to the president-elect, Hazel Smith, as she was sworn into office.

Hazel Smith gave a visionary talk of the plans of the student government for the coming year. She spoke of the high hopes and ideals of the recently elected student government and their co-operation with the college. Her central thought was the progressive life the campus offers throughout the school years, the improvement of organizations in attaining higher standards. She installed the new officers and council; Vice-President, Lucy Potter; Secretary, Bonnie Lane;

Continued on page 4, col. 3

Forensic Fraternity Issues Bids to Four

Pi Kappa Delta, national forensic fraternity, has issued bids to the following girls: Gertrude Levy, Dudley Allen, Louise Francis, and Catherine Crews.

Gertrude Levy, a freshman, has represented S. T. C. this year in two oratorical contests, one at Hickory, North Carolina, and the other at Randolph Macon College, Lynchburg. She was the winning speaker at the Southern Atlantic Forensic Tournament in Hickory. Gertrude is a member of the Dramatic Club and of Alpha Phi Sigma, and has made an outstandig scholarship record since she has been in college.

Dudley Allen is also a freshman. She has taken part in eight inter-collegiate debates this year and has won four of the eight. This is a debating record worthy of commendation for a freshman.

Louise Francis, a junior, has taken part in nine intercollegiate debates and won four of the nine. Louise transferred from Radford S. T. C. to Farmville this year. This was her first year of inter-collegiate debating. Besides her debating work she is a member of the College Choir.

Catherine Crews, a sophomore, has taken part in three intercollegiate debates and won two of the three. This was also Catherine's first year of debating in college.

Membership in Pi Kappa Delta is open to only those girls who have shown outstanding ability in the forensic field and also a willingness to work perseveringly. The work of Pi Kappa Delta is closely correlated with that of the Debate Club. Membership in the Fraternity is the outgrowth of good work in the Debate Club.

Heads Student Government

HAZEL SMITH, Roanoke, Virginia is the newly elected head of the Student Government Association for next year. She was installed in office last Thursday.

Association of Social Science Holds Meet At William & Mary

"Economic and Social Security" was the general subject of the ninth annual meeting of the Virginia Social Science Association held at the College of William and Mary on April 26 and 27. Miss Florence Stubbs represented Farmville at the meeting.

Miss Stubbs, who has introduced a course in Child Welfare at Farmville gave an outline of the course before the sociology section of the meeting. After emphasizing the need of children today and the function of the school in taking care of this need, Miss Stubbs explained the purpose of such a course in a teachers college, the type of work done and the scope of the course.

At the business meeting held Friday afternoon in the Wren Building officers for the ensuing year were named. A. G. Taylor of William and Mary College was elected association president; Miss Florence Stubbs, Farmville State Teachers College, vice-president; Dr. R. H. Barker, of the state labor department, secretary-treasurer.

Dr. William E. Garnett of Virginia Polytechnic Institute spoke on, "Economic and Social Security for Rural Children." Nearly two-thirds of Virginia's children are living in rural districts, therefore their welfare is of paramount importance to the future

Continued on page 4, col. 1

Farrar Is President Of Honor Fraternity

Margaret Farrar was elected president of Pi Gamma Mu at a meeting of the Virginia Gamma chapter held last night.

Doris Coates was elected vice-president; Mary Elizabeth Wood as secretary; Winnie Frances Eubank a treasurer; Grace Bass as Alumnae - Secretary; Elizabeth Walton as reporter.

The fraternity also elected Birdie Wooding, active president, as a delegate to the Second Annual Conference of the Virginia Association of International Relations Clubs to be held at Washington and Lee University on May 3 and 4.

Definite plans for the regional convention of the Virginia chapters of the fraternity to be held here next Friday and Saturday were discussed.

Annual May Fete ToBeAt Longwood Saturday, May 4

Cutshall and McClure Reign As Lord And Lady

BEGINS AT 5 P. M.

The annual May Day program will be held Saturday, May 4, on the outdor stage at Longwood. This year the celebrators depict the story of Merry Mount as told by Nathaniel Hawthorne in "The Maypole of Merry Mount."

The settlers of Merry Mount hold forth in great revelry when suddenly the stern Puritans, disturbed at their worship, burst upon the scene, intent upon the destruction of so corrupting an influence. However, the grim Puritan, Bradford, is touched by the sweetness and the beauty of the Lady of May. Awakening from a dream of the lure of May Day, he gives in to the enticements of the Merry Mount frolickers, thus reconciling jollity and gloom.

The story is divided into five parts: Prologue, Strife at Merry Mount, Bradford's Dream, Coronation of the Lady of May, and the Epilogue. Jean McClure is the May Queen, finally crowned with the wholehearted sanction of the Puritans. Her bold, brave Lord of May, is Jestine Cutshall.

Mrs. Fitzpatrick is directing the celebration, assisted by Miss Iler, Miss Wheeler, Miss Tupper, Miss Barlow, Miss Bedford, Miss Peck and Miss Jennings.

The chief committee chairmen are: theme, Lena MacGardner; business, Phyllis Ferguson; dances, Evelyn Knaub; music, Dorothy Wise; costuming was managed by a group of girls in the home economics department.

Cavalier Delights Farmville Hearers

The Cavalier of the Richmond Times-Dispatch proved as delightfully startling in person as his column is provoking. Introduced by Florence Sanford, editor of the Rotunda through whose efforts he was brought to S. T. C., Mr. Thomas Lomax Hunter fired his opening shot last Wednesday night to an audience which crowded the small auditorium, when he said, "I know nothing at all of news papers." Continuing, Mr. Hunter remarked on the responsibilities placed on us by the invention of the printing press, since our opinions of today are formed primarily by newspapers.

The hearts of his audience were won as the Cavalier expounded his philosophy of life. A likeable, personable man should have "Just enough vice to make him nice, and just enough virtue not to hurt yuh." In his whimsical, epigrammatic way the Secretary of Labour," Mr. Hunter smiled as if to admire his listeners to take his advice with a grain of salt.

In the open forum discussion which followed Mr. Hunter proved himself a master of repartee and was as interestingly shocking as ever when he declared that "intimate association with a thorough bred horse would be a fine thing for some Virginians."

Afterwards the Rotunda staff gave an informal reception for

Continued to page 4 col. 2

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Published by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

MEMBER
Associated Collegiate Press
1934 Collegiate Digest 1935

Staff

Florence Sanford ..... Editor
Agnes Bondurant ..... Associate Editor
Evelyn Massey ..... Business Manager

Board of Editors

Miss Jane Royall ..... Alumnae
Katherine Hoyle ..... Make-up
Susan Gresham ..... Headlines
Emma Bingham ..... Literary
Bess McGlothlin, Margaret Farrar, Mary Adeline McGlothlin ..... Editorials
Claire Eastman ..... World News
Margaret Fraley ..... Socials
Kathleen Ranson ..... Sports

Proof Readers

Elizabeth Walton Dorothy Deans

Managers ....

Elsie Cabell ..... Circulation
Ruth Phelps ..... Asst. Circulation
Louise Gathright ..... Asst. Circulation

Assistants and Reporters

Elizabeth Morris, Virginia Agee, Mary Joyner Cox, Alice Nelson, Amis Montgomery, Claudia Harper, Minnie Smith, Elizabeth Carroll, Willis Scott, Bonnie Lane.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 1, 1935

Organizations

In the rush and clamor of extra-curricula activities, we feel that the importance and honor of scholarship has lost too much of its worthwhile prestige. It is not our intention to speak against the student activities of the institution; their influence is one of the most broadening and uplifting on the campus, though its program does have its weaknesses.

We are speaking in favor and in behalf of the honor societies of our college. After all, our education is the main point of consideration. In spite of the fact that our campus is burdened almost to extinction with organization, the suggestion of adding another is now of serious consideration.

Organization is a powerful means of progress. The important development however, is specialized organization. It is the belief in this theory which is leading us to advocate the founding of an honor society in English on our campus. The need for some recognition of splendid accomplishment in this field and an instrument for encouragement and development is felt by the students.

A faculty committee and a committee from the group of interested students are engaged in investigating the situation and preparing a suggested plan of procedure to you. Give the matter your attention; by your interest and suggestions we feel certain that some solution valuable to our students and to our college will be found.

Our Present Problem

"In the Spring a young man's fancy lightly turns toward thoughts of love"—and young maidens' towards dating on the campus. Every Spring S. T. C. has this situation to guard against. It seems to be a contagious sort of thing that arrives with the first evidences of Spring. Why is this such a problem—why is this undesirable? It is not because of the "rightness" or the "wrongness" of the act that a rule has been made against it. It is true that the campus provides a more pleasant and a more desirable atmosphere on warm balmy nights than does the "Rec," but have we stopped to seriously consider the results of continuous dating on the campus? If S. T. C. were situated in the country, or farther from the main highway where the eyes of tourists and the town's people were not so observing, dating on the campus, with regulations, might be made possible. We should realize that our campus and its appearance is the first way by which outsiders form an impression of our college. This estimation, whether high or low, lies entirely in the hands of the students, not with the administration. When the impression of our patrons has such a vital effect on the future of S. T. C. and its success as a college for young women training to teach and to set examples for the youth of our state, should we not consider this effect carefully, and conduct ourselves accordingly?

Welcome Visitors

On days when visitors come to our campus to observe, many of the girls who are teaching in the training school declared, "I just can't teach with those strangers in my room. "Other girls who are not teaching laughed and said, "Well, I'm glad they are not observing the classes in the college, because I haven't looked at a lesson."

It is foolish for us to let visitors frighten us. They come to our college, not necessarily to criticize, but to learn and to give helpful suggestions. If the student teachers have planned their lessons well they have nothing to fear. And, the students who haven't looked at a lesson should have criticism.

Let us always welcome visitors to our campus and classes, and instead of losing our nerve in their faces, let us become stronger and better teachers by their helpfulness.

Dear Editor:

That the out-going Rotunda Staff has made a large contribution to the school is a fact. The old members of the staff put new life into our college paper. They wrote in better style than had been customary; thev decreased the mistakes of type; and they printed all the news that was appropriate.

The editor and other chief officers of the old staff, as well as faculty advisers, especially deserve the thanks and commendation of the school for such splendid work.

This work should be a challenge to the new staff to carry these improvements still further. The schools expects this of you. Don't disappoint your Alma Mater!

—A Student

In a few short weeks, jubilant Greek royalists may see ex-King George II back on the throne he lost 12 years ago. Should the elections return a loyalist majority, former government officials and royalists have laid plans to form a government such as England has now. George's dynasty was deposed and its members exiled in 1923 when he was suspected of participating in an unsuccessful counter-revolution. A republic resulted.

Former secretary of state, Henry L. Stimson in a speech before the American Society of International Law said that only by cooperation could the United States remain aloof from an international conflict. Changed conditions in the modern world have made it impossible for any one nation to isolate itself from international conflicts as nations have attempted to do in the past.

France and Russia smoothed out the last rough spots in their proposed mutual military assistance pact and it is confidently expected the agreement will be initiated. A virtual military alliance linking the two pre-war allies, the new agreement promises France the help of Russia's huge red army and Russia the aid of France's blue-uniformed police in the event either is attacked. It is designed to "backstop" the League of Nations and bolter the security of the two nations in the face of Adolph Hitler's "regenerated" German army. The pact was hailed "as a long step on the road" back to the close pre-war relations of France and Russia.

Our entire school has become a unit! Even chapel is a series of activities not carried on by the preacher.

Among Our Caps and Gowns

HELEN SMITH

—Courtesy of News-Leader

When Helen Smith graduated at the end of the winter quarter S. T. C. lost one of the most capable and prominent members of the Senior class. She was a most lovable girl as well, and has hosts of friends here.

As a freshman, Helen was a member of the Freshman Commission. She belonged also to the choir of the college. She was a member of the Student's Sandards Committee, and of Pi Kappa Delta.

In her sophomore year, Helen was chairman of the Freshman commission. She did outstanding and brilliant work as a varsity debater in Pi Kappa Delta. She was also on the membership committee of the Y. W. C. A.

In her junior year, Helen, was president of Kappa Delta Pi. She was also a class representative on the government. The honor of being elected to membership in Alpha Kappa Gamma was also conferred upon her that year.

Helen is also a member of the Cotillion club. In her senior year she held one of the five mayor offices—that of president of the Y. W. C. A.

Helen has been a most valuable and essential member of the student body for four years. As we can see from the above she has interested herself in, and excelled in a variety of school activities. It is with sorrow that we see her go.

Alumnae News

Beckham-Levick

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Alban Levick of Norfolk announce the marriage of their daughter, Elizabeth Bolsom, to Mr. Samuel Royall Beckham of Farmville, on Saturday, April 13.

Banquet Held at Culpeper

The Alumnae of Culpeper held their annual Spring Banquet at the Spinning Wheel at 6:30 p. m. on April 26. The twenty-five alumnae had as their guests from the college Dr. Jarman, Miss Winnie Hiner, Mrs. Mildred Davis (President of General Alumnae Association), Jestine Cutshall and Jane Royall. After the banquet the group had a delightful social hour at the home of Mrs. Waverley Jefferson, formerly Anna Minter.

Richmond Chapters Have Joint Meeting

The Joseph L. Jarman and the Richmond Chapters of Farmville Alumnae had a joint business meeting on April 26 at 4:30 o'clock. Miss Mix enjoyed their enthusiastic meeting with them and told them of the recent happenings of the college.

Amherst Alumnae Meet

On Saturday, April 27, at the Parish House, the Amherst Alumnae had a chapter meeting to which high school girls of Amherst County were invited. The guests from Farmville were: Dr. Jarman, Mrs. Davis, Miss Camper, Miss Jennings, Miss Royall, Dr. Jeffers, Mr. French, Sara Beck, Frances McDaniel, Kathryn Walton, Hazel Smith, and Laeta Barham. After the meeting the chapter and guests were entertained at the home of the Misses Gregory.

Review of the News

Foreign diplomats and the whole world are more than excited over those reports that Germany has disregarded the Versailles treaty again by actually beginning the construction of submarines. (The Versailles treaty limited the German navy to 6 battle ships, 6 cruisers, 12 destroyers, and 12 torpedo boats; submarines were inadmissible for commercial purposes). Inquiries have been flying to the Reichwehr army (ministry) and foreign office.

Hitler appears nonchalant about open opposition and continues with zeal and enthusiasm his military conscription. Some of the world is inclined to think that this is a rather good beginning for a New Navy since they are cheaper than any other seaarms—We wonder what the other part of the world thinks of it.

From all reports vital steps will be taken by Great Britain, France, and Italy, the Stresa contestants.

Everyone is wondering whether Rumania's scheme to become the strongest military power of South Western Europe and Balkans is going to be successful. King Carol and his council displayed their favor when his council signed a contract with the Skoda Munitions Works of Czechoslavakia to supply Rumania with ammuniton and artillery with a value of $26,000,00. Even Premier Tatarescu supports it with praise and the former commander of the Rumanian army said the plan was "heroic"—

Rotunda Reverberations

Now that Easter has come and gone, everyone has begun settling down and holding their breaths until school is out. (Here's hoping they don't hold it too long.)

New dresses, new shoes, new bonnets—the Easter bunny was certainly good to everyone! "The Easter Parade" was a week late here at S. T. C., but we appreciate it all the same.

S. T. C. went; S. T. C. saw; S. T. C. conquered! We wonder what V. P. I. looks like after the week-end.

Strange as it may seem, quite a few rooms on the different halls have rather an empty appearance since last Tuesday night. Funny, isn't it? It's also funy how new faces have begun to appear in Shannon's, and quite a few old ones aren't seen as frequently. That is, after all, rather tragic!

One can get an eyeful of an amateur Palm Beach if one takes the trouble to climb the steps to third floor Main. On any hot day the roof is filled with girls—nothing but girls! One gets dizzy looking at the sea of backs—pretty backs, bony backs, ugly backs, backs backs—

"In the springtime a young man's fancy lightly turns to love." It's really a shame the moon can't take the place of all these bright lights. The campus is a perfect setting for romance, but the glaring light spoils it all.

We wonder when the penalty of "campus" will be inflicted on people who are guilty of going to town on their chewing gum or those who love to slyly knit.

Is there anything as pretty as a young girl in a fresh, fluffy, frilly frock? Maybe so—but isn't it swell to be in ginghams again and out of woolens?

From all reports the Sigma Chi picnic at Longwood Monday night was quite a success.

And speaking of successes, let's make our May Day one of the greatest! On to Longwood—

New Orleans, LaL (NSFA) — One hundred delegates representing thirty-five member colleges in the NFSA Southern and Southeastern regions met in New Orleans under the auspices of Tulane University and Sophie Newcomb College to discuss student government and publications.

Literary Column

"The Happy Heart"

"Art thou poor, yet hast thou golden slumbers?
O sweet content!
Atr thou rich, yet is thy mind perplexed?
O punishment!
Dost thou laugh to see how fools are vexed
To add to golden numbers, golden numbers?
O sweet content! O sweet, O sweet content!
Work apace, apace, apace, apace;
Honest labour bears a lovely face;
Then hey nonny nonny, hey nonny nonny!

Canst drink the waters of the crisped spring?
O sweet content!
Swimm'st thou in wealth, yet sink'st in thine own tears?
O punishment!
Then he that patiently work's burden bears
No burden bears, but is a king, a king!
O sweet content! O sweet, O sweet, O sweet content!
Work apace, apace, apace, apace;
Thus let me live, unseen, unknown;
Thus unlamented let me die;
Steal from the world, and not a stone.

—Tell Where I Lie.
—Thomas Dekker.

"Wish"

Mine be a cot beside the hill;
A bee hive's hum shall soothe my ear;
A willowy brook that turns a mill,
With many a fall shall linger near.
The swallow, oft, beneath my thatch,
Shall twitter from her clay-built nest;
Oft shall the pilgrim lift the latch,
And share my meal, a welcome guest.

Around my wild porch shall spring
Each fragrant flower that drinks the dew;
And Lucy, at her wheel, shall sing
In russet gown and apron blue.

The village church among the trees,
Where first our marriage-vows were given,
With merry peals shall swell the breeze
And point with taper spine to Heaven.
A limpid fountain near.

Would more substantial joys afford,
More real bliss impart
Thou all the wealth that misers hoard,
Then vanquished worlds or worlds restored—
Mere cankers of the heart!

—Samuel Rodgers

RICHARD CORY

Whenever Richard Cory went down town,
We people on the pavement looked at him:
He was a gentleman from sole to crown,
Clean favored, and imperially slim.

And he was always quietly arrayed,
And he was always human when he talked;
But still he fluttered pulses when he said,
"Good-morning," and he glittered when he walked.

And he was rich—yes, richer than a king—
And admirably schooled in every grace:
In fine, we thought that he was every thing
To make us wish that we were in his place.

So on we worked, and waited for the light,
And went without the meat, and cursed the bread;
And Richard Cory, one calm summer night,
Went home and put a bullet through his head.

SOCIALS

In spite of the recent holiday many girls spent the past week-end away. Several girls attended dances at various colleges:

Mary Bowles, accompanied by Raleigh Powell, led the ring figure at V. P. I. Martha Hamlet, Lucille Rhodes, Anne Johnson, Elizabeth Smith, Blanche Kahn, Henrietta Salisbury, Florence Tankard, and Marion Pond also participated in the figure.

The following girls attended dances at University of Virginia:

Kitty Bass, Sallie Perrow, Jean Willis, Lucille Moseley, Dorothy Deans, Anne Peple, Lucy Potter, and Frances Woodhouse.

Anne Irving, Mary Gilmer, Frances Parker, Carter Belle Munt, and Winnie Goodman attended the dances at Washington and Lee this week-end.

Those who went home were:

Carmen Clark, Kitty Chappell, Nancy Dodd, Lucy Baylor, Dorothy Harris, Mary French, D. Glover, Audrey Hawthorne, Doris Moore, Edna Harvey, Frances Johnson, Lila Jacob, Evelyn Knaub, Belle Lovelace, Clintis Mattox, Elizabeth Mann, Virginia Martin, Amis Montgomery, Mary Elizabeth Minor, Lois Moses, Zilla Newsom, Mary Jane Pendleton, Pauline Pearson, Nell Oakey Ryan, Charlotte Rice, Marjorie Robertson, Clara Sizemore, Elizabeth Shiplett, Elise Turner, Nannie Page Trent, Elizabeth Trent, Mary Alice Wood, Brooks Wheeler, Charlotte Young, Doris Johnson, Mary Lynn Thomas, Minnie Smith, Nancy Beard, Virginia Brown, Rebecca Cousins, and Edith Hatcher.

Molly Fletcher had as her guests at her home in Blackstone Frances and Virginia Tilman and Frances Kent.

At other places:

June Allen in Portsmouth, Ethel Burgess in Fork Union, Lucy Baylor in Charlottesville, Jestine Cutshall in Roanoke, Elsie Cabell and Jean McClure in Richmond, Elsie Mayo in Goldsboro, N. C., Dorothy Price in Kenbridge, and Margaret Herndon in Dilwyn.

Misses London Are Hostesses At Informal Tea Friday

The Misses London received informally in their garden Friday from four to six for the faculty and administrative officers of the college and a few other friends. Tulips, wisteria, dogwood, and apple trees furnished a lovely setting for a delightful occassion. Miss Alice Carter and Miss Lucile Jennings assisted by Martha McCorkle, Louise McCorkle, and Jane Lee Hutcheson served punch.

Sigma Chi Fraternity Has Picnic at Longwood Monday

The Sigma Chi Fraternity of Hampden-Sydney had a picnic at Longwood on Monday afternoon. It was chaperoned by Dr. and Mrs. Bell of Hampden - Sydney and Dr. and Mrs. Allen. Girls from S. T. C. who went were: Misses Louise Hyde, Edna Earl Harvey, Elsie Green, Julia Ann Waldo, Sallie Perrow, Livian Powell, Betty Scott, Marjorie Robertson, Madeline and Bess McClothlin, Nancy Pobst, Mary Jane Pendleton, Bonnie Lane, Laeta Barham, Dot Robertson, Katherine Harvey, Lucille Davis, Virginia Agee, Libby Morris and Margaret Fraley.

Chapel and Student Day Committees Are Appointed

Victoria Gillette has been appointed as chairman of the Chapel Committee and Billy Wilkerson as chairman of the Student's Day Committee.

The Chapel Committee is as follows: Jack Johnson, Marie Moore, Polly Ware, Jennie Belle Gilliam, Marjorie Woolfolk, Mary Joyner Cox, and Virginia Agee.

The Students Day Committee has the following members: Dorothy Wise, Sue Waldo, Elizabeth Morris, and Margaret Fraley.

Among Our Alumni

"When I was there," writes Betty C. Wright, of the Class of 1909, "my hearing was very keen and I could always hear . . . . Miss Mary White coming down the hall! But—for the last ten years my hearing has been gradually getting worse until now I have very little left. I don't like to dwell on the first years of my approaching deafness because the readjustment period was very bitter. It is all over now and my deafness has enabled me to engage in a wonderful work. I read the lips and use a hearing device and carry on as usual. Some very beautiful friendships have come to me because of my handicap and I have been given some glorious soul glimpses. I have had the pleasure of teaching lip-reading to a large number of soldiers deafened in War and to hundreds of other deafened people. I have spoken before many audiences in many cities in the North, South, East, and West, pleading for hard-of-hearing children in the public schools. If you have time to give the members of the class a message from me, tell them that if they know of any hard-of-hearing persons in need of advice to write to us, and we will help them. Our organization has three great aims, the conservation of hearing, the prevention of deafness, and the rehabilitation of the deafened."

"Of old the blind bard Herve sang so sweet
He made a wolf to plow his land."

And Betty Wright has gone further. She has made her wolf not only "harrow all her spirit's glebe" but has put him to work for other people as well. She is now executive secretary of The American Federation of Organizations For the Hard of Hearing, Inc., with headquarters at 1601 35th street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

This is an organization to head up all the efforts being made in this country to make life easier and happier for the deaf. It has as its aim "To act in the national and international fields of social work for the deafened; to encourage the founding of local organizations; to properly carry on national propaganda in the interests of the deafened and in the prevention of deafess." Miss Wright's position in this work is a strategic one, calling not only for executive ability, but for educational vision and training as well. For her work has to be carried on mainly through teaching, both with individuals and with the public. It is in this way that her training at Farmville and her years of experience as a teacher in Virginia schools has stood her in good stead.

She writes: "I have often thought I would like to go back to Farmville and ask Dr. Jarman if I might speak to the young teachers going out to serve in the public schools. All of these teachers will eventually have some hard-of-hearing children in their classes, and I should like to be one of the the "prophets crying in the wilderness" for these handicapped children."

It may be a little hard to realize Farmville as "the wilderness," but we are always glad to hear from the prophets — especially from those who may think of S. T. C. as their own country. And we say most heartily to Betty Wright, "Come back and tell us about your work. All honor to you!"

De-Ho-Ec Club Entertains Farmville Alumnae Assn.

The Alumnae Asciation of Farmville was entertained with a tea given in the Student Building Lounge on Tuesday afternoon by the Home Economics Club.

Guests came and left at their leisure between the hours of four-thirty and six o'clock. They were greeted at the door by Miss Bessie H. Jetter, professor of home economics, and Miss Elizabeth Ware, president of the Home Economics Club.

Miss Irene Leake, accompanied by Louise Hyde, sang several selections during the course of the afternoon. Miss Jeter and Miss Ware were assisted by members of the Home Economics Club.

I AM MUSIC

Servant and master am I; servant of those dead, and master of those living. Through me spirits immortal speak the message that makes the world weep, and laugh, and wonder and worship.

I tell the story of love, the story of hate, the story that saves, and the story that damns. I am the incense upon which prayers float to Heaven. I am the smoke which palls over the field of battle when men lie dying with me on their lips.

I am close to the marriage altar, and when the grave opens I stand nearby. I call the wanderer home, I rescue the soul from the depths, I open the lips of lovers, and through me the dead whispers to the living.

One I serve as I serve all; and the king I make my slave as easily as I subject his slave. I speak through the birds of the air, the insects of the field, the crash of waters on rock-ribbed shores, the sighing of wind in the trees, and I am ever heard by the soul that knows me in the clatter of wheels on city streets.

I know no brother, yet all men are my brothers; I am the father of the best that is in them, and they are fathers of the best that is in me; I am of them, and they are of me. For I am the instrument of God.

. . . I am Music.—Selected.

The very latest fad at S. T. C. seems to be quite sensational. Directions: First part your hair horizontally about two inches above your forhead. Next cut your hair real short and then curl it. What you curl it with makes no difference as long as it frizzes. Results: the most dazzling hair cut of the season—which to other people looks like the very bad results of a barber's first attempt.

It's warm now, and the roof is gaining in popularity, but, oh, the touchy backs and dry throats around school! Gee, some ice-tea would be grand!

Now that really does make us have spring-fever. Easter is past and there is a whole month before vacation. And just think, there are exams to take soon—so soon. But, just think how lost we'd feel if we didn't have something to which we could look forward.

And that reminds us that after all we like the busy pleasure of our college life no matter how much we may growl. We love to meet old college chums during vacation; we love to make new friends in September, and, oh, the happy memories we carry with us after that June graduation which is ours. Honestly, aren't we proud of being a student at Farmville? and we know our Alma Mater is proud of us.

Spring brings such vagrant thoughts!

Spring doesn't seem to have the usual lazy effect on S. T. C. students since Easter that it did before. Everyone who hasn't a bag of knitting has bits of colored material that look very strange. But, of course they're parts of May Day costumes. After a week-end free of practice, every May Day participant is scurrying about, frantically arranging for practices, sewing costumes, studying, and altogether leading a "fast" life, and they love it, honestly.

Besides May Day we think of Spring in terms of songs, sweethearts and — strawberries. We wonder where they are?

Radio Highlights

Wednesday

6:30—WABC — Candelori Orchestra.
6:45—WJZ—Lowell Thomas.
7:00—WEAF—Tucker Orch.
7:30—WOR—Studio Music.
8:00—WJZ—Kemp Orch.
8:15—WABC—Edwin C. Hill.
8:30—WEAF—Wayne King.
9:00 — WEAF — Van Steeden Orch.
10:00—WEAF—Lombardo Orch.
10:30—WEAF—Ray Noble Orch.
11:00—WJZ—Hall Orch.

Thursday

6:30—WJZ—Press Radio News.
6:45—WJZ—Lowell Thomas.
7:00—WEAF—Marvey Orch.
7:30—WOR—The Street Singer
8:00—WEAF—Rudy Vallee.
9:00—WABC—Gray Orch.
10:00 — WEAF — Whiteman's Music Hall.
10:30—WJZ—Mrs. F. D. Roosevelt, Secretary of the Inter, H. L. Ickes, Gen'l. Swope, Pres. G. E. Co., speaking at Women's International League Dinner, Washington, D. C.
11:00—WJZ—Stern Orch.

Friday

6:45—WJZ—Lowell Thomas.
7:00—WEAF—Biecher Orch
8:00—WEAF—Bourdon Orch.
8:15—WJZ—Morton Downey.
8:30—WJZ—Nichols Orch.
9:00—WEAF—Lyman Orch.
10:00—WJZ—Rolfe Orch.
11:00—WJZ—Tucker Orch.

Saturday

6:30—WABC—Woodworth Orch.
7:30—WABC—Arden Orch.
8:00—WEAF—Heyton Orch.
9:00—WEAF—Music Week Program.
9:30—WEAF—Al Jolson, Young Orch., Lupe Velez.
10:00—WOR—Dance Orch.
10:30—WJZ—Coakley Orch.

New "Floating University" Tour For This Summer

LOS ANGELES, Calif., (NSFA) —Studying while they travel, 40 young men and women will set sail June 29 from Los Angeles harbor on the E. L. Doheny yacht, Casiana, for a 10-months cruise around the world. Dr. Fredrick P. Woollner, professor of Education at U. C. L. A. has been appointed chancellor.

A regular university curriculum will be taught on shipboard by eight distinguished professors from leading American universities. Credit will be earned for two semesters in such fields as social science, art, modern languages, literature, and other subjects.

An extensive itinerary is to be followed, including: Japan, China, Philippines, Indo-China, Siam, India, Italy, Ireland, Scotland, Norway, Denmark, Germany, Holland, Belgium, England, France, Portugal, Canary Islands, Bermuda, Bahamas, Cuba, Panama, Galapagos Islands and Mexico.

Study will continue ashore. Twenty great foreign universities stretched across the world will be visited. Classes and lectures conducted in English will be attended, an arrangement never before achieved.

Going Away? . . . . . .

Travel by

GREYHOUND

Safe—Comfortable—Economical

WILLIS
The Florist
Flowers for all occasions
PHONES 181-273

S. A. Legus
TAILOR
CLEANING
PRESSING
REPAIRING
Phone 203

PRINTING . . . . .
When you think of Printing think of
—The—
FARMVILLE HERALD

GOOD NEWS! A New Camera has been installed this week. Clearer, brighter and better pictures. Four pictures four poses 10c

LLovely Summer Shoes—in white, white and brown, high, low and medium heels—straps, ties and zippers. Prices $1.95 $2.95 and $3.85
THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE
Farmville's Best Place to Shop!

—FOR—
EVERYTHING—SCHOOL SUPPLIES, CANDIES, FRUITS, CONFECTIONS, ETC.
GO TO . . . . .
GILLIAM'S
Open 'till 9:00 p. m.

ARE YOU INTERESTED?
JACKETS of Grain and Suede Cloth and Wool SWEATERS.
We are showing the season's newest. Come in. We are glad to show—Just what we have—and the line is very attractive.
VERSER'S

C. E. Chappell Co.
Stationery, Blank Books and School Supplies
Cigars, Cigarettes and Soda
Farmville, Virginia

Rice's Shoe Store
Street and Dress Shoes
Dancing Slippers Dyed
Correct fits our specialty

Kleanwell
CLEANERS AND TAILORS
Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling ladies garments
Main Street, opposite Post office
Phone 98

Gray's Drug Store
QUALITY—PRICE—SERVICE
Come in and Get Acquainted
We are glad to have you with us!
Farmville, Virginia

Mack's
BARBER AND BEAUTY SHOP
323 Main Street
We use the Frederick Method
Hair cutting and thinning a Specialty

PHILCO RADIO
World's largest manufacturers of Radio
A complete line
Watch repairing a specialty
Sheet Music—Strings for Instruments
LYNN, The Main Street Jeweler

YOUR NEIGHBOR,
The Weyanoke Beauty Salon
Invites you to drop in and take advantage of their Special prices now in effect.
Permanent Waves—$4 & $6 Shampoo & Fingerwave 75 cents
Manicure 40 cents
Indiivdual, courteous, efficient service and an established reputation for dependability and satisfaction. That is our guarantee, and your assurance of perfect workmanship.

Volley Ball Games End With Victory

By defeating the juniors in two out of three hard fought volley-ball games Wednesday, April 17, the sophomores added 10 more points on the color cup for the green and whites. The first game ended in a victory for the juniors, 16—10.

Just to show that they are quite capable of turning the trick when exigencies demand it, the sophomores fired away and won the next two games: the first score, 11 to 9; the other, 18 to 8.

The line-up:

Juniors—Sophomores.

Ranson, K. (Capt.)—Anderson, M. L. (Capt.)

Juniors ..... Sophomores

Ranson, K. (Capt.) .....
Anderson, M. L. (Capt.)

Kern, R. .....Mann, B.

Walker, L. .....Jenkins, L.

Harrison, M. .....Bradshaw, M.

Sanford, E. .....Grainger, A.

Masesy, E. .....Carter, I. S.

Acworth, V.

Parker, I.

Howell, E.

Both the juniors and sophomores defeated the freshmen Tuesday, April 16. The freshmen played hard, but they were not able to win from the more experienced upperclassmen. The score of the freshman — sophomore game was 14 to 12 and 11 to 9; the freshmen—junior game, 17 to 5.

The Freshman line-up:

Mann, E. (Capt.)

Bailey, K.

Phelps, R.

Thomas, M.

Chappell, I.

McAllister, M.

Burks, M.

Young, J. L.

Assn. of Social Science Holds W. & M. Meet

Continued from page one

of the state. Dr. Garnett said that a fair income is absolutely necessary to give children desirable home surroundings and social security. He declared that most of the rural families of the state do not have this income. He expressed confidence that the people of the country will meet the issue squarely and decide the matter intelligently.

Famous Educator Speaks On Negro

Continued from page one

stitution, granting citizenship to the negro, have never been really carried out and by the treatment of the negro in the North. The negro did not expect equality in the South, but he did expect more in the North than he has received, the speaker said.

The hope of the negro in America, said Dr. Hancock, does not lie in communism nor social equality but in education of a practical nature—education for making a living when the white people give him a chance. His hope, he said further, lies not in the North but in the South—a new South which is arising that will give the negro a chance.

S. T. C. Represented At Latin Convention

Continued from page one

in this field and is especially concerned that the Latin teachers all over the nation keep pace with the progressive methods and content advocated in new educational curricular programs. At a time when the New Curriculum of the State of Virginia is foremost in the minds of all teachers and prospective teachers here, the following resolutions, especially the third, cannot fail to be of interest:

New York (NSFA)—J. Burke Knapp, Rhodes scholar at St. John's College, Oxford, is the first American applicant for participation in the International University Games to be held in Budapest this summer from August 10 to 18.

NSFA has formally nominated Burke to represent the U. S. in the free-style swimming sprints and the 100 metre breast-storke event.

New Athletic Council Takes Office Oath

Clad in pure white and representing the outgoing and incoming athletic councils, fourteen girls marched down the center aisle to the stage to the tune of our athletic song, "Onward Farmville." The girls took their places and remained standing while Mr. Gardner, of the Presbyterian church, delivered the invocation. He reminded us that "God grew physically, as well as mentally," and showed how the Athletic Association, in the main, represents the physical side of life.

Sarah Beck, retiring president of the A. A., welcomed the new council, and expressed her appreciation of the co-operation and help of the student body during the past year. Sarah gave the oath of office to Louise Waimsley, the incoming president, who spoke a few words of the trust and expectations of the students. She prophesied a good year, with the help of everyone. Louise gave the oath of office to Kathleen Ranson, incoming vice-president, Frances Hudgins, secretary, and Mary Bowles, treasurer. Katherine Irby, Sue Eastham, Elsie Cabell, and Mary Elizabeth Slater, managers of hockey, basketball, tennis, and minor sports, respectively, took the oath of office.

The recessional was held, again to the tune of "Onward Farmville."

Sport Slants

The baseball class games will be played Thursday and Friday, May 9 and 10. Practices will be held until then. Only eight practices are required to make a class squad. Come on out; here's your chance to add ten more points toward the color cup. Kathleen Ransom, manager, has chosen as her assistant, Marguerite York, a sophomore.

Field and Track

Field and track practices will be held regularly starting Monday, May 6. Frances Yester, manager, has selected Doris Moore as her assistant.

Lacrosse

Miss Iler, an experienced lacrosses player, is rapidly instilling in our athletic girls a love of this fine sport. Miss Iler has had much training and is a most capable coach of our new game here at S. T. C. Listen for announcements concerning practices.

RESOLUTIONS

The Resolutions Committee with Alice Cook as chairman, submitted several resolutions for the advancement of the Latin classics. One of the most important was Be it Resolved . . . . That we favor, in so far as is practical, the use of modern methods in the teaching of Latin and we believe that the use of short and varied drills and the addition of much easy reading and Latin plays, songs and other such devices as may relieve the possble monotony without impairing the soundness of the instruction should be incorporated into the teaching, and that we also favor the formation of Latin Clubs in the high schools.

The Virginia Alpha chapter was represented by Lila Jacob, Doris Moore, Carmen Clark, Claudine O'Brien, and Anne Putney.

Cavalier Delights Farmville Audience

Continued from page one

Mr. Hunter, the staff of the Hampden-Sydney "Tiger," "The Farmville Herald," staff and other invited guests.

At Other Colleges

In the universities in France there are no papers, no athletics, no glee clubs, and no fraternities. It would be discouraging for an American College man to attend one of these institutions. All he could get would be an education.

—V. M. I. Cadet.

In one of our large universities a lie detector has been installed to aid library officials in the recovery of books, and find the value of the various excuses that come into that department. All very modern, no doubt, but the honor system in effect here and at other leading Southern schools is better than any lie detector that may be invented.

—V. M. L. Cadet.

Plans have been completed for the re-enactment of the Battle of Chancellorsville on the seventy-second anniversary of that event May 2, with the cadets of V. M. I. and United States Marines participating as the Federeral and Confederate armies.

In connection with the celebrations, which is being held through the efforts of the National Park Service and the Fredericksburg Battlefield Park Association, Dr. Douglas S. Freeman, Richmond editor, will make two addresses and a nation-wide broadcast, "Roses and Drums" will be given.

—The Ring-tum Phi.

Throughout the collegiate world undergraduates are playing at the grand old American game of politics, and campaign speeches fill the air on every campus. The University of Missouri is doing exceptionally well—an election was held in which 200 more votes were cast than there were students.

—V. M. I. Cadet.

After the most interesting lecture that Thomas Lomax Hunter gave in the little auditorium last Wednesday night, the Rotunda staff gave a tea in his honor in the Student Building Lounge. It was attended by the town people, the students, members of the faculty, and from Hampden-Sydney, by members of the staffs of both the magazine and the Tiger. The tea was for the benefit of those who wished to become better acquainted with Mr. Hunter, and to continue an informal discussion with him.

Smith and Council Installed Tuesday

Continued from page one

Treasurer, Martha Hamlet; Campus League Chairman, Libby Morris; President of House Council, Elizabeth Huse; Senior Representatives, Dorothy Deans and Louise Gathright; Junior Representatives, Claire Eastman and Virginia Leonard; Sophomore Representatives, Marjorie Robinson and Carolyn Upsher. Ex-officio members, Agnes Crockett and Louise Waimsley.

Dr. Jarman closed the service with an impressive speech. He stressed the thought that followship and leadership are the two dominant factors in successful student participation. "The extra-curricular activities, of this college develop the fine womanhood that helps the world, and the world needs this fine type during these turbulent times to give new vigor and confidence to mankind he said; thus, he urged the whole student body to become better citizens of this small community by more enthusiastic participation in the college activity. He concluded by congratulating the newly installed student council and wishing them a sure success during the coming year.

Student Body Hears Part of Music Fete

On Wednesday, April 24, at chapel period Appomattox county under the direction of Mr. Walter J. Payne, Jr., a graduate of S. T. C., Farmville, presented a part of what is to be a county musical festival including a total of 1,200 children.

This fine work is being made possible by Mr. Strick, who planned the unit for the festival and who has worked with the superintendent, teachers, and pupils of Appomattox County to make the program a success.

Realizing the value to children of programs like this, we should encourage such festivals.

Special orders for

Teas and Parties

Try our doughnuts

Foley's Bakery

Third Street

TUSSY

$1.00

Unbelievable!

All this for $1.00? Tussy Powder in that new super-clinging quality, and the new patent non-spill box, full $1.00 size . . . PLUS an introductory Tussy Automatic Lipstick, 50¢ value . . . PLUS a real lamb's wool puff.

All for $1.00!

An ideal offer for the collee girls.

Come in today for yours.

BALDWIN'S

FARMVILLE, VA.

The Schemmel Conservatory of Music

Offers interesting instruction by Artist Teachers, arranged to suit the needs of each pupil. Piano: Elsa Schemmel Fairchild, Marie Schemmel Shroder. Voice: Mattie Spencer Willis. Violin: Richmond Seay of Blackstone College.

Farmville Mfg. Co.

BUILDING MATERIALS

MILLWORK

Farmville, Va.

You Would Love to Have Your Shoes Fixed at

Lovelace Shoe Shop

110 Third Street

ROOM FURNISHINGS

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

CANDIES

ROSES

5-10-25c Store

FARMVILLE, VA.

Overton-Mottley Hdwe. Co.

ELECTRIC GOODS

Tennis Rackets and balls

Roller Skates

EACO THEATRE

Mats. 4 p. m.; Nights 8 p. m.

Adults 25c: Children 15c

Unless otherwise noted

Wed. Betty Boop

FRANKIE THOMAS

in "Oudia's"

"Dog of Flanders"

Thurs, May 2 Our Gang

BUSTER CRABBE

PATRICIA ELLIS

in Damon Runyan's

"Hold 'Em Yale"

Fri., May 3 Musical

RICHARD BARTHELMESS

Gert'de Michael, Helen Mack

Four Hours to Kill

Sat., May 4 News

Shirley Temple

L. Barrymore, Bill Robinson

The Little Colonel

Regular prices

Next Mo.-Tues. May 6-7

Ginger Rogers

William Powell

'Star of Midnight'

Cartoon and News

Adults 25c and 35c

Next We. May 8 Popeye

"Mystery of Edwin Drood"

Shannon's

Is Headquarters for the Best

SANDWICHES

—and—

DRINKS

in Farmville!

Southside Drug Store

(On the Corner)

Films Developed FREE

If bought at this store

Conoco Gas and Oil

Fill up at

Johns Motor Co.

Farmville, Va.

SUPPERS AND SMALL PARTIES

Good Breakfast

Dinners

Suppers

College Tea Room

and

LONGWOOD

Buy Your

C A N D Y

To Sell at

H. T. Stokes & Co.

G. F. Butcher

High Street

"The Convenient Store"

FOR GOOD THINGS

TO EAT AND DRINK

Electric Shoe Shop

Will Fix Your Shoes

While You Wait

BEST WORKMANSHIP

AND LEATHER USED

Martin the Jeweler

Gifts of

Lasting Remembrance

317 Main St. Farmville

POTTED MEATS

SANDWICH SPREAD

SANDWICH ROLLS

HOT DOGS

Everything for the Picnic

W. R. Drumeller

Main Street Farmville

The Fashion Shoppe

Reflects the newest styles. All dresses $2.95 up

COATS, SUITS, DRESSES, UNDERWEAR

Silk Hose
Fine quality ..... 49c 59c and 69c

TWO PIECE LINEN SUITS—They are smart and chic looking. They are lovely at $2.97

Just received a new shipment of navy blue dresses with separate with separate jackets

$5.94 and $7.45

DOROTHY MAY STORES

First to Show the Newest!

FARMVILLE, VA.

MAY DAY IS BIG SUCCESS

The Rotunda

We Teach To Teach

VIRGINIAN BANQUET MAY 8

Volume XV. FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, MAY 8, 1935 No. 28

Honor Fraternity Bids Two Leaders

Alpha Kappa Gamma Recognizes Sanford and Clark

BID ISSUED MAY 1

Alpha Kappa Gamma, national fraternity for leadership, officially recognized two of the most outstanding members of the student body Wednesday night when they issued bids to Lelia Sanford and Margaret Clark. Both of these girls have been particularly outstanding in their work on The Virginian. Lelia served this year as business manager of the publication and has been chosen editor-in-chief of the same for the ensuing year. Margaret acted in the capacity of assistant business manager of the year book this year and has stepped up to business manager on the 1935-'36 staff. Their services have not been confined to work of this type alone for both of them have been outstanding members of their classes and have shown a peculiar interest in life here at S. T. C.

Alpha Kappa Gamma which corresponds to Omicron Delta Kappa in men's colleges has a four-fold purpose, namely: to foster high ideals and set up high standards for those girls who have proven themselves most eminent in constructive leadership among their fellow students; to promote desirable coordination of various college interest, activities and organizations; to preserve the ideals and traditions of the institution; to bring together students and faculty on a basis of mutual interest and understanding and to cooperate with similar organizations among the students.

May Pole of Merry Mount Is Colorful May Day Theme

Favored with ideal weather conditions the annual May Day fete at Farmville State Teachers College proved to be one of the most colorful and finished performances in recent years.

At five o'clock Saturday, May 4, the celebration in the natural amphitheatre at Longwood began and for forty-five minutes an audience of approximately one thousand watched a cast of two hundred college students in their interpretation of Hawthorne's "May Pole of Merry Mount." The sternness of the Puritans, the jollity of the merrymakers, the stealthiness of the Indians, the oddities of the masked dancers and the beauty of it all radiated the quaintness of the story and the beauty of the day.

The program reached a climax when Jean McClure was crowned Queen of May, accompanied by Jestine Cutshall, Lord of May. Clad in costumes of the period, twenty-four lords and ladies of the court heralded the coming of the queen and after the crowning of the lady of the day, danced a minuet before her throne. The ladies of the court were: Wyclif Scott, Kitty Bass, Laeta Barham, Mary Bowles, Louise Floyd, Margaret Farrar, Jennie Belle Gilliam, Ann Irving, Mary Gilmer, Evelyn Knaub, Lucy Potter, and Kitty Roberts. Lords in attendance were: Lelia Sanford, Sara Beck, Phyllis Ferguson, Lena Mae Gardner, Margaret Herndon, Bonnie Lane, Belle Lovelace, Lelia Mattox, Florence Sanford, Helen Shawen, Ruth Showalter, and Nelle Oakey Ryan.

Folk dancers in dainty costumes and costumed dancers of various and sundry kinds created a riot of color and gaiety. All in all May Day was a brilliant success and before dismissing the subject a vote of thanks should be extended

Continued on page 4, col. 1

Editor of Annual Announces Staff Banquet Is May 8

Lelia Sanford, editor of the 1936 Virginian, announces the new Virginian Staff. The girls that have been appointed besides the Business Manager, Margaret Clark, who was appointed earlier, are: Assistant Business Manager, Ruth Montgomery; Literary Editor, Doris Coates; Assistant Literary Editor, Rose Marie Hunter; Art Editor, Merwyn Gathright; Assistant Art Editor, Marjorie Booton; Photographic Manager, Charlotte Rice; Assistant Photographic Manager, Frances Tilman; Advertising Managing, Elizabeth Shipplet; Assistant Advertising Manager, Mary Elizabeth Slater; Typist, Virginian, Leonard; Assistant Typist, Elise Turner. The faculty advisers that have been selected are: Art Adviser, Miss Bedford,; Literary Adviser, Miss Jennings; Business Adviser, Mr. McCorkie.

The first meeting of the new Virginian Staff was held on Monday, May 6. At this meeting the new staff was welcomed by the editor, Lelia Sanford, and annual work was explained to them by Mr. McCorkie, the business adviser.

The new staff was extended an invitation to attend the Virginian banquet to be given by the old staff on Wednesday, May 8, in the College tea room.

Katherine Walton Wins Beta Pi Theta Prize for Ability

The Pi Zeta chapter of Beta Pi Theta is very happy to announce that one of its members, Katharine Walton, president of the chapter here at Farmville, has been awarded the Beta Pi Theta Scholarship Prize for excellence in French.

As stated in the Handbook each chapter may submit the name of one member of the chapter, namely, the active member of the chapter who has made the highest average in French for the year. The registrar is asked to send in the entire record on all subjects for the contestant .The award is a fraternity ring and whenever circumstances permit, a trip abroad for travel and study. The executive secretary has notified Katharine and the ring has been ordered, but no mention has been made of the trip; however, it is generally understood that the trip is possible only in prosperous years.

Pi Zeta is naturally proud that someone at Farmville should be the person to receive the prize. The chapter has been particularly active this year, having presented one open program on French music, several from a popular French play, and having helped in making the bazaar a success. There may be some who remember that the chapter was honored several years ago in a similar manner when it had the distinction of winning the Efficiency Prize, a loving cup, which is now in the honor room.

The fraternity feels that Katharine has brought honor not only to herself but to the society, to the French Department, and to the school.

The May Day Committee wishes to express its appreciation to the student body, faculty, and friends who had any part in making May Day a success.

F. E. R. A. Assists Farmville With Day Nursery School

The Federal Government, under its present relief program, is of assistance to the largest and to the smallest who are suffering from the depression. Perhaps the finest of its charges in this city are the little tots in the nursery school. A good many people have a share in carrying on this charitable emergency educational institution. Two graduates of S. T. C. act as the teachers. Mrs. Fay Barrow and Miss Eunice Chenault. During the day while the mothers of some twenty to twenty-five little folks are working at various occupations which will bring in a few more dollars for the family purse, these young ladies see to it that their younger children get plenty of good food, sleep, and play. All through the past winter and spring, this nursery school has provided a haven for the children who otherwise would be out on the streets fretting and crying or huddled in a damp, cold home.

The daily program in the nursery school is designed to entertain as well as to instruct its charges whose ages range from two to six years. Plenty of outdoor play is emphasized as one of the first and most important prerogatives in the building of healthy, wholesome lives. Hot lunch, prepared by Miss Sue Rice, is served at noon. This is followed by a refreshing nap.

As has been mentioned, many people have their share in making the nursery school a success. The Farmville Girl Scouts are very cheerfully lending their cots and the college lends a room and the use of the kitchen at the training school. Teachers and students readily give o f their time and service to this means of furthering the happiness and the education of local tots.

Academy of Science Meets At University Of Richmond May 3-4

The thirteenth annual meeting of the Virginia Academy of Sciences was held at the University of Richmond, Friday and Saturday, May 3 and 4.

The Virginia Academy of Science is composed of all different branches of science including the following sections: medicine, astronomy, mathematics, education, psychology, geology, physics, biology, chemistry, botany and zoology. Representatives from these fields from all over Virginia were present at the convention. Many of the delegates were authorities in their particular fields and many interesting and scholarly papers were given by them.

The representatives from S. T. C. who attended the meeting were: Dr Wynne, Dr. Jeffers, Mr. Coyner, Mr. McCorkle, Miss Camper, Miss Carter and Dr. Stevens.

Mr. Coyner read a paper before the Academy, the subject of which was based an experiement performed here, relating to the improvement of memory. Saturday morning Mr. McCorkle presented a paper dealing with the teaching of science in the public schools. Dr. Wynne in the education section discussed papers read Friday afternoon by Dr. Edgar Knight of the University of N. C., Dr. Thos. Alaxender of Columbia U., and Department of Education in Richmond.

On Saturday afternoon members of the several sections conducted scientific excursions into mines in Amelia County and to the Dismal Swamp near Norfolk, for the purpose in investigation and study.

Debate Club Elects Officers for 1935-'36

The Debate Club has elected officers for the coming year, as follows: president, Margaret Pollard, vice-president, Louise Francis; secretary, Virginia Hook; treasurer, Dudley Allen, debate counselor, Gertrude Levy.

Each of these girls has been active in the work of the Debate Club this year. All of them have taken part in some form of intercollegiate forensic activities. Margaret Pollard has been debating since her freshman year of college. The coming year will be her second year as president of the Debate Club.

Dr. Walmsley has served as faculty adviser to the Debate Club this year and has guided the members through an unusually successful season.

Honorary Fraternities Install New Officers

The newly elected officers of Alpha Phi Sigma were installed Tuesday night, April 23. A candlelight service mad the occasion an impressive one.

Elizabeth Walton, retiring president, gave the oath of office to Bonnie Lane, president-elect, and she in turn installed the incoming officers; namely: vice-president of the Masters Degree, Bess McGlothlin; vice-president of the Apprentice Degree, Marjorie Booton; vice-president of the Novice Degree, Virginia Acworth; secretary, Doris Moore; corresponding secretary, Virginia Payne; treasurer, Gertrude Levy; historian, Katherine Milby.

Bonnie Lane spoke briefly on the ideals and purposes of the honor fraternity. She expressed confidence in achieving effective progress during the coming year with the work of the new officers and the co-operation of the members.

At the same meeting the fraternity promoted the following girls from the apprentice to the masters degree: Elizabeth Morris, Gertrude Levy, Mary Wicker, Marguerite York, Grace Izell Houck, Elizabeth Spitler, Lois Vassar, Marjory Quarles, and Ethel Joyner. These girls were initiated April 29, in the Honor Society Room.

First Song Festival Held at Appomattox

The first county festival of Appomatox was held on the school grounds before an audience of several thousand people, who came from all sections of the county to witness this first music festival. 1600 children represented the schools of Appomattox County and these schools were organized into a solid unit to sing songs in chorus. Added to this choral work were many different selections of folk dances, vested choir, toy symphony, pageantry, vocal presentations and hill-billy songs. A feature of the program was the rendition of several numbers by the Harmonica Band, Fourth grade of the State Teachers College, Farmville, under the direction of Miss Georgia Norris. This organization, long known for its splendid work, gave a fine exhibition of harmonica playing to this vast audience, and was repeatedly encored.

Mr. Strick of the College organized the unit and superintended the program.

Dramatic Officers Are Elected May 1; Installation Soon

At the regular meeting of the Dramatic Club held on Wednesday, May 1, the following officers were elected for the 1935-36 term: president, Margaret Farrar; vice-president, Margaret Pollard; secretary, Mary Elizabeth Wood; treasurer, Mary Adeline McGlothlin. Heads of the departments of the club were elected at the same time. They are as follows: head of acting, Audrey Clements; head of makeup, Mildred Davies; head of lighting, Fletcher Walker; head of costuming, Katherine Hurt; head of staging, Mary Bowles; head of properties, Claire Eastman; head of music, Nancy Pobst.

Miss Wheeler, sponsor of the Dramatic Club, gave an inspiring talk, stressing the important part the officers play and the necessity of their fulfilling their duties.

Margaret Herndon, retiring president of the organization, announced that the new officers will be installed at the next regular meeting of the Dramatic Club.

Dance Club Members Elect New Officers; Eubank Is President

Grace Eubank was elected president of the Cotillion Club at a meeting of the club held last night.

Martha Nottingham was elected leader; Billie Wilkerson, treasurer; Billie Rountree, business manager.

All of these girls have been outstanding in various school activities since their freshman year. Grace Eubank was secretary of her class for two years. She has been active in various dramatic activities, and this year took the leading part in her class production.

Martha Nottingham has served on the student council as Camactive in class work and other pus League Chairman, has been school work. Billie Wilkerson has been outstanding in both class work and other college work. She was chosen chairman of the Student's Day Committee this year. In Billie Rountree we find a leader in athletic and class activities, having been class cheer leader for two years and having served on various class committees.

In all of these girls we find ability and leadership. We look forward to a successful year for the Cotillion Club.

Gamma Psi Installs New Officers May 7

At the Gamma Psi meeting on Tuesday night, May 7, the following officer were installed: president, Marjorie Booton; vice-president, Merwyn Gathright; secretary, Mary Alice Glass; treasurer, Emma Bingham.

After the installation Julia Derr was initiated into the fraternity.

On Tuesday, April 30, the Gamma Psi members held an informal meeting with Miss Bedford as hostess. Following a talk on modern furniture by Janice White, delicious refreshments were served.

Randolph - Macon Woman's College will present a play in Greek, "The Son of Euripides", in Lynchburg, May 11, at 4:30 p. m.

Honor Fraternity To Convene Here

First Annual State Meeting of Pi Gamma Mu

HAYDEN SPEAKS

That the Pi Gamma Mu Convention taking place here on May 10th and 11th is both the first annual state meeting of this national organization in social science and at the same time a celebration of the tenth anniversary of the Virginia Gamma chapter gives the occasion singular importance.

Acting upon the request of Dean Henry, Province Governor of Pi Gamma Mu, the local chapter has extended an invitation to the four Virginia colleges having Pi Gamma Mu chapters to send representatives to this meeting. Delegates from Emory and Henry, Randolph-Macon Woman's College, William and Mary, and East Radford are expected.

Of particular interest to the local members and alumnae is the tenth anniversary celebration, which is a combined feature of the Convention. The ex-presidents of the Farmville chapter will be present at the meetings and will hold a place of prominence at the banquet in the tea room at six o'clock Friday evening. Besides the delegates from the colleges, the guests at the banquet will include Dean Henry of Emory and Henry College, Dr. James J. Hayden, head of the law department of the Catholic University in Washington, Dr. Jarman, and associate and alumnae members of the Virginia Gamma chapter.

All those interested in the question of international relations are invited to attend an open meeting in the little auditorium Friday night at 8 o'clock. At

Continued on page 4, col. 1

Student Body Votes For Proctor System of House Government

The student body voted the adoption of the Proctor system of governing the house problems of the dormitories to complete the House Council next year, in a regular meeting of the student body on Monday night.

Nell Oakey Ryan, the recent president of the House Council, explained the newly organized project when she proposed the change. Each dormitory will have a hall president as the previous system has required, and one house president, who will be in charge of eac hdormitory, will be added to the system. These new officers will strengthen the obedience of regulations and aid in solving other problems.

Jestine Cutshall recommended important changes to the constitution. Next year there will be selected by the student council the Editor-in-Chief of the Handbook. This girl will edit the Handbook and make any needed changes for its improvement. The second recommendation was that the secretary hand in to the registrar at the end of each term a list of names of those who have recevied notes of failure from the student government and to Miss Mary every Friday, a list of those who have been on campus.

The president announced that volume 3 of the Junior Encyclopedia Brittanica has been lost from the library. The librarian, Miss Snead, urges that it be returned as it is an important volume of a new set of books.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Published by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

MEMBER
Associated Collegiate Press
1934 Collegiate Digest 1935
MADISON WISC.

Staff

Florence Sanford ..... Editor
Agnes Bondurant ..... Associate Editor
Evelyn Massey ..... Business Manager

Board of Editors

Miss Jane Royall ..... Alumnae
Katherine Hoyle ..... Make-up
Susan Gresham ..... Headlines
Emma Bingham ..... Literary
Bess McGlothlin, Margaret Farrar, Mary Adeline McGlothlin ..... Editorials
Claire Eastman ..... World News
Margaret Fraley ..... Socials
Kathleen Ranson ..... Sports

Proof Readers

Elizabeth Walton Dorothy Deans

Managers

Elsie Cabell ..... Circulation
Ruth Phelps ..... Asst. Circulation
Louise Gathright ..... Asst. Circulation

Assistants and Reporters

Elizabeth Morris, Virginia Agee, Mary Joyner Cox, Alice Nelson, Amis Montgomery, Claudia Harper, Minnie Smith, Elizabeth Carroll, Willis Scott, Bonnie Lane.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 8, 1935

In Memoriam

The student body and the members and the sponsor of the Sophomore Class of Farmville State Teachers College wish to express the deep sorrow they feel in the loss of their member, Roberta Mattox.

In the death of Roberta, the class and school have lost a loyal dependable college citizen. She was a good student and a beloved friend to many.

Her scholarship is attested by her membership in Alpha Phi Sigma, and her athletic ability by her place on the hockey squad.

A vacant place has been left in the school that can never be filled.

Beauty and Intelligence

That beauty and lack of intelligence correlate positively is untrue, according to Dr. Thomas Alexander of Columbia University. This is a pleasing statement to the young teachers of tomororw for they all wish to be both beautiful and intelligent. Yet, there was a time when beauty was thought to militate against good teaching.

In speaking before the Virginia Academy of Science, at Richmond University on May 3, Dr. Alexander said further that "appearance and personality are high among qualities which educators must insist on in the teaching candidates of tomorrow."

That there is no objection to a teacher's trying to be attractive has been the stand taken by psychologists for some years now. Not until the last few years, however, have the psychologists and educators been able to get this truth over to the public.

The admission that pretty girls stand a good chance of being intelligent is one of the many advances away from Puritanism. It is also contrary to the beliefs of monks and nuns in the Middle Ages. They deliberately punished themselves physically to atone for shortcomings of the spirit.

Progress is very slow when it comes to changing the attitude of the masses. It has taken from the thirteenth century to the twentieth to change to any appreciable degree the belief in compensation between certain traits.

We teachers of the future are thankful that we live under a new dispensation. In the revealing of such truths as the one mentioned, we see greater possibilities for the teaching profession to come into its own.

Mother's Day

A mother's love—how sweet the name!
What is a mother's love?
A noble, pure, and tender flame,
Enkindled from above,
To bless a heart of earthly mold;
The warmest love that can grow cold;
This is a mother's love.

In recent years there has sprung up in our land a most beautiful custom—that of setting aside one day in the year to be designated as Mother's Day. Of the many observances we have, there is none that appeals to the average person more than this.

Mother-love has existed since the beginning of man. Mother-worship reaches back equally as far. In those pagan days, her glory was celebrated with wild dancing and wilder music: there was no ceremony too elaborate for her.

Our Mother's Day is a symbol of our love for her—it is rich in its sentiment and so tender in its meaning. Our mothers may be in heaven, but their memories are most precious and grow more beautiful with the passing of each year. Our mothers may be still with us, and with the thought that they may not always stay with us, we should cherish and love them more than ever.

Bearing us, raising us, teaching us, loving us: all of these things she has done. How can we repay her?—what can we do in return?

"Long Live the King!"

King George V and Queen Mary of Great Britain will receive "the tribute of a vast empire" throughout the silver jubilee which began Monday and will continue for nearly three months.

During the twenty-five years of his rule, King George has so conducted himself as a sovereign that he has become one of the most deeply revered and beloved of all British rulers. He has touched the hearts of his subjects and is admired and loved by far more than the majority of the Britons. He is human, and, stripped of his royal character, "he would be just like any other Englishman of the first class—sturdy, patriotic, unafraid."

Throngs of jubilant supporters crowded the streets of London and gathered about the palace to shout praises to the king. All classes of people united to join the great celebration of his majority. The multitude waiting outside Buckingham Palace wildly acclaimed King George and Queen Mary when they appeared before the crowd for ninety seconds.

The popularity of King George is evidenced by the widespread interest and support in the silver jubilee. His majesty is universally admired for the fine qualities which draw his people to him, those qualities which have strengthened the British throne and empire while others have weakened.

Both King George and Queen Mary are regarded with genuine affection by their subjects and highly respected by the peoples of other nations. Sincere congratulations and good wishes for many more years of a happy rule have reached them from every part of the civilized world. The happy shouts, "Long live the king," are a true representation of the love and reverence of the Britons.

Even if Carter Glass does read "Arabian Nights," he refuses to use Ali Baba's pass-word to the hidden treasure, lest he plunge the country into a moneyless abyss.

Lloyd Douglas' title for his new book is "Green Lights", but the world doesn't bother about the green lights. It's the red light that follows the yellow that disturbs traffic.

Among Our Caps and Gowns

Now among our caps and gowns we come to Elizabeth Vassar, who is the editor of the 1934, "Virginian." As a freshman, she wrked with the Y. W. C. A., serving on committees for two years. In her junior years, she was made secretary of the organization. She has served efficiently on the "Rotunda" staff as reporter and proof reader, and for two years she was typist for the "Virginian". Then, in her senior year she was elected editor of that publication. She has been a member of the Choral Club, and she has served on the Student Standards Committee and on the Chapel Committee for two years. She is a member of Alpha Phi Sigma, Kappa Delta Pi, and Alpha Kappa Gamma.

Elizabeth's pleasing personality as well as her exceptionally fine work will be greatly missed on our campus.

Elizabeth Vassar

—Courtesy News Leader

Alumnae News

Announce Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur M. Smith of Farmville announce the engagement of their daughter, Doreen, to Jack Franklin of Lynchburg. The wedding will take place in May.

Farmville Teachers Contribute to Apple Blossom Festival

Among the Farmville teachers who contributed to the success of the Apple Blossom Festival held at Winchester on May 2—4 was Miss Virginia Boyd, who directed the spectacular pageant, "Dawn in Many Ages." Miss Catherine Pannill designed the majority of costumes for the pageant and designed and supervised the float, which won the first prize for Handley High School in the "Big Parade"—six miles in length.

Elizabeth Burger Speaks to Academy of Science

Miss Elizabeth Burger of Farmville, who will receive her Master's Degree at William and Mary College in June, addressed the Virginia Academy of Science at the annual meeting of the Academy at the University of Richmond on May 4. Her subject was the "Black Widow Spider" of which she has made an outstanding study while specializing in biology.

Alumna's Son Honored

David Seabury Henkel, son of Mrs. Lizzie Vaughan Henkel of Burkeville, was recently elected to membership in the Raven Society, the University of Virginia's highest honorary society for scholarship and general activities.

Directs Festival

Mrs. Harriet Woolridge Zehmer, a Farmville alumna, and Miss Evelyn Rex will direct the annual spring festival of the J. A. C. Chandler High School, which will be given Friday night, May 10, at the school with more than 300 students participating.

Heads Department

At the forty-eighth annual meeting of the East Hanover Presbyterial which ended session in Petersburg on May 3, Miss Natalie Lancaster of Richmond was elected to head the Department of Spiritual Life.

At Other Colleges

The chief purpose of education is to train the mind and the soul to do the thing you have to do when that thing ought to be done, whether you like it or not.
—Julian Huxley.

Hampden-Sydney Tiger

Cornell gives the following answers to the question, "What do students do with their time?"

Senior men spend 55 hours per week sleeping. The women devote 4 hours more per week to personal appearance than do men. Senior men are the most studious and they spend nine and one-half yours per week in entertainment.
—Arkansas State College Herald.

According to Pennsylvania State College some of the best boxers, basketball men, and track stars

Review of the News

Great Britain Offers Competition

Although Great Britain has planned to make an effort to prevent the race of air armaments among nations by the "AIR LOCARNO" (which will prevent construction and afford reprisals against aggressors), she intends, first, to enforce air equality with Germany, which the government requires.

In order to enforce this plan $116,000,000 must be appropriated for war planes to match Germany's aptitude to construct 100 war planes per month.

From among the speeches noted before the British House of Commons was that from Der Angriff who appears to think that Germany and England, even though their work is to be recommended highly, cannot maintain world peace unless co-operation from other nations is obtained. The world is crying out for co-operation and is wondering who will heed the call.

Rebels in Western China

How much of the world is aware of the fact that all foreigners were compelled to depart from Szechuun Province in Western China? The reason for this sudden departure was that a government warning of the hordes from the north was sounded. Many of our Kansu Province missionaries fled also. It appears as if there is no chance for safety over there at this time, even for our missionaries.

that the school have admit that they like poetry.
—Arkansas State College Herald.

The original marker on the grave of Thomas Jefferson has stood on the campus of the University of Missouri since 1833. It was presented to the University by the Jefferson heirs, because that school was the first state university to be founded in the territory of the Louisiana Purchase brought from France during President Jefferson's administration. The Marker reads, "Here lies Thomas Jefferson, patriot."
—Arkansas State College Herald.

On the campus of Marshall College, Huntington, W. Va., the strangest sort of a controversy finds students and professors splitting ranks in the argument. It has all arisen out of the sudden hankering for knitting which has swept the collegiate world. At Marshall they are knitting right in lectures. One professor likes the idea, since he feels it will be a good alternative to finger nail biting, desk-drumming, and nail filing.
—Skull and Bones.

men students, the dope is, because of "apple polishing," and old, old game, with a new name.
—V. M. I. Cadet.

A scientist was heard to remark the other day that coal keeps on improving with increasing age. It seems there's no fuel like an old fuel.
—Hampden-Sydney Tiger.

POETRY

When in Disgrace With Fortune and Men's Eyes

When, in disgrace with fortune and men's eyes,
I all alone beweep my outcast state,
And trouble deaf heaven with my bootless cries,
And look upon myself, and curse my fate,
Wishing me like to one more rich in hope,
Featured like him, like him with friends possessed,
Desiring this man's art, and that man's scope,
With what I most enjoy contented least;
Yet in these thoughts myself almost despising,
Haply I think on thee, and then my state,
Like to the lark at break of day arising
From sullen earth, sings hymns at heaven's gate;
For thy sweet love remembered such wealth brings
That then I scorn to change my state with kings.
—Shakespeare.

Remember

Remember me when I am gone away,
Gone far away into the silent land;
When you can no more hold me by the hand,
Nor I half turn to go, yet turning stay.
Remember me when no more, day by day,
You tell me of our future you planned;
Only remember me; you understand
It will be late to counsel then or pray.
Yet if you should forget me for a while
And afterwards remember, do not grieve:
For if the darkness and corruption leave
A vestige of the thoughts that once I had,
Better by far you should forget and smile
Than that you should remember and be sad.
—Rossetti.

Love Is Not All

Love is not all; it is not meat nor drink
Nor slumber nor a roof against the rain,
Nor yet a floating spar to men that sink
And rise and sink and rise and sink again;
Love can not fill the thickened lung with breath,
Nor clean the blood, nor set the fractured bone;
Yet many a man is making friends with death
Even as I speak, for lack of love alone.
It well may be that in difficult hour,
Pinned down by pain and moaning for release,
Or nagged by want past resolution's power,
I might be driven to sell your love for peace,
Or trade the memory of this night for food.
It well may be. I do not think I would.
—Edna St. Vincent Millay.

Bashful — "Do you mind if I kiss you?"
(No answer).
Bashful—"Would you mind if I kissed you?"
Wise Sister—"Say, do you want me to promise not to bite?"
—Pelican.

The University of Chicago announces that a nineteen-year-old student who entered in the University as a freshman in the fall of 1933 will, if he successfully passes his examinations in March, graduate with a Bachelor of Science degree at the end of five quarters work.
—Agonistic.

SOCIALS

Alas! And our May Day is over! After the gala affair many girls went home with their parents or friends.

At Home

The following girls went home: Grace Collins, Francis Johnson, Sarah Beck, Ethel Burgess, Mary Rives Black, Edna Bolick, Elizabeth Carroll, Nancy Dodd, Rebecca Carter, Pattie Jeffreys, Lois Jenkins, Helen Lee Morris, Ellen Mason, Eleanor Meredith, Margaret Pollard, Pauline Pearson, Marjorie Robertson, Rose Somers and Mary Alice Wood.

To Richmond

We wonder why Richmond has not lost its power as a magnet for drawing visitors from S. T. C. We might be able to find out from one of the following girls who were in Richmond over the week-end: Evelyn Knaub, Mary Irvin Arthur, Virginia Baker, Bobbie Brooke, Kitty Chappell, Margaret Clark, Martha Glenn Davis, Doris Isobel, Doris Moore, Sue Mallory, Anne Mears, Irene Parker, Anne Peple, Katherine Powell, Be Be Russell, Dorothy Stone, Elise Turner, Virginia Saunders and Francis Yester.

To Danville

Henrietta Eichelberger, Georgie Custis, Virginia Martin and Dorothy Wise spent the week-end in Danville.

Other Places Visited

Some people find interest other places rather than Richmond or home since the following girls visited other places: Rebecca Kern, Winchester; Elizabeth Hart, Pamplin; Francis Jamerson, Pamplin; Florence Tankard, Blacksburg; Roberta Haskins, Victoria; Josephine Kent, Amherst; Dorothy Deans, Lynchburg; Mary Denny, White Post; Francis Faris, Crewe; Winifred Goodman, Staunton; Helen and Louise Harris, Lynchburg; Katherine Harvey, Curdesville; Edna Earl Harvey, Appomattox; Edith Hart and Bessie Hart, Rice; Evelyn Holmes, Rice; Margaret Herndon, Fork Union; Lelia Hill, Crozet; Clara Haley, Drakes Branch; Louise Hyde, Winchester; Katherine Jamison, Roanoke; Copeland Johnson, Charlottesville; Marion Layne, Gladys; Belle Lovelace, South Boston, Paige Magee, Petersburg; Amis Montgomery, Harrisonburg; Kathleen McCann, Petersburg; Mary Elizabeth Newcomb, Amelia; Patsy Nottingham, Baltimore; Louise Patridge, Lynchburg; Isabelle Plummer, Petersburg; Mary Lee and Livian Powell, Lynchburg; Elizabeth Puckett, Gladys; Dorothy Price, Prospect; Marjory Quarles, Charlottesville; Clara Sizemore, Clarksville; Elizabeth Trent, Drakes Branch; Agnes Thompson, Rice; Eleanor Wade and Brooks Wheeler, Lynchburg.

Soroity Pledegs and Actives Enjoy Picnics at Longwood

Last Wednesday afternoon after the May Day practice, the pledges of Gamma Theta entertained the active members with a picnic at Longwood.

The same thing happened Thursday afternoon after practice when the pledges and actives of A. S. A. got together.

A sucessful weenie roast was held yesterday afternoon at Longwood by the Pi Kappa Sigma chapter, and from all reports, a good time was had by all.

Miss Leola Wheeler Attends Woman's Club Convention

Miss Wheeler will attend the Convention of the State Federation of Woman's Clubs to be held Thursday and Friday, May 9 through 10 at Lexington, Va. As State Chairman of Literature, she will make a talk and hold a round-table discussion on programs for literature departments and literary clubs.

"Hey, that ladder's upside down!"

'Sure. Then I'll be near the bottom if it falls!"

—Hooked.

Y. W. C. A. Notes

Both the old and new Y. W. cabinets are planning a picnic at Longwood tomorrow afternoon with the Student Christian Association boys from Hampden-Sydney.

Plans are also being made for the set-up conference of the Y. W. held annually at Longwood.

Prayers last week were led by the honor graduates for this year, and this week they are being led by the town girls. Mother's Day will be observed in prayers Monday night and Sunday morning watch.

Agnes Crockett, new Y. W. president reports that much good work has been done by the service committee, and that the cabinet was delighted in having Helen Smith, past president, visit here last week.

OPEN FORUM

Dear Editor,

Every school has a standard that it must maintain, and we girls here at Farmville are proud of ours. Not only do we know the height of our standards, but the world sees it, too.

Our minds still linger on our beautiful May Day at Longwood Saturday. The colorful pageant, framed in the green beauty of the cedars and ivy, lifted all who saw it into the realms of the artistic and the beautiful. None of us would have been satisfied with a May Day less beautiful or less artistic. And isn't it because we are used to having our programs go off smoothly that we would be dissatisfied with anything else? Without the cooperation of the entire student body this splendid pageant could not have been put on. We all know that a chain is as strong as its weakest link; so let's all work together to maintain that high standard that was exemplified through our May Day Saturday.

A Student

Rotunda Reverberations

The great Southland! Is there any place on earth as beautiful in the spring? We read histories and novels, biographies and poetry that sing her praises: we dream of the romance and the drama that speak of hoop skirts and and grey uniforms: we sigh in envy! That old, mellow atmosphere is to eb envied — it is gone! The Southland is still here, however.

Mother's Day! What does it mean to you individually? Is it just a name? Does "Mother" mean just someone who keeps house, and darns socks, and scolds now and then? She should be someone who holds a special place deep in your heart and for whom your love grows as age descends upn her. Sunday, May 12, is her day. Will you remember?

Our campus is a lovely one, don't you think? The trees and shrubbery speak of age and statliness and wisdom. Have you ever noticed how picturesque the main entrance is in the early morning sun? It is a sight worth seeing.

Knitting! It is interesting to notice facial expresions when that word is mentioned. Some girls groan—other's eyes brighten, and they ask with interest, "Oh, are you knitting, too?"

You say something about the dumbness of it all, and you feel immediately that you have either made a faux pas or committed and unforgivable social error. It doesn't make much difference — they are both equally bad!

Spring has been well on its way for over a month now, and yet there are quite a few who are suffering from spring fever—that malady of society. People drag along as if they're on their last "go-round"; they look sleepy or "dopey"—it doesn't make much difference which—they are hard to distinguish between. That is no way to "take it!" What is the best way?—figure it out for yourself.

Going Away? . . . . . .
Travel by
GREYHOUND
Safe—Comfortable—Economical

Among Our Alumnae

On April 24, a Greensboro, N. C., paper carried the following story concerning Miss Mary Channing Coleman, a Farmville alumna in the Class of 1900. Miss Coleman is a native of South Boston, Va. After being graduated at Farmville she taught at Winthrop College, South Carolina, in Detroit, Michigan, and at Columbia University, N. Y., where she received the B. S. degree in 1917. She was author of the State Course of Study in Physical Education for North Carolina, and has published articles on athletics for high school girls, etc. She became director of physical education in the Woman's College at Greensboro in 1921, and has been twice president of the North Carolina Physical Education Society and very active in national work.

Miss Mary Channing Coleman, professor of physical education at the woman's college of the University of North Carolina, had conferred upon her last night in Pittsburgh, Pa., at the annual meeting of the American Physical Education association the title of fellow in physical education, the supreme honor given by the association. Strong Hinman, national president, made the presentation of the honorary fellowship, announcing that it was awarded because of "supreme excellence and distinguished service in teacher-training for physical education." Ten such fellowships were bestowed yesterday.

Miss Coleman is immediate past president of the national association and is the first person from the south to have held this office. She is a charter member of the women's division of the National Amateur Athletic Federation and of the national committee on women's athletics. Since 1922 Miss Coleman has been head of the physical education department at Woman's college. She is regional director for the American Folk Arts society, having received that honor in recognition of her service in the collection and publication of folk games and dances in the South She is a graduate of Columbia Univeristy and also studied at Wellesley college.

Other directors of professional schools of physcal education who have been given the honor of fellow in the national physical education association are Dr. J. F. Williams, of Columbia university; Dr. Ruth Elliott, of Wellesley college; Dr. J. B. Nash, of New York university; Miss Blanche Trilling, of the University of Wisconsin, and Dr. William LaPorte, of the University of Southern California.

While in Pittsburgh Miss Coleman will make one of the convention addresses. She left Sunday and will be away all week.

S. T. C. Guests Leave For Alumnae Meeting

Dr. J. L. Jarman, Mrs. Fitzpatrick, Miss Jane Royall, Miss Leola Wheeler, and Hazel Smith will attend the Peninsula Alumnae Chapter meeting to be held Saturday, May 11, at Hampton, Virginia. After the business session in the morning the Farmville aggregation will attend a luncheon at the Hampton Country Club.

The Peninsula Chapter includes Newport News, Hampton, and Warwick and York counties. Present officers of the organization are: president, Mrs. Eunice Bassett Leyland, Newport News; vice-president, Miss Alice Marshall, Newport News; vice-president, Miss Mabel Spratley, Hampton; vice-president, Mrs. Catherine Lloyd, Warwick; vice-president, Miss Carolyn Sinclair, York; secretary, Miss Marguerite Wilson, Newport News; treasurer, Miss Marnetta Sander, Newport News; chairman of Student Loan Fund, Miss Elsie Wilson, Newport News; reporter, Mrs. Hayes, Newport News.

"Making It Tough"

"A fellow has to be a contortionist to get by these days. First of all, he's got to keep his back to the wall and his ear to the ground. He's expected to put his shoulder to the wheel, his nose to the grindstone, keep a level head, and both feet on the ground. And at the same time, look for the silver lining with his head in the clouds."

WILLIS
The Florist
Flowers for all occasions
PHONES 181-273

S. A. Legus
TAILOR
CLEANING
PRESSING
REPAIRING
Phone 203

Radio Highlights

Wednesday

6:30 WABC—Candeloxi Orchestra.
6:30 WEAF—Press Radio News.
6:45 WJZ—Lowell Thomas
7:00 WJZ—Amos 'n' Andy.
7:30—WOR—Studio Music.
8:00 WJZ —Kemp Orchestra; Mixed Voice.
8:15 WABC—How Can We Stay Out of War—Rear Admiral William S. Sims.
8:30 WEAF—Wayne King Orchestra.
9:00—WABC—Warner Orchestra.
9:30—WABC George Burns and Gracie Allen.
10:00 WEAF—Lombardo Orchestra.
10:30 WEAF—Ray Noble Orch.

Thursday

6:30 WEAF—Press Radio News.
6:45 WJZ—Lowell Thomas.
7:00 WEAF—Maurey Orch.
7:30 WOR—The Street Singer.
8:00—WEAF—Vallee Varieties
8:30 WABC—Rich Orch.
9:00 WOR—Dance Orch.
9:00 WABC—Gray Orch.
9:30 WABC—Waring Orch.
10:00 WEAF—Whitman's Music Hall.
11:00 WABC—Dance Music.

Friday

6:30 WEAF—Press Radio News.
6:45 WJZ—Lowell Thomas
7:30 WJZ—Amos 'n' Andy.
8:00 WABC—Steven's Orch.
8:15 WJZ—Morton Downey.
8:30 WJZ—Nichols Orch.
8:30 WABC Court of Humor Relations
9:00 WABC— Hollywood Hotel, Sketch.
WEAF—Lynn Orch.
9:30 WEAF—Bonim Orch.
9:45 WOR—Singing Sam.
10:00 WABC—Himber Orch.
10:30 WEAF—Rolfe Orch.
11:00 WJZ—Tucker Orch.

Saturday

6:30 WABC—Light Orch.
7:55 WJZ [illegible] ts Radio
7:15 WEAF—University of Wisconsin, players and band.
7:30 WABC—Arden Orch.
8:00 WEAF—Hayton Orch.
8:30 WJZ—Myers Orch.
9:00 WOR—Dance Orch.
9:30 WEAF—Al Jolson; Young Orch., Dizzy and Daffey Dean
10:00 WOR—Dance Orch.
10:30 WEAF—Murray Orch.
11:00 WJZ—Dance Music.

C. E. Chappell Co.
Stationery, Blank Books and School Supplies
Cigars, Cigarettes and Soda
Farmville, Virginia

Rice's Shoe Store
Street and Dress Shoes
Dancing Slippers Dyed
Correct fits our specialty

Kleanwell
CLEANERS AND TAILORS
Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling ladies garments
Main Street, opposite Post office
Phone 98

Gray's Drug Store
QUALITY—PRICE—SERVICE
Come in and Get Acquainted
We are glad to have you with us!
Farmville, Virginia

Mack's
BARBER AND BEAUTY SHOP
323 Main Street
We use the Frederick Method
Hair cutting and thinning a Specialty

PRINTING . . . . .
When you think of Printing think of
—The—
FARMVILLE HERALD

FOR THE SWEET GRADUATE
Fluffy white dresses, long lengths or tailored styles, two price groups $4.95 and $7.85
White shoes—new Cleopatra Sandals $1.49 and $1.95
THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE
Farmville's Best Place to Shop!

—FOR—
EVERYTHING—SCHOOL SUPPLIES, CANDIES, FRUITS, CONFECTIONS, ETC.
GO TO . . . . .
GILLIAM'S
Open 'till 9:00 p. m.

ARE YOU INTERESTED?
JACKETS of Grain and Suede Cloth and Wool SWEATERS.
We are showing the season's newest. Come in. We are glad to show—Just what we have and the line is very attractive.
VERSER'S

PHILCO RADIO
World's largest manufacturers of Radio
A complete line
Watch repairing a specialty
Sheet Music—Strings for Instruments
LYNN, The Main Street Jeweler

YOUR NEIGHBOR,
The Weyanoke Beauty Salon
invites you to drop in and take advantage of their Special prices now in effect.
Permanent Waves—$4 & $6 Shampoo & Fingerwave 75 cents
Manicure 40 cents
Individual, courteous, efficient service and an established reputation for dependability and satisfaction. That is our guarantee, and your assurance of perfect workmanship.

Inter-Class Games Will Start May 9

Field and Track Added to Sports

The baseball class games are to be played Thursday and Friday afternoons. The freshmen will meet the sophomores at 5 o'clock Thursday, May 9, in the first game of the season. The winner of this game will play the juniors Friday afternoon.

Captains were elected for the class teams as follows: freshmen, Inez Chappell; sophomores, Bernice Mann; juniors, Linda Walker.

Inez, Bernice, and Linda have all proved to be capable leaders, as well as good athletes. They have played on all class teams this year, besides being member of the varsity basketball squad.

The much prolonged and put-off class hockey game between the sophomores and the juniors will be played Monday afternoon at 5 o'clock. The game has been put ff since last fall because of bad weather. Remember the date, May 13, and come to see the red and whites meet the green and whites once more.

Field and track started Monday, May 6, with an eager group of girls to participate. Look at the schedule of sports posted in the hall for time to practice. Frances Yester is manager, with Doris Moore, as her assistant. The field and track meet will be held Monday, May 20, at 4 o'clock. Get your practices in early.

Sign up in the hall on the bulletin board for tennis doubles. A tournament is to be held starting the first of the week. Pick a partner to play tennis with, and sign up for the tournament.

Those people playing in the singles tournament which started last fall are requested to play the person assigned as soon as possible.

Honor Fraternity To Convene Here

Continued from page one

this time there will be presented a conference on the revision of the Versailles Treaty.

The registration of delegates will begin at three o'clock Friday afternoon, following which procedure the Convention will open with a preliminary business session in the honor room.

Dr. Hayden will open the business meeting Saturday morning with an address. At the close of this session the Convention will be adjourned.

May Pole of Merry Mount is Colorful

Continued from page one

to Phyllis Ferguson, chairman of May Day, and Lena Mae Gardner who arranged and adapted the theme for the pageant. Mrs. Fitzpatrick and other advisers deserve a great deal of the credit for making the occasion a memorable one.

"Never say the girl is spoiled. It may be the perfume she uses."
—The Dog.

"M-M-m-m, but that popcorn has a heavenly smell!" she exclaimed as they drove past the stand.

"Hasn't it?" he agreed. I'll drive a little closer.

Definitions

Committee: A body that keeps minutes and wastes hours.

Economy: A way of spending money without getting any fun out of it.

Diplomacy: Lying in state.

Prejudice: Being down on anything you're not up on.
—The Dog.

"Stand in back of your lover, false woman," shouted the Scotchman who found his wife in the arms of another man. "I'm going to shoot you both."

Nursery School

A group of children of pre-school age, who are attending the Nursery School, sponsored by the Junior Woman's Club, in cooperation with municipal and federal agencies.

Scholastic Fraternity Honors J. M. Grainger

Mr. James M. Grainger, head of the English Department of S. T. C., was initiated into Kappa Delta Pi, National Honor Fraternity in education, as an honorary member, Thursday night, May 3, 1935.

Mr. Grainger is the second honorary member to be elected to Kappa Delta Pi. Dr. Jarman is the only other honorary member.

Mr. Grainger and Miss Bessie Carter Randolph were instrumental in organizing Pi Kappa Omega, predecessor to Kappa Delta Pi. Pi Kappa Omega was established at S. T. C. in 1918. Then in 1928 this fraternity was changed to Kappa Delta Pi which is a national honor society in education. Kappa Delta Pi has ninety chapters in the United States.

Students of Training School Give Program

The pupils of the fifth and sixth grades of our College Training School, portrayed in song, dances, and costumes "The Children of Other Lands" on last Wednesday morning, May 1, in the large auditorium.

The songs were accompanied by dances typical of the land they were representing. For instance, when portraying Holland, the little girls did a wooden shoe dance. When portraying Russia, boys dressed in high boots stamped in as Cossack riders. After glimpses of Scotland, Holland, Japan, England, the audience was brought back to the United States with the singing of the Star Spangled Banner and with the showing of Old Glory.

France and Russia

At last France and Russia have awakened to the real meaning of the Covenant of the League of Nations by signing a new mutual treaty providing mutual army aid for the next five years in case of unprovoked encroachments of any European State. France has even agreed to help Russia build railways which will aid the Red army to progress along her western border. These two nations plan to co-operate if the council fails to act or is slow in making decisions.

Of course the sum of $367,500,000 will be required for this "Railway Plan," but France appears to offer no objections even though she is expected to give the majority of the sum. Probably the fifty-fifty proposition accounts for it since commercial exchanges will regulate the financing problem.

A. C. P. NOTES

(By Associated Collegiate Press)

Greencastle, Ind.—"The present generation is an 'unwanted generation,' " Dr. Harry F. Ward, professor of Christian ethics at Union Theological Seminary, New York City, told DePauw University students recently.

"This is the first time in the history of the United States that youth is not wanted. For the older men it would have been better if the youth of today had never been born, or if born, had never been trained," Dr. Ward declared.

Scoring an economic system that plowed under cotton, paid the farmers not to work and at the same time allowed thousands to remain on the relief rolls, he point that the huge wastage involved is nothing compared to the wasting of human lives and human endeavor. College students were urged to use their training not to scramble for jobs, but to find out what is wrong with a system that allows growing poverty with a potential plenty in easy reach and then to change the system.

(By Associated Collegiate Press)

Minneaplois, Minn.—Romance via the date bureau won't work, at least at the University of Minnesota, for the much publicized bureau set up last fall, has folded up for lack of patronage.

"People didn't use it," Jean Myers, chairman of the bureau, declared. "There is no use continuing it if students won't support the bureau."

Part of the difficulty in putting the plan over was attributed to the resistance which generally accompanies any social innovation. The prejudice aagainst it could not be broken down, according to the chairman. Students who signed up for dates in a joking way were partly responsible for its unsuccessful career, it was pointed out. (By Associated Collegiate Press)

Albany, N. Y.—College boys who think the charming coeds they take out are sweet are about to have a rude awakening from a false illusion, for doctors at Albany Medical College of Union University have evolved the following chemical formula for the young ladies of today.

One girl is made of enough glycerine to furnish the bursting charge for one naval shell, she has enough lime to whitewash a chicken coop and she has sufficient gluten to make five pounds of glue. In addition she has enough sulphur to rid an ordinary dog of fleas and enough chlorine to sanitize three good size swimming pools.

Special orders for

Teas and Parties

Try our doughnuts

Foley's Bakery

Third Street

Then there was the Scotchman who made his little son practice snapping his fingers because the Fourth of July was coming. —The Dog.

'It's raining cats and dogs outside."

"Yeah, I know, I just stepped into a poodle."
—The Dog.

Doctor — "Congratulations, Governor, you're the father of triplets."

Governor—"I demand a recount."
—Pointer.

(Confirmed bachelor reading a newspaper account of early marriages to avoid war services) —"H'm! I'd rather go to war. It will be over some day."
—The Dog.

TUSSY

$1.00

Unbelievable!

All this for $1.00? Tussy Powder in that new super-clinging quality, and the new patent non-spill box, full $1.00 size... PLUS an introductory Tussy Automatic Lipstick, 50¢ value... PLUS a real lamb's wool puff.

All for $1.00!

An ideal offer for the collee girls.

Come in today for yours.

BALDWIN'S

FARMVILLE, VA.

The Schemmel Conservatory of Music

Offers interesting instruction by Artist Teachers, arranged to suit the needs of each pupil. Piano: Elsa Schemmel Fairchild, Marie Schemmel Shroder. Voice: Mattie Spencer Willis. Violin: Richmond Seay of Blackstone College.

Farmville Mfg. Co.

BUILDING MATERIALS

MILLWORK

Farmville, Va.

You Would Love to Have Your Shoes Fixed at

Lovelace Shoe Shop

110 Third Street

ROOM FURNISHINGS

SCHOOL SUPPLIES

CANDIES

ROSES

5-10-25c Store

FARMVILLE, VA.

Overton-Mottley Hdwe. Co.

ELECTRIC GOODS/

Tennis Rackets and balls

Roller Skates

EACO THEATRE

Mats. 4 p. m.; Nights 8 p. m.
Adults 25c: Children 15c
Unless otherwise noted

Thurs., May 9 Cartoon
MYRNA LOY
WILLIAM POWELL
"The Thin Man"
Also Female Orchestra

Fri., May 10 News
Edward Everette Horton
KAREN MORLLEY
"$10.00 RAISE"
Also "Ladies That Play"

Sat., May 11 Novelty
FRED MacMURRAY
ANN SHERIDAN
"CAR 99"
"Man's Mania for Speed" and News

Mon-Tues My. 13-14 Kat
BEN BERNIE
George Roft, Grace Bradley
"Stolen Harmony"
First Chapter
Best Serial Ever Made
"THE PHANTOM EMPIRE"
Adults 25c and 35c

Wed., May 15 Cartoon
Sallie Blane, Chas. Sterrett
'The Silver Streak'
1st Chap. 'Phantom Empire'

Shannon's

Is Headquarters for the Best
SANDWICHES
—and—
DRINKS
in Farmville!

Southside Drug Store

(On the Corner)
Films Developed
FREE
If bought at this store

Conoco Gas and Oil

Fill up at

Johns Motor Co.

Farmville, Va.

SUPPERS AND SMALL PARTIES
Good Breakfast
Dinners
Suppers
College Tea Room
and
LONGWOOD

Buy Your
C A N D Y
To Sell at

H. T. Stokes & Co.

G. F. Butcher

High Street
"The Convenient Store"
FOR GOOD THINGS
TO EAT AND DRINK

Electric Shoe Shop

Will Fix Your Shoes
While You Wait
BEST WORKMANSHIP
AND LEATHER USED

Martin the Jeweler

Gifts of
Lasting Remembrance
317 Main St. Farmville

POTTED MEATS
SANDWICH SPREAD
SANDWICH ROLLS
HOT DOGS
Everything for the Picnic

W. R. Drumeller

Main Street Farmville

The Fashion Shoppe

Reflects the newest styles. All dresses $2.95 up

COATS, SUITS, DRESSES, UNDERWEAR

Silk Hose
Fine quality ..... 49c 59c and 69c

WHITE SEASON IS HERE

Gorgeous Graduation Dresses ..... $2.97 to $9.94

Pastel colors—maise, blue and pinks, brown and maise combinations ..... $5.95 and $7.45

DOROTHY MAY STORES

First to Show the Newest!

FARMVILLE, VA.

CONGRATULATIONS TO THE FRESHMEN!

The Rotunda

We Teach To Teach

BE SURE TO ATTEND COMMENCEMENT REHEARSALS

Volume XV. FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, MAY 15, 1935 No. 29

Walmsley Elected Province Governor

Two Pi Gamma Mu Chapters Convene Here

BANQUET SUCCESS

Dr. J. E. Walmsley will preside as Province Governor of Pi Gamma Mu according to the results of the election Saturday morning at the annual Pi Gamma Mu state convention. Doris Coates is the incoming secretary of the Virginia division.

Two of the five chapters, which are located at William and Mary, Randolph-Macon Woman's College, S. T. C. at Radford, Emory and Henry at Emory, Va., and S. T. C. at Farmville, were represented at the session which were presided over by Dean Henry, province governor, from Emory and Henry.

Dr. James J. Hayden, professor of law at Catholic University in Washington, D. C., and general counselor from National Headquarters, was a distinguished visitor for the occasion. Dr. Hayden was present for the business session on Friday afternoon. He was a guest speaker at the banquet on Friday night, and on Saturday morning gave an informative and interesting talk on "The Social Effect of Four Recent Decisions of the Supreme Court." The cases discussed were Minnesota Mortgage case, the famous New York "milk bottle" case dealing with price fixing, the recent gold case, and the Railroad Retirement Act. Dr. Hayden who also practices law, presented the cases in a way that appealed to all his listeners.

The program for the convention was as follows: 4:00 P. M. Friday business session; 6:00 P. M., banquet; 8:30 P. M., Conference on Revision of Treaty of Versailles; 9:00 A. M., Saturday, business session; address by Dr. Hayden.

The Virginia Gamma chapter here at S. T. C. celebrated its tenth anniversary at the banquet Friday night in the tea room. The guests of honor were: Mrs. E. M. Nuckols, first president of the chapter here; Margaret Hix, a former president; Dean Henry, the delegates of the convention, Dr. Jarman, and E. M. Nuckols, Jr., Virginia Gamma's official grandson. In addition were present fifty active, associate and honorary members. Dr. J. E. Walmsley acted as toastmaster.

Juniors and Sophs Tie For Hockey Honors; Championship Game

Have you ever played hockey on a field of clover in May? Well, if you haven't you don't know what you've missed. Ask any sophomore or junior player how she liked it.

Despite the intense heat and slippery clover the championship game between the juniors and sophomores Monday afternoon, was fast moving and exciting from the spectators' point of view.

At the end of the first half the score stood 2-1 in favor of the sophomores. During the second half the play centered around juniors' goal and in the course of time the juniors scored one. The score remained a tie. As a result of the tie the points on the color cup will be divided between the two color teams.

The line-up:

Sophomores:

Bowles, M. ..R.W. .....
Anderson, M| R.I. ..Sanford, F.
Grainger, A. .C.F. Ransom K. C
Lane, B. .....L.I. ....Kern, R.
York, M. C. .L.W. Gathright L.

(Continued on page 4)

Commencement Program Announced June 1-June 4

The commencement program:

Saturday, June 1—9:00 P. M. —Reception in Student Building Lounge.

Sunday, June 2—8:00 P. M.—Baccalaureate Sermon by Bishop F. D. Goodwin, Auditorium.

Monday, June 3—10:00 A. M. —Sophomore Class Day, Joan Court.
3:30 P. M.—Senior Class Day, Longwood
8:00 P. M.—"A Kiss for Cinderella"—Auditorium.
10:30 P. M.—Senior Lantern Parade

Tuesday, June 4—10:30 A. M. — Graduating Exercises, Dr. J. Frederick Essary, Auditorium

Dr. Jarman Lectures To Alpha Phi Sigma New Girls Are Bid

"A good record in the curriculum is a good writing to have to go down in the archives of your life history." Such was the opening sentence of an inspirational talk Dr. Jarman made to the members of Alpha Phi Sigma fraternity last night in the small auditorium. He went further and congratulated the girls on their scholastic achievements and said that," the first duty of the student is to the regular curriculum." Yet Dr. Jarman urged the girls to be active in other organizations in order to be good members of the honor fraternity. He concluded with the merits of the school and the multitudinous opportunities that the Farmville student receives while in college.

Bids were issued to the following girls: Nan Seward, Jennie Belle Gilliam, Roberta Parker, Edith Hammock, Muriel McAllister, Edna Bolick, Frances Britton, Willis Scott, Mary Jane Pendleton, Carolyn Hoon, Norvelle Montague, and Eleanor Dunham. These girls have achieved excellent records in their scholastic standing during the past two terms.

The new candidates for the novice and apprentice degrees were initiated in the meeting after Dr. Jarman's talk.

Kappa Delta Pi Is Reception Hostess

One of the most outstanding social events of the season was the annual reception given by Kappa Delta Pi, national honor fraternity in education, for the freshmen and sophomores whose grades are in the upper quartile. Among other guests were the faculty, Dr. Jarman, Miss Mary White Cox, and Miss Jane Royall, Dr. Jarman and Lila Jacobs sang several selections, with Louise Hyde as accompanist. Katherine Walton and Anne Putney presided at the punch bowls.

The following girls received invitations to the reception: Virginia Agee, Bonnie Lane, Madeline McGlothlin, Bess McGlothlin, Elizabeth Morris, Mary Jane Pendleton, Edith Hammock, Claire Eastham, Dorothy Price, Elizabeth Roberts, Annette Roberts, Geneva Parker, Martha Hamlet, Lucille Rhodes, Nan Seward, Jennie Belle Gilliam, Frances Britton, Katherine Jamison, Katherine Milby, Virginia Bean, Grace Collins, Edna Bolick, Gertrude Levy, Muriel McAllister, Willis Scott, Norvelle Montague, Robert Haskins, Alice Grainger, Lois Vassar, Inez Chappell, Margaret Dortch, Ruth Phelps, Mary Joyner Cox, Sylvia

(Continued on page 4)

Forensic Society Installs Officers

Virginia Alpha Chapter of Pi Kappa Delta, national forensic fraternity, initiated the following member and installed officers for the coming year, in the Honor Room of the State Teachers College, on the evening of May 9. The new members are Louise Francis, Gertrude Levy, Dudley Allen, and Catherine Crews. The officers for the coming year are: president, Margaret Pollard; vice-president, Louise Francis; secretary-treasurer, Gertrude Levy.

The coming year will be Margaret's second year as president of Pi Kappa Delta. On the other hand, Louise Francis and Gertrude Levy are new members and new officers of the fraternity. They are all three, however, interested and persevering workers, worthy of the honor to which they have attained.

These officers are fully competent to keep Farmville Pi Kappa Delta upon the high level it has maintained in the past. In the last five years Farmville debaters have won 80 per cent of the debates participated in.

Dr. J. E. Walmsley, Mr. Samuel Holton and Margaret Hix, a member of Pi Kappa Delta and an alumna of S. T. C., were present at the initiatory and installation ceremonies. Miss Hix did outstanding work in Pi Kappa Delta, having attained to the highest rank of the order when in college.

Latin Club Officers Assume New Duties

The Latin Club had its monthly meeting in the Language Room Thursday, May 9, 1935. The following officers were installed: president, Elizabeth Shiplett; vice-president, Elizabeth Morris; secretary, Katherine Milby; treasurer, Ruth Phelps; musician, Jeannette Jones.

The club also elected to the Tributum staff: editor, Jeannette Jones; associate editor, Katherine Milby; literary editor, Dorothy Deans; business manager, Doris Coates; assistant business manager, Ruth Phelps; typist, Elizabeth Morris.

It was moved and seconded that the club have a picnic before the close of the session. The meeting was then turned over to Elizabeth Morris, chairman of the Program Committee.

Cotillion Initiation Ends For Terrified "Goats"

A smile spread from ear to ear on the "goats" faces when they reached the end of that line. But it vanished as quickly when told to run the gauntlet a second time.

After the paddle line the "goats" sat down on one side of the gym, and the court of three judges, seven jurors, and seven ghosts filed in. The judges and jury were dressed in caps and gowns, the ghosts in white sheets, and they were still holding their paddles in readiness. "Goats" who had in any way crossed the path of an old member were tried and they payed very dearly as the jury would decide the number of strokes of the paddle they should get. Who was the "goat" that so foolishly expressed the desire to knock a certain ghost's teeth down her throat? "Woe is she!"

At ten o'clock it all ended, and the "goats" went home rejoicing and expressing their eagerness for next year's paddle line when they too shall be the power behind the paddles.

One, two, three, four, five, six, seven, eight, nine. Nine strokes of the clock and sixty-three "goats" with knees playing "Home Sweet Home," made their way to the gym.

The goats were lined up in the little gym with the doors closed while the old members lined up in the big gym. Great cracks of the paddles as they hit together, war whoops and the smacking of mouths went on and came pounding on the ears of the terrified goats.

The door was thrown open, and the heart of every "goat" sank to the pit of her stomach as they looked down that seemingly endless line of old members and paddles eagerly waiting for the signal to start work.

The signal of course came, and the "goats" summoned all the

(Continued on page 4)

168 Students Are On Candidates List As '35 Graduates

Farmville State Teachers College expects to graduate one hundred sixty-eight girls on June 4. Seventy-eight girls are expected to receive the B. S. degree in education and ninety girls are applying for the two year certificate.

Following is a list of the candidates for graduation:

Degree

Katherine Macca Adams, Charlotte, C. H.; Mabel Estelle Agee, Farmville; Annie Bowles Anthony, Stella; Laeta Duff Barham, Richmond; Mamie I. Barnes, Richmond; Georgia Kathleen Bass, Danville; Sara Elizabeth Beck, Butterworth; Margaret Birdwell, Farmville; Emily Taylor Blanton, Marion, N. C.; Fanny Campbell Bosworth, Brownsburg; Mabel Lucille Britt, Boykins; Virginia Isabelle Brook, Schuyler; Ethel L. Brown, Petersburg; Christine Frayser Childrey, Dumbarton; Carmen Ercell Clark, Collierstown; Anna Louise Coleman, Buffalo Junction; Katherine Burruss Coleman, Orange; Kathryn Elizabeth Cotton, Portsmouth; Ruth Rebecca Cousins, Wellville; Jestine Marie Cutshall, Roanoke; Vivian Hunter Davis, Farmville; Bernice Evelyn Eckler, Ilion, N. Y.; Frances Holmes Elder, Brookneal; Lena MacDonald Gardner, Shawsville; Margaret Elizabeth Gilmer, Big Stone Gap; Mary Menville Gilmer, Big Stone Gap; Dorothy Pitts Glover, Arvonia.

Ila Lucille Harper, Farmville; Helen Lindsay Harris, Lynchburg; Iris Deane Hart, Norfolk; Margaret Elizabeth Herndon, Richmond; Eleanor Powell Holman, Cartersville; Louise Schwartz Hyde Buchanan; Anne Evangeline Irving, Portsmouth; Lila Nottingham Jacob, Machipongo; Jessica Ann Jones, Glen Allen; Ethel Lee Joyner, Courtland; Dorothy F. Justis, Exmore, Sallie Josephine Kent, Amherst; Evelyn Gregory Knaub, Richmond; Mildred Owen Linthicum, Saluda; Belle Morton Lovelace, South Boston; Jean Weir McClure, Spottswood; Frances V. McDaniel, Hampton; Margaret Thompson McNamara, Richmond; Ella Butterworth Mallory, Lawrenceville; Ann Elizabeth Mann, Richmond; Madeline Martin, Critz; Audrey Elizabeth Mattox, Lynch Station; Clintis Mae Mattox, Roanoke; Lelia Ruth Mattox, Altavista; Lois Moses, Augusta, Ga; Mary Elizabeth Newcomb, Berryville; Anne Randolph Briscoe Putney Farmville; Martha Taylor

(Continued on page 4)

Dr. J. F. Essary

Dr. J. Frederick Essary, of Richmond, will deliver the commencement address June 4.

3rd Annual District Meeting of U. D. C. Convenes At S. T. C.

The annual district meeting of the United Daughters of the Confederacy convened at Farmville State Teachers College, May 14, from 10:00 A. M., to 3:00 P. M.

The delegates registered in the Student Building lounge at the college and the meeting was held in the Little Auditorium. Of the twenty-two chapters in the district, eighteen were represented at the meeting.

State officers present were: Mrs. Harry Quisenberry, second vice-president of Lexington; Mrs. W. A. Coleman, third vice-president, of Richmond; Mrs. W. O. Bickle, treasurer, of Staunton; and Mrs. A. S. J. Williams of Richmond, registrar.

Interesting talks were made by: Mrs. James A. Scott of Lynchburg, who spoke on the Lee Mauseleum; Mrs. Charles E. Bolling of Richmond, spoke on Relief; Mrs. Sydney Cox of Smithfield, chairman of loan funds and scholarships, spoke on Education.

Mrs. W. A. Coleman, who is in

(Continued on page 3)

Diggs Is Historian; Dortch Is Historian

The Sophomore Class held its regular meeting on April 30, 1935, for the express purpose of electing the historian and giftorian. Anne Diggs was elected historian and Chic Dortch was unanimously elected giftorian; these two outstanding girls will participate in the class day eexrcises during commencement.

Because of the recent marriage of Martha Stine, who was unanimously elected vice-president of the Junior Class, election for another to fill this vacancy will take place around the date of September 20, 1935, a few days after the beginning of the new session.

Salisbury Heads Student Standards Committee

The Student Standards Committee met Thursday, May 9, for the purpose of electing officers for the coming year.

Henrietta Salisbury was re-elected chairman of the committee. Doris Moore was elected secretary; she replaces Jessica Jones in that office.

Plans were laid for the coming term. The new committee is certain to be successful in their work for the year '35 and '36.

Essary To Speak At Commencement

Lecturer and Author To Make Principal Address

JUNE 4, 10:30 A. M.

Dr. J. Frederick Essary, Bishop coadjutor of the Richmond Diocese, will be the principal speaker at the State Teachers College commencement exercises to be held June 4.

Dr. Essary as a native of Tennessee. He was educated at the Baker and Himel School, Knoxville, Montgomery Bell Academy, Nashville, and Emory and Henry College, Virginia. He received the honorary degree of Doctor of Law from Emory and Henry College in 1933 and the same degree from George Washington University, Washington, D. C., in 1935.

For twenty-three years Dr. Essary has been Washington, London, and Paris correspondent of the Baltimore Sun and is now Dean of the Corps of Washington Correspondents. His early journalistic service was on the Norfolk and Richmond newspapers.

In the course of his service as a news writer in Washington, he has covered fifteen session of Congress, every national political convention since 1912, and has traveled with every candidate since 1908, with the exception of LaFollette in 1924.

Dr. Essary has reported six international conferences including the Paris Peace Conference, the Washington Arms Conference, and two sessions of Assembly of the League of Nations at Geneva. He has served as president of both the National Press Club of Washington and the famous Gridiron Club of that city.

In 1932 he was awarded the Chester D. Pugsley prize for the best Washington correspondent of the year. In 1907 he received a commemorative medal for the news writing he did on the Jamestown Exposition.

Dr. Essary is a frequent contributor to magazines and is a lecturer of note. He is the author of a number of books including, "Covering Washington," "Maryland in National Politics," "Washington Sketch Book," "Reverse English," "Ships" and "Your War Taxes."

Freshmen Add Ten Points To Color Cup For Red and White

Ten more points toward the color cup were added to the red and whites Thursday by defeating the green and whites in the class baseball games.

The freshmen played the sophomores May 9, and they proved to have a stronger team than the green and whites. The pitchers did well on the mound, and some good batting was also displayed by both teams. The final score of runs totaled 33 for the freshmen, and 18 for the sophomores.

The line-ups:

Freshmen	Sophomores
Russell, M.	CLewis, E. 3
Chappell, I, C	PVassar, L. C.
Anderson, M. L.	Varner, A R.
Bailey, K.	SJones, F. L.
Mann, E	IF Mann, B, C.
Thomas, M.	2F Carter, I. S.

Substitutes: Freshmen, McClenney, E., Phelps, R.

Scorers: Ranson, K, Deekens, M.

Umpire: Miss Olive T. Iler.

(Continued on page 3)

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Published by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

MEMBER
Associated Collegiate Press
1934 Collegiate Digest 1935
MADISON WISCONSIN

Staff

Florence Sanford ..... Editor
Agnes Bondurant ..... Associate Editor
Evelyn Massey ..... Business Manager

Board of Editors

Miss Jane Royall ..... Alumnae
Katherine Hoyle ..... Make-up
Susan Gresham ..... Headlines
Emma Bingham ..... Literary
Bess McGlothlin, Margaret Farrar, Mary Adeline McGlothlin ..... Editorials
Claire Eastman ..... World News
Margaret Fraley ..... Socials
Kathleen Ranson ..... Sports

Proof Readers

Elizabeth Walton Dorothy Deans

Managers

Elsie Cabell ..... Circulation
Ruth Phelps ..... Asst. Circulation
Louise Gathright ..... Asst. Circulation

Assistants and Reporters

Elizabeth Morris, Virginia Agee, Mary Joyner Cox, Alice Nelson, Amis Montgomery, Claudia Harper, Minnie Smith, Elizabeth Carroll, Willis Scott, Bonnie Lane.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 15, 1935

Virginian Honored

To write a biography, "teaching patriotic and unselfish services to the people, illustrated by an eminent example," is a laudable task, worthy of the honor of the Pulitzer Prize that Dr. Douglas Freeman of Richmond has recently received for his biography of Robert E. Lee.

Dr. Freeman modestly declares that it is not himself but the person about whom he wrote that won the prize. With all due respect to our dead Southern hero, we wish to assert that it is Dr. Freeman as much as Lee who won the prize. Had not the author written his book in an interesting style and presented a true portrait of the Confederate hero, the biography would not have made its winning appeal. Not every writer is willing to spend twenty years of research in order to give a fair picture of his subject. And after so much search, many writers have not the ability to evaluate and select the points of emphasis from a man's life suitable for a written biography.

Robert E. Lee we love for the honor he exemplified in the past. Dr. Freeman we would hold up as a model for the present. He presents truth interestingly, with emphasis upon what is of most importance.

Take Account

Every spring as the school year is nearing its end, we should think whether or not we have given our best in all of our undertakings—whether or not we have accomplished our purpose. Take an account of yourself. Did you come to Farmville to prepare yourself to be a teacher? Did you come to get a general knowledge? Or did you come because to go to some college seemed the proper thing to do? Few of us come for the latter reason, but whatever the reason, we should make the most of the advantage to further ourselves in education. Most of us plan to teach. Have we really taken an interest in the things that are essential to the make-up of a good teacher, and made the most of the special training courses? To be acknowledged as a good teacher is the highest compliment a person can be paid. The vital influence it has on its subjects makes teaching one of the noble professions. One must be an example as well as an instructor. Striving to attain a good character is one of the lofty ideals of every college. Have we striven for this attainment?

If we have not erred in this field, perhaps we made the mistake of taking part in too many activities. Instead of being of minor importance in many organizations, why not be of major importance in the group that follows the thing you are most interested in—the thing that you can give your best to and like it? We do injustice to ourselves when we use our time for extra-curricula work that retards the attainment of our immediate purpose.

If we have been guilty of these mistakes, let us finish this year with an unknown vigor and came back next year saner and more responsible, and let us clear-mindedly map our courses, putting first things first, but in the meantime, think, strive for a goal, and succeed. In connection with this thought, we may aptly say with Lowell:

"Life is a leaf of paper white
Whereon each one of us may write
His word or two, and then comes night.
Greatly begin! though thou have time
But for a line—be that sublime—
Not failure, but low aim is crime—.

Illegal Prosperity

Are you a member of the "Prosperity Club," as it is still called by its supporters? For several months the country has been flooded with chain letters which are supposed to bring prosperity "around the corner."' From a dime the sender should receive over $1,000, according to the letters. However, the amount has increased in many instances from ten cents to a dollar or even five dollars, and the results have been profitable to few people. The originators of the chain and those who first received and sent the letters have gained from fifteen to twenty dollars, and a few have made four hundred or eight hundred dollars on the five dollar chains, while thousands have been left "holding the bag."

The chains of prosperity letters have had a very degrading and immoral effect on the people of many communities. Those whose letters were not forwarded resorted to selling them to their friends. The New York Times gave an example of this influence in Springfield, Missouri. when senior high school officials ordered the boys to stop a dice game which was in progress during recess, they received the reply, "Yeah, and what about all our folks peddling chain letters?"

These prosperity chains are not only unprofi.table but they are illegal, declare postal authorities and the solicitors of the Postoffice Department in Washington. Anyone who writes the letters is violating the law whether he receives money in return or not. The letters, the solicitors said, come under the lottery and the fraud postal laws, which read in part:

"No letter concerning any scheme offering prizes dependent in whole or in part upon lot or chance shall be deposited or carried by the mails of the United States.

"Whoever shall knowingly deposit anything to be delivered by mail, herein forbidden to be carried by mail, shall be fined not more than $1,000, or imprisoned not more than two years, or both."

The larger western cities are feeling the rush the most, but the craze is growing so rapidly that others are being added to the list every day. It is up to the people to stop this unprofitable and illegal scheme in which they have innocently taken part.

There are two things that matter with Huey Long's reiterated threats to secede from the Union. One is that he will never do it and the other is that if he did he wouldn't take the other demagogues and back-biters along with him.

George Bernard Shaw says the only happy people are in the cemeteries. The theory has its points: People in the cemeteris don't have to listen to George Bernaw Shaw.

Among Our Caps and Gowns

Katharine Walton

—Courtesy News Leader

To keep the torch of learning high and to serve have been Katharine Walton's standards throughout her college career. Her service is attested by her work in the Y. W. C. A. on the Rotunda Staff, on the Virginian Staff, on the Student Council, as well as in the honor fraternities of Alpha Phi Sigma, Beta Pi Theta, Kappa Delta Pi, Sigma Pi Rho, and Pi Gamma Mu. That she has attained to high standards of scholarship we know from the honor she has just received in being elected to the place of Valedictorian of the class of '35.

Katharine's record shows that she served on the Prayers Committee of the Y. W. in her freshman and sophomore years. Then when a junior she was made chairman of this committee. This past year, the student body elected her vice-president of the Y. W. As a sophomore, Katharine was proof reader on the Rotunda Staff. Later she worked on the Virginian, also, having been literary editor of the fiftieth anniversary issue. In addition to these permanent offices, Katharine was editor-in-chief of the junior issue of the Rotunda in 1934. This past year she served as class representative on the student council.

Our valedictorian's work in the honor societies has also been notable. When a sophomore, she was vice-president of Alpha Phi Sigma, scholastic fraternity. Last year she was president of Beta Pi Theta, national French fraternity. In addition, Katharine is a member of Sigma Pi Rho, Pi Gamme Mu, and Kappa Delta Pi.

When Katharine Walton is graduated from S. T. C., a real student and a loyal citizen will leave our campus.

Rotunda Reverberations

"It's not news when a dog bites a man, but it is news when a man bites a dog." So we say it's not news when a girl wants to leave the infirmary, but surely it is news when you can't persuade a girl to leave the infirmary. Really, "Tank," you are puzzling.

Stop your knitting, girls. It's time for essay writing. Suggested subjects: "S. T. C.'s Faculty"; "Graduation and Bills"; "I've Got More Sunburn Than You"; "What a Life Waiting for a Doctor." Laeta, maybe you can find a topic among these to interest you.

I guess we'll be rather embarrassed when we visit S. T. C. when it becomes an "Institution in 1940. But on second thought we'll probably feel at home if we're teaching at that point.

"Calling all cars." "I can't find a seven. "I'll have to meet my future husband at home this summer, it seems," says Mary Lee Powell, "no eights in this town."

Warning, Virginia Baker. If you send many more chain letters we'll start taking up collection to bail you out of jail.

Things we're living for: ice tea for lunch—our last exam—certificates—degrees—June 4th.

I don't know where you're planning to go for final dances or if you're planning at all but you can't go wrong. There are some choice orchestras in the running. A sample: Washington and Lee, Hal Kemp and Glen Gray; V. M. I., Ted Weems; Richmond University, Jim Fettis and Ozzie Nelson; Hampden-Sydney, "Red" Nichols and Hal Kemp.

Alumnae News

The Alumnae Chapter of Peninsula Association of Virginia held a luncheon at the Hampton Roads Golf and Country Club for the seniors of the high schools of the counties of York, Elizabeth City, and Warwick, and of the cities of Newport News and Hampton.

Dr. Jarman, Miss Leola Wheeler, Mrs. W. C. Fitzpatrick, Miss Jane Royal, and Hazel Smith were honored guests at the luncheon. The entire program showed the graduating seniors the merits of Farmville and their great love for it.

Mrs. Walter Leyland, president of the Peninsula group, welcomed the girls and presented an interesting program of college songs and old college yells. Mr. Newton spoke on "A Word To Girl Graduates"; other talks were made by the guests.

The enthusiastic alumnae closed the luncheon with the Alma Mater song.

Review of the News

Reports are abroad that King Boris was very shrewd when he interfered with the plot of the Bulgarian army officers against his government since it resulted in his becoming Dictator of his country.

The officers planned a coup when they were informed that the cabinet of Andre Tocheff would be composed of Civilians. Dictator Boris, however, put the rebel officers under careful guard and displayed a new regime, demanding a new constitution, and a rebirth of Bulgaria to a normal civilization, once again. It is hoped that Boris' plan will end sucessfully.

It seems as if the American Navy's great mid-Pacific air armada still continues flight to its "secret" goal. Some observers in Honolulu have offered reports to the effect that the fighting planes landed for the night either at French Frigate Shoals, five hundred miles from Honolulu, or at Pearl and Hernes Reef, one hundred miles this side of Midway. They claim with certain proof that at least a small percentage of the one hundred-fifty-three ships of the fleet was in that vicinity.

It is thought that the naval command was intent upon winning an imaginary war and was using the silence order to stimulate war time conditions. However, the world is in doubt as to the validity of this report.

After an absence of two successful years, exploring in the Antarctic region, Admiral Byrd has at last returned to his native land, America. He and his crew were welcomed by a resounding booming of guns and a burst of music from the United Navy Band, followed by a hearty handshake of welcome and congratulations from President Roosevelt to which Admiral Byrd replied: "Sir . . . we have our reward." Governor Peery also offered a word of congratulation.

The whole world joins with President Roosevelt and Governor Perry in extending congratulations to Admiral Byrd, the only man to fly across the North and South Poles, for his unequalled achievements which include valuable information to at least twenty-two sciences and for his claiming for the United States 250,000 square miles of land which he mapped out and named Marie Byrd Land.

Literary Column

Every year in May awards are announced for the out-standing American literary works for the year. They are chosen by the Advisory Board of the Pulitzer School of Journalism at Columbia University in accordance with the will of Joseph Pulitzer, the late publisher of the New York World.

The awards are conferred at the Columbia University commencement and are made on the following terms: for the American novel published during the year which shall present the educational value and power of the stage in raising the standard of good morals, good taste, and good manners; for the best volume of verse published during the year by an American author; for the best book of the year upon the history of the United States.

The awards for the period 1925 to 1935 are:

Novels

1925—Edna Ferber—So Big
1926—Sinclair Lewis — Arrowsmith.
1927—Louis Brumfield — Early Autumn.
1928—Thornton Wilder—The Bridge of San Luis Rey.
1929—Julia Peterkin — Scarlet Sister Mary
1930—Oliver La Forge—Laughing Boy.
1931—Margaret Ayer Barnes—Years of Grace.
1932—Pearl S. Buck—The Good Earth.
1933—T. S. Stribling — The Store.
1934—Caroline Miller—Lamb in His Bosom.
1935—Josephine Winslow Johnson—Now in November.

Drama

1925 —Sidney Howard — They Knew What They Wanted.
1926—George Kelley — Craig's Wife.
1927—Paul Green—In Abraham's Bosom.
1928—Eugene O'Neill—Strange Interlude.
1929 — Elmer Rice — Street Scene.
1930—Marc Connelly — Green Pastures
1931—Susan Gaspell—Alison's House.
1932—George S. Kaufman—Of Thee I Sing.
1933—Maxwell Anderson—Both Your Houses.
1934—Sidney Kingsley — Men in White.
1935—Zoe Akins — The Old Maid.

Poetry

1925—Edwin Arlington Robinson—The Man Who Died Twice.
1926—Amy Lowell — What's o'clock.
1927—Leonoar Speyer — Fiddler's Farewell. . .
1928— E. A. Robinson — Tristram.
1929—Stephen Vincent Benet—John Brown's Body.
1930—Conrad Aiken — Selected Poems.
1932 — George Dillon — The Flowering Stone.
1933—Archibald MacLeish — Conquistador.
1934—Robert Hillyer—Collected Verse.
1935 — Audrey Wurdemann — Bright Ambush.

Mrs. Anne M. Stiff, Chairman of Latin Committee for Tentative Course of Study for Virginia Secondary Schools, in receiving a copy of the Tributum, Latin publication at S. T. C., wrote the editor of that publication a letter complimenting the Latin paper and expressing her interest in and enjoyment of its contents.

The Tributum is a pamphlet containing translations of favorite passages from the Classical writers that the Latin students at S. T. C. with Miss Rice's aid publish annually.

The student body, the faculty, and members of the administration wish to extend their sympathy to Paige McGee in her recent sorrow.

SOCIALS

Of course the "home lovers" had to go home for Mother's Day. Those girls who went home are: Helen Boswell, Nell Boswell, Grace Collins, Ida Sue Carter, Mary Cunningham, Inez Chappell, Louise Gathright, Elizabeth Harris, Roberta Haskins, Mabel Hobel,Edna Harvey, Doris Isabel, Nora Jones, Pattie Jeffries, Rachel Joyner, Francis Jones, Amis and Ruth Montgomery, Dorothy Price,Dorothy Wise, Kathleen McCann, Pauline Pearl-Elinor Wood, Rose Puller, Irene Taylor, Mary Harrison Vaughn, Elinor Wood, Rose Pullen, Irene Lacy, Edna Bolick, Nan Page Trent, Merwyn Gathright, Gracie Allen Pittard, Fletcher Walker Virginia Martin, Frances Maxey, Elizabeth and Lois Vassar, Virginia Hurt, Rebecca Carter, Margaret Pollard, Francis Robinson, Rose Somers, Charleigne Hall, Virginia Pilcher, and Margaret Russell.

To Richmond

Dot Glover, Audrey Hawthorne, Virginia Leonard, Dorothy Morris, Lois Moses, Mary L. Slater, Elise Turner, Kitty Hoyle, Mammie Barnes, Catherine Zimmerman, Virginia Saunders, and Henrietta Salisbury spent week-end in Richmod.

Fork Union

Ethel Burgess, Margaret Herndon and Margaret Fraley spent the week-end in Fork Union.

Lynchburg

Lynchburg seems to be getting very popular as a shopping place for S. T. C. girls. Those girls who were shopping in Lynchburg last week-end are: Virginia Agee, Grace Virginia Bass, Elsie Cabell, Virginia Hannah, Rose M. Hunter, Mabel Aydelette, Norvel Montague, Crenshaw Jones, Nelwyn Latimer, Elizabeth Morris and Nancy Pobst.

To Amherst

"Liz" Carroll, Martha Hamlet, Mildred Meeks, and Lucille Rhodes spent the week-end with Nancy Beard at Amherst.

To Lawrenceville

Frankie McDaniel, Anne Johnson and Jestine Cutshall spent the past week-end in Lawrenceville as guests of Sue Mallory.

Arrington

Brooks Wheeler, Eleanor Wade, Louise Harris, Helen Harris and Fanny Bosworth spent the past week-end in Arrington.

Other Places Visited

We wonder what S. T. C. will do when the globe trotters do get to the license number "one hundred"; but why cross the bridge before we get to it. The globe trotters of this week-end are: June Allen, Virginia Beach; Lucille Akens, Blacksburg; Margaret Aldridge, Danville; Louise Briggs, Victoria; Leslie Bradshaw, Kenbridge; Virginia Brown, Williamsburg; Virginia Bean, South Hill; Frances Britton, Broadnax; Kitty Chappell, Drakes Branch; Francis Collie, South Boston; Delha Pope Chambliss, Rawlings; Mildred Chandler, Clarksville; Francis and Emily Channell, Smithfield; Edith Coffey, Concord Depot; Mary Denny, Prospect; Virginia Doughty, Kenbridge;Nancy Dodd, Chase City; Winnie Francis Eubank, Franklin; Francis Farris, Crewe; Margaret Ferguson, Danville; Katherine, Dinwiddie; Evelyn Howell, Powhatan; Evelyn Hastings, Blackstone; May Harvey, Concord Depot; Francis Johnson, Big Island; Francis Jamerson, Pamplin; Mildred Linthicum, Quinton; Belle Lovelace, South Boston; Rebecca Mayes, Petersburg; Paige Magee, Petersburg; Agnes Thompson, Petersburg; Mary Adeline McGlothlin, Durham; Addie Norfleet Goochland Court House; Mary Phipps, Jetersville, Louise Patridge, Natural Bridge; Marion Pond, Norfolk.

Margaret Pittard, Clarksville; Louise Potter, Appomattox; Dorothy Robertson, Prospect; Anthelia Robinette, Norfolk; Mena Smelley, Natural Bridge; Anne Scales, Halifax; Minnie Smith, South Hill; Nan Seward, Petersburg; Gay Stieffen, Clarksville; Wyclif Scott, Butterworth; Ruth Showalter, Boydton; Katherine Young, Boydton; Mary L. French, Sunny Side; Katherine Cotten, Keysville; Nancy Wall, Boydton; Anne Leigh Bailey, Lexington; Evelyn Boston, Boydton; Billy Rountree, Suffolk; Lelia Hill, Crozet; Margaret Clark, Crozet; Mary Newcomb, Amelia; Elizabeth Trent Gloucester; Eleanor Shackleton, Meherrin; Katherine Harvey, Curdsville; Tac Waters, Petersburg; Evelyn Montgomery, Petersbug; Mary Rives Black, Pamplin; Hazel Smith, Hampton; Catherine Crews, Clover; Virginia Hooke, Charlotte C. H.; Elna Shorter, Charlotte C. H.; and Dot Price Brookneal.

Going Away? . . . . . .

Travel by

GREYHOUND

Safe—Comfortable—Economical

Gamma Theta Sorority Has Annual Banquet Saturday

The Gamma Theta sorority held its spring banquet Saturday night, May 11, at Longwood. Among the alumnae back were: Mrs. Charles McIlwaine and Mrs. Boyd Corner of Farmville, Mrs. Mildred Dickerson Davis of Hampden-Sydney, Mrs. Virginia Cowherd Adkins, Mrs. Polly Smith Johnson, Miss Lucille Tiller, and Miss Kitty Woodson of Richmond, Miss "Snooty" Loving and Miss Kitty Logan of Salem, Mrs. Kitty Reid Ebert and Mrs. Julia Reid Crumpler of Roanoke, Mrs. Anne Smith Green of Chevy Chase, Maryland, Miss Frances Dillon, Indian Rock, and Mrs. Fannie Warren Thwing of Orange. Miss Stubbs, faculty adviser, was also a guest.

Zeta Tau To Be Installed Into Alpha Sigma Tau

The pldges of Zeta Tau entertained the active members at a picnic yesterday afternoon at Longwood. Much fun was had by all.

Mrs. Carrie W. Staehle, National President of Alpha Sigma Tau will visit here this week-end to install the Zeta Tau chapter into Alpha Sigma Tau, National Education Sorority. The regular Spring banquet of the sorority will be held Saturday night in the tea room and a large number of alumnae are expected to return for the installation and banquet.

Annual Staff Has Banquet Members Receive '35 Books

The Virginian staff held its annual banquet Wednesday night, April 8, in the college tea room. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. McCorkle, Miss Jennings, Miss Bedford, and both the old and new staff members. Presents were given to Elizabeth Vassar Lelia Sanford, and Mr. McCorkle for their splendid work on the 1935 Virginian. Miss Jennings and Miss Bedford who have been valuable contributors received flowers. At this time the staff received their annuals.

Y. W. C. A. Notes

Both the old and new cabinets of the Y. W. C. A. and the Students Christian Association of Hampden-Sydney spent a most enjoyable evening at a joint picnic at Longwood last Thursday.

Food being the main objective, the crowd gathered at the cabin and had a delightful supper of sandwiches, cookies, ice cream, drinks, etc.

Sue Waldo, led the games that were played on thelawn of the amphitheatre. The members delighted in playing Drop the Handkerchief, Pretty Girl's Station, London Bridge, and other games remindful of our younger days.

Soon it was dark and everyone returned to the cabin to toast marshmallows in the fireplace and sing our favorite songs.

The ride back in the bus was fun and we are all looking forward to another picnic next spring that will prove as successful as this one.

At Other Colleges

INTERCOLLEGIATE News . . .

Ohio State University boasts of having the most sound proof room of any college in the world. This unusual rdom is equipped so the students can see with their eyes. This modern world with its "seeing sound" is putting an end to that old proverb about "never believing anything you hear and half of what you see."

—The Ring Tum Phi

Every Thursday night the students at Florida State Teachers College have a certain sum of money to be raffled at 9:00 o'clock, and every week every person in the audience makes up his mind that never again will he fall for this gag—not until next Thursday night ,at least.

. . . —The Florida Flambeau.

Explanation of the spring increase of mail is offered by the Lehigh's "Brown and White":

If your female correspondence
Has increased a lot of late,
Wonder not at the prepond'-drance
The ladies seek a spring prom date.

The"Villanovan" quotes the retiring president of Wellesley College as saying, "The average college girl of today is more approachable, which is a good thing.

After seeing "The Mark of The Vampire" one overly clever senior at V. P. I., with the aid of a little lipstick, his cape, a black cloth for his head and possibly some shoe polish decided to see if the boys really did believe in such things as "Vampires." Quoting from the "Virginia Tech": "To say that a mad man was loose would be putting it mildly. One victim screamed and turned white and began to beseech the monstrous creature to go away. Another yelled and dived under the covers. But now the crops seem to be recovering nicely from the shock."

Miss Mary Cox Entertains Student Council Members

Miss Mary White Cox, head of home, entertained both old and new members of the Student Council with a picnic at Longwood on Tuesday afternoon at 4. The menu consisted of: fried chicken with hot biscuits, ham and olive sandwiches with pickles and radishes, cheese bars and punch with chocolate cake and individual lemon pies.

Zeta Tau Pledges Entertain Old Girls

The Zeta Tau pledges entertained the old girls with a picnic at Longwood on Tuesday afternoon.

College Choir Honors New Sponsor At Reception

The College Choir with Dr. Jarman, Mrs. Haskins, Mrs. William Gills Miss Mattie Willis, Mrs. Laing, Martha Ann Laing, Dr. Cooke, and Mr. and Mrs. Tucker as guests, held a reception in the Student Building Lounge Monday night in honor of their new sponsor, Miss Virgilia Bugg.

The program consisted of several renditions by Dr. Jarman, several choruses by the College Choir, and a poem read by Gertrude Levy.

Refershments were served by members of the choir assisted by Mrs. Strick.

WILLIS
The Florist
Flowers for all occasions
PHONE3 181-273

S. A. Legus
TAILOR
CLEANING
PRESSING
REPAIRING
Phone 203

Freshmen Add Ten Points to Color Rup

(Continued from page 1)

Friday at 4 o'clock, the victorious freshmen scored another victory by defeating their own sister class, the juniors, by a much closer margin, the score being only two points difference, 23-21. The juniors stood up well against the more numerous freshmen, but the freshmen succeeded in making two runs more.

The junior line-up:

Walker, L., Captain .....Catch
Ranson,K. .....Pitch
Massey, E. .....First Base
Mayo, E. .....Second Base
Harrison, M. .....Third Base
Kern, R. .....Field
Scorers: Anderson, M. L., Mann, B.
Umpire: Miss Olive T. Iler.

Meeting of U. D. C. Convenes at S. T. C.

(Continued from page 1)

charge of junior work, introduced Miss Mary Joyner Cox of S. T. C., second vice-president of the Children of the Confederacy in the State of Virginia.

The district adopted a resolution to increase the pension of veterans and that of the widows of veterans.

Delegates to the convention were entertained at a luncheon at the Methodist Church.

Southside Chapter H. S. C. Alumni Holds Meeting

The Annual meeting of the Southside Chapter of the Hampden-Sydney alumni was held May 17 at 630 o'clock. Alumni of Prince Edward and the seven adjacent counties, will attend the ball game Friday afternoon between the Tigers and the Randolph-Macon Yellow Jackets and then have supper together at 6:30 in the guests-room of the College dining hall. Entertainment featuring the Moore Trio, will follow the dinner.

Rives Archer Hardy of Blackstone is President of the Chapter and James Crinkley of the same place is secretary.

All alumni who can attend the supper at 6:30 are requested to notify Geo. L. Walker, General Secretary, at Hampden-Sydney.

College girls like skirts with stripes in them, blouses with dots in them, and letters from home with checks in them.

Special orders for
Teas and Parties
Try our doughnuts
Foley's Bakery
Third Street

Rice's Shoe Store
Street and Dress Shoes
Dancing Slippers Dyed
Correct fits our specialty 11

Kleanwell
CLEANERS AND TAILORS
Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling ladies garments
Main Street, opposite Post office
Phone 98

Gray's Drug Store
QUALITY—PRICE—SERVICE
Come in and Get Acquainted
We are glad to have you with us!
Farmville, Virginia

Mack's
BARBER AND BEAUTY SHOP
323 Main Street
We use the Frederick Method
Hair cutting and thinning a Specialty

The Freshman Commission invites everyone to a buffet supper on Saturday, May 18, in the "rec" from six-thirty to seven-thirty. Plans have been made so that everyone will surely have a good time. The admission is thirty-five cents.

First Grade Pupils Portray Unusual Ability Monday

Singing, dancing, and playing were features of a program presented by the first grade of the training school, Monday morning, in the college auditorium.

Unusual ability was portrayed by the pupils. The program showed that hard and constant work on the part of both pupils and teachers had been done.

Marriage Announced

Miss Doreen Smith, an alumnae of Farmville, was married to Jack Franklin of Lynchburg at the home of Mrs. W. D. Bowman in Huntington, Pa. They will live in Lynchburg.

C. E. Chappell Co.
Stationery, Blank Books and School Supplies
Cigars, Cigarettes and Soda
Farmville, Virginia

PRINTING . . . . .
When you think of Printing think of
—The—
FARMVILLE HERALD

FOR THE SWEET GRADUATE
Fluffy white dresses, long lengths or tailored styles, two price groups $4.95 and $7.85
White shoes—new Cleopatra Sandals $1.49 and $1.95
THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE
Farmville's Best Place to Shop!

—FOR—
EVERYTHING—SCHOOL SUPPLIES, CANDIES, FRUITS, CONFECTIONS, ETC.
GO TO . . . . . .
GILLIAM'S
Open 'till 9:00 p. m.

ARE YOU INTERESTED?
JACKETS of Grain and Suede Cloth and Wool SWEATERS.
We are showing the season's newest. Come in. We are glad to show—Just what we have—and the line is very attractive.
VERSER'S

PHILCO RADIO
World's largest manufacturers of Radio
A complete line
Watch repairing a specialty
Sheet Music—Strings for Instruments
LYNN, The Main Street Jeweler

YOUR NEIGHBOR,
The Weyanoke Beauty Salon
invites you to drop in and take advantage of their Special prices now in effect.
Permanent Waves—$4 & $6 Shampoo & Fingerwave 75 cents
Manicure 40 cents
Indiivdual, courteous, efficient service and an established reputation for dependability and satisfaction. That is our guarantee, and your assurance of perfect workmanship.

Students Are Urged To Enter Open Field And Track Contest

That this year there will be an open field and track meet has been announced by Miss Iler, athletic coach, and Frances Yester, manager.

The times for practice are scheduled on the poster in the hall. Any student can participate in the meet, which is scheduled to be held Monday, May 20 at 4 o'clock. Those expecting to enter the meet are asked to sign up some time this week under the events they wish to enter. An entrant may sign for two eevnts entrant may sign for two events in all. The events in the meet are: throwing class—javelin, baseball throw for distance, shot out; jumping class—standing hop, step, and jump, standing broad jump, and running high jump; running class—class relay, 50-yard dash, and Indian Club Relay.

Here's a chance for more colors on the cup. Who will win? Students are urged to enter the meet to make more competition. A class may have any number of teams for the relay. Come on out to support your class colors once more.

Lacrosse Will Begin; Tennis Courts Ready

Lacrosse practices will be held cessation of baseball. Two teams are to be played soon, but not definite date has been set as yet. It is not too late to come on out now to learn from Miss Iler about this fascinating sport, new here at our college.

A few of the tennis courts are ready for use. S. T. C. students show their appreciation of the courts by the daily constant use they make of them. Every day the courts are lined with girls waiting to play. Complaints are being made about not being able to get a court to play on. Remember that you, as students, have first right to the courts, and if any boys or other town people are there,it is proper to ask them to leave. They know that they are supposed to leave if S. T. C. girls want to use them, so don't stop because you can't get a court. Ask the people to leave, or wait your turn!

The doubles are to be played off this week. Those who have signed to play are Grace Eubank and Belle Lovelace, Caroline Jones, and Virginia Jones, Nelle Oakey, Ryan and Louise Walmsley, Billie Rountree and Betty Butterworth, Elsie Cabell and Virginia Agee, Brooks Wheeler, and Eleanor Wade, Martha Putney, Sarah Parker and Iris Rountree, Mary Lena Anderson and Kathleen Ranson.

Cotillion Initiation Ends for Goats

(Continued from page 1)

courage they had ever bragged of and started down the death line. Paddles were flying; some struck home; others sang in the air but missed. (No griping on the "goats" part).

Kappa Delta Pi Is Reception Hostess

(Continued from page 1)

Dunavant, Marguerite York, Emma McMullen, Margaret Russell, Elsie Cabell, Marjorie Bradshaw, Eleanor Gibbs, Caroline Alsop, VictoriaGillette, Katherine Hurt, and Lloyd Kelly.

Commencement Rehearsal

Rehearsals for the graduation exercises are as follows:

Friday, May 31, 2:10 p. m.—Auditorium.

Saturday, June 1, 8:30 A. M. Auditorium.

Girls participating in the exercises are urged to co-operate with the committee in charge in making the program a creditable one.

168 Students Are On Candidates List As '35 Graduates

(Continued from page 1)

Putney, Farmville; Margery Anne Quarles, Charlottesville.

Virginia Earle Rawlings, Bird's Nest; Maude Roberta Rhodes, Hampton; Minnie Lee Rodgers, Farmville; Marguerite Manning Rollins, Messick; Nelle Oakey Ryan, Shawsville; Virginia Gidson Saunders, Richmond; Edith Alva Sawyer, Petersburg; Wyclif Scott, Orange; Helen Burnette Shawen, Newport News; Ruth Elizabeth Showalter, Kenbridge; Elizabeth Wainwright Showell, Hughesville, Md.; Helen Smith, Roanoke; Anne Belle Strock, Hampden-Sydney; Mary Elizabeth Stubs, Petersburg; Alice Burke Tweedy, Lynchburg; Anna Elizabeth Vassar, Keysville; Katharine Lee Walton, Clifton Forge; Alice Brooking Wheeler, Arrington; Janice Roper White, Oak Hill, W. Va.; Mary Watkins Wicker, Farmville; Charlotte Warriner Young, Richmond; E. Katherine Young, Boydton.

Diploma

Ava Willie Alderman, Galax; Elizabeth Ruth Andrews, Phenix; Margaret Bailey, Clarksville; Mary Elizabeth Bailey, Phenix; Virginia Murcele Baird, Savedge; Helen Virginia Bean, South Hill; Ella Authur Black, Kingsport; Edith Ann Bondurant, Farmville; Marion Virginia Bracey, Sheppards; Marguerite Gertrude Bradford, Hampton; Marjorie Bradshaw Zuni; Frances Brumfield, Long Island; Alice Virginia Campbell, New Glasgow; Martha Mildred Chandler, Buffalo Junction; Emily Whitley Channell, Smithfield; Sarah Frances Channell, Smithfield; Sally Rose Chappelle, Portsmouth; Anna Laura Cobb, Drewryville; Virginia Coleman, Crewe; Willie Grace Collins, Drakes Branch; Katherine Conway, Orange; Margie Helen Cooke, Prospect; Sarah Evelyn Corbin, Windsor; Mabel Catherine Crews, Nathie; Mary Laura Cunningham, Buena Vista; Mildred Temperance Davis, Chester; Maud Gilkeson Deekens, Stanton.

Julia Louise Derr, Newport News; Ann Randolph Diggs, Newport News; Margaret Stuart Dortch, South Hill; Murkland A. Dressler, Covington; Alice Virginia Elder, Clarkton; Bernice Elizabeth Estes, Rice; Katheryn Whitehead Fitzgerald, Chatham; Eleanor V. Gibbs, Stanardsville; Catherine Lee Gillespie, Cedar Bluff; Ellen Brightwell Gilliam, Prospect; Helen Elizabeth Glass, Farmville; Martha Virginia Galtney, Windsor; Charlsne Marie Hall, Roanoke; Margaret Eleanor Harris, Prospect; Audrey Boyd Hawthorne, Richmond; Dorothy Christian Hutcheson, Sumter, S. C.; Hilda Irvin Inge, Huddleston; Frances Juanita Jamerson, Pamplin; Lois Archer Jenkins, Powhatan; Dorothy Estelle Johnston, Amherst; Kathleen Loving Johnson, Amherst; Lillian Frances Johnson, Suffolk; Virginia Louise Johnson, Bremo Bluff; Virginia Drewry Jones, Norfolk; Blanche Elizabeth Kahn, Newport News; Elva Moore Kidd, Ebony; Irene Davis Lacy, Sandy Hook; Marion Grey Layne, Gladys.

Blanche Temple Lewis, Aylett; Madeline Elsie McCommons, Covington; Sally Paige Magee, Yale; Gertrude Araminta Manning, Boydton; Sallie Virginia Martin, Galdstone; Eleanor Lewis Mitchell, Walkerston; Dorothy Lee Morris, Orange; Helen Lee Morris, Jetersville; Lucile P. Moseley, Newport News; Zilla Anne Newsom, Virginia Beach; Marion Page Nottingham, Eastville; Margaret E. Pittard, Buffalo Junction; Carrie B. Putney, Guinea Mills; Annette Roberts, Norton; Dorothy Elliott Robertson, Lynchburg; Mattie N. Russell, Covington; Patsy W. Saunders, Bedford; Marion Elizabeth Shoffner, Roanoke; Ellen Simmerman, Wytheville; Mena Mae Snelley, LaCrosse; Elizabeth Alice Smith, Newport News; Minnie Walton Smith, South Hill; Rosa B. Somers, Burkeville; Mildred Stewart, Henderson, N. C.; Gay Katherine Stieffen, Newport News; Lelia Nelson Stokes, Farmville; Dorothy Stone, Ellen Newport News; Ella Agnes Thompson, South Hill; Mary Elaine Tice, Tazewell; Dorothy Lee Turner, Crewe.

Nellie Moore Turnes, Concord Depot; Eleanor Kinnear Wade, Raphine; Nancy Cabell Wall, Boydton; Martha Reed Walthall, Rice; Ella Constance Ware, Dunnsville; Marcia Bernice Welch, Norfolk; Elizabeth Jean Willis, Cape Charles; Evelyn Wilson, Boydton; Wilma Tuck Wilson, Virgilina; Mary Alice Wood, Roanoke; Frances Macon Woodhouse, Norfolk; Mary Doe Wright, Clintwood; Ava Willie Alderman, Galax; Alice Zeigler, Richlands.

"Sing" Depicts S. T. C. Of Today and Future

An entertaining program was given at Sing Saturday night, in the large auditorium.

The first part of the program showed us S. T. C. as it is today. The curtain opened with Bonnie Powell trying to converse with Mary Jane Pendleton, but the attempt ended in utter failure, as Mary Jane was busily engaged in knitting and concentrated fully upon it. Elsie Greene appeared carrying an armful of books. She informed Bonnie that the teachers were giving entirely too many tests,and she showed very much concern over the fact.

The second scene gave us a picture of the future S. T. C.—the S. T. C. of 1940. The curtain opened with Laeta Barham, a reading teacher, trying in vain to control her class. She could get no response whatsoever from Mary Jane Pendleton, who had "ropped a stitch." Miss Barham also had much difficulty with Lena Mac Gardner, who was dressed in white and was holding a candle in her hand. Nell Oakey Ryan then appeared on the scene, dressed in a sun suit, and carrying a blanket and pillow. She was overjoyed because the sun had come out, and begged Miss Barham's permission to go out on the roof. Next Lelia Sanford ran across the stage madly clapping two paddles together. Anne Diggs rushed out to ask if there were any dangerous inmates in the institution. When Miss Barham answered in the negative, Anne added, "It must be Spring Fever."

Farmville High School Has Two First Honor Grads

An unusual situation arose in the selection of the honor graduates at the Farmville High School for this year. Elinor Button and James Blanton tied for first honor, the average of both for their entire four years being the same. Because of this fact, Farmville High School will have two valedictorians this year.

Thomas Graham, having the second highest average for the four years, was chosen salutatorian.

W. H. Goodwin To Lecture On Cancer Prevention

A lecture on cancer prevention will be held at Farmville on May 21st at 8 p. m. Dr. W. H. Goodwin, head of the Tumor Clinic, University of Virginia Hospital, Charlottesville, Va., will be the speaker. The lecture will be illustrated with moving pictures. The lecture is sponsored by the local subcommittee of the American Society for the Control of Cancer, and will be held in the "Little Auditorium" of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Va. The public is invited. There will be no admission fee.

Health Day Is Observed; Five Pointers Recognized

A Health Day program, a part of the statewide campaign for good health, will be observed in the State Teachers College training school Thursday, May 23, when appropriate exercises will be held in the college auditorium. The public is invited to the program which will start at eleven o'clok. A feature of the program will be the awarding of the five-point certificates to those meeting the requirements.

We are glad to have with us again Miss Draper who has been confined to her home for two weeks because of illness.

Juniors and Sophs Tie For Hockey Honors

(Continued from page 1)

Chandler, M. R.H. . .Samford, E. Moore, M. . . .C.H. . .Waters, T. Irby, K. . . . .R.F. . . .Massey, E. McGlothlin b. L.F. . . .Walker, L. Man, B. . . . . G. . . Walmsley, L. Ransom, K. . . . H. Harrison, M.

Hours for archery practices are posted on the bulletin board. Practice are held behind Cunningham Hall, under the supervision of Maxine Burks, assistant manager of the sport. A tournament is to be held Tuesday, May 21. Until then keep your own score to see what improvement you make.

Patient: How can I ever repay you for your kindness to me?

Doctor: By cheque, postal order, or cash.

TUSSY

$1.00

Unbelievable!

All this for $1.00? Tussy Powder in that new super-clinging quality, and the new patent non-spill box, full $1.00 size... PLUS an introductory Tussy Automatic Lipstick, 50¢ value . . . PLUS a real lamb's wool puff.

All for $1.00!

An ideal offer for the collee girls.

Come in today for yours.

BALDWIN'S

FARMVILLE, VA.

The Schemmel Conservatory of Music

Offers interesting instruction by Artist Teachers, arranged to suit the needs of each pupil. Piano: Elsa Schemmel Fairchild, Marie Schemmel Shroder, Voice: Mattie Spencer Willis, Violin: Richmond Seay of Blackstone College.

Farmville Mfg. Co.
BUILDING MATERIALS
MILLWORK
Farmville, Va.

You Would Love to Have Your Shoes Fixed at

Lovelace Shoe Shop
110 Third Street

ROOM FURNISHINGS
SCHOOL SUPPLIES
CANDIES

ROSES

5-10-25c Store
FARMVILLE, VA.

Overton-Mottley Hdwe. Co.

ELECTRIC GOODS/
Tennis Rackets and balls
Roller Skates

EACO THEATRE

Mats. 4 p. m.; Nights 8 p. m.
Adults 25c; Children 15c
Unless otherwise noted

Wed., May 15 Cartoon
SILVER STREAK
First Episode
"PHANTOM EMPIRE"

Thurs.-Fri., May 15-16
WALLACE BEERY
Rbt. Taylor, Rbt. Young
Maurine O'Sullivan
"West Point of the Air"
Special!
"LA CUCHARACHA"
All color sensational short
Adults 25c and 35c

Saturday Cartoon
"The President Vanishes"
With A. Byron, R. Russell

Next Mon.-Tues. May 20-21 News
CLAUDETTE COLBERT
Joan Bennett, Chas. Boyer
"Private Worlds"
Adults 25c and 35c

Next Wed., Novelty
W. C. Fields Baby Leroy
"IT'S A GIFT"
Chap. 2 "Phantom Empire"

Shannon's
Is Headquarters for the Best
SANDWICHES
—and—
DRINKS
in Farmville!

Southside Drug Store
(On the Corner)
Films Developed FREE
If bought at this store

Conoco Gas and Oil
Fill up at
Johns Motor Co.
Farmville, Va.

SUPPERS AND SMALL PARTIES
Good Breakfast
Dinners
Suppers
College Tea Room
and
LONGWOOD

Buy Your
CANDY
To Sell at
H. T. Stokes & Co.

G. F. Butcher
High Street
"The Convenient Store"
FOR GOOD THINGS
TO EAT AND DRINK

Electric Shoe Shop
Will Fix Your Shoes
While You Wait
BEST WORKMANSHIP
AND LEATHER USED

Martin the Jeweler
Gifts of
Lasting Remembrance
317 Main St. Farmville

POTTED MEATS
SANDWICH SPREAD
SANDWICH ROLLS
HOT DOGS
Everything for the Picnic
W. R. Drumeller
Main Street Farmville

The Fashion Shoppe
Reflects the newest styles. All dresses $2.95 up
COATS, SUITS, DRESSES, UNDERWEAR
Silk Hose
Fine quality ..... 49c 59c and 69c

WHITE SEASON IS HERE
Gorgeous Graduation Dresses ..... $2.97 to $9.94
Pastel colors—maise, blue and pinks, brown and maise combinations ..... $5.95 and $7.45
DOROTHY MAY STORES
First to Show the Newest!
FARMVILLE, VA.

GOOD LUCK
ON EXAMS

The Rotunda

We Teach To Teach

BEST WISHES FOR A
HAPPY VACATION

Volume XV. FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, MAY 22, No. 30

Students In Favor Of 1936 May Day; Robeson Is Head

Comittee Chairmen To Be Chosen Later

SUBMIT THEMES

That the student body is in favor of having a May Day celebration again next year was revealed by the questionnaire distributed by the May Day committee. To the following questions a majority of students answered in the affirmative thus signifying their willingness to co-operate in putting on the annual pageant: If needed for May Day will you be willing to: (1) take a part? (This means furnish a costume and attend all practices for at least three weeks prior to May Day (2) Sew or help with costumes? (30) Play piano for practices? (4) Work on Properties? (5) type? (6) print notices by hand? (7) help in some other way not mentioned here?

Since the student body voted for May Day next year, it was necessary to elect a business manager of the project. At a meeting of the students body this morning two names were submitted by the committee, Mary Robeson, and Doris Moore. Mary Bowles was nominated from the floor. By a majority vote Mary Robeson was elected businessmanager of May Day for 1936.

Mary came to S. T. C. this year as a transfer from V. P. I. and has proved herself capable of holding this responsible position by her work in the Artist Dance Group and other activities. Mary took an outstanding role in May Day this year, doing a solo part in the Pilgrim's Dance.

All themes for next year's May Day must be submitted to Lena MacGardner or Phyllis Ferguson not later than Friday May 24. Anyone who wishes to submit a theme is urged to do so.

Committee chairmen will be voted on later.

Grades To Govern Extra School Work

Student Standards Committee met last Thursday to make a change in the point system in governing the extra-curricular activities of the students. The maximum number of points was raised to 16, with an average of B, 12 with an average of C, and 6 with a passing average. The evaluation of points of different offices was considered and the number of points was raised or lowered according to the amount of work the office involves. These changes will appear in next year's handbook, but the committee, with Doris Moore as chairman, will make a detailed study of this system in the fall and work it out to completeness in every point, so that the handbook of the following year may show a point system more correctly estimated.

S. T. C. To Be Represented at Young Peoples Conference

The Y. W. C. A. is sending six delegates, Agnes Crockett, Billy Wilkinson, Winnie Francis Eubank, Elizabeth Walton, Sue Waldo and Bonnie Lane to the Young People's Conference at Blue Ridge, North Carolina, on June the eleventh.

Delegates from many southern schools will compose the conference. They will attend daily varied discussion groups concerning interests of the pending times during the morning hours. Noted educators and preachers will conduct valuable lectures every night.

A CORRECTION

The most humble apologies are offered for the error in the commencement story in last week's Rotunda, Dr. J. Frederick Essary, Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Sun, will deliver the address on Tuesday, June 4. The sermon will be delivered Sunday evening, June 2, by Dr. F. D. Wicker, bishop-coadjutor of the Richmond diocese of the Episcopal church

Bulletin of Curriculum Making Is Published By Farmville S. T. C.

A bulletin issued by Farmville State Teachers College and pertaining to the curriculum-making here has been recently published. It is divided into three sections, namely; curriculum-making as a specialty at Farmville, employment of centers of interest at Farmville, and teaching by activities and units at Farmville.

The purpose of the bulletin is expressed in the following words by Dr. Jarman: "This bulletin is intended to indicate the significance of the continuous program of curriculum-making at Farmville State Teachers College in the larger curriculum program of the state. The general thesis is that the study of progressive movements in education, which is required by continuous work on the curriculum, paves the way for progressive measures and makes possible their adoption in the schools of the state."

Most institutions have specialties. One in which the Farmville Teachers College leads is curriculum making and education. This bulletin is therefore valuable to every professor, supervisor, and student here.

Members of Faculty Address Graduates

Dr. Jarman and a number of the professors of the S. T. C. faculty have been invited to give graduation addresses in some of the high schools throughout the state.

Dr. Jarman delivered an address to the graduation class of Fincastle High School on Tuesday evening. Last Tuesday evening week, Dr. Wynne spoke to the graduates of Willis Exmore High School. He will speak at Phenix High School in Charlotte County next Monday evening. Mr. Holton has been invited to talk at the commencement exercises at Cumberland High School on June 6.

Dr. Jeffers has also had several invitations to make graduation addresses. He has been invited to the high schools of Gloucester, Wylesburg, and Rice.

A. Putney and K. Walton To Receive B. A. Degree

The only two members of the class of '35 who are qualified to receive the B. A. degree are Anne Putney and Katharine Walton. These two students who will graduate with honors so arranged their course and elected liberal subjects that they were able to apply for the B. A. degree as soon as the college was authorized to grant it. Katharine who majored in Latin and French and minored in English and history has two hundred and twenty-one credits, and Anne who majored in Latin and minored in social science, mathematics and French, has two hundred and thirty-four credits.

Years May Come and Go; S. T. C. Advances With Them

Years come and years go. S. T. C. goes right on with them, never standing still, always advancing through older projects successfully carried on and new ones inaugurated to bring back over the school year. From September till now, one notes the many annual, usual occurrences of elections, holidays, and lyceums. Looking again, one sees why S. T. C. is known in this its fifty-first year as a modern progressive college with a group of girls awake to needed changes and alive enough to make those changes.

When classes began in the seemingly far-distant September of '34 there were six hundred and fifteen girls enrolled, roaring for action and determined to see plenty of it this year. They have not been disappointed. A few parties started things off just fine. The discomfiture of the worry - laden Freshmen kept smiles on the faces of upperclassmen for over a month Memory of that Rat Court still brings a grin to many a countenance.

Lyceums came along in commendable order with Miriam Marmein dancing her way into the hearts of many of her audience. Memories crowd once more as flashes of beautiful voices came, teasing tunes, willowy bodies, colorful Siberians, talented dancers, and last but not least, one genial, personable magician with his bag of tricky tricks—all remembered—all cherished.

Thanksgiving holidays!! Who doesn't chuckle as she recalls the speeches, that voting, that talk, talk, talk, that second call meeing, that second voting? It was great fun to show the administration that we wanted to have Thanksgiving holidays and then to win because we did want them so much and were so good about it all. The sift of the sands of time brought along the usual holiday rush, hustle and rush of the regular Christmas and Easter holidays Recollection of those two events we leave to the individual with whom they are safest and best enjoyed.

New talent discovered, old talent revived, lots of hard work, loads of fun—that is what dramatic pro-

Continued on page Four

Zeta Tau Becomes Chapter of National Education Sorority

The formal installation of the Zeta Tau sorority as a chapter of Alpha Sigma Tau, national social sorority was completed Saturday evening with a banquet in the Tea Room. Mrs. Carrie W. Staehie of Detroit, Mich., national president of the organization and an alumna of Alpha chapter, Ypsilanti, Mich., conducted the installation.

The local chapter becomes Zeta Tau chapter of Alpha Sigma Tau and the fourteenth active chapter of the organization. Other chapters are in Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, Kansas, Colorado, Missouri, Arkansas, and West Virginia. The Zeta Tau is the first to be installed in Virginia, Alpha Sigma Tau was founded at Michigan State Normal College in 1898 and is one of the outstanding members of the Association of Educational Sororities. Zeta Tau was founded here in 1920.

Alumnae returning for the occasion were: Alfreda Collins, Habel Hayes, Margaret Finch Lucy Thompson Robinson, Gladys Downer, Thelma Yost, Elizabeth Renfro, Sally Rose Obenshaen, Jean West, Marian Long, Ophelia Booker, Dot Eubank, Louise Van Lear, Jacqueline Morton, Evelyn Mason, Syl-

Continued on page four

Swimming Celebrites Hold Water Wedding

Friday night at 8:00 o'clock there will be much excitement at the swimming pool as a wedding of interest to all is going to take place. Miss Oxygen and Mr. Hydrogen are going to be married. The swimming celebrites of S. T. C. are going to take part in this wedding. The costumes are going to be screamingly funny and the ability of the swimmers as actors is astounding. They will bring tears of laughter to your eyes. Come and see your friends make a name for themselves in the theatrical swimming world. As to the names of the girls taking part —Well, we'll leave it up to you to find out when yo uget there if you can recognize them.

If you enjoy watching it as much as those taking part have enjoyed getting it up you will have fun that will last long after the wedding is over

Jongleurs Present "So This Is London"

The Jongleurs of Hampden-Hampden-Sydney College put on their spring play in the auditorium Friday night. The production was Goodrich's three-act comedy, "So This Is London." The lead was taken by James Ballard in such a realistic and wholehearted manner as to win for him the acclaim of the entire audience. Lee Bean ran Ballard a close second for masculine leads, presenting his character in admirable form. A touch of additional comedy was lent to the performance in the taking of girls' parts by the boys. The feminine lead was delightfully interpreted by J. M. Lewis who proved himself a real actor. Other parts were well done—a proof of the talent of the actors and concrete demonstration of the directing ability of Dr. Bell, advisor, and Woodrow Macky, president of the organization.

Juniors To Accept Seniorship Saturday

That the seniors will give over their caps and gowns to the juniors, their sucessors, at Senior Chapel on Saturday morning was one of the topics discussed at senior class meeting Tuesday night. For the first time, the class of '36 will march to the strains of the "Alma Mater." And, this will be the last time that the seniors will march into chapel to the tune of "Alma Mater."

Miss Camper, former president of the Alumnae Association of Farmville State Teachers College, acting for Mrs. Davis, the present president, explained to the seniors in their class meeting the custom of electing girls to class offices that will be permanent for the future.

Following Miss Camper's explanation, the members of the senior class, in preparing for their future as alumnae, elected, in class meeting on Tuesday night, officers who will serve as permanent officers of the class of '35 after leaving school. Lena

(Continued on page 4)

A paper has been posted on the Y. W. C. A. bulletin board. All students wishing Y. W. little sisters for next year are asked to sign up at once. They will be notified this summer as to who they are.

Honor Graduates

Katherine Walton, top, will make the valedictory, and Elizabeth Vassar, who is second honor graduate.

M. B. Coyner Makes Address To Journal Club Of University

The regular meeting of the Journal Club of the University of Virginia heard Mr. M. Boyd Coyner of the Farmville S. T. C. faculty on Wednesday, May 15. The club is composed of the faculty of the psychology department and the graduate students of the department at the University.

Mr. Coyner's talk was a report of an investigation which he has carried on at Farmville for seven years concerning the importance of place in a series of English and German words in connection with the frequency of recall.

Several members of the astronomy class accompanied Mr. Coyner to Charlottesville. The group visited the observatory, where they were received by Mr. Vysotsky, who explained much interesting data and information about the use of the telescope, sky photography, etc. Those students who made the trip were Anne Putney, Katharine Walton, Elizabeth Walton, and Janice White.

National Publication Accepts Article By Miss Moran

"Pre-Geography Learnings Resulting from Community Life Studies" is the title of an article that was written by Miss Grace Moran of the S. T. C. faculty and that was published in the May issue of the "Journal of Geography," national publication in the geography field.

In showing the results of pregeography learnings, Miss Moran took her illustrations from the first three grades of school.

Dr. Goodwin Talks on Cancer

Dr. Goodwin of the University Hospital, Charlottesville, gave a talk on "cancer," with screen illustrations, in the small auditorium of S. T. C. on Tuesday evening.

The board of the Southside Community Hospital was instrumental in having Dr. Goodwin come to Farmville.

Spring Production Will Be Repeated At Commencement

Dramatic Club Gives Play for Families and Graduates

MONDAY, JUNE 3

One of the features of the commencement program is the presentation of the Dramatic Club spring play, "A kiss For Cinderella." Evelyn Knaub and Helen Shawen, both seniors, will take the leading roles. The play is to be given on Monday evening, June 3.

Evelyn portrays the character of Cinderella, the irresistible little servant. Helen plays the part of the policeman who becomes Cinderella's lover. The characters who support them are: Madeline McGlothlin as Dr. Bodie; Elizabeth Carroll as Mr. Bodie; Chic Dortch as a young nurse; Carter Belle Munt as Danie; Audrey Clements as Lord Times; Bonnie Lane as Lord Mayor; Ruth Phelps as the censor; Katherine Ryburn as the Bishop; Gertrude Levy as the Queen; and Meg Herndon as the King. The court beauties are Belle Lovelace, Mary Bowles, Mary Joyner Cox, Martha Hamlet, Marion Pond, Caroline Jones, Agnes Powell, Jacqueline Johnson, Grace Eubank, and Blanche Kahn. The lords are Josephine Quinn, Katherine Harvey, Katherine Smoot, and Murkland Dressler. Frankie McDaniel and Peanut Woodhouse will take the part of the pages.

Tickets will be given only to the graduates and their families.

Conservatory Pupils Broadcast Saturday

Saturday, May 25, from 4:30 to 5:00, the students of the Schemmel Conservatory of Music will broadcast over WRVA, Richmond. The program for the annual broadcast has been carefully selected and prepared.

The program includes four solos: "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life," to be sung by Mrs. Lucille Dall; "Morning," by Mrs. Edna Simkins, "Villa Nelle," by Mrs. Florence Cralle Bell, "Low in the Dust," by Edwin Cralle. Jeannette Jones and Lucy Baylor will play piano solos.

The quartet, Sarah Canada, Lila Jacob, Mrs. Simkins, and Edwin Cralle, will sing "Angel Serenade."

The chorus, "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia," will be sung by Sylvia Somers, Sarah Canada, Lila Jacob, Eleanor Wood, Goldie Williams, Elizabeth Ranson, Florence Caldwell, Marjorie Woolfolk, Ernestine Payne, Frances Jones, Frances Kent, Alfreda Strick, Mildred Meeks, Mrs. Dall, Mrs. Simkins, and Mrs. Bell.

Spanish Club Holds Meeting To Select New Officers

The Spanish club held a short meeting Friday May 17, to elect officers for the ensuing year. The following girls were unanimously elected: president, Elsie Cabell; vice-president, Dorothy Deans; secretary, Virginia Payne; treasurer, Katharine Milby; Dorothy Deans will also be head of the program committee.

Plans were discussed for the annual picnic, but because the closing time of the school is drawing very near it was decided that the club would dispense with this event.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Published by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, at the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

MEMBER
Associated Collegiate Press
1934 Collegiate Digest 1935

Staff

Florence Sanford ..... Editor
Agnes Bondurant ..... Associate Editor
Evelyn Massey ..... Business Manager

Board of Editors

Miss Jane Royall ..... Alumnae
Katherine Hoyle ..... Make-up
Susan Gresham ..... Headlines
Emma Bingham ..... Literary
Bess McGlothlin, Margaret Farrar, Mary Adeline McGlothlin ..... Editorials
Claire Eastman ..... World News
Margaret Fraley ..... Socials
Kathleen Ranson ..... Sports

Proof Readers

Elizabeth Walton Dorothy Deans

Managers ....

Elsie Cabell ..... Circulation
Ruth Phelps ..... Asst. Circulation
Louise Gathright ..... Asst. Circulation

Assistants and Reporters

Elizabeth Morris, Virginia Agee, Mary Joyner Cox, Alice Nelson, Amis Montgomery, Claudia Harper, Minnie Smith, Elizabeth Carroll, Willis Scott, Bonnie Lane.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 22, 1935

"To the Open Road"

The Class of '35 is about to leave the halls of S. T. C. "to take to the open road". The girls of this class carry with them the best wishes of those left behind.

The graduates of this year are worthy of any good thing we can offer them, whether it be tangible or intangible, for they have worked earnestly throughout their four years to make S. T. C. a better place in which to live. This past year they have carried on the major functions of the organizations. In their work and in their associations they have strengthened the traditions of Alma Mater.

This class "can take it", someone said back in the fall when chapel attendance was made compulsory for seniors. Indeed, the Class of '35 has met manfully the challenges offered at every mile post. They have thus, in overcoming their hardships and struggles become prepared to meet the new and great challenge—that of the "open road." To the school mates returning to S. T. C. in the fall is left the challenge to live up to the high standards to which the graduates have attained.

For the untiring work of the members of this class the college is grateful; of their loyalty, she is proud; for their scholarship, she honors them; and for their love she returns love.

As we plan for the Seniors' Commencement, and think of their departure, we also prepare for the new students that will come to us—the Freshman class of next year. We, as an institution, wish to start this class of new students out on a college career that will mean the most to them. To instill in them the proper ideals, respect for and interest in their college is the first and most important task we will undertake. In recent years the college spirit of S. T. C. has degenerated; we have become lax in the true expressions of college patriotism—such as attending our class meetings, and supporting our class in intra-mural games. In order to build up this spiirt, it must begin with the upperclassmen. We must set an example for the new girls. We must take an interest in college activities, we must support our honor code, we must hold up our traditions and ideals, if we expect them to do so. By the careful cooperation of every old girl—and only by this cooperation—can we impart the true spirit we wish every girl to have. Let us not tell the new girls that they may do a thing "because everybody else does it," but let us inspire them with the more noble, the more honorable action, and they will conduct themselves accordingly. We can teach them right by "doing right"—not by "telling" or careless suggestions and detrimental advice.

When we come back in the fall, come back ready to carry out ths campaign for "a rejuvenation of the college spirit" by setting examples for the new girls and conveying this spirit to them.

Intelligent Patriotism

With propaganda of every sort rampant in our country today, we need to stop and think quietly. Screaming headlines thrown across the country, moving pictures still glorifying the soldier in uniform stepping to martial music, unthinking public speakers, cheap politicians, all types of public agitators should be forced into the background as we stand a moment in Memorial Day tribute to the dead who have given "the last full measure of devotion," gladly and in sincerity, to posterity.

If we are to keep America from blindly following "ballyhooing" leaders each of us needs to take the responsibility of citizenship, to know what conditions are and to be interested in seeing them intelligently handled. We cannot leave it all up to the other fellow and then give him the entire blame for the internatonal and inatonal mistakes our country makes.

We stand in reverence of the men who have fallen on America's battle grounds and in deepest sympathy with those who mourn their death. Many are the small white crosses over which America has marched to greater fields of triumph, great as their mute message to America of today. Will we hear their many voices of truth, valor, and honesty, or will we turn them a deaf ear and plod on in the war-term pacts of a distressed world?

Jane Addams

The Illinois hamlet of Cedarville, alone knew of the birth of Jane Addams on September 6, 1860, but the world at large is aware of her death in Chicago on May 21, 1935.

Jane Addams is known from pole to pole as the founder of Hull House in Chicago and as one of the foremost promoters of social work in its most concrete and constructive phases. She erected two fortresses of fame: her ideals of humaneness, an intangible stronghold of the spirit, and Hull House, the tanglible expression of that ideal. The twain were born of a hurt filled with a desire to "complete the mobilization of the human spirit" by bettering the life of the world, a desire which swept aside all barriers of race and religion.

Miss Addams was militant against what she called "the stupid atrocities of contemporary life, its arid waste, its meaningless labor, its needless suffering and its political corrupton." Her influence has been felt in the fight for the abolition of war, her convictions being strong enough to make her the founder of one movement for world peace and an active participant in nearly all others.

In 1931 Jane Addams shared the Noble peace prize with Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University.

America mourns the death of one who has lived so unselfishly, who has rendered inestimable services to mankind, but cherishes the standard of character she has set and the influence she has had on social life in America.

An acquaintance becomes a friend as soon as you discover that he has a sense of humor.

The difference between getting somewhere and nowhere is the courage to make an early start.

Alumnae News

Takes Leading Role

Nancy Harrison, class of 1934, will play the leading role in the play, "Peg O' My Heart," which will be presented by the faculty of the Chester High School, May 24, at 8:15 in the high school auditorium.

Engagement Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Francis Leonard of 3414 Noble Avenue, Richmond, Virginia, announce the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy Briggs, to Mr. James Anderson Moore of this city, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Moore of Durham, North Carolina.

Winchester Alumnae Entertain At Tea

A lovely informal tea was given by the Winchester Alumnae at the home of Mrs. Helen Miller Brown on May 14. A large number of alumnae were present with Miss Leola Wheeler and Jane Royall as their guests from the college.

Franklin-Smith

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Smith of Farmville announce the marriage of their daughter, Doreen, to Mr. Jack Franklin of Lynchburg on May 18. The ceremony was solemnized at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. W. D. Bowman, Huntington, Pa.

Mrs. Bugg Appointed D. A. R. Chairman

Mrs. J. L. Bugg of Farmville has been recently appointed as the state chairman of the national committee on approved schools. Mrs. Bugg is the regent of the Judith Randolph Chapter of Farmville and has for several years been active in the state organization.

Teachers Elect Officers

Miss Carolyn Cogbill, principal of the A. P. Hill School has been elected president of the Petersburg Teacher's Club to serve for the next year, succeeding Miss Elsie Ribble. Other officers named for 1935-36 are: Miss Barbara Willcox of D. M. Brown School, vice-president, and Miss Ruth Emily Phillips of Petersburg High School, secretary-treasurer.

Peterson-Tucker

A wedding of wide interest took place Saturday evening, May 11, at 8:30 o'clock in the Blackstone Presbyterian Church, when Miss Mary Alexander Tucker, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Llewellyn Caldwell Tucker of Blackstone became the bride of Herbert C. Peterson of Richmond.

Welch-Walker

The wedding of Miss Grace Sale Walker and Rev. Robert Paschel Welch took place May 7 at Bedford. The bride is a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jesse L. Walker of Bedford. Mr. Welch is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Welch of Charlotte and Prince Edward Counties.

To Wed In June

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Talley of "Churchill," Buffalo Springs, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Nellie Talley, to Michael Smith Kipps, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Kipps of Blacksburg.

CHICAGO—"Freedom of inquiry, freedom of discussion, and freedom of teaching, without these a university cannot exist." Robert M. Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago, declared recently in a speech given over a national radio hook-up.

Answering the question, "What is a University?" Pres. Hutchins stated that "A university is a community of scholars. It is not a kindergarten; it is not a club; it is not a reform school; it is not a political party; it is not an agency of propaganda."

Without freedom, a university becomes a political party or an agency of propaganda and ceases to be a university, Pres. Hutchins said. Continuing he declared that "the university exists only to find and to communicate the truth. If it cannot do that it is no longer a university."

Reverberations Rotunda

Just thirteen more days before the end of all for some! Wash your tears away; it isn't so bad. These last few weeks when seniors march down the aisle, the people in the audience stretch their necks to see who will be the first to burst into tears. When they march out, the "red eyes" are counted. Seriously, though, we don't know what we'll do without you next year. It's hard to imagine the present junior class upholding the dignity of the institution.

It must be Alva Sawyer because we know she doesn't keep any food in the room — anyway the mice are still attentive.

If all the boys who visited our campus last week-end were justly fined, we would have ample resources for forming a fund for the "Protection of Young Progressive Normalites."

Are you looking for an FERA job? I know any senior will be glad to pay well for a secretary to fill in her graduation papers.

Have you noticed the sudden change in the entire student body? Radios are calmed down, halls aren't so noisy, and quite a few complaints are being made on having so much work to do. It must be the usual end—of—the—term sob story. Exams!

Kitty, did we hear you say that you had right much "pull"? Maybe you could sell your other contract to the highest bidder!

Sad, but true—the last weeks' sun burned beauties are today just one of the crowd. Never mind, little girls, you've got a whole summer before you. That reminds me—be good to yourselves.

Happy holiday!

From Other Colleges

At Hollins, the May Day celebration is sponsored and put on by an honorary organization, the Freya.

—Hollins Student Life.

During the major elections, at Roanoke College, in Roanoke, feeling runs high between fraternity and non-fraternity men. The rivalry between these two factions is keen, and each candidate goes into win or die. The non-fraternity group has been given such significant titles as Barbarians and Liberals.

—The Brackety-Ack.

The students of biology and one of the professors at Randolph-Macon have gone in for fishing in a big way. In the last few weeks they have caught two hundred specimens of eel-like fish. These fish are called lamprey and though they look like eel, they do not even belong to the eel family. These students and their professor are catching the lamprey to ship to biology laboratories in other colleges.

—The Yellow Jacket.

At the University of Syracuse a class in criminology has discovered that morons can dance as well as most people of normal mentelity if not better. Morons are gifted with a sense of rhythm that makes most of them excellent dancers. "Reflect on this before you feel envious of the nimble-footed boys at the next hop."

—V. M. I. Cadet

Bill Garber, former University of Southern California track captain, bettered his own world mark in pole vaulting at the fifth annual Santa Barbara Open Track and Field meet. He soared fourteen feet, five and five eighths inches.

—The Student.

"Darling, may I kiss your hand?" asked the young man with old fashioned ways.

"Sure, hop to it; but be careful you don't burn your nose on my cigarette."

Literary Column

Every year a number of books are classed as "best sellers." This distinction is based on the public demand for the book and the critic's reviews.

How many from the 1934 list have you read?

Fiction

Anthony Adverse—Allen.
Lamb in His Bosom—Miller.
So Red the Rose—Stark Young.
Good-bye, Mr. Chips—Hilton.
Within This Present—Barnes.
Work of Art—Lewis.
Private Worlds—Bottome.
Mary Peters—Chase.
Oil for the Lamps of China — Hobart.
Seven Gothic Tales—Dinesen.

Non-Fiction

While Rome Burns—Woollcott.
Life Begins at Forty—Pitkin.
Nijinsky—Nijinsky.
100,000,000 Guinea Pigs—Kallet and Schlink.
The Native's Return—Adamic.
Stars Fell on Alabama—Carmer.
Brazilian Adventure—Fleming.
Forty-two Years in the White House—Hoover.
You Must Relax—Jacobson.
The Life of Our Lord—Dickens.

For 1935 books that have been "best sellers" through the period of February 18—March 18 are these:

Fiction

Come and Get It—Edna Ferber.
Green Light—Lolyd Douglas.
The White Gate — Warwick Deeping.
Of Time and the River—Thomas Wolfe.
Good-bye, Mr. Chips—James Hilton.
Last Horizon—James Hilton.
Heaven's My Destination — Thornton Wilder.
Men Never Know—Vicki Baum.
Shining and Free—G. B. Stern.
The Forty Days of Mussa Dagh—Franz Werfel.

Non-Fiction

Inflation Ahead—Kiplinger and Shelton.
Francis the First — Francis Hackett.
Rats, Lice, and History—Hans Zinsser.
Ships and How They Sailed the Seven Seas—Hendick W. Van Loon.
Personal History — Vincent Sheean.
While Rome Burns —Alexander Woollcott.
Why Not Try God? — Mary Pickford.
Skin Deep—E. C. Phillips.
Heaven High—Hell Deep—Norman Archibald.
The Primrose Path — Ogden Nash.

It will be noticed that some books are so popular that they remain "best sellers" from one year to the next. Two of these are "Goood-bye, Mr. Chips" in fiction and "While Rome Burns" in non-fiction.

In Flanders Field

In Flanders fields the poppies blow
Between the crosses, row on row,
That mark our place, and in the sky,
The larks, still bravely singing, fly,
Scarce heard amid the guns below.

We are the dead; short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
In Flanders fields.

Take up our quarrel with the foe!
To you from failing hands we throw
The torch; be yours to hold it high!
If ye break faith with us who die,
We shall not sleep, though poppies grow
In Flanders fields.

—JOHN McCRAE.

SOCIALS

Although the end of the school is near at hand some girls had reasons to go away for the week-end.

To Lynchburg

The following girls went to Lynchburg over the week-end: Frances McDaniel, Meg Herndon, Jestine Cutshall, Phyllis Ferguson, Lena MacGardner, Martha Nottingham, Ladita Barham, Emily Blanton, Catherine Crewes, Mary E. Harrison, Jean McClure, Wyc Scott, and Frances Wilson.

To Skyline Drive

Elizabeth Trent, Sue Waldo, Louise Coleman and Kitty Chappell were visitors to Skyline Drive over the week-end.

To Chatham

Ducky Davies, Katheryn Fitzgerald, Sue Eastham and Elinor Dunham were week-end visitors in Chatham this week-end.

At Home

The girls who "echo" went home are: Alice Campbell, Margaret Ferguson, Rose Somers, Rebecca Carter, Liz Carroll, Dudley Allen, Edna Bolick, Maude Jones, Ida Sue Carter, Pauline Pearson, Mary Lee Powell, Charlotte Rice, Dot Robertson, Marjorie Robertson, Mena Smelley and Nan Page Trent.

Other Places

Other places visited were: June Allen to Virginia Beach; Maude Deekens to Staunton; Elinor Shackleton to Meherrin; Mildred Meeks to Amherst; Hortense Conley to Sonedge, Murcelle Baird to Sonedge; Catherine Zimmerman to Blackstone; Mary Lou French to Burkeville; Frances Johnson to Victoria; Nan Seward to Brookneal; Nancy Beard to Amherst; Nancy Wall to Boydton; Henrietta Eichelberger to Crewe; Charligne Hall to Appomattox; Mildred Linthicum to Amherst; Marion Lane to Gladys; Jane Lybrook, to Pinoastle; Clintis Mattox to Roanoke; Frankie McDaniel to Hampton; Valla Nimmo to Salem; Zilla Newsom to Virginia Beach; Elizabeth Puckett to Gladys; Frances Parker to Newport News; Ruth Showalter to Boydton; Deane Saunders to Bedford; Hazel Smith to Roanoke; Dot Stone to Newport News; Katherine Switzer to Petersburg; Elizabeth Shiplett to Roanoke; Elise Turner to Richmond; Fletcher Walker to Blackstone; Brooks Wheeler to Brownsburg; Evelyn Wilson to Boydton; Mary B. Wright to Richmond; Virginia Agee to Morgantown, West Virginia; Leslie Bradshaw to Burkeville, Kitty Bass to Danville, Helen and Nell Boswell to Rice; Ethel Burgess to Fork Union; Tac Waters to Richmond, Virginia; Frances Woodhouse to Norfolk; Katherine Young to Boydton; Mary Jane Pendleton to Troutville; Charlotte Young to Richmond; Virginia Baker to Sweetbriar; Sarah Corbin to Victoria; Frances and Emily Channel to Crewe; Edith Coffee to Concord; Mary Denny to Lexington; Marion Hansborough to Salem; Katherine Harvey to Curdesville; Audrey Hawthorne to Petersburg; Dot Justis to Boydton; Rachel Joyner Trices Lake; Evelyn Howell to Petersburg; Ethel Joyner to Big Island; Virginia Jones to Sweetbriar; Josephine Kent to Amherst; Gertrude LeLivy to eBdford; Belle Lovelace to South Boston, and Virginia Lee to Alta Vista.

Freshman Weiner Roast Marks Last Social Function

The freshman class will hold its last social function for this year on Thursday evening at Longwood. It will take the form of a weiner roast from five in the afternoon 'til eight in the evening. The class will hike out and then have an hour of games before eating. Campfire singing will be the feature of the remaining part of the evening.

Rat rules for the freshmen-to-be have been drawn up and passed by Miss Mary and the class as a whole. These rules will not be published until fall, but according to the present freshmen, they will afford a good many laughs for upperclassmen.

"High Heels, according to Christopher Morley, were invented by a woman who had been kissed on the forehead."

Sororities Celebrate At Spring Banquets

Alpha Sigma Alpha celebrated at their annual spring banquet at Longwood, Wednesday evening, May 15. Active members of the sorority, Miss Mary White Cox, Miss Grace Moran, Dr. Jarman, and a number of alumnae were present.

Alumnae in attendance were: Mrs. Hughes, Mattie Rogers Sydnor, and Miss Katherine Watkins.

Miss Mix, Miss Peck, and Misses Winnie and Mary Clay Hiner were other guests of the evening.

The Mu Omega sorority held its annual spring banquet at Longwood Saturday night. Among the alumnae who returned for this occasion were: Rena Robertson, Lynchburg; Jane Grey Irby, Blackstone; Janet Harris, Lynburg; Sarah Fox Louis, Aylett; Mary Ducan, Danville; Mildred Gwaltney, Smithfield; Kitty Hatch, Wakefield; Adele Hutchinson, Winchester; Edith Cornwell, Winchester; Lucile Graves, Roanoke; Mrs. Graves Pilcher, Roanoke; Mrs. Everette Irby, Farmville; Mrs. James Fretwell, Farmville; and Mrs. J. H. Cook, Farmville.

Members of Beta Pi Theta Enjoy Informal Dinner

The members of Beta Pi Theta enjoyed an informal dinner "en famille" in the tea room on Friday, May 17. The fraternity colors, purple and gold, were attractively carried out in the placecards decorated with a golden "fleur-de-lis" and in the flowers, purple and gold iris.

Those present in addition to Miss Draper, guest of honor, were: Katharine Walton, Anne Putney, Mary Gilmer, Fanny Bosworth, Carmen Clark, Agnes Bondurant, Winnie Frances Eubank, Virginia Payne, and Elizabeth Walton.

Pan Hellenic Gives Tea For Alpha Sigma Tau

The Pan-Hellenic Association of the college entertained and welcomed the new Zeta Tau chapter of Alpha Sigma Tau, national education sorority which was installed here this week-end, at a tea from four to five-thirty in the Student Building Lounge Saturday afternoon.

The Lounge was decorated with cut flowers of all kinds. Miss Mix presided at the tea table. Tea, cakes, mints and peanuts were served the guests who included members of the five sororities her as well as the new Alpha Sigma Tau's alumnae and Mrs. Carrie W. Staehle of Detroit, national president of the sorority.

Y. W. C. A. Cabinet Has Set-Up Conference

The annual spring set-up conference for the Y. W. C. A. cabinet was held this afternoon at Longwood.

The business session which began at five o'clock consisted of devotionals led by Bonnie Lane, reports by the cabinet members for the 1935-36 session, and a discussion of the plans for the Y. W. C. A. work next year. Members of the advisory board were present, and each chairman had the opportunity of individual conference with her adviser concerning detailed plans for the particular work of the committee.

A Longwood dinner was served at six o'clock in the dining room.

History Prof.—"How was Alexander II of Russia killed?"

Forsh—"By a bomb."

Prof.—"How do you account for that?"

Forsh—"It exploded."

He: "I don't know what is the matter with my watch. It's always fast."

Fixer: "Well, from the looks of the picture on the back, no wonder the hands won't behave."

Going Away?.....

Travel by

GREYHOUND

Safe—Comfortable—Economical

Hidden Talent of Girls Brought Out in 'Sing'

The program presented at "Sing" Saturday night was very clever. tI brought to our attention things that we had never before moticed—the talents of our school mates that we did not know they possessed. The appropriate title was: "Hidden Talent Among S. T. C. Girls."

The first person to show her talent was Eleanor Wood, singing: "Falling in Love with Someone," accompanied by Billie Arthur.

Alfreda Strick surprised the audience with her ability to play on the ukelele. She also sang while she played.

The next person to prove that she had a talent was Ruth Montgomery. Indeed, Ruth proved to have much talent in elocution which the audience at once realized when she recited for them, "The Youngest in the Family."

When Edith Hammock finished singing, "It's Sunday Down in Caroline," she was immediately acclaimed a second Kate Smith.

All good things must end and "Sing" had a very good ending for Elizabeth Huse and Addie Norfleet aroused the audience with a delightful tap dance.

Radio Highlights

Wednesday

6:00—WEAF—Kagen Orchestra
6:30—WABC—Candelori Orches.
7:00—WEAF—Sterross Orches.
7:30 — WOR — Corinna Mura, songs
8:00—WJZ—Kemp Orchestra.
8:30—WEAF—Wayne King
9:00—WABC—Warnow Orch.
9:30—WABC—Burnes and Allen
10:00—WEAF—Guy Lombardo
10:30—WEAF—Ray Noble Orch.
11:00—ABC—Bergin Orches.

Thursday

6:00WEAF—Gordon Orchestra
7:00—WEAF—Dorsey Orchestra
7:30—WOR—The Street Singer
8:00—WEAF—Vallee's Orch.
9:00—WABC—Glenn Gray
9:30—WABC—Waring Orchestra
10:00—WEAF—Whiteman's Music Hall
10:30—WABC—Heidt Orchestra
11:00—WABC—Dance Music (to 1 A. M.)

Friday

6:45—WJZ—Lowell Thomas
7:00—WEAF—Duffy Orch.
7:30—WEAF—Pickins Sisters, songs
8:00—WABC—Stevens Orch.
8:30—WJZ—Nichols Orch.
9:30—WEAF—Bonime Orches.
10:00—WABC—Hincher Orch.
10:30—WEAF—Rolfe, Orch.

Saturday

6:00—WEAF—Walton Orch.
7:30—WABC—Bergin Orch.
8:00—WEAF—The Hit Parade
8:30—WJZ—Dorsey Orch.
9:00—WOR—Dance Orchestra
9:30—WEAF—Al Jolson, songs
10:00—WOR—Dance Orchestra
10:30—WEAF—Cugat, Goodman.

Training School Children to Present Health Day Program

The grade children of the Training School will present a Child Health program in the College auditorium Thursday, May 23, at eleven o'clock.

The program will be as follows:
Music by the Rhythm Band, First Grade
May Pole Dance, Kindergarten
Music on the Zylophone, Lester Wilkinson, Second Grade
A Group of Japanese Songs, Third Grade
Health Play, "The Trial of Fresh Air", Fourth Grade
Tap Dance, Seventh Grade
Remarks, Dr. Brumfield
Roll Call of "Five Pointers"
National Anthem, Fifth and Sixth Grade

WILLIS
The Florist
Flowers for all occastons
PHONES 181-273

S. A. Legus
TAILOR
CLEANING
PRESSING
REPAIRING
Phone 203

Review of the News

SERFS FREED BY KING .....

At last Emperor Haile Selassie has relieved a social tragedy by abolishing serfdom throughout Ethiopia. He has even advocated a system for equalizing the method of land taxation, which is highly praised since there is a possibility of an advance of 1000 years in the civilization of Ethiopia.

This plan has been received with welcome as well as mutual surprise by the whole world since Ethiopia at one time was the center of African slave trade and even continued it after joining the League of Nations.

The masses of Ethiopia as well as the whole world join in praise of The Emperor's plan.

FRENCH PREMIER AND Hitler

Everyone is curious to know exactly what the long talk between Pierre Laval, foreign minister of France, and General Hermain Wilhelm Goering, Hitler's right hand man, consisted of. Their two-hour talk took place in Poland after Marshall Joseph Pilsudiski's funeral, and authorities think that it included "all questions of interest to France and Germany."

It is rumored that Laval may pay a visit to Berlin to confer with Hitler later, but proof has not been firmly established.

Sorrow now reigns in the whole world as well as in Russia since "The Maxim Gorky," the largest land airplane in the world crashed after a collision with a smaller airplane.

This "Soviet palace of culture," constructed a year ago, carried with it to its grave forty-nine persons, accompanied by the smaller plane and also caused a few damages to a neighborhood house.

Pilot Bagin of the small plane, who was also killed, has been officially blamed for the accident.

Old Student Council Gives Last of Birthday Dinners

The last of the "Birthday Dinners" was given by the old Student Council on Monday night, May 20, 1935, for those girls having birthdays in the months of May, June, July, and August.

The theme of the dinner was Spring which was carried out by decorations. The place cards were little umbrellas, as "April showers bring May flowers." Sprays of Scotch broom added a touch of color to the dining hall.

A three-course dinner was served while at intervals everyone sang, "Happy Birthday To You," to the guests.

C. E. Chappell Co.
Stationery, Blank Books and School Supplies
Cigars, Cigarettes and Soda
Farmville, Virginia

Special orders for
Teas and Parties
Try our doughnuts
Foley's Bakery
Third Street

Rice's Shoe Store
Street and Dress Shoes
Dancing Slippers Dyed
Correct fits our specialty

Gray's Drug Store
QUALITY—PRICE—SERVICE
Come in and Get Acquainted
We are glad to have you with us!
Farmville, Virginia

Mack's
BARBER AND BEAUTY SHOP
323 Main Street
We use the Frederick Method
Hair cutting and thinning a Specialty

Examination Schedule

Day and Hour of Examination	Class Hour
1st— 8:30	11:00 M. W. F.
1st—11:00	12:00 M. W. T.
1st— 4:00	4:00 P. M.
1st— 7:15	7:15 M. W.
2nd— 8:30	8:30 T, T. S.
2nd—11:00	9:30 T. T. S.
2nd— 2:10	2:10 M. W. F. 2:10 T. T.
3rd— 8:30	11:00 T. T. S.
3rd—11:00	12:00 T, T. S.
3rd— 2:10	3:10 P. M.
4th— 8:30	8:30 M. W. F.
4th—11:00	9:30 M. W. F.

Officers of A. C. E. Elected In Meeting Thursday May 16

The last meeting of the A. C. E. was held Thursday night, 7 p. m., at which time officers for the coming year were elected.

President .....Margaret Dortch
Vic-President ....Frances Yester
Vice-President ...Frances Yester
Secretary .....Martha Gwaltney
Treasurer ..... Gay Stieffen

Letters concerning the work of other A. C. E. chapters were read and a program of songs was given by the first, second and third grades of the Training School, directed by Rebecca Glenn, Kitty Chappell and Elizabeth Pamplin.

PRINTING.....
When you think of Printing think of
—The—
FARMVILLE HERALD

FOR THE SWEET GRADUATE

Fluffy white dresses, long lengths or tailored styles, two price groups $4.95 and $7.85

White shoes—new Cleopatra Sandals ..... $1.49 and $1.95

THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE
Farmville's Best Place to Shop!

—FOR—
EVERYTHING—SCHOOL SUPPLIES, CANDIES, FRUITS, CONFECTIONS, ETC.
GO TO .....
GILLIAM'S
Open 'till 9:00 p. m.

ARE YOU INTERESTED?
JACKETS of Grain and Suede Cloth and Wool SWEATERS.
We are showing the season's newest. Come in. We are glad to show—Just what we have—and the line is very attractive.
VERSER'S

PHILCO RADIO
World's largest manufacturers of Radio
A complete line
Watch repairing a specialty
Sheet Music—Strings for Instruments
LYNN, The Main Street Jeweler

YOUR NEIGHBOR,
The Weyanoke Beauty Salon
invites you to drop in and take advantage of their Special prices now in effect.
Permanent Waves—$4 & $6 Shampoo & Fingerwave 75 cents
Manicure 40 cents
Indiivdual, courteous, efficient service and an established reputation for dependability and satisfaction. That is our guarantee, and your assurance of perfect workmanship.

'34-'35 Athletic Season Is Ended

With the close of the athletic season for 1934-35 one naturally looks back over the year's work to see what has been accomplished and what degree of success has been attained.

To Miss Iler, our athletic coach, is due much credit for her untiring efforts to instill in the members of the various teams the principles of good sportsmanship and fair play. The members of the teams deserve commendation for having given up movies and other recreations in the afternoons in order to participate in sports.

Hockey season was interesting, although there was only one varsity game played. Farmville tied the Sweet Briar team on their cafpus with a score of 1 to 1. Those making the varsity team were: Mary Lena Anderson, Kathleen Bailey, Edna Bolick, Sara Beck, Florence Sanford, Evelyn Mann, Lelia Mattox, Martha Putney, Marguerite York, Louise Walmsley, Katherine Irby, Evelyn Massey and Kathleen Ransom.

Bess McGlothlin served as manager of hockey this year and Kathleen Ransom was elected captain.

The basketball season included the following games: Harrisonburg 30, Farmville 14; William and Mary 26, Farmville 17; Sweet Briar 18, Farmville 23; Blackstone 10, Farmville 18.

The varsity: Sara Beck, Ellen Gilliam, Frances Hudgins, Martha Putney, (Capt.) and Kathleen Ransom, Florence Sanford was manager of the sport.

Review of Sports

Hockey lasted until spring this year and the championship still remains the joint property of the juniors and sophomores. The class captains of the senior, junior, sophomore, and freshman teams were respectively Audrey Mattox, Kathleen Ransom, Marguerite York, and Nellwyn Latimer. The points toward the color cup were divided, five to the juniors and five to the sophomores.

The basketball championship went to the juniors. Captains of the senior, junior, and freshman teams were respectively: Sara Beck, Kathleen Ransom, and Betty Butterworth. The junior championship added ten points to the red and whites claim on the color cup.

Volley Ball

The sophomores were victorious in volley ball. They won the highest percentage of games in the round - robin tournament. Captains of volley ball were: Evelyn Mann, Mary Lena Anderson, and Kathleen Ransom.

Baseball

The baseball games resulted in a victory for the freshmen. This scored ten more points for the red and whites. Inez Chappell, Bernice Mann, and Linda Walker, respectively, were captains of the freshman, sophomore and junior teams.

Lacrosse

Lacrosse was initiated into the sports program at S. T. C. this year and due to conflicting sports many practices have been impossible. However, students like it and we believe this game has a future at S. T. C.

Swimming

Swimming has afforded many a pleasurable afternoon for the girls. Water sports will be initiated into the school next year under the supervision of Mrs. Fitzpatrick.

The close of the athletic season brings to mind the opportunities offered for participation in sports here. The realization of these opportunities and participation in such activities give experience of untold value to prospective teachers.

Warden: "So you think you are sane now. If we give you liberty will you leave liquor and women alone?

Inmate: "I sure will."

First Lunatic: "You'd better stay here, you're still crazy."

Original Compositions Presented In Chapel

The class in Musical Harmony under the direction of Miss Purdom gave a muscial program consisting of original compositions by the members of the class in chapel Tuesday morning.

Members of the class are Betty Pamplin, Marion Umburger, Katherine Chappell, and Alice Grainger. Each of these girls played at least one of her compositions and children from the Training School sang several of the songs that the students have originated, Katherine Chappell and Mary Irving Arthur each sang a solo composed by members of the group studying harmony. The types of the compositions were varied, there being lullabys, marches and solos.

Years Go By; S. T. C. Advances With Them

Continued from page one

ductions meant to many good old S. T. C. girls this year. Each performance, whether by classes, Dramatic Club, or May Day was hailed by school and visitors alike as unconditional successes. Who can forget the gratifying sights of seeing one's playmates strut out on the stage to sing, act or dance their ways into a burst of well-deserved applause?

Birthdays have claimed special attention. Most honored of all celebrations was that of Alma Mater, celebrating a joyous fifty-one years of service to mankind. The big banquet, the governor, the guests, "The Messiah" by the Choral Club, and the gift presentation by the Artist Dance Group,—all acclaiming this fine institution and dedicating it and its members to yet another noble year of work and play. Next in the birthday line, came the parties given in the dining hall to the celebrants of each month. A dear little rememberance, a catchy placecard or announcement, all serve to bring the smile of memory as we finger out souvenirs of a happy year.

Exciting elections claimed days of tense attention. Major contests brought us our already well-loved friend, Hazel Smith, as president of a loyal student body. Then came class presidents, landing three lucky girls at the heads of three fine classes. Minors in both fields saw the filling of many offices with upstanding, hard-working classmates who will carry on another years the traditions of our Alma Mater.

Nor do we forget another new honor brought back to us through one of our girls—the Atlantic Forensic Oratorical Tournament honor. Gertrude Levy deserves the praise of all for this award. Debate club created another side to our well rounded activities by representing the school in admirable fashion here and elsewhere. There is nothing like a few good speakers to liven up any institution's record.

Hostesses to two conventions, we were proud to welcome to our campus the visiting members of Alpha Kappa Gamma and Pi Gamma Mu, the presidency of the latter being held by our own Margaret Farrar.

Springtime brought still another distinction when our vice-president for 1934-35, Louise Hyde, was chosen as a princess to help make the Winchester Apple Blossom Festival a beautiful and colorfus event again this season.

Dangerous rhythm, haunting harmony, sweet melody — who could ask for anything more? Just list them on your fingers, those perfectly glorious dances that left the dancers up in rosy clouds of dreams for days. Two Cotillions, Mardi Gras, Founders' Day, and the newly inaugurated Senior Dance. Among our souvenirs of this gay, heart-touching school year these dances hold cherished nooks along side memories of him.

And so we see time roll on to take some of our loved girls away from us. Next year we'll find new faces in their places around old S. T. C., but time will not easily or quickly erase the happy, teasing memories of these our own dear college days.

How do you like our laundry?" "Fine. I sent six sheets and got back three handkerchiefs."

Pan Hellenic Officers Assume New Duties

The installation of the new Pan-Hellenic officers was held Tuesday night in the rec at 8 P. M. The officers, dressed in white and carrying candles formed a semi-circle, the retiring officers to the right and the incoming officers to the left. As each new officer was sworn into office, her candle was lighted by the candle of the former officer. The officers for the coming year are as follows:

President—Sue Mallory, Mu Omega.

Vice-President—Hazel Smith, Pi Kappa Sigma.

Secretary — Doris Coates, Alpha Sigma Tau.

Treasurer — Florence Sanford Sigma Sigma Sigma.

Chairman of Programs — Martha Nottingham—Gamma Theta.

Chairman of Publicity—Polly Wall——Alpha Sigma Alpha.

The presidents of the various chapters who are also representatives are Katherine Hurt, Elizabeth Huse, Dorothy Deans, Chic Dortch, Tac Waters and Carolyn Byrd.

The alternates are Virginia Agee, Margaret Bailey, Mary Bowles, Jean Willis, Alice Nelson and Lucille Mosely.

Miss Craddock Entertains Musicians at Tea, Tuesday

Miss Craddock of the S. T. C. faculty entertained the members of the ensemble of the S. T. C. Orchestra and the quartette of the Choral Club at tea on Thursday, May 16, at 5 p. m. in Miss Purdom's room. The ensemble and quartette had performed jointly at Jetersville earlier in the season.

Tea and strawberry shortcake were served to the guests. Those entertained were: Miss Purdom, director, Betty Pamplin, Elisabeth Legrand, Eleanor Gibbs, Jimmie, Mary and Alice Grainger, James Lipscomb, Charligne Hall, Evelyn Howell, Eleanor Wood, Annette Roberts, and Rebecca Carter.

Muriel McAllister, President Of French Circle Next Year

At its monthly meeting the French Circle elected its officers for the coming year. The following girls were chosen: president, Muriel McAllister; vice-president, Lois Vassar; secretary, Inez Chappell; treasurer, Nancy Pobst; pianist, Elizabeth Walton. Lois Vassar was also elected chairman of the Program Committee.

The grades for the sororities on campus have been averaged for the winter quarter and again Zeta Tau, Alpha Sigma Tau, maintains the highest average for the quarter, with an average of 1.972. Mu Omega second, 1.7607; Sigma Sigma Sigma, third, 1.704; Alpha Sigma Alpha, fourth, 1.535; Pi Kappa Sigma, fifth, 1.469; Gamma Theta, sixth, 1.467.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—Harvard University is about to embark upon a radically different athletic policy than is followed by any other college or university in the country.

Announced by Dr. James B. Conant, president, professional coaches in most of the minor sports will be abolished and the entire athletic program will be placed on the same basis as the other activities of the university, which are largely supported by endowments.

All other sports will, in the future, be operated independently of football, which hitherto has made up the financial deficits sustained in the other branches of Harward's athletic endeavors.

(By Associated Collegiate Press)

Juniors To Accept Seniorship Saturday

(Continued from page 1)

MacGardner was elected president and Lelia Mattox, vice-president.

The seniors will hold their banquet at Longwood on the night of May 31.

You Would Love to Have Your Shoes Fixed at
Lovelace Shoe Shop
110 Third Street

Zeta Tau Becomes Chapter of National Education Soorrity

Continued from page one

via Yost, Sally Royster Rives, Grace Virginia Woodhouse, Mary K. Taylor, Charlotte Hutchins, Mary E. Turner, Mary Lee Malbon, Abbye Edwards, Jeannette McDearmon, and Virginia Kreiembaum.

Miss Virginia Bedford, Miss Mary Nichols, Miss Mary White Cox, Miss Mix, Mrs. Staehle, and Dr. Jarman were guests at the banquet.

"Is the doctor in?"

"No, he went out for lunch."

"Will he be in after lunch?"

"No, that's what he went out after."

KLEANWELL CLEANERS
GRADUATION GOWNS
CLEANED AND PRESSED
Prices Reasonable
Main Street Phone98

TUSSY

$1.00

Unbelievable!

All this for $1.00? Tussy Powder in that new super-clinging quality, and the new patent non-spill box, full $1.00 size... PLUS an introductory Tussy Automatic Lipstick, 50¢ value... PLUS a real lamb's wool puff.

All for $1.00!

An ideal offer for the collee girls.

Come in today for yours.

BALDWIN'S
FARMVILLE, VA.

The Schemmel Conservatory of Music
Offers interesting instruction by Artist Teachers, arranged to suit the needs of each pupil. Piano: Elsa Schemmel Fairchild, Marie Schemmel Shroder. Voice: Mattie Spencer Willis. Violin: Richmond Seay of Blackstone College.

Farmville Mfg. Co.
BUILDING MATERIALS
MILLWORK
Farmville, Va.

ROOM FURNISHINGS
SCHOOL SUPPLIES
CANDIES
ROSES
5-10-25c Store
FARMVILLE, VA.

Overton-Mottley Hdwe. Co.
ELECTRIC GOODS/
Tennis Rackets and balls
Roller Skates

EACO THEATRE
Mats. 4 p. m.; Nights 8 p. m.
Adults 25c: Children 15c
Unless otherwise noted

Thurs-Fri. May 23-24 Comedy
BORIS KARLOFF
ELSA LANCASTER
in
THE BRIDE OF FRANKENSTEIN
Not for timid children or adults with weak hearts!
Adults 25c and 35c

Sat., May 25 Song Hit
PAUL LUKAS
ISABEL JEWEL
"Casino Murder Case"

Next Mon.-Tues. May 27-28
SHIRLEY TEMPLE
Joel McCrea, Rosem'y Ames
in
"Our Little Girl"
All Color Travelogue
Adults 25c and 35c

Next Wed., May 29 Car.
GEORGE O'BRIEN
'Cowboy Millionaire"
Chapter 3
"PHANTOM EMPIRE"

Next Thurs., Fri. Mae West
"GOIN' TO TOWN"

We want to thank you for the nice business you have given us this year and welcome you back next year.
SHANNON'S

Southside Drug Store
(On the Corner)
Films Developed FREE
If bought at this store

Conoco Gas and Oil
Fill up at
Johns Motor Co.
Farmville, Va.

SUPPERS AND
SMALL PARTIES
Good Breakfast
Dinners
Suppers
College Tea Room
and
LONGWOOD

Buy Your
CANDY
To Sell at
H. T. Stokes & Co.

G. F. Butcher
High Street
"The Convenient Store"
FOR GOOD THINGS
TO EAT AND DRINK

Electric Shoe Shop
Will Fix Your Shoes
While You Wait
BEST WORKMANSHIP
AND LEATHER USED

Martin the Jeweler
Gifts of
Lasting Remembrance
317 Main St. Farmville

POTTED MEATS
SANDWICH SPREAD
SANDWICH ROLLS
HOT DOGS
Everything for the Picnic
W. R. Drumeller
Main Street Farmville

The Fashion Shoppe
Reflects the newest styles. All dresses $2.95 up
COATS, SUITS, DRESSES, UNDERWEAR
Silk Hose
Fine quality ..... 49c 59c and 69c

WHITE SEASON IS HERE
Gorgeous Graduation Dresses $2.97 to $9.94
Pastel colors—maise, blue and pinks, brown and maise combinations $5.95 and $7.45
DOROTHY MAY STORES
First to Show the Newest!
FARMVILLE, VA.

REMEMBER YOUR CLASS DUES

The Rotunda

We Teach To Teach

ENTER INTO SPORTS

Volume XVI. Farmville, Virginia, October 2, 1935 No. 1

Thirty-Seven Girls Enjoy Dean's List Privileges In Fall

Registrar Announces Spring Quarter Honor Roll

The Dean's List for the fall quarter as announced by the Registrar's office today is as follows:

Margaret V. Alsop, Prospect
Virginia Bean, South Hill
Ruby H. Blanton, Guinea Mills
Agnes Bondurant, Rice
Doris Coates, Norfolk
Kemper Cobb, Farmville
Alice Collings, Roanoke
Mrs. Mary N. Crockett, Baltimore, Md.
Margaret Dortch, South Hill
Elinor Dunham, Durham, N. C.
Grace Eubank, Newport News
Winnie Frances Eubank, Franklin
Victoria Gillette, Courtland
Helen E. Glass, Farmville
Alice Grainger, Farmville
Martha Hamlet, Phenix
Martha Harrison, Waverly
Virginia Hooke, McDowell
Carolyn Hoon, San Antonio, Texas
Katherine Hurt, Salem
Bonne Lane, Roanoke
Bessie McGlothlin, Baltimore, Md.
Evelyn Massey, Post Oak
Doris Moore, Richmond
Addie Norfleet, Suffolk
Claudine O'Brien, Appomattox
Margaret Pollard, Amelia
Mrs. Nora Rawlinson, Jetersville
Dorothy Rhodes, Cartersville
Mary Robeson, Blacksburg
Mrs. Sallie Rhode, Lynchburg
Ellen Simmerman, Wytheville

Continued on page four

STC Dramatic Club Places Apprentices

Tuesday night marked the beginning of the customary apprentice period required of girls who are interested in becoming members of the Dramatic Club. The very definite program which has been planned for the coming year will include a few new resolutions that have been proved beneficial to the club members and to the school.

The primary business of the meeting was in getting the group of apprentices, about two hundred in all, located in the type of work in which they are interested. Club officers and group leaders were introduced, each saying a few words to the new members. Miss Wheeler, director presented the aims of the organization and the methods of procedure.

A second matter of importance was touched in the announcement that the fall play had been selected by Miss Wheeler and the committee. As usual, the Hampden-Sydney Jongleurs will be joint producers of the play. A definite statement as to the production and cast will be made at a later date.

A. A. Council Entertains Freshmen With Outing At Longwood Tuesday, Oct. 1

The A. A. Council entertained the Freshman Class Tuesday afternoon with a weiner roast at Longwood. The members of the freshman class, accompanied by the members of the A. A. Council, hiked in a body to the Longwood Cabin where the weiner roast was held. After the roasting of weiners, the two hundred freshmen returned to school, having spent an enjoyable afternoon. Hazel Smith, president of the Student Body; and Agnes Crockett, President of the Y. W. C. A. were honor guests of the occasion.

Y. W. C. A. Sponsors Annual Reception

The annual Y. W. C. A. Reception for the new girls was held in the Student Building lounge on Friday night, September 27 from 8 till 10 o'clock.

The freshmen and their "big sisters" were greeted by the receiving line composed of Dr. Jarman, Miss Mary White Cox, Agnes Crockett, Sue Waldo, Elizabeth Shiplett, Miss Taylor, Miss Foster, Miss Bedford, Miss Jennings, Miss Stubbs, Miss Iler, Dr. Walmsley, Dr. Jeffers, Mr. Coyner and Mrs. Holton.

Following the welcome by the receiving line the social committee of the Y. W. served punch and cakes in the gym.

The main event of the evening was a fashion show displaying costumes for the well dressed college girl. The models included: Jennie Belle Gilliam, Martha Nottingham, Kitty Jamison, Sue Mallory, Florence Sanford, Kitty Fitzgerald, Elsie Green, Virginia Agee, Mary Joyner Cox, Susan Lane, Marian Hansborough, Hazel Smith, Valla Nimmo, Eleanor Dodson, Bonnie Lane, and Martha Harmlet.

Dancing was the final amusement, music being supplied by student pianists.

Boswell Phelps Head Music Organizations

An unusually large number of students have applied for membership in the College Choir and Choral Club this year, and the outlook for the year is unusually gratifying. Many splendid voices have been found among the student body, and both organizations should be able to keep up the reputation made in former years.

Helen Boswell has been elected president of the choir and Miss Ruth Phelps, president of the Choral Club, with Miss Louise Gathright and Miss Addie Norfleet as assistants in the Choral Club work.

Helen Boswell has been an active member in the choir for the past three years and has shown splendid interest in every phase of the work. She is one of the outstanding students in the college. Plans are going forward for the year's work and both organizations will report the different committees in the future.

The Junior Class will entertain the freshmen at a party in the Recreation Hall at 10:30 o'clock Thursday night.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE TO OUR NEW STUDENTS

Just a word to Freshmen and other new students to say we welcome you to our college with its many opportunities. Most of you are new to college life, and to make the transition from school to college or home to college requires a little time for adjustment. It is surprising how quickly the adjustments are made. That is because of youth. Put your regular work first, and start with the determination to do your best with it. Then find an opportunity to develop your special talents, for you have different talents. Identify yourself with one of the extra-curricular activities in line with your particular gift or talent. Wholehearted participation in at least one of the many student activities on the campus will give added zest to your regular work and will do much to develop your personality. Remember that you are among friends. Everyone here — student, faculty, admiinstration,—is eager to help you find your place in our college life.

J.L.Jarman

Orientation Class Begins For Frosh

Monday night marked the opening of orientation classes which will be held each Monday, Wednesday, and Friday evening from 7:00 to 7:30 for two weeks. The purpose of these classes is to familiarize new girls with rules, regulations and activities of the college.

The classes are compulsory for all freshmen and other new girls. Those students who cut will have to attend special classes of the same type. At the end of two weeks an examination on the handbook will be given. A re-examination will be given in case of any failures.

Lucy Potter, vice-president of the student body, is in charge of orientation classes and the following girls will conduct classes: Dorothy Deans, Louise Gathright, Bonnie Lane, Martha Hamlet, Victoria Gillette, Virginia Leonard, Claire Eastman, Tac Waters, Margaret Clark, Doris Coates, Mary Bowles, Sue Waldo, Martha Glenn Davis, Winnie Frances Eubank, Elizabeth Shiplett, Lelia Sanford, Marion Umberger, Zaida Thomas, and Elizabeth Morris.

Virginian Has Photo Appointments Oct. 3

The Virginian staff has announced that a representative of Dunbar and Daniel, photographers for the year book, will be at the college beginning October 7, for as long as is necessary for everyone to have a sitting. Members of the staff will keep a table

Continued on page four

English Fraternity Announces Plans

The chartered members of the new English Honorary Society met Tuesday afternoon in Mr. Grainger's class-room to launch plans for the coming year. Among those discussed was the decision to have Nancy Byrd Turner, one of Virginia's well-known poetesses, present for the introduction of this honor society as a national fraternity on October 25. The society also expects an artist visit from John Erskin, American writer and literary critic who is the author of "Helen of Troy" and "Galahad", on February 11. No officers except the following committees have been appointed: The Committee for Drawing up the Constitution and By-Laws headed by Winnie Frances Eubank, including Agnes Bondurant, Marguerite York, Alice Grainger, having as their faculty advisers Miss Jennings and Miss Hiner; The Committee for Selecting a Ritual and Ceremony headed by Emma Bingham, including Virginia Bean and Lucille Rhodes having as their faculty adviser, Miss Nichols; and The Committee for Entertainment of Miss Nancy Byrd Turner, headed by Louise Lewis, including Grace Ball and Zaida Thomsa, having as their faculty advisers, Miss Hiner and Miss London.

Debate Club Plans General Discussion For First Meeting

The Debate Club will present Gertrude Levy as representative oratorical contestant, and hold an open forum discussion of the proposed amendments to the constitution, on October 17 at eight P. M. in the small auditorium. The faculty and student body are invited to attend and are urged to participate in the discussion.

Taking the stand of the Progressives, Margaret Pollard and Victoria Gillette will discuss the issue of proposed constitutional amendments. On the other hand, Louise Francis and Virginia Hook will present the question from the viewpoint of the Conservatives. Agnes Bondurant will give the general history of the amending of the constitution and the theory of constitutional division of powers between the states and federal governments.

Preceding the debate between the Progressives and Conservatives in the open forum, Gertrude Levy will speak on "Peace". Gertrude, a member of the Debate Club and Pi Kappa Delta, won first place for S. T. C. in the South Atlantic Forensic Tournament, held in Hickory, North Carolina, last March. She will again represent S. T. C. in oratorical contests this winter.

Continued on page four

College Students Participate In National Tobacco Festival

On Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of last week South Boston celebrated the first national tobacco festival with a crowd of 6,000 persons attending each day. Margaret Dortch, Frances Maxie, Elizabeth Harris, Martha Williams, Em Easley, Mary Harrison Vaughn, and Jane Duling of S. T. C. participated in the fete. On each of the three nights a pageant depicting the history of tobacco was presented in an open air stadium erected for the event. Costumes, lights and well trained performers made this pageant particularly effective. Beverly Campbell who directed the Shakespearean plays of the World's Fair had charge of directing the characters.

Miss Westwood Byrd, daughter of Senator and Mrs. Harry Flood Byrd, reigned as queen of the Tobacco Land with thirty maids attending her. She was officially crowned by Governor Peery on Wednesday night. Margaret Dortch of S. T. C. was an attendant in Miss Byrd's court as representative of South Hill, Virginia.

A feature of the opening night of the festival was a square dance with the music furnished by a well-known string band. On Wednesday night Little Jack Little and his orchestra played for dancing in the Independent Warehouse. Miss Byrd escorted by Mr. Tucker Watkins of Halifax, led the figure and was presented to the audience along with her maids.

On Thursday afternoon a parade of unusual color and originality was sponsored by local merchants. Frances Maxie, Elizabeth Harris, Martha Williams, Em Easley, Mary Harrison Vaughn and Jane Duling of S. T. C. rode on the elaborate floats. Other forms of amusement were air circuses, carnivals and so forth.

S. T. C. Enrollment Approximates 725

Error In Handbook Confuses Privileges

Due to a typographical error made in the handbook, the privileges of the Juniors and the Sophomores have been confused. There is also a general misunderstanding among the Freshmen concerning their privileges. A list of the privileges for all three classes is given below.

Juniors may:

1. Go to the movies week nights
2. Go to town until 6.00 P. M.
3. Go to P. O. until 7:30 P. M.

Sophomores may:

1. Have light permission until 11:00 three nights a week.
2. Go to town
3. Have choice of rooms

Freshmen may:

1. Go to town on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday afternoons from 3:00 P. M. to 6:00 P. M. On these days only may they go to the movies, to Longwood, and shopping. (Week days)
2. Go to the movies Saturday night without permission.
3. Go to Longwood on Sunday afternoon

Cotillion Club Meets Monday; F. Sanford Elected To Office

The Cotillion Club held its first meeting Monday, September 30, in the small auditorium.

Florence Sanford was elected buisness manager of the club to fill Billy Rountree's place. Billy was elected business manager last spring but did not return to school this fall.

According to the constitution of the Cotillion Club, the membership cannot exceed two hundred. As the freshman class is so large, the club voted whether to raise the membership or keep it the same. It was decided that the constitution should not be changed.

One hundred thirty-five Cotillion Club members returned to school. Therefore, only sixty-five girls will be taken in the club for the entire year.

A meeting will be held soon to decide on the number of old girls to be taken into the club and to vote on these girls. Also, at this meeting more plans for securing an orchestra will be discussed.

N. Y. A. Aids Students In College Education

Approximately one hundred girls in our student body this session are employed under the National Youth Administration. In the college these student assistants are in the library, business office, registrar's office, dining room, book room, etc. Also there are students working under the NYA in the training school and a few out in town.

We can readily see what an important part the NYA holds in our college by enabling such a large number of our girls to enter and to continue their college education as they had aimed to do. Realizing the great help the NYA is rendering them, the students try to do their work faithfully.

The Rotunda wishes to extend its sympathy to Frances Hollaway in her recent sorrow.

Forty-Nine Are Out-of-State Students

Seven hundred and nineteen girls enrolled in school this year. 709 have arrived and ten more are expected. This is the largest enrollment since the session of 1930-'31. There are forty-nine out-of-state girls representing thirteen states. Eighty of the 100 counties in Virginia have sent girls, Mecklenberg County heads the list with thirty-five. There are representatives of all the larger towns and cities in the staet.

Girls from Florida, Kentucky, Maryland, New York, Massachusetts, New Jersey, North Carolina, South Carolina, Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Texas, District of Columbia, and West Virginia are registered. In Virginia girls have come from Alexandria, Bristol, Charlottesville, Clifton Forge, Danville, Fredericksburg, Lynchburg, Newport News, Norfolk, Petersburg, Portsmouth, Richmond, Roanoke, and Williamsburg. Richmond and Norfolk lead with 26 girls from each city.

There is an unusually large number of transfers this year. All of other State Teachers Colleges are represented with three from Fredericksburg, three from Harrisonburg, and two from Radford. Four girls have transferred from each of the following colleges: Averett, West Hampton, Extension divisions of William and Mary. There are two from Virginia Intermont and three from William and Mary. Each of the following colleges is represented by one girl: Bridgewater S. T. C., Hollins, Mary Baldwin, Lynchburg College, Randolph-Macon Woman's College, University of Virginia, Duke University Woman's College of the University of North Carolina, Southern College of Florida, St. Mary's, North Carolina, Catawba College, N. C., Birmingham Southern College, Wilson College, Pa., Gunston Hall, Washington, D. C.

Longwood Project Becomes Certainty

That S. T. C. is going to have a golf course has become a certainty. A regulation nine hole course is under construction at Longwood now. According to Mr Graham, four holes will be ready for use in November, and the fairways, now being seeded will be in order by Spring.

The course will be open to students of the college as college fees will include this activity. Outsiders will be charged a fee for use of the course. It is through the WPA and the work relief program that this project has been made possible.

Baby Grand Pianos Placed In Lounge and at Longwood

The music lovers of S. T. C. were happy to notice that two new baby grand pianos had been added here in the summer. One has been placed in the Student Building Lounge and the other in the front parlor at Longwood. Both pianos were badly needed at these places and will contribute much to the pleasure of the students who take this means to express their thanks to Dr. Jarman.

HOUSE COUNCIL ELECTS NEW VICE-PRESIDENT

At a meeting of the House Council Monday night Emma Bingham was elected vice-president of the Council.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Published by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

1935 Member 1936
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

Staff

Florence Sanford ..... Editor
Agnes Bondurant ..... Associate Editor
Evelyn Massey ..... Business Manager

Board of Editors

Miss Jane Royall ..... Alumnae
Katherine Hoyle ..... Make-up
Susan Gresham ..... Headlines
Emma Bingham ..... Literary
Bess McGlothlin, Elizabeth Morris, Mary Adeline McGlothlin ..... Editorials
Claire Eastman ..... World News
Margaret Fraley ..... Socials
Kathleen Ranson ..... Sports

Proof Readers

Elizabeth Walton Dorothy Deans

Managers

Elsie Cabell ..... Circulation
Ruth Phelps ..... Asst. Circulation
Louise Gathright ..... Asst. Circulation

Assistants and Reporters

Virginia Agee, Mary Joyner Cox, Alice Nelson, Claudia Harper, Minnie Smith, Elizabeth Carroll, Willis Scott, Bonnie Lane.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 2, 1934

To Upperclassmen

Now that all of us are here and most of us are situated, we look about us for diversion other than that of making schedules and going to new classes. Our new girls, who are unacquainted with the rules and regulations of our college, turn to the source of information nearest at hand—the upperclassmen—for answers to their many questions. As a natural result, we upperclassmen are looked to for guidance. Whether we realize it or not, each of us is setting an example for someone to follow. Every bit of information we impart should be given with care and consideration for its outcome. Let us not carelessly give the new girls permission to do those things which are wrong, using the familiar phrase, "Everybody does it," for an answer. They will accept what we tell them, and perhaps get into trouble because our information was misleading. To prevent any circumstance of this sort, we must be very sure that everything we tell them is absolutely reliable.

Orientation classes, including a thorough study of the handbook and a survey of the Honor Code, are now being conducted. These discussions will afford the new girls an opportunity of becoming acquainted with the rules, traditions, and organizations of the college. Though such precautions are being taken, we, as a student body can help the newcomers greatly by making sure the privileges we give them are rightfully theirs.

Threatening War

In Europe the dissatisfaction of two decades has developed into an ominous threat of war, with Italy leading the way.

Mussolini is rapidly sending troops into Eritrea, Italian province of Africa, which bounds Ethiopia on the east side.

Haile Selassie, native Ethiopian king, has also been making preparations for war, and the native children declare they are eager to begin hostilities.

The members of the League of Nations while these movements for war have been going forward, have not been idle. England has stationed her warships in the Mediterranean, in readiness to enforce economic sanctions if Italy continues her advances, and the League consents to apply the sanctions.

The United States, meanwhile, has declared her neutrality and wisely avoided all possible entanglements. In August, when Haile Selassie offered to lease some oil territory to the Standard Oil Company for exploitation, the United States realized that acceptance of such an offer by a United States concern would enhance the possibility of conflict for the United States, and so she immediately instructed the Standard Oil Company to refuse the offer.

Italy claims that her motives for invading Ethiopia are to give the advantages of modern civilization to a savage state and at the same time to relieve an overpopulated condition of her own peninsula. Incidentally, statistics show that there are not as many people to the square mile in Italy as in several of the other European countries.

In the eyes of the world, the Ethiopian King of Kings has offered to make all reasonable concessions, but he is not willing to give up the land of his holy fathers to Italy for exploitation.

Mussolini, on the other hand has made few concessions, but has worried the League from time to time that she must carry forward her African policy. One of her demands has been that she be allowed to build a railroad connecting her territory of Eritrea with Addis Ababa, the chief city of Ethiopia. Italy plans to operate such a railroad, no doubt, for the carrying in and out of workers and products of exploitation.

The latest news from the aggressors is contradictory. Mussolini stretches a friendly hand toward Great Britain and says that he is willing to negotiate terms that will quiet her fears over the African problem. At the same time, he warns the League against interference. Mussolini realizes that he can say what he pleases to the League in its official capacity. In other words, he is not afraid for the world in general to know that he intends to invade Ethiopia. Btu he is afraid to speak freely face to face with Great Britain. He speaks kindly to her who offers the most concrete threat of what may come in case of war.

The longer Mussolini can continue to put off Great Britain and at the same time continue his warlike advances, the better he likes it.

Congratulations—Tigers!

(Hampden-Sydney Tiger)

THE Tiger eleven certainly deserves a congratulation this week. After falling under V. M. I. it came back with that old Tiger spirit to do something no other Hampden-Sydney football team had done before, that is, beat Virginia. A long chain of defeats at the hands of Virginia is broken and what's been done before can be done again. We share the team's hopes for more clean-cut victories and the whole school is behind the Death Valley squad as it has always been.

But this long-sought victory may be dangerous. The victory last Saturday was partially due to an over-confidence of the opposing team, so we hope the Tigers will profit by the mistakes of others and take victory in true Hampden-Sydney fashion—like level-headed gentlemen.

"The Longest Way Round—"

We all heard the proposition put to us in chapel this morning by the campus league chaiman—that with our cooperation it will be possible to do away with the small fence around the campus. Due to carelessness it was necessary to provide this protection for the lawn and although it served this purpose well it detracted considerably from the appearance of our campus.

We are pleased that we no longer have to have the fence—but it is up to the student body. By all means enjoy the campus but it is hard to believe that the grass must be demolished in pursuing this end. Let us follow the saying, "The longest way around is the shortest way home." If we do this there's no danger of cutting paths across campus.

Rotunda Reverberations

"Bored of education?", bored or board here we are back in collitch and such a mob of freshmen from the gym to the infirmary hustling and bustling into everyone and everything. Sorry, but we all had to be freshmen at one time.

So a Hampden-Sydney freshman broke a campus rule to submit to the charms of one of our juniors. And that reminds us, hats off to the Tigers for the way they opened the Cavaliers' eyes.

To the girl who said her father sold powdered milk to the school, are you sure that it isn't fertilizer.

I wonder if that freshman ever found out what we sing in "Sing."

You've heard about all kinds of lines but there's no line like the post office line.

Wonder if Anne Irving had a Green object in coming back Monday.

Some people say they'd walk a mile for a Camel, but a freshie here walked two hours Saturday night trying to find her room. What's this about the room in red in Main?

Was it Mae West we had with us at the reception or wasn't it?

We're wondering if Red is back at H. S. C. this year. Let's ask Jennie Belle?

Glad to see you back, Maxie, better late than never.

If you ask us (nobody has so far), the person who ruined our slumbers Saturday night by turning in a false fire alarm should be hanged. Such confusion as existed for awhile. Why, freshmen were crying and even an old timer like Florence Tankard let it go to her head and pulled a faint.

We'd like to know if there's a freshman in school who likes her room-mate and if Carter Belle Munt gets that happy mug just from the excitement of returning to school or do our suspicions border on truth?

We were glad to have Jack Gray back in town. It would be simply excruciating not to have one co-ed here to give the freshmen a hearty greeting.

World News

At last Benito Mussolini's Italian cabinet has tossed an olive branch into the League of Nations by announcing its transient loyalty to this covenant. This cabinet communique has even made a new attempt of peace toward Great Britain by making known its readiness to negotiate futher agreements with Great Britain concerning the lawful interests of Great Britain in East Africa.

Since Il Duce considered Italy's necessities for expansion and protection, he and his ministers immediately rejected with disdain Ethiopia's plan for the withdrawal of troops from her frontiers. They even informed Ethiopia of Il Duce's assertion of an accelerated Italian troop movements to Africa.

Even though Italy is "sore all over" because of the hold up of the league at Geneva for the report of the committee of thirteen on facts in the Italo-Ethiopian dispute, the ministers are inclined to feel sure that Italy will not forsake the League until the League feels responsible for judgments against Italy.

The world is now aware of the fact that Great Britain is extending plans for naval construction just in case of emergency. Her 1935 building program is calling for bids on 21 ships.

Great Britain has even inquired as to what state of cooperation France would render in the event of a conflict in the Mediterranean sea.

It has been estimated that $50,000,000 will be necessary for this 1935 plan. The new ships are including three cruisers, nine destroyers, three submarines, one submarine depot ship, four sloops, one survey ship and several smaller vessels.

The whole world is anxiously awaiting the result of this unequalled plan.

Alumnae News

Among the summer weddings—

Belle Lovelace of South Boston to Frank Dunbar, Jr., of Columbus in a beautiful church wedding on August 10.

Virginia Hunter Boyd of Roanoke to Edward Barr of Winchester in an impressive ceremony at the beautiful home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Dr. and Mrs. Phillip W. Boyd, Winchester, August 3.

July 27, Mary Conway of Orange to William Alexander Clark of Unionville in the historic Aqua church near Fredericksburg.

At the Bethlehem Chapel, Washington Cathedral, on August 3, Jane Beale to Maurice Gordon Herndon, both of Suffolk.

Martha Ann Laing of Farmville and Roy Person formerly of New Hampshire, July 10, in St. John's Cathedral, Hong Kong, China. The couple will reside in Socony-Vacuum, Hong Kong, where Mr. Pearson is engaged in business.

In an impressive ceremony at the Braddock Street Methodist Church, Winchester, on August 1, Martha Ann Huntsberry to James Donald Shockey, both of Winchester.

Elizabeth Doyne, Farmville, to Bryon Nelson Cooper, Iowa City, on Sept. 7 in Episcopal Church, Farmville.

Louise Van Lear of Lynchburg to Walter Russell Curfman of Covington, August 14, at the home of the bride in Lynchburg.

Dorothy Woolwine of Bland to Nicholas Jones of Ceres at the home of the bride in Bland, Sept. 7.

August 29, Dorothy Cook, of Richmond to Muriel Wilkerson formerly of Farmville.

Goldie Bogg of Cruziel to Herman Tinsley, August 3, at Buckingham Court House.

At Other Colleges

Mussolini seems to think the way to cultivate and educate us is to kill most of us.

—The Spectator

Marry by all means. If you get a good wife you will become very happy, if you get a bad one you will become a philosopher—and that is good for everyone.

Socrates—The Spectator

One author says that many more men leave the world for the kennel than for the cloister. That is, they find it easier to get interested in a pet dog than a pet religion, and naturally so, for even the feebiest and dullest human beings can feel themselves master, genius and god of a dog, but what a change it must be for them from a world where unsympathetic men exploit the weak and deride the stupid.

—The Yellow Jacket

When you graduate from the school of experience, your diploma is a tombstone.

—The Davidsonian

Of all the people in the world today, not more than one third eat with a knife and fork. Another third use chopsticks and the final third still eat with their fingers.

—The Spectator

Looking back over the past week and forward to one in the dim future: the most important and similar groups of students on the campus are freshmen during orientation week and seniors during comencement week.

—The Spectator

The freshmen at Richmond college have chosen Tommy Graham of Farmville as president of their class. Tommy, son of the business manager at S. T. C., made an outstanding record during his four years at Farmville High School.

—Richmond Collegian

Members of the student body, administration, faculty, and Home office extend their sympathy to Miss Nichols in her recent bereavement.

Literary Column

Poets Creed

I believe in God,
The all-tolerant and merciful
Father of Love,
Whose beauty spills
From the trumpets of the Sun
In girasoles of splendor
And carascating billows
At morning and at night;
Whose tears for blindness fall in rain,
And sighs for greed drift down in snow.
I believe in Jesus Christ, His Son,
A poet, too,
Who said, "Cast not a stone
If ye have fault!"
And, "Suffer little children to come unto Me.
And forbid them not!"
For whom the root and bud and trunk
Of every tree had voice;
And every life that sprang from Life
Had right to be;
And everything in which Life dwelled
Held brotherhood!
Amen!

—Sonia Ruthele Noviak

"Silence is a true friend who never betrays."—Confucius.

Patience

Oh, the patience of a tree,
The calm assurance as it waits
The season's through unfaltering-ly
Above our petty loves and hates.
Watching slow years come and go
Surely from it we can know
Something of eternity.

—Edna Becker

"Youth sees too far to see how near it is to seeing farther."

—Edgar Arlington Robinson

This Life

This life, so folded now,
Was wide
Once as the sky and sea,
And opening out,
On every side
It touched immensity.

* * *

A room cannot Contain it, quite,
Nor death,
Tonight.

—Mabel Sinap.on

"Nothing so needs reforming as other peoples' habits.'"

—Mark Twain

This Remains

Beauty comes and beauty goes
Like the petals of a rose.
Song is but a moment's bliss;
Fleeting as a lover's kiss.
Downs bright promise of a day
Swiftly crumbles in decay.
Spring, an eerie banchee-light,
Passes in a burst of light.

* * *

Yet in all this transiency,
God and you remain to me!

—Peter Gething

"The tables is the perfect place for business, courtship, conversation and most other pursuits of life."

—Andre L. Simon

God's World

O World, I cannot hold thee close enough!
Thy winds, the wide gray skies!
Thy mists that roll and rose!
Thy words, this autumn day, that ache and sag.

And all but cry with coolr! That giant crag
To crush! To lift the lean of that black bluff!
World, World, I cannot get thee close enough!
Long have I known o glory in it all,

But never knew I this;
Here such a passion is
As stretcheth me apart. Lord I do fear
Thou'st made the world too beautiful this year.

My soul is all but out of me—let fall
No burning leaf; prithee, let no bird call.

Edna St. Vincent Millay

SOCIALS

Miss Bedford, Miss Mix, Doris Coates, Dorothy Deans and Earnestine Payne spent the last Saturday in Dumbarton where they attended the wedding of Christine Childrey.

Kitty Jamerson and Virginia Bean spent the past week-end in Charlottesville where they attended the University-Hampden-Sydeny football game.

Sue Waldo was a visitor in Richmond over the week-end.

Sue Mallory was the week-end guest of her sister, Ella Mallory, who is teaching at Crigglersville.

The following old girls were visitors at S. T. C. over the week-end: Marguerite Bradford from Hampton, Evelyn Knaub from Blackstone, Nancy Dodd from Chase City, Tyler Wood from Richmond.

Francis Maxey, Mary Harrison Vaughn, Elizabeth Harris and Martha Hamlet were in South Boston over the week-end.

Mr. Joseph H. Sauders from Newport News, Mr. J. Gordon Bohannon and Dr. J. L. Jarman were luncheon guests at S. T. C. on Tuesday.

One among us is starting her life here with already an inherited measure of fame. Mary Elizabeth Stone, one of our freshmen, is the daughter of Mr. Frank F. Stone who was the architect of some of the finest buildings on our campus. Mr. Stone is of the firm of Frye and Stone of Roanoke, which firm drew up the plans for Student Building, the Annex, Cunningham Hall, and the Swimming Pool. Lacking the spacious campus which adds to most schools the beauty of our college is largely dependent upon its classic buildings. To them we owe the dignity and gracious atmosphere which impress all who visit our campus. We gladly welcome the representative of those who made this beauty possible for us as one of us.

Apprentices Begin Practice Teaching

The following is a list of girls doing practice teaching in the fall quarter.

Curdsville High School

Ione Covert, Elizabeth Trent, Tac Waters, Margaret Ferguson, Irene Bailey, Maude Jones, Agnes Bondurant.

Rice

First grade: Matsie Moore, Kitty Jamison.

Second Grade: Marion Hansborough, Maude Duck.

Third Grade: Kathryn Ryburn.

Fourth Grade: Thelma Gunther.

Training School

First grade: Elizabeth Conner.

Second grade: Nancy Puckett, Mary Jane Pennelton, Jane Lybrook.

Third grade: Mary Lynn Thomas, Buck Pleasants, Bernice Jones, Margaret Russell.

Fourth grad: ?

Fifth grade: Julia Ann Waldo.

Sixth grade: Elise Turner.

Seventh grade: ?

High school: Carolyn Hoon, Louise Walmsley, Doris Coates, Lucy Shields, Lelia Sanford, Elizabeth Walton, Margaret Pollard, Zell Houck, Doris Moore, Margaret Hurt, Margaret Clark, Evelyn Massey, Winnie Frances Eubank, Mary Elizabeth Wood, Dortha Harrison, Kathleen Ranson, Margaret Bird, Ernestine Payne, Margaret Alsop.

Worsham

Second grade: Charlotte Elliott, Carolyn Upshur.

Third grade: Grace Conyers.

Fourth grade: Irva Mae Hamilton.

Fifth grade: Leah Godwin.

Sixth grade: Cleo Reynolds.

High school: Kitty Smoot, Louise Francis, Kathryn Harvey.

John Randolph

First grade: Dora Parker.

Second grade: Eleanor Wood.

Third grade: Billie Arthur.

Fourth grade: Helen Callihan.

Fifth grade: Richie Ellis.

University of California Students Beat Parking Laws

Here's their simple plan. First, get a parking tag for over-parking. Second, stick it on your windshield every day when you park to go to your classes.

Calendar

Wednesday
Rotunda Staff	7:00
Dramatic Club	7:15
Orientation Groups	7:00
Thursday
Beta Pi Theta	7:00
Friday
Orientation Groups	7:00
Sigma Pi Rho	8:00
Saturday
Sing	6.45
Monday
Student Body Meeting	7:00
Virginian Staff	7:00
Orientation Groups	7:00
House Council	10:00
Tuesday
Class Meetings	7:00
Alpha Phi Sigma	7:30
Pi Gamma Mu	8:30

Sing Introduces School Activities

The outstanding organizations of the school were introduced to the freshmen in "Sing" Saturday night. The short program included representatives of the major organizations ,clubs, honor fraternities, music and dance groups, language departments, and other activities.

Four "dumb" freshmen, portrayed by Mary Bowles, Florence Tankard, Virginia Agee, and Will Scott, were in the usual hubub of their first night at school; they were dissatisfied with everything, but the representatives of these school activities gave them an interest in the school life.

Elizabeth Huse, Addie Norfleet, and Mary Alice Glass gave a tap dance, introducing the athletic program. Louise Walmsley, Frances Hudgins, Elsie Cabell, and Mary Lib Slater represented the Athletic Association presenting all kinds of outdoor and indoor sports—hockey in the fall, basketball and volley ball in the winter, lacrosse, tennis and archery in the spring, and swimming through the entire year. Sue Mallory introduced one of the new sports, golf at Longwood.

Gertrude Levy, acting as a member of the Dramatic Club with all the care of her first play, rehearsed her exciting lines for the freshman, Valla Nimmo, in her role of Miss Wheeler, dragged her to play practice. After this exciting upheaval Margaret Pollard came into the room and urged them to join.

Susan Gresham of the Rotunda Staff interviewed the girls; with the four of them talking at the same time not one single interview was accomplished. Florence Sanford and Evelyn Massey tried to get new material for the publication. They told the freshmen that the tryouts would be in early October. Two Virginian Staff members, Virginia Leonard and Rose Marie Hunter, tried to take pictures and get subscriptions from the same four freshmen. They stated that the plans for the Virginian were well under way.

From "El Circula Espanol" and "Le Cercle Francais", the French and Spanish Clubs, Margaret Carrol and Ione Covert discussed the years program in a French-Spanish conversation. Elizabeth Shiplett and Sally Perrow showed what the Latin Club and Home Economics Clubs offer.

Carolyn Byrd rehearsed Louise Gathright through "My Country's Tis of Thee" for the Choir and Choral Club; they explained the work of this department in arranging musical selections for the programs of the coming year. Mary Robeson and Doris Moore gave limbering up exercises, demonstrating the talent of the Artists Dance Group.

A. Y. W. C. A. representative, Lucy Potter, tucked them in bed so they could get a good nights rest before beginning such an extensive program.

A Letter Home

Dear Maw and Paw,

This sure is a big place, I am scared to leave my room, scared I'll get lost, and in that big dining room there must have been a million tables. And when they brought out the milk it wasn't a bit like Bessie's milk, it must be this fetched city milk.

And Maw, I got on a elevator, they call it, well, I thought I'd take a ride so I pressed the button and I went down, it stopped, I couldn't get up or down, theer wern't no way of getting out so I screamed—a man got me out so I'm all right now.

I peep at my room mate's clothes—she had all kinds of clothes, new fangled silk ones and all. But they wern't none as pretty as that blue one of mine from Mr. Ward's.

I sat in one of those big chairs in the hall and I tholught it was broken but I couldn't fix it—I guess it's the kind of chair.

Say, Maw, they got them picture shows here all the girls go to. They told me 'bout 'em. They even have airplanes ,the things Paw calls "suicide vehicles". They cost thirty-five cents, of course that's right high but, Maw, just one time, so I can tell the kids about it at Christmas time.

The girls walk up the hall hollerign for "hay" all the time. Don't they know you have to fetch it from the barn?

Maw, it's nearly time to blow out the lamp, and I have to find out where to carry water from to take a bath, I sure hope it ain't fer.

Tell Andrew I will be a city girl when I come home—I'll even wear red ink on my mouth and cheeks.

One girls has the funniest record on her phonograph—it keeps saying WLW and NBC, then it sings and then it says nine o'clock.

Come Sunday and bring all the kids to see me. Drop me a line on this week's mail. Maw.

Violet.

Co-eds Spend on Clothes; College Men Spend on Food

Minneapolis, Minn.—Minnesota statisticians and figure-hunters have blasted another idea that is prevalent among collegians:

Women students spend only 76 cents more per month in beauty shops than men do in barber shops! And she spends only a fraction of the amount that men spend on tobacco.

These figures were revealed in the survey of the buying habits at the University of Minnesota made by an insurance company.

FIRST: "Where are my shoes? I can't find them any place."

SECOND: "Here they are. I had my violin in one of them."

Froth

"Why were you washing your spoon in the finger bowl?"

"So I won't get egg all over my pocket."

HE: "Why didn't you answer that letter I sent you in vacation?"

SHE: "I didn't get it."

HE: "You didn't?"

SHE: "No, and besides I didn't like some of the things you said."

Red Cat

Planters Bank and Trust Company
COMPLIMENTS
FARMVILLE, VA.

WILLIS
The Florist
Flowers for all occasions
PHONES 181-273

R. E. FISCHER
Radio Repairing
Formerly with Martin the Jeweler
PHONE 244M OR 283

Kleanwell
CLEANERS AND TAILORS
Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling ladies garments
Main Street, opposite Post Office
Phone 98

Greetings From BALDWIN'S
QUALITY · PRICE · SERVICE · STORE
We are delighted to have the S. T. C. students with us again . . . and we invite you to visit us for "fashion firsts" styles in Coats, Dresses, Millinery, Shoes, Undies and Hosiery.
BALDWIN'S 'Style Shop for Ladies'
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

Shannon's
Is Headquarters for the Best
SANDWICHES
—and—
DRINKS
in Farmville

Mack's
BARBER AND BEAUTY SHOP
323 Main Street
We use the Frederic Method Hair cutting and thinning a Specialty

RICE'S SHOE STORE
Street and Dress Shoes
Dancing Slippers Dyed
Correct fits our specialty

Conoco Gas and Oil
Fill up at
JOHNS MOTOR CO.
Farmville, Va.

Martin the Jeweler
College & Fraternity Jewelry
Gifts of lasting remembrance
317 MAIN ST. FARMVILLE

Electric Shoe Shop
It's smart to buy good shoes and then keep them repaired

Southside Drug Store
Films Developed
FREE
Try our tasty lunches

For Better Averages—Brighten Your Room Up!

Lovely curtains in rose, blue, gold, green and ecru	19c—69c and 98c.
Curtain Rods	10c
Bright colored rag rugs	49c
Cretonne	15c and 19c
Bedspreads	69c—98c and $1.69

S. T. C. Headquarters
HUB DEPARTMENT STORE
Welcomes You

PHILCO RADIO
World's largest manufacturers of Radio
A complete line
Watch Repairing a Specialty
Sheet Music—Strings for Instruments
LYNN, The Main Street Jeweler

DON'T START TO CLASSES
Without School's Finest Tool!

The Parker Vacumatic—Invented by a University Professor to replace pens that suddenly run dry in Classes and Exams

Holds 12,000 words of ink—102% more than old style . . . When held to the light you can see the Ink Level—see when to refill!

THE marvelous new Parker Vacumatic is no more like the pens of yesterday than your 1935 car is like a '25 model.

It's the identical pen you've often said that someone ought to invent.

Scores of inventors tried to—fully 250 sacless pens were patented before this miracle writer was born. But none found a way to surmount the mechanical faults of squirt-gun piston pumps, valves, etc.

Then a scientist at the University of Wisconsin conceived the Vacumatic. And Geo. S. Parker, world's leading pen maker, agreed to develop it because it contained no rubber sac or lever filler like sac-type pens—no piston pump as in ordinary sacless pens.

That's why Parker can—and DOES—guarantee the Vacumatic MECHANICALLY PERFECT!

Because there is nothing else like it, the United States and foreign countries have granted Parker patents.

Parker VACUMATIC
GUARANTEED MECHANICALLY PERFECT
Junior, $5 · Over-Size, $10 · 7½ · Pencils, $5.00, $3.00 and $5

This original style creation introduces luminous laminated Pearl and Jet—yet when held to the light the "Jet" rings become transparent, revealing the level of ink!

Step into any good store selling pens, and see it. The Parker Pen Company, Janesville, Wis.

FREE! Send a Post Card for New Ink That Cleanses Any Pen As It Writes

Parker Quink—remarkable new ink—cleanses a fountain pen—dissolves dried ink clogging it in pens by ordinary inks. Endorsed by Parker Quink from any store. Send no money—just a post card for small bottle to try. PARKER, Addison, Dept. 711.

SPORT SLANTS

Hello, Freshmen! Sho' is great to see you stirring around Farmville campus (even if you do look sorta green and lost). The Athletic Association is 'specially pleased on account of some fine athletes graduated last year. Mind you, Freshmen, they left some mighty big shoes to be filled. However, with a sigh of relief, we note that all of you look capable of filling and over-running those shoes! It is with this in mind that we look forward to having one of the finest athletic years.

We start off with hockey, tennis, archery, basketball, and swimming. If that's not enough to keep you busy-bodies occupied, just let us know. We, who are always glad to get suggestions, will give you service with a smile (maybe with a grin!)

If you'll look straight out beyond the gym and pool, you will see the spot where Farmville girls play hockey. This hockey field is yours. Miss Iler, our coach, will be there. She extends to you a kind invitation to come out and play with the old girls. To those of you who do not know Miss Iler,, suffice it to say she is a true friend, helpful, understanding, and sympathetic.

The annual hockey tuornament will be held this year at William and Mary College, where Farmville will be represented.

Oh! you're interested in that gym! We assure you that your interest in it will grow. You'll learn to love it as all Farmville girls do. Basketball practices begin Monday, October 7.

In only the buildings were transparent! Anyway, on the other side of the library are six tennis courts getting licked into pretty good shape. Then they will be ready for you to use. Trot yourself down and try them out. They are yours, and worth having, too! Miss Iler is coach of tennis. Elsie Cabell, manager, has announced that there will be a singles tournament this fall. This is open to all students interested. Watch the bulletin board for time.

Behind the gym is the swimming pool. We surely are proud of that new pool, too! Mrs. Fitzpatrick, Louise Walmsley, and Lelia Sanford will teach you to paddle your own canoe, as well as to dive through the air with the greatest of ease. Hop into your suits and drop down to see them! They're ready and waiting to help you.

Behind the Senior building our modern archers will soon be hitting the old bull's eye. We invite you to learn this fascinating sport.

The schedule for fall sports, starting Thursday, October 3, is as follows:

Monday—4-5	Basketball
5-6	Basketball
Tuesday—4-5	Hockey
5-6	Hockey
Wednesday—4-5	Archery
5-6	Archery
Thursday—4-5	Hockey
5-6	Hockey
Friday—4-5	Tennis
5-6	Tennis

One basketball practice a week is required for the squad; two, for hockey.

Remember, we're glad to have you here, and expect big things of you. Here's to a sporting good year, keeping in mind that "It's fun for all, and it's all for fun."

Radio Highlights

Wednesday

6:15—WEAP—Mary Small, songs
6:30—WJZ—Press radio news
6:45—WJZ—Lowell Thomas
7:15—WABC — Jerry Cooper, songs
7:45—WEAF, Chas. Bowes Band
8:00—WJZ, Ricci Orchestra
8:30—WEAF, Wayne King
9:00—WEAF, Van Steeden Orchestra
10:00—WABC, Gluskin Orchestra
10:30—WEAF, Ray Noble
11:00—WABC, Hopkins Orchestra

Thursday

6:00—WJZ, Arthur Lane, baritone
6:15—WEAF, Stern Orchestra
6:45—WJZ, Lowell Thomas
7:15—WABC, Buddy Clark, songs
7:30—WOR, Black Orchestra
8:00—WEAF, Valle Varieties
8:30—WJZ, Cecil Pitts, tenor
9:00—WABS, Glenn Gray
9:30—WJZ, Shield Orchestra
10:00—WABC, Herdt Orchestra
10:30—WABC, March of Time
11:00—WABC, Guy Lombardo

Friday

6:45—WJZ, Lowell Thomas
7:15—WOR, Pearson Orchestra
7:45—WEAF, Ruth Denning, songs
8:00—WABC, Rich Orchestra
8:30—WJZ, Nichol Orchestra
9:00—WABC, Hollywood Sketch
10:00—WABC, Humber Orchestra
10:30—WEAF, Mills Brothers
11:00—WABC, Dorsey Orchestra

Saturday

6:00—WEAF, Madriguez Orchestra
6:35—WJZ, Football scores
6:45—WJZ, South Orchestra
7:30—WABC, Chicago Musicale
8:00—WEAF, Hagton Orchestra
8:30—WABC, to be announced
9:30—WEAF, Young Orchestra
10:00—WABC, California Melodies
10:30—WABC, Guy Lombardo
11:00—WJZ, Dance Orchestra

Sunday

7:00—WJZ, Jack Benny
7:30—WABC, Kemp Orchestra
8:00—WABC, Eddie Cantor
9:00—WJZ, Wruen Orchestra
10:00—WEAF, Symphony Orchestra

HE: "Since I've met you I can't eat."
SHE: (Hopefully) "Why?"
HE: "I'm always broke!"
Froth

Class Notes

The class of '36 will be installed as the senior class by Dr. Jarman, on Monday, October 14, at seven o'clock in the large auditorium.

The junior class elected Virginian Bean vice-president of the class, meeting Tuesday night. Mary Bowles, president, appointed Evelyn Howell the chairman of all group leaders.

Liz Carrol was elected chairman of the committee on Rat Week in sophomore class meeting Tuesday night. The president, Madeline McGlothlin, announced that rules for Rat Week have been approved and will be a week ahead of time. Rat caps, she said, are on their way.

The graduating sophomore who are interested in class rings interviewed the representative from the Jewelers after class meeting.

HARRY: "Ah, there you are. Where have you been during the last three dances?"
ALMA: "Jimmy was showing me some new steps."
HARRY: "Were they very hard?"
ALMA: "No—we took some cushions along!"
The Old Line

"What's the big idea, you wearing my raincoat?"
"It's raining. You wouldn't want me to get your suit wet, would you?"
Yale Record

Here lies the body of Susan Jones
Resting beneath those polished stones.
Her name was Brown instead of Jones,
But Brown won't rhyme with polished stones.
And she won't know if its Brown or Jones.
The Old Line

Gray's Drug Store
PURE DRUGS—MEDICINES
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Quality—Price—Service
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

You Would Love to Have Your Shoes Fixed at
Lovelace Shoe Shop
110 Third Street

Mack's
BARBER AND BEAUTY SHOP
323 Main Street
Phone 360

Rose's
5-10-25c Store
School Supplies
Full Fashioned Hosiery
At Popular Prices

B uy
U nusual
T reats
C old drinks
H uge cones
E legant fruits
R oasted peanuts
S nappy snacks

EACO THEATRE
Aduls 15c; Childre 15c
Unless Otherwise Noted

Wed., October 2
Frances Dee
Frances Lederer
in
"Gay Deception"
Popeye the Sailor
Chap. 9 "Miracle Rider"

Thurs.-Fri., Oct. 3 & 4
Bing Crosby
Joan Bennett
in
'Two For Tonight'
CAB CALLOWAY and His HI-DE-HO Band
Color Cartoon
Adults 25c & 35c

Saturday, October 5
Elissa Landi
Kent Taylor
in
"Without Regret"
Screen Song — Fox News
Chap. 11 'Mountain Mystery'

Next Monday and Tues. Oct. 7 and 8
Claudette Colbert
M. Douglass, M Bartlette
in
SHE MARRIED HER BOSS
Cartoon—Musical & News
Adults, 25c and 35c

"I wonder who thought of Friday as being an unlucky day?"
"Probably some poor fish."

Thirty-Seven Girls Enjoy Dean's List

Continued from page one

Clyde Tuck, Virgilina
Louise Walmsley, Farmville
Elizabeth Walton, Clifton Forge
Beverley Wilkinson, Lynchburg
Marguerite York, Farmville

The following girls made the honor roll in the spring quarter:

Virginia Lee Acworth, Dudley Allen, Caroline Alsop, Elise Bailey, Irene Bailey, Virginia Baker, Grace V. Bass, Virginia Bean, Ruby Blanton, Edna Bolick, Agnes Bondurant, Helen Boswell, Elizabeth Boylan, Frances Britton, Elizabeth Butler, Elsie Cabell, M. Elizabeth Carroll, Inez Chappell.

Audrey Clements, Doris Coates, Kemper Cobb, Mrs. Mary N. Crockett, Martha Glenn Davis, Dorothy Beans, Eleanor Dunham, Sylvia Dunnavant, Claire Eastman, Winnie Frances Eubank, Louise Gathright, Mildred Gibboney, Frances Cobb, Victoria Gillette, Susan Gresham, Martha Hamlet, Edith Hancock, Virginia Hannah, Betty Harrison, Dartha Harrison, Marthar Harrison, Annie Watson Holden, Virginia Hooke, Izell Houck, Evelyne Howell, Rose Marie Hunter, Kathryn Jamison, Lois Jenkins, Dorothy Johnson, Bonnie Lane, Gertrude Levy, Louise Lewis, Meriel McAlister, Mary Adeline McGlothlin, Evelyn Massey, Katherine Milby, Mary Elizabeth Minor, Norvell Montague, Doris Moore, Elizabeth Morris, Carter Belle Munt, Addie Norfleet, Claudine O'Brien, Elizabeth Overby, Geneva Parker, Virginia Payne.

Ruth Phelps, Nellie Pierpont, Margaret Pollard, Marian Pond, Mary Va. Putney, Josephine Quinn, Kathleen Ranson, Dorothy Rhodes, Marjorie Lee Robertson, Mary Robeson, Margaret Russell, Deane Saunders, Willis Scott, Nan Seward, Eleanor Shackleton, Elizabeth Shipplett, Ellen Simmerman, Mildred Slayton, Catherine Smoot, Zaida Thomas, Virginia Tilman, Nellie Turnes, Lois Vassar, Marcia Vick, Sue Waldo, Elizabeth Walton, Beverly Wilkinson, Mary Elizabeth Wood, Frances Yester, Marguerite York, Jannie Lee Young.

Debate Club Plans General Discussion

Continued from page one

The Debate Club offers opportunity for training in speaking, debating, and reading. To those, who after several intercollegiate debates, showing unusual ability and willingness to work in the foernsic field, it opens the way for promotion to Pi Kappa Delta, national honor society in forensics.

The Debate Club of S. T. C. is now extending invitations to Duke University, Randolph-Macon Womans College, Westhampton, and Hampden-Sydney to meet at Farmville on October 25 for an open forum discussion of the proposed amendments to the constitution.

Virginian Has Photo Appointments Oct. 3

Continued from page one

in the hall this week in order that students may arrange appointments with the photographer. It is important that girls make appointments as early in the week as possible so that the job may be completed within a week's time.

Rates for pictures are as follows: freshmen, $1.00; juniors, seniors, and sophomores, $1.25. The extra charge for upperclassmen is to cover the expense of cuts in making up the book.

Farmville Mfg. Co.
BUILDING MATERIALS
MILLWORK
Farmville, Va.

H. M. WELLS CONFECTIONERY
Food for the Parties
Two blocks from College Campus

C. E. Chappell Co.
Visit Us For the Best Fountain Service

ELECTRIC SHOE SHOP
It's smart to buy good shoes and then keep them repaired

OUR HEARTIEST WELCOME TO EACH AND EVERY ONE OF YOU
Come Down And See Us!
DOROTHY MAY STORES
P. S.—Just received the loveliest sportwear. You will adore them.

SUPPERS AND SMALL PARTIES
Good Breakfast
Dinners
Suppers
College Tea Room and LONGWOOD

EXQUISITE, PERSONAL
ENGRAVED STATIONERY
100 SHEETS
100 ENVELOPES
ENGRAVED
ALL FOR
$2
SEE OUR BEAUTIFUL SAMPLES
The Farmville Herald
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

STANLEY A. LEGUS
TAILOR
CLEANING
PRESSING
REPAIRING
Phone 203

TAXI TAXI
Jitney Rides Day or Night Service
"Service that Counts"
H. M. WELLS, Day Phone 344
Night Phone 54M

The College World... In Pictures

"One Picture Tells as Much as Ten Thousand Words"

Shutters click . . . flashlights flare . . . cameramen are "Johnny on the spot" wherever and whenever anything of interest to the college student happens . . . to bring to the Editor of Collegiate Digest three thousand pictures every month . . . but of course it is only possible to bring you the best of these . . . in addition to the numerous collegiate features appearing exclusively in Collegiate Digest every week with

GET READY FOR CIRCUS

The Rotunda

We Teach To Teach

TRY OUT FOR ROTUNDA

Volume XVI. FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 9, 1935 No. 2

Classes Participate In Annual Circus To Be Held Oct. 26

Louise Walmsley Is the Committee Chairman

October 26, is the date set for the annual College Circus. This event of the school is sponsored by Alpha Kappa Gamma, national honor fraternity in leadership. Louise Walmsley is to act as general chairman of the circus committee this year.

In class meetings Tuesday night plans were explained and arrangements made for special committees on stunts and booths. Each class will participate in the stunt contest and sponsor a booth on the floor.

General committee chairmen are advertising manager, Margaret Farrar; chairman of stunts, Florence Sanford; chairmen of booths, Hazel Smith; chairman of animal exhibit, Margaret Clark; manager of floor plan, Lelia Sanford; chairman of decorations, Agnes Crockett; chairman of queen and courte feature, Tac Waters.

Class chairmen are as follows: senior stunt, Billy Wilkerson; booth, Sue Waldo; decorations, Marjorie Booton; junior stunt, Kitty Fitzgerald; booth, Virginia Leonard; sophomore stunt, Virginia Agee; booth, Jennie Belle Gilliam; freshman stunt, Sarah Hayes and Sarah Button.

Stunt chairmen are already racking their brains for something original in the way of stunts and plans for unique booths are going forward. The Circus Committee plans to pop surprises in the features of animals and the coronation of the queen. Things look promising for a bigger and better performance this year than ever before.

Presbyterians Girls Are Dinner Guests

The Presbyterian girls of the college are dinner guests of the women of the Presbyterian church this evening. Those being entertained are:

Sue Adams, Dudley Allen, Lucy Alston, Mary Lena Anderson, Louise Anthony, Mary Taylor Barns, Lucille Bonner, Elizabeth Booth, Sara Buchanan, Jane Burke, Sarah Button, Caroline Byrd, Rebecca Dale Carter, Delha Pope Chambliss, Margaret Clark, Susie Clark, Kemper Cobb, Elizabeth Cralle, Aness Crockett, R. Crumbley, Julia Dowdy, Ruth Dunnington, Emma Easley, Mariam Ficklin, Margaret Fraley, Mary Louise Francis, Mary Louise French, Merwyn Gathright, Esther Gilliam, Anne Graham, Alice Grainger, Helen Green ,Martha Hamlet, Elizabeth Harris, Kathryn Harvey, Mary Harvey, Sarah Hayes, Dorothy Henderson, Lelia Hill, Maria Hoge, Annie Watson Holden, Carolyn Hoon, Thelma Houpe,

Continued on page 3

15th Annual Dahlia Show Held at Farmville Armory

Farmville Armory presented a scene of loveliness on Friday, Oct. 4, when dahlia growers exhibited in the fifteenth annual Dahlia Show from 12:30 til 9:00 o'clock.

An unsually large number of enthusiasts, local and out-of-town, made entries. The Armory was artistically decorated with greens and flowers. At 12:30 the doors were opened and luncheon and dinner served. The Lion's Club attended in a body and were served at noon.

The proceeds from the show are to be used for charity work at the Southside Community Hospital.

Students Committee Begins Year's Work

On Thursday afternoon, October 3, the Student Standards Committee met for the first time this school term.

Doris Moore, secretary of the organization, took charge of the meeting in the absence of the chairman, Henrietta Salisbury. Zaida Thomas acted as secretary.

At the final meeting, last spring, the point system was the main topic of discussion. This discussion was reopened, and two committees were appointed by the acting chairman to check upon the records of several members of the student body.

Those present were the advisors: Miss Mix, Miss Hiner, Miss Wheeler, Miss Foster, Miss Taliaferro, Dr. Jeffers, and class representatives; Doris Moore, Hazel Smith, Florence Sanford, Elizabeth Huse, Zaida Thomas, Jean Willis, Virginia Leonard, Jennie Belle Gilliam, Elizaveth Morris, and Virginia Agee.

Twelve Receive Bids To Cotillion Club

Twelve upperclassmen were elected to membership in the Cotillon Club on Friday night, October 11. The girls receiving bids are: Bonnie Lane, Carter Belle Munt, Valia Nimmo, Victoria Gillette, Isabel Plummer, Livian Powell, Virginia Leonard, Mary Elizabeth Slater, Margaret Carroll, Jane Lybrook, Doris Moore, Mary Robeson.

Plans are going forward for securing an orchestra for the fall dance. Among those being considered are: Duke Blue Devils, Fred Kibler, University of Virginia orchestra, Frank Dailey, and North Carolina state orchestra.

Student Inherits Unique Treasure

Anna Hock, a S. T. C. sophomore has recently inherited a gruesome but unique family treasure. Upon the death of her grandmother she inherited the bone of the forefingr of that notorious bandit, Jesse James.

The late Mrs. Ottey of Media, Pennsylvania, secured the finger in a hold-up battle at Clifton, Pennsylvania, during the James' famous outlawing career.

In 1898 on her way from Clifton to the meat market in Philadelphia, Mrs. Ottey was accosted by three masked bandits. The leader advanced to the wagon and reached for the reins, as he did so Mrs. Ottey seized an unnoticed butcher knife lying at her feet, and cut off the bandit's forefinger.

A week later James returned to Ottey's store and as he laid his hand on the counter, Mrs. Ottey noticed the missing forefinger. As she picked up the meat knife he recognized her and ran from the store.

O. D. K. Taps H. - S. C. Leaders On Monday

In an impressive tap service on Monday morning the Lambda Circle of Omicron Delta Kappa at Hampden-Sydney tapped seven outstanding student leaders and one faculty member. The men chosen, five seniors and two juniors, were: W. F. Price, D. C. Mayes, David Rice, John Kenyon, W. H. Armstrong, Birch Douglass, J. F. Chambers and Professor

(Continued on Page 4)

Freshmen and new girls who wish to try out for the Rotunda staff will hear an announcement of a meeting Thursday night at supper. Girls will be given assignments for four consecutive weeks before anyone is selected for the staff.

V. I. P. A. To Hold Annual Convention At Harrisonburg

On November 1st and 2nd the Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association will meet at Harrisonburg for its annual convention.

The VIPA has for its purpose the improvement of collegiate newspapers, annuals and handbooks. In 1928 Evelyn Dulaney, then editor of The Rotunda, and Alec Hudgins, editor of The Tiger realized the need of such an association and began its organization.

Delegates to the convention represent publications from every college in the state of Virginia and from American University in Washington, D. C. These delegates discuss the immediate problems of their work and, following constructive criticism and suggestions, make plans for its improvement. Experienced newspaper workers lead business discusssions and direct the college students in their meetings.

Farmville State Teachers College will be presented at the convention by several members of the publication staffs of The Rotunda and The Virginian and of the Student Council.

Last year the VIPA held a most successful meetings at Radford and Blacksburg.

Y. W. Cabinet Holds First Open Meeting

Reports of work accomplished by the cabinet committees and the accounts of the Y. W. C. A.—Y. M. C. A. Convention at Blue Ridge, N. C., in June were the centers of interest and discussion at the first open Y. W. C. A. cabinet meeting which convened at five o'clock this afternoon in the reception room.

Devotions were led by Merwyn Gathrigin. After the committee chairmen had finished their reports which dealt with the cabinet work during the summer and the opening of school the following delegates talked on Blue Ridge activities: sports and recreation, Bonnie Lane; seminar groups, Elizabeth Walton; special speakers, Winnie Frances Eubank; workshop activities, Sue Waldo; collegiate peace movement, Billy Wilkerson.

Refreshments were served by the social committee at the close of the meeting which was well attended by advisers, committee members and a number students interested in Y. W. work.

Freshmen Will Catch Humor Of Sophomores Next Week

Another school year brings the usual batch of "green", "greener", and "greenest" freshmen. Having been allowed time to get well-settled in the college routine, these to the sense of humor of their into the sense of humor their immediate superiors, the mighty sophomores. Some of these rats have been so unwise as to arouse the wrath of the sensitive sophomores. In fact, there seems to be quite a number who have tried too hard to shown unconcern over their approaching torment. If there is one thing a sophomore can not bear, it is a fresh freshman. Many times during these past weeks little groups of sophomore have been noted talking seriously together and at the same time keeping a slightly wicked, slightly humorous look bent on some rat who was—well, never mind, they will be reminded of their misdemeanors and crimes soon enough.

For the benefit of those interested and as our last kind act toward the freshmen, the sophomore take great pleasure in publishing the rat rules which are to be diligenly observed from October 14 through October 16.

General Rules:

1. Obey all sophomores
2. Tip hats to sophomores
3. Seat sophomore at meals
4. Remain standing in chapel and in dining hall until everyone is seated.
5. Address sophomores as "MISS."
6. Wea rwhite ribbon, one inch wide across forehead with rats name written thereon.
7. Wear no makeup and keep hair perfectly straight.
8. Learn inscription on Joan of Arc on statue in the Colonnade.
9. Assemble on the campus in front of the Colonade for formation at 5:45.

Monday:

1. Wear dresses backward (not

(Continued on Page 4)

Freshmen Nominate For Class President

Organization of the freshman class was begun Tuesday night under the direction of Mary Bowles, president of the juniors. The new class is rather large this year numbering three hundred and twenty-three. From the names suggested to the chairman for the class presidency the six receiving the largest percentage have been chosen as nominees. Formal election will be held either Wednesday or Thursday night at which time the rest of the organization will be taken up. The nominees for class president are: Sarah Hayes, Marjorie Thompson, Virginia Woodward, Marjorie Wicks, Evelyn Beale and Caroline Willis.

Keen interest was displayed in the announcement and plans for a school wide water carnival to be held in our pool Thursday night. Sidney Yonce was appointed as manager of freshman participation.

Continued on page 3

J. L. Jarman Sings At Choir Reception

The Student Building Lounge was the scene of the annual reception of the College Choir, Monday night at 8:00 o'clock. Guests of honor were Miss Virgilia Bugg, the Choir sponsor, Dr. Jarman, Mrs. York, Mrs. Marsh, Miss Smithey and Miss Willis.

Dr. Jarman opened the program with two vocal selections, "In the Garden of Tomorrow" and "Because" after which Mrs. Marsh gave two piano solos. Group singing and the playing of the Rosary" by Mr. Strick concluded the program.

While refreshments were served Dr. Jarman sang, "Keep on Hoping," the Choir's favorite selection, and "Mother Machree". Other numbers enjoyed by the group were "Until" and "The Perfect Day."

Student Body Passes Motion To Change Point System

The Student Body held a pep meeting, Monday night. Will Scott and Mary Lib Slater led cheers for green and white, red and white, and Farmville.

Doris Moore, the Chairman of the student standards committee, introduced a motion that stated, "No girl may be president of more than one counting organization in school;" the motion was carried. Libby Morris, Chairman of the Campus League, introduced her committee: Martha Glenn Davis, Virginia Agee, Helen Fern Perdue, and Matsie Moore.

Kyrl's Band Plays At First Lyceum

Freshmen Stand Eighth In Contest

Freshmen at S. T. C. stand eighth in the report of results of the 1935 English testing program of college freshmen as sponsored by the English Department of Kansas State Teachers College.

Seventy colleges and universities in twenty-five different states participated in the 1935 English testing program of college freshmen, using the Barrette Ryan English test. Twenty-four of these schools reported their scores to the bureau in time to be included in the summary report.

According to the summary report the median for the freshmen of S. T. C. is 104.7. The high average of 112.2 was made by the freshmen of Redlands, California. The median of Winthrop College, Rock Hill, South Carolina, exceeded that of S. T. C. by only .8 of a point.

Then English department here at the Farmville State Teachers College will utilize the scores for a four type classification; superior preparation. Special instruction is specifically designed to meet the needs of several divisions. It is felt that through such a preliminary survey of the preparation of the entering student it is possible, by means of classification and special instruction, to meet the needs of all students more specifically than would otherwise be possible.

Rotunda Sponsors Comic Magazine

Plans for "The Southern Comic", official humorous publication of the Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association, will be completed in October. The first issue is scheduled to appear during this month.

The Rotunda Staff will handle the distribution of the new comic magazine at Farmville. The campus price will be fifteen cents, and copies may be obtained by the issue or by yearly subscription.

The purpose of "The Southern Comic" (name subject to change) is to provide a high class campus magazine of a genuinely humorous nature. Many college and universities in the state are sponsoring this new publication and material is being gathered from these schools and from well known outside sources.

Students are urged to submit any material they think is suitable in the nature of humorous sketches and articles, jokes, cartoons, and amusing stories, to "The Southern Comic", P. O. Box 885, Richmond, Virgina.

This comic magazine will raise the standards of collegiate humor and will also provide an outlet for the talent to be found in the schools of Virginia.

(Continued on Page 4)

Virginia Joins In Observance Of Fire Prevention Week

That the state will join in the National Fire Prevention Week was announced by the State Fire Marshall October 3.

A great effort is being made to reduce the fire losses in Virginia. The education of the public to be cautious is one of the major objectives of the Fire Prevention Week. Literature is being distributed throughout the nation calling attention to preventable fire risks.

Fire Prevention Week has been an annual event since first proclaimed by President Roosevelt twenty years ago.

Famous Symphony To Perform Here October 18

The announcement is made by Dr. Jarman that Kyrl's famous Symphony Band has been secured for our first Lyceum performance, which will be held October 18.

Kyrl and his Band have a unique reputation throughout the whole country. No organization has a higher reputation for the rendition of the great standards in music, and the name of Kryl has come to be synomous with the best there is in the domain of high art.

The services of the band are in constant demand; in fact its principal work is the giving of Festival celebrations in the larger cities of the country. That the educational factor of his concerts is fully appreciated is demonstrated by the repeat engagements year after year by Colleges and Universities where this famous organization has appeared. In recent years it has appeared in more than one hundred Colleges and Universities annually.

The Kryl Symphony Band is the result of many years of effort, of unceasing watchfulness to secure the best musicians in the world, of constant and tedious rehearsing, of tireless effort on the part of Kryl himself and by the determination of each individual member of the organization to give the best that is in him.

Each player is selected with as much care and consideration as are the several soloists who accompany the Band, and every man must pass a rigid examination by Kryl himself, before he is accepted as a member of the Band.

This being the thirty-first concert tour of Kryl Symphony Band, Kryl has surrounded himself wiht the best talent obtainable. This includes Josephine Kryl White, distinguished violinist; Neil Kin-

(Continued on Page 4)

Honorary Fraternity Changes Constitution

The members of Alpha Phi Sigma made an important change in the constitution last night at its first meeting. The new amendment states that a girl is open for membership if she has made a 2 point average on her entire work during her college career provided she has attended the college for two consecutive terms. Previously the average of just two consecutive terms had made a student eligible for membership. The important change raises the standard of the fraternity.

The president, Bonnie Lane, announced that the freshmen who were valedictorian and salutatorian high schools would be sent bids rian graduate of their respective within the coming week.

Baptist Girls Organize B. S. U. On Campus

A meeting of all the Baptist girls was held Tuesday night at 8:00 o'clock to organize a Baptist Student Union in the College. The B. S. U. is to act as a connecting link between the campus and the church.

The following officers were elected: President, Blanche Lane; Vice-president, Evelyn Hastings; Secretary, Virginia Pilcher; Treasurer, Louise Turner; Reporter, Ruth Phelps; Assistant Reporter, Ella Lewis; Chorister, Kitty Chappell; Assistant Chorister, India Morgan; Pianist, Copeland Johnson.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Published by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

1935 Member 1936
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

Staff

Florence Sanford ..... Editor
Agnes Bondurant ..... Associate Editor
Evelyn Massey ..... Business Manager

Board of Editors

Miss Jane Royall ..... Alumnae
Katherine Hoyle ..... Make-up
Susan Gresham ..... Headlines
Emma Bingham ..... Literary
Bess McGlothlin, Elizabeth Morris, Mary Adeline McGlothlin ..... Editorials
Claire Eastman ..... World News
Margaret Fraley ..... Socials
Kathleen Ranson ..... Sports

Proof Readers

Elizabeth Walton, Dorothy Deans

Managers

Elsie Cabell ..... Circulation
Ruth Phelps ..... Asst. Circulation
Louise Gathright ..... Asst. Circulation

Assistants and Reporters

Virginia Agee, Mary Joyner Cox, Alice Nelson, Claudia Harper, Minnie Smith, Elizabeth Carroll, Willis Scott, Bonnie Lane.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 9, 1935

The "Point System"

The "point system" has long been one of the stand-bys of our school. This system enables us to guide the number of our extra-curricular activities in such a way, that by giving each part that we have a fixed number of points, and having a maximum number, according to our scholastic standing, our work in the various organizations of school will not become too great a burden. The Student Body vested in the Student Standards Committee sole power of enforcement of the point system.

Last spring this committee, with its faculty members, made an intensive study of the system. and the maximum number of points was raised to 16, with an average of A or B. This same committee now recommends to the student body for careful consideration another clause—to the effect that no girl shall hold the presidency of two important organizations, or organizations carrying points, unless she has permission from the committee, after it has gone over her situation with care. This is for the good of the organization as well as the individual. No one, who participates in many activities can give her best to a specific one. Rather let her make a choice in the place where she is best suited. One must learn to say, "No," because there is a limit to everyone's abilities. By enforcement of this clause, new material for officers will arise. There are many who are capable if we will give them a chance to prove it. So let us think accordinly, and when the time comes to express our opinions, we may express them for the best good to everyone.

Change the Constitution?

As students of government and as citizens under the Government of the United zens under the Government of the United States, we should be vitally interested in the threatened mending of the constitution.

The Progressives who believe that the consitution should be changed have felt the need for the Federal Government to give help in balancing social and economic differences. o carry the remedial measures further, perhaps, new amendments to the constitution will be necessary.

However there are those who would not have the people tamper radically with a document that has stood the test of one hundred fifty years.

It must be remembered that the constitution is the will of the people. If they feel the need of extended federal guidance, then the expression of their will in the form of amendment is in order.

But, do we, the people, need continued Federal Government aid?

It Just Isn't Done"

The English have an expression which embodies the utmost scorn and contempt. When they wish to express the greatest disapproval they say, "that just isn't done."

Regardless of what we said, that same disgust and disapproval was what we all felt Saturday and Sunday evening when standing in the Rotunda we glanced upward at the railing littered with freshmen, new girls, and careless upperclassmen. all bursting with curiosity.

Those of us who have been here before have been told, but for the benefit of those who are new we would like to say that you make yourselves ridiculous by hanging around the Rotunda ogling at other people. Your appearance danging overhead, is anything but ornamental to those below and certainly your presence there is not desirable.

The cooperation of every student is asked in removing the impression some of us gave to the visitors over this week-end. A very little consideration on the part of each of us will, we are sure, eliminate the necessity for any further attention to this particular carelessness.

Mae Rings the Bell Again

Apparently Mae West's latest plunge into the headlines is based on something more substantial than the bright ideas of her publicity agent. Since Federal investigators have arrested seven men in charges of attempting to extort money from her, it looks as if she really was the victim of a conspiracy.

The star of "It Ain't No Sin" and "She Done Him Wrong" has been breaking into the newspapers on various occasions of late, thanks to persiflage which seems to have had its origin in the brain of her public relations counsel. In addition to interviews on such subjects as her "ideal man" and her opinion of the drive to "clean up" the movies, there were those two swell publicity stunts—Mae's selection of the seven men she would like most to meet, and of the "12 most eligible bachelors in Hollywood."

These two publicity gags came five months apart. Sandwiched in between was her vociferous denial that she had been married in 1911. Of course, it wouldn't have done for her public to have decided that question in the affirmative, since it would have made her 42 years old. There was also the interview she gave to a large syndicate a couple of months later in which she emphasized that she was "just a home girl," and added: "I like nice things and I like to keep them nice. I don't want no man knocking bric-a-brac over and leaving beer bottles on the piano."

So we should say that 1935 has been a pretty good year for Mae. If any of the other film sirens have wangled as many columns of newspaper space during the year as the tough mama of "Diamond Lil", it has escaped our notice. Those who are interested in the gentle art of breaking into print should go up and see her some time.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

It will interest England to know that Italian pilots are good marksmen. Aduwa reports few building injured, except the governor's palace. Changed to "except Buckingham Palace," that would have an unpleasant sound.

The first Italian officer killed in the storming of Aduwa was buried with full military honors on a high hilltop nearby. Unfortunately from the bottom of the grave you cannot enjoy the view.—Exchange.

Rotunda Reverberations

These girls who rate the esteem privilege of being cute! For instance, have all of you mugs seen the solitaire that graces th third finger of Kat Harvey's left hand? And then there's Dot Roper who was presented with an orchid from a mere acquaintance. And there's that "Jolly" girl who had such a swell week-end with her well-visitor.

The "Room A' la Red" is being garnished subduedly with black dragons on the red counterpanes and a redder bad man on the black counterpane. That will tone things down considerably.

Incidentally, Julia Ann says, "Rabbit's hair" is very popular this season.

Extra! all girls interested in dairy business see Elizabeth Smith for an appointment with "Daisy."

We suggest glasses for the young man who doesn't know the difference between a real and artificial fireplace. It might cost him next time.

Many thanks for the most attractive "Rec" furniture. We hope that it will be used as it is intended.

Rebecca, we congratulate you! The ring is very pretty, but you'll have to wrap more adhesive tape around it if you expect to keep it long.

New fall clothes and rain don't seem to go together. Here's hoping we will have a bright week-end this time. Rain doesn't seem to stop our visitors though. Wonder if we are just so attractive that company can't resist.

Hats off to the freshmen; Monday, Wednesday and Friday, isn't so bad after all it is? "Rat Week" is coming so you'd better sit tight.

If you're not allowed to go carriding wonder if there is any rule or objection to airplane riding.

We wish the school would furnish seats on the second floor Ro-

(Continued on Page 4)

World News

Thousands Recounted As Killed In Italian-Ethiopian Drive

The Italian and Ethiopian troops still continue their impetuous fight. They chose three fronts, which are of vital significance to Haile Selassie's empire, as their fighting ground for a short period of time.

As the Italian forces approached Bethe Hawariat, the Italian airplanes shot down uncountable numbers of women and children, and continued their advancement to Aduwa, the first front, which is "the city of vengeance" and also the moral goal of Il Duce. This prospect has been reported by a Roman comunique as having fallen into Italian clutches without resistance, but was later corrected as having been only a rumor. The second powerful front was in Central Ethiopia, where the Italians wish to disjoin Djibonti-Addis Ababa railway from Selassie and this railway is their only tie with the outside world. The third front, Oyceden province, contained fighting that was more severe and bitter than at any other point crossed by troops.

While the League of Nations committee of thirteen inferred Italy with the blame of all hostilities, Italy continued, nochalantly, her airplane bombing enterprise.

France Increases Naval Strength

The world has been informed of the fact that France has at last made "naval strenth" one of its most important goals at the present time. Francois Pietre, who is the minister of the navy, announced that France will no longer be obligated to live up to the name, "the Cinderella of the Washington treaty", since she recently launched the battle cruiser Dunkerque. It is hopes that her plan will be successful.

Alumnae News

Chiles—Childrey

The wedding of Miss Christine Childrey of Dumbarton to Mr. Henry Goodman Chiles, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Goodman Chiles of Louisa, was solemnized on Saturday afternoon, September 28, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Childrey in Dumbarton. Among the Farmville guests were: Miss Grace Mix, Miss Virginia Bedford, Dorothy Deans, Doris Coates, Ernestine Payne, and Sue Waldo.

Mrs. Flourney Appointed Custodian of Lee Chapel

Mrs. Cabell Flourney, formerly Mary H. Boyd, of Lexington, was appointed custodian of the Lee Chapel at Lexington during the annual convention of the Virginia Division of the United Daughters of the Confederacy. The convention was held in Roanoke on October 3 and 4.

Miss Bliss Heads Brunswick Relief

Miss Carrie Bliss, who has been assistant of the Prince Edward Relief Office for the last year, left last week for Lawrenceville, where she became director of relief work in Brunswick county. Miss Bliss is well adapted for the work and has had several years experience.

Hudnall—Revercomb

Mr. and Mrs. George Anderson Revercomb of Covington announce the marriage of their daugter, Elizabeth Beaufort, to Dr. Harry Gilman Hudnall of Covington on October 5, at 9:00 o'clock at Covington Baptist Church. Miss Georgiana Stephenson and Louise Shephenson of Farmville attended the wedding.

Miss Jamison Goes To New Post At V. P. I.

Miss Ruth Jamison, who has resigned as home demonstration agent and 4-H Club leader in Agusta County, is now connected with the extension department of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute as home management and house furnishing specialist. Miss Jamison did outstanding work in extending home demontration and 4-H Club activities during her seven successful years in Agusta County.

At Other Colleges

The board of visitors of the University of Virginia has decided to refuse to permit a colored woman applicant to enter the graduate department of the institution. Rejection of her application is based on the grounds that the education of white and colored persons in the same schools is contrary to the long fixed policy of the Commonwealth of Virginia.

"We the young people of today, are faced with a world preparing for war. Italy is rapidly forcing the issue in Ethiopia; Great Britain is rushing her navy to the Mediterranean, the United States is steadily increasing its military expenditures and following policies which threaten to plunge us into the mire. The League is a peace organization in name but is powerless to avert war unless Italy retracts, and Italy will not retract as long as there is a possible chance to gain land and resources. War in Europe seems inevitable.

The United States must not be drawn into the mess. The young men of America are too valuable to waste in a squabble between selfish nations in Europe; American resources are too valuable to blow up in gun powder.

We feel the need for constructive and dramatic demonstration against rising war tendencies of our nation. We must bear down strongly on peace education. We must demonstrate our determination not to be cannon-fodder for future wars—Northurst Missourian

Amelia Earhart, famous aviatrix, this week officially became a member of the teaching staff of Perdue University, where she has accepted a position as consultant in the department for the study of careers for women.

Miss Earhart plans to spend a regular part of her time at the university, lecturing and conducting personal conferences and initiating studies looking toward new career opportunities for women students.

Dr. C. C. Elliott, president of Perdue, also announced that the noted aviatrix will serve as a technical adviser to members of the staff and students of the aeronautics department of the university.
titled to.

Photography has been going on on campus this week although most of the picture of the cavalry and artillery in action will be taken at White's Farm, three miles north of Lexington.

Sunday breakfast in bed will be the latest luxury for co-eds of St. Lawrence University.

Acting on the theory that nothing is too good for a co-ed, Dean Louise Jones asserted, "It's a little luxury at the end of the week that I think every woman is en-

Southern Sketches

Short Story: "A small journalistic package cleverly and surprisingly done up. Standardized by Poe and Hawthorne, localized by Bret Harte, journalized by O. Henry, and vulgarized by scribblers."

For just a few minutes imagine yourself living in that glorious period of American History when the Southern writers were contributing delightful romances to American Literature.

Through the pine forests of South Carolina comes a defiant war-whoop, and out of the forest comes a band of Yamassee Indians, gay in paint. In the distance is the glimmer of camp fires, and we are startled to see a young Indian warrior about to be cast from his tribe. But, look, his mother has killed him. Why?, you ask. Rather than see him disgraced before his tribe she has killed him. William Gilmore Simms has caught and given to us just such bits of local South Carolina color.

Over a huge old Southern plantation floats an old negro melody, and as we walk around the corner of the house, we bump right into Old Uncle Remus.

"Lordy musy, whar you all come from?" he asks. And then, there is nothing to do but sit down and listen to one of his yarns about "creeturs and creepin' and crawlin' things." We almost crack ous faces laughing at him. Along the garden path we see Joel Chandler Harris, so we disappear, leaving a clear road for his interview with our Uncle Remus.

The soft summer breezes and balmy, dreamy nights greet us 'way down in New Orleans. As we pass through the old streets of the Creole quarters, beautiful young ladies smile at us from their balconies and old gentlemen bow to us with courtly grace. With a blare of bugles and a ruffle of drums, a military parade marches by led by General Villivesencio, an old friend of ours. We follow his gaze and see three more of our friends, Madame Delicieuse, a bewitching young widow, Dr. Mossy, a scientist, and George Washington Cable who introduced them to us.

Our imaginary picture changes. Old High Bates is taking us on a trip through the Tennessee Mountains. At night, around the campfire we delight to it and listen to the sonorous drawl of that worthy gentleman. In the distant valley a light twinkles. Up the mountain side a breeze whispers, and from near the camp comes the murmur of a stream. All pleasant things must end and this is no exception.

Out of the native land of Charles Egbert Craddock we go into the soft haze of the blue-grass region of Kentucky, home of James Lane Allen. There is the smell of ripe strawberries and freshly mown lawns. Out of the blue comes a flash of crimson and the lovely song of the Kentucky Cardinal.

There is a clamor of ringing bells, blowing horns and screaming whistles. We are in New York. There is a sudden crash, and we see our old friend, "Soapy" standing nonchantly on the curbtone gazing with delight at the plateglass window he has just broken. No. The cops refused to believe he did it. Never mind, "Soapy", O. Henry and his readers understand.

SOCIALS

Football was in the air and in Richmond too last week-end. The following girls were in Richmond over the week-end: Elsie Cabell, Elizabeth Butler, Mary Virginia Blankenship, Carolyn Byrd, Elsie Dodd, Jennie Belle Gilliam, Katherine Harvey, Zell Hopkins, Ruth James, Evelyn Montgomery, Helen Perkins, Virginia Woodward, Jean Taylor, Ione Covert, Minnie Smith Katheryn Jamison, Marion Hansborough and Kitty Fitzgerald.

Elizabeth Selber, Bonnie Lane, Charlotte Rice, and Estelle Foutz spent last week-end in Roanoke.

HOME

Oh yes, we still have the home lovers! The following girls went home last week-end: Dudley Allen, Jane Autin, Marguerite Byrd, Margaret Drake, Eleanor Dodson, Gene Hatchett, Lucy Smith, Katherine Hobel, Nan Seward, Dorothy Sharp, Inez Sykes, Lucy Walker, Mildred Hobel, Margaret Hurtt, Virginia Leonard, Faye Massey, Nannie Mae Carter, Louise de Jarnette, Anne Peple, Ann Killy, Elizabeth Tindall, Ellenah Bradshaw.

Other Places Visited

To Dillwyn: Edna Harvey, Marjorie Robertson, Jeanette Jones, and Pauline Pearson.

To Newport News: Martha Nottingham, Ellen Simmerman.

To Lynchburg: Matsie Moore, Mary Lee Powell, Kathleen McCann, India Martin.

To Burkeville: Rebecca Carter, Cassell Boswell, Leslie Bradshaw.

To Salem: Katherine Hurt and Nellie Pierpont.

To Fork Union: Ethel Burgess.

To Alta Vista: Susan Lane.

To Waverly: Emily and Francis Channell.

To Drakes Branch: Patty Jeffreys, Catherine Chappell.

To Crewe: Mildred Slayton, Francis Bryan and Francis Farris.

To Portmouth: Elizabeth Baylor.

To Norfolk: Peggy Young, Mary Duriks and Francis Dickenson.

To Dinwiddie: Catherine Dix.

To Cumberland: Cassell Schools, Fannie Mae Putney, Katherine Cox, and Elizabeth Wilkinson.

To Fincastle: Josephine Willis, Anne Wells.

To Charlottesville: Nancy Wall.

To Blacktone: Virginia Sue Tuck.

To Meherrin: Eleanor Shackleton.

To Brookneal: Louise Rudder.

To Covington: Louise Stephenson.

To Cartersville: Mary Harvey and Dorothy Rhodes.

Juniors Entertain Freshman Class

The freshman class was entertained Friday night in the "Rec" by the sister class, the juniors.

The spirits of the classes were roused by yells honoring Miss Iler, the junior class man, the freshmen, and the green and whites.

Other entertainment was furnished by specialties from Bernice Jones, Claire Eastman, and "Chic" Dortch.

Refreshments and the singing of "Onward, Farmville' ended the fun.

Tri Sigmas Attend Regional Convention at Hotel Roanoke

The Alpha chapter of Sigma Sigma will join Psi, Alpha Alpha, Alpha Kappa, and Alpha Theta chapters at the Hotel Roanoke in Roanoke October 12 and 13 for the regional convention of the sorority. Alumnae chapters to be represented are: Huntington, Charleston, Roanoke-Salem, Beckley, Bluefield and Fairmont.

Miss Mabel Lee Walton, Woodstock, Va., national president of Tri Sigma, will be the presiding officer at the convention. Registration is scheduled at 11:00 o'clock on Saturday morning and the opening meeting will convene at 2:00 o'clock in the afternoon. The formal banquet will be held in the hotel Saturday evening.

Alphas who expect to attend are: "Chic" Dortch, Will Scott, Margaret Farrar, Susan Gresham, Zaida Thomas, Carter Belle Munt, Minne Smith, Ellen Simmerman, Florence Sanford, Frances Hudgins, "Chubby" Gray, and Lloyd Kelly.

OPEN FORUM

Dear Editor,

OPEN FORUM

Every year about this time quite a feeling of unrest is caused among the Freshmen because of "rat week". This is probably one of the most outstanding stages in the life of a Freshman. It can be made one of the most enjoyable times of one's Freshman year and that is as it should be, but this can be done only if both the Freshmen and the Sophomores look at it with the right attitude.

The Sohomores seem to think that because it is "rat week" they should make the Freshmen as unhappy as possible. They should try to remember that it was not such a long time ago that they were "rats" themselves.

A great deal depends upon the attitude of the Freshmen too as to whether those three days will be a success or not. If those who are looking forward to it as something awful to be feared, will begin to think that maybe they can get some pleasure out of it too, they will find that it isn't such an awful thing after all. Remember that it's all to be taken in fun.

A Student

"Sing" Presents Humorous Skit

"Sing", Saturday night, presented a humorous skit, protraying the two conceptions of orientation classes.

Five freshmen impersonated by S. Mallory, Virginia Baker, Victoria Gillette, Elsie Green, and Anne Johnson, came in a chain gang into their classes, singing dolefully "In S. T. C. Jail". Studying the rules they chanted various calamities, chorusing "I Ain't A Gonna Be Treated this Away". Billy Wilkinson, the old maid school ma'am, was harsh on them. Five singing and dancing freshmen, Nan Throckmorton, Dorothy and Doris Atkins, Nancy Selmore, and Edith Kayler, showed the school the wonderful opportunities in being a freshman. Cornelia Penn went throuh a unique tap routine. Edith Kaler closed the program with a touching monologue, called "Scratch and the Newsboy."

Presbyterian Girls Are Dinner Guests

(Continued from Page 1)

Margaret Hunter, Elizabeth Huse, Frances Hutcheson, Frances Irving, Mary Jackson, Florence Jeffrey, Ann Johnson, Lucille Johnston, Nora Jones, Virginia Lee, Gertrude Levy, Mrs. Lucille Lohr, Muriel McAllister, Jean McConnaghey, Elizabeth McIntosh, Gladys Major, Mary Elizabeth Minor, Evelyn Montgomery, Charlotte Morton, Carter Belle Munt, Louise Painter, Ernestine Payne, Virginia Payne, Cornelia Penn, Catherine Pilcher, Nancy Pobst, Louise Potter, Amy Powell, Lucille Rhodes, Betty Rivers, Elizabeth Roberts, Mamie Scott Roberts.

Elizabeth Robertson, Jennie Maria Rock, Mrs. Sallie Rode, Julia Rowe, Florence Rowett, Katheryn Byburn, Florence Sanford, Lelia Sanford, Mary Ann Scales, Eleanor Shackleton, Ellen Simmerman, Mary Elizabeth Slater, Mildred Slayton, Marguerite Snell, Rose Somers, Isabel Sprinkle, Louise Stephenson, Mildred Stone, Eunice Tanner, Jean Taylor, Zaida Thomas, Virginia Tilman, Marion Umberger, Carolyn Upshur, Linda Walker, Nancy Wall, Selma West, Margaret Wilkerson, Martha Williams, Ann Wills, Josephine Wills, Elizabeth Wilson.

KnowYour College

Our Alma Mater is more than buildings, more than faculty and courses of instruction. It goes without saying that these things are indispensable; yet they are far from being all that makes the college. Our Alma Mater has a definite personality, a definite spirit, and ideals that are imbued within its walls. It has a history of which it can well boast, and that endears it to the hearts of all students.

Even the buildings that hover withing the spirit of our Alma Mater are of exquisite beauty and interest. The Main Building occupies the central place in the college plant. This building with its Ionic columns, its old fashioned doorway, and its graceful Rotunda, is a charming example of colonial architecture.

Upon entering, a beautiful reception hall greets one. In the center of this one sees the calm but exultant listening face of the Maid of France, Joan of Arc. Her body, physically, is in repose, but her eyes are seeing visions, her ears are hearing voices, and her soul is feeling the command of the Great Power.

Our listening Joan of Arc first came to abide in our college in the year of 1914. She was presented by the graduating class of that year and placed in the center of college life and activities, The Rotunda. From this time on the thoughts of the students were form ed about the Maid of France until there has grown up in our college an ideal, a spirit drawing its inspiration from and centering around Joan of Arc.

Above the statue of Joan are the balcony and done with its magnificent painting. Here the artist E. Manfalconi of Richmond, Virginia, has placed the portraits of Thomas Jefferson, Horace Mann, J. L. M. Curry, and Dr. W. H. Ruffner. The latter two were the pioneers and guiding inspiration of the founding of our college in 1884, then known as the State Female Normal School. Between each of these portraits is a symbolic picture in rich colors representing the four purposes of the institution: Study, Meditation, Recreation, and Rest.

Two bronze tablets of interest also hang in the Rotunda. One is a lovely bronze tablet commemorating the founding of Pi Kappa Omega, an honor society founded in 1918. In 1928 Pi Kappa Omega was taken into the national organization known as Kappa Delta Pi. The other is a tablet bearing the coat or arms and the names of the founders of Sigma Sigma Sigma Sorority. This was placed there in 1928 in recognition of its thirty years of existence.

In the Rotunda we have the very heart of a school which gathers her daughters about her, shares with them her knowledge, and inspires them with her spirit.

Freshmen Nominate For Class President

(Continued from Page 1)

Sarah Hayes and Sarah Button are to be joint chairmen of the class stunt at the annual school circus.

Looking back over the past week and forward to one in the dim future: the most important and similar groups of students on the campus are freshmen during orientation week and seniors during comencement week.

—The Spectator

A COLLEGE PROFESSOR DISCOVERED

That Often It Isn't a Student's Brain but his Pen that Runs Dry—causes Failure—in Classes and Exams!

So he invented this sacless Vacumatic, and Parker engineered it to perfection—gave it 102% more Ink Capacity—made its Ink Level* VISIBLE, *so it suddenly can't go empty!

YES, a scientist on the faculty of the University of Wisconsin was amazed to find how pens that run out of ink slow down classes, demoralize thinking, and bring marks that no student wants to write home about.

His observations led to the birth of the revolutionary Parker Vacumatic. This miracle pen writes 12,000 words from a single filling—shows when it's running low—tells when to refill!

Any good store selling pens will show you how the Parker Vacumatic eliminates 14 old-time parts, including the lever filler and rubber ink sac found in sac-type pens. And due to this, it has double room for ink, without increase in size.

But don't think that sacless pens containing squirt-gun pumps are like Parker's patented Vacumatic. This new creation contains none of these. That's why it's GUARANTEED MECHANICALLY PERFECT!

Parker VACUMATIC
GUARANTEED MECHANICALLY PERFECT
Junior, $5 Over-Size, $10 $7.50 Pencils, $2.50, $3.50 and $5

WITHOUT ADJUSTMENT

Go and try writing two different ways with its Reversable Point—solid Gold combined with precious Platinum—skilfully fashioned to write on both sides—slightly turned up at the tip so it cannot scratch or drag, even under pressure!

Do this and you won't let an old pen impede your learning another day. The Parker Pen Company, Janesville, Wisconsin.

Send a Post Card for Free Bottle of Parker Quink—the marvelous new quick-drying, pencleaning ink, and throw your blotter away. Address Dept. 712.

Conoco Gas and Oil
Fill up at
JOHNS MOTOR CO.
Farmville, Va.

Electric Shoe Shop
It's smart to buy good shoes and then keep them repaired

Martin the Jeweler
College & Fraternity Jewelry
Gifts of lasting remembrance
317 MAIN ST. FARMVILLE

Southside Drug Store
Films Developed
F R E E
Try our tasty lunches

Shannon's
Is Headquarters for the Best
SANDWICHES
—and—
DRINKS
in Farmville

GILLIAM'S
Refreshments fo the Girls
One block from the campus
Let us supply your next "feast"

RICE'S SHOE STORE
Street and Dress Shoes
Dancing Slippers Dyed
Correct fits our specialty

R. E. FISCHER
Radio Repairing
Formerly with Martin the Jeweler
PHONE 244M OR 283

Planters Bank and Trust Company
COMPLIMENTS
FARMVILLE, VA.

WILLIS
The Florist
Flowers for all occasions
PHONES 181-273

Kleanwell
CLEANERS AND TAILORS
Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling ladies garments
Main Street, opposite Post Office
Phone 98

LA REINE DES CREMES
(THE QUEEN OF CREAMS)

Made in Paris!

● Because even Lesquendieu's own associates here can't make this famous French beauty cream quite as lovely as Monsieur himself does in Paris. A lusciously flattering powder base that makes your skin look like a flower petal... also a delicately softening night cream. A true French product. $1.25, $2.00, $3.50

BALDWIN'S
QUALITY PRICE - SERVICE STORE
"The Style Shop for Ladies"
FARMVILLE, VA.

PHILCO RADIO
World's largest manufacturers of Radio
A complete line
Watch Repairing a Specialty
Sheet Music—Strings for Instruments
LYNN, The Main Street Jeweler

For Better Averages—Brighten Your Room Up!
Lovely curtains in rose, blue, gold, green and ecru 49c—69c and 98c.
Curtain Rods 10c
Bright colored rag rugs 49c
Cretonne ..... 15c and 19c
Bedspreads ..... 69c—98c and $1.69
S. T. C. Headquarters
HUB DEPARTMENT STORE
Welcomes You

SPORT SLANTS

It was good to see such a big crowd out for hockey Thursday. There were approximately fifty eager players all ready to start the season off with a bang—or should we say a bully? We want to urge those who came out to keep it up and to bring an upperclassman with you. Seniors, where is your class spirit? Remember that only two practices a week are required for class teams and that "All work and no play makes John a dull boy". The juniors were well represented. We wonder if Mary Bowles' magic power could have have anything to do with appearance of Chic Dortch and Virginia Bean? And Bess McGlothlin still plays a nice game.

The sophomore were in evidence but somebody in that class is still holding out on us. Let's see more of you folks this week.

Basketball began Monday. We still maintain that varsity is worth the effort. Unless we miss our guess the schedule this year will be full of excitement. Sue Eastham, manager, is negotiating with Blackstone, William and Mary, Westhampton, Harrisonburg, and Sweet Briar. A practice a week wil lkeep you in the running.

Watch the bulletin board for tennis singles matches to be played off next week. Elsie Cabell has chosen Virginia Carroll as her assistant in this sport.

Robin Hood's game is being played every Wednesday afternoon on the hockey field. Maxine Burks, manager of archery, promises you some hours of fun.

Anna Brown Jones, an outstanding member of the senior class of College High School, has been chosen captain of their hockey team this fall. Martha McCorkle, also a senior, is president of the Athletic Association in our campus training School.

Rotunda Reverberations

(Continued from Page 3)

tunda so the spectators would be comfortable.

A modern question today, "Do the movies affect our children?" I am sorry but it evidently does. We seem to be well represented by Joan Crawford, Jean Harlow, Mae West and Dolores Del Rio.

In recommending a student in introduction it is said, "Oh! she's from a wonderful family." I guess I'll have to keep it a secret about "Two gun Pete" being Bonnie Lane's father.

"They all come back", at least: Janice White, Doris Eley, Irene Bryant, Ann Irving, and Virginia Jones missed S. T. C. so much they had to spend the week-end here. And it's strange to see Helen Shawen back in town not doing the continental.

We noticed Bill Haywood with May Bowles. Wonder what happened to Kathleen McCann?

If you want information on the Richmond-Duke game, Zell Hopkins will furnish every little detail.

Aunt Lucy seems to be the woman about town at least Calvin Chaffin seemed very engrossed with her Sunday night.

Isn't it wonderful how tall, blue eyed men can affect Bonnie Powell?

Kyrl's Band Plays At First Lyceum

Continued from page one

ard, soprana Soloist; and Ruth Templeman, Harp Soloist.

Kryl himself is a unique personality. He has had a most unusual and interesting career. In early youth he made his public appearance with a circus traveling Europe, having run away from home when it showed in the little Bohemian village of his birth. His artistic talents first found expression in the field of sculpture. It was while engaged in the modeling of a statue of Gen. Lew Wallace, at Crawfordsville, Indiana, that he met John Phillip Sousa. He was persauded by Sousa to go in for a musical career, and today his fame as a cornetist and band leader is world-wide.

O. D. K. Taps H. - S. C. Leaders On Monday

(Continued from Page 1)

Francis Ghigo. Initiation of these students will take place soon.

All of these men are outstanding in activities and leadership on the Hampden-Sydney campus. The quota for the year is eleven student members, the remaining four to be selected in the spring.

TAXI TAXI

Jitney Rides Day or Night Service

"Service that Counts"

H. M. WELLS, Day Phone 344

Night Phone 54M

Calendar

Calendar

Wednesday

Y. W. Cabinet	5:00
Rotunda Staff	7:00
Orientation Groups	7:00

Thursday

Artist Dance Group	4:15
Kappa Delta Pi	7:00
Pan Hellenic Council	10:00

Friday

Debate Club	7:00
Orientation Exam.	7:00

Saturday

Sing	6:45

Monday

Virginian Staff	7:00
Athletic Association	7:00
House Council	10:00

Tuesday

Class Meetings	7:00
Gamma Psi	7:30
Pi Gamma Mu	8:30
Student Council	10:00

Freshmen to Catch Humor of the Sophs

Continued from page one

sweaters and skirts).

2. Plait hair in ten (10) plaits tied with green and white ribbon.

3. Do not cut across the Campus.

4. Dress formally for dinner and wear gloves all during the meal.

Tuesday:

1. Wear high heel evening shoes and green socks.

2. Wear sport dresses with no belts.

3. Wear a hat and tuck hair under hat so none shows; remove hat in classes.

Wednesday:

1. Wear tennis shoes.

2. Wear very dark eye shadow.

3. Wear belt around hips.

4. Skip slowly instead of walking.

These rules are to be observed until after dinner each evening. Rat Court will be held in the auditorium on Wednesday night immediately after supper.

It gives the sophomores great pleasure to announce that severe steps have been taken to see that the rules are enforced to the letter. Those in immediate command will be Elizabeth Carroll, Chaiman of Rat Week; Miss Jane Royall, Class Adviser and Madeline McGlothlin, Class President.

We may consider ourselves indeed fortunate that the opportunity of hearing so distinguished and capable an artist is to be given us.

SUPPERS AND SMALL PARTIES

Good Breakfast

Dinners

Suppers

College Tea Room

and

LONGWOOD

New Furnishings Arrive For "Rec"

Have you seen the "Rec"? Isn't it grand? And aren't we proud of it?" Such are the grateful ejaculations which have resounded up and down the halls of S. T. C. since Friday, when the new furniture for the recreation hall arrived. Four complete sets of wicker furniture with bright colored leather upholstered cushions replace the uncomfortable chairs that have served for so long. Four luxurious rugs add a touch of coziness and warmth to the color scheme. Ample space has been left in the middle of the hall floor so that it may be used for large gatherings.

Though many improvements have been made in the school each year, this most recent one will probably be enjoyed and apprciated by the students more than any other. Not only is it nice to have a comfortable and attractive place to have dates and to entertain friends but it answers the need for a lounge in the main part of the school.

Juniors and Seniors, you will never have to ask the freshmen and sophomore to leave your parlors again. It is more probable that you will be the humble ones.

Notes From a Nut

Will the entire student body meet in room eighteen after lunch today.

When your new bottle of ink is half empty look in your desk drawer.

Does teaching make one dignified? "Tac" has become Miss Waters to the Senior Class.

We wonder how many philosophy students of S. T. C. will become corn shuckers?

How many freshmen have joined the rail guard? Watch the Rotunda over the week-end for further information.

Since when have they been taking laundry in the biology lab?

Rotunda Sponsors Comic Magazine

(Continued from Page 1)

The Rotunda staff has contracted for a definite number of copies of the first issue of "The Southern ¡Comic." This number will be increased if the demand of the students so justifies.

Faculty News

Mrs. Alice Carter, Supervisor of Seventh Grade Training School spent the week-end at her home in Warrenton, Virginia.

Miss Henry and Miss Stevens spent Saturday in Richmond.

Dr. Jarman was away from the College several days last week attending board meetings in Richmond and Washington.

Miss Georgianna E. Stephenson spent the week-end with her sister in Virginia and attended the marriage of Elizabeth Revercomb who is a graduate of this College.

Mrs. Laing has returned from Swatow, China and has resumed the duties of her position at the college.

Football Scores

These crisp fall days remind us that it is the football season again. Though we can't make every game we like to follow our favorite teams. Here are last week's scores:

Richmond 12	Roanoke 7
Duke 26	W. & L. 0
Virginia 0	Davidson 0
Langley Field 6	H.-S. C. 2
Columbia 12	V. M. I. 0
Army 14	William & Mary 0
Maryland 7	V. P. I. 0
Randolph-Macon 14	St. Johns 7
W. & M. Frosh 6	Fork Union 0
Emory & Henry 31	King 0
N. C. State 14	S. C. 0
Georgia Tech 32	Sewanee 0
Yale 34	New Hampshire 0
Notre Dame 14	Carnegie Tech 3
Navy 27	Mercer 0
West Va. 20	Davis-Elkins 0

STANLEY A. LEGUS

TAILOR

CLEANING

PRESSING

REPAIRING

Phone 203

Farmville Mfg. Co.

BUILDING MATERIALS

MILLWORK

Farmville, Va.

H. M. WELLS CONFECTIONERY

Food for the Parties

Two blocks from College Campus

C. E. Chappell Co.

Visit Us For the Best Fountain Service

OUR HEARTIEST WELCOME TO EACH AND EVERY ONE OF YOU

Come Down And See Us!

DOROTHY MAY STORES

P. S.—Just received the loveliest sportwear. You will adore them.

EXQUISITE, PERSONAL

ENGRAVED STATIONERY

100 SHEETS
100 ENVELOPES
ENGRAVED

ALL FOR $2

SEE OUR BEAUTIFUL SAMPLES

The Farmville Herald

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

Gray's Drug Store

PURE DRUGS—MEDICINES

Perfumes—Toilet Articles

Quality—Price—Service

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

You Would Love to Have Your Shoes Fixed at

Lovelace Shoe Shop

110 Third Street

Mack's

BARBER AND BEAUTY SHOP

323 Main Street

Phone 360

ROSE'S

5-10-25c Store

School Supplies

Full Fashioned Hosiery

At Popular Prices

Room Furnishings

B uy
U nusual
T reats
C old drinks
H uge cones
E legant fruits
R oasted peanuts
S nappy snacks

EACO THEATRE

Adults, 25c; Children, 15c Unless Otherwise Noted

Thurs.-Fri., Oct. 10-11

Janet Gaynor
Henry Fonda

"Farmer Takes a Wife"

Gaynor's best picture in year

Adults 25c and 35c

Sat., Oct. 12 Fox News

All-Star Cast in

"Dante's Inferno"

Spectacular and Thrilling! It will burn itself in your memory. No advance in price

Last chap Mountain Mystery

Next Mon. and Tues. Oct. 14 and 15.

Frederic March
Greta Garbo

Freddy Barthelmew

"Anna Karenina"

Isham Jones and Orchestra

Adults 25c and 35c

Next Wed., Oct. 16

Arline Judge, Kent Taylor

"College Scandal"

Betty Boop Cartoon and Chapt. 11 "Miracle Rider"

Wednesday, Oct. 9

Jane Withers

"GINGER"

The Child Sensation

Chapt. 10 "Miracle Rider"

Our furnace forgot about the N. R. A. not being enforced. It is still on the part time system.

The College World . . . In Pictures

"One Picture Tells as Much as Ten Thousand Words"

Shutters click . . . flashlights flare . . . cameramen are "Johnny on the spot" wherever and whenever anything of interest to the college student happens . . . to bring to the Editor of Collegiate Digest three thousand pictures every month . . . but of course it is only possible to bring you the best of these . . . in addition to the numerous collegiate features appearing exclusively in Collegiate Digest every week with

STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE ROTUNDA

GET READY FOR CIRCUS

The Rotunda

We Teach To Teach

TRY OUT FOR ROTUNDA

Volume XVI. FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, OCTOBER 16, 1935 No. 3

Students of S. T. C. Attend Collegiate Press Convention

Delegates To Convene In Chicago, Oct. 12-19

Florence Sanford, editor of the Rotunda, and Evelyn Massey, business manager, and Lelia Sanford, editor of the Virginia have been selected by the staffs to represent the publications and the college at the Associated Collegiate Press Convention in Chicago from October 12-19.

The association has been holding conventions for several years. Last year 276 delegates representing 119 publications, 104 colleges and universities and thirty-five states, were present.

Prominent members of the journalistic world and of national affairs will speak on the program. Leland Stowe, Paris correspondent of the New York Herald Tribune and winner of the Pulitzer prize for the best example of foreign correspondence in 1930, will speak on "The European vs. the American Press". Mr. Stowe is president of the Anglo-American Press Association of Paris and has covered many important international events.

Carroll Binder, distinguished foreign expert of the Chicago Daily News, who has served his paper in Rome, Moscow, London,

Continued on page 4

Alpha Kap. Gamma Installs New Circle

Miss Florence Stubbs, national executive secretary of Alpha Kappa Gamma, Tac Waters, president of Joan Circle, Jane Royall and Lelia Sanford, actives of the circle went to the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill on October 13, to investigate a petition for a charter from a group of girls on that campus. For some time there has been a need for organized leadership at Chapel Hill.

The girls who have been instrumental in petitioning Alpha Kappa Gamma were very enthusiastic about the organization and purposes of Alpha Kappa Gamma. October 22 was set for installation of the new circle. Seven charter members will be initiated at this time. They are Frances Coffee, Mary Pride Cruikshank, Ellen Deppe, Nancy Lowlor, Kay Quigley, Jane Ross and Hariett Taylor. Delegates from Joan Circle will officiate at the installation.

Date of Cotillion Dance is Nov. 2

The Cotillion Club will sponsor its annual fall dance on November 2. The University of Virginia student orchestra has been signed up to play for the dance, and Gamma Psi, honor organization in art, will do the decorations.

Tickets for the old girls in the club will be $1.50 which will allow each member to invite two girls and a date. Both girls tickets may be used in school or one in school and one out-of-town girl.

The girls who received bids this fall will pay $2.50. This allows them their own ticket for the dance.

Alumni tickets will be on sale for $1.00. This includes a boy ticket.

All tickets will go on sale in a few days and members are urged to get them at the earliest possible date.

Member of Faculty Dedicates New Book To Jennie M. Tabb

In March, 1934, Dr. J. P. Wynne, Head of Department of Education and Director of Teacher-Training in S. T. C., published a monograph entitled "The Learning-Teaching Unit." It was dedicated to Dr. Jarman. It is a series of lectures to the faculty of the college, the student body, and the public, and is sponsored by the local chapters of Kappa Delta Pi and Pi Gamma Mu.

Dr. Wynne has recently published a sequel to the above mentioned book entitled "Uses of the Class Period In Unit Teaching." This book has been dedicated to the late Miss Jennie M. Tabb who for thirty years was Registrar of the college and secretary to President Jarman.

Dr. Wynne, in collaboration with Mr. Samuel M. Holton, has also prepared a volume, "Source of Materials On the Learning-Teaching Unit," to be used in conjunction with the above named volumes.

Debate Club Sponsors Open Forum Discussion

That the Debate Club is presenting Gertrude Levy as representative speaker and sponsoring an Open Forum discussion on the subject of "The Proposed Amendments to the Constitution", on Thursday, October 17, has been announced.

The faculty and student body, especially freshmen, are invited to be present, and are requested to ask questions.

Honor Fraternity Bids Two Juniors And Four Seniors

Alpha Kappa Gamma Announces Members In Chapel

Two juniors and four seniors have been officially recognized as outstanding members of the student body by Alpha Kappa Gamma, national honorary fraternity for leadership. Girls receiving bids are: Mary Bowles, Bonnie Lane, Elizabeth Huse, Doris Moore, Lucy Potter, and Elizabeth Walton.

This honor is bestowed on juniors and seniors who have shown through their work outstanding leadership in some phase of college life. The organization and activities of the fraternity corresponds to Omicron Delta Kappa in men's colleges.

Mary Bowles, junior, has served as class secretary for two years and this year is president of her class. She has been very active in college sports having been treasurer of the Athletic Association last year and treasurer this Phi Sigma and secretary of Student Council.

Bonnie Lane has been a contributor to the Rotunda Staff for two years, an active member of the Student Council since her sophomore year. Bonnie was member of the Student Standards Committee as a freshman; this year she is president of Alpha Phi Sigma.

Elizabeth Huse has shown un-

Continued on page 4

College Girls Attend Church Dinner, Oct. 9

On Wednesday, October 9, the women of the Presbyterian Church entertained the college girls of that denomination at a dinner.

After the reception committee had greeted the girls most cordially a delicious dinner was served. At intervals everyone joined in the singing led by Mr. Edwin Cralle; later he sang several solos, "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life", "Until", and "Because".

Mr. Gardiner introduced Mr. McCorkle, incoming superintendent of Sunday School, Mrs. Stokes, instructor of the College Girls' Sunday School class; Mrs. Crawford president of the Women's Auxiliary; Sarah Button, president of the Christian Endeavor.

Agnes Crockett, Elizabeth Huse, and Lucy Potter expressed the thanks of the girls for the gracious hospitality extended them. Upon the request of Mr. Gardner everyone stood and sang, "Alma Mater".

Hampden-Sydney Has Pan-Hellenic Dances

Pan-Hellenic dances are to be Friday 18, four until six Saturday afternoon and nine until twelve Saturday night at the Comity Club at Hampden-Sydney.

Tub Oliver and his Hampden-Sydney Collegians will furnish the music. Oliver stated that the band had improved since last year including new additions to the orchestra.

The openings are early this year due to the arrangements of the football schedule. These dances are an annual affair and are held every fall.

Four Classes Participate In S. T. C. Water Carnival

A water carnival will be held in the pool Thursday night with all four classes participating. The carnival will begin promptly at eight o'clock. Each class is preparing an original act to take place around and in the pool.

Students to Vote On Circus Queen

The queen of the annual college Circus which is sponsored by Alpha Kappan Gamma will be elected next Tuesday. Nominees from the classes are as follows: seniors Addie Norfleet: juniors—Mary Bowles; sophomores—Nancy Pobst freshmen—Betty Fagg.

Members of the student body will begin voting for Circus Queen next Tuesday, October 21, at the table in the hall. One cent is the fee charged to vote as many times as she wishes to, provided she pays the fee each time.

The name of the queen will not be announced until Circus Night, October 26. The Nominees from the classes, though they cannot all be queens, have a prominent part in the circus, for they are members of the queen's court.

Each class sponsors a stunt as a part of the circus program. A prize is given to the class that puts on the best show, and the judges are impartial spectators. Following class stunts, one may find amusement in side shows, in the dance booth, or in eating hot dogs and sandwiches.

Hayes is President Of Freshman Class; Moran Is Classman

Sarah Hayes, Newport News, Virginia, was elected president of the freshman class on Wednesday night October ninth.

A meeting of the freshman class was called Tuesday, October eighth to make nominations for the president. Mary Bowles, president of junior class, presided at the meeting. Six girls were nominated for this office. The candidates were: Sarah Hayes, Marjorie Thompson, Virginia Woodward, Marjorie Wicks, Caroline Willis and Evelyn Beale.

The new freshman president was an outstanding member of the Newport News High School. She took part in many extra-curricular activities while in high school.

Nominations and elections for the other officers and the classman were held last night. The following were elected: Marjorie Thompson of Russell County, Vice-President; Vera Ebel of Richmond Virginia, secretary. Alpha Lee Garnett of Richmond was elected treasurer. Miss Grace Moran was elected classman.

Sigma Sigma Sigma Holds Convention

The Sigma Sigma Sigma, national educational sorority, held its first regional convention at Hotel Roanoke in Roanoke, October 12 and 13. Alpha Chapter, S. T. C., Farmville, Va., Psi Chapter, Marshall College, Huntington, W. Va., Alpha Theta, Radford, Va., Alpha Alpha, Coveoral college, Athens, W. Va., and Alpha Kappa, Fairmon college, Fairmont, W. Va., were the five active chapters represented. There were approximately one hundred and seven representative.

Registration was held at eleven o'clock Saturday morning with lunch following. The opening meeting convened at two o'clock in the afternoon with Miss Mabel Lee Walton, national president of Tri Sigma, presiding.

Dr. McConnel, president of Radford was the chief speaker at the formal banquet held in the hotel Saturday evening. At that time Alpha Kappa was awarded the trophy for having the largest number of active members present at the convention.

Sunday morning was devoted to

Continued on Page 4

Noted Soprano

NELL KINARD, soprano with the Kyrl Symphony Band.

NYA Furnishes Help To Virgiina Students

Dr. T. D. Eason, state director of higher learning, who is in charge of the college student aid division of NYA in Virginia, stated recently that a total of 2,148 students of Virginia Colleges will be entitled to federal aid this session. The amount to be given from this source is $289,980 for the school year. The monthly allotment to the colleges of the state will be $32,220, based on the average of $15 per pupil per month.

Positions such as assistants in departments and laboratories, in dining-rooms, are held by students aided by the federal government. The job to which a student is assigned must not be a regular college position, but must be one in addition to such positions so as to give the maximum of employment, as the regulations prescribe.

S. T. C. Choir Entertains State Mechanics Convention

The S. T. C. Choir entertained the fifty-first annual State Convention of Junior Order United American Mechanics which held a program in the main auditorium, Monday, October 14th at eight o'clock.

The program consisted of a call to order by P. C. Agee, Invocation by Rev. H. E. Cromer, address of Welcome, Mayor W. C. Fitzpatrick, response to welcome R. B. Baker, Introductions, Song: America, by the College Choir. Introduction of the speaker, T. Gray Haddon, guest speaker, Lieut. Governor James H. Price and the Benediction by Rev. Wm. V. Gardner.

Famous Symphony Presents Program At First Lyceum

Kyrl Determined To Give His Best To the Public

Great enthusiasm has been expressed at the announcement of the coming of Kryl's famous Symphony Band as our first Lyceum of the season.

Such a Friday night treat is in store for us as is seldom experienced except through the greatest of effort. Music lovers can expect a beautiful and varied program, for Kyrl's name stands for the best there is in the field of music.

That the services of Kyrl's Band are ni constant demand is well placed on the fact that leader and musicians are all determined to give the best to the public.

Kryl's Symphony Band is the result of his own indomitable will and intense personality. Kryl as a man is an extraordinary figure. He is vibrant with life. He dominates those with whom he comes in contact. As a result, his band is a unit reflecting Kryl—responsive to his every direction.

In appearance Kryl has been described as "leonine". He is an unusually large man, with abundant dark hair flowing almost to his shoulders. He is restless and

Continued on page 4

President Installs Seniors of 1936

Robed in their academic gowns for the first time, members of the class of '36 marched past their first mile-post on Monday night, to become duly installed by Dr. Jarman, in the large auditorium, as the senior class of '36. The Reverend Mr. Gardner of the Presbyterian Church offered the invocation.

In the processional marched the seniors and their little sisters who carried their caps. After the invocation, Dr. Jarman installed the members of the class and in a short talk, advised them as to the privileges and duties of seniors.

Then, to the strains of the Alma Mater Song, the seniors marched from the auditorium. After them, marched their little sisters.

"Rats" Jerk Grip of Fashion From S.T.C Upperclassmen

The grip of fashion, held so long by the upper-classmen at S. T. C. has been perked from their hands by their younger smarter sisters. This super-chic class of '39 as, in the main, gone in for early-Indian influence. Daytime dresses are cut straight with no definite waist-line, although some are shown with belts around hips. Shoes vary but the smartest are the heeless "sneakers", which make the girls resemble strikingly, Philbertinoffs exquisite study in oils. Pocahontas Stalking a Tiger. This Indian influence has been extended into the realm of make-up. Either no make-up is used, or the eyes alone are accented. So many girls have curly hair, that it was quite refreshing to see the new coiffures. "The lastest thing," say these scintillating young moderns, "is the style which has the hair worn perfectly straight, and a dear little bandeau of ribbon around the forehead." (That Indian influence again.) Another very popular method—said to be inspired by the Fiji Islanders—plaits the hair in innumerable little plaits wired like flowers to make them stick straight out.

A new trend has been noted toward formality in dress, and hats are worn by the majority when not in class.

Along with this new formality comes a style which we rather hesitantly forecast as only a fad. This wearing of bright green socks with high heels.

Gone, alas, are the days when one tripped into dinner in the wilted dress which had seen service all through the day. Instead a new elegance is shown in the formal dinner dresses with (fashion note) gloves worn throughout the meal.

Committee Work To Make Success of Annual Circus

Oh boy, oh boy, this circus which takes place on Saturday night October 26 is going to be a colossal and stupendous affair. Now I've seen Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey but I believe this one has them all beat. I hear tell they expect to go on the road for several weeks after the opening night here in our gym.

The class chairmen and their committees are racking their brains and tearing their hair in order to out do each other with a unique and original stunt. From what I see with my eyes and hear with my protuding but shell-like ears I find the rats are giving the upperclassmen a good bit of worry with their ingenuous planning.

And oh folks, the animals which are being imported from all parts of the universe are going to have you in a proverbial fit. Why the elephants, which I have only seen pictures of, are the most gigantic animals you ever saw. I understand the hay which is required for their diet will fill the student building and part of annex—just a dainty little meal to you. No doubt you'll see a fight between the gingham dog and the calico cat both of whom have a most ferocious temper, I'm told. They're probably kept in cages. The giraffes and spotted zebras are honest-to-gosh the funniest creatures I ever focused my two orbs upon—they will throw you into a panic, I know.

But the biggest thriller will be the coronation of the Queen. From all the whispering and twitching that goes on in the halls (Im a professional eaves-dropper, you know) the crowning of the Queen is to be a terrific surprise. I heard a couple of girls saying something about swans and water lillies in connection with the big event. Now what in the world could they have been referring to. Wonder where they get water lilies and swans at this time of year—thought they had all gone south. I "swan" they said water lilies.

Continued on page 4

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Published by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

1935 Member 1936
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

Staff

Florence Sanford ..... Editor
Agnes Bondurant ..... Associate Editor
Evelyn Massey ..... Business Manager

Board of Editors

Miss Jane Royall ..... Alumnae
Katherine Hoyle ..... Make-up
Susan Gresham ..... Headlines
Emma Bingham ..... Literary
Bess McGlothlin, Elizabeth Morris, Mary Adeline McGlothlin ..... Editorials
Claire Eastman ..... World News
Margaret Fraley ..... Socials
Kathleen Ranson ..... Sports

Proof Readers

Elizabeth Walton, Dorothy Deans

Managers

Elsie Cabell ..... Circulation
Ruth Phelps ..... Asst. Circulation
Louise Gathright ..... Asst. Circulation

Assistants and Reporters

Virginia Agee, Mary Joyner Cox, Alice Nelson, Claudia Harper, Minnie Smith, Elizabeth Carroll, Willis Scott, Bonnie Lane.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 16, 1935

What Shall I Teach?

A college education is failure unless it enables one to find the niche in which he belongs. This sums up the whole purpose of a college education, but too often the student makes no attempt to find the niche, and without his will no effort on the part of the student no amount of lectures will help him in finding it.

Too many students are following a particular course of studies, not because they are particularly interested in the work but because of some outside influence, the urging of a parent or a friend perhaps. Many a mother thinks her daughter should be an artist because she can draw funny pictures, while actually she would fit better in a conservatory of music.

Modern life is complex and there are many different professions requiring the same talent that it is difficult to judge in what direction a girl's talent should be guided. One may speak good English and yet not make an English teacher. However, the variety of courses offered in a college curriculum give a wide field to select from.

"Am I preparing myself for my proper vocation in life, and if so am I preparing myself in the right way?" is the question that the thoughtful student faces. Unless a student thinks things out and sees his way clearly he is apt to meet with disaster at the end of his college career. Do you want to master it? Or would you rather just drift through?

Carelessness

Richmond has become alarmed over its high accident rating and has incorporated into its city police department, two officers equipped with a radio car, a camera, a steel tape-measure and other devices for obtaining the exact facts in cases of automobile accidents. The duty of these two men will be to reach the scene of accident quickly and to cover details as thoroughly as it is possible to do.

The efficiency of this new department will depend upon the alertness and ability of the men selected for squad duty. The cause is certainly worthy of great care and experimentation; if Richmond can find some way by which it can lower its accident rate, it will have rendered a civic service greatly needed and will perhaps lead the way for other localities having traffic problems in dire need of controlled help.

Regardless of the efficiency and the effort of a city department with regard to this matter of automobile accidents, the weight of responsibility yet remains with the citizens of any community. If through some method the cooperation of drivers with traffic regulations and a small amount of courteous consideration for "the other fellow" on the open road could be enlisted the fearfully high accident average of this and all other communities would be lowered.

Extra-Curricular Activities

It seems to us that extra-curricular activities on our campus have never offered such wide and varied opportunity for those who are wise enough to grasp it. It is not too late in the year to begin now to enter into both athletic and class endeavors and make the most of our individual abilities.

Has this phase of our college life been sufficiently stressed with the freshmen and new girls? Have they come to realize how much it will mean to them now and especially in later college days? It is a part of our responsibility as upperclassmen to impress upon the newcomers the importance of starting out the first year to make their college days as full of meaning as it isposible to make them. How many juniors and seniors are even now bewailing their blindness or negligence during their first years of college? When we think of the latent powers of both leadership and capable cooperation which are being wasted in our student body just for the lack of some spur—some encouragement from one in whom we have faith—it brings home to us the fact that we are not fulfilling our duty to ourselves and others.

Let us all analyze ourselves to the best of our ability and waste no more time and talent.

North and South Join Hands

That the trend in the United States to do away with sectional prejudices between the North and the South is gaining ground is attested by two joint celebrations of the North and South, one just completed at Stratford Hall, home of Robert E. Lee, and the other planned for the surviving veterans of the Northern and Southern armies at Gettysburg in 1936.

Both Northerners and Southerners assembled at Stratford on the Potomac River, in Westmoreland County, on October 12 to dedicate the Lee mansion. This old home was restored by contributions from people of forty-four States and several foreign countries.

The spirit of those honoring Lee is shown by the fact that the national anthem, rather than a favorite Southern air, was one of the features of the program.

The meeting of the Federal and Confederate armies in reunion at Gettysburg in 1936 will most likely furnish the lates opportunity that the generation of Civil War heroes will have for publicly showing their mutual good feeling. It is a fine spirit that prompts these old men who saw the bloodshed inflicted by their respective enemies to join hands in perfect friendship.

How thankful we are that ours is the heritage of a tolerant attitude toward the Northerners as well as Southerners!

A New York banker says he would like to run a newspaper for a week. And think what an editor could do with a bank in one day.

What an adventure life is, if you keep yourself alert and alive.

The greatest discovery a man can make in life is his own limitations.

Rotunda Reverberations

What's all this about Lyle Graham rushing a little unsuspecting freshman off her feet?

We wonder what caused the attraction for Billy Willis at the theatre Monday! What do "Bucky" and Vera say about this?

We'd like to know who got the best of the dance argument Liz? or Nan?

Understand Maggie Farrar has an ill-fated disease known as sleeping-sickness.

Things I'd like to call mine:
Toot Walton's mentality;
Mrs. Laing's trip to the Orient;
Bonnie Lane's legs;
Frances Britton's part in the fall play;
Lucy Shield's complete casualness;
Mr. Bell's baritone;
Madeline McGlothlin's husky voice;
Margaret Pollard's "native ability";
Lib Harris, sunny disposition;
Sue Lane's dash;
Shannon's popularity;
Joan Crawford's Franchot Tone;
Miss Wheeler's command of the English language;

At Other Colleges

"On Wisconsin", one of the most famous college songs in America will become the property of the University of Wisconsin for the first time since it was written more than twenty years ago unless legal obstacles intervene.

Carl Beck, New York, former Wisconsin student, wrote the words for the song in 1909, and the music was written by W. T. Purdy. Purdy died in 1918. Beck has declared that "On Wisconsin", called by John Phillip Sousa "the most stirring, enthusiastic college melody I have ever heard", will be given to the University in 1937, when the present copywright expires. The song was published by a Milwaukee music firm, and neither Beck nor Purdy ever profited materially from it.

Students will think twice before condemning the National Youth Administration plan when a careful weighing and consideration of the set-up is made. The significant thing that at once appears more pertinent than all others in the number of students aided in securing a higher education. The NYA functions similarly to the old FERA. The newer movement differs from the old in that NYA is much broader in scope. A sum of $50,000,000 has been set aside from the Works Progress Administration funds, and 125,000 college students all over the United States will be aided in addition to 200,000 high school students.

The nature of the work itself has given students ample time to complete their outside studies and enables them to participate in extra-curricular activities. The work itself is of apprentice nature and will not displace skilled or professional labor. Students regularly employed have been glad to hear that their positions will not be filled by NYA workers.

Japan will have an opportunity to see American football this autumn. A squad of 34 former college players from Tulsa University, the University of Chicago, and various Pacific Coast schools will play a series of ten games in seven Japanese cities.

A few weeks ago the New York post ran a puzzle which is still causing many a headache in America's metropolis. It was:

The king wished to choose the wisest man in his country as Premier. To do so, he told three of the wisest: I'm going to blindfold you and paint circles in red or blue or your foreheads. When the bandages are removed, if you see a red circle anywhere, raise your hand. When you have figured out the color of your own circle, lower the hand, and the first one to do that will be my Premier." the king blindfolded them, painted three red circles, allowed them to see aagin, watched three hands go up and then saw the hand of Mr. Z descend. How did Mr. Z know his circle was red?

Alumnae News

Mills—Marchant

A wedding of unusual interest throughout Tidewater Virginia and Maryland occured on Saturday, September 28, at Towson, Md., when Miss Virginia Shields Marchant, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Avalon Blackburne Marchant of Urbanna, and Rufus Earle Mills of Baltimore and Urbanna were married. The ceremony took place in Trinity Church in Towson in the presence of a few members of the immediate family and intimate friends.

Wedding Announced

Announcement has just been made of the mariage of Miss Susan Wooding of Halifax to James Thomas Clark of Farmville, the marriage having taken place in Leaksville, N. C., on August 24, 1935.

Richmonder Named U. D. C. Historian

Mrs. Thomas J. Starke, president of the Stonewall Jackson Chapter of the Daughters of the Confederacy, was elected State Historian at the U. D. C. convention which was recently held in Rionoke.

Rogers—Robinson

Mr. and Mrs. S. Jeter Robinson Jr. have announced the marmiage of their daughter, Marianna, to Mr. Alan Rogers, on Saturday, September 21, at Washington, D. C.

Roebucy—Gill

The wedding of Miss Emily Lucille Gill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Gill of South Hill to Thomas John Roebucy of Daytonna Beach, Fla., was quietly celebrated on Sept. 21 in the home of the Rev. James M. Anderson, of the Calvary Baptist Church at Daytona in the presence of a few friends.

Haynie—Currie

daughter of Mr. Latane Currie and the late Mrs. Lillie Dunaway Currie of Merry Point, and Mr. McClintock B. Haynie, son of Mr. E. F. Haynie of Kilmarnock, Va., were married Sept. 28 in Rockville, Md.

World News

Addition of Aduwa t oId Duce's Empire Causes League Action

The world has been made aware of the fact that at last Il Duce has permanently succeeded in adding Aduwa, "the moral goal" to his Roman Empire—thus avenging the slaughter of 8,000 Italians that took place there in 1896.

Because of this addition the opinions are rapidly speeding through the League of Nations at Geneva. Captain Anthony Eden, England's zealous diplomat, insists upon operative action now, and has as his campaign "buy nothing from Italy." The League as a whole is planning to punish Italy for aggression by using the measure, resolute boycott; but as yet, the problems are too complicated to solve definite conclusions. Even the subcommittee has recommended that bank credit and loans be refused Italy. Even Rumania and Greece have offered opinions; however they are against boycott for fear of disranging the economic structure of Europe as well as Italy.

It is reported that Italy bears acrid malice against the league's action, and has accused Great Britain "of shielding her interests behind the league." The whole world is anxiously awaiting results.

Italy Strengthens Naval Force

It has been learned that Il Duce has moved suddenly to strengthen his naval forces especially in the Mediterraneon district, as a defense weapon against Great Britain.

Under his command naval officers are studying defenses and the ways to invigorate anti--aircraft services. He has even received the services of specialists of the 1909, 1910, 1912 classes for antiaircraft protection of the islands of lower Tyrrhenian. Three thousand men of the 1914 class are in his service now, and have almost ended their training period. It appears as if Italy is going to be prepared for any emergency.

As Authors See It

"The best of blessings, a contented mind." Horace

"The greatest of faults, I should say, is to be conscious of none." Carlyle

"I know no evil so great as the abuse of understanding." Steele

For the sixteenth of October birthday, Longfellow says:
"Thanks for the sympathies that ye have shown.
Thanks for eack kindly word,
each silent token,
That teaches me, when seeming
almost alone,
Friends are around us, though no word be spoken."
from Dedication

"Nature never makes enny blunders. When she makes a phool she means it." Josh Billings

Evolution
Out of the dusk a shadow,
Then a spark;
Out of the cloud a silence,
Then a lark;
Out of the heart a rapture,
Then a pain;
Out of the dead, cold ashes,
Life again.
Father Tabb

"Happiness is composed of perfume and music." Dumas

"Heredity is an omnibus on which our ancestors ride. Every now and then they put their heads out of the windows and embarrass us." Oliver Wendall Holmes

"There are glances of hatred that stab, and raise no cry of murder." George Eliot

"The optimist proclaims that we live in the best of all possible worlds; and the pessimist fears this is true." Branch Cabell

"It is the final test of a gentleman—his respect for those who can be of no possible service to him." Willam Lyon Phelps

"Musical temperaments are Protestant; plastic temperaments are Catholic." Taine

A Vagabond Song
"There is some in the autumn
that is native to my blood
Touch of manner, hint of mood;
And my heart is like a rhyme,
With the yellow and purple and the crimson keeping time.
The scarlet of the maples can shake me like a cry
Of bugles going by.
And my lonely spirit thrills
To see the frosty asters like a smoke upon the hills.
There is something in October
sets the gipsy blood astir;
We must rise and follow her.
When from every hill of flame
She calls and calls each vagabond by name."
Bliss Carmen

"I believe now that children, up to the age of sixteen, may read anything and everything. After that age their books should be carefully chosen for them. After the age of forty people must not be allowed to read anything at all." G. B. Shaw

"Whatever one does one is always alone in this world. One may be always explaining oneself, but one is never understood." Anatole France

"Men who make money rarely saunter; men who have money rarely swagger." E. Bulwer Lytton

"The soul is the perceiver and and revealer of truth." Emerson

Exultation
"Exultation is the going
of an inland soul to sea,
Past the houses, past the headlands,
Into deep eternity.
"Bred are we, among the mountains,
Can the sailor understand
The divine intoxication
Of the first league out from land?"
Emily Dickinson

SOCIALS

All hail to the globe trotters of S. T. C. for traveling reigned supreme last week-end. Although many of the cute girls went away for the week-end we still had enough left to fill the dating parlors. Those who couldn't appreciate lovely "rec" but went home are:

Inez Chappell, Mary Elizabeth Wood, Margaret Black, Ethel Burgess, Elizabeth Conner, Louise Turres, Rose Puller, Eleanor Meredith, Lenoir Bubbard, Ruby Bone, Anne Pepie, Elizabeth Tindall, Jacqueline Beal, Marguerite Snell, Lucy Walker, Irene Bailey, Cathrine Boyette, Juliette Barrett, Kittp Pope, Elizabeth Prince, Cornelia Jefferess, Margaret Russell, Betty Bafwell, Helen Ferne Perdue, Thulia Park, Louise Chandler, Louise Bailey, Lucille Cover, Caswell Boswell, Virginia Leonard, Cecile Hyde, Dudley Allen, Pauline Bottom, Louise Patridge, Lucy Smith, Virginia Lee Harvey, Roberta Haskins, Gene Hatchett, Margaret Hurt, Nora Jones,, Rebecca Mayes, Maude Rines, Pauline Pearson, and Nannie Mae Parker.

To Richmond

On! On! to Richmond cry: Virginia Smith ,Elizabeth Shiplett, Elise Turner, Mary Joyner Cox, Helen Ferne Perdue, Josephine Quinn, Ruth Scott, Ann Hardy, Alpha Lee Garnett, Alice Nelson, Dot Sharp, Martha Nottingham, Claudia Harper, Anna Hook, Virginia Tissue, Martha Glenn Davis, Mary G. Jockson, Mary Robeson, Marion Hansbrough, Mary Denny, Dot Robertson, Rebecca Williams, Ruth James, Anne Ellis, Mary Ellen Pate, Agnes Powell, Mary Wilson Clark, Kitty James, Bitsy Blanton, Anna Leigh Bailey,, Mabel Burton, Grace Eubank, Grace Harris, Jane Holland, Katherine Harvey, Edna Early Harvey, Marjorie Robertson, Doris Moore, eBrnice Jones, Evelyn Massey, and Lucille Mosely.

Other Places Visited

To Lynchburg: Liz Carroll, Martha Hamlett, Lucille Ware, Beverley Wilkinson, Frances Taylor, Marie Padgett, Helen Greene, Marjory Wicks and Elizabeth Butler.

To Roanoke: Zaida Thomas, Chic Dertch, Minnie Smith, Susan Gresham, Elizabeth Himes, Ellen Simmerman, Mary Bowles, Elizabeth Stone, Carter Belle Munt, Florence Sanford, Willis Scott, Elizabeth Smith.

Jane Burke, Caroline Willis, and Elizabeth Trent to Appomtatox; Matsie Moore, and Leah Godwin to Chuckatuck; Frances Channell, Smithfield; Florence Jeffrey, Arvonia; Kathleen Brooks, Lexington; Bessie Hart, Rice; Evelyn Holmes and Edith Hart, Rice; Virginia Kite, Culpeper; Agnes Thompson, Gale; Doris Johnson, Margaret Crenshaw, Edith Nichols, Elizabeth Harris, and Buck Pleasants, South Boston; Ruby Blanton and Virginia Boyd to Rice; Virginia Bean, Skyline Drive Pattie Bounds, Annapolis, Md.; Louise Briggs, Victoria; Agnes Crockett, Wytheville; Audrey Clements, Hopewell; Sue Eastham, Culpeper; Mary Harvey, Curdsville; Evelyn Howell, Church Road; Zell Hopkins, Virginia Beach; Katherine Milby, Buckingham; Marie Moore, Hopewell; Anna Shiplett, Curdsville; Ernestine Payne, Warm Spring; Anthelia Robinette, Frontsville; Tac Waters, Chapel Hill; Frances Yester, Norfolk; Doris and Dot Adkins to Danville; Browning Shelton, Gordonsville; Amy Cunningham, Allens Creek; Elizabeth Walton, Amelia; Jean McConnaughey, Amelia; Ruth Sears, Hollins; Elizabeth Hardy, Kenbridge; Julia Furnival, Orange; Louise Eubank, Chase City; Charlotte Minton, Dot Roper, and Kathleen McCann, Petersburg; Ellen Skillman and Frances Williams, Victoria; Mary Irvin Arthur and Adelaide Dressler, Lexington; Mary Harper, Covington; Catherine Dix, White Stone; Elizabeth Overby, Bon Aair; May Terrell, Beaverdam; Virginia Ackworth, Buckingham; Merwyn Gathright, Rose Summers, Leslie Bradshaw, and Ellenah Bradshaw, Burkeville; Lucy Potter, Charlottesville; Sue Waldo, King and Queen; Frances Bryan, Crewe.

Radio Highlights

Wednesday night is a big night in Radio-land. If you want to hear the latest news flashes from all over the world, tune in on Lowell Thomas at 6:45, every night except Sunday over WJZ. For those of you who like to keep up with Amos and Andy, they come on every night except Sunday over WEAF at 7 o'clock. If Kate Smith and her lovely songs broadcasting from WABC at 7:30 isn't enough music for you, tune in on WEAF at 8:30 and you'll hear Wayne King, the Idol of the Airways. For those who would prefer George Burns and Gracie Allen, turn your dial to WABC at this time. Lily Pons with her exquisite soprano voice can be heard at 9:00 from the same station. At 10:00, presented by WJZ, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Mrs. Ogden Reid, and several other outstanding women of today, will talk on "Women Want Peace." Many of our radios will be tuned in there. Last, but not least on Wednesday night, over station WEAF comes Ray Noble and his orchestra playing from 10:30 until our bed time.

The admirers of Kate Smith can have the treat of hearing her again on Thursday night at 7:30 over WABC. Following ahis program, turn to station WEAF, if you want to hear the ever-faithful Rudy Valle and his Connecticut Yankees.

Turning back to WABC at 9:00, you'll hear the melodious strains of "Smoke Rings", Glen Gray's theme song, played by his Caso Loma orchestra. At the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, broadcasting over WJZ at 9:30, former President Hoover will speak on "The University of Tomorrow" at a Stanford Alumni dinner. Paul Whitman's music hall over WEAF at 10:00 and Guy Lombardo and his Royal Canadians over WABC at 11:00 should be enough to satisfy all the music lovers.

We might all get some pointers from the Kellogg's College Prom, featuring Ruth Etting and Red Nichols. It comes on at 8:30 Friday night over WJZ. Dick Powell has long been a big favorite. His sketch with Frances Langford who made such a big hit in "Broadway Melody of 1936" is only one of the things that cause us to turn to WABC when the Hollywood Hotel comes on at 9:00. We never tire of the Mills Brothers, and to have Art Kassell and his Kassels in the air with them—we can't resist. WEAF presents these two at 10:30 Friday night.

Saturday night at 6:35, if you want to hear the football scores, tune in on WABC. Those students taking government will be interested in knowing that the G. men will be on the air over WEAF at 9:00. Authentic cases from the official department of justice will be dramatized by Phillips Lord. At 9:30, the Shell Chateau starring Al Jolson with guest artists including Victor Young and his orchestra will be too much for us to pass up. This comes over WABC. For those who wish to be in Lombardo-land, at 10:30 tune in on WABC. You'll hear much soft, sweet music played by Guy Lombardo, you'll have no trouble in going from Lombardo-land into slumberland.

On Sunday night over WJZ at 7:00, Jack Benny, comedian, will be on the air. Jack, also, made a hit in "Broadway Melody of 1936". At 7:30, who can we hear but Ozzie Nelson's orchestra with Harriet Hillard's songs. You can get them over WJZ. I think its hardly necessary to tell you that Major Bowes' Amateur Hour comes on the air at 8:00 from WEAF. This program has made a tremendous hit throughout the country. Then there's Walter Winchell at 9:30 from WJZ. And Wayne King from WABC at 10:00 Sunday night.

Joan of Arc

There is more history of the equestrian statue in the colonnade than the inscription implies, though its content is of marked significance.

April 9, 1927 was the date that marked the unveiling of the equestrian statue of Joan of Arc as the ideal spirit and embodiment of leadership on our campus.

Unique as it may seem this statue was a gift from the sculptor, Mrs. Anna Hyatt Huntington and her husband, Archer Milton Huntington. Our College cannot boast too much of such a rare gift for its actual value is about four thousand dollars.

That our college was presented this bronze statue was due to the Alpha Rho Delta society now known on our campus as Alpha Kappa Gamma. During the session of 1926-1927 this society became very much interested in securing for the Alma Mater an equestrian statue of Joan of Arc, the patron saint of the college. Much to the delight of the members of Alpha Delta Rho and all connected with the college, Mrs. Huntington and her husband became so enthusiastic about the project and the work of the organization that they presented the school with this unique symbol of leadership.

Mrs. Huntington is one of America's foremost woman sculptors, author of the praying figure of Joan of Arc in the Church of St. John the Divine in New York. She has received medals in the United States and France. Her greatest work is her equestrian statue of which there are only four in the world. One is on Riverside Drive in New York, one in France, one in her native state, Massachusetts, the original stands in our own beloved colonnade.

"Approach the open colonnade which conects the Student Building with the East Wing and there in the very center, is a figure in bronze atop a marble base which, in contrast to the dull metal bears its prize with stately grace. Here is eagerness, action, bravery, defiance, loyalty to an ideal, faithfulness to duty, beauty of countenance—Jeanne d'Arc, the maid of Orleans. Her horse, an exquisite example of animal beauty, catching the fire of zeal from its rider, strains on the bit with muscles taut, neck arched, and nostrils dilated. The girl, raised on tiptoes in her saddle, thrust her sword upward. Her visar is thrown back, revealing a face of fervor—of a leader, of a noble and beautiful character. Jeanne d'Arc, the patron saint of Farmville, expresses the spirit of this great school, this institution of eagerness, bravery, faithfulness to duty, beauty of countenance, and loyalty to purpose. It is an institution which looks forward to an ideal, which raises its sword high in the battle against illiteracy; an institution which inspires young women to leadership in their country and which prepares its daughters to train the citizens of tomorrow." "Here she shall stand throughout the years. The material of the statue may decompose but the spirit of Joan will live on. For Joan of Arc marches "Forward with God", one who in the moment of victory remains inaccessible to vanity and hate; one who in the midst of popular enthusiasm lives in humility and prayer; who in the universal crush of ambitions care neither for profit nor honour."

Things I'd Like to Call Mine

Miss Mary's gentility;
Lelia Sanford's sense of humor;
Kitty Robert's gorgeous hair;
Jane Royall's poise and dignity;

A BRAIN HARASSED BY A PEN
THAT RUNS DRY, LOSES ITS Brilliance... Power... and Expression
Hence Parker Created 102% More Ink Capacity and Visible Ink Supply

*From Harvard to Southern California

Wanted by More Students Than All Other Standard Brands Combined

Every time that you write, your Train of Thought flashes along rails more delicate than gossamer. And every petty annoyance—every distraction—caused by a pen that skips and runs dry in study periods, classes, or exams, obstructs the track and derails the train.

That's why thousands of students are replacing their present pens with this revolutionary new Parker Vacumatic with visible ink supply and 102% more of it.

By holding this miracle writer to the light, they can see the ink level—see days ahead if it's running low. It is laminated—built up ring upon ring of shimmering Pearl and Jet—smart, velvet-like, wholly exclusive.

It contains no rubber sac found in sac-type pens—no squirt-gun piston pump like other sacless pens—nothing to render it useless later on. That's why it is guaranteed mechanically perfect. Go to any good store selling pens and try it yourself. The Parker Pen Company, Janesville, Wis.

Parker
VACUMATIC
GUARANTEED MECHANICALLY PERFECT
Junior, $5; Over-Size, $10 — $7.50 — Pencils, $2.50, $3.50, and $5

*Authority—Ross Federal Service survey for "Sales Management" magazine.

Conoco Gas and Oil
Fill up at
JOHNS MOTOR CO.
Farmville, Va.

Electric Shoe Shop
It's smart to buy good shoes and then keep them repaired

Martin the Jeweler
College & Fraternity Jewelry
Gifts of lasting remembrance
317 MAIN ST. · FARMVILLE

Southside Drug Store
Films Developed
F R E E
Try our tasty lunches

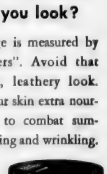
Shannon's
Is Headquarters for the Best
SANDWICHES
—and—
DRINKS
in Farmville

GILLIAM'S
Refreshments fo the Girls
One block from the campus
Let us supply your next "feast"

RICE'S SHOE STORE
Street and Dress Shoes
Dancing Slippers Dyed
Correct fits our specialty

R. E. FISCHER
Radio Repairing
Formerly with Martin the Jeweler
PHONE 244M OR 283

Planters Bank and Trust Company
COMPLIMENTS
FARMVILLE, VA.



WILLIS The Florist
Flowers for all occasions
PHONES 181-273

Kleanwell
CLEANERS AND TAILORS
Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling ladies garments
Main Street, opposite Post Office
Phone 98

How many
"SUMMERS OLD"
do you look?

Your age is measured by "summers". Avoid that parched, leathery look. Give your skin extra nourishment to combat summer searing and wrinkling.

$1.00
$1.75
$3.00

Tussy Rich Cream
By the makers of Tussy Indelible Lipstick

BALDWIN'S
QUALITY · PRICE · SERVICE STORE
"The Style Shop for Ladies"
FARMVILLE, VA.

PHILCO RADIO
World's largest manufacturers of Radio
A complete line
Watch Repairing a Specialty
Sheet Music—Strings for Instruments
LYNN, The Main Street Jeweler

LOVELY SPORT COATS $9.95 and $16.50, with new Fish-tail backs. Gorgeous Plaids.
SPort Oxfords and Dress Shoes, sizes 3 to 9
Widths from "AAA" to "C" . . . $2.95 and $3.95
YOU WILL LIKE TO SHOP HERE!

HUB DEPARTMENT STORE

SPORT SLANTS

Hockey enthusiasts are literally overrunning the field on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons. Who said that the seniors didn't have school spirit? And we wonder who persuaded "Tank" and Sallie Perrow to take up the sport? We think they are swell sports and wish more upperclassmen would follow their examples. Remember to get in two practices a week because varsity will be picked soon. Maybe you will be the very one for the squad. At any rate, you can play. Freshmen sometimes make the varsity team.

The single of tennis tournament is in full swing. The tournament started Monday and it is hoped that it will be ended some time this week. If you have one to play try to get your match played off as quickly as possible.

Basketball is a sport with which everyone is familiar. Come to practice every Monday to learn or improve your technique. Our manager is busy scheduling games for us. We are anticipating a very pleasant season.

Lots of girls are enjoying archery. This is an individual sport, and you become an expert by careful practice. Some of our archers can already hit the bull's eye. You can become quite skillful in only a few hours. Remember every Wednesday on the athletic field.

Monogram Club hikes are already being held every Saturday at 2:00 o'clock; join our hikers then! This is one way of making points toward a monogram. The club recognizes athletic ability, sportsmanship, and scholarship. The colors are blue and white, and the emblem is an S. T. C. Points are given for participation in all sports. It is not hard to win a monogram. Start out the term by hiking with us on Saturday, and joining in our sports daily.

Football Scores

It seems that two-thirds of the school went away to watch their favorite teams battle this week-end. So for the faithful few who remained at school we print the following football scores this week:

U. of Richmond, 13; V. M. I., 6
V. P. I., 0; William and Mary, 0
H.-S., 14; American U., 12
Duke, 39; Clemson, 12
North Carolina, 33; Md., 0
Kentucky, 25; Georgia Tech, 6
Mississippi S., 20; Alabama, 9
Yale, 31; Penn, 20
Minnesota, 12; Nebraska, 7
Army, 54; Gettysburg, 0
R.-M., 27; Bridgewater, 0
V. E. S., 12; Woodberry Forest, 6
E. & H., 25; U. of Chattanooga 0

Honor Fraternities Bids New Members

(Continued from Page 1)

usual interest and ability in campus activities since her freshman year. This year she is president of the House Council, last year she was treasurer of the Student Council and an active member of the Student Standards Committee.

Doris Moore has been unusually active on the Student Standards Committee for two years, she holds an office in Alpha Phi Sigma. Sigma Phi Rho, and Kappa Delta Pi. She is a member of the Artists. Dance Group.

Lucy Potter has served as class representative on the Student Council and this year is vice-president of the same. Her freshman year Lucy served as Chairman of the Freshman Commission. She has been a loyal contributor to all kinds of campus activities.

Elizabeth Walton has been a valuable member of the Rotunda staff for three years; she acted as literary editor of the Virginian last year; she has held office in Alpha Phi Sigma, Kappa Delta Pi, and Beta Pi Theta. This year she is secretary of the Y. W. C. A.

Students of S. T. C. At Press Convention and Latin America, and has just returned from an investigative trip to Japan, China, Manchukuo, and Korea, will speak on "News of the World."

(Continued from Page 1)

Others definitely on the program are: Barry Rutledge, managing director of the National Editorial Association; Dr. Radph D. Casey of the University of Minn; Curtis D. MacDougall of Northwestern. Other features on the program include a formal banquet Thursday evening followed by a dance with Charlie Straight playing. On Saturday afternoon delegates will have an opportunity to see the Chicago vs. Perdue football game.

TAXI TAXI
Jitney Rides Day or Night Service
"Service that Counts"
H. M. WELLS, Day Phone 344
Night Phone 54M

Students Like Fires

Students at S. T. C. still prefer fires to almost any other popular diversion. No matter what they are doing, when a fire siren sounds it seems to be a signal to drop everything and run—just any direction as long as there is a "good" fire waiting. The first time that the alarm rang out this year was in the dead of night when all good children were supposed to be in bed—but evidently they weren't, because the halls were turned into bedlam very shortly afterwards and as for the girls who were in bed—they soon gave up all thoughts of sleep and joined the happy throng to the nearest door or window. But it really was cruel of the fire to break out so late at night when not even the most daring would go. The next time it seemed to be planned a little more considerately however, because it happened in the afternoon—and woe to the girls who were in class! But two-thirds of the school ran gaily down the road to the lumber mill to enjoy the antics of the firemen. And since "Fire Prevention Week" started off so auspiciously with a big fire, the girls are looking forward to bigger and better fires this year.

Debate Club

Tryouts for the Debate Club will be held Monday night at 7:00 o'clock P. M. in Room 22.

Those trying out will give a talk of three minutes on either side of the question: Resolved, That the Incoming Class of this year is Superior to Incoming Class of Last Year.

Pi Gamma Mu Has Nine Girls Honored With Membership

The Virginia Gamma chapter of Pi Gamma Mu, national social science honor fraternity, has honored the following girls with election to membership: Virginia Bean, Agnes Bodurant, Mary Louise Francis, Ann Galusha, Virginia Hannah, Evelyn Massey, Lucille Rhodes, Zadia Thomas, Margaret Pollard.

All these girls have shown outstanding ability and interest in the field of social science. The formal initiation took place at 8:30 on Tuesday night in the Honor Room.

SUPPERS AND SMALL PARTIES
Good Breakfast
Dinners
Suppers
College Tea Room
and
LONGWOOD

Choral Club Honors Advisor With Birthday Party

The Choral Club gave a surprise birthday party in honor of Mr. Strick Thursday night at 8:00 o'clock in the Choral Club Room. The program was given over to game, story-telling, and stunts.

The following girls were nominated for election to the program committee: Frances Faris, Julia Rainey, Majorie Woolfolk, Janet Curran, Rose Allen Higginbotham Lois Jenkins, and Pauline Pearson.

After the serving of delightful refreshments, Mr. Strick gave a very instructive talk on the program for the coming year.

The program concluded with Mr. Strick at the piano and the group singing "End of A Perfect Day" and "Just a Song at Twilight."

Sigma Sigma Sigma Holds Convention

Continued from Page 1

business meetings and discussions and the final meeting which was adjourned at eleven o'clock.

Among the prominent people who attended the meetings were: Martha Featherstone, a founder, and Joe Burr, a member of the National Council.

The Alphas present at the convention were: Chic Dortch, Minnie Smith, Frances Hudgins, Mary Bowles, Polyl Ware, Zadia Thomas, Susan Gresham, Florence Sanford, Tib Zimmerman, Margaret Farrar, "Chubby" Gray, Will Scott and Carter Belle Munt.

Work Begin On Annual S. T. C. Circus

Continued from Page 1

Why, I'm so excited I've already begun to have dreams about it. Gee, perhaps I could get some shut-eye if only I knew who the Queen was going to be and how she is going to be presented. I'll stand behind a few more doors and posts and maybe if I'm a good enough sleuth I'll be able to tell you, too.

Famous Symphony at First Lyceum

Continued from page one

vigorous. The one word which appears to be his keynote to both his physical being and his personality is "power".

The report from Harrisonburg State Teachers College, where Kryl's Symphony Band appeared last week, are entirely favorable. It seems that we are indeed having an unusual opportunity in hearing this noted group perform.

Thomas Jokong Chang, of China, showed the rest of the University of Pennsylvania students the way last year. He took two degrees and led all of his classes.

Freshmen Honor Code In Impressive Ceremony

On Tuesday night, one hundred and fifty-seven freshmen and new girls signed the Honor Code in the Student Council Room in a very impressive ceremony.

The rest of the new girls will sign it Wednesday night.

This year this important event has taken place several weeks earlier than usual. An intense study of the Honor Code was made in the Orientation Classes, and every girl learned its significance and the pledge.

Biology Laboratory Has New Electric Wiring

Students in biology are enthusiastic over the fact that their laboratory has new electric wiring. The wiring is arranged so there can be at least two lights to a table section. These lights hang low enough to enable one working with a microscope to have little difficulty in focusing.

Senior Chaperones

In the class meeting Tuesday night, the seniors elected ten chaperones. They are: Tac Waters, Florence Sanford, Helen Boswell, Hazel Smith, Lucy Potter, Louise Gathright, Doris Coates, Agnes Crockett, Elizabeth Huse, and Sue Waldo.

These chaperones have been approved by Miss Mary, and they will accept their responsibility immediately.

STANLEY A. LEGUS
TAILOR
CLEANING
PRESSING
REPAIRING
Phone 203

Farmville Mfg. Co.
BUILDING MATERIALS
MILLWORK
Farmville, Va.

H. M. WELLS CONFECTIONERY
Food for the Parties
Two blocks from College Campus

C. E. Chappell Co.
Visit Us For the Best Fountain Service

Gorgeous Evening dresses in New Chenile Transparent velvet ..... $7.45 and $14.45

Brush Wool Twin Sweaters—in bottle green, rust brown and royal blue ..... $1.97 and $2.97

Beautiful Sport Skirts—solid colors and plaids at $2.94

BE SMART—SHOP AT THE
DOROTHY MAY STORES

EXQUISITE, PERSONAL
ENGRAVED STATIONERY
100 SHEETS
100 ENVELOPES
ENGRAVED
ALL FOR
$2
SEE OUR BEAUTIFUL SAMPLES
The Farmville Herald
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

Gray's Drug Store
PURE DRUGS—MEDICINES
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Quality—Price—Service
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

You Would Love to Have Your Shoes Fixed at
Lovelace Shoe Shop
110 Third Street

Mack's
BARBER AND BEAUTY SHOP
323 Main Street
Phone 360

ROSE'S
5-10-25c Store
School Supplies
Full Fashioned Hosiery
At Popular Prices
Room Furnishings

B uy
U nusual
T reats
C old drinks
H uge cones
E legant fruits
R oasted peanuts
S nappy snacks

EACO THEATRE
Adults, 25c; Children, 15c
Unless Otherwise Noted

Thursday & Friday Oct. 17 & 18
Eleanor Powell
Robert Taylor
Jack Benny
Broadway Melody
Also Molasses and January
Adults 25c and 35c

Sat., Oct. 19 News
Joel McCrea
MAUREEN O'SULLIVAN
"Woman Wanted"
Phil Spitalny and His Sirens of Syncopation

Next Mon.-Tues., Oct. 21-22.
Joan Crawford
BRIAN AHERNE
'I LIVE MY LIFE'
Jack Doyle and Radio Stars
Paramount News
Adults 25c and 35c

Next Wed., Oct. 23
MAUREEN O'SULLIVAN
NORMAN FOSTER
"BISHOP MISBEHAVES"
Chapt. 12 Tom Mix
MIRACLE RIDER

"No man is without fault."
Voltaire

The College World . . .
In Pictures

"One Picture Tells as Much as Ten Thousand Words"

Shutters click . . . flashlights flare . . . cameramen are "Johnny on the spot" wherever and whenever anything of interest to the college student happens . . . to bring to the Editor of Collegiate Digest three thousand pictures every month . . . but of course it is only possible to bring you the best of these . . . in addition to the numerous collegiate features appearing exclusively in Collegiate Digest every week with

STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE ROTUNDA

TRY OUT FOR STAFF

The Rotunda

We Teach To Teach

COME TO THE CIRCUS!

Volume XVI. FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, OCTOBER 23, 1935 No. 4

Lecturer And Poet Presents Program

Nancy Byrd Turner Gives Students Treat

Writer, Lecturer, Poet

At eight o'clock, Friday evening, October 25, Miss Nancy Byrd Turner, lecturer, magazine writer, and poet, will give a program in the College Auditorium to which everybody is invited.

Though Virginian born and bred, Miss Turner's work has won enthusiastic praise both in the North and in the South. Her "Ballad of Lucky Lindberg" has been quoted from coast to coast. In 1930 the New England Poetry Society conferred on her its highest honor, the award of the Golden Rose.

Whether Miss Turner tells of quaint ole niggers from the "Land o' Cotton" or of the magic of childhood, of Browning at an acute angle or of her own experiences as a writer, it is always with a happy humor that crops out in most unexpected places.

Miss Turner has contributed to such magazines as Scribner's, Atlantic Monthly, Good Housekeeping, Poetry Magazine, etc. Her books of poetry are "Riband in My Rein", "Star in a Well", and the children's books, "Magpie Lane" and "Zodiac Town."

Miss Turner comes to Farmville for this sepcial occasion at the Invitation of the Department of English and the group of students who will form the new honor society in English which will be inaugurated during this week-end. Her presence is expected to furnish a happy send-off for the new organization and a literary treat for the whole college.

A. C. P. Convention Held in Chicago

Over three hundred and fifty delegates from approximately 37 states were present at the fourteenth annual meeting of the Associated Collegiate Press, held at the Medinah Club of Chicago October 17-19, 1935.

Virginia publications of Randolph-Macon Womans College, Harrisonburg S. T. C., and Farmville S. T. C. attended the convention.

Sterling North, literary critic of the Chicago Daily News, led the opening convocation., Thursday at 7:15 p. m., with "What the Young Writer Must Face" as his subject.

The program for all delegates also included these speakers: Carroll Binder of the foreign staff of the Chicago Daily News, "News of the World"; Grant Pisen, advertising manager of the Shaeffer Pen Company, "Thoroughness in Editing and Publishing"; Leland Stowe, Paris Correspondent of the New York Herald Tribune, "The European vs. the American Press."

Every representative was the guest of the Alemite Company to hear Horace Heidt and his Alemite Brigadiers broadcast their hour's program Thursday night. Friday night the convention banquet and dance were held in the Grand Ball Room of the Medinah Club. Jimmie Hall, leading man in Hell's Angels directed the floor show, and Charlie Straight and his orchestra furnished the music for the dance.

Editorial, business, newspaper, yearbook, and magazine roundtables were conducted by journalists of various fields. At this time the delegates were given an opportunity to trade their experience with those of fellow delegates.

Continued on page 4

Students Select Outstanding Girls

In order to make the feature section of the 1935-1936 Virginian representative student opinion the staff conducted a ballot in the hall yesterday. Fourteen names appeared on the ballot from which students were asked to select the seven most outstanding girls. The outcome of the vote will not be released until the publication appears in the spring. Nominees for the feature section are: Hazel Smith, Agnes Crockett, Elizabeth Huse, Louise Walmsley, Tac Waters, Lelia Sanford, Florence Sanford, Mary Bowles, Bonnie Lane, Madeline McGlothlin, Margaret Farrar, Margaret Pollard, Margaret Clark and Lucy Potter.

Alpha Phi Sigma Initiates Freshmen And Upperclassmen

The Delta chapter of Alpha Phi Sigma, national honorary fraternity for scholarship, has initiated the following freshmen: Elizabeth Ball, Ruby Bane, Evelyne Beale, Elizabeth Berryman, Margaret Black, Virginia Boyd, Sarah Boyette, Betty Bracey, Helen Bribbs, Margaret Britton, Sarah Button, Pattie Chandler, Louise De Jarnette, Brenda Doggette, Janie Driscoll, Louise Foster, Lovelette Glenn, Thelma Houpe, Cornelia Jeffress, Charlotte Marton, Clara Nottingham, Nannie Mae Parker, Virginia Price, Anne Elizabeth Price, Ruth Snead, Flossie Reynolds, Virginia Ritchie, Mary Rodgers, Earlean Rosser, Mary Sanderson, Geraldine Sandidge, Odessa Shelton, Marguerite Snell, Marjorie Snodgrass, Inez Sykes, Margaret Wilkerson, Elizabeth Wilkinson, Elizabeth Wilson, Nellie Yager, Sarah Buchanan, and Dorothy Rudder.

Upperclassmen who were initiated are: Ruth Phelps, Kathleen Ranson, Will Scott, Virginia Agee, Elizabeth Roberts, Katherine Jamision and Patsy Crockett.

State Department of Education Meets

The State Department of Education held an all day meeting in the Student Lounge today.

The supervisors and principals of the public schools requested that the State Department of Education hold this conference for the purpose of improving the program of instruction as outlined in the new course of study.

This year the regional conference was held to take the place of the regular annual conference which was booked to meet at University of Virginia, but was called off on account of infantile paralysis.

Freshman and Sophomores Receive Bids to Debate Club

Three freshmen, Marjorie Thompson, June Gill, and Isabel Sprinkle, and two sophomores, Mildred Stone and Juanita Callis, have been issued bids to join the Debate Club.

On Monday night, these girls debated, before Dr. Walmsley and a representative group of the Debate Club, the question: "Resolved that the incoming class of '35-'36 is superior to last year's freshman class." The speeches of these girls were approved by a committee of impartial judges.

Honor Fraternity Adds New Circle At Chapel Hill, N. C.

A fourth circle was added to the chapter roll of Alpha Kappa Gamma, national fraternity for leadership, at Chapel Hill, North Carolina, yesterday when representatives of the Joan Circle conducted a formal installation on the University of North Carolina campus. This service was the termination of extensive correspondence and two weeks ago members of Joan Circle interviewed the petitioning group.

For some time there has been an outstanding need for such an organization on that campus to centralize women's activities. Heretofore women's activities have been subordinated to the men's work as the girls are greatly in the minority.

Miss Florence Stubbs, national executive secretary, Tac Waters, president of Joan Circle, Margaret Pollard, vice-president of Joan Circle, Hazel Smith, Jane Royall, and Florence Sanford, editor-in-chief of the Torch Bearer, national publication, were representatives from Farmville at the installation ceremonies.

Seven charter members were initiated at this time. They are: Frances Coffee, Mary Pride Cruikshank, Elen Deppe, Nancy Lawlor, Kay Quigley, Jane Ross, and Harriett Taylor. The unusual enthusiasm shown by this group gives reason to expect the Chapel Hill circle to be a creditable and valuable group.

Apprentices Give "The New Bride"

"The New Bride", a delightful one-act comedy by Lois Howell, was presented as the first Dramatic Club last Thursday.

The cast, composed entirely of newcomers to S. T. C., showed unusual promise and talent for an amateur group.

Marjorie Thompson, vice-president of the Freshman class, played the part of James Vaughan, the secretly married hero. Elsie Dodd played "Pudge," his wife.

Nan Throckmorton cleverly portrayed Ashley Barr, the practical joker who revealed the secret marriage through his unsuccessful pose as Helen, James' sister. Ruth James interpreted Helen, the real sister.

Other members of the cast included Ruth Barlow, playing the

Continued on page 4

English Heads List Of College Majors

English heads the list of majoris in school this year. From the total of 719 students, 108 have chosen English as their major subject. Home economics follows with sixty-three students. Others are as follows: history, fifty-two; mathematics, forty-four; chemistry, fifteen; French, fifteen, biology, thirteen; Latin, nine, social science, six; music, five; general science, three; and Spanish, two.

The education courses are carrying 348 students, 202 in primary work and 147 in elementary work.

Dr. Jarman Sings For the Student Body

The Student Body on Wednesday, Oct. 9th had the pleasure of hearing their president sing several pieces which were familiar to everyone. To the old girls this was a pleasure they had enjoyed many times before and to the new girls who had not heard Dr. Jarman it was a new enjoyment.

Special Committee Directs Campaign For Hospital Fund

A campaign is now on in the area served by the Southside Community Hospital to raise the sum of $10,000. The Commonwealth Fund of New York has offered to build a nurses' home at the hospital at a cost of approximately $35,000 if the community will raise the sum of $5,000. An added $5,-000 is also sought in oredr to put the hospital on a better financial basis.

Dr. J. L. Jarman is chairman of the special campaign committee, and Mr. S. M. Holton, Jr., is directing the campaign in the nine counties of the area. The actual drive will take place from October 31 through November 7. The organization is now being completed.

The counties served by the hospital are the counties of Amelia, Appomattox, Charlotte, Cumberland, Lunenburg, Nottoway,, Powhatan, Prince Edward, and Buckingham.

During the life of the hospital it is interesting to note that counting all free work given, over $170,-000 worth of free work has been given the area. The usefulness of the institution cannot be measured in dollars and cents. One has only to think of the saving of lives, the healing of ills mankind is subject to, the expense saved in time, money, and worry by having a hospital here.

The solicitation of the faculty of State Teachers College is in charge of Miss Florence Stubbs.

George B. Zehmer Speaks At Meeting Of Kappa Delta Pi

Mr. George B. Zehmer, director of the Extension Department at the University of Virginia, will speak at the first open meting of Kappa Delta Pi, national honor fraternity in Education, tomorrow night at 8 p. m. in the Recreation Hall. Mr. Zehmer has selected for the topic of his address "Certain Phases of Adult Education of Particular Interest to Public School Teachers." The student body and faculty are cordially invited to attend. Mr. Zehmer is an outstandingly interesting lecturer, and his subject which covers relief work in education is a pertinent one.

S. T. C. Rats Receive Caps from Sophs

To the tune of "Green and White" the freshmen filed into the gymnasium Monday night to receive their rat caps from the high and mighty sophomores.

To a chord on the piano, each low and humble rat knelt before a sophomore by whom she was crowned. After each freshman had been crowned she was reminded by the sophomore class president that the caps must be worn until Christmas, unless the freshmen won the hockey game at Thanksgiving.

After this most serious and solemn occasion, the sophomores and freshmen together led by Made-

Continued on page 4

Gertrude Levy Gives Oration on 'The Coming Open Forum'

The Debate Club presented a program in the little auditorium last Thursday night with Dr. Walmsley presiding. The program was divided into two parts.

For the first part Gertrude Levy gave an oration on "The Coming "Open Forum" on "The Constitutional Amendment" was held. Those speaking were, Agnes Bondurant, Margaret Pollard, Virginia Hook, Dudley Allen, and Louise Frances. After the speeches the audience held open discussion.

Plans For Circus Almost Complete

Biology Department Collects Herbarium

The Biology Department of S. T. C. is fast collecting plants for a herbarium. At present it has in it 487 classified ferns and flowering plants, 100 of which have been checked by Professor Fernald of Harvard.

The object of the department is to collect and catalogue every common plant in Prince Edward county. The department is working with the State Floral Committee, which will check the collection when it is complete.

The process of preparing and classifying the plant is one which requires time and care. The plant is first ararnged carefully on a mat of newspapers and then covered by more newspapers. This pile of paper is placed between two latticed frames of wood, and along with other specimens, placed under a press to remain until dry. During the drying period, the pressure is increased. The plant is then mounted. This folder is filed in a herbarium cabinet.

One hundred of these plants were collected by Mrs. G. W. Jeffries and indigenous to Newfoundland.

Juniors Win Prize In Water Carnival

The water carnival in which many S. T. C. mermaids participated last Thursday night was one of the most colorful events of the season. There was much competition between the classes for the prize which the Juniors captured with their chain dive and fire works in the water. Some more of their stunts (these Juniors certainly have tumbled their way through college). The Freshmen upheld the standards set by their sister class and swam off with second prize, the reward for their original negro baptismal stunt. The Sophomores marched into honorable mention to the strains of "Mr. and Mrs. is the Name". Their water wedding was quite effective and very cleverly enacted. The Seniors held high a fashion parade presenting styles from 180 to 1940. Each model was dressed according to the period she represented and gave the spectators quite a good laugh.

After these stunts, many bright-colored ballons were thrown into the pool and the swimmers gally dived in and splashed after them in high carnival spirit, each trying to capture as many as she could.

French Students Present Papers to Beta Pi Theta

The Pi Zeta chapter of Beta Pi Theta, national French honor fraternity, heard and approved two papers presented on October 17 by Izell Houck and Margaret Carroll.

One requirement for membership in Beta Pi Theta is that each candidate write and present a paper in French before the members of the local chapter. The papers and candidates who were received as pledges last Thursday by the Pi Zeta chapter are Izell Houck of the class of 1936 who read her paper on "La Socie'te' Francaise du Dix-septie'me Sie'cle" and Margaret Carroll, a junior who read an original critical essay on "Anatole France." These girls will be formally initiated on November 7.

Izell and Margaret have both dont outstanding work in the field of modern languages since their matriculation in college.

Student Body Holds Election of Queen Today

Plans are almost completed for one of the most thrilling events of the year—the S. T. C. circus.

On Saturday night, October 26, the circus will get underway in the big gymnasium at eight o'clock This will be a gala night for all S. T. C. students and especially for the freshmen who have never before witnessed a collegiate circus.

The election of the circus queen, who will reign over the festivities of the evening, was held today. Addie Norfleet of the Senior Class, Mary Bowles of the Junior Class, Nancy Uobst of the Sophomore Class, and Betty Fagg of the Freshman Class were candidates for this honor. The result of the election will not be revealed until Saturday night when the chosen queen is coronated.

From all reports the chairmen and committees are doing their best to have things in splendid order by Saturday night. The cooperation of the students has been good and if the rehearsals are well attended the circus should be a success.

Competition among classes and individuals is rampant since the members of each class selling the greatest number of tickets will be given free admission to all booths and side-shows.

The classes are sponsoring unique stunts and booths and aside from these attractions there will be additional side-shows and features. The circus-goers can not only witness the above mentioned but also see strange animals, eat hot-dogs, meet their favorite movie stars, and dance with their best boy-friends.

Schedule practice for the circus during the remainder of the week is as follows:

Wednesday

Freshmen ..... 7:30 P. M.
Sophomores .... 8:00 P. M.
Juniors ..... 8:30 P. M.
Seniors ..... 9:00 P. M.

On Thursday night there will be a mass rehearsal. Miss Wheeler will be present to help in the presentation of the stunts and in other necessary arrangements. Everyone must be there on time and in costume.

Admission for school children and college girls and boys will be ten cents. Outsiders will be charged fifteen cents.

True Art Leaves Indelible Stamps

The student body and faculty of S. T. C. will remember Bohumier Kyrl as an unrivalled conductor and world famous cornetist. He has been recognized by musicians of world fame. The Los Angeles Times called him the most remarkable cornetist in the world. His superb Symphony Band is comprised of an exceptional personnel of artists.

This symphony band is now entering up its thirty-first consecutive season, during which period it has given over twelve thousand concerts and has traveled over one million miles. The fact that the concerts are fully appreciated is demonstrated by the many repeat-engagements year after year, in colleges and universities. In recent years "Kyrl and his Symphony Band" have appeared in more than one hundred colleges and universities annually.

"Mr. Kyrl knows how to blend art and entertainment, how to win

Continued on page 4

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Published by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

1935 Member 1936
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

Staff

Florence Sanford ..... Editor
Agnes Bondurant ..... Associate Editor
Evelyn Massey ..... Business Manager

Board of Editors

Miss Jane Royall ..... Alumnae
Katherine Hoyle ..... Make-up
Susan Gresham ..... Headlines
Emma Bingham ..... Literary
Bess McGlothlin, Elizabeth Morris, Mary Adeline McGlothlin ..... Editorials
Claire Eastman ..... World News
Margaret Fraley ..... Socials
Kathleen Ranson ..... Sports

Proof Readers

Elizabeth Walton, Dorothy Deans

Managers

Elsie Cabell ..... Circulation
Ruth Phelps ..... Asst. Circulation
Louise Gathright ..... Asst. Circulation

Assistants and Reporters

Virginia Agee, Mary Joyner Cox, Alice Nelson, Claudia Harper, Minnie Smith, Elizabeth Carroll, Willis Scott, Bonnie Lane.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 23, 1935

The House Council

Soon the House Council will be installed and the installation ceremony should bring to our minds more clearly the importance of this organization. Perhaps the most important phase of work of this Council, other than seeing that lights are out at their proper times, is to preserve quiet on the halls and in the rooms during study hour. We have every other hour of the day in which we can visit; so, visiting should not be an excuse for roaming noisily about the halls from 7:30 to 10:00.

Quiet for study is absolutely essential during these hours. Because there are numbers of meetings, conferences, and other extra-curricular activities that demand a great part of our time, we must accomplish much in the shortest time possible—during study hour. For every girl to concentrate on her studies requires freedom from noise. The Hall and House Presidents cannot promote this quiet alone. They must have the cooperation of every girl, because the presidents, too, need study hour.

When we go to the library, let us go quietly and return to our rooms in the same manner. Let us have absolute respect for "Busy" signs; let us study in our own rooms as much as possible; and let us have regard for those who are busier than we. By observing these few things, we can help the House Council accomplish its purpose. It is for the good of the individual as well as for the group.

School Loyalty

Over and over again school loyalty becomes the subject of comment and criticism, but it is such a vital thing with us here at S. T. C. that "over and over again" isn't too much. The spirit of our institution must be maintained.

We would call attention to the demonstration of our youngest classes on the campus Monday evening. The sophomores were taking their last shot at the freshmen, when they put on Rat Caps. In the course of events, the class songs were called for, but to the chagrin of those present the "Green and White" couldn't even be started, and after one or two phrases the "Red and White" trailed off in a miserable whisper.

The point of our remarks isn't scathing and condemning but a word to the wise to check ourselves. Let's not wait until someone else checks us. The hockey games are coming on. Class competition will be met at every turn. Let us not be careless about those games or in anything we undertake. Lets make thoroughness the keynote of all we undertake.

New Types of Problem Students

The Richmond News Leader published an interesting article in the field of education when it gave evidence, as given by Richmond High School authorities, of a new type of problem child—a type that is a result of the depression. According to the News-Leader. "These are students who, in normal times, would find employment in business and industry at the close of their elementary or junior high school course, but now, unable to obtain work of any kind, continue into high school through the insistence of their parents."

These children present two types of problems, discipline and disinterest in academic work. They stop school to work on just any type of job they can get.

This type of student is not confined, however, to Richmond schools. Then there and elsewhere is a third problem type of student today. A great many schools have large numbers of students returning to school after graduation to mark time until they can afford to go to college or can get a job.

It behooves us who are in school to work out plans as to how to meet this triangular problem when we go out into the State as teachers.

Relief?

Is relief too great, too little, or about right is the question that the American Institute of Public Opinion has been asking the citizens all over the United States.

"Relief spending is too great" is the opinion of 60 per cent of the people, voting in the poll conducted last week by the American Institute of Public Opinion is nonper cent of the citizens said "too little" and 31 per cent, "about right."

. It is likely that the opinion expressed in this poll is rather representative of the citizens of the United States since the American Institeu of Public Opinion is a nonpartisan fact-finding organization. However, it is impossible to know the popularity of Roosevelt by the people's opinion in just one of his policies.

Will he take timely warning and decrease relief spending? Is the Federal relief money to be cut off this winter as many rumors indicate.

If actual relief money is cut off, will recovery stop, is another question that arises. Undoubtedly there is greater prosperity throughout the country as a result of New Deal policies. but it is hard to tell whether this prosperity is superficial or not. It may be that with direct relief cut off, conditions will fall back to their earlier depressed state.

Relief spending will undoubtedly be the topic of one of the issues in the coming presidential election. Is Mr. Roosevelt as the coming president more popular than relief-spending? Let us hope so!

"It is a cold and unwelcoming world that our young people are entering," 'declared Aubrey W. Williams, executive director of National Youth Administration, in an address before the Welfare Council of New York City. "It offers them little or nothing, though they have much to give it if allowed the chance."

"But I believe we can work our social and economic problems out," Mr. Williams added, "so that young people will have the opportunities they deserve, so that they will be able to spend their younger lives preparing their minds and acquiring the tools with which to met life."

Rotunda Reverberations

We nomniate for oblivion: Addie Norfleet because of her vast persuasive powers; the tea room because ice cream and chocolate sauce is no longer ten cents; the new curriculum because its so easy to understand; Dr. Walmsley's economic tests—they make seniors think.

For the hall of fame we suggest: Gertrude Levy by merit of her oratorical abilities; Louise Walmsley because of her dynamic power to draw the student body to circus practices; Maxie Burks for her persistency in stimulating interest in archery; Florence Tankard because she gets so much sleep—Winnie Goodman and Jean Willis are no slouches in this art.

Got your ticket yet? I'll see you at the circus.

The freshman commission of the Y. W. C. A. was elected by members of the class at the meeting last night. The commissioners are: Henrietta Ivens, Nancy Gray, Dibby Green, Dorothy Adkins, Doris Adkins, Sue Adams, Sara Button, Margaret Scott, Selma West, iKtty Brooks, Mary Jockson, Anne Dugger. Elizabeth Shiplett of the junior class will act as freshman councellor this year.

From all evidence Rat Court last Wednesday night, it seems that Kitty Fitzgerald has demoted herself to become a member of the sophomore class.

We wonder what will be the next thing to put the freshmen before the eyes of th public—rat week is ended.

Don't worry Bonnie, we're sure if you keep working everything will turn out fine.

We also wonder what will serve as a motive for the storm after the circus—We must have our storms.

At Other Colleges

According to a peace ballot conducted at the University of Australia, Sydney Australia, 559 students would enlist in the military forces in event of war, 589 would not, and 207 would not know what to do. A majority favored economic sanctions against an aggressor prohibition of private manufacture of arms, and abolition of compulsory military training in schools and colleges.

A Colorado Uunversity student caught drinking is forced to attend Sunday school for three years. Yes, every Sunday!

Probably the most unique scholarhsip in America is offered by Hamilton College. Worth $500, it is open to all men in America by the name of Leavenworth.

The University of Texas will in time become the richest institution of learning in the world. It owns two million acres of land that will yield oil and precious metals.

Cadets at West Point recently staged the first pacifistic walk-out. Having signed a pledge not to engage in offensive or defensive wars, they further stated: "We are really nice boys, and the thought ran up and down our spines. We are petitioning the government for pop-guns to replace these wicked Springfields. But we want to keep our uniforms so the girls will like us."

Some smart lad at New York University has found a new way to crib. It seems that notes written on spectacles or watch-crystals in grapefruit juice become visible when breathed upon.

At Ohio State University a big blaze broke out in the women's dormitory, and firemen found the charred end of a cigaret on the spot where the fire began. But the university rules say there can be no smoking in the dormitory. What a predicament! The official report attributed the fire to a "Cigaret which blew into the building."

World News

Great Britain Fleets Remain In Mediterranean

In spite of a display of an explicit understanding with France and also despite the sudden tranquility of the Ethiopian-Italian situation, Great Britain still continues to keep her battle fleet in the Mediterranean.

As a basis for this decision, authorities have reported that a settlement of the Ethiopian-Italio question has not even advanced Even the diplomatic controversies now in progress at Rome and Paris have offered no form of conclusion as to the result. Reports from Great Britain affirmed, without proof, of course, that there is a large notch between Il Duce's requirements of Ethiopia and terms which the League would accept. The League of Nations' sanctions Committee of Eighteen Nations, however, approved Britain's plan for a "buy nothing from Italy" boycott and mutual assistance of league states which are disturbed by percussions of the sanctions.

Great Britain maintains, however, that her action is solely for the purpose of correcting a perilous misunderstanding with Italy. The world is anxiously awaiting the result of Anglo-Italy communique ensemble.

Italians Free African Slaves And Desire to Enforce Trade Drive

At last General Emilon DeBono, commander-in-chief of the Fascist forces in East Africa at Italian army headquarters on the Northern front, has made known to the world that Italy has abolished slavery and liberated slaves in Ethiopian territory, subdued by Italians.

Besides facing the slavery problem, Italy decided in favor of a drive for trade abroad, taking into consideration a decree to force exportation of silk. This decree provided for a silk requisition at 10 per cent to promote holders of silk stocks to market them abroad.

It has been reported that the intention was to inspire the sluggish industry, and the world appears most interested.

A Freshman View of "Rat Week"

We all know Rat Week is no innovation but a custom so well established that it is almost as old as the college. It is the annual spin of sopohomores to celebrate their promotion and an attempt to seek revenge for the many restrictions and indignities they suffered last year. Rat Week makes a freshman feel for the first time that she really is some body.

She is the center of attraction and that flatters anyone. More than any of these it is the first official welcome a freshman has into college life. During Rat Week she feels that she has really arrived and it is really the beginning of that feeling of loyalty and devotion to our college and its traditions so strong in our alumnae.

It is a period of real education experienced only once. Many of us learned for the first time that a dress was more becoming backwards than on the way the designer intended. Shades of our mothers and grandmothers! Some freshmen did not know how to braid hair and Aunt Lucy was called to the rescue.

For the first time we have seen the real girl sans paint, sans curls, in fact as Mrs. Wiggs told Lovely Mary, "Plain as the Lord intended them to be." This has been a real revelation to most of us and afforded much amusement to upperclassmen even if it was at the expense of the freshman.

Frankly, there isn't anything quite so fresh as a fresh rat but honestly, do you think there is really any cure? If a freshman may be so presumptious as to venture an opinion, may we say that we think Rat Week a great institution? More power to the sophomores!

Ralph Davis, application for Sunday movies was rejected at Lexington. After having a show on Sunday he was arrested. He claimed that the students of W. & L., and V. M. I. would be better occupied in the theatre than wasting time.

Nancy B. Turner

Opinions About

"Nancy Byrd Turner, author and poet, gave one of the most entertaining lectures of the session, as she regaled her audience with anecdotes of her experiences in writing verse."—Concord (N. H.) "Monitor."

"Gaiety and humor punctuated her talk. She read her well known poem, 'Ballad of Lucky Lindbergh'."—Rutland (Vt.) "Herald."

"Thoroughly delightful was the talk of Miss Nancy Byrd Turner at the Saturday Club."—The Suburban and Wayn (Pa.) Times.

The honor guest of the evening was Miss Nancy Byrd Turner — who enchanted her audience by her delightful interpretations of her own poems."—Art Alliance Magazine—Phila.

Her lectures nearly always include her experiences at writing poetry, and they are delightful—a real treat.

A variety is shown in both subject and treatment as a few of her poems show.

Star in a Well

Once long ago in a rebellious moment,
On a hot noon noisy and bright,
I thrust my chin over the well's edge, cupping
Both eyes from the harsh light.
And saw what all rule and reason forbade my seeing—
Immeasurably deep and far,
Riding clear on the face of the perilous water
An unmistakable star . . .
And was caught back hard to the glare of common day,
Speechless, and blinking under
Charm'd lids, a pulse quick in my throat,
My blood singing with wonder,—
Incredulous of the sun or burnished roofs,
Red dust and tinselled grass,—
Who had looked on what might never be, and yet
Past peradventure, was.
And in every gourdful of water thereafter
I found
Flecks of gold, and, walking wise, elate
With secret knowledge, partook of the sacrament daily
At my father's gate.

Death Is a Door

Death is only an old door
Set in a garden wall.
On quiet hinges it gives at dusk
When the late birds cal.

Along the lintel are green leaves;
Beyond, the light lies still;
Very weary and willing feet
Go over that sill.

There is nothing to trouble any heart,
Nothing to hurt at all,—
Death is only an old door
In a garden wall.

War Talk

We talk, and talk, and talk; our seething words
Are beaten into cannon balls and swords.
And presently a million boys lie dead
With all the words they had to say, unsaid.

No Loveliness Is Ever Lost

No loveliness is ever lost.
No dream is ever dreamed in vain;
Whatever comes of grief or pain,
However life's long trails are crossed—
The ancient ecstacies return,
The old winds walk again,
The old stars burn.

The rainbow lifts an endless arc,
One crocus blossom shakes its gold
Down many an autumn hour's cold:
For fireshine blesses many a dark;
And when the heart is sad and mute,
Still echoes as of old
One violin's flute.

A student at the University of Chicago questioned his professor about a certain author. After vigorously attacking the author, the professor learned that the author was the father of the student.

SOCIALS

Strange as it may seem, S. T. C. society seems to do more globe-trotting with the passage of each week-end and nothing shows it more plainly than their going to dances. Those who went to the dances at V. P. I. last week-end were: Anne Johnson, Elizabeth Green, Jess Holland, Virginia Tillman, Frances Yester and Virginia Kite.

Those who so-journeyed to Richmond last wek-end were: Audrey Clements, Grace Harris, Catherine Smoot, Martha Williams, Florence Tankard, Virginia Smith, Gertrude Levy, Ann Pohlig, Margaret Scott, Margaret Thorp and Frances Britton.

The ole home town never ceases to call. Those who went home for the wek-end were: Army Butterworth, Betty Butterworth, Lucy Baskerville, Yetive Davison, Richie Ellis, Blanche Ellis, Katherine Galusha, Victoria Gillette, Helen Gage, Edith Hart, Bessie Hart, Elizabeth Hart, Gene Hatchett, Maude Jones, Edith Kaylor, Gladys Major, India Martin, Sue Mallory, Catherine Morrison, Nannie Mae Parker, Lucy Potter, Sara Parker, Livian Powell, Mary Lee Powell, Eurlean Rosser, Elizabeth Roberts, Elizabeth Rucker, Athlea Reed, Lucy Smith, Annie Leigh Bailey, Mary Lynn Thomas, Jane Burke, Ruth Boaz, Ruby Blanton, Virginia Boyd, Lucille Ware, Della Pope Chambliss, Elizabeth Tyree, Margaret Russell, Cornelia Penn, Anna Ramsey, Elisabeth Puckett, Amy Cunningham, Lelia Hall, Cornelia Jeffries, Mary FrancesMae Putney, Evelyn Hastings, Frances Hastings, Elizabeth Moss, Ellenah Bradshaw, Katherine Carlton, Edna Walden, Anne Scales, Lety Bagwell, Audrey Wilson, Louise DeJarnett, Dorothy Rudder, Ethel McPherson, Katherine Cox, Emily Channell, Francis Channell, Virginia Lee, Dorothy Bagby, Katherine Sawyer, Anne Kelly, Francis Steed, Evelyn and Erna Dickerson, Betty Fagg, Katherine Cox, Evelyn Holmes, and Clara Hailey.

Among those who ventured to other places were:

Lynchburg: Edith Nichols, Doris Johnson, Billy Wilkerson, Mary Virginia Walker, Jennie Rock.

Charlottesville: Copeland Johnson, Mary Elizabeth Minor.

Arvonia: Florence Jeffrey.

Hopewell: Virginia Kempt.

Fredericksburg: Ada Virginia Pollock, Caroline Willis.

Clover :Louise Francis, Mrs. B. G. Burch.

Danville: Dorothy Adkins, Doris Adkins, Louise Anthony, Mabel Burton, Jane Holland, and Margaret Aldredge.

Roanoke: Dorothy Buckland, Nancy Gray, Charlotte Minton, Hazel Smith, Elizabeth Huse, and Estelle Foutz.

South Boston: Emma Easley, Margaret Crenshaw.

Prince George: Elizabeth Barnard.

Norton: Elizabeth Roberts spent last week-end in Norton where she atended the wedding of her brother.

Norfolk: Catheryn Cox, Casell Schools.

Roxboro, N. C.: Anna Catherine Love, Margaret Critcher.

Troutville: Mary Jane Pendleton.

Lexington: Frances Hutcheson, Elizabeth Wilson, Kathleen McCann, Tac Waters, Shirley Zimmerman.

King George: Rose Marie Hunter.

Salem: Katherine Hurt, Nellie Fierpont and Marion Hambborough.

Chicago: Florence Sanford, Lelia Sanford and Evelyn Massey.

Social Sorority News

The following old girls received sorority bids Friday, October 18th, after a week of rushing:

Sigma Sigma Sigma

Rose Puller, South Hill, Va.

Gamma Theta

Elizabeth Butler, Norfolk, Va.

Pi Kappa Sigma

Annie Lee Bailey, Wakefield, Va.
Charlotte Rice, Roanoke, Va.

Alpha Sigma Tau

Margaret Carroll, Portsmouth, Va.

Alice Grainger Enterains Students of the College

In Student Day Chapel last Wednesday the Student Body had the pleasure of hearing Alice Grainger play the flute accompanied by Miss Lisabeth Purdom. The program was thoroughly enjoyed by all present and we are proud to claim Alice as one of our students.

Responding to the invitations issued to all students studying French, about twenty-five girls met Monday night "en famille" in the choir room. They sang songs and enjoyed a social hour, using their newly-acquired knowledge of the French language.

Many S. T. C. Girls Attend H.-S. Pan-Hellenics

Hampden-Sydney Pan-Hellenic dances were held at the Comity Club October 18 and 19. S. T. C. girls who attended and their escorts were:

Annie Leigh Bailey, Alex Dickerson; Virginia Bean, Jordan Temple; Mary Bowles, Billy Hoppstetter; Margaret Britton, Arley Hamon; Elizabeth Butler, Jack Romm; Mary Joyner Cox, Tommy Atkins; Virginia Doughty, Bruce Franz; Mary Denny, De Mott Robertson; Margaret Dorsch, C. B. Babbitt; Eleanor Dodson, Jack Earman; Adelaide Dressler, E. R. Elliot; Vera Ebel, George Rady; Margaret Fraley, Edward Evans; Alpha Garnett, Garnett Acree; Jennie Belle Gilliam, Bill Jeffries; Virginia Hall, John Keyon; Ann Hardy, Donny Morton; Eugenia Jolly, Billy Bandford; Ruth James, Spencer Wilson; Pattie Jeffries, D. P. Redd; Pauline Jones, Johnnie Walden; Bonnie Lane, Norman Custis; Kathleen McCann, Henry Snead; Bess McGlothlin, Jack Bishop; M. A. McGlothlin, Morton Barber; Frances Maxey, Billy Willis; Ruth Montgomery, Vernon Spratley; Carter B. Munt, Fred Williams; Page Nottingham, F. C. Ebel; Martha Nottingham, Dave Rice; Anne Pegle, Gene Caldwell; Margaret Pittard, Toppey Squires; Buck Pleasants, C. V. Montgomery; Isabel Plummer, Fred Robertson; Rose Puller, Soap Orgain; Dot Robertson, Jack Bowman; Nan Seward, O. B. Watson; Ellen Simmerman, Johnny Ferry; Florence Tankard, Jack Norman; Mary Lynn Thomas, W. D. Temple; Nan Throckmorton, June Irby; Marjorie Woolfolk, Tom Noble; Mary H. Vaughn, Lundy Barclay; Elizabeth Morris, Jimmie Price.

OPEN FORUM

Dear Editor,

The S. T. C. library has a definite purpose of serving every girl in this student body. At present there are many ways by which we can help the librarian and her assistants toward rendering better service to everyone.

It seems that we are old enough to know how to take care of college property. No one should feel that she is a privileged character, for after all we are fitting ourselves for group life. The person in society who tries to climb the ladder of success by downing his fellow-man will soon find himself friendless.

One does not have to sit in the reading room five minutes before she hears silly giggles or loud whispering. More noise is sometimes made in rising from one chair than should be made in an entire day. It is a rare thing to find the newspapers in their proper places. For instance, the News Leader will be over on the rack on which the Farmville Herald should be placed. It is not the duty of the librarian or her assistants but the duty of every student to see to this matter.

Another matter of grave importance is the one concerning clipping articles and pictures from the newspapers and magazines. I repeat that the library is supposed to serve every student. The only way in which this purpose can be attained is by students refraining from getting clippings and tearing our pictures. By asking at the desk you can have clippings reserved for you after the papers have been taken from the reading room.

And last, a lot of unnecessary fines and hard feelings could be remedied by student asking for information at the desk. And just remember that "Ignorance of the law excuses no man."

A Student

Among Our Alumnae

In regard to Carrie Hunter as a community force in the old Normal School back in 1911, the director of student teaching said, "This is Miss Hunter's natural fort". He struck the quality which in the course of the next quarter of a century was to place Mrs. Carrie Hunter Willis at the head of the Fourth District of the Virginia Federation of Women's Clubs in October 1934, and on the list of one hundred most prominent women in Virginia published in the Richmond Times-Dispatch during the summer of 1935.

Coming to Farmville from Appomattox after a brief attendance at Winthrop College, Miss Hunter soon took a prominent place among the four hundred students here back in the years from 1908 to 1911. After graduation she became critic teacher of the Third Grade at Fredericksburg and a year later she married the superintendent of the Fredericksburg schools, Mr. Marion Gordon Willis, now deceased. She has a son and a daughter, Miss Caroline Willis who has just come to Farmville as a freshman this fall.

Though Mrs. Willis "belongs to everything in Fredericksburg", D. A. R., Colonial Dames, U. D. C., etc., etc., she has found time in her busy life to write three successful books on history for children. Her "Story of Virginia" is studied by the Children of the Fourth grade throughout Virginia. Her "Early Days in Virginia" is a popular historical reader for primary grades; and "Those Who Dared", a collection of biographies, is now being brought out by the University of North Carolina Press.

Mrs. Willis stands out in civic and club life among the women of Virginia by reason of the same qualities which made her a leader at Farmville, and for which the College has always stood. Having a vivid and interesting personality, the courage of her convictions, industry, energy, and keen human understanding, she has remained always loyal to the College and its best ideals. She is a honor to her Alma Mater.

"Sing" Presents Freshman's Conception of Heaven

"Sing", Saturday night presented the freshmen's conception of heaven. Ruth James, Nancy Selman, and Jean Taylor, three freshmen, sat upon golden thrones and were ministered unto by four humble sophomores, Elsie Green, Susan Lane, Nellwyn Latimer and Julia Anne Waldo. These sophomore slaves brought forth entertainment for the three queens and the head queen, Sarah Hayes. The first was a trio, made up of Frances Bryan, Alberta Faris, and Dorothy Dyson, accompanied at the piano by Nancy Lipscomb; the latter three girls were visitors from Crewe, Virginia. Dorothy Bay, a visitor from Raleigh, North Carolina, gave a modernistic tap dance.

College Gets Song

Madison, Wis.—"On, Wisconsin," one of the most famous college songs in America, will become the property of the University of Wisconsin for the first time since it was written more than 20 years ago unless legal obstacles intervene.

Carl Beck, New York, former Wisconsin student, wrote the words for the song in 1909, and the music was written by W. T. Purdy. Purdy died in 1918.

Beck has declared that "On, Wisconsin," called by John Philip Sousa "the most stirring, enthusiastic college melody I have ever heard," will be given to the University in 1937, when the present copyright expires. The song was published by a Milwaukee music firm, and neither Beck nor Purdy ever profited materially from it.

Gone But Not Forgotten Is Story Of "Rat" Week

Gone but not forgotten is the story of Rat Week. S. T. C. freshmen have reverted to the accepted styles of dresses and make-up which are so much less jarring to those which they had to follow for three days.

The program carried out this year worked to good advantage. All ratting was concentrated into three days instead of the usual six, and interest was kept tense the whole time. The freshman class, as a whole, gracefully succumbed to the power of the sophomores who held the upper hand.

Rat Court on Wednesday night was a spirited termination for the hazing procedures. The audience took a lively part, calling out comical stunts for the thoroughly harassed rats to perform, booing or cheering according to the impression made. The court, a wierd looking and determined group acted as commanders and judges of the final show of freshie talent and intellect. Each judge was effectively attired in more or less artistically draped bed clothes and variously colored masks. Most of the defendants had the appropriate air of bewildered embarrassment, but a few clung to the cocky irritating freshness. The last gesture of sophomore to freshman was the reading of the court decision in which the rats were found guilty of good sportsmanship and of fine spirit. The verdict included the names of those members of the class who were convicted of being the best sports of the week. They were: Betsy Blanton, Janet Curran, Dibby Green, Sarah Hayes, Charlotte Minton, Nan Throckmorton, Dot Tillet and Caroline Willis.

Radio Highlights

On Wednesday night Lowell Thomas comes on the air at 6:45 over WJZ. He brings you the latest news flashes from all over the world. You can hear him every night except Sunday. Kate Smith can be heard over WABC at 7:30 and Wayne King comes on at 8:30 over WEAF. Lily Pons with her lovely soprano voice broadcasts at 9:30 from the same station. Just before you retire for night Ray Noble and his orchestra play over WEAF at 10:30.

At 7:30 Thursday night Kate Smith sings again over WABC. Following this you can hear Rudy Valee every Thursday night from station WEAF. Glen Gray plays a half hour of delightful music for us at 9:00 over WABC. There seems to be plenty of good music on the air Thursday night. Tune in on Paul Whiteman's music hall at 10:00 playing over WEAF. Over WABC at 11:00 Guy Lombardo comes on the air.

Ruth Etting and Red Nichols are featured on the Kellogg College Prom program at 8:30 Friday night. Tune in on WJZ if you think you might get some good pointers from this. At 9:00 over WABC Dick Powell and his sketch with Frances Langford, who made a hit in "Broadway Melody of 1936" will be heard. Over this same program Groucho, Harpo, and Chic Marx in scenes from "A Night at the Oera" can be enjoyed. WEAF presents the Mills Brothers whom we never tire of, and Red Nichols at 10:30.

The football scores are broadcast at 6:45 Saturday night over WABC. The Hit Parade featuring Lennie Hayton's orchestra comes on at 8:00 over WEAF. How can we resist Guy Lombardo at 10:30 broadcasting from WABC?

Sunday night, Jack Benny comes on the air from WJZ at 7:00. He also made a big hit in "Broadway Melody of 1936". Ozzie Nelson at 7:30, Major Bowes Amateur Hour at 8:00 and Wayne King at 10:00 are programs it would be hard to miss on Sunday nights.

Beck has declared that "On, Wisconsin," called by John Philip Sousa "the most stirring, enthusiastic college melody I have ever heard," will be given to the University in 1937, when the present copyright expires. The song was published by a Milwaukee music firm, and neither Beck nor Purdy ever profited materially from it.

Sodalitas Latina Has Meeting October 10

Sodalitas Latina held its first regular meeting Thursday, October 10, at 4:15 o'clock in the Language Room. The meeting was called to order by Elizabeth Shipplett, president. She welcomed the new members and told the old members to try to get more new members for the club this year.

The program included a talk on the Ethiopian situation, by Miss Rice; classical happenings in Virginia, Katherine Milby; two hundred thousandth celebration of Horace's birth, Dorothy Deans; no nation is clean enough to censure Italy (Irvin S. Cobb), Ruth Phelps, and the singing of "Te Cano Patria" by the group.

Conoco Gas and Oil
Fill up at
JOHNS MOTOR CO.
Farmville, Va.

Electric Shoe Shop
It's smart to buy good shoes and then keep them repaired

Martin the Jeweler
College & Fraternity Jewelry
Gifts of lasting remembrance
317 MAIN ST. FARMVILLE

Southside Drug Store
Films Developed
F R E E
Try our tasty lunches

Shannon's
Is Headquarters for the Best
SANDWICHES
—and—
DRINKS
in Farmville

GILLIAM'S
Refreshments fo the Girls
One block from the campus
Let us supply your next "feast"

TAXI TAXI
Jitney Rides Day or Night Service
"Service that Counts"
H. M. WELLS, Day Phone 344
Night Phone 54M

RICE'S SHOE STORE
Street and Dress Shoes
Dancing Slippers Dyed
Correct fits our specialty

R. E. FISCHER
Radio Repairing
Formerly with Martin the Jeweler
PHONE 244M OR 283

Planters Bank and Trust Company
COMPLIMENTS
FARMVILLE, VA.

WILLIS
The Florist
Flowers for all occasions
PHONES 181-273

Kleanwell
CLEANERS AND TAILORS
Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling ladies garments
Main Street, opposite Post Office
Phone 98

TUSSY
RICH CREAM
"Gives" your skin a lot. Truly enriches it so it loses that starved old look, and takes on new tempting softness and bloom. A grand night cream, for wrinkles, roughness, dryness, scaling.
Toilet Goods Counter—$1, $1.75, $3.00

BALDWIN'S
QUALITY · PRICE · SERVICE STORE
"The Style Shop for Ladies"
FARMVILLE, VA.

PHILCO RADIO
World's largest manufacturers of Radio
A complete line
Watch Repairing a Specialty
Sheet Music—Strings for Instruments
LYNN, The Main Street Jeweler

LOVELY SPORT COATS—$9.95 and $16.50, with new Fish-tail backs—Gorgeous Plaids.
SPort Oxfords and Dress Shoes, sizes 3 to 9
Widths from "AAA" to "C" ..... $2.95 and $3.95
YOU WILL LIKE TO SHOP HERE!

HUB DEPARTMENT STORE

Sport Slants

Anyone interested in trying out for the varsity hockey squad will please be present on the athletic field on Thursday, October 24th at five o'clock. The varsity hockey squad will be picked at that time. Come on out freshmen and new girls, as well as old players. There are some vacancies left from last year. Maybe you will be the very played to fit in. Give yourself a chance. Beginners are not judged in comparison to upperclassmen but on how much ability they show. Be sure to get in the two practices a week which are required for class squads, and be on the field at five o'clock sharp Thursday. The dates for the annual hockey tournament for varsity players are to be on November 8 and 9 at Williamsburg, Va.

So far the tennis tournament has been run off splendidly. The following matches have been played. A. Butterworth vs Sears, Butterworth (6-1) (8-10) (7-5); Threekmorton vs Massey, Massey, Badger vs Conyers, Badger (6-4) (6-2); J. Carroll vs. Nelson, Carroll, (6-1) (8-6); Cabell vs Gwatlney, Cabell (default); McConanghey vs. Montague, McConnaughey (default);; Wright vs. Dunnington, Wright; Eason vs. Robeson, Eason; B. Butterworth vs .Button, Butterworth (6-2) (6-2); Wills vs. Ranson, Ranson (6-0) (6-0); Lewis vs. Dugger, Dugger (6-4) (6-3).

Ping pong has been added to Farmville's list of sports. It will be played in room adjoining "rec". It is a splendid recreation for anyone. Make use of your opportunity;

The sports schedule continues:
Monday—Basketball
Tuesday—Hockey
Wednesday—Archery
Thursday—Hockey
Friday—Tennis

Football Scores

Football! Football! It's in the air! These crisp autumn days and bright tumbling leaves just seem to spell the name of football. And how we envy the girls who went to the following games last weekend:

E. & H. 14	.....	Richmond 6
Maryland 6	.....	V. M. I. 0
W. & L. 14	.....	Center 7
Randolph-Macon 26;		Deelware 0
W. & M. 44	.....	Guilford 0
Juanita 18	.....	Bridgewater 0
Virginia 18	.....	St. Johns 0
Elon 12	.....	Roanoke 0
Catawba 26	.....	Hampden-Syd. 6
Augusta Military 7;		Hargrave 6
Fishburne 9	.....	R. M. A. 0
N. C. 14	.....	Davidson 0
Furman 9	.....	Wake Forest 0
Georgetown 13	.....	Miami 0
Georgia Tech 6	.....	Duke 0
Mississippi 27	.....	Forida 6
Alabama 25	.....	Tenn. 0
Carson-Newman 46	...	Tuscolum 0

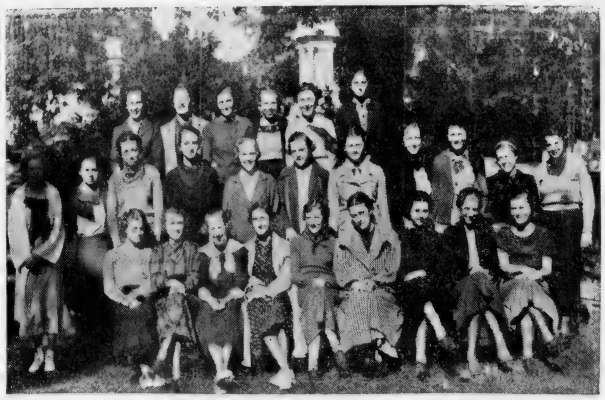
Apprentices Present "The New Bride"

Continued from page one

part of Stillson, the English butler; Charlotte Morton as Fanchette, the French maid; Louise Turnes as Fogarty; Elizabeth Marsh, as O'Toole, the Irish policeman; Vera Ebel, as a newspaper reporter; and Kitty Roberts as Betty Byewater, an old-maid publisher.

Freshmen Receive Caps From Sophs

Continued from page one



line McGlothlin, marched out on the campus in front o fthe Rotunda singing "Onward Farmville." After cheering for the classes, classmen, and presidents, the two classes sang together the Alma Mater.

A. C. P. Convention Held in Chicago, Ill.

Continued from page one

The convention was recorded as one of the most successful of the fourteen annual meetings, and it was concluded with plans for a "bigger and better gathering" in 1936.

RICHMOND GIRLS

Front row, left to right: Doris Moore, Mabel Burton, Helen Perkins, Elise Turner, Marjorie Robertson, Elsie Cabell, Virginia Winston Smith, Frances Thomas, Mary Blankenship. Second row: left to righ: Eloise Williams, Alice Nelson, Alpha Garnett, Dorothy Sharp, Elsie Dodd, Anna Shiflett, Irene Parker, Muriel McAllister, Nancy Woodward, Mary Allen Pate, Mary Jackson,. Back row: left to right: Vera Ebel, Virginia Leonard.

True Art Leaves Indelible Stamp

Continued from page one

the respect of the serious music lover and to amuse the casual listener." For his encores he chose lighter numbers.

At each concert, appear Josephine Kryl White, distinguished violinist, Nell Kinard, soprano soloist, and Ruth Templeman, harp soloist. All are brilliant soloists, but especially famous is Josephine Kyrl White. After hearing her perform one has said, "Her technical equipment is superlative, her intonation flawless, but all was subservient to a beautiful velvety tone which never failed her."

Bohumir Kyrl and His Symphony Band have left in the memory of their audience at S. T. C., a stamp that cannot be erased with time.

The program which was presented Friday night is as follows:

Overture to opera "Bartered Bride" ..... Smetana

Harp Solo "Lan Danse des Sylphs" ..... Goldefroid

From the New World Symphony in E minor No. 5 ..... Dvorak
Largo
Scherzo

Aria for soprano, Voi So Sapete from "Cavalleria Rusticana" ..... Mascogni

Capriccio Espanol, Rimsky Korsakow

Intermission

Cornet solo ..... Kyrl

Symphony Suite "Scheherazade" Rimsky Korsakow
1. The young Price and the young Princess.
2. Feast at Bagdad. The sea. The vessel wrecked on a rock on which is mounted a warrior of brass.

Concerto for violin in D minor, No. 2 ..... Wieniowski

Scond Hungarian Rhapsody, Lizst

Soloists
Josephine Kyrl White ..... Violin
Nell Kinard ..... Soprano
Ruth Templeman ..... Harp
Bohumir Kyrl ..... Cornet

Dr. Jarman Invited To College Opening

Included among the college executives invited to the Ohio University campus on November 15 for the inauguration of Dr. Herman Gerlach James as the twelfth president of Ohio University is President J. L. Jarman of State Teachers College at Farmville.

Approximately five hundred invitations have been extended to presidents of colleges throughout the country, to the constitutional officers of the State of Ohio, and to presidents of learned educational societies.

Harry Woodburn Chase, Chancellor of New York University will deliver the principal address of the inaugural occasion, while the Detroit Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Victor Kolar, will conclude the program with an evening concert.

Dr. James comes to Ohio University from the campus of the University of South Dakota and succeeds the late Dr. Elmer Burritt Bryan.

slight increase in registration over last year.

The gain is most marked in the Mid-West, where student ranks are apparently increasing three times as fast as they are on the the Atlantic seaboard. Colleges polled beyond the Alleghanies show an average student gain of 10.6 per cent over last year, as against 3 per cent in Eastern schools.

Enrollment Increase Held By American Colleges

(By Associated Collegiate Press)

NEW YORK—Definite and substantial enrollment gains in colleges and universities throughout the country are the order of the day this fall, with almost every school able to report at least a

Farmville Mfg. Co.
BUILDING MATERIALS
MILLWORK
Farmville, Va.

C. E. Chappell Co.
Visit Us For the Best Fountain Service

H. M. WELLS CONFECTIONERY
Food for the Parties
Two blocks from College Campus

STANLEY A. LEGUS
TAILOR
CLEANING
PRESSING
REPAIRING
Phone 203

SUPPERS AND SMALL PARTIES
Good Breakfast
Dinners
Suppers
College Tea Room
and
LONGWOOD

Gorgeous Evening dresses in New Chenile Transparent velvet ..... $7.45 and $14.45

Brush Wool Twin Sweaters—in bottle green, rust brown and royal blue ..... $1.97 and $2.97

Beautiful Sport Skirts—solid colors and plaids at $2.94

BE SMART—SHOP AT THE
DOROTHY MAY STORES

EXQUISITE, PERSONAL
ENGRAVED STATIONERY
100 SHEETS
100 ENVELOPES
ENGRAVED
ALL FOR
$2
SEE OUR BEAUTIFUL SAMPLES
The Farmville Herald
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

Gray's Drug Store
PURE DRUGS—MEDICINES
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Quality—Price—Service
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

You Would Love to Have Your Shoes Fixed at
Lovelace Shoe Shop
110 Third Street

Mack's
BARBER AND BEAUTY SHOP
323 Main Street
Phone 360

ROSE'S
On the Corner
5-10-25c Store
School Supplies
FULL FASHIONED HOSIERY
ROOM FURNISHINGS
AT POPULAR PRICES

B uy
U nusual
T reats
C old drinks
H uge cones
E legant fruits
R oasted peanuts
S nappy snacks

EACO THEATRE
Adults, 25c: Children, 15c
Unless Otherwise Noted

Thurs.-Fri., Oct. 24-25
TED LEWIS
AND HIS BAND
Virginia Bruce
SPANKY McFARLAND
"Here Comes the Band"
Also "Broadway Highlights"
With Grace Moore
Adults 25c and 35c

Saturday, Oct. 26
Cary Grant
Gertrude Michaels
in
'The Last Outpost'
Two Officers Battle for Love of a Beautiful Woman
Also Novelty and News

Mon.-Tues., Oct. 28-29
Nino Martini
GENEVIEVE TOBIN
Mme. Schumann-Heink
Maria Gambrelli
in
Here's to Romance
The Sensational Music Hit of the Season!
Extra 'Good Little Monkeys'
The Cartoon They Are Raving About
Adults 25c and 35c

Wed., Oct. 30 Cartoon
John Boles
Dixie Lee
(Mrs. Bing Crosby)
"Redheads on Parade"
With 48 Redheads From 48 States
Chapt. 13 "Miracle Rider"

"No man is without fault."
Voltaire

The College World . . .
In Pictures

"One Picture Tells as Much as Ten Thousand Words"

Shutters click . . . flashlights flare . . . cameramen are "Johnny on the spot" wherever and whenever anything of interest to the college student happens . . . to bring to the Editor of Collegiate Digest three thousand pictures every month . . . but of course it is only possible to bring you the best of these . . . in addition to the numerous collegiate features appearing exclusively in Collegiate Digest every week with

STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE ROTUNDA

TRY OUT FOR STAFF

The Rotunda

We Teach To Teach

Fall Dance To Be Held Saturday

Volume XVI. THE ROTUNDA, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 30, 1935 No. 5

Annual Convention Of V.I.P.A. To Meet At Harrisonburg

Students of S. T. C. To Represent Publications

Representatives of Farmville publications will attend the ninth annual convention of the Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association to be held at Harrisonburg S. T. C., on November 1 and 2.

Every preparatory school, college and university in Virginia and the District of Columbia have been given invitations to send representatives of their publications and an attendance of 200 delegates is expected.

The convention will open on Thursday night, October 31 with an executive committee meeting at which time the work of the Association will be approved and the detailed program outlined for the next two days.

Delegates will arrive on the morning of Nov. 1 for the orientation session in the main auditorium of the Harrisonburg S. T. C. on that day at 2 p. m. The afternoon will be taken up with discus-

Continued on page 3

Addie Norfleet is STC Circus Queen

Sophomores Win Prize For the Best Stunt

The largest crowd that has ever attended a circus at S. T. C. filled the gym last Saturday night. Almost one thousand people watched the ring performance, presented by the four classes, the grand parade, and the coronation of the queen. After the performance, the crowd visited the side-shows and bought food from the booths.

Addie Norfleet, member of the Senior Class, was crowned Circus Queen. The surprise of this election caused great excitement in the audience. The queen was brought out and accompanied by six water lillies, which portrayed a graceful swan on a lake covered with water-lilies. Will Scott, the ring master of the circus, after introducing each ring number, crowned the queen in her inimitable way.

The Sophomore Class was awarded first prize, and the Freshman Class, honorable mention by the three judges, Mr. T. A. McCorkle, Miss Mary Clay Hiner, and Miss Mix. The prize winning stunt was the scene of the rhythm makers of the old south. Mammies and pickaninnies harmonized in the cotton field; the Creole babies gave some Harlem dancing.

Continued on page 4

Child Welfare Class Begins Observations

Monday, October 21, marked the beginning of a series of trips planned by Miss Stubbs and the students of the Child Welfare class. Another trip was made on October 28 when a second group visited the Children's Bureau in Richmond.

During the conferences of the heads of various departments, case studies were presented and discussed and the work of the bureau was explained. After this the students were permitted to ask questions.

Tentative plans for the rest of the quarter included observations in the Negro Industrial Home, the Juvenile Court for Delinquent Children, and other places of interest to child welfare students.

SENIOR CLASS PRES.

Tac Waters, president of the Senior Class, who will present the Class Man.

S. T. C. Represented By Dr. Simkins at Historical Meeting

On Thursday and Friday last Dr. Francis B. Simkins of the S. T. C. faculty attended the first annual convention of the South Historical Association at Birmingham, Alabama. The two hundred delegates present showed great interest in the problems of Researches in Southern history. Principal papers dealt with the great difficulties involved in writing a complete history of the Confederacy. Other papers dealt with the methods used in the teaching in Georgia and North Carolina of the history of civilization. Most of those present came from the lower South. Besides Dr. Simkins the only delegates present from Virginia were Professor Kathleen

Continued on Page 4

Freshmen and New Girls Become Full Members of Y.W.C.A.

On Wednesday evening, October 23, at 6:45 the freshmen and new girls were formally installed into full membership of the Y. W. C. A. Mr. Gardner gave the invocation, after which the president, Agnes Crockett, gave an inspiring talk in which she stressed the seriousness of becoming a member of the Y. W. C. A. She then read a very suitable scripture, after which she lighted the candle of the vice-president and freshman-counselor. They in turn lighted the candles of the new girls. After the candles had been lit, the president and freshman-counselor led the new members from the auditorium out on the campus while singing "Follow the Gleam". After the girls with lighted candles had assembled, they sang "Blest be the Tie That Binds". Mr. Gardner pronounced the benediction and the service was concluded with the Y. W. motto.

Gamma Psi, Art Fraternity, Announces Two Members

Gamma Psi, honor society in art, announces two new members: Catherine Smoot and Ida Belle Foster. After the initiation Monday night, the old members welcomed the new girls with a treat of doughnuts and coca-colas.

Notice

The Virginian staff desires at this time to express their gratitude to the student body for any kindness they may have shown us. Regardless of whether the act may have come from an individual or from the student body as a whole, please consider it appreciated.

We would like also to assure the student body that we are, to the best of our ability, doing everything in our power to give them all an annual of which we feel they may justly be proud.

L. Sanford, Editor

Interracial Group Convenes Oct. 29

Hampton Quartette Entertains Guests of Conference

A program on interracial problems was held in the Methodist church of Farmville, Tuesday, October 29. The afternoon session met in the lecture room from 2:30 to 5:00 p. m. The program consisted of informal discussions led by prominent members of the Virginia Interracial Commission of both races. The evening program was held in the auditorium of the church at 7:30. Dr. Isaac Fisher of Hampton Institute and editor of the Southern Workman made the principal address on this program. The Hampton Quartet presented an excellent program of typical Negro spirituals.

Dr. R. E. Blackwell of Randolph-Macon, who is state chairman of Virginia State Commission on Interracial Cooperation, presided over the session of the conference.

"The purpose of the Commission on Interracial Cooperation is to take advantage of the normal good relations generally existing between the races and work to keep them so. Its efforts are remedial and preventive. It is easy to capitalize on conditions of amity and friendliness between the races and to move out into those areas where misunderstanding, injustice, prejudice, and other situations handicap and retard both races. The plan is simple, but it works. Acting upon the theory that it is too late to "lock the stable after

Continued on Page 4

Four Colleges Join In Open Discussion

On Friday, November 1, representatives from Duke University, Westhampton, and Hampden-Sydney will meet here with representatives of the S. T. C. Debate Club to discuss in an open forum, the subject, "The Proposed Amendments to the Constitution of the United States."

Margaret Pollard and Dudley Allen will take the stand of the Progressives on this subject. On the other hand, Louise Francis and Virginia Hooke will present the argument of the Conservatives.

Following the formal presentation of the subject by the Farmville girls, the representatives from Duke, Westhampton and Hampden-Sydney will ask questions to be answered by the Progressive and Conservative advocaters.

Students and faculty members are invited to be present, and are urged to participate in the discussions.

Dignity of Seniors Wounded During Art Gallery Parade

Models on Parade! Lovely evening dresses, dinner gowns of velvet, satins, and gauzy chiffons are in evidence.

Gracious young ladies, proudly flaunting their modish creations, walk rapidly from the Senior Building. Here comes a typical model! She is wearing a black transparent velvet dinner gown, exquisitely plain with a silver rope cord around the waist, and with sapphire neck clips as the only ornamnets. As she reaches the steps, she raises her skirt a little way to free her feet, daintily shod in..... Wait just a moment! Upon my word, she is wearing green ankle socks and brown leather walking shoes!

Even Rat Week did not disclose any such vogue!

Another proud beauty approaches, but only the shimmering folds of a dark green satin skirt are visible beneath the black and white plaid sport coat she is wearing.

The next in line carries in one hand a pair of silver sandals and in the other hand what seems to be—yes, it is really a handsome, wine-colored velvet dress.

Is it posible that our Seniors are losing some of their dignity?

Ah no! Not that! Not that! These "Models on Parade" are on their way to the art gallery in the Little Sitting Room so that they may have pictures made that will show to them in the future years how they looked when they were seniors at S. T. C.

New Honor Society Initiates Members

"Beorc Eh Thorn" is Name of New Fraternity

On Saturday afternoon, October 25, twenty-five girls were initiated as charter member into the newly organized English honor society which bears the name of "Beorc Eh Thorn". Only those girls who had shown creative ability in writing and also scholarship in English, besides having an average of C on all subjects, were eligible for membership.

The names of those initiated were: Virginia Baker, Virginia Bean, Emma Bingham, Grace Bass, Audrey Clements, Claire Eastman, Alice Grainger, Frances Collie, Mary Alice Glass, Agnes Bondurant, Bonnie Lane, Helen Glass, Ruth Phelps, Claudine O'Brien, Louise Lewis, Mary Robeson, Dorothy Rhodes, Lucille Rhodes, Mrs. Nora B. Rawlinson and Mrs. Sallie Rode.

Those of the alumnae present to be initiated were: Misses Frances A. Cobb, Hallie McCraw and Dorothy Hudson.

Professor James M. Grainger, head of the English department of S. T. C. performed the initiatory rites in a short but impressive ceremony in the honor room. All the faculty members of the English department were present for this ceremonious occasion: Misses Jennings, Foster, London, Nichols, Hiner and Mrs. Taylor.

Continued on Page 4

Alumnae Present Program on Friday

The Farmville Alumnae Chapter of S. T. C. will sponsor a program featuring the Hampden-Sydney orchestra and several amateurs in the auditorium Friday, November 1, at 7:30.

The program is divided into two parts. The orchestra will fill the first and the amateur contest the second. Features of the program to be presented by the orchestra include: theme song, "Chords in Blue", "Truckin", "I Wished on the Moon", "That's What You Think," "Beautiful Ohio" (arranged by Colonel Duvall), "For You" (vocal by Tub Oliver), "Nit Wit Serenade." Five request numbers will be followed by "Black Eyed Susan Brown."

Prizes will be offered for the best amateur performance. The applause of the audience will count one third while the rest of the decision will be based on actual talent, personality, and mistakes made. First prize is $5.00; second prize, $3.00; third prize, $2.00. The program will be concluded by the orchestra's interpretation of "White Heat."

SENIOR CLASS MAN

Miss Virginia Bedford who will be presented as Senior Class Man Saturday morning.

Seniors Present Miss Bedford Saturday, Nov. 3

Miss Virginia Bedford, Senior Class Man, will be presented to the students, faculty, and administration Saturday, November 3, at 10:30 a. m. by Tac Waters, president of the Senior Class.

After the seniors, robed in their caps and gowns, march into the auditorium to the Alma Mater, Agnes Crockett, President of the Y. W. C. A., and an outstanding member of the class, will lead the devotionals.

The members of the Senior Class will sing their class songs for the four years of their college life and their classman songs for the past three years. After a presentation they will sing the new and last classman song.

Miss Bedford and Tac Waters have been sponsor and president, respectively of the class of '36 since its entrance into the college in 1931.

Dr. Zehmer Speaks to Students; Faculty On Curricula Change

Declaring at first that he had never taken a course in the curriculum in his life, Dr. George A. Zehmer, nevertheless, spoke on "Epoch-Making Changes in the Curriculum", before a number of students and faculty members last Thursday night in the recreation hall.

"Changes", he said, "are inevitable in the field of education, as well as in religion, philosophy, and art". However, Dr. Zehmer did not favor radical changes, as a rule, though he did say that revolutions are sometimes necessary if changes have been too slow.

Beginning with the Hebrews, the speaker pointed out a number of changes in the educational curri-

Continued on Page 4

David Burnside's Orchestra To Play at H.-S. Openings

Joe Burke and his Ambassadors were originally scheduled to play at the opening dances at Hampden-Sydney but due to complications it will be impossible.

Dave Burnside and his orchestra have been selected and will play during the set for the opening dances at Hampden-Sydney, November 15 and 16. The orchestra is composed of fourteen pieces, a torch singer, and three male vocalists.

They will broadcast each night this week from 1:05-1:30 a. m. over station WBT at Charlotte, N. Ca., and also over the Columbia chain.

Their recent engagements include: The Isle of Palms, Casino, Biltmore Country Club, and Myrtle Beach.

Annual Fall Dance Will Be Held Sat.; Virginians To Play

Gamma Psi Plans Decorations For Dance

The Cotillion Club will hold its annual fall dance Saturday night, Nov. 2, in the gymnasium. The University of Virginia orchestra is to play.

This year's "Cotillion" promises to be even bigger and better than ever. Gamma Psi is to decorate for the affair, and the gym is certain to be beautifully adorned.

Charley Gasque and his Virginians with "Charley Boy" Epes to offer the vocal selections, is sure to "go over" big next week-end. Although in the past he has never played for S. T. C. dances, his recommendations are very good. This summer he was featured at Virginia Beach, and his music there was received with zest.

The dance will begin at eight-thirty and will come to a close at midnight, with half-an-hour's intermission at ten-thirty.

Poet of Virginia Inspires Students

Nancy Byrd Turner Leaves Lasting Memory

Those who found it impossible to attend the lecture by Miss Nancy Byrd Turner Friday night missed hearing one who all have agreed was the most interesting and fascinating speaker we have ever had the opportunity to hear. It is a mild statement to say that Miss Turner made a deep and lasting impression on all who were present.

As a prologue to the lecture Mr. Grainger as head of the English Department announced the members of the new English Honor Society which was to be inaugurated on Saturday afternoon. The presence of Miss Turner among us was felt to be an inspirational beginning for such an organization.

Miss Turner opened her talk with a brief sketch of her early experiences in writing poetry. Her first market was her father, who upon learning that she had written a poem at the age of eight, offered her a dime a poem for all she would write. Thus stimulated, she continued to write poetry, good, bad and indifferent, through her adolescent years. Soon she began devoting her efforts to the field of childhood poems and in this connection began editing the poetry page of the Youth's Companion.

It was while there, she said,

Continued on Page 4

Pi Gamma Mu Tasting Party Soon

Students and faculty at S. T. C. will be pleased to learn that the Pi Gamma Mu Tasting Party will soon be featured again by that organization.

The Tasting Party, an annual affair since before any of the present students were enrolled at S. T. C., carries with it each year its reputation slogan, "All the food you can eat for thirty-five cents."

November 7 has been set as the date for this year's supper. It will be served in the "Rec" from 5:30 to 7:30. Entertainment and music will accompany plenty of good food.

The number of tickets will be limited to seventy-five, so get yours as soon as they go on sale.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Published by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

1935 Member 1936
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

Staff

Florence Sanford ..... Editor
Agnes Bondurant ..... Associate Editor
Evelyn Massey ..... Business Manager

Board of Editors

Miss Jane Royall ..... Alumnae
Katherine Hoyle ..... Make-up
Susan Gresham ..... Headlines
Emma Bingham ..... Literary
Bess McGlothlin, Elizabeth Morris, Mary Adeline McGlothlin ..... Editorials
Claire Eastman ..... World News
Margaret Fraley ..... Socials
Kathleen Ranson ..... Sports

Proof Readers

Elizabeth Walton Dorothy Deans

Managers

Elsie Cabell ..... Circulation
Ruth Phelps ..... Asst. Circulation
Louise Gathright ..... Asst. Circulation

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 30, 1935

A Tip

"Good looks," according to Lois Leeds, "is one of the main qualifications for teaching positions in the public schools in a certain section of the United States."

Not beauty alone was considered, but the more attractive, well groomed applicant was given the preference. This is true in the business world. Why should it not be in schools, too?

The manners, morals, and looks of teachers are often severely criticized. People have less confidence in the young teacher who powders her nose in public and uses a too vivid nail polish. Too much rouge and lipstick may mean the loss of a job.

No longer is the old idea that beauty and brains don't mix taken seriously. It takes brains to keep or to build up personal beauty. An understanding of the needs of the body—correct diet, exercises, recreation, rest, and an artistic taste as to how to use cosmetics so they will give the best effects are all necessary in order for one to be beautiful.

All this seems to say: "Teachers, health and good grooming are inspirations to your classes. You need not be a beauty contestant, but you must not neglect the things that make one beautiful! Good looks are an asset! But the tawdry drug store variety can never compete with the good looks that come from health and happiness."

Make S. T. C. a Home

Familiarity with the things we use, the surroundings in which we live, the significance of scars here and there, the history of this article and that, is what endears a place to us, what makes us a part of it and instills a pride in our hearts. Home is the first thought that flashes across our minds and that is right. To college folk the halls of their respective institutions become a second home and they begin making familiar associations with objects on the campus. Too often however, interesting facts and sentiments are not made known to the students and they go through college without catching the spirit and individuality of their Alma Mater. Statues are merely statues, portraits are of "old fogies," plaques bear no meaning, traditional practices seem trite.

In view of this truth The Rotunda has planned a series of articles to appear weekly which the staff hopes will supply adequate information to enable each student to make associations with spots and articles on our campus that will make S. T. C. a cherished "second home," which is the just heritage of all students.

Exercise

From the viewpoint of an ardent supporter of athletics in college, there are not enough of us who take part in the different phases offered here, or we do not have the proper backing behind those few who have gone out for the class and varsity teams. This fall, schedules have been posted and announcements have been made as to the hours of practice, and the hours for the new girls to come out. There is a type of athletics and a sport to suit everyone's taste. Surely every girl likes swimming, playing tennis, hockey, or basketball, or natural dancing. If she doesn't care for these, or isn't well acquainted with the sports, perhaps she would be interested in learning them. Every student has a wonderful access to all of these, and it seems an opportunity wasted not to take advantage of it. The recreational benefit found in athletics should influence everyone to choose to some form of athletics. Walking up stairs — no matter how many flights — and walking to classes does not furnish the proper amount of exercise our bodies require.

Besides the sportsmanship, recreational value, and pleasure one derives from taking part physically in athletics, one should consider the part it plays in personality building. A "good personality" is a wonderful attribute; human beings put forth a great amount of effort and care in trying to cultivate a personality that is pleasing. No one is considered a well-rounded individual who cannot amuse himself, or adjust himself to his surroundings—in other words—one who "can't do anything."

If, however, there is no desire whatsoever to support any phase of athletics, or become acquainted with it, we can show an appreciation of it by supporting those who do, by our presence at all class and varsity games, and making that presence known by our "pep." And there is always the cooperation of every student that is needed in every undertaking. This is invaluable to the Athletic Association as well as to the other major organizations of our school.

Increase Teachers Pensions?

To increase the pension of retired teachers is the commendable purpose of Dr. D. E. McQuilken, superintendent of schools and chairman of the Virginia Education Association's committee on revision of the retired fund. At present, he is sending questionnaires to teachers throughout the state to ascertain their opinion on increasing the amount they pay from each month's salary into the retirement fund.

Teachers are now paying one per cent of their salary for this purpose. To this is added an amount given by the state. However, since there are so many teachers on the retired list, they receive only $250.00 per year. Before the depression, they received $500.00 annually.

Dr. McQuilken wishes to present a plan for increased pay to retired teachers to the General Assembly when the legislature opens. In this plan, he wishes to incorporate the will of the majority of Virginia teachers.

For the initiation of this step, Dr. McQuilken is to be commended, along with the Virginia Education Association. The educators evidently realize that when one has given twenty or thirty years of his life to a profession, he deserves rest with sufficient means of livelihood. $250.00 a year is not sufficient if one is to maintain decent standards.

The policy of increased pensions is in accord with the trend of government today. In this first move of the Virginia Education Association's committee, we see that Virginia is falling in line with the nation-wide plan to increase social and economic security.

Alumnae News

Dotson-Beaty

Miss Mayo Beaty, daughter of Mrs. John Morton Beaty, and Bernard Earl Dotson were married in Wise Methodist Episcopal church, South, Saturday evening, October 12 at 8:30 o'clock. While at Farmville Mrs. Dotson was a member of Gamma Theta Sorority.

Mr. Dotson is a student at Hampden-Sydney College, in the senior class, and a member of the Kappa Sigma fraternity. They will make their home in Farmville.

Roberts-Hutchins

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Charlotte Williams Hutchins to Mr. Linwood Benthall Roberts, the marriage having taken place in Portsmouth, Virginia on October 12, 1935.

Margaret Finch who taught last year in Clarksville high school, is now teacher of the second grade in Mathew Whaley School at Williamsburg. Among the other teachers at the same school are Elizabeth Finch, first grade, and Rena Luck, third grade.

Among the 58 graduates of the summer school at the Univeristy of Virginia this summer were Myrtle Chappell, of Meherrin, who received the degree of Bachelor of Science in Education, and Ruth L. Bartholomew of Gladys, who received the degree of Master of Science.

Dr. Mary Hudson Wright has been made supervisor of the fourth and fifth grades of the College Training School at the Fredericksburg State Teachers College. She is filling the position vacated by Miss Kate Trent who has taken over the supervision of the first grade.

Miss Mary Savedge of Surry County has been named supervisor of the various schools in Appomattox County for this year.

Brittingham-Ball

Mr. and Mrs. Clover E. Ball of Portsmouth, announce the engagement of their daughter Miss Elizabeth Hope Ball to Thomas Alfred Brittingham, Jr., also of Portsmouth. The marriage will take place in November.

Andrews-McCann

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Walter McCann announce the engagement of their daughter Miss Anne Boyd McCann, to Charles Meade Andrews. The marriage will take place Wednesday afternoon, November 27, at Old St. Paul's church.

World News

United States Maintains Neutrality

In reply to the League's question as to what stand the United States would take toward the Ethiopian-Italo situation, Secretary Hull has, at last, answered by reaffirming neutrality.

Hull claimed that this neutrality agreement, which of course includes an embargo on arms and war materials to both of the warlike contestants and also a warning against American business transaction with the belligerents, concluded by an admonition to American travelers not to make use of vessels of the contestants, has been decided upon for the purpose of dealing specifically with this dispute.

Motives, however, for this decision rely upon the fact that war unfavorably concerns every country, and therefore may gravely endanger the economic welfare of each one, also that it results in human distress and may menace the existence of civilization.

The whole world sympathizes with the intention of the United States to preserve peace and abridge the continuance of war.

Thousands Reported Dead In Haiti

An airplane from the southern peninsula, Port-au-Prince, Haiti, made known belated reports of the recent hurricane in this district to the world.

Besides the thousands reported as homeless and almost at the point of famine because of demolished crops, bodies of ninety-six natives were found at Jacmel; and those who drowned probably reach the total of a thousand.

Among those affected seriously by the hurricane were Puerto Cabezas, Nicaragua, which suffered demolished crops, especially around Cape Gracias, and Honduras where much damage was made to the banana crop.

As a result of the whole, admonitions against shipping on heavy seas, at the present, has been announced to the world.

At Other Colleges

The depression has had at least one beneficial effect in the belief of President Lotus D. Coffman of the University of Minnesota. He attributes the attainment of a ten-year high in scholarship last year to the fact that sudents had less money, more time for study.

Gatekeepers at Ohio State University have a novel method for deciding whether you're sober enough to enter the stadium. If you can wiggle your thumbs in unison, you're O. K. Otherwise you can watch the game from a telegraph pole.

There is actually one girl student at Lindsay College, Lindsay, Ontario, Can., whose ambition is to become "a good wife for some man". The others, a survey revealed, would like to become teachers, nurses, stenographers, dieticians, writers, interior decorators. Would be teachers led the list.

Honor systems of some kind or another exist in about 20 per cent of American colleges and universities. They are more prevalent in privately-controlled institutions than in either public or denominational schools.

Harvard will celebrate the 300th anniversary of its founding in 1936. It is the oldest institution of higher learning in the United States.

Sophomores at Haverford take a comprehensive examination containing 2725 questions. It requires 12 hours to complete it.

College lads are hitching socks to garters again, says James L. Whitcomb, Brown University student, who recently confided to the New England conference of the State Federation of Women's Clubs that the return of the garter marks a new epoch in undergraduate life.

The Daily Pennsylvanian started it by asking the men whether the preferred pretty girls or smart ones, slinky or fluffy evening dresses, and other questions of importance in higher education.

The girls countered with a questionnaire for women students which began: "Do you like intelligent men or the typical college boy?"

Contrary to the popular idea that fish and other "brain foods" will increase intelligence, there is little experimental evidence to indicate that diet markedly affects the capacity to learn, says Professor Martin F. Fritz of Iowa State College in the Psychological Bulletin. However if the body does not receive sufficient and proper food to keep it healthy the brain like other organs may not have the energy to do its work efficiently. But this does not mean that a diet of special foods will make a genius out of a moron.

OLE MISS POLECAT

Old Miss Polecat switch down de road,
A-steppin' and a-mincin';
She don't look to right, she don't look to lef',
She keep straight on, surtain sure of herse'f—
An' she might corncinvin'.

Young Mr. Hound come a-spankin' along,
As brash as a b'ar;
He sniff at de wind, a-turnin' de corner,
Don't see Miss Pole till he right smack on her.
Den—he jes' ain't dar!

Old Miss Polecat push down de road,
A-steppin' and a-mincin'.
She got grand manners when she feelin' mild;
But whedder she cyalm or whedder she riled,
She mighty corncinvin'.

—Nancy Byrd Turner

Literary Column

Read! And when you read choose with care. Always there are hundreds of new books, some good, some bad, some indifferent. If you know your author, you know what to expect, and your favorite author nearly always has a recently published book of which you haven't heard.

Here, in brief, are some of the newest of our Autumn publications:

"Solomon, MY SON!" by John Erskine—the story of Solomon, of his love for his father, of his scheming mother, and of the women of his household: good-humored comedy with an undercurrent of philosophy.

"Vein of Iron", Ellen Glasgow—The vein of iron, is the constitution of a Fiercastle family in the wilderness of Virginia, stood them in good stead whether facing Indians in the first generation or the depression in the fifth generation.

"Conversation at Midnight", Edna St. Vincent Millay—A group of men, having dined, enter into conversation which continues until morning. They discuss all kinds of things with great earnestness and enthusiam, parting company with everybody in good temper.

"Hands", Charles G. Norris—A saga of the builders and the women they loved: the pulsing, pushing, thriving, growing America which raced ahead of itself in the years from 1880 to the present time is the setting for this panoramic drama of a dynasty of American builders and their women.

"Early One Morning in Spring", Walter De La Mare—A rich collection of their memories of childhood as set down by noted poets, novelists, dramatists, and musicians.

"Play House of Pepys", Montague Summers—The nine years covered by Pepys' "Diary" are a period of utmost importance in the history of English drama. Read of them here.

"It Can't Happen Here", Sinclair Lewis—What Lewis has said about American politics and a world headed for war, he says through Doremus Jessup, American, in this book.

"Cape Cod Yesterdays", Joseph C. Lincoln—In mellow vein, from hearsay and memory, Mr. Lincoln writes of the stage-coach days when the Cape Coders lived apart from the rest of the world.

"The Lees of Virginia", Burton J. Hendrick—"As a family and as themselves," writes Stephen Vincent Benet, "they rank with out foremost and have a great and enduring influence in our life as a nation."

"Green Hills of Africa", Ernest Hemingway—The story of four men and a woman in quest of the rarest and most elusive of all African game-beasts: the Kudu. Actual life and adventure recorded with imagination, perception and suspense.

"Europa", Rockwell Kent—It is the story of how a man fell in love with another world—the remote and beautiful world of North Greenland, with its artic wonders, its friendly souls, its peaceful harbors and its soaring mountains.

"The Longest Years", Sigrid Undset—This is the story of her life—not as a prodigy, but as a very real little girl who played games and went her vigorous way very much like the other youngsters about her.

(Quotations taken from New York Times Book Review.)

"The optimist proclaims that we live in the best of all possible worlds; and the pessimist fears this is true." Branch Cabell

SOCIALS

Even a famous Circus like S. T. C. could not keep all the inmates of this institution here this week-end; however, the many visitors amply made up for their absence.

To Richmond: Mabel Burton, Margaret Drake, Elsie Dodd, Miriam Ficklin, Dorothy Hutcheson, Frances Irving, Anne McCready, Beverly Sexton, Sylvia Somers, Nan Seward, Margaret Scott, Henrietta Salisbury, Jean Taylor, Tac Waters, Mildred Davies, Mary Jackson, Ruth Scott, Mary Ellen Pate, Martha Glenn Davis, Sue Eastham.

Home: Sara Parker, Edna Harvey, Dudley Allen, Ellenah Bradshaw, Dorothy Price, Virginia Carroll, Hortense Conelly, Doris Isabel, Inez Chappell,, Virginia Payne, Helen Carney, Edith Coffey, Mary Denny, Louise Foster, Frances Gaskins, Katherine Harvey, Margaret Pollard, Evelyn Howell, Clara Pinkhard, Martha Hamlet, Dorothy Johnson, Marjorie Robertson, Virginia Jarman, Anna L. Jones, Lucy Jeffries, Elvira Ligon, Virginia Pilcher, Evelyn Massey, Eleanor Meredith, Edna J. Martin, Ethel McPherson, Kitty Nelson, Pauline Pearson, Dot Raper, Anna Shifflet, Carter Belle Munt, Ethel Burgess, Isabelle Plummer, Sylvia Dunnavant, Mabel Lambert, Virginia Leonard, Juanita Callis, Anne Peple, Lucy Walker, Frances Faris, Jennie Rock, Jeanette Wood, Mary E. Wood, Josephine Wills, Ann Wells, Audry Wilson, Nan Page Trent, Irene Taylor, Virginia Tissue, Dorothy Sharp, Virginia Scanlan, Lucy Smith, Deane Saunders, Mary E. Barnes, Becky Gillette, Roberta Haskins, Nora Jones, Mary Phipps, Margaret Pittard, Mary Hole, Frances Maxey,

To Lynchburg: Jess Holland, Audrey Culpepper, Katherine Hurt, Ellen Mason, Valla Nimmo, Frances Teass, Cassell Schools, Frances Dickinson, Eikanah Simpson, Brownie Shenton, Margaret R. Sharp, and Pattie Bounds.

To Danville: Louise Anthony, Mary F. Adams, Katherine Brooks, Alma Elliott, Jane Holland.

To Lexington: Cornelia Penn, Peggy Young, Selma West, Marjorie Wicks.

To Arvonia: Lucille Colver, Florence Jeffrey.

To Blackstone: Fletcher Walker, Dot Henderson.

To Covington: Adelaide Dressler, Mary A. Harper.

To Charlottesville; Nancy Cooley, Clara Nottingham, Florence Tankard, Ruth James, Lucille Mosely, Louise Stephenson, and Jean Willis.

Newport News: Marie Moore, Patsy Nottingham, and Winifred Goodman.

To Roanoke: Elizabeth Sieber, Doris Eason, and Katherine Jamison.

To Williamsburg: Catherine Maynard, Rose Puller.

To Appomattox: Violet Cross, Dora Parker.

To Norfolk: Doris Coates

Lowesville: Bess and Madeline McGlothlin.

To Lawrenceville: Virginia Lee Harvey.

Bon Air: Elizabeth Overby and Betty Harrison.

Portsmouth: Margaret Carroll, Dot Deans.

Bedford: Amy Cunningham

White Stone: Kitty Dix

Old Homes: Lucille English

Hebron: Louise Francis

Drakes Branch: Nancy Leigh Bland, Elizabeth Sutton and Mary F. Simpson.

Skyline Drive: Frances Hollowway, Rebecca Bland

Chester: Mildred Davies

....Powhatan: Lois Jenkins

Pamplin: Mary Rives Black

Gladstone: Mabel Drumeller

Cumberland: Billie Arthur

College Performance in Show Typifies a Genuine Circus

Balloons popped; voices shrieked loudly! Laughter pealed forth! People struggles slowly through the crowd visiting first one booth then another.

"Hot dogs and coca colas for sale here!" a voice called loudly. A boy, smacking his lips at the mention of food, pushed desperately through the crowd toward the hot dog stand. But instead of arriving at his destination, he suddenly found himself confronted by a sign that read thus: "See yourself in 2045!" His curiosity aroused beyond control, he resentfully dropped in the necessary penny, and disgusted amusement registered on his face whe nhe saw before his eyes only the skeleton of a human body.

"Lemonade, peanuts, and popcorn", shot forth with a stormy blurt from the opposite corner. "Step right up and have your fortune told!" cried a clairvoyant against the noises of the crowd. Other voices rang out lustily. "Try your luck fishing in the magic pond!" "Test your skill at ten pens!"

Still another cry announced, "Just ten cents a dance! Right this way, ladies and gentleman! Buy your tickets here! Dance to the luring strains of Pinky Harper's Southside Orchestra."

A freshman, hearing this cry, shyly stole up to the door-keeper and held out a dime, but ambled away with a drooping crest when told that gigolos were not being furnished.

The crowd that gathered in the gallery of the gymnasium finally came down into the arena and became a part of the circus.

And upon my word, sir, they made an entertaining show!

As Shakespeare would express it, all the world was then a stage.

Baptist Church Entertains At Social on October 25

The B. Y. P. U. and Young People's Department of Farmville Baptist Church entertained at a social on the night of October 25.

Mrs. Northern of Richmond was in charge of the entertainment. She proved to be an expert in this capacity. Many new and interesting games were played, stunts presented and lively songs were sung.

The college girls attending were: Evelyn Hastings, Polly Bolton, Marjorie Thompson, Mildred Gentry, Blanche Lane, Margaret Pollard, Dorothy Rhodes, Sara Beale, Evelyn Massey, Claudine O'Brien, Mary Rives Black, Ella Lewis, Julia Rainey, Elizabeth Burke, Fannie Mae Putney, Maxine Burks, Janie Lee Young, Florence Bress, Anna Snaw Ramsey, Sara Gwaltney, Frances Holloway, Frances Hastings, Jean Rowls, Louise Jones, Louise Turner, Gwendolyn Bell, Helen Wilkins, Virginia Pilcher, Indian Morgan, Deane Saunders, Myra Hines, Murrill Bowman, Janie Scaggs, Mildred Lohr, Virginia Yager and others.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Marshall Entertain Episcopal Girls

The Episcopal girls of the college were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Marshall at a delightful buffet supper on Thursday evening, October 24 at six o'clock.

Receiving were Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Marshall, the Reverend and Mrs. Tucker, Mrs. J. L. Bugg, Mr. and Mrs. Todd Smith, Mrs. Duval, Mrs. L. Newbill, Mr. and Mrs. G L. Robeson and Miss Grace Mix.

Guests from the college included Dr. Jarman, Miss London, Miss Virgilia Bugg, Miss M. Nichols and seventy students.

Pi Kappa Sigma Official Arrives from Cincinnati

Mrs. A. C. Rheny of Cincinatti, Ohio, who is vice-presidnet of the grand council Pi Kappa Sigma, arrived at noon today to visit and inspect the Alpha Epsilon chapter of Pi Kappa Sigma on our campus. Mrs. Rheny will be on campus through Friday. On Friday night the sorority will entertain at a banquet in the tea room in honor of their guest.

Ass'n. of Childhood Education Meets in Student Lounge

Miss Haynes and the officers of the Association of Childhood Education gave a get-together party Thursday afternoon in the Student Building lounge.

Chic Dortch, president, welcomed the group and expressed expectation for a hopeful year. Plans for a new type of programs for the year were discussed.

Longwood buns, peanuts, and Hallowe'en candy were served.

Home Economics Club Has Hallowe'en Party

The Home Economics Club gave a Hallowe'en party in the home economics laboratory this afternoon.

Games in keeping with this festive occasion were played by all, and delicious refreshments were served about five o'clock.

The laboratory was decorated with cornstalks, pumpkins, black cats, and witches. The Hallowe'en idea was carried throughout the entire affair.

Class Notes

Now that Circus is over there has come a lull in class activities. However, sports are beginning to come to the fore, elections of sports representatives taking the attention of the regular class meetings Tuesday night. The duty of these sportsmen will be to see that their respective classes have a sufficient number of people out for each sport to make up the teams. The elections resulted as follows: senior, Kathleen Ranson; junior, Elsie Cabell; sophomore, Sue Eastham; freshman, Amy Butterworth.

Classman presentation will claim the attention of the seniors this week. Practice of the songs was begun at the meeting last night. The date has been set for Saturday.

VIPA Convention at Harisonburg S. T. C.

Continued from page one

sion groups and one address. A New York editor will be presented to the delegates in the evening for one of the feature addresses of th convention.

A short business session, more discussion and two addresses are scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 2. The convention dinner will be held on Saturday night, to be followed by a dance. At the dinner the contest winners, new officers and place of the 1936 meeting will be announced.

Delegates will be the guests on one occasion during the convention of Major E. M. Brown for a trip through one of the caverns near Harrisonburg. This is one of the most educational tours ever sponsored by the VIPA organization for the delegates in attendance at a meeting.

Miss Virginia Cox, president, a senior at Harrisonburg S. T.C. and editor of "The Breeze" is to preside at all sessions.

Other officers of the Association include Henry Seymour, W. and M., Rufus King, Bridgewater, H. F. Henry, Emory and Henry College, and Miss Audry Rose, Fredericksburg S. T. C. vice - presidents; Miss Elizabeth. Bywaters, secretary-treasurer; and Alexander Hudgins, executive secretary.

"Happiness is composed of perfume and music." Dumas

History of Longwood

Beautiful Longwood, which is now owned by the State Teachers College at Farmville and used as a recreational center, has a most interesting history beginning with Peter Johnston, Sr., or Johnston as usually called in Scotland.

Peter Johnston was born in Annan, Scotland, located in the lovely district of Annandale, famous in song and story. He emigrated to Virginia in 1727 and was the first emigrant of the name of Johnston to this state. He settled on the James River at Osbarnes Landing in what was then Henrico county —now Chesterfield.

In 1761, Peter Johnston was married to a Mrs. Rogers and in 1765 they moved to Prince Edward County. They named their home Cehhry Grove and afterward gave it the name of the Johnstone Castle of Loughwood in Scotland, changing later the spelling to Longwood.

At the death of Peter Johnston the family homestead was left to his oldest son, Peter Johnston, Jr., who married Mary Wood of Goochland. They had nine sons and one daughter. The eighth son being General Joseph E. Johnston who was born at Longwood on February 3, 1807 on the site of the present house. Mary Johnston, the novelist, is a cousin of General Johnston.

When General Johnston was about five years old, his father moved to Southwest Virginia and the old homestead passed from the hands of the Johnstons.

At this time, it was sold to Abram B. Venable, one of the most distinguished men that Prince Edward ever produced. He was congressmen, U. S. Senator, and was the first president and organizer of the First State Bank of Virginia, Richmond. Later he was burned in the Richmond Theatre in 1811.

At his death Longwood fell to Nathaniel E. Venable, a nephew. Shortly after 1811, the house was burned in which Joseph E. Johnston was born and Nathaniel E. Venable replaced it with the present structure as a home for his family.

Nathaniel Venable died in 1846. To one of his daughters he left a tract of land cut from the Longwood estate. Mrs. Venable survived her husband until 1865. In her will she left to her youngest san and daughter the Longwood dwelling and two hundred acres of land.

On April 1, 1873, the heirs of Nathaniel E. Venable deeded Longwood to Wright Barbour, purchase price $3.000. In 1920 this was bought by the State of Virginia for the state Teachers College at Farmville, purchase price $20.000

Since our college has come into possession of this old Southern home, a log cabin typical of Andrew Jackson's days has been built. There is also a large open amphitheatre where May-Day festivals are held and a nine-hole golf course for use of faculty and college students. In this artistic home, one of the oldest and most beautiful in the South, students have teas, receptions, and hold week-end parties. Longwood is no longer an estate set apart, but is a vital center of our college for recreation and rest.

Dr. Isaac Fisher Stresses Harmony

"Build up a good will toward men," said Dr. Isaac Fisher, negro at a sociology meeting Tuesday night. The question is, "How we can go about having better racial relations?" Dr. Fisher pointed out various ways in which he thought relationship might be improved.

"They must first secure the sympathy and interest, by doing so you must place yourself with them in thought. To create that feeling you must put yourself in their place and see how you would desire the interaction between races.

There are three methods that must be considered in the interest and sympathy. The emotional method must be first, you must create a mutual feeling between men, second you must know the facts, and thirdly wisdom, the sloagn must be "good will toward men."

It i sto appeal to the youth because they are the forecoming power. Make them understand and know the social conditions. It should be of interest to all the community, as the future lies in the problem and depends on conditions of future sociology.

"The soul is the perceiver and and revealer of truth."
Emerson

TAXI TAXI
Jitney Rides Day or Night Service
"Service that Counts"
H. M. WELLS, Day Phone 344
Night Phone 54M

RICE'S SHOE STORE
Street and Dress Shoes
Dancing Slippers Dyed
Correct fits our specialty

R. E. FISCHER
Radio Repairing
Formerly with Martin the Jeweler
PHONE 244M OR 283

Planters Bank and Trust Company
COMPLIMENTS
FARMVILLE, VA.

WILLIS The Florist
Flowers for all occasions
PHONES 181-273

Kleanwell
CLEANERS AND TAILORS
Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling ladies garments
Main Street, opposite Post Office
Phone 98

PHILCO RADIO
World's largest manufacturers of Radio
A complete line
Watch Repairing a Specialty
Sheet Music—Strings for Instruments
LYNN, The Main Street Jeweler

Conoco Gas and Oil
Fill up at
JOHNS MOTOR CO.
Farmville, Va.

Electric Shoe Shop
It's smart to buy good shoes and then keep them repaired

Martin the Jeweler
College & Fraternity Jewelry
Gifts of lasting remembrance
317 MAIN ST. FARMVILLE

Southside Drug Store
Films Developed
F R E E
Try our tasty lunches

Shannon's
Is Headquarters for the Best
SANDWICHES
—and—
DRINKS
in Farmville

GILLIAM'S
Refreshments fo the Girls
One block from the campus
Let us supply your next "feast"

TUSSY
RICH CREAM
"Gives" your skin a lot. Truly enriches it so it loses that starved old look, and takes on new tempting softness and bloom. A grand night cream, for wrinkles, roughness, dryness, scaling.
Toilet Goods Counter—$1, $1.75, $3.00

BALDWIN'S
QUALITY · PRICE · SELFVICE STORE
"The Style Shop for Ladies"
FARMVILLE, VA.

LOVELY SPORT COATS $9.95 and $16.50, with new Fish-tail backs—Gorgeous Plaids.
SPort Oxfords and Dress Shoes, sizes 3 to 9
Widths from "AAA" to "C" ..... $2.95 and $3.95
YOU WILL LIKE TO SHOP HERE!

HUB DEPARTMENT STORE

Sport Slants

Approximately forty eager hockey players overran the field on Thursday, October 24 for the varsity try-outs. But because a number of girls could not come out, a second try-out was announced for Thursday week, October 31.

Of great interest to those out in various athletic departments is the attendance at basketball practice. Many are out this season, and the prospects of a real team are good. Keep up attendance and stick right in the battle until the last position on the team has been filled and then show your real colors in sticking up for your class teams!

The entire first round of the tennis tournament has been played off. Let's see this next one go over with the same enthusiasm and fine sportmanship. The other matches played off this week were: Cabell vs. Gwaltney, Ranson vs. Cover, Ranson (forfeit), Dugger vs. Lewis, Dugger (6-3) (6-4).

Maxine Burks and her clan of archers are really learing something about that art; why not join them in the fun? Every Wednesday afternoon finds them on the field with their little bows and arrows.

Football Scores

Each Saturday all the stadiums in the country ring with cheers and refrains of Alma Maters. Last Saturday they spurred some of the following teams on to victory. Richmond, 6; Franklin and Marshall, 6

William & Mary, 14; Roanoke, 7

Hampden-Sydney, 24; Bridgewater, 0

Virginia, 0; V. M. I., 0

V. P. I., 15; W. & L., 0

Randolph-Macon, 17; Guilford, 6

North Carolina, 19; Georgia T., 0

Wake Forest, 7; George Washington, 6

Davidson, 7; Citadel, 7

Army, 14; Yale, 8

Swarthmore, 19; John Hopkins, 6

Princeton, 54; Cornell, 0

Notre Dame, 14; Navy, 0

Tennessee, 25; Centre, 14

Stanford, 6; Washington, 0

New Honor Society Initiates Members

Continued from page one

Among the committees which made this initiation possible were: The committee for Drawing Up a Constitution and By-Laws headed by Winnie Frances Eubank, including Agnes Bondurant, Marguerite York, Alice Grainger, having as their faculty advisers Miss Jennings and Miss Hiner — and The Committee for Selecting a Ritual and Ceremony headed by Emma Bingham, including Virgina Bean, and Lucille Rhodes, having as their faculty adviser, Miss Nichols. Since the officers for this society have not at the present time been elected, Professor Grainger appointed a nominating committee composed of Bonnie Lane and Mrs. Sallie Rode, Nora Rawlinson with Misses Hiner and Foster as advisers. Thus the election is to be held very soon.

The name "Beorc Eh Thorn" which has been chosen by Professor Grainger and the members, is a combination of Old English letters which are highly symbolic of the aims and purposes of the society.

Interracial Group Convenes Oct. 29

Continued from page one

the horse is stolen," constant effort is made to remove the sources of irritation and misunderstandings; and to build mutual goodwill which finds expression in justice and fairness. Its methods are quiet, dignified and factual. It relies upon educational and spiritual processes to improve attitudes responsible for unsatisfactory conditions."

The fine work of the commission is recognized by leading citizens of the state such as Governor Geo. C. Peery, Alexander W. Weddle, U. S. Ambassador to the Argentine; Sidney B. Hall, Superintendent of Public Instruction and others.

Poet of Virginia Inspires Students

Continued from page one

that she had an adventure bordering upon a Cinderella story. She so longed to see England that she wrote the poem "Return", expressing her hope that at least her ghost should wander along the lanes of that country some day. Through fortune, two English ladies living in Connecticut read it and felt that such a longing should not be denied. They sent for her and presented her with a check with which to make her dreams come true. It was during the time that she was preparing for this trip that she wrote "Going Up to London", which she read.

Several other of Miss Turner's poems had what she called "life stories", and she told some of them, also reading the poems themselves. "Epitaphs From a Country Dooryard" and "Wish" were two of these.

The next group of poems she read were those favorites of the south, the dialect poems. As a Virginian herself, Miss Turner has put the true spirit of the quaint darkies into poetry. Among the poems she read were "More Rain, More Rest"; "Ole Miss Polecat"; "Black Cat"; and "The Dark of the Moon".

Miss Turner also read a group of children's poems which show clearly why she is so deeply beloved by childhood today.

Some of them were: "To a Staring Infant in a Perambulator", "Two Ways of Dressing", "Whist", and "Molly Hare."

As an introduction to a group of poems on more serious subjects, Miss Turner told of an amusing incident which occurred recently. She had been reading to the young people in a Jr. High School poems which she felt were of interest to the group. After reading one little boy asked her, "Miss Turner, don't you ever write anything serious?" One of the most beautiful of this group that she read was "Death Is an Old Door". It is one which everyone should know. Others of these were "Who Makes a Garden", "The Summons", "Wild Geese," and "A Boy's Heritage."

It is the consensus of opinion that Miss Nancy Byrd Turner is the most charming personage we have ever had the pleasure of having with us. Her keen sense of humor, her imagination, her quiet yet delightful personality have endeared her to all. It was an experience none may forget.

Dr. Zehmer Speaks To Students, Faculty

Continued from Page 1

culum that have influenced civilization. Each of the changes mentioned—that among the Hebrews, that in Rome, in Greece, in the Christian Church—was preceded by a clash between conservatives and radicals. Out of such conflicts some good has usually come, he said. The outstanding example, according to Zehmer, is Greece, whose educational crisis gave the world Socrates, Plato, and Aristotle.

The changes of today, the educator continued, are not different from those of the past, except that they are more acute. This, he said, is a result of the depression.

Dr. Zehmer concluded by saying that revision is necessary, inevitable, desirable, but that there is danger that external forces will urge radical changes in the educational systm rather than careful revision.

Dr. F. B. Simkins Attends Convention

Continued from Page 1

Bruce of Hollins and Professor Helderman from Washington and Lee.

Students taking sociology course in college attended the meetings.

Farmville Mfg. Co.
BUILDING MATERIALS
MILLWORK
Farmville, Va.

C. E. Chappell Co.
Visit Us For the Best Fountain Service

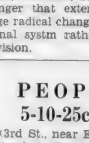
Students To Visit Caverns

A scene in one of the caverns in the Valley of Virginia near Harrisonburg. Students attending the Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association will have the opportunity of visiting one of these beautiful caverns.

Addie Norfleet Is S. T. C. Circus Queen

Continued from Page 1

and the ladies and gentlemen of the old plantation graced the scene with the Virginia Reel. The Freshmen Class gave a boxing match, having as its audience well-known celebrities. The Junior Class portrayed Mother Goose nursery rhymes. The Senior Class presented Popeye, Olive Oyl, Wimpy, Sweet-Pea, Mr. Geezel, and Castor Oil with his detectives in a "greasy" restaurant.



The crowd enjoyed the peep show, the fortune telling, the ten pen alley, and the dance garden, and many new features.

PEOPLE'S 5-10-25c Store
(3rd St., near Express Office)
Extends to Faculty & Students of S. T. C. a cordial invitation to visit Farmville's only locally owned 5 & 10c Store
SPECIAL ORDERS TAKEN FOR YOUR CONVENIENCE
C. C. Atkinson (Cousin Tommy's son)
Rosa Willims Atkinson (S. T. C. Alumna)

H. M. WELLS CONFECTIONERY
Food for the Parties
Two blocks from College Campus

STANLEY A. LEGUS
TAILOR
CLEANING
PRESSING
REPAIRING
Phone 203

SUPPERS AND SMALL PARTIES
Good Breakfast
Dinners
Suppers
College Tea Room
and
LONGWOOD

Gorgeous Evening dresses in New Chenile Transparent velvet ..... $7.45 and $14.45
Brush Wool Twin Sweaters—in bottle green, rust brown and royal blue ..... $1.97 and $2.97
Beautiful Sport Skirts—solid colors and plaids at $2.94
BE SMART—SHOP AT THE
DOROTHY MAY STORES

EXQUISITE, PERSONAL
ENGRAVED STATIONERY
100 SHEETS
100 ENVELOPES
ENGRAVED
ALL FOR
$2
SEE OUR BEAUTIFUL SAMPLES
The Farmville Herald
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

Gray's Drug Store
PURE DRUGS—MEDICINES
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Quality—Price—Service
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

You Would Love to Have Your Shoes Fixed at
Lovelace Shoe Shop
110 Third Street

Mack's
BARBER AND BEAUTY SHOP
323 Main Street
Phone 360

ROSE'S
On the Corner
5-10-25c Store
School Supplies
FULL FASHIONED HOSIERY
ROOM FURNISHINGS
AT POPULAR PRICES

B uy
U nusual
T reats
C old drinks
H uge cones
E legant fruits
R oasted peanuts
S nappy snacks

EACO THEATRE
Adults, 25c; Children, 15c Unless Otherwise Noted

Thursday, Friday Oct. 31-November 1
Norma Shearer
Frederic March
LESLIE HOWARD
"SMILIN' THRU"
Memories and Melodies
Adults 25c and 35c

Sat., Nov. 2 News
Wallace Beery
Jackie Cooper
Spanky McFarland
"O'SHAUGHNESSY'S BOY"
Cartoon and Novelty

Next Mon.-Tues, Nov. 4 and 5
Jack Benny
Una Merkel
Nat Pendleton, Ted Heady
IT'S IN THE AIR
The Comedy Hit of the Year
"Sporting Nuts" News
Adults 25c and 35c

Next Wed., Nov. 6
Jane Withers
Sally Blane
"This Is the Life"
Also Betty Boop Cartoon and TOM MIX in Chapter 14 "THE MIRACLE RIDER"
Next, Will Rodgers

"No man is without fault."
Voltaire

The College World . . . In Pictures

"One Picture Tells as Much as Ten Thousand Words"

Shutters click . . . flashlights flare . . . cameramen are "Johnny on the spot" wherever and whenever anything of interest to the college student happens . . . to bring to the Editor of Collegiate Digest three thousand pictures every month . . . but of course it is only possible to bring you the best of these . . . in addition to the numerous collegiate features appearing exclusively in Collegiate Digest every week with

STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE ROTUNDA

HEAR
LEONARD
CRASKE

The Rotunda

We Teach To Teach

GIVE HOCKEY TEAM
A SEND-OFF

Volume XVI. FARMVILLE, VA., WEDNESDAY, NOV. 6, 1935 No. 6

Leonard Craske to Appear at S. T. C. On November 12

Next Lyceum Program Features Noted Sculptor

S. T. C. will present Leonard Craske, noted sculptor for its second Lyceum, Tuesday, November 12.

Mr. Craske was born in England and educated at London University and St. Thomas' Hospital. At the latter institution he was a demonstrator in biology and pathology, while he studied anatomy. There the lure of Medical research and an assistant professorship almost called him from sculpture.

He studied drawing under the Dickaie's and in numerous art schools. After working as assistant to Paul M. Monlford, English Sculptor, he broadened his interests by acting. In addition he produced numerous plays and designed stage scenery. Mr. Craske came to this country in 1912, and during the war, when the demand for sculpture was limited, he worked with the English Company of the Capley Theatre in Boston.

Since 1920 Mr. Craske has produced numerous works which have made him well known throughout the country. Among the best known are:

The Glouchester Fisherman, World War Memorial at Amesbury, Mass., The Delong Memorial in New York City, The Joy of Life at Peterboro, N. H.

Annual Fall Dance Proves Successful

Orchestra Furnishes New Song Hits for Cotillion

Eight hundred people attended the annual fall dance of the Cotillion Club on Saturday, Nov. 2. The Royal Virginian's, University of Virginia orchestra, furnished the music for the dance. One hundred alumnae returned for the occasion.

The receiving line included Miss Mary White Cox, Dr. J. L. Jarman and the officers of the club, namely: Grace Eubank, president; Martha Nottingham, leader; Billy Wilkerson, secretary - treasurer; and Florence Sanford, business manager.

Dr. Jarman, Miss Mary and members of the faculty and home o ce department chaperoned the dance.

The gymnasium was decorated with original drawings of favorite motion picture stars. The decorations were very effective and attractive.

Punch was served in the Student Building Lounge during intermission. Miss Jane Royall, Mrs. H. K. Laing, Mrs. Eva H. Warren, and Mrs. Tabb presided at the punch bowls.

Miss Frances Potts Married To Mr. Wm. Johnson, Nov. 5

Miss Frances Potts, daughter of Mrs. Reginald Potts and the late Dr. Potts became the bride of William Woodland Johnson of Norfolk and St. Louis in a beautiful ceremony at the home of Dr. J. Manning Potts of Richmond, a brother of the bride. Dr. J. Manning Potts officiated, assisted by another brother, Rev. Edgar Allan Potts of Suffolk.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother wore a schooner blue ensemble with blue fox collar and her flowers were

Continued on page 3

Missionary Speaks To Student Body

Christian Worker In Brazil Gives Talk

Mr. Moreland, a missionary to Brazil, gave the student body an interesting talk on the twelfth Quadrennial Convention sponsored by the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. of all the countries of the world. Youth from outstanding colleges and universities throughout the United States and foreign nations will participate in this conference that is to be held in Indianapolis, Indiana, December 28-January 2. Delegates from University of Virginia, Hollins, Randolph-Macon, and other Virginia colleges will be sent to this sixth day get-together. Mr. Moreland urged that S. T. C. should be represented in this world-wide conference.

This conference will have world wide famous men of every nation as speakers, seminary leaders and directing participants in the youth

Continued on page 4

Miss Iler Announces Varsity Hockey Squad

Miss Olive T. Iler, varsity coach at S. T. C., announced the varsity hockey squad this week. The first game of the season will be played at the State Hockey to be held at William and Mary on November 8 and 9. The Farmville team will leave school Friday morning at 10:30 A. M. As yet the opposing team has not been announced.

The following girls made the varsity squad: Mary Lena Anderson, Mary Elizabeth Badger, Kathleen Bailey, Edna Bolick, Mary Bowles, Army Butterworth, Susie Clark, Jennie Belle Gilliam, Rosalie Grear, Katherine Irby, Nelwyn Latimer, Bess Mcclothlin, Madeline McGlothlin, Elizabeth McIntosh, Bernice Mann, Evelyn Massey, Martha Nottingham, Mildred Potter, Kathleen Ranson, Kitty Roberts, Edith Samford, Linda Walker, M. Wilkerson, and Marguerite York. This list is subject to change at any time.

Kathleen Ranson was unanimously elected captain of the varsity hockey team Tuesday afternoon.

Monogram Club Bids Four New Members

Mary Lena Anderson, Edith Samford, Linda Walker, and Marguerite York were initiated into the Monogram Club Tuesday night at 7:30. These members of the junior and senior classes have participated in athletics and have been outstanding in the field of sports while at S. T. C.

Officers for the 1935-'36 session were elected and installed after the initiation of new members. The officers are: Kathleen Ranson, president; Evelyn Massey, vice-president; Marguerite York, secretary, and Linda Walker, treasurer.

The purpose of the Monogram Club is to recognize athletic ability, sportsmanship, and scholarship among the students of the college. Requirements for membership demand an average of at least C on all class work, an athletic record of 400 points including 75 points for physical efficiency tests, and the general test of sportsmanship. However, if a girl has made a record of 600 points and has made a genuine effort to pass the physical efficiency tests and has met the other requirements, she is eligible for membership in the club.

Points are given for leading hikes and count honor points.

Fall Play To Be "A Night in August"

H. S. C. Jongleurs and S. T. C. Dramatic Club announce November 22 as the date of their fall production. The cast has held practices for the past three weeks and advance notices predict that this year's play bids fair to surpass the successes of the past.

The scene is laid in Spain—in Madrid to be more exact, and an authentic tone is lent to the story when it learned that not only is the author Spanish, and so it should be surmised well acquainted with his settings, but also the play itself is a direct translation from the author's tongue, faithfully depicting the Spanish idiom which adds a piquant touch to the conversation. Action centers on Rosario Castellanos, spoiled darling of three brothers and a grandmother. Quite by accident and in a most unconventional way she meets De Cordoba, an eminent author of love stories. The progress of their acquaintatnce makes the story, which is written with a great deal of wit and action.

Fall productions for some time past have been confined with only a touch of a love episode to add interest. In response to popular demand, this play is a pure love story. Those who have been closely associated with the clubs for several years express enthusiasm over the response to the type of play selected. The comparatively large cast includes varying types in both masculine and feminine parts

The cast as announced is:

Rosario, Frances Britton; Dona Barbarita, Amanda Gray (Chubby); Maria Pepa, Gertrude Levy; Irene, Virginia Agee; Amalia, Helen Wilkins; De Corba, Jim Elder; Emilio, Billy Willis; Mario, Horace Cromer; Pepe, Van Alford; Don Juan,, Webb Surratt; Guillermo, Dave White.

Mathematical Lore Increases Rapidly

Dr. J. S. Miller, head of Mathematics Department, Emory and Henry College, in a recent discussion did not support the belief that mathematics is different from the other branches of science in that it is in a static condition rather than in a condition of growth and expansion. This belief is partly true and partly false. It is quite true that the theorems of mathematics are not periodically revised or discarded like those relating, say, to the constitution of matter or the nature of electricity, but it is not expanding by leaps and bounds. In fact it is growing so rapidly and in so many directions that no one pretends to be an expert in all of its ramifications.

The last century has been a veritable age of mathematics. No other period of world history is comparable to it in breadth and depth of mathematical achievement.

One of those most notable lives of activity in the modern era has been a more critical analysis of the fundamental assumptions on which the whole superstructure of mathematics tests and a more vigorous treatment of theorems and processes whose correctness has been taken more or less for granted. It also remained for the modern era to clear away the fog of confusion which for more than twenty centuries bring over one

Continued on Page 4

"Beorc Eh Thorn" To Elect Officers

"Beorc Eh Thorn", the recently founded honorary fraternity for English, will complete its formal initiation of members on Thursday night at eight o'clock in the honor room.

Tohe members, initiated on October 25, 1935, will participate in the initiatory rites, after which a business meeting will be conducted by Mary Robeson, the temporary chairman. The purpose of this meeting will be to hear the results of the nominating committee composed of Mrs. Sallie Rode, chairman, Bonnie Lane, Louise Lewis, Miss Foster and Miss Hiner; after this, elections will be held to determine the officers for the coming year.

After the official organization has been completed, the society will hold its regular meeting the first and third Thursday night of each month at eight o'clock in the honor room, as designated by Professor James M. Grainger.

NOTICE

In compilation of the list of departmental majors in a recent issue of the Rotunda, physical education majors were omitted. There are fourteen girls electing this field in which to specialize. We regret this error.

Footsteps in Library Show Personalities of Students

Truly, feet are a delightfully versatile portion of the human body. Aside from serving as a foundation for a human body to stand upon and as shock absorbers when the body is in motion, they express the thoughts and feelings—the personality—of their owners.

Have you ever analyzed personalities as indicated by footfalls? In the library, at least 98 per cent of the girls use their feet, especially the heel part, to call attention to themselves as they move down the aisles of the reading room. Some girls even swing their feet with ease into the seat of another chair when they are seated at a reading table. In the distance, one hears that clear, distinct, fast tapping step that indicates that its owner is a slender athletic girl. She is probably quick tempered—one who likes very much to have her own way. Just a minute! Now, one hears coming a slow heavy thump-thump. Doubtless, that comes from a rather heavy weight girl with big, lazy, dreamy eyes. She, Martha we will call her, is a good-natured person with lots of friends who run to her for help.

Have you ever heard a quick step like the beat of a drum played in three-fourths time? Out in the hall, I hear a step like that right now. She, who walks thus, must be a large, jolly girl with lots of pep and vim. She is the kind of girl who drives away the blues.

Now a soft, firm step approaches. Unquestionably, this high-spirited girl is small in stature. She is a student and she has clear, sound judgment. She is the kind of girl whom everyone admires.

Friends, come to the library some day to study personalities. By their footsteps we shall know them.

Physical Educator Will Visit College

Alumna of Farmville is Faculty Member at N. C. C. W.

Miss Mary Channing Coleman, professor of physical education at Woman's College of the University of North Carolina, in Greensboro, will come to Farmville Monday, November 11.

A former student of this institution, Miss Coleman will talk in chapel Monday on the recreational activities in Farmville when she was a member of the student body. She will also give addresses to several physical education classes.

A nationally known physical educator, and the former president of the National Physical Education Association, Miss Coleman is the first person from the south to have held this office. She is charter member of the women's division of the National Amateur Athletic Federation, and of the national committee on women's athletics.

Since 1922, Miss Coleman has been head of the physical education department at Woman's College. She has taught physical education at Winthrop College, South Carolina; she has been supervisor

Continued on Page 4

Alumnae Association Presents Amateur Program

At the sound of the gong a new type of program in the appearance of an Amateur Hour was presented Friday evening in the college auditorium by the Farmville Alumnae Association. The auditorium was filled to its capacity and people were forced to stand during the program.

"Tub" Oliver and his orchestra opened the program with a series of dance numbers which were quite popular with the audience. The arrangement of the story of the huntsman told with music showed quite a bit of originality while the imitations of Guy Lombardo and Jan Garber proved to be unusually attractive.

Grace Eubank who sang the popular selection, "You Are My Lucky Star" received first prize among the amateur performances. Second prize went to Gwen Bell, tap dancer, and third place was awarded Alice Grainger who played a flute solo. Approximately 18 amateurs participated in this initial program.

Delegates Discuss National Problems

In an open-forum held in the small auditorium last Friday night defenders of Progressive views declared that the states were losing their importance as units of government. On the other hand, the Conservatives prophesied the downfall of our nation if the principals of its great Constitution should be changed.

Representatives from four colleges, other than S. T. C. spoke in the Open-Forum, before a large audience of students. Dr. Walmsley of the S. T. C. faculty presided and introduced each speaker with a humorous and knowing remark. Margaret Pollard of S. T. C. first gave the theory of governmental division of power between nation and state and also a brief history of the question of State versus Federal rights.

Jimmy Turner of Randolph-Macon the first speaker upheld the Progressive view of the question M. Lazenby of West Hampton then took the side of the Conservatives in her speech. The second speaker for the Progressives was

Continued on Page 4

Yearbook Receives State Recognition In V.I.P.A. Contest

Thomas of W. & M. Elected President For 1936

That "The Virginian", S. T. C. annual, won second place in class B annuals at the Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association, is the news brought back by delegates who attended the convention at Harrisonburg, November 1 and 2.

"The Web," University of Virginia annual, won first place in class B annuals.

The "Ring-Tum Phi" of Washington and Lee was placed first among class A newspapers, the University of Richmond "Collegion" first among class B papers. The "Stratford Traveler" of Stratford College was first among class C papers, and first place in class D went to the "Chanticleer" of Averett College.

Dr. O. W. Riegel, director of the Lee School of Journalism, Washington and Lee University, made the opening address on Friday afternoon. His talk was followed by discussion groups for the various school publications. Beverly Britton of Richmond led the group representing magazines and handbooks; A. A. Lubersky, vice-president and sales manager of the S. K. Smith Company of Chicago directed the discussion of the editors of annuals; Dr. Reigel met with editors of newspapers; S. Frank Straus, president of Pub-

Continued on Page 4

Depts. Will Stage Educational Skits

S. T. C. Will Observe Education Week Nov. 11-16

National Education week will be observed all over the United States from November 11 through 16. Dr. Wynne who is general chairman of the celebration at S. T. C. has announced that "The High School—Old and New" a short drama, will be presented in chapel Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week. The drama is to be divided into three skits the first of which will be directed by Miss Taylor and Miss London and enacted by members of the English and Math departments. On Thursday, the second of the series, will be presented by Pi Gamma Mu and the Latin department under the direction of Dr. Walmsley and Miss Rice. Miss Peek's history methods groups will present the third division of the program on Friday.

Working on the committee with Dr. Wynne are Doris Moore, student chairman, and Hazel Smith, president of the study body.

Methodist Girls Are Dinner Guests of Church Society

Mrs. J. B. Crute presided as hostess at a dinner given by the Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist church at 6 o'clock on Friday, November 1 at the church. Those invited were the members of the College Girls' Sunday school class and the Wesley Foundation. Other guests included Dr. Walmsley, Mr. Coyner, Miss Mary Clay Hiner, and the Rev. and Mrs. R. O. Bryant.

After a delicious dinner served by the town girls who are students in college Elizabeth Walton made a brief address of welcome. Tac Waters expressed the appreciation of everyone present to the ladies for their kindness.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Published by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

1935 Member 1936
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

Staff

Florence Sanford ..... Editor
Agnes Bondurant ..... Associate Editor
Evelyn Massey ..... Business Manager

Board of Editors

Alma Nelson ..... Alumnae
Mabel Lambert ..... Make-up
Susan Gresham ..... Headlines
Emma Bingham ..... Literary
Bess McGlothlin, Elizabeth Morris, Mary Adeline McGlothlin ..... Editorials
Claire Eastman ..... World News
Margaret Fraley ..... Socials
Kathleen Ranson ..... Sports

Proof Readers

Elizabeth Walton, Dorothy Deans

Managers

Elsie Cabell ..... Circulation
Ruth Phelps ..... Asst. Circulation
Louise Gathright ..... Asst. Circulation

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1935

Hard on the "F. F. V.'s"

Those Virginians who lay claim to descet from the "first families of Virginia" will now have to trace their ancestry back a century or two before the Indians were found by British colonists. At least this may be implied from the news that a partial picture of people who preceded the Indians has been recreated by David I. Bushnell, Jr., Smithsonian ethnologist.

One of the implements of these early Virginian's that Bushnell has used in his discoveries is a flaked, ax-like object made of diabase, a native rock found near the Rapidan River in Orange County.

The discovery that people lived here in the Stone Age is a slap in the face to Virginia aristocracy, similar to Will Rogers' answer to the descendent of a Mayflower passenger. When told by a full-blooded American that his ancestors came over on the Mayflower, Will replied, "That ain't nothing; mine met them when they got off the boat."

The descendents of the "first families of Virginia" 'will have to think fast if they give an answer that will enable them to maintain their identity after this discovery.

An Extra Cent on Every Dime!

That levying a sales tax would provide the best means wherby Virginia may carry out the national social security policy is the opinion expressed by several business and industrial groups at a meeting of the committee on taxation and government of the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce last week.

Virginia, undoubtedly, wishes to fulfill her new duties under the national social legislation. Naturally the state, then, must raise more money. A sales tax is the only solution offered so far.

From the standpoint of the government, this proposed tax, which is already in force in twenty-four states, is direct and easily enforced. From the standpoint of the buyer, it is very inconvenient. Those who have crossed the border into West Virginia this year know how inconvenient it is to buy a pair of dollar hose and they have to break a second one-dollar note in order to pay the two cents sales tax. One has to have anunlimited supplies of pennies on hand in order to save time in making purchases.

College students would feel the effects of a sales tax very forcibly. It would mean that the allowances won't go as far as it did. However, though this tax is inconvenient, if the Legislative Assembly this winter sees fit to pass such a tax so as to carry forward social legislation, we will soon forget the inconvenience of carrying an extra penny for every nickel or dime to be spent.

Self-Supporting Students

"Seventy-two per cent of the students are self-supporting," reports one western college. Sixty-seven per cent of another college belongs to the self-supporting group and a majority of the western state colleges can quote similar figures.

This would seem to indicate the colleges are becoming more democratic and that the men and women of the working class are receiving the benefits to be derived from higher education.

Working students are divided into two distinct classes. The first class includes students who have stayed out of college for one or two or even three years after finishing high school. They have worked and saved their earnings and are investing them in education. These students are self-supporting and it is safe to say that they will make the best of educational opportunities. This class of student should be encouraged.

The second class far outnumbers the first. This is composed of students who are attempting to earn a living and gain an education at the same time, and incidentally are doing a poor job of both. In the afternoon he is found working in a soda fountain; at night he crams for his assignments. On the morrow he sits in class listlessly and half asleep.

Wouldn't it be more practical in the long run for this second type of student to spend a year or two in work before entering college? With some money in the bank he would be able to concentrate on his work protect his health and be a more valuable contributor to the college community.

War

Though nations may be imperialistic and greedy, their people are usually peace-loving. There was a time when an appeal to men's patriotism was sufficient cry to arouse them to arms. Now there is more to be considered. The average man the world over does not want war; he does not seek to kill and be killed. Though he may sometimes approve the policy of his nation's leader, he will not voluntarily go afield to fight the nation's battles; he prefers peace and the blessings of peace his hearth offers It is the leaders of a nation that declare wars, and then those leaders depend upon the people—the average man—to fight those wars. He must be the patriot—so he shoulders his gun and marches off to war—perhaps never to return. He didn't want the war, but there was nothing he could do—one man against the decision of a nation. But is war the will of a nation? Does not every heart thrill to the thought of peace? Does not every human—every mass of people want to avert war? They do.

Now, the Italian people do not wish their loved ones to die in the mires of Ethiopia. This is Mussolini's present problem. Already, the Italian spokesman at Geneva is ready to negotiate for peace with Ethiopia. League of Nations leaders forecast difficulties in the negotiations. The League is desirous of peace and thinks peace would be advantageous over war. The nations are trying to impress this upon Mussolini. Since Italy has been deemed an aggressor, she should not only receive less but whatever she shall receive, should be diminished in proportion to the length of the war she is carrying on with Ethiopia.

It is impossible to get a college degree in Italy now without a proficiency in military science.

Rotunda Reverberations

What a week-end—all it lacked was sleep. The old girls are as swell as ever, but as loud as ever too. The vehemence of them all was confusing to me at times. They've grown up since they left us—and the way they all strutted in and out of the Weyanoke made me feel young and unsophisticated. Oh well. There'll come a time.

Fellow-grinds, there is one person who cries over leaving S. T. C. When she isn't a senior, or even a student here. The guilty party is Jean Leonard—Virginia's sister. As for Virginia, she had the "Willies" all week-end.

Jean Willis had us all excited over a brilliant solitaire, but it turned out to be only glass which, incidentally, is an insult to our abilities as analysists.

I knew there was a ping pong table in the "Rec" but I didn't know there was "Bolling" there too. Anyway from what I hear tell "it" was pretty much in evidence Sunday night. Am I right?

One thing we can't check is where Margaret Pittard was Sunday afternoon. Well, we missed you, Margaret.

That little Jeffers girl gets entirely too much mail from one source and that goes for Rat Easley, too. Maybe my jealousy is coming to the front.

Rose, watch your step. Next time you'll either break your neck or get the boys in jail. And the sleep Miss Mary would lose.

Sue Lane surely gets those Alabama calls. Maybe the guy's homesick.

Julia Ann is so very upset over a boy that she even goes to fortune tellers to corroborate the fact that he loves her.

World News

King George Returns to Grecian Throne

At last, it has been made known to the world that King George II has resumed his throne after having given it up by request twelve years ago.

George Kondylis, head of the new government, seems to think a new era of reconstruction is approaching since no political parties will be on docket to limit the monarchy.

It appears as if the majority of the city of Athens, as well as ninety percent of the whole nation, was in favor of his restoration, and celebrated this noted "home-coming" by a parade which included the populace, sailors, and soldiers, while church bells resounded through out the city.

Since the event is bearing a stand-still, the world anxiously wishes the nation much success.

Hope Of Early Peace Of The Italo-Ethiopian Affair Abandoned

Since Italian forces continue their siege and march on toward Makale, Geneva has come to the conclusion that peace is far away from the eyes of the populace. Also in spite of the fact of Italy's announcement of her intention to cooperate in the peace movement, eutral diplomats still seem to vision a wide chasm, separating Italy and the league.

Sir Samuel Hoare, the British foreign secretary, and Premier Laval of France have offered their assistance by promising determined efforts to advocate peace negotiations before November 18, and also the enforcement of sanctions, automatically.

Even though the Ethiopians have decided to offer resistance by the use of radio sets, which aid in taking the place of an almost complete lack of telegraph and telephone lines, thereby increasing the span of war, the world is solely depending on England and France to calm the situation.

Alumnae News

Miss Lillian Minor of Norfolk, governor of the National Quota Club, will preside at the meeting of the advisory council of the tenth district of the National Quota Clubs.

The tenth district is composed of Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania, and Washington Clubs.

Announcement has been made by Mrs. Minitree Folkes, VERA senior case worker for Hanover County, of the appointment of Mrs. Alfred W. Turner (Maria Meredith) as director of women's work for that county.

Mrs. Turner will have charge of the sewing and other domestic arts pograms of the relief work in that county.

Miss Frances Sanders of Max Meadows who was recently appointed assistant director of the National Youth Administration for Virginia, in charge of young women's activities, has assumed her duties at the headquarters office in Richmond, according to announcement made by Dr. Walter S. Newman, director for Virginia.

Miss Sanders has completed six years as a teacher of vocational home making in Wythe County and two years in Northumberland County.

Mistr—Noel

A quiet but pretty marriage took place at the Farmville Baptist church Sunday afternoon, October 27 at 4 o'clock when Miss Grace Noel, daughter of Mrs. W. E. Noel and the late W. E. Noel of Farmville, became the bride of Alfred F. Mistr of Varina.

After an extended wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Mistr will make their home at Varina where Mr. Mistr is engaged in extensive dairying industries.

Warren—Riddle

A marriage of wide interest was solemnized on Saturday evening, October 26 at Whittles Methodist church in Chatham when Agnes Riddle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frazer Riddle of Chatham became the bride of Mr. Melvin Warren, son of Mr. and Mrs Frederick S. Warren of Middleburg.

After a motor trip to Florida and Louisiana, Mr. and Mrs. Warren will make their home in Middleburg where Mr. Warren holds a position with the Post Office Department.

Parcells—Hatchett

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Hatchett of Petersburg have announced the marriage of their daughter, Mary Frances, to William Howard Parcells of Detroit, Michigan. The wedding took place at the home of the bride in Petersburg at 5:00 P. M. on September 25. Mrs. Parcells is a graduate of the class of 1930 and was assistant in the Physical Education Department for a number of years. Mr. and Mrs. Parcells are now living in Detroit.

At Other Colleges

College men are too diffident and refined to make good salesmen, in the opinion of Charles C. Knight, an English business executive who addressed a meeting of sales managers here recently.

"For 99 per cent of salesmen in their daily work, the university man has no advantage over the secondary schoolboy," he believes. "What use is a knowledge of Latin or Greek, or higher mathematics, to a salesman who is selling soap to a small shopkeeper—or, for that matter selling steel to a motor-car manufacturer?

"It is easy to talk in platitudes about a liberal education, but every employer of labor knows that the possession of a good academic record is absolutely no guarantee that commercial success will follow.

"I was tempted to wonder whether an education which continued into the early twenties does not end to fuddle the mind rather than sharpen the wits," he concluded.

Comes this tale to light: In 1933 a state university in the South

Continued on page 3

Walt Whitman

"The proof of a good poet is that his country absorbs him as affectionately as he has absorbed it."

Preface "Leaves of Grass"

Walt Whitman is the poet of November. Many of his poems are familiar and well loved. For those who enjoy reminiscences of others as well as their own, read "A Back Glance O'er Traveled Roads"—the preface to Walt Whtiman's November Boughs."

Here, for your pleasure, are some of his poems.

I Hear America Singing

I hear America singing, the varied carols I hear,
Those of merchanics, each one singing his art as it should be blithe and stronge,
The carpenter singing his as he measures his plank or beam,
The mason singing his as he makes ready for work, or leaves off work,
The boatman singing what belongs to him in his boat, the deck-hand singing on the steamboat deck.
The shoemaker singing as he sits on his bench, the hatter singing as he stands,
The woodcutter's son, the ploughboy's on his way in the morning, or at noon intermission or at sunset,
The delicious singing of the mother, or of the young wife at work, or of the young girl sewing or washing,
Each singing what belongs to him or her and to none else,
The day that belongs to the day—at night the party of young fellows, robust, friendly,
Singing with open mouths their strong melodious songs.

To the Garden of the World

To the garden the world anew ascending,
Potent mates, daughters, sons, preluding,
The love, the life of their bodies, meaning and being,
Curious here behold my resurection after slumber,
The revolving cycles in their wide sweep having brought me again,
Amorous, mature, all beautiful to me, all wondrous,
My limbs and the quivering fire that ever plays through them, for reasons more wondrous,
Existing I peer and penetrate still,
Content with the present, content with the past,
By my side or back of me Eve following,

In Paths Untrodden

In paths untrodden,
In the growth by margins of ponds,
Escaped from the life that exhibits itself,
From all the standards hitherto publish'd, from the pleasures, profits, conformities,
Which too long I was offering to feed my soul,
Clear me now standards not yet publish'd clear to me that my soul,
That the soul of the man I speak for rejoices in comrades,
Here by myself away from the clank of the world,
Tallying and talking her to tongues aromatic,
No longer abashed, (for in this secluded spot I can respond as I would not dare elsewhere,)
Strong upon me the life that does not exhibit itself, yet contains all the rest,
Resolv'd to sing no songs today but those of manly attachment,
Projecting them along that substantial life,
Bequeathing hence types of athletic love,
Afternoon this delicious Ninth-month in my forty-first year,
I proceed for all who are or have been young men,
To tell the secret of my nights and days,
To celebrate the need of comrades.

SOCIALS

Although Thanksgiving is just around the corner the globe trotters of S. T. C. had to go home for the week-end. The following girls went home for the week-end:

Home: Ethel Burgess, Ellenah Bradshaw, Jacqueline Beal, Louise Baily, Pauline Button, Elizabeth Burke, Edna Bolick, Inez Chappell, Louise Chadler, Yetive Dawson, Evelyn Dickerson, Kitty Spiers, Erna Dickerson, Louise DeJarnette, Katherine Habel, Mildred Habel, Meyra Hines, Cornelia Jeffress, Mildred Lohr, Rachael Moseley, Mary Louise McCullough, Elizabeth Prince, Irene Parker, Louise Partridge, Nannie Mae Parker, Elizabeth Puckett, Virginia Price, Thulia Park, Elinor Shackleton, Sylvia Somers, Lucy Smith, Mildred Shelton, Mildred Slayton, Brownie Shenton, Elizabeth Tindall, M. Francis Thomas, Irene Taylor, Marjorie Thompson, Mary Wood, Eloise Williams, Virginia Yager, Francis Williams, Le Noir Hubbard, Pauline Pearson, Elna Shorter, Ethel McPherson, Mary Ethel Barnes, Becky Gillette and Audrey Wilson.

To Harrisonburg: Elsie Cabell, Emma Bingham, Florence Sanford, Ruth Montgomery and Virginia Baker spent the past week-end in Harrisonburg State Teachers' College where they attended the Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association.

To Roanoke: Gwendolyn Bell, Blanche Lewis, Elise McMillion, Elizabeth Stone, Elizabeth Himes.

To Lynchburg: Grace Bass, Agnes Crockett, Dot Deans, Martha Floyd, Margaret Long, India Martin, Margaret Pritchard.

Other Places: Cassell Boswell, Burkeville; Louise Briggs, Sebrell; Catherine Boyette, Newsoms; Juliette Barrett, Newsoms; Murrill Bowman, Gretna; Mary Wilson Clark, Victoria; Kitty Chappell, Grand Caverns; Virginia Scanland, Crewe; Virginia Hall, Richmond; Francis Paris, Crewe; Elizabeth Walton, Amelia; Lucille Davis, Crewe; Marjorie Robertson, Dillwyn; Josephine Quinn, Victoria; Jane Main, Crewe; Elizabeth Trent, Grand Caverns, Margaret Crenshaw, South Boston; Virginia Doughty, Durham, N. C.; Mildred Gentry, Jetersville; Caroline Gwalthney, St. Stephens Church; Martha Gwaltney, Winsdor; Nell H. Gregord, Sonall, N. C.; Rebecca Gillette, Courtland; Francis Gaskins, Burkeville; Lelia Hill, Charlottesville; Mary Elizabeth Minor, Charlotesville; Cecile Hyde, Westhampton, Edith Hammock, Durham, N. C.; Ella B. Lewis, Appomattox; Bessie Mitchell, Sebrell; Rebecca Mayes, Jarrett; Anne McCready, Parksley; Addie Norfleet, Raleigh, N. C.; Patsy Nottingham, Durham, N. C.; Clara Pinkhard, Crewe; Fannie Mae Putney, Hutton; Agnes Powell, Victoria; Dorothy Rhodes, Centersville; Anthelia Robinette, Norfolk; Dorothy Rudder, Brookneal; and Inez Sikes, Boykins.

The dining hall was the scene of a surprise Hallowe'en dinner on Thursday evening, October 31. Dim, flickering, candles with their orange and black dress revealed a spook at every table and helped lend mystery to the occasion. During the meal songs were sung to Mrs. Jamison and Mrs. Shelton in appreciation of the delightful dinner.

Dr. Jarman will atend the Cooperative Education Association State Convention, which will be held in Norfolk, Nov. 5-9. Dr. Jarman is second Vice-President of the Convention.

Mrs. J. B. Crute graciously pre-

Don't forget the Pi Gamma Mu Tasting party to-morrow night in the "Rec" 5:30 to 7:30. Tickets will be on sale at the table in the hall to-morrow. Price 35c. Limited number: 75.

The girls majoring in home economics have resumed the meetings of the Home Economics Club. Agnes Crockett who was elected president of the organization last year found that she would be unable to accept the position so Dorothy Billings was elected to fill the office. Other officers to assist her are: Edna Bolick, secretary; Virginia Agee, social chairman; Miriam Ficklin, publicity chairman.

Don't forget the Pi Gamma Mu Tasting Party tomorrow night in the "Rec" from 5:30 till 7:30. Tickets will be on sale at the table in the hall tomorrow. Price 35c. Limited to 75 plates.

Apprentices Present "Locked Windows"

At the regular meeting of the Dramatic Club, Wednesday evening, in the auditorium, the apprentice group of the Club will present a second of the one act plays. Audrey Clements has had the wisdom to try a new scheme in her department and whether or not this turns out to be the best amateur play of all time, the girls who have worked under her supervision, but to a great extent on their own, will have had some very valuable experience. Marjorie Thompson, a freshman member of the acting group presents a cast directed by herself in the play, "Locked Windows."

The story of this short drama is interesting and rather unusual in a one act play. It represents a complex situation, of a tangled love affair.

The characters of the play are taken: Aunt Heloise by Alpha Lee Garnett, Mariah—Frances Hutcheson, Timothy—Virginia Hook, Dennis Collins—David Terry, Young Mariah—Cecile Hyde, Little Edna—Mary Sale, Young Heloise—Sarah Button, Minnie Allen—Kitty Mix.

Fall Cotillion Brings Thrill After Thrill

What thrills the soul, makes the pulses pound, gives such profound exhilaration as the sound of an orchestra tuning up—tuning up for the super-elegant Cotillion dance.

Last Saturday night a happy courageous group, exquisitely groomed and buoyantly filled with high spirits, joined the dancers. Bits of conversation floated about in mannish tones, alike and unlike; "You're so wonderful, break again. I'll tell you how wonderful you really are; No, I won't tell you my name until the last piece but I'll surely tell you then." (She never knew). Sweet girlish voices were heard murmuring incredulously. "Break him—who me? You must be ka-razy. He didn't dance with me once at Pan-Hells."

As the dance progressed, the boys with strained, grim smiles, showed new enthusiasm by dancing with even more vim, vigor and back-kicking steps. A record was made when a girl, breaking from behind, was kicked thirty-three feet over the orchestra platform. Last year's record was twenty-seven and a half feet. The fact must be taken into consideration however, that the present champion was ten pounds lighter than the "ex".

Sorority Averages

The sorority grades for the spring quarter of 1934-35 have been averaged. They run as follows:

Mu Omega	1.977
Sigma Sigma Sigma	1.821
Alpha Sigma Tau	1.685
Gamma Theta	1.515
Alpha Sigma Alpha	1.491
Pi Kappa Sigma	1.377

Thursday night Edna Harvey and Marjorie Robertson entertained the Mu Omega Sorority with a delightfully original Hallowe'en party in the Mu Omega chapter room. The Hallowe'en spirit was appropriately carried out in the decorations and games. After ghost stories were told, refreshments were served to the members.

Tuesday afternoon the Gamma Thetas gave an informal tea at Longwood for Mrs. B. E. Dotson, formerly Miss Mayo Beaty. Another guest at the tea was Mrs. Byd Copner.

Friday night the Pi Kappa Sigma Sorority had a banquet in the tea room in honor of the Pi Kap-

Class Notes

Regular class meetings were held Tuesday. Business discussed by classes is as follows:

Seniors—The chief topic for consideration was the dance which is to be given as their production this year. Plans have not been completed but an announcement will be made in the near future. Kathleen Ranson pepped the class up over seasonal sports.

Juniors—Presentation of classman will be made on December 1. Practice on songs will be started soon. Elsie Cabell spoke on sports in general.

Sophomores — The custom of having a short program at the end of the meeting was inaugurated for the remainder of the year. Appropriately a guest from Freshmban class supplied the first, a reading, "Yellow Butterlies" by Edith Kaler.

Freshmen—Explanation of the Student Standard Committee and of the Athletic Association was given by Henrietta Salisbury and Louise Walmsley respectively. One of the newly elected cheer leaders, Nancy Slmen, lead the class in an original yell or two. Discussion of a class orchestra was begun but not completed. Marguerite Blackwell and Patty Bounds were the two representatives to Students Standards.

From the Column Book of F. P. A.

(Franklin Pierce Adams)

According to Mr. Otto Kahn's ten points of success in business, he got his first promotion when he was working as a postagestamp licker. Young Kahn used to be known in the office, we hear on perfectly terrible authority, as a lad who could lick his weight in postage stamps.

With Mr. Kahn's advice to be neighborly and a good sport we have no quarrel, except that it seems to us poor advice to give a man who wants to succeed in business. The poorhouse is jammed with gentlemen who, when asked, "Why are you here, my good man?"" answer, "I was too neighborly and too good a sport."

More of the milk of human kindness is what Mr. Kahn says young business men should have. Suggested slogan: The milk of human kindness!—from contented financiers.—Taken from "The Cream of the Jesters."

TEACHER'S OATH

Sir—Twenty States are now enforcing statutes which require teachers to subscribe to an oath of allegiance to the Constitution. Six States passed such legislation for the first time this year.

Contrary to alarmist opinion, an oath is not the beginning of educational regimentation. It promotes public confidence in the integrity of teachers, and it elevates them to their rightful place as public officers. At the same time it bars from the teaching profession persons who are opposed to constitutional government.

Franklin L. Burdette
Chapel Hill, N. C.

MISS FRANCES POTTS MARRIES IN RICHMOND

Continued from page 1

orchids. She was attended by Miss Louise Gooch of Portsmouth. The ring was carried by little Miss Nancy Potts of Lynchburg and C. Early Gettinger of Norfolk was pa Sigma Inspector, Mrs. A. C. Renz from Cincinnati, Ohio. After the banquet the members of the sorority, guests and alumna attended the Amateur Show which was sponsored by the Farmville Alumnae.

Student Building

During the administration of Dr. Jarman as President of our college, the campus has been greatly extended and many building have been erected. Perhaps the greatest achievement of all is the beautiful Student Building occupying the east end of the campus.

In the building are housed the student activities; here we find handsome rooms, beautifully equipped for the Student Government Association, the Y. W. C. A., Student Building Lounge, the cenauditorium, the Dramatic Club room, the honor society room, and sorority chapter rooms. Across the entire front of the building the Student Building Lunge, the center of social events, extends.

Four pictures which were gifts to the school add to the beauty and dignity of the room. "The Cornfield" by Constable and "The Swiss Village of Lanfernberg" by Cooper were presented by the class of 1925. The diploma class of that year added a third picture, "Peace and Plenty" by Innes. The fourth picture, "Mad Winter" by Janos Lil was a gift from the graduating class of August, 1928.

1921 marks the beginning of the real campaign for the raising of funds for the Student Building. This building was in reality built on faith, the faith of Dr. Jarman in his students, alumnae and friends. The State Legislature appropriated so much toward the fund, providing for the floor containing the gymnasium and Physical Education Department, and the fourth floor which serves as a dormitory. It took faith in great measure to begin this building which cost approximately one hundred seventy thousand dollars.

On every Founders Day students and alumnae present their birthday presents to their Alma Mater to be used in payment for this building. The debt has been reduced to a compartively small sum.

Intercollegiate News

Continued from page 2

discovered and trained a brilliant halfback through his freshman year. In the fall of 1934 he did not return. An intensive search found him on the squad of a western school. A prominent political figure whose heart was with the southern team notified the boy that if he did not return, his father would lose his position with the state highway department.

A degrading spectacle? A perplexing problem for the boy? Take another chaw and listen closer: The whole darn family of the lad was transported en masse to the western university, where his father got an even better position in th highway department of that state.

To you natural-born wallflowers:

Don't grieve and wince with envy as you watch a gifted pair of dancers glide by floating effortlessly as peanut shucks in a mud puddle. They may be in love, but on the other hand—ah, watch:

A criminology class at Syracuse University has discovered that morons can dance as well, if not better, than most people of normal mentality. They are gifted with an abnormally developed sense of rhythm, the students declare.

College is like a washing machine. You get out of it what you put in it, but you'll never recognize it.

Love is like poker. It takes a pair to open; she gets a flush; he shows diamonds; and it ends with a full house.

According to the Collegiate Digest a one-man tennis court at Harvard University makes it unnecessary for the server to chase balls during practice sessions. The ball is returned through a gutter in the center of the court no matter what part of the court it is served to.

the best man. The ribbons were carried by Reginald H. Potts III and J. Manning Potts II.

After a honeymoon at White Sulphur Springs, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson will make their home in St. Louis.

Mrs. Johnson is a graduate of Farmville State Teachers College, a member of the class of 1933. Among those attending the wedding were Miss Mary White Cox and Miss Jane Royall of Farmville.

Beginning My Studies

Beginning my studies the first step
pleased me so much,
The mere fact consciousness, these forms, the power of motion,
The least insect or animal, the senses, eyesight, love,
The first step I say awed me and
pleased me so much,
I have hardly gone and hardly wish to go any farther,
But stop and loiter all the time to sing it in ecstatic songs.

College Pie

A freshman is a pie before baking
A sophomore is a half-baked pie
A junior is a pie that has too much crust
A senior is a pie that has soaked too long.

Conoco Gas and Oil
Fill up at
JOHNS MOTOR CO.
Farmville, Va.

Electric Shoe Shop
It's smart to buy good shoes and then keep them repaired

Martin the Jeweler
College & Fraternity Jewelry
Gifts of lasting remembrance
317 MAIN ST. FARMVILLE

Southside Drug Store
Films Developed
F R E E
Try our tasty lunches

Shannon's
Is Headquarters for the Best
SANDWICHES
—and—
DRINKS
in Farmville

GILLIAM'S
Refreshments fo the Girls
One block from the campus
Let us supply your next "feast"

TAXI TAXI
Jitney Rides Day or Night Service
"Service that Counts"
H. M. WELLS, Day Phone 344
Night Phone 54M

RICE'S SHOE STORE
Street and Dress Shoes
Dancing Slippers Dyed
Correct fits our specialty

R. E. FISCHER
Radio Repairing
Formerly with Martin the Jeweler
PHONE 244M OR 283

Planters Bank and Trust Company
COMPLIMENTS
FARMVILLE, VA.

WILLIS
The Florist
Flowers for all occasions
PHONES 181-273

Kleanwell
CLEANERS AND TAILORS
Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling ladies garments
Main Street, opposite Post Office
Phone 98

TUSSY ROUGE
The grandest "smoothiest" Cream Rouge you ever saw. So soft ANYbody can put it on without blotching or streaking. And it lasts for hours. In smart exclusive Tussy Shades: Tea Rose, Apricot, Flame, Rose Coral, Raspberry. $1.00

BALDWIN'S
QUALITY - PRICE - SERVICE STORE
"The Style Shop for Ladies"
FARMVILLE, VA.

PHILCO RADIO
World's largest manufacturers of Radio
A complete line
Watch Repairing a Specialty
Sheet Music—Strings for Instruments
LYNN, The Main Street Jeweler

LOVELY SPORT COATS—$9.95 and $16.50, with new Fish-tail backs—Gorgeous Plaids.
SPort Oxfords and Dress Shoes, sizes 3 to 9
Widths from "AAA" to "C" ..... $2.95 and $3.95
YOU WILL LIKE TO SHOP HERE!

HUB DEPARTMENT STORE

Sport Slants

Everybody is all excited about the trip to Williamsburg. The tournament is to be held for two days, November 8th and 9th. Our girls will leave Friday morning at 10:30 from the Rotunda. Let's give them a good send-off! Songs and yells help a lot, and prove the school is really supporting and backing the team.

For those who did not make varsity—keep coming out. Learning to play a good game brings its own pleasure and excitement. Class games are bound to be better when girls have been loyal about practices. Those teams have not been selected yet, and every girl has a chance to show what she has that the team needs.

Miss Mary C. Coleman a prominent worker in the field of physical education and an alumna of Farmville will visit on the campus November 11. Miss Coleman will speak in chapel and in a number of the physical education classes while she is here.

Class hockey games will be played in the afternoon of Nov. 21!

The College High School will meet the Petersburg hockey team on their field Nov. 7. Estelle Mann, an outstanding player and athlete of the Senior class was elected captain Monday. The team is coached by student teachers of S. T. C.

Football Scores

Although many schools had dances last week-end football still held the limelight, and will continue to do so until after the traditional Thanksgiving games. Some of the teams that fought their way to victory last Saturday were:

Maryland, 14; Virginia, 7
W. Virginia, 20; W. & L., 0
Randolph-Macon, 27; Haverford, 6
V. P. I., 27; South Carolina, 0
Marshall, 14; Emory & Henry, 0
Hampden-Sydney, 27; St. Johns, 14
Harvard, 33; Brown, 6
Fordham, 0; Pittsburg, 0
Princeton, 26; Navy, 0
Cornell, 7; Columbia, 7
Boston College, 13; Providence, 6
Amherst, 13; Mass. State, 0
Georgetown, 7; Richmond, 0

Yearbok Receives State Recognition

Continued from page one

lisher's Representatives, Incorporated, Richmond, led the discussion of the business managers.

Dr. William L. Chenery, editor of "Collier's Weekly", spoke on "Opportunities in Journalism", Friday evening in the college auditorium. This was followed by a formal reception of delegates.

Saturday morning was occupied with short business sessions and informal discussions. The Convention dinner was held Saturday evening with R. Gray Williams acting as toastmaster. At this time the following officers for 1935-36 were announced: William Thomas of William and Mary, president; Carl Reuss, University of Virginia Miss Sarah Gray, Virginia Intermont, Park Rouse, Washington and Lee, and Charlotte Rice, Farmville, were announced vice-Presidents to assist Mr. Thomas. Miss Greta Grason, William and Mary, was named secretary-treasurer and Alexander Hudgins of Blackstone was chosen executive secretary again.

The 1936-'37 convention will meet at William and Mary.

Virginia Baker and Ruth Montgomery of The Virginian staff, Emma Bingham, editor of the Handbook, Florence Sanford and Elsie Cabell of The Rotunda staff represented Farmville publications at the convention.

Misisonary Speaks To Student Body

Continued from page 1

discussion. Such men as Kirby Page, and T. Z. Koo, that are leading intellectuals of today will lead

CALENDAR

Wednesday

Y. W. Cabinet 5:00
Rotunda Staff 7:00
Dramatic Club 7:00

Thursday

Artist Dance Group 4:15
Student Standards Committee 5:00
Beta Pi Theta 7:00

Friday

Debate Club

Saturday

Sing 6:45

Monday

Virginian Staff 7:00
Athletic Association 7:00
Alpha Kappa Gamma 9:00

Tuesday

Class Meetings 7:00
Gamma Psi 7:30
Alpha Phi Sigma 7:30
Pi Gamma Mu 830
Student Council 10:00

Seventeen Apply For Scholarships

Seventeen Virginians as students at Virginia Colleges are applying for Rhodes Scholarships this year. On December 12 the committee will meet in Richmond and select two nominees from the applicants to compete with nominees from six South Atlantic States.

Virginia applicants and their colleges are: University of Richmond: William J. Fallis of Roanoke; Griffin T. Garnett 3rd, Sidney T. Mathews, Jr., and Robert T. Parish, Richmond, and Fillmore H. Sanford of Luray.

University of Virginia: John H. Garnett of Cherrydale; David R. Owen of Charlottesville; F. Palmer Weber of Smithfield and Murat Williams of Richmond.

Randolph-Macon College: Geo. I. Barnett of Caldwell, N. J. and Frank H. Van Lyck, Jr., of Portsmouth.

Other candidates are Henry G. Seymour of William and Mary; Charles A. Sweet, Jr., of Washington and Lee; Reginald J. B. Page, United tSates Military Academy; Morton M. Barbour of Hampden-Sydney College; Douglas P. Dryer, of Harvard and Ernest K. Emurian of Davidson College.

I Heard Lou Solemn-sweet Pipes of the Organ

I heard you solemn-sweet pipes of the organ as last Sunday morn I pass'd the church,
Winds of autumn, as I walk'd the woods at dusk I heard your long-stretch'd sighs up above so mournful,
I heard the perfect Italian tenor singing at theorgan, organ, I heard the soprano in the midst of the quartet singing;
Heart of my love! you too I heard murmuring low through one of the wrists around my head,
Heard the pulse of you when all was still ringing little bells last night under my ear.

For the first time since its establishment, the Richmond extension division of the University of Virginia will offer a course in folk music this year. Winston Wilkinson, noted Virginia violinist will direct the two courses to be offered. One course will not require technical knowledge of music; the the discussions on subjects of vital interest to every nation. The civic issues, economics, political regimes, and intercorrelated world affairs will be the topics of the discussions.

The youth thinkers will culminate the social, political, and economic problems of each nation in a program depicting the new order of life. The influence of this week will be felt throughout the entire world.

Farmville Mfg. Co.
BUILDING MATERIALS
MILLWORK
Farmville, Va.

C. E. Chappell Co.
Visit Us For the Best Fountain Service

Mathematics Lore Increases Rapidly

Continued from Page 1

of Euclid's assumptions regarding parallel lines. As a result of this critical injury, the ancient geometry of the golden age of Greece has been supplanted by a great truth known as non-Euclidean geomentry; geometries I should say, since their name is legion.

Some of the most noteworthy achievements of the present age center around problems of number theory but enough unsolved ones yet remain to dry the eyes of any young Alexander who is sighting for a glimpse of unconquered worlds.

The spirit of the present era may be summed up by saying that it strives for generality and is more keenly critical of the validity of its assumptions and the conclusions drawn from them.

Physical Educator Will Visit College

Continued from page 1

in Detroit, Michigan; Columbia University, New York; and North Carolina College for Women in Greensboro.

She is regional director for the American Folk Arts society, having received that honor in recognition of her service in the collection and publication of folk games and dances in the south. She is a graduate of Columbia University, and also studied at Wellesley College, and at Farmville.

Miss Coleman has published several books, among them are State Course of Study (N. C.) in Physical Education, Athletics for High School Girls, etc.

We are especially interested in Miss Coleman, and are glad to welcome her back to Farmville.

After her appearance here, Miss Coleman will journey to Fredericksburg, where she will entertain the students there.

other wil lembrace an analytical study of American folk music.

Notice has been sent out to city school teachers interested in music, by Jesse Binford, city school superintendent, along with an announcement that credit will be given by the State Department of Education for the extension of

PEOPLE'S 5-10-25c Store
(3rd St., near Express Office)
Extends to Faculty & Students of S. T. C. a cordial invitation to visit Farmville's only locally owned 5 & 10c Store
SPECIAL ORDERS TAKEN FOR YOUR CONVENIENCE
C. C. Atkinson (Cousin Tommy's son)
Rosa Willims Atkinson (S. T. C. Alumna)

Delegates Discuss National Problems

Continued from page one

E. Griffith of Duke University. Bill Armstrong of Hampden-Sydney then defended the Conservatives on the question of amending the Constitution.

The Progressives pointed out the economic and social changes that have taken place since 1787, thus necessitating a change in the Constitution. Their cry was "Forward with the Constitution!"

Among the striking statements from the Conservatives was the declaration that the election of Mr. Roosevelt was "the greatest hoax in history." The Conservatives would have us adhere strictly to the Constitution since only in this way shall we ever bridge the chasm of destruction to our nation.

The custom of asking questions in the Open-Forum was dispensed with because the hour was late. However, the discussion of the participants was to the point and very instructive.

certificates.

Such musicians as John Powell, Richmond pianist and composer, have shown keen interest in this addition to the extension departments curriculum.

H. M. WELLS CONFECTIONERY
Food for the Parties
Two blocks from College Campus

STANLEY A. LEGUS
TAILOR
CLEANING
PRESSING
REPAIRING
Phone 203

SUPPERS AND SMALL PARTIES
Good Breakfast
Dinners
Suppers
College Tea Room
and
LONGWOOD

Gorgeous Evening dresses in New Chenile Transparent velvet ..... $7.45 and $14.45
Brush Wool Twin Sweaters—in bottle green, rust brown and royal blue ..... $1.97 and $2.97
Beautiful Sport Skirts—solid colors and plaids at $2.94
BE SMART—SHOP AT THE
DOROTHY MAY STORES

EXQUISITE, PERSONAL
ENGRAVED STATIONERY
100 SHEETS
100 ENVELOPES
ENGRAVED
ALL FOR
$2
SEE OUR BEAUTIFUL SAMPLES
The Farmville Herald
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

Gray's Drug Store
PURE DRUGS—MEDICINES
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Quality—Price—Service
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

You Would Love to Have Your Shoes Fixed at
Lovelace Shoe Shop
110 Third Street

Mack's
BARBER AND BEAUTY SHOP
323 Main Street
Phone 360

ROSE'S
On the Corner
5-10-25c Store
School Supplies
FULL FASHIONED HOSIERY
ROOM FURNISHINGS
AT POPULAR PRICES

B uy
U nusual
T reats
C old drinks
H uge cones
E legant fruits
R oasted peanuts
S nappy snacks

EACO THEATRE
Adults, 25c: Children, 15c
Unless Otherwise Noted

Thurs.-Fri., Nov 7 & 8
WILL ROGERS
in
"Steamboat Round the Bend"
LAUREL & HARDY
in "Thicker Than Water"
Adults, 25c and 35c

Saturday, Nov. 9 News
Sylvia Sidney
Herbert Marshall
in
'Accent On Youth'
'Two Hearts in a Wax Time'
ALL COLOR

Next Monday and Tues. Nov. 11 & 12 News
Rochelle Hudson
Henry Fonda
Slim Somerville, A. Devine
in
"Way Down East"
Color Classic 'Time for Love'
Adults, 25c and 35c

Next Wed., Nov. 13
Tom Brown
Virginia Weidler
in Gene Stratton Porter's
"FRECKLES"
Popeye the Sailor
Last Chapter Tom Mix in
"MIRACLE RIDER"

Next Picture
'BIG BROADCAST OF 1936'

"No man is without fault."
Voltaire

The College World . . . In Pictures

"One Picture Tells as Much as Ten Thousand Words"

Shutters click . . . flashlights flare . . . cameramen are "Johnny on the spot" wherever and whenever anything of interest to the college student happens . . . to bring to the Editor of Collegiate Digest three thousand pictures every month . . . but of course it is only possible to bring you the best of these . . . in addition to the numerous collegiate features appearing exclusively in Collegiate Digest every week with

STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE ROTUNDA

SEE THE FALL PRODUCTION

The Rotunda

We Teach To Teach

GET READY FOR THE COLOR RUSH

Volume XVI. FARMVILLE, VA., WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1935 No. 7

Students To Hear Alumna In Chapel Saturday Morning

Betty C. Wright, Deaf Worker, To Talk

Miss Betty C. Wright, an alumna of Farmville from the class of 1909 will speak in chapel Saturday morning. Miss Wright is outstanding in work for deaf. She is Executive Secretary of the American Federation of Organizations For the Hard of Hearing, Inc., with headquarters in Washington, D. C.

When Miss Wright was a student at Farmville her hearing was very keen, but for the last ten year it has been gradually getting worse until now she has very little left. However, her handicap has enabled her to engage in a wonderful work.

She has taught lip-reading to a large number of soldiers deafened in the War and to hundreds of other deafened people. She has also spoken before many audiences in many large cities all over the United States, pleading for the hard-of-hearing children in the public schools.

As secretary for this organization Miss Wright holds a strategic position. The organization heads all the efforts being made in this country to make life easier and happier for the deaf. It has for its aim "To act in the national and inter-national fields of social work for the deafened, to encourage the founding of local organizations to properly carry on national propaganda in the interests of the deafened and in the prevention of deafness.

Her position in this organization calls for educational vision and training as well as executive ability. It is in this way that her training at Farmville and her years of experience as a teacher in Virginia schools has stood her in good stead.

Seniors Set Date Of Fall Production

Saturday night, December 7, is the date set for the senior dance. The big gymnasium will be the scene of the event, the last annual production of the class of '36.

The student body, faculty and alumnae, with their escorts, are invited to attend the dance which will last from nine o'clock until twelve. A limited number of tickets will be sold beginning Monday, December 2, for 25c and 50c a couple.

Continued on Page 4

Delegates Attend Annual Convention

Alpha Kappa Gamma Is Guest of U. of S. C.

Miss Florence H. Stubbs, Tac Waters, Mary Bowles, Margaret Farrar, Margaret Pollard, and Hazel Smith will leave Farmville on Friday to attend the ninth annual convention of Alpha Kappa Gamma, national honor fraternity in leadership, at the University of South Carolina November 15 and 16.

Plans for the two day program are virtually complete. Registration and business meetings will occupy Friday afternoon after which the convention members will be guests on a motor trip to Lake Murary where a picnic supper will be served.

Business sessions will convene at 10:00 o'clock Saturday morning and continue until noon. At this time panel discussions will be held on the following subjects: "What can Alpha Kappa Gamma do to improve intra-society relations?"; "What can Alpha Kappa Gamma do to improve sorority-non-sority relations?"; "What can Alpha Kappa Gamma do to promote school spirit and loyalty?"

The formal convention banquet will be held Saturday evening at the Columbia Hotel. At this time Dean Arnie Childs of the University of South Carolina, will address the convention.

Other speakers on the program will be announced later.

Dr. Walmsley Speaks On Cause of War at Cabinet Meeting

In connection with the theme "World Peace" which has been adopted throughout Virginia and the South by the Y. W. C. A.'s and Y. M. C. A.'s. Dr. Walmsley spoke on "The Causes of War" at the open cabinet meeting for November last Wednesday.

Dr. Walmsley laid a foundation for further talks when he stressed the fact that armaments are only the things that people fight with and not about. "I could find something to quarrel about with almost anyone" he asserted, "if I looked hard enough and long enough." However, the speaker then declared that nations are the same way and promotion of good-will and understanding among nations is the only way to make war an unheard of thing. "We must look at the good in other nations, and stop seeking out the bad."

On the first Wednesday in December Miss Stubbs will be the speaker at the open cabinet meeting. She will speak on another phase of the same topic.

N.B.C. Broadcasts Education Week Program Tonight

Fifteenth Celebration Begins at S. T. C. Today

Tonight at 7:30 P. M. tune in your radios on the WEAF network and enjoy the U. S. American Education Week Program. This unusual program will come to you from the torch of the statue of Liberty on Bedlo's Island, N. Y. It will begin its journey to listeners down a short wave radio beam. Across the bay the NBC studios will transform these wave lengths and pass them on to you.

That the program will be characterized by a patriotic note reminiscent of the struggles of our forefathers in establishing freedom for self rule is in keeping with the theme, "The School and Democracy"—of Education Week. Such a program promises to be of interest to the general public and certainly should be of great interest to the 30,000,000 children and young people enrolled in our educational institutions.

Having begun this morning the celebration of the fifteenth annual American Education week in your own school you will be able to appreciate the program as it comes to you tonight.

This morning, the first step in the development of the Secondary Schools was portrayed for you by a group of English students under the sponsorship of Miss Willie London and Mrs. Taylor. This group well set forth the views of the stern Puritan fathers which were so much concerned with the establishment of a Latin Grammer School where the children might learn to be God-fearing. Mary Robeson, was the austere chairman who finally got them all to "I" her proposal.

Following this, a group of Math students under Miss Carrie B. Tall affero's direction, portrayed a further development of the secondary

Continued on page 3

Honor Fraternity Elects Officers

" Beorc Eh Thorn " Plans Literary Magazine

"Beorc Eh Thorn", the newly established English Honorary society, held its first business meeting Thursday night, November 7, in the Honor Room to elect the officers for this year. After a report was heard and accepted from the nominating committee, the following officers were elected:

President—Mary Robeson
Vice-president—Virginia Bean
Recording Secretary—Louise Lewis
Corresponding Secretary—Elsie Cabell
Treasurer—Dot Price
Historian—Zaida Thomas

A second initiation ceremony was held.

The following girls were initiated: Libby Morris, Zaida Thomas, Elsie Cabell, Dorothy Price, Patsy Crockett, Doris Coates, Elizabeth Roberts, Patty Jeffreys, Dorothy Spencer, Carter Belle Munt, Winnie Frances Eubank, Dudley Allen, Mary Lib Slater, and Virginia Hook.

Plans for producing a literary magazine were suggested and briefly discussed. Bonnie Lane, Mary Lib Slater, Elsie Cabell, Emma Bingham, and Virginia Bean were elected to draw up definite plans for the magazine.

Deans Association Holds Annual Meet

"Miss Mary" and Jane Royall Attend Meeting

Miss Mary White Cox and Jane Royall of Farmville, Virginia, attended the annual meeting of the Regional Association of Deans of Women and advisers of girls which met at William and Mary College, Williamsburg, November 9. Deans and principals from Virginia, Maryland, and Delaware attended the meetings.

The program opened with greetings from President John Bryan followed by an address on "The Relations of Government to Industry."

After a luncheon at the Williamsburg Inn and a discussion on the Williamsburg Restoration the meeting adjourned.

Mrs. Cook of Harrisonburg State Teachers College was elected president of the association and Dean Landrum of William and Mary served as hostess at the convention.

The association is invited to attend another meeting on the second Saturday in November at the American University in Washington, D. C. This program is being presented under the sponsorship of Miss Mary Louise Brown.

The association is for the benefit of deans and principals in conveying different ideas and remarks on methods of improvement. It meets annually, usually in Nov-

College Faculty and Administration Help In Hospital Fund

In the recent campaign for funds conducted by the Southside Community Hospital the faculty and administration of State Teachers College did their part. An unofficial quota of $750 was set for the college and the sum of $750 was raised. Miss Florence Stubbs was in charge of the drive in the College.

The general campaign in the hospital area comprising the counties of Amelia, Appomattox, Buckinghand, Charlotte, Cumberland, Lunenburg, Nottoway, Powhatan, and Price Edward was under the direction of S. M. Holton, Jr. Dr. J. L. Jarman was chairman of the special campaign committee.

The campaign was for the purpose of raising the sum of $5,000 as the community's part toward a nurses' home and $5,000 additional as working capital for the hospital. The Commonwealth Fund of New York, benefactors of the hospital, offered to erect a nurses' home at an approximate cost of $35,000 if the community would raise $5,000. Mr. Holton states that all reports from the various sections of the area are not yet in, but the nurses' home is assured, and prospects for the remainder of the fund are bright.

Elizabeth Huse Installs House Council Nov. 6th

On Wednesday night, November 6, in the Little Auditorium the House Council was formally installed by Elizabeth Huse.

The House Council is as follows: president, Elizabeth Huse; vice-president, Emma Bingham; secretary, Virginia Leonard; house presidents, Ernestine Payne Mary Elizabeth Wood and Margaret Fraley, Helen Fern Perdue, Nancy Pobst, and Eleanor Meredith; hall presidents, Dudley Allan, Virginia Hannah, Eleanor Shackleton, Rebecca Carter, Mary Elizabeth Minor, Katherine Harvey, Betty Butterworth, Kitty Jamison, Ruth Montgomery, Edith Hines, Margaret Russell, Virginia Agee and Ernestine Payne.

Famous Sculptor Speaks On Color

S. T. C. Team Wins Two Hockey Games

Butterworth Scores Recognition At Meet

The S. T. C. Hockey team with Miss Iler, coach, went to William and Mary Friday, November 8, to play in the Virginia Field Hockey Association Tournament. Harrisonburg, Sweet Briar, Fredericksburg, Westhampton, Richmond division of William and Mary, Mary Baldwin, Randolph-Macon, and Norfolk division of William and Mary were among the schools competing in the tournament.

In their first game Farmville combatted Westhampton's varsity. Though blue and white was unable to score they displayed good passwork and teamwork. The final score was 8-0 in Westhampton's favor.

Farmville	Westhampton
Bowles, M.—R. W.	Lockwood
Bolick, E.—R. I.	Coleman
Ranson, K. (c)—C. F.	Fleet
Nottingham, M.—L. I.	Boweas
Butterworth, A.—L. W.	Barnes
Roberts, K.—R. H.	Chapman
Irby, K.—C. H.	Walton
Anderson, M.—L. H.	White
Walker, L.—R. F.	Allen
McGlothlin, B.—L. F.	Conner
Greear, R.—G.	Marston

Farmville: Badger for Bowles; York for Butterworth; McGlothlin for Walker; Samford for Roberts.

In the second game Farmville played a mixed team consisting of players from Randolph-Macon and

Continued on page 3

H.-S. C. German Club To Sponsor Dances

Hampden-Sydney o cial homecoming program begins at 12:30 Saturday, McIlwaine Hall at which time Dr. Robert Dabney Bedinger of the class of 1906 will make the pep talk for the rally. After the alumni luncheon the alumni and students will march down to Death Valley to meet the Quakers of Swarthmore.

The German Club will sponsor the home-coming dances, opening a set Friday evening. Dave Burnside and his orchestra have been signed to play for the three complete dances. The Comity Club will be appropriately decorated in garnet and gray. A number of S. T. C. girls are looking forward to the dances.

Lecture Develops Appreciation of Nature

Mr. Leonard Craske, with exquisite color slides, gave the student body an appreciation of color and color compositions Tuesday night in the large auditorium. Mr. Craske appeared here as the second of the Lyceum numbers planned for the year.

Mr. Craske explained with vivid examples that the colors seen in nature are the direct results of the translucent lights of the sun's rays. After giving the history of the development of the color camera from Ives to the present day, he presented his slides. The most outstanding picture was the rose glow of sunrise on the Coast of Gloucester behind the glowing beacon of the lighthouse. Numerous shades of delicate nature studies held the interest of the audience. Cloisters of roses, sprays of autumn leaves, and single water lilies formed fascinating color studies. Mr. Craske caught the delicate moods of twilights sunsets, cold morns, and other romantic scenes with his camera.

The audience seemed to fully appreciate the wonderful delicacy of the contrasted lights, shadings, and colors as they were used in the interesting presentation of the pictures.

Professor Speaks On Sportsmanship

Miss Mary Channing Coleman, professor of physical education at Woman's College of the University of North Carolina in her talks, to the student body at chapel Monday morning, and to physical education classes stressed the development of Sportsmanship and Citizenship by participation in sport. She was greatly pleased to hear of the improvements made in the athletic curriculum during the last few years and the change in the students attitude toward athletics.

For a girl to be employed she must have a well rounded personality, be effeminate and attractive and above all she must have intelligence.

Miss Coleman expressed her pleasure at being back at Farmville after an absence of 35 years and hoped it wouldn't be her last visit.

Both Comedy and Romance To Be Combined in Fall Play

Our public wanted a love story. Our public is getting a love story. Orchids to those people who have found romance in a night in August, but awkwards to those who have not yet had the pleasure. Yet? Yes, because H. S. C. Jongleurs and S. T. C. Dramatic Club are offering these poor unfortunates the chance of a life time. November 22 is going to be the most delightful August evening imaginable—at least it is for those who are lucky enough to rate seeing this year's big fall production. Nothing seems to be impossible for these two talented clubs; they successfully take a chill November evening, turn it into an August night, produce a storm which in turn produces a gay, charming love story, surprising and breath-taking as the whirlwind that blew it in the window.

That part about blowing it in the window is no joke, as little Rosario can well testify. She is the victim of a bad fright when one of those sudden autumn storms hurls a man's hat through her window, and the man follows close behind his aeronautic-fancying property. Many people will receive a big dose of interest when they find out that Frances Britton and Jim Elder are playing these two tempestuous, witty roles. It will be a brand new treat to most of us to see Jim Elder vaulting bravely to see Jim Elder vaulting bravely room. Woman-like Rosario gets to

Continued on page 4

Hampden-Sydney Professor Speaks to S. T. C. Students

"Everything changes except the fact of change itself", declared Dr. Allan, professor of philosophy at Hampden-Sydney College, to a group of students assembled for his lecture at S. T. C. Monday evening. In bringing to a close a study on substance or what the world is made of the two senior sections in philosophy taught by Mr. Bell and Dr. Wynne, had the privilege of talking with and listening to Dr. Allan.

Dealing with the relation of substance and time, the speaker first defined substance as the basis of permanence in the world from which things are made. Then three theories of time and substance were discussed by Dr. Allan. His audience was informed that substance may be conceived as time less, and that the past, present, and future are zero over arched by eternity, and finally that substance is time itself—the union of change and the eternal

These paradoxes proved startling and puzzling to the students. In attempting to reconcile them Whitehead was quoted: "the past, present, and future are really equal. All three are united with creative advance of the present."

For more than an hour after the formal lecture the audience remained, asking questions, voicing opinions, and arriving at conclusions on the nature and the why of the world.

It is hoped by the department that the intellects of Hampden-Sydney and S. T. C. will have further opportunities during the year to compare their stands on such controversial and provoking questions.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Published by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

1935 Member 1936
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

Staff

Florence Sanford ..... Editor
Agnes Bondurant ..... Associate Editor
Evelyn Massey ..... Business Manager

Board of Editors

Alma Nelson ..... Alumnae
Mabel Lambert ..... Make-up
Susan Gresham ..... Headlines
Emma Bingham ..... Literary
Bess McGlothlin, Elizabeth Morris, Mary Adeline McGlothlin ..... Editorials
Claire Eastman ..... World News
Margaret Fraley ..... Socials
Kathleen Ranson ..... Sports

Proof Readers

Elizabeth Walton Dorothy Deans

Managers

Elsie Cabell ..... Circulation
Ruth Phelps ..... Asst. Circulation
Louise Gathright ..... Asst. Circulation

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1935

The Unknown Soldier

That which took place Monday, November 11, 1935, at the National Cemetery in Arlington is a symbol, a mystery and a tribute. It is an entombment only in the physical sense. It is rather the enthronement of Duty and Honor. This man who died for his country is the symbol of these qualities; a far more perfect symbol than any man could be whose name and deeds we know. He represents more, really, than unidentified dead, for we cannot separate them spiirtually from the war heroes whose names are written on their tombstones. He—this spirit whom we honor—stands for the unselfishness of all.

This, of all monuments to the dead is lasting and immutable. So long as men revere the finer things of life the tomb of the nameless hero will remain a shrine. Nor, with a change of time, and mind, can there be a changing of values. No historian shall rise to modify the virtues or the faults of the Unknown Soldier. He has an immunity for which Kings might pray. The years may bring erosion to the granite, but not to the memory of the unknown.

All the impressive ritual of yesterday would be mocking if we did not believe that, out in an infinity which astronomers cannot chart or mathematicians bound, the Unknown Soldier and all the glorious dead whom we honor in the dust are looking down upon that little spinning ball, conscious of our reverence. Only in Spirit may we honor the Unknown Soldier and those who, like him died for the Republic—Unknown, but not unknowing—.

Any Room for the Scrubs on Top?

Crowds cheer, and fans yell themselves hoarse when the ball is run down the field for a touchdown. A panting, sweating quarterback staggers to the bench for rest, not glory, only to be sent back into the game to play and play hard, even though the bench is full of eager young scrubs pleading for a chance to carry the ball just once.

This same situation exists in the average college; our college is no exception. The same able students carry the burden of doing everything while many students with real ability go through college for four years without ever getting into the game. They leave without even getting a chance to develop their ability in sports, writing, or artistic expression.

Members of the faculty and fellow students why not give the Scrubs a chance?

First Things

The heritage of every teacher seems to be the preconceived idea that the most efficient instructor is the one whose head is a storehouse of facts, and whose ability is such that she can force this information into the minds of her pupils. For ages the popular notion has been that the star pupil is the one who can memorize the most and retain the knowledge thus gained for the greatest length of time. However, we all agree that the objective of all education is to teach one to live. Does knowing definite data pertaining to certain subjects prepare one for the complicated art?

Rather, it would seem that the greatest—and one might almost say the only—requisite to happy living is to be able to think out one's problems clearly and intelligently. The home is, of course, the most important factor in thus developing the mind of a child, but the school comes next. To help a student work out his difficulties satisfactorily; to help him be persistent and patient, to help him find his place in the world—that is the supreme task. English, math, science—all these, but greater than these "training to think" should be the ultimate goal of all teachers.

Honor Code

There has been quite a bit of discussion about school spiirt, and the right attitude toward the interpretation of the Honor Code. This Honor Code is the basis of our Student Government—it is our Student Government. It is more than a page of so many words with our signatures lightly written. This is a code of Truth challenging the best in every girl. It searches for the best—expects the best; it does not look for the wrong to give punishment for that; rather, it seeks to help her by believing her wholly honorable and true until she proves herself otherwise. This code is more than an enumeration of social regulations. They are of small importance in comparison with its other phases of truth and honor. What every girl really pledges herself to do, is that she will not only conduct herself honorably, but that she will also help others to do so by reporting them when she sees them committing a dishonest act, thus eliminating unfair deeds.

Until every student grasps this conception of what "Honor" and "Honor Code" means, there can be no effective Honor system in our school. The responsibility of carrying out the correct interpretation and cooperation lies largely with the upper classmen. The new girls follow in their footsteps and guidance. Whether we make a new turn for the better now depends upon the cooperation of the individual and her desire to do her part—not only in regard to her own life, but in connection with her associates. Let us remember what honor means—and let us give that meaning its full significance in our daily lives.

Are We Friendly?

(Reprint from Salemite)

Do you sincerely try to draw that shy girl at your table into the conversation during meals? Or does she look with envious eyes at the smiling, joking group who makes the table a pleasant one? Maybe it is her own fault that she is quiet but more than likely it is ours. Do something about it! What is she interested in? What course is she taking? Who is her room-mate? There are so many things to discuss with a fellow student. Maybe she hasn't heard that funny story Jane told last night. She may enjoy it. An automobile won't run if one of the wheels sticks. Just so, then conversation at a table can't be in smooth running order unless each girl contributes a bit. Meals can be anticipated pleasures if the group is a hapy cogenial one. Do your little bit to make your table known as a gracious, enjoyable one.

OPEN FORUM

Dear Editor:

On September the twenty-fourth we started what looked to be the best year that Farmville has had in quite a while. We had a Freshman class larger than was customary, and the campus was teaming with new students whose energy and enthusiasm were the chief characteristics. We are wondering what has happened to it all. Has the most been made of our opportunities? Or have we allowed the new girls to slip into just any way of passing their time away from day to day?

That there is a great deal of talent in the freshman class no one can deny. But in looking around the campus during the leisure hours, downtown, in meetings called to carry on class and school work, we can't help noticing the large number of new girls who seem to have nothing to do outside of their school work. We go to the various meetings and hear over and over again the story of a lack of interest and cooperation.

It is true that we all have a tendency as the year goes along to begin to settle into a routine to fight against that in keeping up with their activities, but it makes us wonder, when we see the new girls loafing around hour after hour with little or no interest if we have done our best to help them find the places that we expect and count on them to fill. We do have a great obligation to them, both in introducing them to our college activities, and in helping to keep them interested and busy.

So much depends on the first year here, in adjustment of every kind, we think it is worth the thought for new girls and old ones. There is a chance for all of us to do our share of work and cooperation now. One of our busiest and most worthwhile organizations is putting forth its best effort to do something else constructive and entertaining for the college. We would like to suggest that you watch the support that the Dramatic Club gets, to see if we are anywhere near truth in our observations here. We hope that we shall be able to say that the situation just looked a little pessimistic for a while.

A Student

World News

Ethiopians Begin Drive Against Duce's Forces

It has been reported that Haile Selassie has encouraged the first significant aggressive move of the Ethiopian troops against the Italian forces.

Ethiopian troops are reported as having made Eritrea their goal, resulting in a continued march through the Walkait district in Northern Ethiopia. Even Selassie has commanded Dedjazmatch Ayelu, Ethiopian commander, to cut behind the Italian army, now, making its abode at Makale. Even the Danakils are said to have killed many Italian forces in the night movements.

In spite of the fact that long-range artillery, rifles, and cartridges are being steadily brought into Ethiopia, it is wondered whether a success will result since difficulties to get food, clothing and shelter exist. As for Italy, a strong defense is expected.

Japan Starts Invasion Against Shanghai After Assassination Of Marine

The inhabitants of Shanghai have been panic-stricken because of the recent Japanese invasion against Shanghai, China. Two thousand Japanese Marines marched through unequipped sections, having as their political motive, the assassination of a Japanese marine by a soldier, supposedly Chinese.

The cause of the assassination may be said to have as its background the attempted Japanese plot to assassinate Premier Wang Ching-Wei of China at Nanking on November 1, 1935.

At the present, only the pistol, used, has been found and several arrests made, because of the embassy demand; but no definite person has been designated as the assassin.

S. T. C. Revised Dictionary

Ambition—A substance that only seniors have.
Brains—A collection of useless cells.
Cut—An unexcused excuse.
Desk—A seat, pillow, bed, footstool, and wastepaper basket.
Encyclopedia—Big books to ornament the library table.
Faculty—A troublesome organization that interferes with the students.
Green—A freshman.
Herring—A poor fish.
Ice—Something to cut.
Jumble—A freshmen's recitation.
Knitting—A chapel occupation.
Luck—A pound of pluck.
Map—A freshman taking geography.
Nothing—A term paper.
Overslept—Late for an 8:30 class.
Play—Something known only to football players.
Quiz—A committee report from three or four students.
Recitations—Every now and then.
Salt—A grain to be taken with everything according to Dr. J. P. Wynne.
Time—Something nobody ever has.
Unable—An excuse for almost anything.
Vow—A result of a successful campus course.
Will—Maybe, perhaps, might.
X—Marks the spot.
Yell—The sole purpose of a football game.
Zymatic—Aren't well, sometime maybe.

Rotunda Reverberations

Now that the debutantes are in order we hear that Sallie Perrow is being introduced as "Miss New York."

All joking aside, the student body is expected to back the Student Council in their appeal for better honor cooperation.

Girls are wearing their best smiles. For the poor unfortunates who haven't heard: Hampden - Sydney dances this week-end.

Grace and Billy have been going around with long faces lately. Could it be that they seem in favor of convents—what say nus!

Tib's voice is changing—it was not told to me I only heard her attempting to sing a mean bass.

Virginia Hall is fast and furiously becoming a Phi Beta. Could it be the uplifting influence of her erudite roommate—Sue?

The house party held in the senior building last week-end was a huge success. We hear that the girls all seven of them entertained themselves by popping pop corn, telling parlor jokes and motor boat riding.

According to our very exact new system of fortunte telling the girls are looking forward to bright futures except Martha Nottingham. We are mighty afraid she is going to teach school the rest of her life. Get a rocking chair, black dress and a thousand dollars. These are entrance requirements for "The Old Ladies Home". A cat, a tea pot and Grace Eubank might prove a comfort.

S. T. C. Team Wins Two Hockey Games

Continued from Page 1

Mary Baldwin. Blue and White again, held its own and finally came through with a 1-0 victory.

They next played the Norfolk division of William and Mary and as a reward of hard fighting and good teamwork they won. The final score was 2-0 in favor of Farmville.

Alma Butterworth (left wing) was among those selected from all the teams for the Virginia Reserves, which is the Virginia State second team.

The All-Star teams played the final game and from these teams the all-state team for the year was chosen.

What We Wolud Like To Know

Marvelous properties were attributed to many precious stones and gems by the ancient, and it is customary among lovers and friends to notice the significance attached various stones in making birthday, engagement, and wedding presents.

Language of Gems

Agate—Insures against ill health, gives long life, and prosperity.
Amethyst—Preventive against violent passions.
Beryl—Everlasting youth and happiness.
Bloodstone—Steadfast affection, courage, and wisdom.
Cardelian—Preventive of misfortune.
Catseye—Warns against danger and trouble.
Chalcedony—Drives away sadness.
Chrysolite—Frees from evil passions and melancholy.
Diamond—Signifies purity; maintains peace and disposes storms.
Emerald—Discovers false friends and insures true love.
Garnet—Constancy and fidelity.
Jasper—Wisdom and courage.
Moonstone—Good luck.
Onyx—Insures conjugal felicity.
Opal—An "unlucky" stone portending injury and mental or physical trouble .
Pearl—Signifies purity and innocence.
Ruby—Discovers poison, corrects evil resulting from mistaken friendship.
Sapphire—Frees from enchantment; denotes repentance.
Sardonyx—Married happiness.
Topaz—Fidelity and friendship; prevents bad dreams.
Turquoise—Prosperity in live.

Birth Stones

January—Garnet
February—Amethyst
March—Bloodstone or Jasper
April—Diamond or Sapphire
May—Emerald or Carnelian
June—Agate or Chalcedony
July—Ruby or Onyx
August—Sardonyx
September—Chrysolite
October—Opal or Beryl
November—Topaz
December—Turquoise or Ruby

Birth Days

Monday's child is fair of face;
Tuesday's child is full of grace;
Wednesday's child is loving and giving;
Thursday's child works hard for its living;
Friday's child is full of woe;
Saturday's child has far to go;
But the child that is born on the Sabbath day
Is blithe and bonny and good and gay.

Language of the Flowers

A cluster of flowers can be made to express any sentiment if care is taken in the selection.

If a flower is offered reversed, its original significance is contradicted, and the opposite is implied.

A rose bud divested of thorns, but retaining leaves, conveys the sentiment, "I Fear no longer; I hope". Stripped of leaves and thorns, it signifies, "There is nothing to hope or fear."

A fullblown rose placed over two buds, signifies "Secrecy."

"Yes" is implied by touching the flower given to the lips; "No", by pinching off a petal and casting it away.

"I am," is expressed by a laurel leaf twined around a bouquet: "I have" by an ivy leaf folded together; "I offer you" by a leaf of Virginia creeper.

Carnation—Unchangind friendship.
China Aster—Variety.
Daisy—Innocence.
Fern—Fascination.
For-get-me-not
Geranium—Consolation.
Heliotrope—Devotion.
Hyacinth, white—Loveliness.
Hyacinth,purple—Sorrow.
Ivy—Friendship.
Lily, day—Coquetry.
Lily, white—Sweetness.
Lily, yellow—Gayety.
Lily, water—Purity of heart.
Lily of the valley—Unconscious sweetness.

SOCIETY NEWS

Alpha Sigma Tau Holds Banquet at Longwood

Longwood was the scene of Alpha Sigma Tau's annual Banquet, Saturday night, November 9. A color scheme of green and gold was carried out in candles, flowers and favors. All of the active members of the sorority were present as well as the advisers to whom toasts were given. Among the alumnae returning for the event were Mrs. Katherin Massie, Virginia Brinkley ,Margaret Bailey, Page Maghee, Grace Virginia Woodhouse, Gaye Stieffens and Mildred Chandler.

Alpha Phi Sigma Entertains In Student Building Lounge

The old members of Alpha Phi Sigma entertained the new members of the fraternity and members of the faculty with a tea, Tuesday afternoon in the Student Building Lounge. The guests, who came from 4 P. M. to 6:00 P. M. were received by Bonnie Lane, President and Miss Draper, faculty advisor. Refreshments of sandwiches, cookies, nuts, mints, and tea were served. The guests then gathered around the open fire, while Dorothy Wise played piano selections.

Debate Club

The Debate Club has issued bids to the following girls: Lillian Anderson, Mary Anness Harper, Anthelia Robinette, Rose Somers, Eurlean Rosser, Mamie Roberts, and Marguerite Smith. These girls will be initiated into the club at the regular meeting tonight.

Student Program eFatures Elizabeth Sieber as Violinist

Miss Elizabeth Sieber on Wednesday, October 30th, delighted the student body with her violin playing. She was accompanied by Miss Elizabeth LeGrand. We are proud of claiming Elizabeth as one of our students and we congratulate the Student Day Committee on enabling us to enjoy such fine programs.

Football Scores

So many girls went away last week-end that it seems almost useless to print anything about football, but for the benefit of the few who remained at school, here are the following scores:

Richmond 15; H. S. C. 7.
Dartmouth 34; W. & M. 0
North Carolina, 56; V. M. I. 0.
N. C. State 6; V. P. I. 0.
W. & L., 20; Virginia 0.
E. & H. 28; Oglethorpe 0.
R. M. C., 34; American U. 7
Duke 26; Davidson 6
Citadel 28; Newberry 0.
Georgia 26; Tulane 0.
Alabama 33; Clemson 0.
Princeton 35; Harvard 0.
Northwestern 14; Notre Dame 7
Navy 13; Penn. 0.

Alumnae of Farmville Entertain Amateurs

In appreciation for the cooperation exhibited by "Tub" Oliver and his orchestra in making the Amateur program a success, the Farmville Alumnae chapter entertained the boys at a dinner in the tea room last night. School girls who were guests at the dinner include Margaret Farrar, Betty Fagg, M. Louise French, and Nancy Pobst. Members of the orchestra who attended were: "Tub" Oliver, Edgar Weaver, Billy Carrington, Lewis Hubbard, Clyde Duval, "King" Kong, "Speed" McChesney, Jack Offutt, J. P. Moss, Mark Williams and G. Greaver.

Baptist Girls Atetnd State Student Union Convention

Misses Virginia Picher, Elizabeth Marsh, and Copeland Johnson left Friday morning, November 8, for the State Baptist Student Union Convention at Williamsburg.

The keynote of the program was "Sharing Christ With a Waiting World". Leading speakers of the occasion were: Mr. S. D. Gordon, Winston-Salem, N. C., Dr. T. L. Holcomb, Nashville, Tenn., Miss Sibyl Brame, Nashville, Tenn., Rev. T. Eugene West, Charlottesville, Va., Mr. W. C. Jones, Williamsburg, Va., and Mrs. J. B. Hill, Richmond, Virginia.

State B. S. U. officers were: president, Walter Lawton, Washington and Lee; first vice-pres., Evelyn Dodd, Averett; second vice-president, James Richardson, University of Virginia; third vice-president, Eura Edwards, Fredericksburg S. T. C.; secretary, Mary Moore Davis, Harrisonburg S. T. C.; reporter and editor, W. B. Tyler, V. P. I.; song leader, Harry Philpot, W. & L.

Throughout the meeting many inspirational meetings were held. The recreational side of the program was given over to sight-seeing. Trips were made to Jamestown, Yorktown and through many historical buildings.

A banquet was given Saturday night, Nov. 9, in the Methodist Church of Williamsburg for the members of the convention. This was the most enjoyable feature of the recreational program.

New Freshman Commission Has Outing at Longwood

The old Freshman Commission gave the new commission an outing at Longwood cabin Thursday afternoon. After delicious hot dogs and buns were served, the girls gathered around an open fire for a song session.

Those present were Miss Florence H. Stubbs, faculty adviser, Elizabeth Shiplett, incoming counselor, and Agnes Crockett, retiring counselor. Both the old and new commission members were among the guests.

Southsayer At S. T. C. Makes Students Future Conscious

S. T. C. has suddenly become conscious of its future in a huge way. Our soothsayer lives on second floor annex and she has decidedly the most popular room in school. Some of our fortunes have been good, some bad. Some of us have left feeling dubious, some happy, some skeptical, some surprised and some disappointed, but nevertheless all of us have been impressed. Now I'm not a prophet of any description but I'm going to reveal a few prophecies I'd make if I were a prophet.

I'd recommend Virginia Doughty and Frances Britton to the Fates as having settled futures involving Hampden - Sydney—seriously. As soldiers wives, I'd place Selma West and Elsie Green as doomed. Maybe they won't be permanent soldiers' wives but this group is in the army now!

From all appearances Bonnie Powell will live in Newport News in the future as she has in the past. Lois Vassar I predict the honor of a future of many degrees from the big colleges, and numerous honors in literary circles.

Liz Shiplett will be glad, I think, when I phophecy a home amid the beauties of English rural life. Liz if I'm a good prophet I promise that you won't go snooty on all of us who will still be mere Americans.

Nancy Pobst will undoubtedly continue to play, but I hear it will soon be to the tune of the wedding march. A waste of talent I'd say, but who knows? Maybe she cooks as well as she plays. Lucky man!

Mary Lynn Thomas would have us think her future lies in a school room in South Carolina, but this party has her doubts. The real interest lies in Virginia—deep in South Hill.

This prophecying business is getting me down. I keep thinking of more and more bright futures so I'd better stop while I can—All I can be sure of is bigger and better things, for this school and Dr. Jarman's gyurls!

Sybil Brame Talks To Baptist Girls Here

Miss Sibyl Brame, student secretary of the Southern Baptist Board, from Nashville, Tenn, gave a talk on B. S. U. work to the Baptist girls Tuesday, November 12, at 5:00 in the recreation hall.

In her talk Miss Brame explained what the Baptist Student Union work was, stating that it was a connecting link between the Church and the Campus. She gave examples of B. S. U. work on other campuses, telling of accomplishments at various colleges and gave suggestions for B. S. U. work on our own campus.

Miss Brame said that the B. S. U. should not only be a power to the Baptist students here, but should be a great influence on the life of the entire student body.

New Version o fOld Game Sweeps Campus of S. T. C.

Nearly all schools have some one game or sport that is peculiarly their own. S. T. C. has flared brilliantly into the limelight with a new version of a fairly old game. It is played in the 'Rec' usually at night. Old game—Ping-pong, new version—Why, you aim the ball, instead of into the court, at your opponent or anybody else you don't like. If by bad aiming and some fluke of chance you miss them, and the ball bounces way over to the far side of the room, say gently, "Sorry partner, hand me the ball will you?—Please" The game takes no great amount of skill, and almost anyone who has a grudge against someone can become proficient. Is it any wonder that the game is sweeping the campus like wildfire?

On Monday night at 8:30 the Tri-Sigma Sorority gave Miss Camper, their adviser, a welcome party in their chapter room. Refreshments included butterscotch pie and coffee.

Yale and Harvard students will meet in annual "intellectual" contests for a prize of $5000 awarded in the will of the late Mrs. Eliza-

NBC Broadcasts Program Tonigth

Continued from page 1

school in giving Benjamin Franklin's idea of an academy.

Irene Parker, assumed the roll of Benjamin Franklin and in his words said that he did not want another Harvard or Yale but an academy.

During Chapel hour Thursday morning, further developments in the growth of the high school will be seen. The Pi Gamma Mu students with Dr. Walmsley as adviser will present Thomas Jefferson proposing his Legislative Bill in 1870 regarding secondary education. Immediately following this, the Latin students guided by Miss Rice will present a scene in the modern school of 1863. Bonnie Lane and Josephine Quinn, as teachers, will conduct a Latin lesson with conjugation of verbs and also a spelling lesson.

On Friday, Miss Ueck's history methods class will dramatize a modern lesson as taught in the high schools today. The drama to be given was written by one of the students of the class about a month ago.

This will bring to an end the celebration in our school of Education week together with the celebration of the 300th anniversary this year of the development and growth of the High Schools in America.

SUPPERS AND SMALL PARTIES

Good Breakfast
Dinners
Suppers
College Tea Room
and
LONGWOOD

BALDWIN'S
QUALITY · PRICE · SERVICE STORE

Farmville's Finest and Best Beauty Salon Opens Monday, November 11th

With

* Expert Operators * Modern Equipment
* Private Booths * Fast Dryers
* Clean and Santitary *

OPENING WEEK SPECIALS

Beautiful $7.50 and $10.00 permanents only $4.95

$5.00 French Oil Permanents This week $2.95

We Guarantee and Give a Test Curl With All Our Permanents

This Coupon is Worth 25 Cents

CLIP IT OUT—Bring it to us any day this month and it will be accepted as 25 cents on the payment of a shampoo and finger wave.

BALDWIN'S BEAUTY SALON

—Finest and Best—

PHONE 159 A Mayfair Shop

H. M. WELLS
CONFECTIONERY
Food for the Parties
Two blocks from College Campus

STANLEY A. LEGUS
TAILOR
CLEANING
PRESSING
REPAIRING
Phone 203

Farmville Mfg. Co.
BUILDING MATERIALS
MILLWORK
Farmville, Va.

C. E. Chappell Co.
Visit Us For the Best Fountain Service

PEOPLE'S
5-10-25c Store
(3rd St., near Express Office)
Extends to Faculty & Students of S. T. C. a cordial invitation to visit Farmville's only locally owned 5 & 10c Store
SPECIAL ORDERS TAKEN FOR YOUR CONVENIENCE
C. C. Atkinson (Cousin Tommy's son)
Rosa Willims Atkinson (S. T. C. Alumna)

TAXI TAXI
Jitney Rides Day or Night Service
"Service that Counts"
H. M. WELLS, Day Phone 344
Night Phone 54M

RICE'S SHOE STORE
Street and Dress Shoes
Dancing Slippers Dyed
Correct fits our specialty

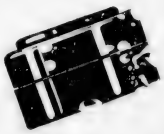
R. E. FISCHER
Radio Repairing
Formerly with Martin the Jeweler
PHONE 244M OR 283

Planters Bank and Trust Company
COMPLIMENTS
FARMVILLE, VA.

WILLIS
The Florist
Flowers for all occasions
PHONES 181-273

Kleanwell
CLEANERS AND TAILORS
Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling ladies garments
Main Street, opposite Post Office
Phone 98

Conoco Gas and Oil
Fill up at
JOHNS MOTOR CO.
Farmville, Va.



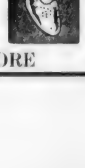
Electric Shoe Shop
It's smart to buy good shoes and then keep them repaired

Martin the Jeweler
College & Fraternity Jewelry
Gifts of lasting remembrance
317 MAIN ST. FARMVILLE

Southside
Drug Store
Films Developed
F R E E
Try our tasty lunches

Shannon's
Is Headquarters for the Best
SANDWICHES
—and—
DRINKS
in Farmville

GILLIAM'S
Refreshments fo the Girls
One block from the campus
Let us supply your next "feast"



TUSSY ROUGE
The grandest "smoothest" Cream Rouge you ever saw. So soft ANYbody can put it on without blotching or streaking. And it lasts for hours. In smart exclusive Tussy Shades: Tea Rose, Apricot, Flame, Rose Coral, Raspberry. $1.00

BALDWIN'S
QUALITY · PRICE · SERVICE STORE
"The Style Shop for Ladies"
FARMVILLE, VA.

LOVELY SPORT COATS—$9.95 and $16.50, with new Fish-tail backs—Gorgeous Plaids.

SPort Oxfords and Dress Shoes, sizes 3 to 9
Widths from "AAA" to "C" ..... $2.95 and $3.95

YOU WILL LIKE TO SHOP HERE!

HUB DEPARTMENT STORE

Revived Tradition of School Renews Spirit of Students

Flash—Tradition has won again, and we will have the color rush as of old this fall. To Juniors and Seniors this means breathless excitement, hushed halls, and class spirit galore. It brings back pride in green and white and in red and white to see these colors over the entrance of the Main buildings.

To freshmen and sophomores this means, at present, nothing, but when they hear murmurs of "our best girl can't run for the color rush" or "we've got library sewed up"; they will get goose-flesh and chills down their spines too. Indeed they will enter into the spirit of color rush work as hard to win as the upperclassmen.

According to custom, representatives of green and white and of red and white are stationed in certain rooms on each hall. When the bell rings, these representatives race to a designated place carrying their respective colors. The girl who reaches the goal first has the privilege of hanging her color banner (green and white or red and white) over the entrance of one of the main buildings.

This big event will renew the class spirit of the old girls and foster class loyalty among those who have never participated before.

Comedy and Romance Combined in Play

Continued from page 1

screaming around as De Cordoba makes his entrance, bumps into him in the dark, and gets considerably entangled in his arms—much to his fervently proclaimed joy, because, as he says, her hair which has accidently caught in his short stud is delightfully scented with violets. After getting the light on, they start their romance by having a big fuss because he makes fun of her favorite author whose latest publication is on the table. To appease her anger, the invader promises to pen for her a letter of introduction to the writer of passionate love stories. Calamity in the persons of two returning brothers cuts short their unconventional meeting. The ensuing scene is sufficiently lively to see one of the brothers knocked to the floor, the other badly shaken up, and Rosario out cold.

That's the way the whole play moves—never a dull second. But how could life be dull for any girl who has three brothers who are continually teasing or spoiling her? Bill Willis, engaged for five years, Horace Cromer, rising young journalist, and Van Alford, baby of the family out to conquer the world, are fraternal influence enough for any girl -and masculine interest enough for any one play. Cross-fire remarks between them and their spoiled but sweet sister keeps the cast on its toes and Miss Wheeler in a swivet watching cues. No telling what the audience will do when it tries to keep up with them.

Character parts always catch the fancy of any crowd, especially so when well done. Chubby Gray as the grandmother, Gertrude Levy as the old family maid, Virginia Agee secretary, Webb Surface as the Don Juan, Dave White as the servant, and Helen Wilkins as the old-time actress are comic characters a plenty to give anyone pains in the sides from too much laughter. Chubby Gray gets in her part so well that she goes on knitting or dozing along only to miss her next cue. If anyone needs any advice on how to get and manage a husband, just consult with Chubby; she has had three—that is, in the play—and is very generous with her store of matrimonial information. She and Don Juan should get together to compare notes, but unfortunately they never meet. Gertrude, the old family maid does plenty of head shaking and reminiscing over the fate of the three husbands, their coming and goings. As secretary to the novelist, Virginia Agee is the perfect diplomat, skillfully evading the advance of middle-aged, egotistical Don Juan and discreetly keeping her mouth and eyes closed when they should be closed—if you know what I mean by that. Helen Wilkins, actress, pushing past bewildered, mild-mannered Dave White, servant, adds a touch of sure-fire comedy to the office scene. Helen is delighted to learn that it is only his hat that Jim has lost and not his head, for, as she says, "It is such a good-looking head!" Thereupon, modest Jim, getting frightfully embarrassed, tries to shoo her out of the room before Rosario blows up with ill-concealed jealousy.

Seniors Set Date For Fall Production

Continued from page one

Last year's senior class was the first to have a dance as its production. This dance was so successful that the school authorities and the officers of the present class agreed that it would be good to repeat it this year.

Plans for the production indicate that it will be even better than last year's dance.

The ammonia equivalent of nitrogen may be found by multiplying the nitrogen figure by 1.2158. Thus the guaranteed 16 per cent nitrogen content of nitrate of soda is equivalent to 19.45 per cent

Gorgeous Evening dresses in New Chenile Transparent velvet ..... $7.45 and $14.45

Brush Wool Twin Sweaters—in bottle green, rust brown and royal blue ..... $1.97 and $2.97

Beautiful Sport Skirts—solid colors and plaids at $2.94

BE SMART—SHOP AT THE

DOROTHY MAY STORES

EXQUISITE, PERSONAL
ENGRAVED STATIONERY

100 SHEETS
100 ENVELOPES
ENGRAVED

ALL FOR
$2

SEE OUR BEAUTIFUL SAMPLES

The Farmville Herald

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

Just What You've Been Looking For

5 TUBE $12.50
4 TUBE $11.00

COMPLETE WITH TUBES

Majestic Inter

You'll Be Thrilled With It.

NEEDS NO AERIAL
PERFORMS WITH THE BEST
SET IN BEAUTIFUL CABINET

SEE FOR YOURSELF

DIXIE Auto Supply

116 W. Third Street

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

Half Block off Main

Gray's Drug Store

PURE DRUGS—MEDICINES

Perfumes—Toilet Articles

Quality—Price—Service

FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

You Would Love to Have Your Shoes Fixed at

Lovelace Shoe Shop

110 Third Street

Mack's

BARBER AND BEAUTY SHOP

323 Main Street

Phone 360

ROSE'S

On the Corner

5-10-25c Store

School Supplies

FULL FASHIONED HOSIERY
ROOM FURNISHINGS

AT POPULAR PRICES

B uy
U nusual
T reats
C old drinks
H uge cones
E legant fruits
R oasted peanuts
S nappy snacks

EACO THEATRE

Adults, 25c; Children, 15c
Unless Otherwise Noted

Wednesday, Nov. 13

Tom Brown
Carol Stone
In Gene Stratton Porter's
"FRECKLES"
Last Chapter
Tim Mix in "Miracle Rider"

Thurs.-Fri., Nov. 14-15

Bing Crosby
Amos an' Andy
Bill Robinson, Jack Oakie
Burns & Allen, Lyda Roberts
BIG BROADCAST
Charlie Chase in 'Poker at 8'
Adults 25c and 35c

Saturday, Nov. 16

Warner Oland
Irene Hervey
"Charlie Chan in Shanghai"
Song Hit, Color Carton, News

Mon.-Tues., Nov. 18-19

Dick Powell
Paul Whiteman
AND HIS BAND
Anne Dvorak, Rubinoff
'Thanks a Million'
A Sensational Musical Hit
Adults 25c and 35c

Wednesday, Nov. 20.

BANK NIGHT
$15.00 GIVEN AWAY
Geo. O'Brien
in Zane Grey's
"THUNDER MOUNTAIN"

Friends are around us, though no word be spoken."
from Dedication

The College World . . . In Pictures

"One Picture Tells as Much as Ten Thousand Words"

Shutters click . . . flashlights flare . . . cameramen are "Johnny on the spot" wherever and whenever anything of interest to the college student happens . . . to bring to the Editor of Collegiate Digest three thousand pictures every month . . . but of course it is only possible to bring you the best of these . . . in addition to the numerous collegiate features appearing exclusively in Collegiate Digest every week with

STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE ROTUNDA

DO YOUR PART IN COLOR RUSH

The Rotunda

We Teach To Teach

RESERVE YOUR PLAY TICKETS

Volume XVI. FARMVILLE, VA, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1935 No. 8

Color Rush Begins Thursday at 2 P. M.

Classes To Play Hockey Games At 2:15

Color rush, that old time custom, will be revived here at S. T. C. when the 2 o'clock bell rings Thursday afternoon.

At the toll of the 2 o'clock bell there will be a grand race to see which runner will have their banners flying high. Dr. Jarman has declared a half-day holiday for the occasion.

The following rules have been drawn up by the Athletic Council, with the approval of Miss Iler, adviser: first, the three places to be rushed are The Rotunda, Student Building, and Cunningham Hall; there shall be one red and white runner and one green and white runner for each place designated; the runners will run from rooms assigned, and draw lots to decide from which room they will run; the runners shall stand in the doorway and shall not cross the threshold until the first sound of the bell is heard; the runner touching the outside railing first in the opinion of the judges gets

Continued on page 4

DR. J. L. JARMAN

Celebrates Birthday Tuesday

Six Students Make Rotunda Staff as Result of Try-outs

Six students have been added to the Rotunda Staff as a result of the try-outs which have been running for the past month. Others are still working to make the staff and any girls interested in this activity are urged to come to the next meeting. The new members of the staff are: Mabel Lambert, make-up editor; Mary Elizabeth Slater, associate sports editor; Mary Harrison Vaughn, feature editor; Ruth Hubard, associate feature editor; Mary Hubard, proof reader; Ann Wills, proof reader.

A new staff organization is in the process of initiation through which it is hoped that staff members will receive more real newspaper experience and one which will facilitate publication of the paper.

Y. W. C. A. Cabinet Attends Inter-Racial Conference

Y. W. C. A. cabinet members will motor to Richmond with the advisers to attend the interracial ecomomic conference to be held at the Y. W. C. A. building Saturday. Dr. Walmsley and Miss Florence H. Stubbs have been invited to lead discussion groups.

On November 16 a similar conference was held for the colleges of the western part of the state in Lynchburg. Colleges in eastern Virginia are expected to send large delegations to the Richmond meeting.

College Girls Hear Symphony Concert

Program Features Frederic Jagel, Tenor

Over seventy-five girls from S. T. C. attended the Richmond Symphony Orchestra concert given at the Misque, Monday, November 18, conducted by Wheeler Beckett.

S. T. C. girls were given tickets for the concert and special seats were arranged for them. There were four hundred girls from Fredericksburg attending.

Frederic Jagel, leading tenor of the Metropolitan Opera Company, opened the program with the "Wedding March," from Midsummer Nights Dream by Mendelssohn. Other selections were "The Beautiful Blue Danube Waltz", "Triumphal March," "Celestial Aida", "Traum", and the prize song from "Die Meister", Von Nornberg, and Symphony No. 5 in C minor by Beethoven.

The next Monday evening concert at the Mosque will be December 9, 1935 featuring Charles Nagel, famous pianist.

Virginian Teases Students With Mysterious Publication

The 1935 Virginian staff is making a swell job of establishing a screen of mystery around their publication this year. In fact, the student body is up in the air. First they say they have fourteen secrets, then forty, and the latest report has it that there are fifty-seven grand treats in store for the sudent body.

"I know something but I can't tell," seems to be their pass word. Actually, they are a few of the people who have secrets and keep them. All that can be said is, "It's hard but it's fair." Hard on we curious ones, but fair to them to know lots of secrets to serve as compensation for the work they are doing.

The most recent tantalizer is a ballot to select representatives from the classes to make up a statistical section in the annual. We are but tools in their hands. We tell them the secrets, yet we don't know what we're saying. We must tell them confidentially who is the cutest, the best looking, the best liked, the most attractive, etc. among our class mates and then wait patiently until distribution of the book to know just what we told them.

They have their worries though and like many of us wherewithal is first among them. With mystery as the chief drawing card however, we expect them to go over the top this year. Think twice folks, before you slam the door in subscription solicitors' faces.

Betty C. Wright Talks to Students In Chapel Nov. 16

Alumna Reveals Aid For Afflicted Children

On Saturday morning in chapel Miss Betty C. Wright of the class of 1909, talked to the student body on her present field of work as Secretary of the American Society for the Hard-of-Hearing. She touched upon the conditions of her own life which led to her taking up this work for helping the hard-of-hearing.

For sometime Miss Wright was a teacher in the public schools, and her contact with children furnished material for observation and aroused her to the realization that work was badly needed in this field. She enumerated a number of precautions a teacher in the public schools can take to help those who are hard-of-hearing to overcome this handicap. She gave several specific cases of the dire results of this malady, when attention was not given soon enough. A plea for courses in colleges, especially teacher's colleges, that will give specialization in dealing with children who are hard-of-hearing was presented. Miss Wright is one of the most outstanding workers in this field of education.

College High Team Competes In Meet

Seven Schools Send Representatives to Meet

Collegiate and St. Catherine's proved themselves winners in their matches in the Annual City Prep School Tournament held at St Catherine's last week. One hundred eighty girls representing seven schools participated in the games despite a drizzling rain and cold weather.

Farmville College High entered the tournament for the first time. Richmond's four prep schools entered two teams each, as did Petersburg High School, while Farmville and Matthew Whaley High School of Williamsburg were represented by one team.

Kathryn Newman, Frances York, Lucille Wilkerson, and Martha McCorkle of the Farmville team were among those selected to play on the All-Star team. These teams were chosen by the officials. The match between the two All-Star teams ended in a scoreless tie.

Officials present were: Miss Martha Barksdale, president of the Virginia Field Hockey Associa-

Continued on page 4

A. C. E. Presents New Type of Program at Meeting

Last Thursday night in the Student Building Lounge, the A. C. E. had a very interesting program meeting. Claudia Harper was chairman of the program. It was opened with an introductory talk on "Individual Differences." Many subjects of interest and importance to this group were discussed. A list of these talks includes: "Present Stresses on Mental Hygiene", "Recognition of Problems of Child Behaviour", "Problem Children and Special Schools", "What is Superiority in the Young Child", "Grading and Educating Superior Children", "Department of Nursery School Education", "Yale Clinic of Child Development". This type of program was a variation to the usual A. C. E. program.

Egyptian Myth Is Theme of S. T. C. May Day for 1936

Students Nominate a Queen—Court Thursday

The theme for the 1935-36 May Day will be based on an Egyptian myth, adapted from Mozart's opera, "The Magic Flute", the libretta of which was written by Schikaneder. The plot is centered around the liberation of Princess Pamina from her mother, the Queen of Night, at the order of Sarastro, the ruler of Ar'et. He desires to bring her to his kingdom, and to secure for his people the light and joy which her presence would give Tamino, an Egyptian youth, is chosen to go in quest of the princess. With the aid of a magic flute he safely brings her to Ar'et, where she is crowned the Golden Goddess.

The Golden Goddess is the role designated by the committee for the May Queen. Her court consists of a high priestess, the maid of honor, and a number of priestesses, her attendants.

On Thursday, November 21 immediately after chapel nomination for May Queen will be made. Each student may nominate one girl for queen, and three highest nominations will be put up for election on the following Saturday, November

Continued on page 4

Departments Give Educational Skits

Education Week Celebrated at S. T. C.

The education department under the direction of Dr. Peter Wynne presented to the student body a series of dramatic programs illustrating the development of education in the United States from the Colonial period to the present date. The committee chosen by Dr. Wynne to direct these programs was composed of Hazel Smith, president of the Student Body; Doris Moore, president of Kappa Delta Pi, and Margaret Pollard, president of the Dramatic Club.

On Monday, November 11, Dr. Wynne opened Education Week by a speech on the growing importance of education throughout the world. He stressed the thought that more time is spent on education, more money is spent on it and more people are employed in the business of education than any other industry in the world, so why not utilize this force into a more effective living in a more

Continued on page 4

Northampton County Forms Alumnae Assn.

The Farmville Alumnae Chapter of Northampton County held its first meeting for organization in the Eastville High School auditorium, Saturday, November 16, at 2:30 o'clock.

The officers for the year are: president, Miss Lila N. Jacob; vice-president, Mrs. Marion Pitchett Long; secretary, Miss Virginia Rawlings; treasurer, Mrs. Flora F. Dix.

The vice-chairmen for the different county areas are: Miss Ellen Parsons, Mrs. Myron Dixon, Mrs. Loda Fitchee Dunton, Mrs. Sallie Rice Nottingham, Miss Elizabeth Roberts, Miss Vera A. Mapp, and Miss Dorothy Justis.

The meeting was called to order by the president. She read greet-

Continued on page 4

Britton and Elder Star In Fall Play

FRANCES BRITTON

Frances Britton, who will play leading lady opposite Jim Elder, in "A Night in Autumn" Friday night.

"A Night in Autumn" Will Be Staged Nov. 22

Frances Britton and Jim Elder supported by a strong cast will appear as leading lady and leading man, respectively, in the annual Dramatic Club-Jongleur production, "A Night in August" on the S. T. C. stage Friday night, November 22 at eight o'clock.

Several of the cast are known in this community for their ability on the stage. Amanda Gray who was active in dramatic work during her previous attendance here, Jim Elder who is a Hampden-Sydney Jongleur of long standing, Bill Willis a member of last year's cast, Webb Surratt who played a prominent part in the Jongueur spring production. Other members of the cast include Gertrude Levy, Helen Wilkins, Virginia Agee, Horace Cromer, Van Alford, and Dave White.

At twelve o'clock Thursday tickets for the play will go on reserve at White's Drug Store on Main Street. Students desiring tickets may secure them from the Dramatic Club apprentices who are managing the sale as a part of the try-out work.

Predictions from both campuses are that this production will be added to the long list of successful fall plays.

Baldwin's Celebrates Opening New Shop With Fashion Show

On Friday night, November 15, the official opening of Baldwin's new men's shop and celebration of the remodeling of the store was featured by a fashion show. "Tub" Oliver and his orchestra furnished music for the occasion.

S. T. C. girls and Hampden-Sydney boys were models, and the styles they wore were the latest in all respects. Sport clothes, afternoon and tea dresses, evening gowns and wraps were modeled in the line of ladies' clothes; sport and evening apparel by the boys.

Lucy Potter, Virginia Leonard, Billy Arthur, Vera Ebel, Nancy Selman, Ruth Montgomery, Lucile Mosely, Frances Britton, Lloyd Kelly, and Kitty Jamison, Dabney Sandidge, Johnnie Apperson and Howard Bouldin were the models.

Baldwin's has been made considerably larger and has been greatly improved upon in all respects. The newest additions include a swanky men's shop and a de luxe beauty salon.

Four Class Hockey Teams Select Squad Captains

Each class hockey team is working hard to win or put up a fight on Thursday afternoon in the inter-class games.

Amy Butterworth, Edna Bolick, Mary Lena Anderson, and Kathleen Ranson, were elected captains of the freshmen, sophomore junior and senior teams, respectively, on November 19.

Honor Fraternity Holds Convention

University of S. C. Is Hostess to Fraternity Delegates

The annual national convention of Alpha Kappa Gamma was held November 15 and 16 at the University of South Carolina in Columbia, South Carolina. Headquarters were at the Women's Building.

The Joan Circle of State Teachers College, Farmville, was well represented by Miss Florence H. Stubbs, charter member and national executive-secretary; Tac Waters, local president; and delegates including Margaret Farrar, Margaret Pollard, Mary Bowles and Hazel Smith. Miss Annie Dennit, Farmville alumna, also attended the convention.

The national convention welcomed the addition of a new circle, Athenian, which was recently installed at the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill, North Carolnia.

At the business sessions Friday

Continued on Page 4

Farmville and Dr. Jarman Are Synonymous to Friends

When one thinks of Dr. Jarman one automatically thinks of Farmville and the service he is doing here. So yesterday, when celebrating his birthday, the realization of the valuable service being rendered presented itself to many of the students and members of the administration.

Dr. Joseph L. Jarman was born in Charlottesville on November 19, 1867. He attended the public schools of that city until he became an orphan at the age of fourteen. At that time he entered Miller Manual Training School, graduated from there in 1886. After completing three years at the University of Virginia on the Miller Scholarship, he returned to Miller School as a faculty member. However, the next year he was called to Emory and Henry College where he rendered twelve years of service. Dr. James S. Miller of Emory and Henry writes of Dr. Jarman:

"He did a work of lasting value here, then passed into a field of wider educational service, fortunately for you at Farmville who are enjoying the fruit of his long labors. His going was a great loss to

Continued on page 4

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Published by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

1935 Member 1936
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

Staff

Florence Sanford ..... Editor
Agnes Bondurant ..... Associate Editor
Evelyn Massey ..... Business Manager

Board of Editors

Elizabeth Morris ..... News Editor
Mabel Lambert ..... Make-up
Susan Gresham ..... Headlines
Alice Nelson ..... Alumnae
Bess McGlothlin ..... Editorials
Mary Harrison Vaughn ..... Feature
Margaret Fraley ..... Society
Emma Bingham ..... Literary
Kathleen Ranson ..... Sports

Proof Readers

Elizabeth Walton, Ann Wills
Mary Hubard

Managers

Elsie Cabell ..... Asst. Bus. Manager
Louise Gathright ..... Circulation Manager
Ruth Phelps ..... Asst. Circulation Manager
Will Scott ..... Asst. Circulation Manager

Reporters

Bonnie Lane, Virginia Bean, Virginia Agee, Madeline McGlothlin, Minnie Smith, Mary Elizabeth Slater, Mary Joyner Cox, Bess McGlothlin, Ruth Hubard, Claudia Harper, Claire Eastman., Elizabeth Carroll.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1935

Whither the Philippines?

On November 15, Manuel Onezon was inaugurated as President of the Philippine Commonwealth, thus beginning the end of the United States' preparation for the island's independence. It has always been our policy to prepare those islands for their freedom by successive steps in self-government and public education.

Although ten years from now the republic will be declared, the politcal leaders are realizing that it will be extremely difficult for the economic structure of the islands to survive separation from the United States. The free trade that they now enjoy will gradually be brought to a close. Undeveloped resources will probably be a serious temptation to over-populated nations, especially since Japanese imperialism is not to be waived lightly aside. It is conceivable that a weak struggling country might survive if it could be assured of freedom from foreign interference. However, if there would be some form of Domican Status, that would perpetuate political association between the two countries coupled with a trade preference treaty, there would be an offer of a great assurance for the future stability of the republic.

After the withdrawal of the complete authority of the United States ten years from now, it remains to be seen whether the Filipino people are able to maintain their long desired freedom. Will they be able to or will another country gain control of their government? The answer remains with the future.

Since simplification of insanity laws is to be urged in the legislature, we hope it won't become too easy for one to go crazy.

Gestures bear the message of a sermon to mutes, but nothing has been found to carry it to the "dumb" members prominent in every congregation.

A college education is little more than the realization of one's ignorance.

The Italo-Ethiopian war is rapidly developing the earmarks of a proverbial marathon.

Who Will Raise the Colors?

Color rush means more than its name. Rushing to a designated place with the class colors is just the climax of weeks of planning on the part of the Athletic Council and its adviser.

The racing is the part that the majority of students enjoy. It brings forth a fine show of sportsmanship, loyalty, and skill from representatives of the various classes.

Though this year's color rush cannot take place at the break of dawn, it can bring forth the same breathless excitement shown in years gone by. In times past this annual event was one that drew all the girls out of bed at six o'clock. This year, it is not a question of being up; it is a question of being on the job to support your color and your class.

And It Is Not Mother's Day

In modern times it has become a characteristic of the world in general—and Russia in particular—to destroy, cast aside, or at least ridicule by scathing criticism all traditional institutions around which the sentiments of peoples have been accustomed to entwine. It is with considerable amusement and a certain sense of reassurance that we see this humorous quotation from the Boston Transcript:

"Soviet Endorses Mothers, After a prolonged period of trial, we understand that they have found them practically indispensable."

There are so few things about which we can be absolutely sure. Youth stands confidently on a sturdy platform of beliefs, and somebody—a person, a group or an organization—pulls out one of the props; the platform and the elevated individual come crashing down.

It gives us a comfortable, safe, and secure feeling to be reminded that there is one earthly support that has always existed, that is with us today, that will continue to recur as long as there is man—and youth is in need of a stronghold—Motherhood.

"I Hate Men Who Are Half and Half"

The statement that the youth of our today is refusing to take its stand, that they are without convictions of their own, that they refuse to take the responsibility of thinking individuals with a false broad-mindedness is the indictment the world gives the present generation.

Is there truth in the criticism made by a group of editors of collegiate papers that college boys and girls have no convictions and refuse to make any by which they shall stand? That they are without courage, or will to face issues? Such a group should be in a position to comment with authority.

Can we on the other hand accept Pearl S. Buck's defense of us and say that it is the older generation who have failed in challenging the younger, that they have given us no fights to win and that where there is no opposition, struggle ceases? Can we say with her that the older generation has deliberately excused itself from its duty in controlling and guiding, inspiring and steadying us by accepting their role of being "broadminded"?

Has damage been done? Is tihs perspective true? If so, what? If we are in the place the world seems to have given us, are we going to make matters worse by following further and pass the blame along from one to the other? If they can say of us that we have made no stand of our own, can they also say that we are without the courage and strength which is necessary to fight our battle?

In an engineer can invent a way to keep dogs from chasing automobiles, why can't a mechanic invent a way to keep automobiles from chasing people?

Rotunda Reverberations

"Show Me the Way to Get Thin" seems to be the theme song of a great majority of S. T. C. girls of this modern century. It has been an "Old Spanish Custom" so they say, for all the girls to gain at least ten pounds during their first two or three months at Farmville. The idea is to let your parents know you are living a life of leisure and getting good wholesome food—there really isn't much we can say about that.

Almost all of the Freshmen have the pleasure of obtaining that "school girl figure" with all the surplus that goes along with it, but it is quite surprising how little they worry about it—they can always find someone who is a little larger.

As tragic as it is, they all have to go home and listen to the town's talk about how Helen, or Frances or whoever it might be, has gained at school—and oh yes, —"My! but they must get a plenty of sleep and good meals that agree with them!" Can you feature that?

It is already discouraging for them to try on their summer dresses. There's nothing like attempting to convince themselves the frock has shrunk; they know all the time what the trouble is and just won't admit it. You wouldn't either if you knew how horrible it is. So the Freshmen have the weighty blues—they're just as blue as they can be!!

By the way, what is your theme song?—From careful observation we collected a few—

Lelia Sanford, "Underneath a Desert Moon."

Zell Hopkins, "There's Nothing Like a College Education."

Hazel Smith, "Be Careful, Young Lady".

Madeline McGlothlin, "Page Miss Glory".

Ann Johnson, "I'm a Latin from Manhattan."

Lucy Potter, "Flowers for Madame".

S. T. C. Girls, "Sittin' Around on Sunday."

The Optimist, "Two for Tonight"

The Night Rider, "There's Going to be the Devil to Pay'".

"Substance", "You're Nothing But a Nothing."

Freshman Ideas, "Nothing Lives Longer than Love."

Elizabeth Smith, "Lost in a Fog"

World News

Chinese Peasants Rising

At last Chinese peasants are rising to assert their rights after having endured a state of long suffering. For years these tillers of the soil have been confronted with famine, floods, pestilence, "war-lords" and "racketeering tax collectors", suppressing themselves so long, until small peasant revolts resulted inevitably as an outlet.

The inhabitants of Shanghai seem to think that the North China uprising might develop into a broad dispersed automony movement encouraged and supported by the Japanese. The world, however, is wondering whether Japan's intention, not to separate North China from the Nanking Central Government even though a new regime is formed, will be enforced after this uprising.

Naval Conference To Meet

Sir Bolton Eyres—Monsell, England's First Lord of Admiralty, the first professional sailor to hold that office for more than a century and a quarter, has renewed the naval armament discussion by inviting four nations, the United States, Japan, France, and Italian Embassies to assemble in London on December 2.

Sir Bolton, a man quite overcome with good humor and bearing a breezy but affable countenance, seems to think that "a surplus strength in reserve" is necessary even though the English navy is a guaranty of peace within itself.

As it stands now, Japan, England, and United States are well confirmed in the idea that national defense is necessary and disarmament is really not one of their goals. Since this fact remains, the press maintains that the conference will bear no successful fruit. Again, since prospects are gloomy, it is wondered just what the conference will bring.

Floridian Movement

It has been announced that a committee met at Orlando, Florida last month to consider a plan to divide Florida into states, one north and one south of the projected canal across the state. Everyone is anxious as to what the movement will result in.

At Other Colleges

There are just two reasons why freshmen flunk out of college says Dr. L. L. Click of the University of Texas:

1. Either freshmen get too scared of their studies.

2. Or they don't get scared and go to sleep.

A visiting preacher at Hobart College, New Yory state, used as subdivisions of his chapel sermon words beginning with the consecutive letter of the name "Hobart". Next day the president asked a student, "How did you like it?"

"All right"—then with a frank grin, "But just the same I sat there thanking my lucky stars that I wasn't attending Massachusetts Institute of Technology."

Herbert Hoover, Jefferson Davis, Benjamin Franklin, Henry Hudson, William Penn, David Livingston, and Ben Hur are registered at the University of North Carolina this year.

A future Sam Johnson at the University of Michigan develops a few word definitions: Honesty—fear of being caught. Truth—lack of tact. Courage—combination of stubborness and resignation. Pleasure—one-half memory, one-half anticipation. Love—one-half imagination, one-half biology. Moron—one who is contented with a serene mind.

The cynic says: "To walk through a cemetery you would think the Wicked never die."

Just a bit of advice: Always remember, dear children, that a fish never gets caught by keeping its mouth shut. Never argue with an undertaker. He always gets in the last dig.

Love is like sickness—you may get over it, but the chances are you'll catch it again.

A pedestrian is a car owner with a wife and two daughters.

Football is a game in which one side of the stadium wants to see eleven men killed and the other side of the stadium wants to see eleven other men killed.

A diplomat is a man who convinces his wife that a woman looks stout in a fur coat.

A columnist at the University of Illinois says: "Sing Sing ought to get a game with Army to prove that the pen is mightier than the sword."

The New York Times, after a survey of sixty-seven colleges and universities, asserts that only thirty per cent of young college men and women are capable of thinking for themselves. In other words, seventy per cent are just being "carried along."

A Nashville railroad station agent sent a card to a Vanderbilt University student saying:

"Sir: Please send without delay for a case of books addressed to you which is here in the station and leaking badly."

Have you heard:

The "Rotunda" is becoming famous! Through our local admirer, One "Sentimental Sam" reads our paper with much interest and even goes so far as to spend his hard-earned money on three-cent postage to write our dear editor witty poems. We are all for more and better poetry from our interested local contributor.

Favorite Authors

This week the nation is celebrating the annual Book Week. Since the subject is "Reading for Fun", some of our classmates tell us here what they read "for fun" or, at least, their favorite author and why.

"I like Sarah Teasdale's poetry, for its depth of thought and feeling."—Kathleen Ranson.

"I like Poe's poetry for the sake of the poetry itself—the style, the choice of words and that little underlying note that I can't explain, but seems to run through Poe's works."—Kitty Carlton.

"My favorite author is George Eliot. I like her because her works are so true to life and portray characters so vividly that one thoroughly understands them."
—Claire Eastman

"Lloyd Douglas—His characters are so alive that we want to know them better."—Mary Hale.

"Edna St. Vincent Millay—She expresses so much about the little things that appear so large and important to us; she expresses for us, in a beauiful and superior way, our own thoughts."—Virginia Baker.

"John Galsworthy—In his works I can revel in the clearest and most profound of character studies."—Helen Glass.

"I like Charles Dickens because of his portrayal of the people of his time—their manners, customs, and ideas."—Lelia Hill.

"De la Roche—She brings her characters right out of the book and makes them your lasting friends."—Jane Saunders.

"I like Mark Twain because he wrote humorous and life-like stories."—Dorothy Lewis.

"My favorite author is S. S. Van Dine, and I suppose that the real reason is that he appeals to the red-blooded side of my nature."
—Lillian Anderson

"Despite the fact that I no longer read her novels, Jo, Beth, and Amy, and rest of her characters are so clearly a part of my literary back-ground, that I may well class Louisa M. Alcott as my favorite author."—Gertrude Levy.

"I like Thomas Hardy, the novelist, very much. His style of writing keeps me awake, wondering what will come next."—Lucille Johnston.

---

der Dumas"—Maxine Burks.

"The splendor and simplicity with which Booth Tarkington writes about everyday happenings causes me to join the ranks of his many admirers."
—Catherine Smoot

"Mary Roberts Rinehart—for her mystery stories."—Josephine Quinn.

"O. Henry—I like the way he expresses himself and the undercurrent of humor all through his works."—M. McAllister.

"John Erskine—I believe his subject matter is the interest his books hold for me."—Virginia Bean.

"Henry Van Dyke fits my every mood."—Sallie Rode.

"I like Richard Haliburton for his tales of glorious adventure."
—Dorothy Rhodes

"Ellen Glasgow—She uses very picturesque language."
—Martha Harrison

"My favorite author is Wordsworth. To me, his poetry imparts a conception of nature and of men different from any poet I have ever read."—Patty Jeffreys.

"Rudyard Kipling—His characters are so well described and their traits given to you by their speech that you feel as if you knew them."—Charlotte Rice.

SOCIETY

Student Government Honors Dr. Jarman

On Tuesday night, November 19, the Student Council celebrated Dr. Jarman's birthday at Longwood with a banquet in his honor. The living rooms of Longwood have been refurnished, and this banquet was the first affair to be held since the redecoration. The banquet was held in the tea room. Place cards were tied on gold wish bones, with an inscription—"Keep on hoping till your wish comes true."

During the banquet a toast was made to Dr. Jarman by Hazel Smith, president of the Council, and a gift from the Council was presented by Bonnie Lane. Each girl wrot a wish on her place card, and Dr. Jarman read them aloud.

After the banquet was served, in interesting game was played by the group. Virginia Leonard, Marjorie Robertson, and Bonnie Lane played piano selections, while the girls sang.

The guests were: Dr. Jarman, Miss Mary White Cox, and Miss Royall.

Smith-Dodd

The marriage of Miss Nancy Dodd, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Anderson Dodd, to Mr. John Edward Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter W. Smith of Gloucester County, was solemnized on Saturday, November 9, at high noon at "Hill Crest", the home of the bride.

Rev. G. W. M. Taylor, pastor of the Methodist church, performed the ceremony before an improvised altar of ferns, ivy and white candles. The bride was attired in a frock of sable brown crepe with accessories to match. Her flowers were yellow chrysanthemums.

The bride is a graduate of Averett College, Danville and of the State Teachers College in Farmville. She is a member of the Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority. Mr. Smith is a graduate of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute and is assistant to the Mecklenburg county agent.

Diggs-Marshall

The Rev. and Mrs. Myron B. Marshall of Halifax have announced the engagement of their daughter Elizabeth Barrand to Mr. Dudley Waltington Diggs, son of Mrs. Elizabeth Waltington Diggs and the late Judge I. W. Diggs of Washington. The marriage will take place Thursday morning, November 28, in St. Johns Episcopal church in Halifax, the pastor of the church and the father of the bride officiating.

Miss Margaret Meagher spoke at the Catholic Woman's Club of Richmond last Monday on the subject "Old Fashion's for New, or a Return to Current Thought of Catholic Philosophy, Ideas, and Ideals." This opened the first of a series of lectures which will continue through the winter season.

Miss Meagher is a former English teacher, librarian, and bibliographer, and a contributor to the Catholic World.

The Farmville alumnae in Hopewell recently held a meeting for the purpose of organizing an alumnae association. Mrs. Louise Doyle Rigdon was elected president and Mrs. Judith Fenner Barnard, secretary. Plans were made for a tea to be held Monday, December 9 at City Point Inn for the purpose of getting all members together.

Among the programs being given for the observance of Book Week by the schools in Richmond is a play, "Alice in Bookland", to be given by the pupils of Binford Junior High School. Miss Ritchie McCraw, who is the author of this play, is one of the teachers at this school and has also written many short stories which have been published.

Three Students See "Ghosts" Starring Mme. A. Nazimova

Tapelle Pruden, Mary Elizabeth Wood, and Elizabeth Walton attended the Matinee performance of Ibsen's great realistic drama, "Ghosts" starring Mme. Alla Nazimova at the Lyric theatre in Richmond on Saturday afternoon. Nazimova, who has done more than any other actress to popularize Ibsen in America, is hailed by critics as the most superb heroine who has yet attempted the delicate roles created in these plays. The supporting cast inc ded Harry Ellherbe, Ona Munson, McKay Morris and Raymond O'Brien.

Doris Coates and Ernestine Payne who accompanied the party attended the showing of Starke Young's Civil War drama. "So Red the Rose", which had its world premiere opening at the Colonial theatre.

Strange as it may seem some other girls had interests rather than at Hampden-Sydney this past week-end. The following girls went home for the week--end.

Home: Edna Harvey, Florence Jeffrey, Jennie Rock, Elizabeth Hart, Yetive Dawson, Charlotte Morton, Dorothy Robertson, Lucy Smith, Nannie Mae Parker, Frances Bryant, Katherine Chappell, Elizabeth Trent, Margaret Critcher, Sue Eastham, Virginia Lee, Mary Elizabeth Wood, Cecile Hyde, Mildred Slayton, Erna and Evelyn Dickerson, Frances Faris, Ruby Blanton, Dudley Allen, Lelia Hill, Ellen Mason, Elennah Bradshaw, Ethel McPherson, Elinor Dunham, Frances Williams, Ethel Burgess, Ellen Skilleman, Fletcher Walker, Mildred Davis, Virginia Kite, Catherine Waite, Lois Jenkins, Louise Briggs, Louise Frances, Mary Jackson.

Richmond: Elizabeth Walton, Doris Coates, Ernestine Payne, Pruden Tapelle, Louise Anthony, Miriam Ficklin, Ella Arthur Black, Elsie Cabell, Elise Turner,, Cassell Schools, Katherine Cox, Mabel Burton, Doris Moore, Helen Gage, Evelyn Reuter, Kitty Morrison, Mary Jane Pendleton, and Irene Parker, Bonnie Lane, and Margaret Russell.

Elizabeth Tyree went to the dances at Annapolis this past week-end.

H. S. C. German Club Sponsors Dance Set

The German Club of Hampden-Sydney sponsored the Home-coming dances of the year at the Comity Club on November 15 and 16. Dave Burnside and his Carolina orchestra furnished music for the set. The S. T. C. girls and escorts are as follows: Virginia Bean, Jordan Temple; Mary Taylor Burns, Oscar Shumake; Annie Leigh Bailey, Carter Clark; Carolyn Byrd, Bob Pendleton; Margaret Britton, Bill Spencer; Jane Burke, W. D. Temple; Frances Britton, Arley Haymen; Virginia Carroll, Bill Heflin; Agnes Crockett, Garnett Davis; Martha Glenn Davis, Louis Humphry; Virginia Doughty, Bruce Franz; Eleanor Dodson, Jack Earmine; C. Dortch, Charlie Geyer; Kathryn Fitzgerald Johnny Ferry; Jennie Belle Gilliam, Bill Jeffries; Virginia Hall, John Kenyon; Ann Hardy, John Waiden; Elizabeth Harris, Bill Formwalt; Pattie Jeffries, Aubrey Adams; Ann Johnson, Speck Werdon; Eugenia Jolly, Bill Hoppstetter; Ruth James, O. B. Watson; Kathleen McCann, Frank Bedinger; Madeline McGlothlin, Morton Barbour; Frances Maxie, Billy Willis; Ruth Montgomery, Buck Lawson; Matsie Moore, J. B. Revely; Carter Belle Munt, Fred Williams; Valla Nimmo, Elino Howell; Martha Nottingham, Dave Rice; P. Nottingham, Buck ady; Mary Jane Pendleton, Nat Hutcheson; Anne Peple, John H. Pierce; Sallie Perrow, D. P. Reed; Isabel Plummer, Buddy Lewis; Dot Price, David White, Jr.; Rose Puller, Soap Orgain; Ada Pollock, Mac Jenny; Nan Seward, Bill Hayward; Henrietta Salsbury, Bill Armstrong; Ellen Simmerman, John Frank Chambers; Minnie Smith, Bene Dortch; Florence Tankard, Clarence Campbell; Mary Lynn Thomas, Martin Donelson; Nan Throckmorton, June Irby; Mary H. Vaughan, R. Barkley; Martha Williams, Peter Lauck; Marjorie Woolfolk, Tom Noble.

Friday night Mrs. Eva Warren entertained at dinner in the Tea Room for Miss Betty Wright, of Washington, D. C., who is the Executive Secretary of Society of Hard of Hearing. The guests included the following: Miss Betty C. Wright, Miss Mary White Cox, Miss Alice Carter, Misses Ruth and Josephine Gleaves, Mrs. Eva Warren and Dr. J. L. Jarman.

Saturday at noon the local Alumni Chapter of Farmville State Teachers' College had an informal luncheon for Miss Betty C. Wright at Longwood. A frigidaire plate was served to the following guests: Miss Betty C. Wright, Miss Mary Clay Hiner, Miss Virgilia Bugg, Mrs. Herbert Stokes, Miss Alice Carter, Miss Pierce, Miss Lila B. London, Mrs. Boyd Coyner, Mrs. Eva Warren and Mr. J. M. Grainger.

The Junior and Senior Woman's Book Club will have a two course luncheon in the Tea Room Wednesday at noon. The Tea Room will be decorated with yellow chrysanthemums and yellow candles.

Margaret Huett spent the past week-end at University of Virginia.

Louise Hyde, an alumna of S. T. C., who is now teaching public school music at Lowmoore, was a week-end visitor in Farmville.

Jennie Belle Gilliam spent the past week-end at Sweetbriar College.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Bond and daughter, Mary Jane, of Alexandria were the guests of Miss Mary White Cox this week-end. Mrs. Bond is the sister of Miss Mary White Cox.

Mary Bowles, Margaret Farrar, Margaret Pollard, "Tac" Waters, Hazel Smith and Miss Florence H. Stubbs went to University of South Carolina, Columbia, S. C., where they attended the Alpha Kappa Gamma convention.

S. T. C. Statuary

Since as far back as 1904, it has been the beautiful custom of the graduating classes to leave with their Alma Mater some token of affection. There are so many distributed that one comes upon them in practically every part of the college buildings.

Many of the gifts have been statues that we see daily, yet we know little of what they represent, nor do we take time to appreciate their meaning and value.

On the mantle in the Rotunda stand two statues. One is a copy of Venus de Milo that is sometimes known as Venus of Melos because it was found on the island, Melos. This was a gift from the class of 1905. They also gave "Winged Victory" or "Victory Samothrace" that is now in the basement of the Recreation hall until it is repaired.

In the center of the Rotunda is the meditative staue of Joan of Arc by Henry Chapu, a Frenchman. The original is in the Louvre in Paris. The class of 1914 may well be proud of this gift to their Alma Mater as the institution now hails Joan of Arc as her patron saint. The Equestrian Statue of Joan of Arc in the colonade was a gift from the Alpha Delta Rho Society, now ghown as Alpha Kappa Gamma, in 1927. The sculptor is Mrs. Anna Hyatt Huntington, born in Massachusetts, who is one of America's greatest sculptors.

On the right facing the stage, in the large auditorium stands a statue of Minerva by the sculptor, Giustiniani. This is sometimes known as Athena Giustiniani. On the left of the stage is the companion to it, Diana Tohing or Diana Cabii. It is known as Diana Gabii as it was found in the gardens of the Gabii family. These were gifts of the class of 1905 and 1906.

There are also two handsome reliefs on either side of the stage. One is a modern reproduction in plaster of the painting, "Aurora", by Guido Reni, an Italian. A copy of the original painting by him is in the senior parlor. The other relief is a panel portraying Alexander's Triumph. Both of these were gifts of the students in the Kindergarten course.

In 1920 the appeal to the Great Spirit by Syrus Dallin an American sculptor, was added to the college collection of statuary, and stands in the senior parlor.

"Gene Stratton Porter is my favorite author, because her style is simple, her tories are interesting, and her scenes are familiar and can easily be dramatized."

—Aurelia Varner

"Stark Young—I like his work especially because of his realistic life material."—Anna Louise Hock

"My favorite author is Alexan-

To a casual onlooker a freshman girl may seem to be a great deal like a senior girl. But open up their heads and what do you find? Down at Ohio State University the dean of women found some very interesting dissimilarities in ideas between lower and upper class girls.

The dean queried the girls as to the most desirable qualties girls should posses.

Next to good family, the upperclass women demanded good morals, but the freshman girls—save the mark!—voted good morals into fourteenth place! The freshies thought good social traits the most desirable qualities and offensive personal habits the worst.

Student Paints Word Picture Of Dinner Time at Teachers College

The dinner bell gongs slowly, echoing through the stately halls of S. T. C. Simultaneously the sounds of feet, buzzing voices, and a general hubbub announce the approach of hungry girls. Some show the extent of their hunger by pushing forward, instantly deserting the places where they have been patiently waiting. They surge in as soon as the doors open. Some lose their well-preserved dignity in the mad rush for nourishment. Others maintain their dignity in spite of the pangs of hunger. Still others stroll leisurely in denoting an afternoon of so-called "trash".

As the girls file in, snatches of conversation float back. One is excited; she is going home tomorrow. Another is happy over a long awaited letter—it's all that she had hoped. One is mad over a flunk note. One is sulky over the lack of mail, and one is sulky over her mail. Some are quiet; others are very loud. Many are laughing, but one is crying. No voice stands out separately as they take their places. Each is a part of the whole—the loud droning confusion of it all.

Finally they are all in and the door is locked. Amid much scraping the chairs are pushed back and a room full of girls bow their heads together and give thanks to their God—a beautiful sight. The bright fall colors, their youth, their noise, their very aliveness create an impression never to be forgotten, once appreciated.

SUPPERS AND SMALL PARTIES

Good Breakfast
Dinners
Suppers
College Tea Room
and
LONGWOOD

H. M. WELLS CONFECTIONERY
Food for the Parties
Two blocks from College Campus

STANLEY A. LEGUS
TAILOR
CLEANING
PRESSING
REPAIRING
Phone 203

Farmville Mfg. Co.
BUILDING MATERIALS
MILLWORK
Farmville, Va.

C. E. Chappell Co.
Visit Us For the Best Fountain Service

PEOPLE'S 5-10-25c Store
(3rd St., near Express Office)
Extends to Faculty & Students of S. T. C. a cordial invitation to visit Farmville's only locally owned 5 & 10c Store
SPECIAL ORDERS TAKEN FOR YOUR CONVENIENCE
C. C. Atkinson (Cousin Tommy's son)
Rosa Willims Atkinson (S. T. C. Alumna)

TAXI TAXI
Jitney Rides Day or Night Service
"Service that Counts"
H. M. WELLS, Day Phone 344
Night Phone 54M

RICE'S SHOE STORE
Street and Dress Shoes
Dancing Slippers Dyed
Correct fits our specialty

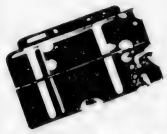
R. E. FISCHER
Radio Repairing
Formerly with Martin the Jeweler
PHONE 244M OR 283

Planters Bank and Trust Company
COMPLIMENTS
FARMVILLE, VA.

WILLIS
The Florist
Flowers for all occasions
PHONES 181-273

Kleanwell
CLEANERS AND TAILORS
Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling ladies garments
Main Street, opposite Post Office
Phone 98

Conoco Gas and Oil
Fill up at
JOHNS MOTOR CO.
Farmville, Va.



Electric Shoe Shop
It's smart to buy good shoes and then keep them repaired

Martin the Jeweler
College & Fraternity Jewelry
Gifts of lasting remembrance
317 MAIN ST. FARMVILLE

Southside Drug Store
Films Developed
F R E E
Try our tasty lunches

Shannon's
Is Headquarters for the Best
SANDWICHES
—and—
DRINKS
in Farmville

GILLIAM'S
Refreshments fo the Girls
One block from the campus
Let us supply your next "feast"

TUSSY ROUGE
The greatest "smoothest" Cream Rouge you ever saw. So soft ANYbody can put it on without blotching or streaking. And it lasts for hours. In smart exclusive Tussy Shades: Tea Rose, Apricot, Flame, Rose Coral, Raspberry. $1.00

BALDWIN'S
QUALITY - PRICE - SERVICE STORES
"The Style Shop for Ladies"
FARMVILLE, VA.

LOVELY SPORT COATS—$9.95 and $16.50, with new Fish-tail backs—Gorgeous Plaids.
SPort Oxfords and Dress Shoes, sizes 3 to 9
Widths from "AAA" to "C" ..... $2.95 and $3.95
YOU WILL LIKE TO SHOP HERE!

HUB DEPARTMENT STORE

Ramblings

Well, this is my last class today (sight of relief). Might as well get my notes out. After all that does save work when tests roll around. Heavens! Will that girl never answer my question? These people who fumble around and never once strike the point. How a teacher stands it is more than I know. I wonder if she can tell I'm yawning. She surely gave me a funny look. What time is it? Gosh. Just a fourth of the period gone. It's so pretty out of doors. I believe I'll walk to Longwood this afternoon. A bun would taste good. That breakfast we had was awful. I wonder if I'll have enough nerve to see the picture Friday if I eat lunch in the tea room. What a pig I am. Always thinking of food—and I really must be reducing. Why, that purple dress I'm planning to wear to openings already fits a bit snugly. Poor me! I have to worry about my figure all the time. How I envy people who don't. That girl in front of me is one of the lucky few. How I wish that tall girl by her would comb her hair. If she had any idea how she looks she would.

I believe I'll knit a sweater like that gorgeous yellow one. Why do they keep referring to the world situation? What do I care about it? I suppose I should be ashamed. Why, I'll be twenty-one in three years. And I can vote!

Ho ho hum! Ten more minutes to go—I hope I get some mail. Maybe I'll get some money. What day is this anyhow? Why it's Tuesday! I will get money, and I do believe I'll go to the tea room for lunch. Maybe they'll have steak. I do love steak.

Why doesn't that bell ring? I can't stand the economic situation! One second longer and I'll pass out. Ah, there it is. Praises be. Now why does she continue to talk? Doesn't she know the class is over?. Whew! All through for today. Maybe I'll live now!

Honor Fraternity Holds Convention

Continued from Page 1

afternoon and Saturday plans for the coming year. The national officers for 1936 are as follows: president, Miss Frances Cardwell, Columbia, S. C.; vice-president, Miss Jane Royall, Farmville; executive-secretary, Miss Florence Stubbs, Farmville; treasurer, Miss Nannie Lou Wilson, Bowling Green, S. C.; editor of the Torchbearer, Florence Sanford, Farmville; Members at large: Mrs. Marian H. Stacey, Chapel Hill, N. C.; Dean Arnie Childs, University of South Carolina; and Miss Ruth Grover, Miss Mary Johnston, famous novelist, was elected the first national honorary member of Alpha Kappa Gamma. Miss Johnston was guest speaker at the convention last spring.

The convention in 1936 will be held at Queens-Chicora College, Charlotte, North Carolina, the date to be set by the executive committee at its meeting in the spring.

Panel discussions of vital interest to members of Alpha Kappa Gamma were held on the subjects of what Alpha Kappa Gamma can do to improve inter-sorority relations and relationships between sorority and non-sorority girls. Farmville girls participating as leaders in these discussions were Tac Waters, Hazel Smith and Miss Bowles. An inspiring and stimulating panel discussion as to what Alpha Kappa Gamma can do to improve college spirit and loyalty was led by Margaret Pollard.

During the convention an exhibit of articles of historical value connected to Alpha Kappa Gamma was displayed in the lobby of the Women's Building.

On Friday night a spaghetti supper was cooked in the open at Lake Murray, Dean Childs acting as hostess. Automobile tours of Columbia were conducted Saturday afternoon.

Saturday night a formal banquet was held at the Columbia Hotel with Barbara Bates as toastmistress. Guest speakers were Dean Arnie Childs and Dr. Samuel Derrick, professor of Philosophy at the University of South Carolina. Margaret Farrar, Joan Circle, planned the theme, place-cards and toasts and acted as Toastmistress of the occasion. The theme was carefully worked out, representing Alpha Kappa Gamma as an architecturally beautiful building in which every active member was an essential part of the whole.

The representatives from Farmville returned enthusiastic and inspired by the experince. The Joan Circle of Alpha Kappa Gamma, one of the first in the national organization, is outstanding in its spirit and as a coordinating influence in the college. Having three national officers among its active members gives it an added stimulus to service and achievement.

Egyptian Myth is May Day Theme

Continued from Page 1

23, at Sing. The girl who receives the highest number of votes will be queen, the second highest, maid of honor, and the third will automatically be made a member of the court. Nominations for the court will be made at the same on the ballots used in selection of the queen. Each student will nominate ten girls for the court.

The name of the queen will be disclosed and the court elected after Thanksgiving.

May Day is being planned this year with greater stress on dancing than ever before. The student body will elect the queen and court, but the May Day Committee has assumed the responsibility of selecting the girls for the leading dance parts. Girls who have outstanding ability will appear in several dances. Any girls with dancing ability whether they are taking dancing or not will be given an opportunity to try out for parts. Other girls who are interested but who cannot dance will be able to employ their talents in costuming, staging and other activities vital to the success of May Day.

The following qualifications have been drawn up by the May Day committee as essential for the girls in the May Court, including the queen:

(1) The girls taking part must be representative of the student body in character, personality, and school spirit.

(2) All girls must be dependable, responsible, and willing to work.

(3) The queen and court must have grace and poise as well as attractive appearance.

4) Only Seniors and Juniors are eligible for the role of queen. A girl may be queen only once during her college career. Election for the court may be from any of the four classes.

Northampton County Forms Alumnae Assn.

Continued from Page 1

ings from Dr. J. L. Jarman and Miss Carrie B. Taliaferro.

After the business session Mrs. Marian Fitchett Long, vice-president, presented an interesting and well-planned program.

The choral club of Cape Charles, under the direction of A. S. Downs gave two musical selections.

Mrs. Mabel Roberts Tankard of the class of 1894 gave memories of the Normal School at this time. Mrs. Lynn Dunton (Loda) Fitchett) told of the college when it first became a State Teachers College. Miss Dorothy Justis of the class of 1935 described the college of today after nearly fifty-two years of progress.

Adjournment followed the business meeting and talks by the alumnae.

Mr. Morgenthau promises a paper dollar of entirely new design. Our suggestion that one be engraved on adhesive tape has been entirely ignored — Toronto Star.

This year's winner of the Nobel peace prize will be the fellow who discovers some way to keep the diplomats apart.

—Judge.

Color Rush Begins Thursday at 2 P. M.

Continued from Page 1

her banner up; a banner bearing the colors of the winning runners shall be placed over the building; student council members shall act as judges at the railings and at starting points; a student council girl shall be stationed at the bell.

Numerous changes and modifications have been made in the rules as they stood several years ago. A committee from each class has been appointed to select runners for the classes.

At 2:15 o'clock, immediately following the color rush the annual hockey games will be played. Whether or not the freshmen wear their rat caps until Christmas vacation depends upon the outcome of the freshman-sophomore game. In case the freshmen are victorious rat caps will be lifted immediately; if they are defeated they will continue to wear them until Christmas. The championship team will win the points toward the color cup.

Varsity basketball try-outs will be given in the gymn Monday and Tuesday, November 25 and 26 from four to five o'clock. Freshmen be sure to come!

College High Team Competes in Meet

Continued from Page 1

tion; Miss Mary Moline, assistant coach at Westhampton; Miss Elizabeth Seay and Miss Margaret McVey, athletic directors at St. Catherine's.

Miss Elizabeth Webb, coach at John Marshall High School, and Kathleen Ranson, coach of Farmville High School, were also in attendance.

Farmville, Dr. Jarman Are Closely Allied

Continued from page 1

Emory and an inestimable personal loss to those of us who remained."

So in 1902 Dr. Jarman entered upon his duties at Farmville with a faculty of thirteen members and with a student body of 306 in the normal school and 103 in the Training School.

We say, "Many Happy Returns of the Day, Dr. Jarman," and congratulate ourselves upon having such a personality to guide and lead us on.

"Grave Livingston Hill—Everything she puts in her books is fine and wholesome."—Margaret Scott.

Departments Give Educational Skits

Continued from Page 1

harmonious world.

The first skit presented dramatized the Puritan fathers, discussing the problems of educating their children; the outcome of this was the first schools of America, the Latin grammar schools. The second skit showed the new order of things under the academies by the followers of Franklin's practical teachings; these schools included only practical courses in their curriculum. Jefferson's theory of education was depicted in the third skit. The fourth gave a scene in a school room of the 1860's; the harsh treatment of the pupils by stern teachers, the learning by rote memory, the dull drills were all perfectly displayed in the spelling and Latin classes.

On the last day an ideal classroom that bases it's teaching on the method of the new curriculum was presented. The students were attentive, cooperative, eager to learn, because their study was correlated with their surroundings. The teacher was helpful and held the attention of her class by her interesting approach.

Linotyper and Radio Announcer Suffer From These Names

Time, the weekly news-magazine says that "Names make news." The following names are among those making the news in the sports pages of the nation's papers. They are hard on the linotyper and worse on the radio announcer. Here is the way they should be pronounced.

Notre Dame

Carideo—like car-ry-day'o
Wojcihovski—solf c woj-ci-hov'ski
Kuharich—koo-hairik
Pojman — rimes with toyman

Fordham

Wojciechowicz — wo-jee-ho'wits
Paquin — rimes with taken
Sorota — long o so-ro'-ta
Palau — rimes with halo

Michigan

Amrine — rine like fine
Viergever — veer'-gee-ver
Remias — ree'-me-us
Ziem — rimes with time

St. Mary's

Grouz — silent x grew
Giannoni — "the bony" juh-no'ni
Fiese — rimes with lease
Dennerlein — den'-ner-lin

"Victor Hugo—I enjoy the way he took the lowliest people and made something fine out of them."
—Virginia Pilcher

Imported Linen
FOR SALE.
See Mrs. Laing
In room 220, Student Building

Gorgeous Evening dresses in New Chenile Transparent velvet ..... $7.45 and $14.45

Brush Wool Twin Sweaters—In bottle green, rust brown and royal blue ..... $1.97 and $2.97

Beautiful Sport Skirts—solid colors and plaids at $2.94

BE SMART—SHOP AT THE
DOROTHY MAY STORES

EXQUISITE, PERSONAL
ENGRAVED STATIONERY
100 SHEETS
100 ENVELOPES
ENGRAVED
ALL FOR
$2
SEE OUR BEAUTIFUL SAMPLES
The Farmville Herald
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

Gray's Drug Store
PURE DRUGS—MEDICINES
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Quality—Price—Service
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

You Would Love to Have Your Shoes Fixed at
Lovelace Shoe Shop
110 Third Street

Mack's
BARBER AND BEAUTY SHOP
323 Main Street
Phone 360

ROSE'S
On the Corner
5-10-25c Store
School Supplies
FULL FASHIONED HOSIERY
ROOM FURNISHINGS
AT POPULAR PRICES

B uy
U nusual
T reats
C old drinks
H uge cones
E legant fruits
R oasted peanuts
S nappy snacks

EACO THEATRE
Now Equipped With Wide Range Soon
Wednesday, Nov. 20
BANK NIGHT
$15.00 Given Away FREE!
George O'Brien
in Zane Grey's
"THUNDER MOUNTAIN"
Thurs.-Fri. Nov. 21-22
Loretta Young
Henry Wilcoxon
in Cecil DeMille's
"THE CRUSADE"
Selected Short Subjects
Adults 25c and 35c
Sat., Nov. 23 Cartoon
"Buddy" Rogers
GRACE BRADLEY
In the Collegiate Musical
'Old Man Rhythm'
Next Mon.-Tues., Nov. 26-26
Lawrence Tibbett
VIRGINIA BRUCE
"Metropolitan"
Hear Tibbett's Voice On Our New WIDE RANGE SOUND
Also "GENEVA BY THE LAKE" in Color
Adults 25c and 35c
Bank Night
Every Wednesday
$15.00 Given Away FREE!

Friends are around us, though no word be spoken."
from Dedication

The College World . . . In Pictures

"One Picture Tells as Much as Ten Thousand Words"

Shutters click . . . flashlights flare . . . cameramen are "Johnny on the spot" wherever and whenever anything of interest to the college student happens . . . to bring to the Editor of Collegiate Digest three thousand pictures every month . . . but of course it is only possible to bring you the best of these . . . in addition to the numerous collegiate features appearing exclusively in Collegiate Digest every week with

STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE ROTUNDA

CONGRATULATIONS TO THE SOPHOMORES

The Rotunda

We Teach To Teach

BEST WISHES FOR A PLEASANT HOLIDAY

Volume XVI. FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, NOV. 27, 1935 No. 9

Senior Class Gives Dance December 7

Tickets Will Be 25c; On Sale After Holiday

The outstanding social event on the college calendar for December is the Senior dance Saturday evening, December 7, in the gymnasium. Plans for the dance are virtually complete and the class expects a full floor.

Students, faculty, and alumnae are invited to attend the dance. Tickets will be on sale immediately after the Thanksgiving holiday. Students are allowed to bring dates and a few out-of-town friends. Tickets will be twenty-five cents per person and food will be sold from a booth on the floor.

To date an orchestra has not been signed. The two under consideration are "Tub" Oliver and his orchestra and "Pinkey" Harper of Crewe and his orchestra. The contract will be closed sometime today, the chairman of the committee stated.

Students are urged to buy their tickets at the earliest possible date as the sale will be limited and after the limit is reached tickets will not be available.

Y. W. Girls Attend Inter-Racial Meet

Economic Problems of the Day Are Discussed

The Y. W. C. A. cabinet with Dr. Walmsley and Mr. Coyner attended the interracial conference held November 23 at the Y. W. C. A. in Richmond.

More than one hundred students from Virginia colleges and universities met for the Student Intercollegite Economics Institute, sponsored by the state Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A.

Following registration, the session was opened with an address by Dr. Doluix Harlan of Richmond College, who outlined the scope and purpose of the institute. At the conclusion of this talk the group discussion leaders were introduced.

Among the dicussion subjects was "Virginia's Account With the Federal Government", led by Randolph Leigh, candidate for the U. S. Senate, opposing Senator Carter Glass. Other seminars included "Education in Virginia", by Dr. T. D. Eason, "Agriculture in Virginia" by Dr. Henry M. Taylor, "Race Relationship in Industry" by Wiley Hall. Other discussions dealt with unemployment in Virginia—its present implications and its future significance.

Colleges represented at the meet were: State Teachers College, Farmville, Va.; Fredericksburg State Teachers College, University of Richmond, Virginia Union University, William and Mary Col-

Continued on Page 2

CALENDAR

Monday

Virginian 7:00
Athletic Association 7:00
Alpha Kappa Gamma 8:00

Tuesday

Gamma Psi 8:00
Pi Kamma Mu 8:00
Student Council 10:00
Alpha Phi Sigma 7:30

Wednesday

Y. W. Cabinet 5:00
Rotunda Staff 7:00
Thanksgiving Holidays

Dr. Rives Revisits Farmville Students Early In December

Pastor To Speak At Chapel and Prayers

The World Fellowship Committee of the Y. W. C. A. has announced that it has secured Dr. J. J. Rives to speak here December 6, 7, and 8. He will talk in Chapel Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, and at Prayers on Thursday and Friday nights. Each student will have an opportunity of having an individual conference with Dr. Rives in the hours arranged for that purpose.

Dr. Rives is now pastor of the Centenary Methodist Church in Richmond. He visited in our school last year, and his talks were both varied and interesting. The old girls will look forward to hearing him again, and the girls have a wonderful opportunity and pleasure in store. Both Dr. Jarman and the Y. W. C. A. Committee feel very fortunate in having Dr. Rives with us.

On Friday afternoon, December 6, the Y. W. C. A. will give a tea for Dr. Rives in the Student Building Lounge.

Members of Faculty To Attend Home Ec Meeting in Richmond

Miss Jeter and Miss Tupper of the Home Economics Department will attend the meeting of the Classroom Teachers of Home Economics which will be held in Richmond at the John Marshall Hotel on Wednesday and Thursday.

The discussion of the Thursday morning session will be on the topic, "How Can Teacher Institutions Train for Teacher Participation in New Home Economics Course of Study." Papers on the different phases of the subject will be presented: among them will be Miss Tupper's, entitled "Home Planning and Decoration," and "Consumer Education" by Miss Jeter.

Beorc Eh Thorn Has Meeting November 21 to Install Officers

The "Beorc Eh Thorn" society held its regular business meeting on Thursday night, November 21. The meeting opened with the installation of the officers for 1935 and 1936, and the president, Mary Robeson, presided.

The constitution committee gave a report concerning a number of important changes to be made before the constitution will be permanently adopted.

Discussion was held at length concerning the need for and advisability of publishing a magazine representing the literary effort of the student body as a whole.

Mr. Grainger read a list of about twenty-five names of girls who are eligible for advance to higher degrees in the society provided they meet the necessary requirements.

It was announced that the program committee will have charge of the next meeting, to be held Thursday, December 5.

Martha Nottingham

Martha Nottingham, who as maid of honor will act as chief priestess in the May Court.

Lucy Potter

Lucy Potter of Petersburg, who will reign as 1936 May Queen. She will take the role of the Golden Goddess.

Christmas Seals To Be Sold By YWCA

Agnes Crockett Made Chairman of the Campaign

Tuesday, December 3, will be Bangle Day. Agnes Crockett chairman of the sale here in school, with the help of the Y. W. C. A. hopes to make a successful campaign of selling Christmas Seals and bangles.

Millions of Christmas seals are sold annually in this country to control and prevent tuberculosis. They have come to be accepted as a symbol of health during the Christmas season.

In 1904 two important things happened that began the history of the drive against tuberculosis. In Denmark a postal clerk, Elinor Hubbel became interested in the tubercular children of the country. He had the great idea that some special Christmas stamps could be sold to build a childrens' hospital with the approval of the King and Queen of Denmark.

In the United States a small group of doctors collected some facts about the cost of this disease in lives and money. They founded the National Tuberculosis Association to educate the people about the disease and its prevention. This required more money than the association had. About this time Jacob A. Riis, a writer and philanthropist born in Denmark who has become an American citizen, received a letter from his native land. It was decorated with Danish Chirstmas Seals. The possibility of using the seals in the U. S. impressed him. In 1907 the story of the Christmas Seal and with what success it had met in Denmark appeared in the papers. That year in Deleware a seal sale

Continued on page 3

Junior Class Plans Annual Production

Va. Baker Directs Original Musical Comedy

On Friday, December 13, the juniors will present their annual production, "Lucky Thirteen", a musical comedy. Virginia Baker is directing the production.

The interior of a large hotel is the scene of the adventures and misadventure of Will B. Done and thirteen Rhythm Makers as they find themselves stranded and jobless in a strange city. The romantic element is supplied by a newlywed couple and the antics of a hopeless old maid who finds herself in desperate straights. Black cats, broken mirrors, and other ill omens of the realm of superstition have their influence over both employees and guests of the hotel.

The hot spot of the evening comes in the hotel bar room, where bright lights and gayety, music and laughter reign, and the Rhythm-makers have ample opportunity to display their unique abilities.

"Lucky Thirteen" promises to be the luckiest unlucky series of events ever gathered into one entertainment at S. T. C.

Freshman Commission Plans Annual Japanese Bazaar

The Freshman Commission of the Y. W. C. A. will sponsor its annual Japanese Bazaar Wednesday afternoon, December 4. The Japanese shop will be in the recreational hall where articles will be on display. The proceeds from the bazaar will be used to pay the expenses of a representative of the Commission to the Blue Ridge Conference.

Farmville Student Describes Exciting Week-end On Farm

Did I have a good time? I should say so! And was everybody glad to see me? Gosh! You just can't imagine. When I got off the train there was Ma 'n Pa 'n Aunt Roberta 'n little Matilda and just everybody—

And you should have seen that turkey! It was the biggest thing I ever saw. And the pumpkin was some pumkin! We even had pupkin pie for breakfast. I just ate and ate!

I mean to tell you that old Henderson High just ran all over Redgate—yes sir! I was sure proud of Elmer—he plunged right into the line. I just yelled and yelled 'till my voice failed and I could yell no more.

There was some dance down at the old barn, yes sir—I mean to tell you there was. And was I thrilled when Elmer asked me to go? I just blushed right down to my toes, I wore my prettiest dress, and when I came home I was all covered with hay, and chicken feathers—but that didn't matter to me cause I had a grand time—'sides Elmer, Jim Brown danced with me once.

Gosh! I kinda hate to leave the old folks at home, but it won't be long now till Christmas and I'll be seeing 'em again.

Potter Will Reign As Queen of May

Virginia Teachers Hold Annual Meet Richmond, Nov. 27

Miss Grace Moran To Lead the Panel Discussion

The Virginia State Teachers' meeting will be held in Richmond this week beginning Wednesday, November 27.

Several of the Farmville teachers and supervisors will speak. Among these will be Miss Camper, Miss Carter and Miss Moran.

Miss Camper will discuss the practicability of the new course of study in the upper grades. In this discussion materials and units will be presented as aids.

Miss Carter will speak in one of the discussions concerning "Mathematics in the Upper Grades". Miss Carrie B. Taliaferro will preside over the methematical discussion. Miss Moran will lead a panel discussion on geography. Miss Harriet Council, from John Randolph, will make a talk concerning "The Organization of a Library in a Country School."

The Farmville Alumnae Association will hold a lunch at the Westmoreland Club. Anyone who wishes to secure tickets may see Mrs. W. H. Bass.

Officers of Junior Class Will Present Sponsor to Students

Miss Olive T. Iler, junior class man, will be presented to the student body in chapel on Wednesday morning, December 4.

In accordance with their theme of the past two years the class will use the ship idea in presenting their class man. The occasion will mark the embarkment of the class on its third voyage.

Six efficient deck sailors, Evelyn Howell, Lloyd Kelly, Bonnie Lane, Nellie Pierpont, Frances Chanell, and Minnie Smith, will dance a merry jig while cleaning off the deck for the inspection of their Captain, Mary Bowles, and their Admiral, Miss Iler. The Captain and Officers, Virginia Bean, Lucille Mosley and Virginia Blake will wait for the arrival of the admiral while the crew stands at atten-

Continued on page 3

Students To Take Physical Efficiency Test After Holiday

Beginning Friday after the holidays, December 6, physical efficiency tests will be held at four o'clock in the gymnasium. To pass these tests is one of the requirements for membership in the Monogram Club. Miss Olive T. Iler and Monogram Club members will be present to give instructions to the students taking the tests.

Hikes are held regularly every Saturday afternoon at two o'clock if the weather permits. Six five mile hikes count fifty points toward the Monogram. A schedule of hikes will be posted in the gymnasium and girls going on the hikes will be checked there.

For information concerning membership and Monogram Club work see members of the club. The purpose of the organization is to promote and recognize, scholarship, and athletic ability.

Nottingham To Be the Maid of Honor at Fete

Lucy Potter and Martha Nottingham were elected May Queen and Maid of Honor respectively Saturday night at Sing. As Queen of the celebration, Lucy will take the part of the Golden Goddess and Martha will appear as the high priestess of her court. Kitty Roberts, third candidate, will be one of the attending priestesses.

Lucy, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Potter of Petersburg, is a member of the senior class and has been an outstanding student throughout her college career. She was president of the Freshman Commission, and has served on the Y. W. C. A. cabinet and the Student Council. She is vice-president of the council this year and is also a member of Gamma Psi and Alpha Kappa Gamma.

Martha Nottingham of Eastville, Virginia, has served on the Student Council, the Freshman Commission and has played an important role in school athletics throughout her four years here. This year she is leader of the Cotillion Club.

On the same ballot used in electing the queen and the maid of honor, nominations for the court were made. Election of the court will take place on Dec. 7 at Sing.

The setting for the May Day this year is Egyptian. The theme

Continued on page 3

"Night in August" Draws Big Crowd

Jongleurs - Dramatic Club Score Triumph

"A Night in August" scored another victory Friday night for our Dramatic Club and the Hampden-Sydney Jongleurs.

Featuring the love story of a young Spanish girl and an older more worldly man, the play took exceptionally well with the audience. Fulfilling early predictions, Jim Elder, leading man, upheld his reputation as an actor while Frances Britton, leading lady, won recognition in her own right. The audience unhesitatingly proclaimed its approval of "Chubby" Gray and "Snooky" White as favorites in the minor roles. Other parts were well done, catching and holding interest through to the end. The finished, easy style of the entire cast and the picturesque sets gave evidence of the concentrated experienced coaching and directing of Miss Wheeler,, known throughout the state for her ability as an amateur producer.

Curdsville Students Present "Over the Garden Wall"

The students of Curdsville High School under the direction of the student teachers presented "Over the Garden Wall" on Friday evening. The production was well received by the audience who proclaimed it a good entertainment.

Before the performance the student teachers were entertained at dinner by patrons of the school.

"The Virginian is staging a subscription campaign. One dollar is the down payment. Students are urged to subscribe.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Published by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

1935 Member 1936
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

Staff

Florence Sanford ..... Editor
Agnes Bondurant ..... Associate Editor
Evelyn Massey ..... Business Manager

Board of Editors

Elizabeth Morris ..... News Editor
Mabel Lambert ..... Make-up
Susan Gresham ..... Headlines
Alice Nelson ..... Alumnae
Bess McGlothlin ..... Editorials
Mary Harrison Vaughn ..... Feature
Margaret Praley ..... Society
Emma Bingham ..... Literary
Kathleen Ranson ..... Sports

Proof Readers

Elizabeth Walton Ann Wills
Mary Hubard

Managers

Elsie Cabell ..... Asst. Bus. Manager
Louise Gathright ..... Circulation Manager
Ruth Phelps ..... Asst. Circulation Manager
Will Scott ..... Asst. Circulation Manager

Reporters

Bonnie Lane, Virginia Bean, Virginia Agee, Madeline McGlothlin, Minnie Smith, Mary Elizabeth Slater, Mary Joyner Cox, Bess McGlothlin, Ruth Hubard, Claudia Harper, Claire Eastman,, Elizabeth Carroll.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 27, 1935

Thanksgiving

Thanksgiving is here again. Do we know what we mean when we say, "Thanksgiving"; do we know just what the word means, and that this occasion should mean to us? No doubt, there are any number of us who are going on visits, to games and dances, and to the best place of all, home. We go, not thinking of those who made this day one of the most celebrated in the history of our great nation, but thinking of the various things we shall do, places to which we shall go, and the good times we shall have.

Stop for a moment in the midst of this excitement, and visualize our Pilgrim fathers who for three days in October of the year 1621, with Indians as their guests of honor, about tables loaded with game and fish, wild fruits from the forest, and cornbread and vegetables from their new gardens, celebrated and offered prayers of thanksgiving unto God for that, their first American harvest festival, the first autumn of the exiles in thir new home.

We may justly claim this feast as the origin of our Thanksgiving Day. Later on, Abraham Lincoln appointed the last Thursday in November for the national observance of this occasion, and since then it has been a custom of all the Presidents to set aside this particular day in memory of our first Thanksgiving.

As we go our way let us bear in mind the purpose of this occasion, and be thankful for the many blessings which have been bestowed upon us.

Wonder If We Have!

"One Paris family out of ten eats horse regularly because dark-red, sweet tasting horsemeat costs two-thirds the price of beef."

And last week sixty eaters of this meat who live in the slums of Moisons—Lafitte, felt agonizing gripes in their stomachs as a result.

Doctors worked with stomach pumps and relieved the sufferers. Then they tested the partially digested horse meat and found it contained drugs. Following the meat to the butcher and then to the owner of the horse, the police chemists traced the sixty stomach-aches to one old horse whose owner had doped him continuously for years, to keep him going.

Other countries may not endanger pains by their sale of horse meat, but they certainly follow the practice.

Even at Hitler's picnics, sausages made of horse meat are served, and Great Britain leads the world as the largest exporter of horse destined to be eaten by others.

"Time", the weekly news magazine, says that the largest eaters of horse meat in the United States are dogs, who get it chiefly in a can called K-L Ration. We students have no right to say that we have ever tasted this delicacy. We can say, however, that if we ever taste it, we hope it won't be doped.

No Red Teachings in Maryland

Text-books that are being used in certain Maryland high schools and that are said to contain communistic teachings are now under fire.

Rugg's "An Introduction to American Civilization" and "Changing Civilizations in the Modern World" and Becker's "Modern History" are the books that have been handed over to a Maryland Board of Education Committee. This committee will study these books to see if they really contain evidences of communistic beliefs.

The Maryland Board of Education is taking a cautious step in having these books inspected—a step that the seriousness of changing views on the constitution warrants.

As long as our nation retains its constitution and the present representative form of government, it must pass these principles on to the coming generation. While the Maryland educators may be unduly alarmed, they are certainly justified in taking precautions.

Food For Thought

There are two hundred eighty-five students enrolled in the freshman class this year. The minimum cost of attending S. T. C. is $315.00 per year. This does not include incidentals and extra-curricular participation, but just the actual expense of attending classes and eating in the dining room. In the course of a year a student's expenses run to nearly double the minimum requirement.

How many of the freshmen realize the responsibility they take upon themselves when they accept a college career from their families? Indeed, it is a privilege and in modern life it's the thing to do. Yet, money spent in this way is the investment of hard earned capital. It is reasonable to suppose that parents expect some dividends from that money they invest in us.

Freshmen, are you making the best of your opportunities at S. T. C.? Are you studying to make a scholastic record of which you and your parents may be proud? Are you utilizing your time to the best advantage?

Upperclassmen, are you setting the right example for the newcomers? Are you radiating a wholesome spiirt? Are you encouraging or discouraging study?

"Where there's a will there's a way.'" If you are earnestly trying to reap the best from college life and to give just compensation to your parents for their investment you will probably succeed. Put your shoulder to the grindstone and prove yourself worthy of your trust.

Persistent study of the photograph of Haile Selassie Gugsa, the Ethiopian chief who deserted to the Italians, strengthens the belief that he was hired by the Ethiopian government to do so.

New York Times

Rotunda Reverberations

To stately carriage add a dash of appeal, a twinkle of blue, a glowing smile, a halo of sunshine and we find Lucy, our golden goddess. By the way, have you stopped to think what a pleasing contrast Martha, our maid-of-honor, makes?

The Egyptian theme sounds quite interesting. We heard that Addie Norfleet has nominated herself to run for "The Sphinx." We are backing you a hundred percent strong. Something I can't understand, does the spring in the background represent the Nile?

Now we are very anxious to know who will be in the court. Let's stay here during Thanksgiving and have a vote.

Speaking of Thanksgiving — where are you going?

We hear that Mary Robeson expects to go hunting during the holidays—she hasn't stated what she will hunt—we would like a full report later.

Crenshaw is such a domestic little one. She expects to spend a quiet week-end making "popovers."

Again Farmville will be well represented at V. P. I. Smitty, we didn't forget you. All we ask is that you please be careful and while stepping in that "purple job" don't mess up the figure by stumping your toe.

Virgina Leonard declares to lock herself in some secluded spot so that the lure of Miller and Rhodes won't tempt her, but where there is a "Will" there is a way to be otherwise amused.

Wherever you go or whatever you do, here's hoping you have a big time.

World News

Salzburg To Institute Winter Music Festival

How many of us are aware of the fact that Salzburg, a province of Austria, has made music an eminent industry? Since this has come to pass, Salzburg is organizing a winter season to take the place of summer musical festivals. Max Reinhardt has been chosen to head this winter program, which is to begin in December, nineteen thirty-six.

North China Plans To Be Thwarted

It seems as if the Chinese National government is "rising in arms", formally, against the independent movement of North China. They have already sent notices to embassies and legations abroad that their government under no condition would sanction the autonomy program.

Chiang Kai-Shek, leader of the Nanking government, however, has issued an order which has given northern commanders additional powers to prepare their own self-government plans to gratify the autonomy leaders; meddling, not for the good of the northern people was absolute forbidden.

In spite of Japanese opinions, Dr. Hu Sin, one of China's outstanding thinkers, of Pieping, seems to think that popular support behind the autonomy movement, is completely lacking.

King Boris Encourages Political Shakeup

At last King Boris has added another step toward removing the army from political affairs of the Bulgarian nation. This took place after George Kossecvaioff was elevated from minister of foreign affairs to the post of premier.

Three generals have retired, and the ministers of interior, war, and education in the cabinet resigned.

At Other Colleges

Pasadena has her Rose Bowl, New Orleans her Sugar Bowl, and now Memphis wants a Cotton Bowl. A movement has been started to eerct a stadium which will seat 20,000 people in the Tennessee city. An annual football game will be promoted between the two leading football teams in the South.

Just a word of encouragement: Of the nine thousand women graduates from the University of California, only about thirty-three hundred are married. And 50 per cent of those weren't lucky enough to attain this state until they were between the ages of 26 and 36. And how are you?

They must be a gentle bunch out at Arizona State Teachers College when one girl was so badly hurt at a pep rally that she had to be sent home to recover. Now is your cue to say "Oh, rally?"

There was a notice on the bulletin board at Carnegie Tech this fall saying:

"Cheerleader wanted: must be neat, honest and intelligent."

One week later the notice read: "Cheerleader wanted: no qualifications needed."

"What's your idea of civilization?" the Prince of Wales was asked.

"It's a good idea," replied the Prince, "somebody ought to start it."

Girls Take Note: If you're a redhead and don't like it, or a brunette who craves blonde tresses, don't give up hope. Dr. Alden J. King, professor of radiological research at Syracuse University, says that peroxide isn't the only recourse. Recent developments in the x-ray field have led scientists to believe that x-ray may be used to change a person's complexion and the color of his hair.

Specifications for yet another in the endless list of model college youths have been drawn up by the University of Wisconsin coeds, and here they are:

The No. 1 gentleman friend smokes a pipe, uses no conscious line, dances well, drinks only in moderation, doesn't try to get a date at the last minute, and restrains his rampant emotions.

The most frowned on were two rare species: the collegiate type and the cigar-smoker!

Perhaps its the climate. Anyway, romance seems to have a hard time at Harvard. A "Harvard-Men's Guide" has been published there, listing for the benefit of the students names of all the "recommended debs in Boston. Was Harvard interested? Not one book was sold. Said the Harvardites: "What is the guide? What is a deb? Furthermore, where is Boston?"

Football players are militaristic while intellectuals are extremely pacifistic, according to a survey at Hampden-Sydney by Dr. D. M. Allan, professor of psychology and philosophy. Dr. Allan said:

"The results show that the average student here is mildy pacifistic in his views. It was noticed that almost half of the anti-pacifists were football players while very few athletes could be found in the ranks of the pacifists. On the other hand, a majority of the 'intellectuals' and spiritual leaders in the group were either strongly or extremely pacifistic."

How to Get An Education

Feed back to the prof
What the prof dishes you.
Though you doubt what he says,
What he says must be true.
And never commit
The unpardonable sin
Of letting an idea of your own get in.

Y. W. Girls Attend Inter-Racial Meet

Continued from page 1

lege, Virginia State College, Medical College of Virginia, Randolph-Macon College, University of Virginia, Westhampton and Hampton Institute.

Literary Column

THE CHILD'S WORLD

Great, wide, beautiful, wonderful world,
With the wonderful water round you curled,
And the wonderful grass upon your breast,
World, you are beautifully drest.

The wonderful air is over me,
And the wonderful wind is shaking the tree—
It walks on water, and whirls the mills,
And talks to itself on top of the hills.

You kindly earth, how far do you go,
With the wheat fields that nod and rivers that flow,
With cities, and gardens, and cliffs and isles
And people upon you for thousands of miles?

Ah you are so great and I am so small,
I hardly can think of you, world, at all;
And yet, when I said my prayers today,
My mother kissed me, and said, quite gay,

"If the wonderful world is great to you,
And great to father and mother, too,
You are more than the earth, though you are such a dot!
You can love and think, and the earth cannot."

Wm. Brighty Rands

THANKSGIVING DAY

Fine is the pantry's goodly store,
And fine the heaping dish and tray;
Fine the church-bells ringing; fine
All the dinner's great array,
Things we'd hardly dare to touch,
Were it not Thanksgiving Day.

Dear the people coming home,
Dear glad faces long away,
Dear the merry cries, and dear
All the glad and happy play.
Dear the thanks, too, that we give
For all of this Thanksgiving Day.

But sweetly, finer, dearer far
It well might be if on our ways
Heaven,
With love for all, with thanks to
We did not wait for time's delay,
But, with remembered blessings
then
Made every day Thanksgiving Day

Hariret Prescott Spofford

To-Day

Thomas Carlyle

So here hath been dawning
Another blue day:
Think, will thou let it
Slip useless away.
Out of Eternity
This new day was born;
Into Eternity,
At night, will return.
Behold it aforetime
No eye ever did;
So soon it forever
From all eyes is hid.
Here hath been dawning
Another blue day:
Think, will thou let it
Slip useless away

Out in the Fields with God

Louise Imogen Guiney

The little cares that fretted me,
I lost them yesterday
Among the fields above the sea,
Among the winds at play;
How is it that I see the roads
No longer with usurping eyes
A twilight meeting-place for toad's
A mid-day mart for butterflies?
I feel in every midge that hums,
Life, fugitive and infinite,
And suddenly the world becomes
A part of me and I of it.

"T'AINT"

T'aint what we have,
But what we give;
T'aint where we are,
But how we live;
T'aint what we do,
But how we do it—
That makes this life
Worth goin' through it.

—The Log U. S. Naval Academy)

SOCIETY

Alpha Sigma Alpha Has Tea for Faculty Members

Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority entertained several members of the faculty with a tea in the chapter room Sunday afternoon. Among those present were Miss Florence Stubbs, Miss O. T. Iler, Miss Jennings, Miss Grace Moran, Mrs. W. C. Fitzpatrick, Mr. and Mrs. McCorkle, Dr. and Mrs. Wynne, Mr. and Mrs. Holton, and Dr. Jarman.

Miss Mildred Potter, University of Virginia, and Mrs. Jack Smith, formerly Miss Nancy Dodd, were out of town guests.

Miss Peck Entertains

Miss Mary Peck entertained Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority with a tea at her home on Buffalo street Friday afternoon. Among the faculty present were Miss Grace Moran, Miss Grace Mix, and Miss Mary Clay Hiner.

Mu Omega Gives Ttea

Sunday afternoon, Katherine Hurt and Dorothy Price entertained the Mu Omega sorority with an informal tea in the chapter room. Besides the members of the sorority the guest list included: Miss Wheeler, sponsor, and Mrs. W. C. Fitzpatrick.

Students Attend Races

Lelia and Florence Sanford, Tib Simmerman, Will Scott and Lucy Shields attended the Montpelier races.

The College High School varsity succeeded in defeating the college freshmen in hockey by a score of 5-0 Wednesday, November 20. Both teams benefited by the practice the game afforded. Officials were Miss Olive T. Iler; scorer, Kathleen Ranson and Edna Bolick, umpires.

Students Visit Many Places During Week-end of Nov. 23

Even with Thanksgiving holidays just a few days off many girls were week-end guests at other places. The following girls went home: Dudley Allen, Rebecca Gillette, Livian Powell, Anne Peple Lucy Smith, Brownie Shelton, Mary Elizabeth Tindall, Will Scott, Roberta Haskins, Sylvia Dunnavant, Florence Sanford, Lelia Sanford, Vera Eble, Elsie Dodd, Lois Jenkins, Ruth James Elizabeth Harris, Martha Williams, Edith Hart, Evelyn Holmes, Frances Faris, Kitty Chappell, Kathryn Harvey, Dorothy Rudder, Le-Noir Hubbard.

Richmond: Elizabeth Walton, Merwyn Gathright, Ellen Mason, Julia Anne Waldo, Agnes Crockett, Dorothy Wise, Marguerite York, Elizabeth Shiplett, Bonnie Lane, Billie Wilkinson, Winnie Frances Eubank and Sue Waldo attended the Interracial Conference in Richmond. Dorothy Tillett, Elizabeth Butler, Margaret Clarke visited there.

Lynchburg Goldie Williams, Dorothy Johnson.

Ashland: Bernice Jones, Isabelle Jones, Dorothy Bagby, Lois Jenkins attended the football game and dance at Randolph-Macon.

Other Places: Eleanor Shackleton, Meherrin; Kitty Brooks, Clarksville; Elkanah Simpson, Gordonsville; Florence Jeffrey, Arvonia; Ernestine Payne, Warm Springs; Virginia Richie, Norfolk; Mary Lee Powell, Boykins; Margaret Pittard, Jane Main, Newport News; Nannie Mae Parker, Cumberland; Norvell Montague, Lawrenceville; Anna Catherine Love, Roxboro; Virginia Boyd, Union Level; Cassie Boswell, Clifton Forge; Beverley Sexton, Dorothy eLwis, Blackstone; Betsy Blanton spent the week-end at Randolph-Macon Woman's College in Lynchburg.

Freshman Commission Gives Tea for Hockey Teams

The Freshman Commission and Elizabeth Shipplet, counselor, entertained the Athletic Association and the class hockey teams at a tea Thursday afternoon in the Student Building Lounge after the color rush and hockey games. Tea cakes and mints were served by the members of the commission.

Miss Stubbs Goes to Richmond

Miss Florence H. Stubbs attended the Executive Committee meeting of the Virginia Social Science Association held in Richmond on Friday, November 22. Plans were made for the spring meeting.

Mr. Graham Out Again

Mr. Graham has been confined to his home for several days with flu, but has returned to school now.

Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Coyner will leave Wednesday to spend the Thanksgiving holidays with Mrs. Coyner's brother, W. T. Harding and Mrs. Harding.

Miss Bugg is visiting her sister in Winchester.

Christmas Seals Sold by Y. W. C. A.

Continued from Page 1

was held under the leadership of Emily P. Bissel. She designed her own seal and raised $3000 for the T. B. hospital in that state. The next two years the American Red Cross conducted a nation wide sale and in 1910 the American Red Cross and the National Tuberculosis Association shared the responsibility of selling the seals.

Beginning with the 1920 sale the National Tuberculosis Association has had full charge of the Christmas Seals, and the seals have borne only the double-barred cross emblem.

When you see the Christmas Seals during holiday season you know the fight against tuberculosis is still raging When you see the sign of the double-barred cross, the world wide emblem of the fight against tuberculosis, remember the Chirstmas seal that made it possible. These seals may be obtained from any Y. W. C. Cabinet member beginning Dec. 3. For those that do not wish the Christmas seals, the double-barred cross will be given for a free-will offering.

Student Reports Interview Of S.T.C. Faculty Member

Dr. James Elliot Walmsley, professor of history and social sciences at S. T. C., was born in a Methodist parsonage of Virginia, and was educated by his father and mother. With no other educational experience, he entered a strict, old-fashioned academy. He surprised himself, but not his father and mother, by doing extremely well there. From here he went to Randolph-Macon where he took his A. B. and Master's degrees. He obtained his Ph. D. from Illinois Wesleyan in Chicago. His first experience at teaching was at Randolph-Macon Academy, Bedford, Virginia.

"While there," he says, "I did one smart thing—got married."

He has taught many places since then, including Kentucky, Missouri, and South Carolina.

His ideas of education consist of a real desire to get pupils to think and reason things through for themselves. He prizes an original thought more than hundreds of memorized facts, with the principles behind them unknown. The past he values only as it can fit into and help modern problems. He likes to ask his classes, "What did this morning's paper say?"

His church and fraternity interest him greatly, and is active in both. He is extremely fond of public speaking and motoring. For recreation he plays golf and gardens.

Dr. Walmsley believes enthusiastically in young people but (ruefully) finds them inclined toward working the teacher too hard.

Dr. Walmsley is rather quiet with the simple dignity that marks him a true gentleman. Acknowledgement of his superior ability has been made by his inclusion in Who's Who. Like grapefruit, there's more to him than what meets the eye.

OPEN FORUM

Dear Editor,

When something is given for the use of students, don't you think it should be for the use of all the students and not just a few of the more selfish ones? Specifically speaking—I mean the ping-pong table. Everyone enjoys playing, but it is just a lot of useless equipment without the ping pong balls. The A. A. furnishes the balls for everyone—not for the people who play and then take the balls to their rooms so they can "be sure to have them next time" If everyone would leave the balls with the rest of the equipment they would be sure to find them. It is rather irritating to say the least, to go down there during a vacant period or just after a meal and find that you can't play because some one has taken them to her room or hidden them.

If everyone would cooperate in this, we could all enjoy this game whenever we have time instead of having to look all over school for the balls.

A Student

Potter Will Reign As Queen of the May

Continued from page 1

is extracted from Mozart's Golden Flute. Pamina is liberated from the bondage of her mother, the queen of Night, by Tamino, an Egyptian youth, who brings her to Ar'et where she is crowned the Golden Goddess. She will be attended by a court of priestesses.

Junior Class Officers Present Their Sponsor

Continued from page 1

tion. The crew will sing their loyal green and white songs.

After the Junior Class has sung the classman song to Miss Iler, Mary Bowles, president of the Junior class, will present her to the student body.

R. E. FISCHER
Radio Repairing
Formerly with Martin the Jeweler
PHONE 244M OR 283

Planters Bank and Trust Company
COMPLIMENTS
FARMVILLE, VA.

WILLIS The Florist
Flowers for all occasions
PHONES 181-273

Kleanwell
CLEANERS AND TAILORS
Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling ladies garments
Main Street, opposite Post Office
Phone 98

Southside Drug Store
Films Developed
FREE
Try our tasty lunches

H. M. WELLS CONFECTIONERY
Food for the Parties
Two blocks from College Campus

Farmville Mfg. Co.
BUILDING MATERIALS
MILLWORK
Farmville, Va.

C. E. Chappell Co.
Visit Us For the Best Fountain Service

STANLEY A. LEGUS
TAILOR
CLEANING
PRESSING
REPAIRING
Phone 203

Shannon's
Is Headquarters for the Best
SANDWICHES
—and—
DRINKS
in Farmville

GILLIAM'S
Refreshments fo the Girls
One block from the campus
Let us supply your next "feast"

PEOPLE'S 5-10-25c Store
(3rd St., near Express Office)
Extends to Faculty & Students of S. T. C. a cordial invitation to visit Farmville's only locally owned 5 & 10c Store
SPECIAL ORDERS TAKEN FOR YOUR CONVENIENCE
C. C. Atkinson (Cousin Tommy's son)
Rosa Willims Atkinson (S. T. C. Alumna)

Conoco Gas and Oil
Fill up at
JOHNS MOTOR CO.
Farmville, Va.

Electric Shoe Shop
It's smart to buy good shoes and then keep them repaired

Martin the Jeweler
College & Fraternity Jewelry
Gifts of lasting remembrance
317 MAIN ST. FARMVILLE

RICE'S SHOE STORE
Street and Dress Shoes
Dancing Slippers Dyed
Correct fits our specialty

TAXI TAXI
Jitney Rides Day or Night Service
"Service that Counts"
H. M. WELLS, Day Phone 344
Night Phone 54M

LOVELY SPORT COATS—$9.95 and $16.50, with new Fish-tail backs—Gorgeous Plaids.

SPort Oxfords and Dress Shoes, sizes 3 to 9
Widths from "AAA" to "C"' ..... $2.95 and $3.95
YOU WILL LIKE TO SHOP HERE!
HUB DEPARTMENT STORE

TUSSY

Powder, Lipstick, Puff
Complete $1.00
A grand Value... Come and See
Seeing will certainly be believing . . . This new Tussy Powder IS super-clinging . . . The new Tap-It patent box CAN'T spill . . . The new Tussy Automatic Lipstick WORKS . . . The puff is real WOOL . . . and all this value IS being offered for $1.00. The Tussy Beauty Counselor is here to give you expert advice in choosing your right shade.
TOILETRIES DEPARTMENT
BALDWIN'S
QUALITY · PRICE · SERVICE STORE

Just What You've Been Looking For to Make Your Room Complete

MAJESTIC—INTER or REGAL
5 tube $12.50
4 tube $11.00
Complete With Tubes
Needs No Aerial
Performs With the Best
Set in Beautiful Cabinet
ASK ABOUT OUR FREE TRIAL OFFER
—AT—
Dixie Auto Supply
116 W. 3rd Street
Farmville Virginia

Thanksgiving Honors go to Red and White

Red & Whites Win Annual Color Rush

Green and White Wins Junior, Senior Building

Red and white banners swayed from the Rotunda and Student Building last Thursday while green and white adorned the Senior Building.

At the peal of the two o'clock bell, Kathleen Ranson, red and white runner for Rotunda building was successful in reaching the railing first. E. Mann, red and white, was first to reach her destination in Student Building. In the Senior Building Zell Hopkins, green and white runner, touched the railing in no time.

While Louise Walmsley, Elsie Cabell, Mary Elizabeth Slater, and Florence Sanford guarded the bell, songs and cheers from the color supporters resounded all over the campus. As soon as the banners were hung the enthusiasts adjourned to the hockey field to witness the battle between the class teams.

Judges for the color rush were: Hazel Smith, Bonnie Lane, Elizabeth Morris, Agnes Crockett, Martha Hamlet, Louise Gathright, Elizabeth Huse, Virginia Leonard, and Claire Eastman.

Junior Team Wins Over Seniors, 1-0

Four Extra Halves Before York Scores

The junior and senior teams were more evenly matched and from the beginning it seemed the game would end in a scoreless tie. After two halves and no scoring two more five minute halves were played. The result was the same. In two four minute halves, Marguerite York scored for the juniors. The final score remained 1-0 in favor of the juniors.

Line-up:

Juniors	Seniors
Bowles—R. W.	Gathright
Dortch—R. I.	Crockett
Lane—C. F.	Ranson
Walker—L. I.	Nottingham
York—L. W.	Tankard
Roberts—R. H.	Bailey
Irby—C. H.	Massey
Anderson—L. H.	Harrison
Parker—R. F.	Harrison
McGlothlin—L. F.	Walker
Mann—G.	Sanford

Umpires: Miss Iler, Edna Bolick
Scorekeepers: Ruth Phelps, M. E. Badger.
Timekeepers: M. Britton, Inez Chappelle

Petersburg Score 3-2 Over Farmville Team

Monday afternoon, November 25 at 3:30, College High School again met the Petersburg eleven on the Farmville field.

Both teams displayed good playing. Cooperation and teamwork were the keynotes of the playing. Cooperation and teamthe first half, the score was 2-0 in favor of Petersburg.

Not to be outdone by their rivals, C. H. S. rallied in the second half, making two goals. Petersburg scored another, winning the game by the close margin of 3-2.

Edna Bolick umpired for Farmville and Evelyn Mann was timekeeper.

After the game, the teams were entertained at a tea in the Tea room. Guests included Miss Olive T. Iler Mary Lena Anderson, and Kathleen Ranson, coaches.

If you're a monotone just come and join the mezzo group of the Glee Club. They should start early this fall of bird-seed a day to keep the sour notes away.

Sophomores Defeat Freshman Team

Gilliam and Bolick Score 5-0 for the Sophomores

The annual hockey game between the freshmen and sophomores began promptly at two o'clock Thursday, November 21. An unusually large portion of the student body atetnded the game. Especially anxious were the freshmen to see whether or not they should continue to wear their "rat caps" or not.

In the first half of the game Jennie Belle Gilliam and Edna Bolick scored for the sophomores. Alma Butterworth, freshman center forward, went through the sophomore line for a score. Both teams played well and displayed unusually good pass work. The cheering sections kept enthusiasm at a high point and did much to make the game a good one.

The sophomores emerged victorious with a score of 5-0.

The line-up:

Freshmen	Sophomores
Winkerson—R. W.	Mann
Ivers—R. I.	Chappelle
Butterworth—C. F. (C)	Gilliam
Badger—L. I.	Bolick
Burton—L. W.	Carter
Britton—R. H.	Phelps
Canyers—C. H.	Latimer
Turnes—L. H.	Bailey
Burke—R. F.	McGlothlin
Rentes—G.	Sears

Umpires: Miss Iler, Kathleen Ranson
Scorekeepers: Linda Walker, Kitty Roberts
Timekeepers: Katherine Irby, Edith Samford

Basketball Practices Take Prominent Place After Hockey Season

With hockey off for the year basketball will occupy the center of the stage from now on. There will be class teams and a varsity team this year.

Varsity tryouts were held yesterday and today in the gymnasium and as yet the squad has not been announced. For girls wishing to tryout for class teams practices will be scheduled after the Thanksgiving holidays.

Negotiations for a full basketball schedule are going forward now and it is hoped that with such promising material available S. T. C. will have a good team this year.

English Debaters Baffle Americans

A lost of earnest young American campus debaters are having sad experiences meeting the present Oxford and Cambridge teams which are touring the country.

English debate tactics never seem to change, but unfortunately their American opponents never get wise. It is a common assertion that the Oxford Union provides the best debate training in the world, although it seems to consist of an ability to charm the audience, to maintain complete nonchalance ,to spin merry tales.

American students, on the other had, bone up for weeks, outline their case concretely and spew forth facts and figures at a terrific rate—all of which the Englishmen wave airly aside as so much amusing rubbish.

We know of one case, however, where the Britishers did not ignore statistics. In fact, they made tremendously effective use of them and won their debate hands down.

One of their team arose to his feet and with a rather weary air said, "We knew our opponents would simply devastate us if we us with their statistics. We have decided we can best answer them with statistics of our own, which we wil lnow give to you."

Whereup he unwound a long, long roll of paper until it touched the floor, then gathered it all up and tossed it over the footlights!

Sophs Win Hockey ChampionshipTitle

Red and Whites Get Points for Color Cup

The championship game between the juniors and sophomores was played at four o'clock Thursday afternoon. In the first half Marguerite York scored for the juniors and Edna Bolick marked up one for the sophomores. When the last whistle blew the score was still 1-1. In the two five-minute halves to pay off the tie the sophomores went through the junior line for two scores. The final score stood 3-1 in favor of the sophomores.

The winning of this game gave the red and white classes the points for the color cup and placed the sophomores as the championship team for the year.

Line-up:

Sophomores—Pos.	Juniors
Mann—R. W.	Bowles
Chappelle—R. I.	Lane
Gilliam—C. F.	Anderson (c)
Bolick(c)—L. I.	Walker
Carter—L. W.	York
Phelps—R. H.	Parker
Latimer—S. H.	Irby
Bailey—L. H.	Dortch
McGlothlin—R. F.	Roberts
Clark—L. F.	McGlothlin
Sears—G.	Mann

Umpires: Miss Iler, Linda Walker; timekeeper, Betty Butterworth, scorekeeper, Mary Elizabeth Slater.

CAMPUS COMMENTS

We're all wondering who the girl was who had a proposal on the "Rec" steps last Sunday night!

Billy, we'd like to tell you, for the benefit of your friends, that people can have their names changed in court for five dollars.

We know that our standard of grades will be raised this quarter since Hampden-Sydney is having its Christmas dances during our exams. Thoughtful, isn't it?

Watch out for that green-eyed jealousy Hayman! We noticed it when the final curtain was pulled Friday night.

It's Red and White! For once the Sophomores do have room to crow.

Cabbages to Chubby Gray! Who thought of that?

SUPPERS AND SMALL PARTIES

Good Breakfast
Dinners
Suppers

College Tea Room
and
LONGWOOD

Let's Get ACQUAINTED!

BALDWIN'S has that extra touch of quality that makes all the difference

Beauty Specials

$5.00

Croquignole or self-setting permanents $3.45

Bring some one with you and get two for $6.00.

Other permanents

$2.95 to $12.50

We guarantee and give free test curls with all our permanents.

BALDWIN'S
Beauty Salon
—finest and best—
PHONE 159

Gorgeous Evening dresses in New Chenile Transparent velvet ..... $7.45 and $14.45

Brush Wool Twin Sweaters—in bottle green, rust brown and royal blue ..... $1.97 and $2.97

Beautiful Sport Skirts—solid colors and plaids at $2.94

BE SMART—SHOP AT THE
DOROTHY MAY STORES

EXQUISITE, PERSONAL
ENGRAVED STATIONERY

100 SHEETS
100 ENVELOPES
ENGRAVED
ALL FOR
$2

SEE OUR BEAUTIFUL SAMPLES

The Farmville Herald
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

Gray's Drug Store
PURE DRUGS—MEDICINES
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Quality—Price—Service
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

You Would Love to Have Your Shoes Fixed at
Lovelace Shoe Shop
110 Third Street

Mack's
BARBER AND BEAUTY SHOP
323 Main Street
Phone 360

ROSE'S
On the Corner
5-10-25c Store
School Supplies
FULL FASHIONED HOSIERY
ROOM FURNISHINGS
AT POPULAR PRICES

B uy
U nusual
T reats
C old drinks
H uge cones
E legant fruits
R oasted peanuts
S nappy snacks

EACO THEATRE
Now Equipped With Wide Range Sound

Wed., Nov. 27
Bank Night
DOUBLE FEATURE:
"Wings Over Ethiopia"
Conway Tearl in
"Trail's End"
$15.00 Given Away FREE!
First Winner: Mrs. T. W. Cochrane

Thurs.-Fri., Nov. 27-28
Douglass Montgomery
Evelyn Venable
in
"Harmony Lane"
Thanksgiving Night
Midnight Show at 11:30
Francis Lederer
Frances Dee
The Gay Deception
Duke Ellington
Regular prices

Saturday Betty Boop
Walter Abel, Paul Lukas
Margot Grahame
in Alex Dumas'
Three Musketeers
No Advance in Prices

Next Mon-Tue., Dec. 2-3
William Powell
Rosalind Russell in
"RENDEZVOUS"
Better than 'The Thin Man'

Next Wed., Dec. 4
Mat: "Music Is Magic"
Night: "Eagle's Brood"
Bank Night

Friends are around us, though no word be spoken."
from Dedication

The College World ...
In Pictures

"One Picture Tells as Much as Ten Thousand Words"

Shutters click . . . flashlights flare . . . cameramen are "Johnny on the spot" wherever and whenever anything of interest to the college student happens . . . to bring to the Editor of Collegiate Digest three thousand pictures every month . . . but of course it is only possible to bring you the best of these . . . in addition to the numerous collegiate features appearing exclusively in Collegiate Digest every week with

STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE ROTUNDA

GET READY FOR EXAMINATIONS

The Rotunda

We Teach To Teach

GET TICKETS FOR "LUCKY THIRTEEN"

Volume XVI. FARMVLLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, DEC. 11, 1935 No. 10

Juniors To Stage Production Friday

Class Presents "Lucky Thirteen"—Musical Comedy

"The Lucky Thirteen", an original musical production, will be presented by the Junior Class Friday night, December 13, in the college auditorium at eight o'clock.

The whole show takes place in a smart hotel and the theme centers around superstition. Many of the Juniors will sing a number of the latest songs.

The production is based on the fact that Friday thirteenth is an unlucky day, so everythnig in the production has some element of superstition, from black cats to breaking mirrors.

The choruses are being coached by Virginia Baker, Sue Mallory, Katherine Irby, and Betty Boylan, with Dorothy Wise furnishing the music.

The production is in two scenes. The first is laid in the lobby of the hotel, and the second in the ball room where there will be a dazzling floor show.

"Lucky Thirteen" will include many snappy choruses, witty lines, an old maid's troubles, a producer with his troup, and a cabaret scene.

Under the able direction of Miss Olive T. Ier, Mary Bowles and Virginia Baker, the production is rapidly whipping itself into shape to be presented Friday night.

In chapel Wednesday morning,

Continued on Page 4

Child Labor Expert Lectures to Class

Miss Farmer Speaks On Protection Societies

Miss Farmer, director of Child Labor Department in Virginia, delivered a very informative lecture on "Child Labor" to Miss Stubb's sociology class yesterday at twelve o'clock.

The origin of child protection societies was explained by Miss Farmer. She said that such societies originated by appealing to the course under the cruelty to animals clause.

Miss Farmer stated that there have been several attempts to make child labor a federal question, but some contend it is taking away state rights. She also admitted the fact that this issue will arise in the coming legislative meeting and present quite a problem.

The speaker made it clear that if school attendance laws, which are seldom enforced in rural districts and small cities, were properly carried out the solution to the child labor problem would be much simpler.

Honorary Fraternity To Conduct Initiation

Kappa Delta Pi, honorary fraternity in education will initiate the following girls Thursday, December 12 at 5:00 o'clock: Elsie Cabell, Claire Eastman, Bonnie Lane, Margaret Dortch, Marguerite York, Mary Alice Glass, Virginia Bean, Virginia Hooke, Mary Robeson, Carolyn Hoon, Doris Coates, Winnie Frances Eubank, Marjorie Booton, Ruby Blanton, Alice Grainger, Lloyd Kelley, Victoria Gillette, Bess McGlothlin, Katherine Hurt, Audrey Clements, Martha Hamlet, and Izell Houck.

F. Hudgins to Lead Fancy Dress Ball

Junior Will Portray Queen Elizabeth at W. & L.

Frances Hudgins, a junior in college, will lead the Washington and Lee Fancy Dress Ball with Mr. Glenn Shively, president of the set. Plans for this "premier social event of the South" are well under way. The theme of the ball this year is to depict as nearly as possible the actual scene of Queen Elizabeth's welcome to the young Earl of Essex. Frances as leader will portray the role of Queen Elizabeth.

Plans for the decoration of Doremus gymnasium have been completed by Fred Lynch, Philadelphia decorator who has done the job for the past two years. Sketches accepted by Glenn Shively and Mrs. L. J. Desha represent an audience room of Windsor Castle, England, as it was at the time of Queen Elizabeth.

Appointment of officers of the set has been announced and these officers will play an important part in the colorful figure. Officers of the set are: John Shoaf and Ross Crom, vice-presidents, George Gilleland, treasurer; Frank Crew, secretary; Jimmy Ruth, business manager, and Ben Thirkield, publicity director.

Iler Captains Junior Ship for Third Time

On Wednesday, December 4, the Junior Class held its presentation of classman at chapel time. The class with the exception of the officers and a few members who later appeared on the stage, marched in from the back of the auditorium singing the new green and white song. The freshmen, sister class mates ,joined the juniors in this.

After the chapel exercises, led by Elizabeth Shiplett, the class stood and sang their class song. The curtain was drawn and the crew appeared, cleaning up for inspection by their captain, Miss Iler. In a moment the captain appeared accompanied by the officers of the ship, Mary Bowles, president; Virginia Bean, vice-president; Virginia Baker, treasurer; Lucille Moseley, secretary. In a short address Mary Bowles presented the class man to the student body, faculty, and administration, after which the class sang two songs dedicated to Miss Iler. They marched out to the green and white song.

Many Girls Attend Richmond Symphony

Twenty-six Farmville girls and eight members of the faculty and administration attended the Richmond Symphony Concert in Richmond on Monday, December 9. The Symphony Orchestra, featuring Charles Naegele, pianist, as guest artist, presented the following program:

1. Overture from Donna Diana—Reznicek.
2. Waltz from "Faust"—Dounod
3. On Hearing the First Cuckoo in Spring—Delius.
4. —Symphony in C Minor, op 68—Brahams.

Un poco sostenuto; allegro

Continued on Page 4

Students Support Initial Project Of New Honor Group

English Fraternity Will Sponsor Magazine

In the Student Body meeting on Monday, December 9, Mary Robeson explained the desire of the English Honor Society to publish a literary magazine; because everybody in school is represented in this society it appears this publication would be a benefit to the whole school. Articles will be accepted from any student in school, whether in the organization or not. All the faculty members and heads of the honor societies in school are very enthusiastic over this need.

Doris Moore moved that we accept this magazine on the subscription basis. Florence Sanford explained there might be a conflict in this magazine and the "Southern Comic". After some discussion it was decided that other colleges had both types of magazines and made a success of both.

It was unanimously voted by the Student Body to support this magazine and help it to be a success.

Choruses to Sing Old English Carols

The old English Carol Service will be presented in the College auditorium Sunday evening, December 15. This old traditional carol service is one of the special features of the Christmas season, and will be presented by the College Choir, Choral Club, under the direction of Alfred H. Strick; and the Vested Choir of the Training School, under the supervision of Miss Ida Woodrow Penny. One hundred and fifty voices will take part and Dr. J. L. Jarman will be the soloist. Rev. R. O. Bryant, Methodist minister will be the speaker. This program will be given immediately after the evening service at the various churches. The public is invited to attend. There will be a silver offering taken at the door.

S. T. C. Girls Elect 1936 May Court In "Sing" Saturday

Twenty Priestesses to Accompany Queen

Twenty-four nominees for the May Court were presented and voted upon at Sing Saturday evening. Twenty girls were chosen to attend the queen at her coronation in May.

The girls dressed in evening clothes were introduced individually. After all the nominees were introduced they formed a semi-circle on the stage with Lucy Potter, the Golden Goddess, and Martha Nottingham, the high priestess in the center of the group.

The priestesses who will attend the queen are: Mary Bowles, Agnes Crockett, Chic Dortch, Vera Ebel, Grace Eubank, Margaret Farrar, Jennie Belle Gilliam, Ann Hardy, Bonnie Lane, Susan Lane, Madeline McGlothlin, Ruth Montgomery, Page Nottingham, Bonnie Powell, Henrietta Salbury, Florence Sanford, Hazel Smith, Zaida Thomas, and Tac Waters.

Other important characters of May Day are Sarastro the ruler of the Ar'et; the Queen of Night; Tamino, the liberator of the goddess and Papageno, companion of Tamino. These are outstanding dance parts and will be chosen immediately after Christmas from Orchesis, the artist dance organization, and from the modern dance group.

Additional dancers will be needed in numerous group dances. Try-outs for these will be held at the first of the winter quarter. All girls who are interested are urged to keep this in mind.

The 1936 May Day Committee is composed of Mary Robeson, business chairman; Emma Bingham, theme chairman; Doris Moore, dance chairman; Dorothy Wise, music chairman; Dorothy Billings, costume chairman; Mrs. Louise R. Fitzpatrick is the faculty adviser for the project.

Plans have been submitted to the costume committee and Miss Tupper, its adviser. The Orchesis and the modern dance classes have

Continued on Page 4

Christmas Season Renews Many Old College Traditions

Those things that endear a place to our hearts, that give it meaning, that give it an unusual atmosphere and spirit are its traditions and customs that are its own unique possessions. For this reason, S. T. C. occupies a place in every heart that has lived within her walls.

Preceeding Thanksgiving holidays we experienced what to us is known as Color Rush. This has been a custom for many years and one that creates great excitement. Some of the upperclassmen will probably tell you of this great custom with its mob action, individual combats, and breath taking stunts .Last year the practice was broken for the first time due to the Thanksgiving holidays.

Now we are approaching the Christmas season that for S. T. C. has its traditions. Soon we shall witness the "hanging of the greens". Immediately after prayers the students march to the Rotunda and hang their sprays of holly and running cedar and join in the singing of Christmas carols. The tradition of the "hanging of the greens" is believed to have been initiated into school life at S. T. C. about 1920 by Miss Woodruff who was head of the Training School for many years.

On Sunday evening before leaving for the holidays, students gather in groups and sing Christmas carols throughout the town. Candles are placed in the windows by those wishing the carolers to sing for them.

For about twenty years Miss Rice has told at prayers in her humble, but beautiful way, the story of "The Other Wise Man" by Henry aVn Dyke. It is also a custom to have Dr. Jeffers tell of Christmas customs in Newfoundland.

The beautiful tradition of the "White Christmas" at S. T. C. had its origin in the Service Committee of the Y. W. C. A. One night at prayers is devoted to this service when representatives of the organizations dressed in white lay their contributions on the table The money obtained from these contributions has helped in making Christmas for the servants a happy time; to creating happiness for children in needy homes; and to serving hot lunches for the children in the Training School.

Debaters of S. T. C Enter Tournament

Gertrude Levy

Gertrude Levy, who placed second in an oration on "Peace", at Winthrop College.

Gertrude Levy Wins Second in Oratory at Winthrop

Dr. Walmsley, Gertrude Levy, Virginia Hooke, Juanita Callis, Izabelle Sprinkle left Thursday morning to take part in the Strawberry Leaf Tournament and the Model League Assembly held at Winthrop College, South Carolina, on December 6 and 7, and returned to S. T. C. on Sunday night.

Gertrude Levy ranked second in Oratory on the subject of "Peace". She also entered the "After Dinner Speaking Contest", in which she received third place.

The question for debate at the tournament was: Resolved: That congress should have the power to override by a two thirds majority vote, all decisions of the Supreme Court declaring laws passed by Congress unconstitutional. Mildred Slayton and Isabelle Sprinkle represented Farmville on the Affirmative, and Virginia Hooke and Juanita Callis defended the negative.

The debaters were graded individually according to points, not as a team. The highest rating was 906, attained by a member of the University of South Carolina Team. 565 was the lowest grade. The S. T. C. debaters all made over 800 points.

Virginia Hooke also represented Farmville in extemporaneous

Continued on Page 4

Richmond Minister Is Guest of Y. W.

Dr. Rives, pastor of the Centenary Methodist Church in Richmond, was a guest of the Y. W. C. A. here last week. He spoke in chapel and at prayers. Thursday morning he dicussed a person's philosophy of life. He said that a person should be, above all things, ambitious—everyone should have something in life to strive for. Friday he discussed spiritual coefficients. We should always have spiritual coefficients to place before our lives. Some of these are ambition, an affirmative attitude, a persistent enterprise, and knowledge and faith. All these things lead to self enrichment and satisfaction. Saturday he talked from the text "Behold I Set Before thee an open door and no one can shut it." We think of ourselves as victims of circumstances but these words show us the way to great joy, adn none can shut that open door except yourself.

A number of students had private conferences with Dr. Rives, and Friday afternoon, December 6, the Y. W. C. A. gave a tea in his honor in the Student Building Lounge.

Students To Make Schedules Thursday

On Thursday afternoon, December 12, all students will make schedules for the next quarter. All classes will be suspended that afternoon for this purpose. The Registrar has given notice that all applications for extra work should be made before Thursday afternoon.

Fall quarter examinations will be given on December 7 through 20. The examination schedule follows:

Day	Classes
Tuesday: 8:30	11:00 M.W.F.
11:00	12:00 M.W.F.
4:00	4:00 P.M.
7:15	7:00 P.M.
Wednesday: 8:30	8:30 T.T.S.
11:00	9:30 T.T.S.
2:10	2:10 M.W.F.
	2:10 T.T.S.
Thursday: 8:30	11:00 T.T.S.
11:00	12:00 T.T.S.
2:10	3:10 P.M.
Friday: 8:30	8:30 M.W.F.
11:00	9:30 M.W.F.

Big Crowd Enjoys Annual Senior Hop

H.-S. C. "Collegians" Furnish Dance Music

Success provides an apt description of the second annual Senior Dance held in the S. T. C. gymnasium Saturday evening, December 7. Approximately eight hundred students and guests danced to the music of the Hampden-Sydney orchestra.

Decorations of pine and running cedar added an air of Christmas time to the occasion. Lucy Potter served as chairman of the decoration committee. Other committee chairman were Louise Gathright, tickets; Claudia Harper, orchestra. Officiating at the door were Mr. Holton, Mr. McCorkle and Tac Waters. Miss Mary White Cox, Dr. Jarman, Mrs. Laing Mrs. Warren and other members of the faculty and home office department chaperoned the dance.

Alpha Kappa Gamma Adopts Tap Service

In the past the method of bidding new members into Alpha Kappa Gamma has been left to the various circles. However, it was decided at the national convention, held recently at the University of South Carolina, that the method of issuing bids should be standardized. As a result the organization has adopted the tap service as the official means of recognizing leadership on the campus.

This service is familiar to many of us through Omicron Delta Kappa and Mortar Board, in which organizations it is practiced. The tap service is known for its beauty and inspiration.

THE ROTUNDA

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Published by students of the State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921, in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under Act of March 3, 1934

Subscription ..... $1.50 per year

1935 Member 1936
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

Staff

Florence Sanford ..... Editor
Agnes Bondurant ..... Associate Editor
Evelyn Massey ..... Business Manager

Board of Editors

Elizabeth Morris ..... News Editor
Mabel Lambert ..... Make-up
Susan Gresham ..... Headlines
Alice Nelson ..... Alumnae
Bess McGlothlin ..... Editorials
Mary Harrison Vaughn ..... Feature
Margaret Fraley ..... Society
Emma Bingham ..... Literary
Kathleen Ranson ..... Sports

Proof Readers

Elizabeth Walton, Ann Wills, Mary Hubard

Managers

Elsie Cabell ..... Asst. Bus. Manager
Louise Gathright ..... Circulation Manager
Ruth Phelps ..... Asst. Circulation Manager
Will Scott ..... Asst. Circulation Manager

Reporters

Bonnie Lane, Virginia Bean, Virginia Agee, Madeline McGlothlin, Minnie Smith, Mary Elizabeth Slater, Mary Joyner Cox, Bess McGlothlin, Ruth Hubard, Claudia Harper, Claire Eastman,, Elizabeth Carroll.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 11, 1935

The Power of Speech

Murdering the King's English in inexcusable. Many well dressed people have betrayed their culture by their speech. They have not considered good speech as essential for success as much as good clothes. Schools now are placing more and more emphasis on the formation of language habits. They realize that no student can hope to achieve success unless he can speak and write correctly and effectively. Good speech makes more impression than good dress, because speech is an indication of the pattern of the mind.

Too many college graduates lack the power of speaking with ease and accuracy. They lack a breadth of vocabulary and a facile command of their native tongue, simply because the schools of yesterday did not demand of the student that he learn to speak well his own language.

The sooner young people realize that slovenly speech will hinder their progress, the sooner they will seize every opportunity to better their speech habits.

Be a Good Citizen

What do you think of the man who does not pay his poll tax, because he doesn't want to vote? This man is he who lets hi children miss school when they like, but who protests loudest at the low grades they bring home. He is always certain that the teacher isn't on the job, but he never goes to P. T. A. meetings to learn of the progress and problems of the teacher.

Now to bring this down to you, fellow class man, if you don't support your class by attending meetings and paying your dues what right have you to criticize any move or decision made by that class? If you don't like the things the class does, go to the meetings and express your views. You will find that the president is glad to have and get your suggestions.

Why not be a good college citizen?

Fourteen miles into the air may be accomplished with a baloon, but almost anybody may go six feet into the ground now-a-days using an automobile.

Preserve the Sports Ideal

The question whether Americans should participate in the eleventh Olympiad, if held in Germany, is being debated throughout the length and breadth of the nation. In the last analysis, this question will necessarily be decided by the American athletes themselves.

The American Olympic Committee assumes that those who oppose American participation in the games, if the Olympiad is held in Germany, are attempting to prevent American athletes from competing in the games. But this is not the question. Prominent people in the sports world are contending that under Nazi control, the Olympic ideal will be crushed, for Nazi Germany by her treatment of the Jewish athletes, has introduced into the Olympics the question of race. By her treatment of her Catholic and Protestant athletes, she has introduced into the Olympics the question of religion. And by her exploitation of the games she has introduced into the Olympics the question of politics.

Germany has repeatedly pledged herhelf to follow the Olympian Code to the letter, if the games are held there. However, the danger lies in the fact that sports, as everything else in Germany, are subject to Nazi domination. The German Committee has declared that Jewish athletes will be allowed to participate in the events; yet, because of Nazi persecution Jewish athletes are consistently denied adequate training facilities and equal opportunity for competition. Under such discrmination German athletes of Jewish blood will not have an equal chance in competitive sports. This indirect method, sportsmen fear, will be enough to exclude Jewish candidates from the games.

The American Committee says that the International Committee has found no grounds for action; that the question is no longer open, since the invitation has been accepted; that the conditions are not as serious as opposition to American participation paints it; that visitors to Germany are hospitably treatd; that the games will be fairly conducted.

So the battle rages, pro and con. And the question is a pertinent one. How will athletes of the world meet the situation?

A Sad Predicament

Exams are just one week off. A rather forbidding fact to those who haven't done any studying this quarter, but as for ones who have studied—well, they can sit back and take life easy now. To which class do you belong?

If you are the type who brags about not ever "cracking a book" you will have to start worrying very shortly. But after all you have a week left, so why not start right now and try to catch up on a littlework? If you don't, the night before exams you will be in a storm trying to cram everything at once. And you will not remember a word. But if you studied every day a good review would see you through.

So why not make a resolution right now (and keep it this time) and when exams roll around again you won't be "caught short."

Education is constantly finding out how much we don't know.

The 1935 competition between the airplanes and the automobiles proved the automobile the more deadly.

It seems that Mr. "Ding" Darling has been wringing the wrong doorbell.

"Oh, but a man's reach should not exceed his grasp," or the world would have grasped it all long ago.

To further prove that statue is of no consideration, Italy's little Caesar points to Ethiopia's seven foot drummer.

A service stripe may often take the form of a line or a wrinkle.

Rotunda Reverberations

Things We Lose Sleep Over:

How on earth anybody can expect us to get Christmas spirit with mountains of work piling up. Who invented exams anyhow

The sleep we innocently cause hall presidents to lose.

The way some people always eat in the tea room. It's their parents we lose the sleep over.

Rotunda scene between classes! Girls rushing madly to and fro, several calmly sitting, one sniffling energetically in the direction of the dining room, a bunch going out the door—leaving it open to freeze everybody else, and one scurrying around on the floor after lost belongings.

We nominate for oblivion girls who make dates with boys who come to dances on other girls' bids.

Wonder if that song, "You Have to be a Football Hero" is true. Maybe Sallie Perrow or Lib Harris could give us data on the subject.

Just ask Addie Norfleet who the latest chewing gum addict happens to be. Maybe she'll let you in on the big scoop.

Just what is a "two tone" language, Irby? Perhaps teutonic is the word.

What girl asked and had five boys to accept bids to the Senior dance and then strolled in—stag? Miracles will happen.

Evidently the Juniors aren't superstitious. As though there were anything lucky about 13. Anyhow, we all expect to go and be pleasantly entertained. We should be from the practicing they're putting forth.

World News

Accidents Are Greatest Hazard Today

In spite of the increase in automobile deaths in the United States, accidents cost no more lives now, in proportion to the population, than they did in 1900. Deaths from railroad and street car accidents, drowning, burns, poisonous gas, food poisoning and suffocation, have dropped from an average of 47.7 per 100.000 population during 1900-1905 to 17.9 during 1931-1934, an improvement of 29.8. The rate from automobile accidents was practically zero in 1900 and 28.4 in 1934. The one about balances the other. One out of every 13 deaths in Illinois is due to accident, and more than one-third of these are attributed to the automobile, according to a bulletin sent out by the Illinois Department of Public Health. Out of 6,928 fatal accidents last year, 2,576 were caused by motor vehicles. Accidents are now a greater hazard than any disease, except heart disease, cancer, and nephritis.—Reprinted from Science, Dec. 6, 1935.

Fashion Fads

Do you remember way back yonder when a girl had to wear her waist-line down around her hips, and when her knees were exposed with every step she took? Then she looked positively tubercular with her dead-white face bedecked with circles of bright red rouge on each cheek. Her posture was suggestive of rickets, and her attitude was brittle and cynical.

The new draperies and furbelows in fashion today have ushered in a new sweetness and gentleness, a little more of the feminity so cherished of old. Nowadays girls are really cultivating a blush, and as a result many a cheek is blooming rosily from within. Today girls don't mind gaining a pound or two, for every pound of flesh deepens a dimple!

At Other Colleges

Would you like to live ten years longer and double your working capacity? The fluid from the adrenal glands possesses these powers and experimental attempts are being made at the University of Virginia to produce this extract synthetically.

An Ohio institution does not think much of the vogue set by Harvard men. An edict was issued at the University of Toledo saying "There must be no walking about the halls in the nude". At the same time the students were told to see that their curtains were drawn while dressing.

Are you air minded? The college of William and Mary is the only institution in Virginia to offer coures in aeronautics, but students have to have special permission to engage in aerial activities. Sophomores at Haverford take a comprehensive examination containing 2725 questions. It requires 12 hours to complete the examination.

Gatekeeper at Ohio State University football games had it all figured out. If you could wiggle both of your thumbs in unison, you were supposed to be sober enough to enjoy the game. Otherwise you had to go back home and listen to the radio.

Slang is perfectly all right declared Dr. W. C. Spencer, president of a Baptist college in Indianapolis. Mr. Spencer must believe what he says since he went so far as to defend slang before a group of ministers. Several benefits of slang according to the prexy!

It provides short cuts in expression; it makes a demand on imagination; it adds vividness and picturesqueness. Slang has even crept into legal parlance, since a bill in the New York Legislature refers to "joy riding".

It looks like you brunettes are to have a break after all, from all we can gather from South Carolina. The higher social circles say that gentlemen no longer prefer blondes, as has been the common belief for the past few years. More power to the brunettes in 1935-36, but what a boon to the hair dye industry!

More Hold Ups—College lads are hitching socks to garters again, says a Brown University student, who recently confided to the New England conference of the State Federation of Woman's clubs that the return of the garter marks a new epoch in undergraduate life. We hope the sight of fewer bare legs will have a soothing effect on our lady friends.

A worried mother has inquired what to do for her growing son who is straining his eyes overstudying. Our advice is to send him to college.

Brain Twister

Once an old king wished to choose the wisest man in the country to be his Prime Minister. He had the three wisest men brought to him. When the men came, he told them that he was going to blindfold each one and paint a circle, either blue or red, on each man's forehead. When he removed the blindfold if the man saw a red circle, he should raise his hand, and as soon as he had discovered the color of his circle he should lower his hand. He blindfolded the men and painted a red circle on each man's forehead. When he took off the blindfold three hands went up. Then Mr. X lowered his hand. How did he know the color of the circle on his forehead?

This does not have a catch to it. Answer in next week's Rotunda.

Japan Demands Naval Parity

The same dispute which was contested early this year, maintaining Japan's demand for parity with Great Britain and the United States, is now in the air again.

At the beginning of this year this demand caused a dismissal of an unsuccessful preliminary conference between the United States Great Britain and Japan and since this is true, gloom seems to reign about the international conference.

Japan refuses to accept an exchange of a building program unless definite total tonnage agreements are taken care of since her ratio with the United States and Great Britain is now 5-5-3, and really desires a actual equality of fleets.

As yet Great Britain representatives have yielded no answer to the demand, and the world is wondering just what action will be taken.

Favorite Works

I like Elenor Wylie's "Velvet Shoes".—Bernice Mann.

My favorite poem is "The Raven" by Edgar Allen Poe because of its beauty and its mysterious qualities.—Dot Spencer

"A Psalm of Life" by Longfellow is my favorite poem because of the beautiful lesson it gives us.
—Louise Gathright

"The Raven," Poe is lovely because of its mysterious atmosphere.—Anthelia Robinette

Masefield's "Sea Fever": short but expressive, clear cut, and vivid.—Jeanette Jones

"Andrea Del Starto" — Robert Browning—I like this poem because it gives a wonderful portrayal of characters.
—Addie Norfleet

One of my favorite poems is "The Eve of St. Agnes".
—Elsie Greene

I liked Edgar Allen Poe's "The Raven" because of its sad philosophy and beautiful words.
—Mildred Slayton

I enjoy children's poetry better than any other kind. I like "The Children's Hour" by Longfellow especially for its quiet, home-like atmosphere.—Frances Yester

"The Raven" by Edgar Allen Poe is my favorite poem. I like this poem because if one is blue or tired, the poem makes you forget and go into a land of imagination.—Marian Pond

"Trees" by Joyce Kilmer is my favorite poem because it expresses in beautiful, simple and concise words God's divine power.
—Norvell Montague

My favorite poem is Keats' "The Eve of St. Agnes" because the story is lovely and the legends and superstitions which surround it gives a glowing atmosphere.

Dicken's "Oliver Twist" is my favorite novel because it gives such an excellent description of life in the slums of London.
—Dot Price

"One Word More" by Robert Browning appeals to me because, after all, a woman must have the last word.

"The Duchess of Essex" by Hugh Walpole gives to us the clearest picture expressing the under-current of changing thoughts, ideals, and conditions before and since the World War.—Dot Price

I like "Hiawatha" better than any other poem. I like the story it tells, the pictures it describes, and the rythm of it.
—Ellen Mason

"Trees" by Joyce Kilker is lovely.—Ruth Dunnington.

My favorite poem is "The Highwayman" by Alfred Noyes. It paints such a vivid, weird picture, is so full of action, is beautifully written, and pleasant to read.
—Lucy Potter

My favorite poem is Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar". It strikes some spiritual note of beauty and faith that is hard to explain clearly.
—Emma Bingham

Rotunda.-
Volume 14-16

40605

Rotunda. Vol. 14-16

40605

USE ONLY IN LIBRARY IN RESERVES

AND
TIME OUT PLEASE PRINT (BOX NO.)

BOUND BY
MEISTER & SMETHIE
105 107 GOVERNOR ST.
RICHMOND, VA.

Library

State Teachers College
Farmville, Virginia

SOCIETY

Mesdames J. E. Warren and J. H. Tabb entertained at dinner at Longwood Friday, December 6. Covers were laid for twelve. Those present in addition to the guests of honor were: Miss Martha Nottingham and Mr. R. W. Jones, Jr., Miss Katherine Jamison and Mr. Bryon Mauphin, Miss Mary Joyner Cox and Mr. Henry Downing and Mr. and Mrs. Dave Crockett.

Mr. Morrison is a nephew of Mrs. Warren's and was married November 29 to Miss Christine Worsham in Charleston, South Carolina.

Freshman Commission Have Japanese Bazaar

On Wednesday afternoon, December 4, from 3:00 to 5:30 and from 7:00 to 7:30 the Freshman Commission held a Japanese bazaar as their project for this year. Puzzle boxes, pajamas, slippers, writing paper, and other lovely gifts were displayed and sold. Tea and cakes were served.

Holds Banquet

Alpha Sigma Alpha held its annual fall banquet in the tea room last Saturday night, December 7.

Dr. Rives Conducts Forum

The Y. W. C. A. held an open forum in the Student Building lounge Friday afternoon, December 6, conducted by Dr. Rives. The entire student body was invited to attend. Tea and cookies were served.

The Home Economics Club will hold a bazaar in the "Rec" Thursday afternoon, December 12, from 4:30 to 5:30. Clothes, including babies' dresses and children's clothing will be sold at moderate prices. Everyone including the faculty is invited.

Dr. Jarman Attends Meeting Of Southern Colleges Assn.

Dr. Jarman spent last week in Louisville, Kentucky, attending the annual meeting of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. He returned to Farmville, Saturday, December 7.

Miss Penny entertained at a tea given at her home on High Street on the afternoon of December 7 in honor of the officers of the Association of Childhood Education. She was assisted in serving by Claudia Harper.

Robertson-Stokes

Announcement has been made by Mrs. John Stokes of the marriage of her daughter, Lelia Nelson, to Mr. Mathew Womack Robertson of Charlotte Court House and Danville, on Saturday, November 16.

Thompson-Bennett

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Callwell Bennett have announced the marriage of their daughter, Jessie, to Mr. William Harold Thompson on Friday, November 29 at Danville, Virginia. Mr. and Mrs. Thompson will make their home at Hylton Hall, Schoolfield, Va.

Moody-Coleman

Mr. Henry Coleman of McKenney announces the marriage of his daughter, Mary Lucille, to Mr. Alton N. Moody Saturday, October 12. The ceremony was performed in the parsonage of Memorial Methodist church, Petersburg. Only the fourth brothers of the bride and a few intimate friends were present. Mr. and Mrs. Moody will make their home at 201 Lee Ave., Colonial Heights. Mrs. Moody formerly attended school here.

Miss Wheeler to Deliver Talk In Lower Peninsula of Va.

Miss Wheeler, head of the dramatic department of S. T. C., is going to visit the lower peninsula of Virginia the week-end of December 14. The purpose of her trip is to deliver various talks to the women's clubs on the peninsula.

Miss Leola Wheeler, faculty adviser of the Mu Omega sorority, entertained the members of the sorority with a tea, Sunday afternoon in the chapter room between the hours of 4:00 p. m. and 6:00 p. m.

Miss Grace Mix, faculty adviser of the Pan-Hellenic Association, was a guest.

Miss Lillian Rhodes, who assisted Miss Coulling in the fall, has recently been made a member of the art department of Iowa State Teachers College, Cedar Falls, Iowa.

Miss Bernice Winfield of Newport News and Mr. Charles Blake also of Newport News, were married in South Mill, N. C., on November 28.

Friend-Coleman

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Coleman announce the marriage of their daughter, Vera Louise, to Robert Kenneth Friend, son of Mrs. J. M. Friend and the late J. M. Friend of Uniontown, Pennsylvania. The wedding was solemnized November 17 at Frederick, Maryland. Mr. and Mrs. Friend will make their home in Farmville where Mr. Friend is in government service.

Alumnae News

We have received the sad news of the death of Mrs. Hunter Marshall of Charlotte, N. C., on Thursday, November 28. She was a former student of S. T. C. She was the daughter of the late James B. Wicklin who represented Buckingham in the State Senate. Surviving Mrs. Marshall are her son, Hunter Marshall, Jr., of Charlotte; her four sister, Mesdames C. C. Jeter, Lynchburg; C. H. Meyers, Richmond; L. C. Arthur and B. W. Moseley of Greenville, N. C. She is also survived by four grandsons, all of Charlotte.

Dr. Thomas D. Eason, director of higher education in Virginia and head of certification of teachers, surprised faculty and student body alike with a visit to chapel Tuesday morning. Dr. Jarman introduced Dr. Eason to the student body as a former faculty member;

BOOK REVIEW

Stars Fell On Alabama

Carl Carmer

Mr. Carmer, author of "Deep South", in his book "Stars Fell on Alabama" proves that Americans are not standardized. Mr. Carmer's poetic language and deep emotions never fail when he describes the strangely beautiful and yet almost uncivilized state of Alabama.

He writes as one who knows what he is saying. His character portrayals, realistic settings, and smooth flowing language prove that he knew and experienced every detail in the book.

Before the foreword in the book, Mr. Carmer has a map showing the five sections into which he has divided Alabama: the Red Hills, the Foot Hills, the Black Belt, the Conjure Country, and the Cajan County. He bases his treatment of the five sections on the legend that many years ago a shower of stars fell on Alabama. This falling of the stars cast a spell that is still over the entire state.

From Tuscaloosa he journeys into the Red Hills where he attends a fiddler's convention and "Ole Man Dentress" receives first prize because he has had "a little more experience" and played "extry good". An "All Day Singing" proved to be the Red Hill way of campaigning for votes.

In the "Black Belt" he heard many legends and stories from Antimo, "Alabama's most famous raconteur", and from the Centennial, who said he reckoned Mr. Joel Harris "didn't know no more o' them stories about them critturs" than he did, referring to Brer Rabbit and Brer Fox.

However, all of Mr. Carmer's experiences here were not so pleasant. At times he ran into southern antagonism toward the negro. Lynchings occured frequently and for little or no reasons.

The Conjure Country showed that Americans are not standardized. Ida Sue, the Conjure woman, typified that dark superstitious spirit that holds parts of Alabama in its clutches, quite fascinating.

Mr. Carmer found the Cajans to be the most independent of the five peoples. They followed their own pursuits and would "hit a revenuer with buckshot as far as they could see him."

Mr. Carmer could have conceived the idea for his book while he was in New York, but he could not have conceived except in Alabama such stories as that of the two-toed alligator or such characters as Mattie Sue, Ida Sue, and Miss Polly, or such pictures as the beautiful scenery of the five sections of Alabama. Although Mr. Carmer spent only six years in Alabama, he caught the true spirit of that state and proved with a facile pen that Alabamians are Alabamians.

He ends his afterword with these words, "The spell cast in the year the stars fell is not broken."

JOURNALISM CLASS STAFF
Editor-In-Chief .. Elsie Cabell
Board of Editors
News ..... Florence Sanford
Make up and Headline
Susan Gresham
Editorial .... Dorothy Turner
Social ..... Marie Moore
Feature ..... Billie Morgan
Sports .... Mary Elizabeth
Assistants and Reporters
Audrey Clements
and Linda Walker

Home Economics Club To Hold Gift Bazaar

The Home Economics Club will hold a bazaar in the Rec. Thursday afternoon, December 12 from 4:30 to 5:30 in the afternoon, and from 6:30 to 7:30 in the evening. Gifts, novelties, clothes, including babies' dresses, children's clothing and dressed dolls will be on sale at moderate prices. Food including candies, homemade marmalades and many suggestions for Christmas gifts, will be on sale. Tea will be served and everyone including the faculty is invited.

The student body extends its deepest sympathy to Miss Lucille Jennings in her recent bereavement.

R. E. FISCHER
Radio Repairing
Formerly with Martin the Jeweler
PHONE 244M OR 283

Planters Bank and Trust Company
COMPLIMENTS
FARMVILLE, VA.

WILLIS
The Florist
Flowers for all occasions
PHONES 181-273

Kleanwell
CLEANERS AND TAILORS
Expert cleaning, repairing and remodeling ladies garments
Main Street, opposite Post Office
Phone 98

Southside Drug Store
Films Developed
F R E E
Try our tasty lunches

H. M. WELLS CONFECTIONERY
Food for the Parties
Two blocks from College Campus

Farmville Mfg. Co.
BUILDING MATERIALS
MILLWORK
Farmville, Va.

C. E. Chappell Co.
Visit Us For the Best Fountain Service

STANLEY A. LEGUS
TAILOR
CLEANING
PRESSING
REPAIRING
Phone 203

Shannon's
Is Headquarters for the Best
SANDWICHES
—and—
DRINKS
in Farmville

GILLIAM'S
Refreshments fo the Girls
One block from the campus
Let us supply your next "feast"

PEOPLE'S
5-10-25c Store
(3rd St., near Express Office)
Extends to Faculty & Students of S. T. C. a cordial invitation to visit Farmville's only locally owned 5 & 10c Store
SPECIAL ORDERS TAKEN FOR YOUR CONVENIENCE
C. C. Atkinson (Cousin Tommy's son)
Rosa Willims Atkinson (S. T. C. Alumna)

Conoco Gas and Oil
Fill up at
JOHNS MOTOR CO.
Farmville, Va.

Electric Shoe Shop
It's smart to buy good shoes and then keep them repaired

Martin the Jeweler
College & Fraternity Jewelry
Gifts of lasting remembrance
317 MAIN ST. FARMVILLE

RICE'S SHOE STORE
Street and Dress Shoes
Dancing Slippers Dyed
Correct fits our specialty

TAXI TAXI
Jitney Rides Day or Night Service
"Service that Counts"
H. M. WELLS, Day Phone 344
Night Phone 54M

LOVELY SPORT COATS—$9.95 and $16.50, with new Fish-tail backs—Gorgeous Plaids.
SPort Oxfords and Dress Shoes, sizes 3 to 9
Widths from "AAA" to "C" ..... $2.95 and $3.95
YOU WILL LIKE TO SHOP HERE!

HUB DEPARTMENT STORE

TUSSY

Powder, Lipstick, Puff
Complete $1.00
A grand Value... Come and See
Seeing will certainly be believing . . . This new Tussy Powder IS super-clinging . . . The new Tap-It patent box CAN'T spill . . . The new Tussy Automatic Lipstick WORKS . . . The puff is real WOOL . . . and all this value IS being offered for $1.00. The Tussy Beauty Counselor is here to give you expert advice in choosing your right shade.
TOILETRIES DEPARTMENT
BALDWIN'S
QUALITY · PRICE · SERVICE STORE

Just What You've Been Looking For to Make Your Room Complete

MAJESTIC—INTER or REGAL
5 tube $12.50
4 tube $11.00
Complete With Tubes
Needs No Aerial
Performs With the Best
Set in Beautiful Cabinet
ASK ABOUT OUR FREE TRIAL OFFER
—AT—
Dixie Auto Supply
116 W. 3rd Street
Farmville Virginia

Sophomore Hockey Squad

The sophomore hockey squad who won the color cup championship this year. They are from left to right:, back row: Susie Clark, Nellwyn Latimer, Ruth Phelps, Irene Bailey, Elizabeth March, Ruth Sears, and Madeline McGlothlin. Front row: Muriel McAllister, Rebecca Carter, Evelyn Mann, Edna Balick (captain), and Jennie Belle Gilliam.

Twenty-seven Girls Make 1935-'36 Basketball Squad

The following girls have been chosen for the 1935-'36 basketball squad: M. E. Badger, E. Bolick, A. Bondurant, C. Boyette, M. Burton, A. Butterworth, B. Butterworth, V. Carroll, I. Chappelle, V. Coe, E. Conyers, S. Eastman, J. B. Gilliam, F. Hudgins, J. McConnaughay, E. Mann, N. Marston M. Mottley, K. Nelson, R. Phelps, K. Ranson, K. Roberts, (Jr.), M. Scott, V. Smith, L. Walker, N. Woodward, M. York.

Debaters of S. T .C. Enter Tournament

Continued from Page 1

speeches at the Model League Assembly, and received favorable criticism.

Farmville made a good showing in the tournament. The affirmative team took part in a feature debate before the entire convention with N. C. State College. The judge of this debate declared the rebuttal of the Farmville team to be unusually good—"In fact, the best he had heard in a debate for some time.

Farmville will again be represented at Winthrop College in the spring, when representatives of the Debate Club will take part in the South Atlantic Forensic Tournament.

S. T. C. Girls Elect May Queen Court

Continued from Page 1

begin the choreography of the dances.

Juniors to Stage Production Friday

Continued from Page 1

the Juniors gave a brief preview of the production, showing dances and songs taken directly from the work.

The admission for this entertainment will be twenty-five cents. Members of the Junior Class are selling tickets, and they will keep a table in the hall one day. The tickets will not be put on reserve

Many Girls Attend Richmond Symphony

Continued from Page 1

Andante sostenuto
Un poco allegretto e grazioso
Adagio, allegro non troppo, ma con brio
2 Concerto in A minor, op. 54 for pianoforte and Orchestra—Schumann
Allegro affectuoso
Intermezzo
Allegro vivace
Charles Naegele, soloist

Sport Slants

Many Pass Monogram Efficiency Tests

On Friday afternoon, December 6, from 4:00 to 5:00 in the gym, twelve girls, mostly freshmen, passed many of the efficiency tests required for membership in the Monogram Club. Members of the club were present to see that the tests were passed satisfactorily.

Girls Enjoy Hike

On Saturday afternoon, December 7, sixteen girls went on a five mile hike led by Mary Lena Anderson, a member of the Monogram Club. The hungry bunch stopped at Longwood where a big treat awaited them at the cabin—hot dogs roasted over "red hot" coals.

Everybody please play your tennis matches before Christmas.

Advice to Editors

How to Publish a Paper

Getting out this paper is no picnic.
If we print jokes, people say we are silly,
If we don't, they say we are too serious;
If we clip things from other papers, we are too lazy to write them ourselves;
If we stick close to the job all the time,
We ought to be out hunting up news.
If we go out and try to hustle,
We ought to be in the office;
If we don't print contributions,
We don't appreciate true genius;
And if we do print them, the paper is filled with junk;
If we make a change in the other fellows write-up,
We are too critical;
If we don't we are asleep.
Now like as not some guy will say we swiped this from some other paper!
WE DID!

Exams Are Here

Exams that make us sad;
Exams that make us blue
But the worst exam I'll have to take
Is the one on History II.
Exams when I want to play
Exams when I want to knit
But the one I will flunk the flattest
Is the 'zam on English Lit.

Exams! the cruel bald-faced things are staring us all square in the face. And now in this time of tribulation, all we have to comfort us is our fond memories of touchdowns, football heroes, overcrowded bleachers, dances, balloons, and confetti. But the trouble is we shan't be examined on these.

Did You Know This Before?

Q. Who is Herr Teufelsdroch?—D. A.

A. He is a character in Carlyle's Sartor Resartus. The name means Mr. Devil's Dirt and he is professor of things-in-general in the University I know-not-where.

Q. How many dentists are there in the United States?—H. W. F.

A. There are about 71,000.

Q. Do many people in Moscow use the community kitchens?—S C.

A. The 26 communal kitchens in Moscow serve 2,440,000 persons. Two out of every three inhabitants have at least one meal a day in the dining rooms connected with the ir factories or offices.

Q. Does a pint of water weigh a pound?—R. B.

A. It is slightly heavier. A pint of water weighs 1.04 pounds.

Q. Who wrote the words to the song, Anchors Aweigh?—C. T.

A. The words, with the exception of the last stanza, were written by Commander A. H. Miles, then a Midshipman. The last stanza was written by Midshipman R. Lovell, class of 1926.

Q. Whose voice is used in the animated cartoon, Popeye, the Sailorman?—V. C.

A. The voice is William Costello's.

Q. What is a Catharine-wheel?—C. P.

A. It is a window or compartment of a window of circular form, sometimes with radiating divisions or spokes, used in medieval buildings, called a rose or marigold window. It is a memorial of St. Catharine's martyrdom.

Q. How many prints are made of a motion picture?—M. P. P.

A. It depends upon the anticipated demand. Distributors order in accordance with the bookings which they have and the ones they think it probable they will get. The number of prints made varies between 50 and 250.

Q. How long does twilight last?—C. L.

A. Twilight ends when the sun is 18 degrees below the horizon. At the equator, where the sun's daily path is perpendicular to the horizon, the earth turns through this zone of twilight in about one and one-quarter hours. In the latitude of the United States, the average length of twilight exceeds one and one-half hours, its duration being greatest in midsummer, when it is more than two hours.

9 Q. How many cars were on the Skyline Drive on Sunday, October 20, 1935?—E. H. C.

A. On that date 7,992 automobiles traveled over the Skyline Drive in Shenandoah National Park.

Q What was the educational status of men received in Sing Sing Prison during 1935?—M. B.

A. Thirty-six attended college; 10, trade schools; 202, high school; 1,013, common school, and 63 received no schooling at all.

Q. What is meant by gingerbread work?—E. M.

A. It refers to anything which is showy but worthless. The allusion is to the gingerbread cakes fashioned like men, animals, etc., and profusely decorated with gold leaf or Dutch leaf, which looked like gold, commonly sold at fairs up to the middle of the nineteenth century.

Q. Is there a race of giants in any country?—J. A. H.

A. There is no existing race of people sufficiently tall to be termed giants. The highest stature of a race is 71.02 inches for males of the Sara tribe of the Upper Nile region in North Africa.

Over the Knitting Bag

"Oh, hello, I just thought I'd drop in awhile to knit and chat. Oh that's all right, I'll just sit over here. Say aren't you thrilled over going home next week? Oh gee, I just can't wait, because George is driving up after me. No, I'm sorry, but I couldn't possibly take anybody else. You see, I'm going to have so many clothes with me. I sho' am going to have one good time. Bill is taking me to the Christmas dance, and New Year's Eve I'm going to—what's that? You are? Well, how nice. And then I'm going to—Huh? Oh sure, I'm planning to buy at least two new evening dresses. You see, I just have to have them because I am going up to midwinters at Tech with Tom. Oh he's fair, but my ideal is someone who resembles Bing Crosby. Isn't he too divine? And when he sings "I Wished On The Moon"—Um!!!

By the way, what are you going to do during the holidays? You Are? Well, thank goodness, I've never had to spent a quiet vacation yet. Some girls always have nice, quiet times, don't they? Oh no, of course not—you know that I don't mean you're not popular. Why George said that he thought you were real nice. Where are you going? Oh, you would have a class.

Gray's Drug Store

PURE DRUGS—MEDICINES
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Quality—Price—Service
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

You Would Love to Have Your Shoes Fixed at
Lovelace Shoe Shop
110 Third Street

Mack's
BARBER AND BEAUTY SHOP
323 Main Street
Phone 360

ROSE'S
On the Corner
5-10-25c Store
School Supplies
FULL FASHIONED HOSIERY
ROOM FURNISHINGS
AT POPULAR PRICES

B uy
U nusual
T reats
C old drinks
H uge cones
E legant fruits
R oasted peanuts
S nappy snacks

EACO THEATRE
Now Equipped With Wide Range Sound

Wed., Dec. 11
BANK NIGHT
$45.00 Given Away FREE!
"SHIP CAFE"
Our Gang Comedy

Thurs.-Fri., Dec. 12-13
Groucho—Chico—Harpo
Marx Brothers
in Night at the Opera
with
Kitty Carlyle & Allan Jones
Also "How to Sleep"
Adults 25c and 35c

Saturday, Dec. 14 News
ROCHELLE HUDSON
Bruce Cabot, Cesar Romero
in
'SHOW THEM NO MERCY'
A Darryl Zanuck Bombshell

Next Mo.-Tue Dec. 16-17
Carole Lombard
Fred MacMurray
in
"Hands Across the Table"
"FOOTBALL TEAMWORK"
Adults 25c and 35c

Next Wed., Dec. 18 Car.
Claire Trevor, R. Bellamy
in
"Navy Wife"
From Kathleen Norris' "Beauty's Daughter"
BANK NIGHT!

Next Thurs.,-Fri. 19-20
WILL ROGERS
"In Old Kentucky"
Mats. 2p.m., 4p.m.—Nights 7:15 and 9:20

SUPPERS AND SMALL PARTIES
Good Breakfast
Dinners
Suppers
College Tea Room
and
LONGWOOD

Gorgeous Evening dresses in New Chenile Transparent velvet ..... $7.45 and $14.45
Brush Wool Twin Sweaters—in bottle green, rust brown and royal blue ..... $1.97 and $2.97
Beautiful Sport Skirts—solid colors and plaids at $2.94
BE SMART—SHOP AT THE
DOROTHY MAY STORES

EXQUISITE, PERSONAL
ENGRAVED STATIONERY
100 SHEETS
100 ENVELOPES
ENGRAVED
ALL FOR
$2
SEE OUR BEAUTIFUL SAMPLES
The Farmville Herald
FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

The College World . . . In Pictures

"One Picture Tells as Much as Ten Thousand Words"

Shutters click . . . flashlights flare . . . cameramen are "Johnny on the spot" wherever and whenever anything of interest to the college student happens . . . to bring to the Editor of Collegiate Digest three thousand pictures every month . . . but of course it is only possible to bring you the best of these . . . in addition to the numerous collegiate features appearing exclusively in Collegiate Digest every week with

STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE ROTUNDA

Happy New Year

The Rotunda

We Teach To Teach

Merry Christmas

Volume XVI. FARMVILLE, VA., WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 18, 1935 No. 11

Eminent Educators Comment on Work Of Latin Students On "The Tributum"

Classical Publication Receives Praise of Professors

"I have read the Tributum with much pleasure and I have nothing but words of admiring commendation for the excellence of this issue. The conception i sfine and the execution admirable," says Dr. W. H. Whiting, Jr., professor of Latin at Hampden-Sydney College.

"I congratulate the staff on getting out such an interesting and timely publication . . . Sodalitas Latina, Sigma Pi Rho, and the contributors have ample reason to be proud of their venture," says Dr. W. A. Harris, professor of Greek at the University of Richmond.

"It is a good piece of work and indicates very clearly that at least one teachers college in the country has distinctly upheld the classical tradition," says Dr. Eugene Tavener, editor-in-chief of the Classical Journal, Washington University, St. Louis, Mo.

Such are the comments made upon the Tributum published by Sigma Pi Rho and Sodalitas Latina last spring.

The entire classical world is celebrating the two thousandth anniversary of the birth at Venosa, December 8, 65 B. C. of the lyric poet Horace, "the Roman who never grows old." Only one other man has been given such an honor—the Roman Virgil whose bimillenium was commemorated in 1930. Hence Sigma Pi Rho dedicated their spring issue of The Tributum to Quintus Horatius Flaccus, "the most humane of men, the friend of my friends, and of many ages of men."

Copies of the edition were sent to distinguished educators. Their remarks are indeed gratifying to the staff and to the organization.

Music Clubs Sing Old English Carols

Third Grade Training School Assists Choruses

The College Choir and Choral Club under the direction of Professor A. H. Strick, and the Vested Choir of the Training School, under the supervision of Miss Ida Woodrow Penny presented the old English carol service on Sunday night, December 15, at 8:30 o'clock in the auditorium. One hundred and fifty voices took part. The auditorium was filled to capacity.

The program included:

Processional—As With Gladness Men of Old.

Choir and Choral Club — It Came Upon the Midnight Clear; Silent Night.

Vested Choir—O Little Town of Bethlehem.

College Choir and Choral Club—Good King Wenceslas; I Saw Three Ships.

Talk by Rev. R. O. Bryant—Christmas, the Beautiful.

Solo by Dr. Jarman—The Birthday of a King.

Recessional — Hark the Herald Angels Sing.

Sophomore Presentation

January 11 has been announced as the date on which the sophomore class will present their class man, Miss Jane Royall.

Convention To Be In New York City

Honor Fraternity To Send Delegates Dec. 26

Margaret Farrar, Doris Coates, and Virginia Hannah will represent the Virginia Gamma chapter of Pi Gamma Mu at the Fifth National Convention of Pi Gamma Mu to be held in New York City, December 26, 27, and 28.

Headquarters for the convention will be at the new Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. Convention sessions will meet in the Perroquet Suites on Fiftieth Street. The convention dinner on December 27 will be held in the Norse Grill to be followed by a reception in the Astor Gallery.

Dr. Charles A. Ellwood of Duke University, national president, will preside over the sessions. Dr. Ellwood has just returned from presiding over the International Congress of Sociologists at Brussels, Belgium where his remarks and addresses were hailed with great acclaim by the world's most famous sociologists Dr. Ellwood will make the principal address of the convention.

Lyceum to Feature Dr. Carlton Palmer

Lecturer Will Speak On "The Joy of Pictures"

The third lyceum program of the 1935-'36 term is scheduled for Wednesday night, January 8, featuring Dr. Carlton Palmer, lecturer.

Dr. Palmer will speak on "The Joy of Pictures" and will exhibit paintings. An unusual characteristic of his lectures is musical accompaniment.

Dr. Palmer has acquired the reputation as a unique and interesting speaker with a highly practical and inspirational program.

Basketball Schedule

January 31—Open.
February 7—Blackstone (there).
February 14—W. & M. (here).
February 21—Sweet Briar (here).
February 28—Harrisonburg (here).

Varsity and general practice schedule will be posted on the A. A. bulletin board after Christmas.

New Girls Initiated Into Kappa Delta Pi Thursday Afternoon

Kappa Delta Pi, national honor fraternity in education, initiated twenty-two girls at 5:00 o'clock Thursday, December 12. After the initiation service conducted by Doris Moore, president, the new members were entertained at a banquet in the tea room. Miss Moran, Miss Taliaferro, Mr. and Mrs. Holton, Miss Draper, Dr. and Mrs. Jeffers, Dr. and Mrs. Wynne, Mr and Mrs. Grainger, Miss Henry, Miss Nichols, Miss Carter, Miss Camper, Miss Haines, and Miss Hiner were among the faculty members present. Dr. Wynne made the welcoming address followed by a talk on Kappa Delta Pi, originally Pi Kappa Omega, by Mr. Grainger.

Humor Magazine To Arrive at S.T.C. First of New Year

Collegiate Publication To Be Titled "Foolscap"

The "Foolscap" Southern Comic will make its initial appearance on the S T. C. campus in January. Beginning with this issue the publication will appear each month. The Foolscap is a student publication representing colleges in the state fo Virginia and each school is urged to make contributions. Students wishing to make contributions of a humorous nature will submit their material to Florence Sanford and Evelyn Massey early in January. The second issue which will appear in the latter part of January will be called the Resolutions Issue. Articles may be on almost any subject, writen in a humorous vein, and not to exceed 2,000 words in length. Cartoons should be submitted in pen and ink on white paper. Poems original jokes, anecdotes—anything which is genuinely humorous and amusing wil lbe accepted.

Subscriptions for the Foolscap may be secured from Rotunda staff members. The rate is 15c per issue.

Y. W. C. A. Presents Christmas Pageant

The annual S T C. Christmas pageant will be given at Prayers this evening. The pageant under the direction of Hazel Smith will depict, in three scenes, the shepherds on the hill side and the appearance of the angel unto them; the journey of the three Wise Men to Bethlehem, and the scene of the nativity in Bethlehem and the offering of gifts by the Wise Men.

Lucy Potter will take the part of the Madonna, Sue Waldo the part of Joseph, Agnes Crockett and Kitty Roberts will appear as angels. Other characters in the scenes are Sue Eastham, Mary Elizabeth Wood, and Charlotte Rice, the Wise Men; Margaret Clark, Mary Elizabeth Slater, Josephine Quinn, Florence Sanford, Doris Coates, and Kitty Smoot, the shepherds.

Musical accompaniment will be furnished by the sixteen voice choir, Elizabeth Sieber will play a violin solo.

MISS WHEELER LECTURES

Miss Leala Wheeler spent several days last week making lectures to Woman's Clubs in the State. She was accompanied on her trip by "Chubby" Gray.

YWCA Convention To Be December 25

S. T. C. Representative Will Attend Meeting

Bonnie Lane of the Y. W. C. A. cabinet will represent S. T. C. at the Quadrennial International Youth Convention that will be held in Indianapolis this year from December 25 through January 1. The convention offers an interesting and valuable program to the student representatives of the universities and colleges throughout the world. The main divisions of the program are: platform hours for a sequence of addresses, special features such as a play and international teas and seminars for interchanges of thoughts.

The themes of conference will be "World ePace," "The Tasks of Tomorrow", "The Christianity Which the World Needs", "Two Basic Regalities—Our World and the Christ." Outstanding leaders on the program include William Temple, Archbishop of York; Samuel Covert of the Federal Council of Churches; T. Z. Koo of China; Kirby Page, international commentator.

A prominent feature on the entertainment program is the presentation of "Operation at One" by Maude Servis. The play depicts very vividly the life of a missionary in China. On New Years Day Russel Ames Cook will direct a church concert which will include chorals from Bach and Handel. Of unusual interest is the library and exhibit hall which will depict the customs of other countries.

Santa Claus Visits S. T. C. In "Sing"

Sing Saturday night made the hearts of each student quicken a beat or two. The scene presented a typical Christmas Eve in any home where there are young children who still believe in Santa Claus.

The curtain opened and there were three small children, Nancy Sellman, Betty Fagg, and Frances Byron. Excited giggles, shouts and frantic gestures indicated their eagerness. Their mother Caroline Upshur, bid them goodnight and went about her duties.

The three children registered indignation when two bad boys, Virginia Agee and Dorothy Tillet, non-believers in Santa Claus, entered and proceeded to declare in no uncertai nterms their stand on the subject. Open rebellion seemed inevitable when three small

Continued on page three

What Are Characteristics Of College Girls Ideal Man?

A great deal of curiosity as to what sort of man the American Girl will "rush" during the forthcoming Leap Year has been shown. In order to settle the matter a nation-wide survey is being conducted by collegiate publications to determine the pattern of the 1936 College Girl's Ideal Man. Provided that student participation merits the work, results of the survey will be distributed.

The Rotunda Staff would appreciate a frank, conscientious reply to the questions. You are at liberty to mention any traits or qualities not called for in the questionnaire.

Students who wish to participate in this survey will please answer the questions and place them in Florence Sanford's senior mail box. Answers will not be accepted after Thursday noon.

The questions are as follows: Do you prefer blonds or brunettes? Must your ideal man necessarily be handsome and of an athletic build? Shall he wear a moustache? To what extent does his social standing and financial status matter in your estimation? What intellectual attributes do you consider essential? What habits do you most admire in men? Do you object to his smoking or drinking? Is the use of profanity objectionable? What sort of disposition must he have? Must he be a good dancer? Must he have an automobile? To what extent must your ideal man be athletically inclined? What advances would you expect from your ideal man? What do you consider the most prevalent breaches of manners among college boys?

Nottingham To Be Mardi Gras Queen

8 Princesses Attend Festival Queen Feb. 25

Martha Nottingham will reign as queen of the third annual Mardi Gras to be held February 25. Attendants of the queen elected by the student body last Wednesday are: Mary Bowles, Kitty Roberts, Jennie Belle Gilliam, Chic Dorrich, Bonnie Powell, Hazel Smith, Carter Belle Munt and Tac Waters.

The Mardi Gras, sponsored by Pi Gamma Mu, is rapidly becoming an outstanding event on the social calendar at Farmville. It is masquerade in nature as the name implies. It is the desire of Pi Gamma Mu to develop the project into a more elaborate occasion, similar to the Fancy Dress Ball at Washington and Lee. Thus far the organization has done a creditable job. Plans for this yera's Mardi Gras are rapidly shaping themselves into an interesting program.

Youth Conference Meets in Memphis

Wise to Represent the Methodists at Convention

Dorothy Wise representing the Wesley Foundation, as Southern College groups are known, will attend the Church-wide Methodist Young People's Conference to meet in Memphis, Tennessee, December 27, through December 31.

This conference is a youth meeting sponsored by the general board of Christian Education and endorsed by other agencies of the church and by college bishops.

The accent on youth will be marked throughout the program which has as its general theme, "Facing Life With Jesus Christ". Representative young people, as program speakers, will present the view point of youth.

Among the leaders of the discussional meetings are: Dr. Paul W. Quillan of Oklahoma City, and Dr. W. A. Smart of Emory University.

The presence of Toyahiko Kagawa, Japanese poet, slum worker, and Christian hero, will afford a high point of interest at this conference of Methodist youth.

Murat Willis Wins Rhodes Scholarship

Murat Willis of Richmond, a graduate of the University of Virginia, was one of four recipients of Rhodes scholarships chosen yesterday by the third district committee. Two young Georgians and one South Carolinian also were chosen for the honor.

They are:

James Hinton Sledd of Decatur, Ga., a senior at Emory University.

George P. Cuttino of Newman, Ga., a graduate student at the University of Iowa.

